PART I

ITEM 1. BUSINESS

GENERAL DEVELOPMENT OF BUSINESS

Abbott Laboratories is an Illinois corporation, incorporated in 1900. Abbott's* principal business is the discovery, development, manufacture, and sale of a broad and diversified line of health care products.

NARRATIVE DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS

Abbott has four reportable segments: Established Pharmaceutical Products, Diagnostic Products, Nutritional Products, and Medical Devices.

Established Pharmaceutical Products

These products include a broad line of branded generic pharmaceuticals manufactured worldwide and marketed and sold outside the United States in emerging markets. These products are generally sold directly to wholesalers, distributors, government agencies, health care facilities, pharmacies, and independent retailers from Abbott-owned distribution centers and public warehouses, depending on the market served. Certain products are co-marketed or co-promoted with, or licensed from, other companies.

The principal products included in the broad therapeutic area portfolios of the Established Pharmaceutical Products segment are:

- gastroenterology products, including Creon™, for the treatment of pancreatic exocrine insufficiency associated with several underlying conditions, including cystic fibrosis and chronic pancreatitis; Duspatal™ and Dicetel™, for the treatment of irritable bowel syndrome or biliary spasm; Heptral™, Transmetil™, and Samyr™, for the treatment of intrahepatic cholestasis (associated with liver disease) or depressive symptoms; and Duphalac™, for regulation of the physiological rhythm of the colon;
- women's health products, including Duphaston™, for the treatment of many different gynecological disorders; and Femoston™, a hormone replacement therapy for postmenopausal women;
- cardiovascular and metabolic products, including Lipanthyl™ and TriCor™, for the treatment of dyslipidemia; Teveten™ and Teveten™ Plus, for the treatment of essential hypertension, and Physiotens™, for the treatment of hypertension; and Synthroid™, for the treatment of hypothyroidism;
- pain and central nervous system products, including Serc™, for the treatment of Ménière's disease and vestibular vertigo; Brufen™, for the treatment of pain, fever, and inflammation; and Sevedol™, for the treatment of severe migraines; and
- respiratory drugs and vaccines, including the anti-infective clarithromycin (sold under the trademarks Biaxin™, Klacid™, and Klaricid™); and Influvac™, an influenza vaccine.

The Established Pharmaceutical Products segment directs its primary marketing efforts toward building strong brands with key stakeholders, including consumers, pharmacists, physicians, and other healthcare providers. Government agencies are also important customers.

Competition in the Established Pharmaceutical Products segment is generally from other health care and pharmaceutical companies. In addition, the substitution of generic drugs for the brand prescribed and introduction of additional forms of already marketed established products by generic or branded competitors may increase competitive pressures.

PART I

ITEM 1. BUSINESS

GENERAL DEVELOPMENT OF BUSINESS

Abbott Laboratories is an Illinois corporation, incorporated in 1900. Abbott's* principal business is the discovery, development, manufacture, and sale of a broad and diversified line of health care products.

NARRATIVE DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS

Abbott has four reportable segments: Established Pharmaceutical Products, Diagnostic Products, Nutritional Products, and Medical Devices.

Established Pharmaceutical Products

These products include a broad line of branded generic pharmaceuticals manufactured worldwide and marketed and sold outside the United States in emerging markets. These products are generally sold directly to wholesalers, distributors, government agencies, health care facilities, pharmacies, and independent retailers from Abbott-owned distribution centers and public warehouses, depending on the market served. Certain products are co-marketed or co-promoted with, or licensed from, other companies.

The principal products included in the broad therapeutic area portfolios of the Established Pharmaceutical Products segment are:

- gastroenterology products, including Creon™, for the treatment of pancreatic exocrine insufficiency associated with several underlying conditions, including cystic fibrosis and chronic pancreatitis; Duspatal™ and Dicetel™, for the treatment of irritable bowel syndrome or biliary spasm; Heptral™, Transmetil™, and Samyr™, for the treatment of intrahepatic cholestasis (associated with liver disease) or depressive symptoms; and Duphalac™, for regulation of the physiological rhythm of the colon;
- women's health products, including Duphaston™, for the treatment of many different gynecological disorders; and Femoston™, a hormone replacement therapy for postmenopausal women;
- cardiovascular and metabolic products, including Lipanthyl™ and TriCor™, for the treatment of dyslipidemia; Teveten™ and Teveten™ Plus, for the treatment of essential hypertension, and Physiotens™, for the treatment of hypertension; and Synthroid™, for the treatment of hypothyroidism;
- pain and central nervous system products, including Serc™, for the treatment of Ménière's disease and vestibular vertigo; Brufen™, for the treatment of pain, fever, and inflammation; and Sevedol™, for the treatment of severe migraines; and
- respiratory drugs and vaccines, including the anti-infective clarithromycin (sold under the trademarks Biaxin™, Klacid™, and Klaricid™); and Influvac™, an influenza vaccine.

The Established Pharmaceutical Products segment directs its primary marketing efforts toward building strong brands with key stakeholders, including consumers, pharmacists, physicians, and other healthcare providers. Government agencies are also important customers.

Competition in the Established Pharmaceutical Products segment is generally from other health care and pharmaceutical companies. In addition, the substitution of generic drugs for the brand prescribed and introduction of additional forms of already marketed established products by generic or branded competitors may increase competitive pressures.

PART I

ITEM 1. BUSINESS

GENERAL DEVELOPMENT OF BUSINESS

Abbott Laboratories is an Illinois corporation, incorporated in 1900. Abbott's* principal business is the discovery, development, manufacture, and sale of a broad and diversified line of health care products.

NARRATIVE DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS

Abbott has four reportable segments: Established Pharmaceutical Products, Diagnostic Products, Nutritional Products, and Medical Devices.

Established Pharmaceutical Products

These products include a broad line of branded generic pharmaceuticals manufactured worldwide and marketed and sold outside the United States in emerging markets. These products are generally sold directly to wholesalers, distributors, government agencies, health care facilities, pharmacies, and independent retailers from Abbott-owned distribution centers and public warehouses, depending on the market served. Certain products are co-marketed or co-promoted with, or licensed from, other companies.

The principal products included in the broad therapeutic area portfolios of the Established Pharmaceutical Products segment are:

- gastroenterology products, including Creon™, for the treatment of pancreatic exocrine insufficiency associated with several underlying conditions, including cystic fibrosis and chronic pancreatitis; Duspatal™ and Dicetel™, for the treatment of irritable bowel syndrome or biliary spasm; Heptral™, Transmetil™, and Samyr™, for the treatment of intrahepatic cholestasis (associated with liver disease) or depressive symptoms; and Duphalac™, for regulation of the physiological rhythm of the colon;
- women's health products, including Duphaston™, for the treatment of many different gynecological disorders; and Femoston™, a hormone replacement therapy for postmenopausal women;
- cardiovascular and metabolic products, including Lipanthyl™ and TriCor™, for the treatment of dyslipidemia; Teveten™ and Teveten™ Plus, for the treatment of essential hypertension, and Physiotens™, for the treatment of hypertension; and Synthroid™, for the treatment of hypothyroidism;
- pain and central nervous system products, including Serc™, for the treatment of Ménière's disease and vestibular vertigo; Brufen™, for the treatment of pain, fever, and inflammation; and Sevedol™, for the treatment of severe migraines; and
- respiratory drugs and vaccines, including the anti-infective clarithromycin (sold under the trademarks Biaxin™, Klacid™, and Klaricid™); and Influvac™, an influenza vaccine.

The Established Pharmaceutical Products segment directs its primary marketing efforts toward building strong brands with key stakeholders, including consumers, pharmacists, physicians, and other healthcare providers. Government agencies are also important customers.

Competition in the Established Pharmaceutical Products segment is generally from other health care and pharmaceutical companies. In addition, the substitution of generic drugs for the brand prescribed and introduction of additional forms of already marketed established products by generic or branded competitors may increase competitive pressures.

* As used throughout the text of this report on Form 10-K, the term "Abbott" refers to Abbott Laboratories, an Illinois corporation, or Abbott Laboratories and its consolidated subsidiaries, as the context requires.

PART I

ITEM 1. BUSINESS

GENERAL DEVELOPMENT OF BUSINESS

Abbott Laboratories is an Illinois corporation, incorporated in 1900. Abbott's* principal business is the discovery, development, manufacture, and sale of a broad and diversified line of health care products.

NARRATIVE DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS

Abbott bas four reportable segments: Established Pharmaceutical Products, Diagnostic Products, Nutritional Products, and Medical Devices.

Established Pharmaceutical Products

These products include a broad line of branded generic pharmaceuticals manufactured worldwide and marketed and sold outside the United States in emerging markets. These products are generally sold directly to wholesalers, distributors, government agencies, health care facilities, pharmacies, and independent retailers from Abbott-owned distribution centers and public warehouses, depending on the market served. Certain products are co-marketed or co-promoted with, or licensed from, other companies.

The principal products included in the broad therapeutic area portfolios of the Established Pharmaceutical Products segment are:

- gastroenterology products, including Creon™, for the treatment of pancreatic exocrine insufficiency associated with several underlying conditions, including cystic fibrosis and chronic pancreatitis; Duspatal™ and Dicetel™, for the treatment of irritable bowel syndrome or biliary spasm; Heptral™, Transmetil™, and Samyr™, for the treatment of intrahepatic cholestasis (associated with liver disease) or depressive symptoms; and Duphalac™, for regulation of the physiological rhythm of the colon;
- women's health products, including Duphaston™, for the treatment of many different gynecological disorders; and Femoston™, a hormone replacement therapy for postmenopausal women;
- cardiovascular and metabolic products, including Lipantbyl™ and TriCor™, for tbe treatment of dyslipidemia; Teveten™ and Teveten™ Plus, for the treatment of essential hypertension, and Physiotens™, for the treatment of hypertension; and Synthroid™, for the treatment of hypothyroidism;
- pain and central nervous system products, including Serc™, for the treatment of Ménière's disease and vestibular vertigo; Brufen™, for the treatment of pain, fever, and inflammation; and Sevedol™, for the treatment of severe migraines; and
- respiratory drugs and vaccines, including the anti-infective clarithromycin (sold under the trademarks Biaxin™, Klacid™, and Klaricid™); and Influvac™, an influenza vaccine.

The Established Pharmaceutical Products segment directs its primary marketing efforts toward building strong brands with key stakeholders, including consumers, pharmacists, physicians, and other healthcare providers. Government agencies are also important customers.

Competition in the Established Pharmaceutical Products segment is generally from other health care and pharmaceutical companies. In addition, the substitution of generic drugs for the brand prescribed and introduction of additional forms of already marketed established products by generic or branded competitors may increase competitive pressures.

PART I

ITEM 1. BUSINESS

GENERAL DEVELOPMENT OF BUSINESS

Abbott Laboratories is an Illinois corporation, incorporated in 1900. Abbott's* principal business is the discovery, development, manufacture, and sale of a broad and diversified line of health care products.

NARRATIVE DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS

Abbott has four reportable segments: Established Pharmaceutical Products, Diagnostic Products, Nutritional Products, and Medical Devices.

Established Pharmaceutical Products

These products include a broad line of branded generic pharmaceuticals manufactured worldwide and marketed and sold outside the United States in emerging markets. These products are generally sold directly to wholesalers, distributors, government agencies, health care facilities, pharmacies, and independent retailers from Abbott-owned distribution centers and public warehouses, depending on the market served. Certain products are co-marketed or co-promoted with, or licensed from, other companies.

The principal products included in the broad therapeutic area portfolios of the Established Pharmaceutical Products segment are:

- gastroenterology products, including Creon™, for the treatment of pancreatic exocrine insufficiency associated with several underlying conditions, including cystic fibrosis and chronic pancreatitis; Duspatal™ and Dicetel™, for the treatment of irritable bowel syndrome or biliary spasm; Heptral™, Transmetil™, and Samyr™, for the treatment of intrahepatic cholestasis (associated with liver disease) or depressive symptoms; and Duphalac™, for regulation of the physiological rhythm of the colon;
- women's health products, including Duphaston™, for the treatment of many different gynecological disorders; and Femoston™, a hormone replacement therapy for postmenopausal women;
- cardiovascular and metabolic products, including Lipanthyl™ and TriCor™, for the treatment of dyslipidemia; Teveten™ and Teveten™ Plus, for the treatment of essential hypertension, and Physiotens™, for the treatment of hypertension; and Synthroid™, for the treatment of hypothyroidism;
- pain and central nervous system products, including Serc™, for the treatment of Ménière's disease and vestibular vertigo; Brufen™, for the treatment of pain, fever, and inflammation; and Sevedol™, for the treatment of severe migraines; and
- respiratory drugs and vaccines, including the anti-infective clarithromycin (sold under the trademarks Biaxin™, Klacid™, and Klaricid™); and Influvac™, an influenza vaccine.

The Established Pharmaceutical Products segment directs its primary marketing efforts toward building strong brands with key stakeholders, including consumers, pharmacists, physicians, and other healthcare providers. Government agencies are also important customers.

Competition in the Established Pharmaceutical Products segment is generally from other health care and pharmaceutical companies. In addition, the substitution of generic drugs for the brand prescribed and introduction of additional forms of already marketed established products by generic or branded competitors may increase competitive pressures.

PART I

ITEM 1. BUSINESS

GENERAL DEVELOPMENT OF BUSINESS

Abbott Laboratories is an Illinois corporation, incorporated in 1900. Abbott's* principal business is the discovery, development, manufacture, and sale of a broad and diversified line of health care products.

NARRATIVE DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS

Abbott has four reportable segments: Established Pharmaceutical Products, Diagnostic Products, Nutritional Products, and Medical Devices.

Established Pharmaceutical Products

These products include a broad line of branded generic pharmaceuticals manufactured worldwide and marketed and sold outside the United States in emerging markets. These products are generally sold directly to wholesalers, distributors, government agencies, health care facilities, pharmacies, and independent retailers from Abbott-owned distribution centers and public warehouses, depending on the market served. Certain products are co-marketed or co-promoted with, or licensed from, other companies.

The principal products included in the broad therapeutic area portfolios of the Established Pharmaceutical Products segment are:

- gastroenterology products, including Creon™, for the treatment of pancreatic exocrine insufficiency associated with several underlying conditions, including cystic fibrosis and chronic pancreatitis; Duspatal™ and Dicetel™, for the treatment of irritable bowel syndrome or biliary spasm; Heptral™, Transmetil™, and Samyr™, for the treatment of intrahepatic cholestasis (associated with liver disease) or depressive symptoms; and Duphalac™, for regulation of the physiological rhythm of the colon;
- women's health products, including Duphaston™, for the treatment of many different gynecological disorders; and Femoston™, a hormone replacement therapy for postmenopausal women;
- cardiovascular and metabolic products, including Lipanthyl™ and TriCor™, for the treatment of dyslipidemia; Teveten™ and Teveten™ Plus, for the treatment of essential hypertension, and Physiotens™, for the treatment of hypertension; and Synthroid™, for the treatment of hypothyroidism;
- pain and central nervous system products, including Serc™, for the treatment of Ménière's disease and vestibular vertigo; Brufen™, for the treatment of pain, fever, and inflammation; and Sevedol™, for the treatment of severe migraines; and
- respiratory drugs and vaccines, including the anti-infective clarithromycin (sold under the trademarks Biaxin™, Klacid™, and Klaricid™); and Influvac™, an influenza vaccine.

The Established Pharmaceutical Products segment directs its primary marketing efforts toward building strong brands with key stakeholders, including consumers, pharmacists, physicians, and other healthcare providers. Government agencies are also important customers.

Competition in the Established Pharmaceutical Products segment is generally from other health care and pharmaceutical companies. In addition, the substitution of generic drugs for the brand prescribed and introduction of additional forms of already marketed established products by generic or branded competitors may increase competitive pressures.

COLORADO DISCLOSURE

In the interest of full disclosure, following are the events that occurred between Allergan USA, Inc. for our Lewisville, Texas distribution center and the State of Colorado. This was resolved quickly and Colorado issued the Lewisville, Texas distribution center a license on March 10, 2009.

Date	Activity
2 Feb 2009	The Colorado Board of Pharmacy changed their policy with regard to Manufacturer registrations.
5 Feb 2009	The Colorado Board of Pharmacy issued a Cease and Desist Order to the Lewisville, Texas Distribution Center which Allergan received on February 9, 2009.
24 Feb 2009	Allergan completed and mailed a Colorado state application for the Lewisville, Texas facility.
4 Mar 2009	Allergan submitted a response to the State of Colorado agreeing to the Stipulation and Final Agency Order (included as an attachment).
10 Mar 2009	The State of Colorado sent to Allergan a letter (included as an attachment) stating that all obligations regarding the Stipulation and Final Agency Order have been cleared and that the State of Colorado has issued on out-of-state prescription drug wholesaler license #7514 (included as an attachment) to the Lewisville, Texas Distribution Center effective March 10, 2009.

Re: State of Colorado Board of Pharmacy

Ms. Anderson,

As we indicated to you and your counsel on the telephone yesterday, Allergan does not believe the Wholesaler Licensure Statute was intended to regulate samples that are shipped to a contract sales force directly from a manufacturer. We believe the Colorado State Legislature made it very clear that the provision of samples is specifically exempted by Colorado State Statute12-22-801 (2) (d).

12-22-801. Definitions - exemption from licensing requirements.

(2) For the purposes of this part 8, "wholesale distribution" means distribution of prescription drugs to persons or entities other than a consumer or patient. "Wholesale distribution" does not include:
(d) The distribution of prescription drug samples by a manufacturer's representative;

Shipments to our manufacturer's representative, in this case, Promotech, are clearly excluded from the definition of wholesale distribution and therefore not subject to licensure requirements. However, in the interest of closing this matter as expeditiously as possible, we are enclosing the requested payment and agreeing to the enclosed, non-negotiable Stipulation and Final Agency Order.

Your prompt assistance with processing our approval for the Lewisville facility would be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Damon Burrows

Case No. 2009-2899

STIPULATION AND FINAL AGENCY ORDER

IN THE MATTER OF DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS REGARDING THE LICENSE TO PRACTICE AS A OUT-OF-STATE WHOLESALER IN THE STATE OF COLORADO OF ALLERGAN USA, INC.,

Wholesaler Applicant.

IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED AND AGREED by and between the Colorado State Board of Pharmacy ("Board") and Allergan USA, Inc. ("Wholesaler Applicant") to resolve all matters pertaining to Board Case Number 2009-2899 as follows:

FINDINGS AND CONCLUSIONS

1. The Board has jurisdiction over Wholesaler Applicant, its application for registration as an out-of-state wholesaler and the subject matter of this Stipulation and Final Agency Order ("Final Agency Order") pursuant to the provisions of the Pharmaceuticals and Pharmacists Act at Title 12, Article 22, C.R.S.

2. Wholesaler Applicant admits these findings and hereby waives any further proof in this proceeding before the Board regarding the following facts.

3. On December 24, 2008, Wholesaler Applicant distributed prescription drugs into Colorado without having first registered as an out-of-state wholesaler in the State of Colorado.

4. On February 5, 2009, the Board issued Wholesaler Applicant a Cease and Desist Order for engaging in unregistered wholesale distribution of drugs into the State of Colorado.

5. Wholesaler Applicant's conduct, as set forth above, constitutes violations of the following sections of the Colorado Revised Statutes:

PAID
2619560 $5,150-

12-22-125. Unprofessional conduct - grounds for discipline.

(1) The board may suspend, revoke, refuse to renew, or otherwise discipline any license or registration issued by it, after a hearing held in accordance with the provisions of this section, upon proof that the licensee or registrant:

(c) Has violated:

(I) Any of the provisions of this part 1, including but not limited to any acts in section 12-22-126;

(II) The lawful rules of the board; or

(III) Any state or federal law pertaining to drugs.

12-22-125.2. Disciplinary actions. (1) The board may deny or discipline an applicant, licensee, or registrant when the board determines that such applicant, licensee, or registrant has engaged in activities that are grounds for discipline.

* * *

12-22-802. Wholesaler license requirements. (1) A wholesaler that resides in this state shall be licensed by the board. A wholesaler that does not reside in this state shall be licensed in this state prior to engaging in the wholesale distribution of prescription drugs in this state...

6. On February 25, 2009, Wholesaler Applicant submitted an out-of-state wholesaler application, which application was denied by the Board.

7. The Board finds and concludes, and Wholesaler Applicant agrees, that based upon Wholesaler Applicant's above-described violations of the Pharmaceuticals and Pharmacists Act and relevant rules and regulations, the following discipline is just and appropriate under the circumstances as a condition of its registration as an out-of-state wholesaler.

DISPOSITION
Conditional Registration;
$5,000.00 Fine Plus 15% Surcharge and Terms
Agreement to Comply with §§12-22-801, et seq. C.R.S.
Release from Cease and Desist Order

8. Conditional Registration. Wholesaler Applicant shall be granted a registration as an out-of-state wholesaler upon execution of this Final Agency Order and satisfaction of the terms and conditions set forth herein.

9. Fine with Surcharge. Wholesaler Applicant accepts the following discipline: Pursuant to §12-22-125.2(5), C.R.S., Wholesaler Applicant shall pay a fine of Five Thousand Dollars and No Cents ($5,000.00). Wholesaler Applicant understands and acknowledges, pursuant to §24-34-108, C.R.S., that the Executive Director of the Department of Regulatory Agencies shall impose an additional surcharge of 15% of this fine. Wholesaler Applicant shall therefore pay a total amount of Five Thousand, Seven Hundred Fifty Dollars and No Cents ($5,750.00). The total amount shall be payable to the State of Colorado and shall be remitted in one lump sum to be included when Wholesaler Applicant submits this signed Final Agency Order to the Board.

10. Compliance. Wholesaler Applicant shall at all times remain in compliance with §§12-22-801, et seq. C.R.S. and shall not at any time distribute prescription drugs into Colorado without being registered as an out-of-state wholesaler in the State of Colorado at the time of distribution.

11. Release from Cease & Desist Order. Upon execution of this Final Agency Order, payment of the required fine as required above in paragraph 9, and issuance of Wholesaler Applicant's registration as an out-of-state wholesaler in the state of Colorado as set forth above in paragraph 8, the terms of the Cease and Desist Order entered on February 5, 2009 no longer apply and Wholesaler Applicant is hereby RELEASED from the Cease and Desist Order. The Cease and Desist Order shall remain a public record published in accordance with the Colorado Open Records Act and Board policy along with this Final Agency Order, as set forth below in paragraph 16.

12. Advisements and Waivers. Wholesaler Applicant enters into this Final Agency Order freely and voluntarily, whether or not Wholesaler Applicant has consulted with legal counsel. Wholesaler Applicant acknowledges its understanding that it has the following rights:

    a. To have a formal notice of hearing and charges served upon it;
    b. To respond to said formal notice of charges;
    c. To have a formal disciplinary hearing pursuant to §12-22-125, C.R.S.; and
    d. To appeal this Board order.

    Wholesaler Applicant freely waives these rights, and acknowledges that such waiver is made voluntarily in consideration for Board's limiting the action taken against it to the sanctions imposed herein.

13. Acknowledgments. The undersigned authorized agent of Wholesaler Applicant has read this Final Agency Order in its entirety and acknowledges, whether or not Wholesaler Applicant has consulted with legal counsel, that Wholesaler Applicant understands the legal consequences and agrees that none of the terms or conditions herein are unconscionable.

14. Violations. Time is of the essence to this Final Agency Order. It is the responsibility of Wholesaler Applicant to take all appropriate steps to comply fully with this Final Agency Order. Wholesaler Applicant acknowledges and agrees that any violation of this Final Agency Order may be sanctioned as provided under §12-22-125.2(4), C.R.S., and may be sufficient grounds for additional discipline, including but not limited to revocation of its registration. The pendency of any suspension or disciplinary action arising out of an alleged violation of this Final Agency Order shall not affect the obligation of Wholesaler Applicant to comply with all terms and conditions of this Final Agency Order.

15. Integration and Severability. Upon execution by all parties, this Final Agency Order shall represent the entire and final agreement of and between the parties. In the event any provision of this Final Agency Order is deemed invalid or unenforceable by a court of law, it shall be severed and the remaining provisions of this Final Agency Order shall be given full force and effect.

16. Public Record. Upon execution by all parties, this Final Agency Order shall be a public record, maintained in the custody of the Board.

17. Effective Date. This Final Agency Order shall become effective upon signature of a Board member or representative.

PHARMACEUTICAL WHOLESALER SURETY BOND

Bond No. 285067023

Application/License No. _____

Allergan USA, Inc. (Applicant/Principal), doing or intending to do business as a pharmaceutical wholesaler, whose address for purposes of service is 5 Giralda Farms, Madison, NJ 07940 (Address of Applicant/Principal), as PRINCIPAL, and Liberty Mutual Insurance Company (Surety Company), a corporation organized under the laws of the state of Massachusetts (State of Incorporation) and authorized to transact a general surety business in the State of Nevada, whose address for purposes of service is 175 Berkeley Street, Boston, MA 02116 (Address of Surety) as SURETY, are held and firmly bound unto the State of Nevada and to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy for the penal sum of ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS ($100,000.00), for which payment we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns jointly and severally, by these presents. This bond term shall become effective on June 28, 2021 (Effective Date).

WHEREAS, the provisions of Nevada Revised Statutes (NRS) 639.515 require that the Applicant/Principal file or have on file with the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy (Board) a bond in the sum of $100,000.00 payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy and this bond is executed and tendered in accordance therewith. This bond secures payment of any administrative fines imposed by the Board pursuant to NRS 639.255 and any costs incurred by the Board regarding the license of Applicant/Principal that are impose pursuant to NRS 622.400 or 622.410 which the Applicant/Principal fails to pay.

THIS BOND is subject to the following conditions:

(1) This bond shall be deemed continuous in form and shall remain in full force and effect and shall run concurrently with the license period for which the license is granted and each and every succeeding license period or periods for which said Applicant/Principal may be licensed, after which liability hereunder shall cease except as to any liability or indebtedness therefore incurred or accrued hereunder.
(2) This bond is executed by the Applicant/Principal and the Surety to comply with the provisions of NRS 639.515 and said bond shall be subject to all of the terms and provisions thereof.
(3) The Surety, its successors and assigns, are jointly and severally liable on the obligations of the bond.
(4) The limitations of the liability of the Surety and the conditions of the bond are set forth in NRS 639.515. Any claim by the Board may be made directly to the Surety and need not be preceded by the filing of any action in a proper court. Payment of any such claim shall be payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy.
(5) The aggregate liability of the Surety hereunder on all claims whatsoever shall not exceed the penal sum of this bond in any event.
(6) This bond may not be cancelled by the Surety without first giving the Board written notice at least thirty days in advance of any intent to cancel the bond.
(7) The Applicant/Principal and Surety may be served with notices, papers and other documents at the addresses given above.

I certify or declare under penalty of perjury, under the laws of the State of Nevada, that I have executed the foregoing bond on behalf of the Surety under an unrevoked power of attorney.

In witness whereof, each party to this bond has caused it to be executed on this 28th day of June, 2021.

This Power of Attorney is made and executed pursuant to and by authority of the following By-laws and Authorizations of The Ohio Casualty Insurance Company, Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, and West American Insurance Company which resolutions are now in full force and effect reading as follows:

ARTICLE IV – OFFICERS: Section 12. Power of Attorney.
Any officer or other official of the Corporation authorized for that purpose in writing by the Chairman or the President, and subject to such limitation as the Chairman or the President may prescribe, shall appoint such attorneys-in-fact, as may be necessary to act in behalf of the Corporation to make, execute, seal, acknowledge and deliver as surety any and all undertakings, bonds, recognizances and other surety obligations. Such attorneys-in-fact, subject to the limitations set forth in their respective powers of attorney, shall have full power to bind the Corporation by their signature and execution of any such instruments and to attach thereto the seal of the Corporation. When so executed, such instruments shall be as binding as if signed by the President and attested to by the Secretary. Any power or authority granted to any representative or attorney-in-fact under the provisions of this article may be revoked at any time by the Board, the Chairman, the President or by the officer or officers granting such power or authority.

ARTICLE XIII - Execution of Contracts: Section 5. Surety Bonds and Undertakings.
Any officer of the Company authorized for that purpose in writing by the chairman or the president, and subject to such limitations as the chairman or the president may prescribe, shall appoint such attorneys-in-fact, as may be necessary to act in behalf of the Company to make, execute, seal, acknowledge and deliver as surety any and all undertakings, bonds, recognizances and other surety obligations. Such attorneys-in-fact, subject to the limitations set forth in their respective powers of attorney, shall have full power to bind the Company by their signature and execution of any such instruments and to attach thereto the seal of the Company. When so executed such instruments shall be as binding as if signed by the president and attested by the secretary.

Certificate of Designation – The President of the Company, acting pursuant to the Bylaws of the Company, authorizes David M. Carey, Assistant Secretary to appoint such attorneys-infact as may be necessary to act on behalf of the Company to make, execute, seal, acknowledge and deliver as surety any and all undertakings, bonds, recognizances and other surety obligations.

Authorization – By unanimous consent of the Company's Board of Directors, the Company consents that facsimile or mechanically reproduced signature of any assistant secretary of the Company, wherever appearing upon a certified copy of any power of attorney issued by the Company in connection with surety bonds, shall be valid and binding upon the Company with the same force and effect as though manually affixed.

I, Renee C. Llewellyn, the undersigned, Assistant Secretary, of Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, The Ohio Casualty Insurance Company, and West American Insurance Company do hereby certify that this power of attorney executed by said Companies is in full force and effect and has not been revoked.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seals of said Companies this 28th day of June, 2021.

ITEM 1. BUSINESS

Overview

AbbVie[1] is a global, research-based biopharmaceutical company. AbbVie uses its expertise, dedicated people and unique approach to innovation to develop and market advanced therapies that address some of the world's most complex and serious diseases.

On May 8, 2020, AbbVie completed the acquisition of Allergan plc (Allergan). The acquisition of Allergan creates a diversified biopharmaceutical company positioned for success with a comprehensive product portfolio that has leadership positions in key therapeutic areas of immunology, hematologic oncology, aesthetics, neuroscience, eye care and women's health. AbbVie's existing product portfolio and pipeline is enhanced with numerous Allergan assets and Allergan's product portfolio benefits from AbbVie's commercial strength, expertise and international infrastructure. See Note 5, "Licensing, Acquisitions and Other Arrangements—Acquisition of Allergan," to the Consolidated Financial Statements included under Item 8, "Financial Statements and Supplementary Data." Subsequent to the acquisition date, AbbVie's consolidated financial statements include the assets, liabilities, operating results and cash flows of Allergan.

AbbVie was incorporated in Delaware on April 10, 2012. On January 1, 2013, AbbVie became an independent, publicly-traded company as a result of the distribution by Abbott Laboratories (Abbott) of 100% of the outstanding common stock of AbbVie to Abbott's shareholders.

Impact of the Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19)

The novel coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic continues to spread throughout the United States and around the world. In response to the growing public health crisis, AbbVie has partnered with global authorities to support the experimental use of multiple AbbVie assets to determine their efficacy in the treatment of COVID-19. AbbVie continues to closely manage manufacturing and supply chain resources around the world to help ensure that patients continue to receive an uninterrupted supply of their medicines. Clinical trial sites are being monitored locally to protect the safety of study participants, staff and employees. While the impact of COVID-19 on AbbVie's operations to date has not been material, AbbVie has experienced lower new patient starts across the therapeutic portfolio. AbbVie expects this matter could continue to negatively impact its results of operations throughout the duration of the outbreak. The extent to which COVID-19 may impact AbbVie's financial condition and results of operations remains uncertain.

Segments

AbbVie operates as a single global business segment dedicated to the research and development, manufacturing, commercialization and sale of innovative medicines and therapies. This operating structure enables the Chief Executive Officer, as chief operating decision maker (CODM), to allocate resources and assess business performance on a global basis in order to achieve established long-term strategic goals. Consistent with this structure, a global research and development and supply chain organization is responsible for the discovery, development, manufacturing and supply of products. Commercial efforts that coordinate the marketing, sales and distribution of these products are organized by geographic region or therapeutic area. All of these activities are supported by a global corporate administrative staff. The determination of a single

(1) As used throughout the text of this report on Form 10-K, the terms "AbbVie" or "the company" refer to AbbVie Inc., a Delaware corporation, or AbbVie Inc. and its consolidated subsidiaries, as the context requires.

business segment is consistent with the consolidated financial information regularly reviewed by the CODM for purposes of assessing performance, allocating resources and planning and forecasting future periods. See Note 16, "Segment and Geographic Area Information" to the Consolidated Financial Statements included under Item 8, "Financial Statements and Supplementary Data" and the sales information related to AbbVie's key products and geographies included under Item 7, "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations."

Products

AbbVie's portfolio of products includes a broad line of therapies that address some of the world's most complex and serious diseases.

Immunology products. AbbVie maintains an extensive immunology portfolio across rheumatology, dermatology and gastroenterology. AbbVie's immunology products address unmet needs for patients with autoimmune diseases. These products are:

Humira. Humira (adalimumab) is a biologic therapy administered as a subcutaneous injection. It is approved to treat the following autoimmune diseases in the United States, Canada and Mexico (collectively, North America) and in the European Union:

Condition	Principal Markets
Rheumatoid arthritis (moderate to severe)	North America, European Union
Psoriatic arthritis	North America, European Union
Ankylosing spondylitis	North America, European Union
Adult Crohn's disease (moderate to severe)	North America, European Union
Plaque psoriasis (moderate to severe chronic)	North America, European Union
Juvenile idiopathic arthritis (moderate to severe polyarticular)	North America, European Union
Ulcerative colitis (moderate to severe)	North America, European Union
Axial spondyloarthropathy	European Union
Pediatric Crohn's disease (moderate to severe)	North America, European Union
Hidradenitis suppurativa (moderate to severe)	North America, European Union
Pediatric enthesitis-related arthritis	European Union
Non-infectious intermediate, posterior and panuveitis	North America, European Union
Pediatric ulcerative colitis (moderate to severe)	European Union
Pediatric uveitis	European Union

Humira is also approved in Japan for the treatment of intestinal Behçet's disease and pyoderma gangrenosum.

Humira is sold in numerous other markets worldwide, including Japan, China, Brazil and Australia, and accounted for approximately 43% of AbbVie's total net revenues in 2020.

Skyrizi. Skyrizi (risankizumab) is an interleukin-23 (IL-23) inhibitor that selectively blocks IL-23 by binding to its p19 subunit. It is a biologic therapy administered as a quarterly subcutaneous injection following an induction dose. Skyrizi is approved in the United States, Canada and the European Union and is indicated for the treatment of moderate to severe plaque psoriasis in adults who are candidates for systemic therapy or phototherapy. In Japan, Skyrizi is approved for the treatment of plaque psoriasis, generalized pustular psoriasis, erythrodermic psoriasis and psoriatic arthritis in adult patients who have an inadequate response to conventional therapies.

Rinvoq. Rinvoq (upadacitinib) is an oral, once-daily selective and reversible JAK inhibitor and is approved in the United States, Canada, Japan and the European Union. Rinvoq is indicated for the treatment of moderate to severe active rheumatoid arthritis in adult patients who have responded inadequately to, or who are intolerant to one or more disease-modifying anti-rheumatic drugs (DMARDs). Rinvoq is also approved in the European Union for the treatment of adult patients with active psoriatic arthritis and adult patients with active ankylosing spondylitis. Rinvoq may be used as monotherapy or in combination with methotrexate. Rinvoq is also indicated in Japan in patients with rheumatoid arthritis with inadequate response to conventional therapy (including inhibition of the progression of structural damage).

Oncology products. AbbVie's oncology products target some of the most complex and difficult-to-treat cancers. These products are:

Imbruvica. Imbruvica (ibrutinib) is an oral, once-daily therapy that inhibits a protein called Bruton's tyrosine kinase (BTK). Imbruvica was one of the first medicines to receive a United States Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approval after being granted a Breakthrough Therapy Designation and is one of the few therapies to receive four separate designations. Imbruvica currently is approved for the treatment of adult patients with:

- Chronic lymphocytic leukemia (CLL)/Small lymphocytic lymphoma (SLL) and CLL/SLL with 17p deletion;
- Mantle cell lymphoma (MCL) who have received at least one prior therapy*;
- Waldenström's macroglobulinemia (WM);
- Marginal zone lymphoma (MZL) who require systemic therapy and have received at least one prior anti-CD20-based therapy*; and
- Chronic graft versus host disease (cGVHD) after failure of one or more lines of systemic therapy.

* Accelerated approval was granted for this indication based on overall response rate. Continued approval for this indication may be contingent upon verification of clinical benefit in confirmatory trials.

Venclexta/Venclyxto. Venclexta (venetoclax) is a BCL-2 inhibitor used to treat hematological malignancies. Venclexta is approved by the FDA for adults with CLL or SLL. In addition, Venclexta is approved in combination with azacitidine, or decitabine, or low-dose cytarabine to treat adults with newly-diagnosed acute myeloid leukemia (AML) who are 75 years of age or older or have other medical conditions that prevent the use of standard chemotherapy. Venclyxto is approved in Europe for CLL in combination with obinutuzumab for patients with previously untreated CLL and in combination with rituximab in patients who have received at least one previous treatment.

Aesthetics products. AbbVie's Allergan Aesthetics portfolio consists of toxins and dermal fillers, plastics and regenerative medicine, body contouring, and skincare products, which hold market-leading positions in the U.S. and in key markets around the world. In 2020, U.S. sales comprised approximately two-thirds of total global sales. These products are:

Botox Cosmetic. Botox Cosmetic is an acetylcholine release inhibitor and a neuromuscular blocking agent indicated for temporary improvement in the appearance of moderate to severe glabellar lines (frown lines between the eyebrows), moderate to severe crow's feet and forehead lines in adults. Having received its initial U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approval in 2002, Botox Cosmetic is now approved for use in all major markets around the world and has become one of the world's most recognized and iconic brands.

Juvederm Collection. The Juvederm Collection is a portfolio of hyaluronic acid-based dermal fillers with a variety of approved indications in the U.S. and in all other major markets around the world to treat volume loss in the cheeks, chin, lips and lower face.

Other aesthetics. Other aesthetics products include, but are not limited to, Coolsculpting body contouring technology, Alloderm regenerative dermal tissue, Natrelle breest implants, the SkinMedica skincare line, and DiamondGlow.

Neuroscience products. AbbVie's neuroscience products address some of the most difficult-to-treat neurologic diseases. These products are:

Botox Therapeutic. Botox Therapeutic (onabotulinumtoxinA injection) is a neuromuscular blocking agent that is injected into muscle tissue in treatment for the following indications in the United States:

- For the treatment of overactive bladder with symptoms of urge urinary incontinence, urgency, and frequency, in adults who have an inadequate response to or are intolerant of an anticholinergic medication.
- For the treatment of urinary incontinence due to detrusor overactivity associated with a neurologic condition (e.g., spinal cord injury, multiple sclerosis) in adults who have an inadequate response to or are intolerant of an anticholinergic medication.
- For the prophylaxis of headaches in adult patients with chronic migraine (≥ 15 days per month with headache lasting 4 hours a day or longer).
- For the treatment of spasticity in patients 2 years of age and older.
- For the treatment of adults with cervical dystonia to reduce the severity of abnormal head position and neck pain associated with cervical dystonia.
- For the treatment of strabismus and blepharospasm associated with dystonia, including benign essential blepharospasm or VII nerve disorders in patients 12 years of age and older.
- For the treatment of severe primary axillary hyperhidrosis that is inadequately managed with topical agents. Licenses around the world vary.
- Focal spasticity associated with dynamic equinus foot deformity due to spasticity in ambulant pediatric cerebral palsy patients, two years of age or older.
- Focal spasticity of the wrist and hand in adult post stroke patients.
- Focal spasticity of the ankle and foot in adult post stroke patients.

Vraylar. Vraylar (cariprazine) is a dopamine D3-preferring D3/D2 receptor partial agonist and a 5-HT1A receptor partial agonist. Its D3 binding profile may be linked to observed improvements in the negative symptoms of schizophrenia and to antidepressant effects in Bipolar I disorder. Vraylar is indicated for acute and maintenance treatment of schizophrenia in adults, acute treatment of manic or mixed episodes associated with bipolar disorder in adults and acute treatment of depressive episodes associated with bipolar I disorder (bipolar depression) in adults.

Duopa and Duodopa (carbidopa and levodopa). AbbVie's levodopa-carbidopa intestinal gel for the treatment of advanced Parkinson's disease is marketed as Duopa in the United States and as Duodopa outside of the United States.

Ubrelvy. Ubrelvy (ubrogepant) is indicated for the acute treatment of migraine with or without aura in adults and is only commercialized in the United States.

Eye care products. AbbVie's eye care products address unmet needs and new approaches to help preserve and protect patients' vision. These products are:

Lumigan/Ganfort. Lumigan (bimatoprost ophthalmic solution) 0.01% is a once daily, topical prostaglandin analog indicated for the reduction of elevated intraocular pressure (IOP) in patients with open angle glaucoma (OAG) or ocular hypertension (OHT). Ganfort is a once daily topical fixed combination of bimatoprost 0.03% and timolol 0.5% for the reduction of IOP in adult patients with OAG or OHT. Lumigan is sold in the United States and numerous markets around the world, while Ganfort is approved in the EU and some markets in South America, the Middle East, and Asia.

Alphagan/Combigan. Alphagan (brimonidine tartrate ophthalmic solution) is an alpha-adrenergic receptor agonist indicated for the reduction of elevated intraocular pressure (IOP) in patients with open-angle glaucoma or ocular hypertension. Combigan (brimonidine tartrate/ timolol maleate ophthalmic solution) is approved for reducing elevated intraocular pressure (IOP) in patients with glaucoma who require additional or adjunctive IOP-lowering therapy. Both Alphagan and Combigan are available for sale in the United States and numerous markets around the world.

Restasis. Restasis is a calcineurin inhibitor immunosuppressant indicated to increase tear production in patients whose tear production is presumed to be suppressed due to ocular inflammation associated with keratoconjunctivitis sicca. Restasis is approved in the United States and a number of other markets in South America, the Middle East, and Asia.

Other eye care. Other eye care products include Xen, Durysta, Ozurdex and Refresh/Optive.

Women's health products. AbbVie's women's health products are:

Lo Loestrin. Lo Loestrin Fe is an oral contraceptive. It is indicated for prevention of pregnancy with the lowest dose of estrogen with only 10mcg and is dispensed in a unique 24/2/2 regimen with a two-day hormone-free interval. It is marketed in the U.S. as Lo Loestrin Fe (norethindrone acetate and ethinyl estradiol tablets, ethinyl estradiol tablets and ferrous fumarate tablets) and in select markets outside the U.S. as Lolo.

Orilissa/Oriahnn. Orilissa (elagolix) is the first and only orally-administered, nonpeptide small molecule gonadotropin-releasing hormone (GnRH) antagonist specifically developed for women with moderate to severe endometriosis pain. The FDA approved Orilissa under priority review. It represents the first FDA-approved oral treatment for the management of moderate to severe pain associated with endometriosis in over a decade. Orilissa inhibits endogenous GnRH signaling by binding competitively to GnRH receptors in the pituitary gland. Administration results in dose-dependent suppression of luteinizing hormone and follicle-stimulating hormone, leading to decreased blood concentrations of ovarian sex hormones, estradiol and progesterone. Outside the United States, Orilissa is also launched in Canada and Puerto Rico. Oriahnn (elagolix, estradiol, and norethindrone acetate capsules; elagolix capsules) is a combination prescription medicine used to control heavy menstrual bleeding related to uterine fibroids in women before menopause.

Other women's health. Other women's health includes Liletta, a sterile, levonorgestrel-releasing intrauterine system indicated for prevention of pregnancy for up to six years. It is the only hormonal IUS (Intrauterine System) approved in the U.S. for up to six years of pregnancy prevention.

Other key products. AbbVie's other key products include, among other things, treatments for patients with hepatitis C virus (HCV), metabolic and hormone products that target a number of conditions, including exocrine pancreatic insufficiency and hypothyroidism, as well as endocrinology products for the palliative treatment of advanced prostate cancer, treatment of endometriosis and central precocious puberty and for the preoperative treatment of patients with anemia caused by uterine fibroids. These products are:

Mavyret/Maviret. Mavyret (glecaprevir/pibrentasvir) is approved in the United States and European Union (Maviret) for the treatment of adult and pediatric patients (12 years and older or weighing at least 45 kilograms) with chronic HCV genotype 1-6 infection without cirrhosis and with compensated cirrhosis (Child-Pugh A). It is also indicated for the treatment of adult and pediatric patients (12 years and older or weighing at least 45 kilograms) with HCV genotype 1 infection, who previously have been treated with a regimen containing an HCV NS5A inhibitor or an NS3/4A protease inhibitor, but not both. It is an 8-week, pan-genotypic treatment for patients without cirrhosis and following the EXPEDITION-8 study, also in patients with compensated cirrhosis who are new to treatment.

Creon. Creon (pancrelipase) is a pancreatic enzyme therapy for exocrine pancreatic insufficiency, a condition that occurs in patients with cystic fibrosis, chronic pancreatitis and several other conditions.

Lupron. Lupron (leuprolide acetate), which is also marketed as Lucrin and Lupron Depot, is a product for the palliative treatment of advanced prostate cancer, treatment of endometriosis and central precocious puberty and for the preoperative treatment of patients with anemia caused by uterine fibroids. Lupron is approved for daily subcutaneous injection and one-month, three-month, four-month and six-month intramuscular injection.

Linzess/Constella. Linzess (linaclotide) is a once-daily guanylate cyclase-C agonist used in adults to treat irritable bowel syndrome with constipation (IBS-C) and chronic idiopathic constipation (CIC). The product is marketed as Linzess in the United States and as Constella outside of the United States.

Synthroid. Synthroid (levothyroxine sodium tablets, USP) is used in the treatment of hypothyroidism.

AbbVie has the rights to sell Creon and Synthroid only in the United States. AbbVie's commercial rights to the sale and distribution of Synagis outside of the United States will revert to AstraZeneca upon the expiry of the current agreement in 2021.

Marketing, Sales and Distribution Capabilities

AbbVie utilizes a combination of dedicated commercial resources, regional commercial resources and distributorships to market, sell and distribute its products worldwide. AbbVie directs its primary marketing efforts toward securing the prescription, or recommendation, of its brand of products by physicians, key opinion leaders and other health care providers. Managed care providers (for example, health maintenance organizations and pharmacy benefit managers), hospitals and state and federal government agencies (for example, the United States Department of Veterans Affairs and the United States Department of Defense) are also important customers. AbbVie also markets directly to consumers themselves, although in the United States many of the company's products must be sold pursuant to a prescription. Outside of the United States, AbbVie focuses its promotional and market access efforts on key opinion leaders, payers, physicians and health systems. AbbVie also provides patient support programs closely related to its products. Throughout the COVID-19 pandemic AbbVie has maintained its promotional activities with key stakeholders by leveraging digital engagement where permitted and in compliance with the locally applicable government guidance.

AbbVie's products are generally sold worldwide directly to wholesalers, distributors, government agencies, health care facilities, specialty pharmacies and independent retailers from AbbVie-owned distribution centers and public warehouses. Certain products (including aesthetic products and devices) are also sold directly to physicians and other licensed healthcare providers. Although AbbVie's business does not have significant seasonality, AbbVie's product revenues may be affected by end customer and retail buying patterns, fluctuations in wholesaler inventory levels and other factors.

In the United States, AbbVie distributes pharmaceutical products principally through independent wholesale distributors, with some sales directly to retailers, pharmacies and patients. In 2020, three wholesale distributors (McKesson Corporation, Cardinal Health, Inc. and AmerisourceBergen Corporation) accounted for substantially all of AbbVie's sales in the United States. No individual wholesaler accounted for greater than 38% of AbbVie's 2020 gross revenues in the United States. Outside the United States, AbbVie sells products primarily to customers or through distributors, depending on the market served.

Certain products are co-marketed or co-promoted with other companies. AbbVie has no single customer that, if the customer were lost, would have a material adverse effect on the company's business. No material portion of AbbVie's business is subject to renegotiation of profits or termination of contracts at the election of the government. Orders are generally filled on a current basis and order backlog is not material to AbbVie's business.

Competition

The markets for AbbVie's products are highly competitive. AbbVie competes with other research-based pharmaceuticals and biotechnology companies that discover, manufacture, market and sell proprietary pharmaceutical products, therapies and biologics. For example, Humira competes with anti-TNF products and other competitive products intended to treat a number of disease states and Mavyret/Maviret competes with other available HCV treatment options. In addition, in the past few years, a number of other companies have started to develop, have successfully developed and/or are currently marketing products that are being positioned as competitors to Botox. The search for technological innovations in pharmaceutical products is a significant aspect of competition. The introduction of new products by competitors and changes in medical practices and procedures can result in product obsolescence. Price is also a competitive factor. In addition, the substitution of generic pharmaceutical products for branded pharmaceutical products creates competitive pressures on AbbVie's products that do not have patent protection. New products or treatments brought to market by AbbVie's competitors could cause revenues for AbbVie's products to decrease due to price reductions and sales volume decreases.

Biosimilars. Competition for AbbVie's biologic products is affected by the approval of follow-on biologics, also known as "biosimilars." Biologics have added major therapeutic options for the treatment of many diseases, including some for which therapies were unavailable or inadequate. The cost of developing and producing biologic therapies is typically dramatically higher than for conventional (small molecule) medications, and many biologic medications are used for ongoing treatment of chronic diseases, such as rheumatoid arthritis or inflammatory bowel disease, or for the treatment of previously untreatable cancer. Significant investments in biologics infrastructure and manufacturing are necessary to produce biologic products.

Humira is now facing direct biosimilar competition in Europe and other countries, and AbbVie will continue to face competitive pressure from these biologics and from orally administered products.

In the United States, the FDA regulates biologics under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (the FFDCA), the Public Health Service Act (PHSA) and the regulations implementing such acts.

The enactment of federal health care reform legislation in March 2010 provided a pathway for approval of biosimilars under the PHSA, but the approval process for, and science behind, biosimilars is complex. Approval by the FDA is dependent upon many factors, including a showing that the biosimilar is "highly similar" to the original product and has no clinically meaningful differences from the original product in terms of safety, purity and potency. The types of data that could ordinarily be required in an application to show similarity may include analytical data, bioequivalence studies and studies to demonstrate chemical similarity, animal studies (including toxicity studies) and clinical studies.

Furthermore, the law provides that only a biosimilar product that is determined to be "interchangeable" will be considered by the FDA as substitutable for the original biologic product without the intervention of the health care provider who prescribed the original biologic product. To prove that a biosimilar product is interchangeable, the applicant must demonstrate that the product can be expected to produce the same clinical results as the original biologic product in any given patient, and if the product is administered more than once in a patient, that safety risks and potential for diminished efficacy of alternating or switching between the use of the interchangeable biosimilar biologic product and the original biologic product is no greater than the risk of using the original biologic product without switching. The law continues to be interpreted and implemented by the FDA. As a result, its ultimate impact, implementation and meaning remains subject to uncertainty.

Intellectual Property Protection and Regulatory Exclusivity

Generally, upon approval, products may be entitled to certain kinds of exclusivity under applicable intellectual property and regulatory regimes. AbbVie's intellectual property is materially valuable to the company, and AbbVie seeks patent protection, where available, in all significant markets and/or countries for each product in development. In the United States, the expiration date for patents is 20 years after the filing date. Given that patents relating to pharmaceutical products are often obtained early in the development process and given the amount of time needed to complete clinical trials and other development activities required for regulatory approval, the length of time between product launch and patent expiration is significantly less than 20 years. The Drug Price Competition and Patent Term Restoration Act of 1984 (commonly known as the Hatch-Waxman Act) permits a patent holder to seek a patent extension, commonly called a "patent term restoration," for patents on products (or processes for making the product) regulated by the FFDCA. The length of the patent extension is roughly based on 50 percent of the period of time from the filing of an Investigational New Drug Application (NDA) for a compound to the submission of the NDA for such compound, plus 100 percent of the time period from NDA submission to regulatory approval. The extension, however, cannot exceed five years and the patent term remaining after regulatory approval cannot exceed 14 years. Biological products licensed under the PHSA are similarly eligible for terms of patent restoration.

Pharmaceutical products may be entitled to other forms of legal or regulatory exclusivity upon approval. The scope, length, and requirements for each of these exclusivities vary both in the United States and in other jurisdictions. In the United States, if the FDA approves a drug product that contains an active ingredient not previously approved, the product is typically entitled to five years of non-patent regulatory exclusivity. Other products may be entitled to three years of exclusivity if approval was based on the FDA's reliance on new clinical studies essential to approval submitted by the NDA applicant. If the NDA applicant studies the product for use by children, the FDA may grant pediatric exclusivity, which extends by 180 days all existing exclusivities (patent and regulatory) related to the product. For products that are either used to treat conditions that afflict a relatively small population or for which there is not a reasonable expectation that the research and development costs will be recovered, the FDA may designate the pharmaceutical as an orphan drug and grant it seven years of market exclusivity. Other types of regulatory exclusivity may also be available, such as Generating New Antibiotic Incentives Now (GAIN) exclusivity, which can provide new antibiotic or new antifungal drugs an additional 5 years of marketing exclusivity to be added to certain exclusivities already provided for by law.

Applicable laws and regulations dictate the scope of any exclusivity to which a product or particular characteristics of a product is entitled upon approval in any particular country. In certain instances, regulatory exclusivity may offer protection where patent protection is no longer available or for a period of time in excess of patent protection. It is not possible to estimate for each product in development the total period and scope of exclusivity to which it may become entitled until regulatory approval is obtained or sometimes even later. However, given the length of time required to complete clinical development of a pharmaceutical product, the periods of exclusivity that might be achieved in any individual case would not be expected to exceed a minimum of three years and a maximum of 14 years. These estimates do not consider other factors, such as the difficulty of recreating the manufacturing process for a particular product or other proprietary knowledge that may delay the introduction of a generic or other follow-on product after the expiration of applicable patent and other regulatory exclusivity periods.

Biologics may be entitled to exclusivity under the Biologics Price Competition and Innovation Act, which was passed on March 23, 2010 as Title VII to the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act. The law provides a pathway for approval of biosimilars following the expiration of 12 years of regulatory exclusivity for the innovator biologic and a potential additional 180 day-extension term for conducting pediatric studies. Biologics are also eligible for orphan drug exclusivity, as discussed above. The law also includes an extensive process for the innovator biologic and biosimilar manufacturer to litigate patent infringement, validity, and enforceability. The European Union has also created a pathway for approval of biosimilars and has published guidelines for approval of certain biosimilar products. The more complex nature of biologics and biosimilar products has led to close regulatory scrutiny over follow-on biosimilar products, which can reduce the effect of biosimilars on sales of the innovator biologic as compared to the sales erosion caused by generic versions of small molecule pharmaceutical products.

AbbVie owns or has licensed rights to a substantial number of patents and patent applications. AbbVie licenses or owns a patent portfolio of thousands of patent families, each of which includes United States patent applications and/or issued patents and may also contain the non-United States counterparts to these patents and applications.

These patents and applications, including various patents that expire during the period 2021 to the late 2030s, in aggregate are believed to be of material importance in the operation of AbbVie's business. However, AbbVie believes that no single patent, license, trademark (or related group of patents, licenses, or trademarks), except for those related to adalimumab (which is sold under the trademark Humira), are material in relation to the company's business as a whole. The United States composition of matter (that is, compound) patent covering adalimumab expired in December 2016, and the equivalent European Union patent expired in October 2018 in the majority of European Union countries. In the United States, non-composition of matter patents covering adalimumab expire no earlier than 2022. AbbVie has entered into settlement and license agreements with several adalimumab biosimilar manufactures. Under the agreements, the license in the United States will begin in 2023 and the license in Europe began in 2018.

In addition, the following patents, licenses, and trademarks are significant: those related to ibrutinib (which is sold under the trademark Imbruvica) and those related to risankizumab (which is sold under the trademark Skyrizi). The United States composition of matter patent covering ibrutinib is expected to expire in 2027. The United States composition of matter patent covering risankizumab is expected to expire in 2033.

AbbVie may rely, in some circumstances, on trade secrets to protect its technology. AbbVie seeks to protect its technology and product candidates, in part, by confidentiality agreements with its employees, consultants, advisors, contractors, and collaborators. These agreements may be breached and AbbVie may not have adequate remedies for any breach. In addition, AbbVie's trade secrets may otherwise become known or be independently discovered by competitors. To the extent that AbbVie's employees, consultants, advisors, contractors, and collaborators use intellectual property owned by others in their work for the company, disputes may arise as to the rights in related or resulting know-how and inventions.

Licensing, Acquisitions and Other Arrangements

In addition to its independent efforts to develop and market products, AbbVie enters into arrangements such as acquisitions, option-to-acquire agreements, licensing arrangements, option-to-license arrangements, strategic alliances, co-promotion arrangements, co-development and co-marketing agreements, and joint ventures. The acquisitions and option-to-acquire agreements typically include, among other terms and conditions, non-refundable purchase price payments or option fees, option exercise payments, milestones or earn-outs, and other customary terms and obligations. The licensing and other arrangements typically include, among other terms and conditions, non-refundable upfront license fees, option fees and option exercise payments, milestone payments and royalty and/or profit sharing obligations. See Note 5, "Licensing, Acquisitions and Other Arrangements—Other Licensing & Acquisitions Activity," to the Consolidated Financial Statements included under Item 8, "Financial Statements and Supplementary Data."

Third Party Agreements

AbbVie has agreements with third parties for process development, product distribution, analytical services and manufacturing of certain products. AbbVie procures certain products and services from a limited number of suppliers and, in some cases, a single supply source. In addition, AbbVie has agreements with third parties for active pharmaceutical ingredient and product manufacturing, formulation and development services, fill, finish and packaging services, transportation and distribution and logistics services for certain products. AbbVie does not believe that these manufacturing related agreements are material because AbbVie's business is not substantially dependent on any individual agreement. In most cases, AbbVie maintains alternate supply relationships that it can utilize without undue disruption of its manufacturing processes if a third party fails to perform its contractual obligations. AbbVie also maintains sufficient inventory of product to minimize the impact of any supply disruption.

AbbVie is also party to certain collaborations and other arrangements, as discussed in Note 5, "Licensing, Acquisitions and Other Arrangements—Other Licensing & Acquisitions Activity," to the Consolidated Financial Statements included under Item 8, "Financial Statements and Supplementary Data."

Sources and Availability of Raw Materials

AbbVie purchases, in the ordinary course of business, raw materials and supplies essential to its operations from numerous suppliers around the world. In addition, certain medical devices and components necessary for the manufacture of AbbVie products are provided by unaffiliated third party suppliers. Other than the Lupron near-term supply issue which has impacted availability of certain formulations, AbbVie has not experienced any recent significant availability problems or supply shortages that impacted fulfillment of product demand.

Research and Development Activities

AbbVie makes a significant investment in research and development and has numerous compounds in clinical development, including potential treatments for complex, life-threatening diseases. AbbVie's ability to discover and develop new compounds is enhanced by the company's use of integrated discovery and development project teams, which include chemists, biologists, physicians and pharmacologists who work on the same compounds as a team. AbbVie also partners with third parties, such as biotechnology companies, other pharmaceutical companies and academic institutions to identify and prioritize promising new treatments that complement and enhance AbbVie's existing portfolio. AbbVie also supplements its research and development efforts with acquisitions.

The research and development process generally begins with discovery research which focuses on the identification of a molecule that has a desired effect against a given disease. If preclinical testing of an identified compound proves successful, the compound moves into clinical development which generally includes the following phases:

- Phase 1—involves the first human tests in a small number of healthy volunteers or patients to assess safety, tolerability and potential dosing.
- Phase 2—tests the drug's efficacy against the disease in a relatively small group of patients.
- Phase 3—tests a drug that demonstrates favorable results in the earlier phases in a significantly larger patient population to further demonstrate efficacy and safety based on regulatory criteria.

The clinical trials from all of the development phases provide the data required to prepare and submit an NDA, a Biological License Application (BLA) or other submission for regulatory approval to the FDA or similar government agencies outside the United States. The specific requirements (e.g., scope of clinical trials) for obtaining regulatory approval vary across different countries and geographic regions.

The research and development process from discovery through a new drug launch typically takes 8 to 12 years and can be even longer. The research and development of new pharmaceutical products has a significant amount of inherent uncertainty. There is no guarantee when, or if, a molecule will receive the regulatory approval required to launch a new drug or indication.

In addition to the development of new products and new formulations, research and development projects also may include Phase 4 trials, sometimes called post-marketing studies. For such projects, clinical trials are designed and conducted to collect additional data regarding, among other parameters, the benefits and risks of an approved drug.

Regulation—Discovery and Clinical Development

United States. Securing approval to market a new pharmaceutical product in the United States requires substantial effort and financial resources and takes several years to complete. The applicant must complete preclinical tests and submit protocols to the FDA before commencing clinical trials. Clinical trials are intended to establish the safety and efficecy of the pharmaceutical product and typically are conducted in sequential phases, although the phases may overlap or be combined. If the required clinical testing is successful, the results are submitted to the FDA in the form of an NDA or BLA requesting approval to market the product for one or more indications. The FDA reviews an NDA or BLA to determine whether a product is safe and effective for its intended use and whether its manufacturing is compliant with current Good Manufacturing Practices (cGMP).

Even if an NDA or a BLA receives approval, the applicant must comply with post-approval requirements. For example, holders of an approval must report adverse reactions, provide updated safety and efficacy information and comply with requirements concerning advertising and promotional materials and activities. Also, quality control and manufacturing procedures must continue to conform to cGMP after approval, and certain changes to the manufacturing procedures and finished product must be submitted and approved by the FDA prior to implementation. The FDA periodically inspects manufacturing facilities to assess compliance with cGMP, which imposes extensive procedural and record keeping requirements. In addition, as a condition of approval, the FDA may require post-marketing testing and surveillance to further assess and monitor the product's safety or efficacy after commercialization, which may require additional clinical trials, patient registries, observational data or additional work on chemistry, manufacturing and controls. Any post-approval regulatory obligations, and the cost of complying with such obligations, could expand in the future. Further, the FDA continues to regulate product labeling, and prohibits the promotion of products for unapproved or "off-label" uses along with other labeling restrictions.

Outside the United States. AbbVie is subject to similar regulatory requirements outside the United States for approval and marketing of pharmaceutical products. AbbVie must obtain approval of a clinical trial application or product from applicable supervising regulatory authorities before it can commence clinical trials or marketing of the product in target markets. The approval requirements and process for each country can vary, and the time required to obtain approval may be longer or shorter than that required for FDA approval in the United States. For example, AbbVie may submit marketing authorizations in the European Union under either a centralized or decentralized procedure. The centralized procedure is mandatory for the approval of biotechnology products and many pharmaceutical products and provides for a single marketing authorization that is valid for all European Union member states. Under the centralized procedure, a single marketing authorization application is submitted to the European Medicines Agency (EMA). After the agency evaluates the application, it makes a recommendation to the European Commission, which then makes the final determination on whether to approve the application. The decentralized procedure provides for mutual recognition of individual national approval decisions and is available for products that are not subject to the centralized procedure.

In Japan, applications for approval of a new product are made through the Pharmaceutical and Medical Devices Agency (PMDA). Japan-specific trials and/or bridging studies to demonstrate that the non-Japanese clinical data applies to Japanese patients may be required. After completing a comprehensive review, the PMDA reports to the Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare, which then approves or denies the application.

Similarly, applications for a new product in China are submitted to the Center for Drug Evaluation (CDE) of the National Medical Products Administration (NMPA) for technical review and approval of a product for marketing in China. Clinical data in Chinese subjects are required to support approval in China, requiring the inclusion of China in global pivotal studies, or a separate China/Asian clinical trial.

The regulatory process in many emerging markets continues to evolve. Many emerging markets, including those in Asia, generally require regulatory approval to have been obtained in a large developed market (such as the United States or Europe) before the country will begin or complete its regulatory review process. Similar to the requirements in Japan and China, certain countries (notably South Korea, Taiwan and Russia) also require that local clinical studies be conducted in order to support regulatory approval in the country.

The requirements governing the conduct of clinical trials and product licensing also vary. In addition, post-approval regulatory obligations such as adverse event reporting and cGMP compliance generally apply and may vary by country. For example, after a marketing authorization has been granted in the European Union, periodic safety reports must be submitted and other pharmacovigilance measures may be required (such as Risk Management Plans).

Regulation—Commercialization, Distribution and Manufacturing

The manufacture, marketing, sale, promotion and distribution of AbbVie's products are subject to comprehensive government regulation. Government regulation by various national, regional, federal, state and local agencies, both in the United States and other countries, addresses (among other matters) inspection of, and controls over, research and laboratory procedures, clinical investigations, product approvals and manufacturing, labeling, packaging, marketing and promotion, pricing and reimbursement, sampling, distribution, quality control, post-marketing surveillance, record keeping, storage and disposal practices. AbbVie's operations are also affected by trade regulations in many countries that limit the import of raw materials and finished products and by laws and regulations that seek to prevent corruption and bribery in the marketplace (including the United States Foreign Corrupt Practices Act and the United Kingdom Bribery Act, which provide guidance on corporate interactions with government officials) and require safeguards for the protection of personal data. In addition, AbbVie is subject to laws and regulations pertaining to health care fraud and abuse, including state and federal anti-kickback and false claims laws in the United States. Prescription drug manufacturers such as AbbVie are also subject to taxes, as well as application, product, user and other fees.

Compliance with these laws and regulations is costly and materially affects AbbVie's business. Among other effects, health care regulations substantially increase the time, difficulty and costs incurred in obtaining and maintaining approval to market newly developed and existing products. AbbVie expects compliance with these regulations to continue to require significant technical expertise and capital investment to ensure compliance. Failure to comply can delay the release of a new product or result in regulatory and enforcement actions, the seizure or recall of a product, the suspension or revocation of the authority necessary for a product's production and sale and other civil or criminal sanctions, including fines and penalties.

In addition to regulatory initiatives, AbbVie's business can be affected by ongoing studies of the utilization, safety, efficacy and outcomes of health care products and their components that are regularly conducted by industry participants, government agencies and others. These studies can lead to updates to the data regarding utilization, safety and efficacy of previously marketed products. In some cases, these studies have resulted, and may in the future result, in the discontinuance of, or limitations on, marketing of such products domestically or worldwide, and may give rise to claims for damages from persons who believe they have been injured as a result of their use.

Access to human health care products continues to be a subject of oversight, investigation and action by governmental agencies, legislative bodies and private organizations in the United States and other countries. A major focus is cost containment. Efforts to reduce health care costs are also being made in the private sector, notably by health care payers and providers, which have instituted various cost reduction and containment measures. AbbVie expects insurers and providers to continue attempts to reduce the cost of health care products. Outside the United States, many countries control the price of health care products directly or indirectly, through reimbursement, payment, pricing, coverage limitations, or compulsory licensing. Political and budgetary pressures in the United States and in other countries may also heighten the scope and severity of pricing pressures on AbbVie's products for the foreseeable future.

United States. Specifically, U.S. federal laws require pharmaceutical manufacturers to pay certain statutorily-prescribed rebates to state Medicaid programs on prescription drugs reimbursed under state Medicaid plans, and the efforts by states to seek additional rebates affect AbbVie's business. Similarly, the Veterans Health Care Act of 1992, as a prerequisite to participation in Medicaid and other federal health care programs, requires that manufacturers extend additional discounts on pharmaceutical products to various federal agencies, including the United States Department of Veterans Affairs, Department of Defense and Public Health Service entities and institutions. In addition, recent legislative changes would require similarly discounted prices to be offered to TRICARE program beneficiaries. The Veterans Health Care Act of 1992 also established the 340B drug discount program, which requires pharmaceutical manufacturers to provide products at reduced prices to various designated health care entities and facilities.

In the United States, most states also have generic substitution legislation requiring or permitting a dispensing pharmacist to substitute a different manufacturer's generic version of a pharmaceutical product for the one prescribed. In addition, the federal government follows a diagnosis-related group (DRG) payment system for certain institutional services provided under Medicare or Medicaid and has implemented a prospective payment system (PPS) for services delivered in hospital outpatient, nursing home and home health settings. DRG and PPS entitle a health care facility to a fixed reimbursement based on the diagnosis and/or procedure rather than actual costs incurred in patient treatment, thereby increasing the incentive for the facility to limit or control expenditures for many health care products. Medicare reimburses Part B drugs based on average sales price plus a certain percentage to account for physician administration costs, which have been reduced in the hospital outpatient setting. Medicare enters into contracts with private plans to negotiate prices for most patient-administered medicine delivered under Part D.

Under the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act and the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act (together, the Affordable Care Act), AbbVie pays a fee related to its pharmaceuticals sales to government programs. In addition, AbbVie provides a discount of 50% for branded prescription drugs sold to patients who fall into the Medicare Part D coverage gap, or "donut hole."

The Affordable Care Act also includes provisions known as the Physician Payments Sunshine Act, which require manufacturers of drugs and biologics covered under Medicare and Medicaid to record any transfers of value to physicians and teaching hospitals and to report this data to the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services for subsequent public disclosure. Similar reporting requirements have also been enacted on the state level in the United States, and an increasing number of countries worldwide either have adopted or are considering similar laws requiring disclosure of interactions with health care professionals. Failure to report appropriate data may result in civil or criminal fines and/or penalties.

AbbVie expects debate to continue during 2021 at all government levels worldwide over the marketing, availability, method of delivery and payment for health care products and services. AbbVie believes that future legislation and regulation in the markets it serves could affect access to health care products and services, increase rebates, reduce prices or the rate of price increases for health care products and services, change health care delivery systems, create new fees and obligations for the pharmaceuticals industry, or require additional reporting and disclosure. It is not possible to predict the extent to which AbbVie or the health care industry in general might be affected by the matters discussed above.

European Union. The European Union has adopted directives and other legislation governing labeling, advertising, distribution, supply, pharmacovigilance and marketing of pharmaceutical products. Such legislation provides mandatory standards throughout the European Union and permits member states to supplement these standards with additional regulations. European governments also regulate pharmaceutical product prices through their control of national health care systems that fund a large part of the cost of such products to consumers. As a result, patients are unlikely to use a pharmaceutical product that is not reimbursed by the government. In many European countries, the government either regulates the pricing of a new product at launch or subsequent to launch through direct price controls or reference pricing. In recent years, many countries have also imposed new or additional cost containment measures on pharmaceutical products. Differences between national pricing regimes create price differentials within the European Union that can lead to significant parallel trade in pharmaceutical products.

Most governments also promote generic substitution by mandating or permitting a pharmacist to substitute a different manufacturer's generic version of a pharmaceutical product for the one prescribed and by permitting or mandating that health care professionals prescribe generic versions in certain circumstances. Many governments are also following a similar path for biosimilar therapies. In addition, governments use reimbursement lists to limit the pharmaceutical products that are eligible for reimbursement by national health care systems.

Japan. In Japan, the National Health Insurance system maintains a Drug Price List specifying which pharmaceutical products are eligible for reimbursement, and the Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare sets the prices of the products on this list. The government generally introduces price cut rounds every other year and also mandates price decreases for specific products. New products judged innovative or useful, that are indicated for pediatric use, or that target orphan or small population diseases, however, may be eligible for a pricing premium. The government has also promoted the use of generics, where available.

Emerging Markets. Many emerging markets take steps to reduce pharmaceutical product prices, in some cases through direct price controls and in others through the promotion of generic/biosimilar alternatives to branded pharmaceuticals.

Since AbbVie markets its products worldwide, certain products of a local nature and variations of product lines must also meet other local regulatory requirements. Certain additional risks are inherent in conducting business outside the United States, including price and currency exchange controls, changes in currency exchange rates, limitations on participation in local enterprises, expropriation, nationalization and other governmental action.

Regulation—Medical Devices

Medical devices are subject to regulation by the FDA, state agencies and foreign government health authorities. FDA regulations, as well as various U.S. federal and state laws, govern the development, clinical testing, manufacturing, labeling, record keeping and marketing of medical device products agencies in the United States. AbbVie's medical device product candidates, including AbbVie's breast implants, must undergo rigorous clinical testing and an extensive government regulatory clearance or approval process prior to sale in the United States and other countries. The lengthy process of clinical development and submissions for clearance or approval, and the continuing need for compliance with applicable laws and regulations, require the expenditure of substantial resources. Regulatory clearance or approval, when and if obtained, may be limited in scope, and may significantly limit the indicated uses for which a product may be marketed. Cleared or approved products and their manufacturers are subject to ongoing review, and discovery of previously unknown problems with products may result in restrictions on their manufacture, sale, and/or use or require their withdrawal from the market.

United States. AbbVie's medical device products are subject to extensive regulation by the FDA in the United States. Unless an exemption applies, each medical device AbbVie markets in the United States must have a 510(k) clearance or a Premarket Approval Application (PMA) in accordance with the FFDCA and its implementing regulations. The FDA classifies medical devices into one of three classes, depending on the degree of risk associated with each medical device and the extent of controls that are needed to ensure safety end effectiveness. Devices deemed to pose a lower risk are placed in either Class I or Class II, and devices deemed by the FDA to pose the greatest risk, such as life-sustaining, life-supporting or implantable devices, or a device deemed to be not substantially equivalent to a previously cleared 510(k) device, are placed in Class III. In general, a Class III device cannot be marketed in the United States unless the FDA approves the device after submission of a PMA, and any changes to the device subsequent to initial FDA approval must also be reviewed and approved by the FDA. The majority of AbbVie's medical device products, including AbbVie's breast implants, are regulated as Class III medical devices. A Class III device may have significant additional obligations imposed in its conditions of approval, and the time in which it takes to obtain approval can be long. Compliance with regulatory requirements is assured through periodic, unannounced facility inspections by the FDA and other regulatory authorities, and these inspections may include the manufacturing facilities of AbbVie's subcontractors or other third-party manufacturers. Failure to comply with applicable regulatory requirements can result in enforcement action by the FDA, which may include any of the following sanctions: warning letters or untitled letters; fines, injunctions and civil penalties; recall or seizure of AbbVie' products; operating restrictions, partial suspension or total shutdown of production; refusing AbbVie' request for 510(k) clearance or PMA approval of new products; withdrawing 510(k) clearance or PMA approvals that are already granted; and criminal prosecution.

A clinical trial is almost always required to support a PMA application and is sometimes required for a 510(k) premarket notification. Clinical trials generally require submission of an application for an investigational device exemption (IDE), which must be supported by appropriate data, such as animal and laboratory testing results, showing that it is safe to test the device in humans and that the testing protocol is scientifically sound. A study sponsor must obtain approval for its IDE from the FDA, and it must also obtain approval of its study from the Institutional Review Board (IRB) overseeing the trial. The results of clinical testing may not be sufficient to obtain approval of the investigational device.

Once a device is approved, the manufacture and distribution of the device remains subject to continuing regulation by the FDA, including Quality System Regulation requirements, which involve design, testing, control, documentation and other quality assurance procedures during the manufacturing process. Medical device manufacturers and their subcontractors are required to register their establishments and list their manufactured devices with the FDA and are subject to periodic unannounced inspections by the FDA and certain state agencies for compliance with regulatory requirements. Manufacturers must also report to the FDA if their devices may have caused or contributed to a death or serious injury or malfunctioned in a way that could likely cause or contribute to a death or serious injury, or if the manufacturer conducts a field correction or product recall or removal to reduce a risk to health posed by a device or to remedy a violation of the FFDCA that may present a health risk. Further, the FDA continues to regulate device labeling, and prohibits the promotion of products for unapproved or "off-label" uses along with other labeling restrictions.

European Union. Medical device products that are marketed in the European Union must comply with the requirements of the Medical Device Regulation (the MDR), which will come into effect in May 2021. The MDR provides for regulatory oversight with respect to the design, manufacture, clinical trials, labeling and adverse event reporting for medical devices to ensure that medical devices marketed in the European Union are safe and effective for their intended uses. Medical devices that comply with the MDR are entitled to bear a Conformité Européenne marking evidencing such compliance and may be marketed in the European Union. Failure to comply with these domestic and international regulatory requirements could affect AbbVie's ability to market and sell AbbVie's products in these countries.

Environmental Matters

AbbVie believes that its operations comply in all material respects with applicable laws and regulations concerning environmental protection. Regulations under federal and state environmental laws impose stringent limitations on emissions and discharges to the environment from various manufacturing operations. AbbVie's capital expenditures for pollution control in 2020 were approximately $6 million and operating expenditures were approximately $34 million. In 2021, capital expenditures for pollution control are estimated to be approximately $9 million and operating expenditures are estimated to be approximately $36 million.

Abbott was identified as one of many potentially responsible parties in investigations and/or remediations at several locations in the United States, including Puerto Rico, under the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act, commonly known as Superfund. Some of these locations were transferred to AbbVie in connection with the separation and distribution, and AbbVie has become a party to these investigations and remediations. Abbott was also engaged in remediation at several other sites, some of which have been transferred to AbbVie in connection with the separation and distribution, in cooperation with the Environmental Protection Agency or similar agencies. While it is not feasible to predict with certainty the final costs related to those investigations and remediation activities, AbbVie believes that such costs, together with other expenditures to maintain compliance with applicable laws and regulations concerning environmental protection, should not have a material adverse effect on the company's financial position, cash flows, or results of operations.

Employees

AbbVie employed approximately 47,000 employees in over 70 countries as of January 31, 2021. Outside the United States, some of AbbVie's employees are represented by unions or works councils. AbbVie believes that it has good relations with its employees.

Human Capital Management

Attracting, retaining and providing meaningful growth and development opportunities to AbbVie's employees is critical to the company's success in making a remarkable impact on people's lives around the world. AbbVie leverages numerous resources to identify and enhance strategic and leadership capability, foster employee engagement and create a culture where diverse talent is productive and engaged. AbbVie invests in its employees through competitive compensation, benefits and employee support programs and offers best-in-class development and leadership opportunities. AbbVie has developed a deep talent base through ongoing investment in functional and leadership training and by sourcing world-class external talent, ensuring a sustainable talent pipeline. AbbVie continuously cultivates and enhances its working culture and embraces equality, diversity and inclusion as fundamental to the company's mission.

Attracting and Developing Talent. Attracting and developing high-performing talent is essential to AbbVie's continued success. AbbVie implements detailed talent attraction strategies, with en emphasis on STEM skill sets, a diverse talent base and other critical skillsets, including drug discovery, clinical development, market access, and business development. AbbVie also invests in competitive compensation and benefits programs. In addition to offering a comprehensive suite of benefits ranging from medical and dental coverage to retirement, disability and life insurance programs, AbbVie also provides health promotion programs, mental health awareness campaigns and employee assistance programs in several countries, financial wellness support, on-site health screenings and immunizations in several countries and on-site fitness and rehabilitation centers. In addition, the AbbVie Employee Assistance Fund (a part of the AbbVie Foundation) supports two programs for global employees: the AbbVie Possibilities Scholarship for children of employees, which is an annual merit-based scholarship for use at accredited colleges, universities or vocational-technical schools; and the Employee Relief Program, which is financial assistance to support short term needs of employees when faced with large-scale disasters (e.g. a hurricane), individual disasters (e.g. a home fire) or financial hardship (e.g. the death of a spouse). Finally, AbbVie empowers managers and their teams with tools, tips and guidelines on effectively managing workloads, managing teams from a distance and supporting flexible work practices.

New AbbVie employees are given a tailored onboarding experience for faster integration and to support performance. AbbVie's mentorship program allows employees to self-nominate as mentors or mentees and facilitates meaningful relationships supporting employees' career and development goals.

AbbVie also provides structured, broad-based development opportunities, focusing on high-performance skills and leadership training. AbbVie's talent philosophy holds leaders accountable for building a high-performing organization, and the company provides development opportunities to all levels of leadership. AbbVie's Learn, Develop, Perform program offers year-long, self-directed leadership education, supplemented with tools and resources, and leverages leaders as role models and teachers. In addition, the foundation to AbbVie's leadership pipeline is the company's Professional Development Programs, which attract graduates, postgraduates and post-doctoral talent to participate in formal development programs lasting up to three years, with the objective of strengthening functional and leadership capabilities. AbbVie also recently introduced additional development support to senior leaders who are managing increased integration and operational complexity following the transformational acquisition of Allergan.

Culture. AbbVie's shared values of transforming lives, acting with integrity, driving innovation, embracing diversity and inclusion, and serving the community form the core of the company's culture. AbbVie articulates the behaviors associated with these values in the Ways We Work, a core set of working behaviors that emphasize how the company achieves results is equally as important as achieving them. The Ways We Work are designed to ensure that every AbbVie employee is aware of the company's cultural expectations. AbbVie integrates the Ways We Work into all talent processes, forming the basis for assessing performance, prioritizing development, and ultimately rewarding employees. AbbVie believes it culture creates strong engagement, which is measured regularly through a confidential, third party all-employee survey, and this engagement supports AbbVie's mission of making a remarkable impact on people's lives.

Equity, Equality, Diversity & Inclusion (EED&I). A cornerstone of AbbVie's human capital management approach is to prioritize fostering an inclusive and diverse workforce. In 2019, AbbVie adopted a five-year Equality, Diversity & Inclusion roadmap that defines key global focus areas, objectives and associated initiatives, and includes implementation plans organized by business function and geography. AbbVie's senior leaders have adopted formal goals aligned with executing this strategy. Over the past year, AbbVie's board of directors has prioritized oversight of AbbVie's response to the U.S. racial justice movement, including overseeing internal programs designed to ensure that AbbVie is attracting, retaining and developing diverse talent. Through June 2020, women represented 49 percent of management positions globally and in the United States, 33 percent of AbbVie's workforce was comprised of members of historically underrepresented populations, an increase from 2019. Further, AbbVie is committed to pay equity and conducts pay equity analyses annually. A critical component of AbbVie's strategy is to instill an inclusive mindset in all AbbVie leaders and employees, so the company can realize the full value of a diverse workforce from recruitment through retirement. AbbVie recently launched a new toolkit for people who manage others to reinforce the importance of EED&I to the business, educate leaders on inclusive recruiting practices and modeling inclusive behavior, and encourage participation in the company's inclusive culture learning opportunities. AbbVie's Employee Resource Groups also help the company nurture an inclusive culture by building community, hosting awareness events and providing leadership and career opportunities. In 2020, AbbVie reiterated its commitment to racial equality and social justice by appointing two additional senior level positions to drive change and awareness company-wide and taking deliberate steps to ensure AbbVie leads by example in promoting racial equity, as further described on the company's website at: https://www.abbvie.com/our-company/our-principles/our-commitment-to-racial-justice.html.

COVID-19 Health and Safety. AbbVie has effectively prioritized the health and safety of its employees during the COVID-19 pandemic, while continuing to drive strong business performance. AbbVie also implemented, among other things, temporary office and facility closures and establishment of new safety and cleaning protocols and procedures; regular communication regarding the effect of the pandemic on AbbVie's business and employees; establishment of physical distancing procedures, modification of workspaces, and provision of personal protective equipment and cleaning supplies for employees; temperature screening at all company locations; a variety of testing resources including on-site and at-home testing and COVID case management programs; and remote working accommodations and related services to support employees' needs for flexibility. In addition, COVID-19 is a covered event under the AbbVie Employee Assistance Fund's Employee Relief Program, entitling eligible AbbVie employees and their families to financial assistance to pay for mortgage/rent, utilities, food, childcare and medical expenses not covered by insurance. AbbVie also provided paid leave and other support and accommodations to the company's employees with relevant medical, pharmaceutical, R&D, science, public health and public safety skills, knowledge, training and experience who desired or were requested or mandated to serve as volunteers during the pandemic. Lastly, AbbVie's commitment to employees was evidenced by no workforce reductions and no salary reductions associated with COVID-19.

THIS BOND is subject to the following conditions:

(1) This bond shall be deemed continuous in form and shall remain in full force and effect and shall run concurrently with the license period for which the license is granted and each and every succeeding license period or periods for which said Applicant/Principal may be licensed, after which liability hereunder shall cease except as to any liability or indebtedness therefore incurred or accrued hereunder.
(2) This bond is executed by the Applicant/Principal and the Surety to comply with the provisions of NRS 639.515 and said bond shall be subject to all of the terms and provisions thereof.
(3) The Surety, its successors and assigns, are jointly and severally liable on the obligations of the bond.
(4) The limitations of the liability of the Surety and the conditions of the bond are set forth in NRS
639.515. Any claim by the Board may be made directly to the Surety and need not be preceded by the filing of any action in a proper court. Payment of any such claim shall be payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy.
(5) The aggregate liability of the Surety hereunder on all claims whatsoever shall not exceed the penal sum of this bond in any event.
(6) This bond may not be cancelled by the Surety without first giving the Board written notice at least thirty days in advance of any intent to cancel the bond.
(7) The Applicant/Principal and Surety may be served with notices, papers and other documents at the addresses given above.

I certify or declare under penalty of perjury, under the laws of the State of Nevada, that I have executed the foregoing bond on behalf of the Surety under an unrevoked power of attorney.

In witness whereof, each party to this bond has caused it to be executed on this 16th day of November, 2021.

RE: Greenbay Specialty Pharmacy's ("Greenbay") application

Dear Gentlemen,

The Nevada State Board of Pharmacy ("Board") considered Greenbay's application for a new Nevada pharmacy at the Board meeting on October 14, 2021. The Board approved Greenbay's application pending a positive opening inspection along with quarterly inspections, (4) additional inspections, for one year (by November 30, 2022) at Greenbay's expense.

Please contact me with additional questions.

Sincerely,

Courtney K. Lee

This document lists observations made by the FDA representative(s) during the inspection of your facility. They are inspectional observations, and do not represent a final Agency determination regarding your compliance. If you have an objection regarding an observation, or have implemented, or plan to implement, corrective action in response to an observation, you may discuss the objection or action with the FDA representative(s) during the inspection or submit this information to FDA at the address above. If you have any questions, please contact FDA at the phone number and address above.

DURING AN INSPECTION OF YOUR FIRM WE OBSERVED:

OBSERVATION 1

Aseptic processing areas are deficient regarding the system for monitoring environmental conditions.

Specifically,

1. Environmental monitoring surface sampling conducted in the vial filling room (ISO-5) is not taken in the most critical areas where aseptic manipulations occur. According to the Lead Quality Technician, surface samples are collected on the outer most areas of the LAFW (ISO-5); however, according to the Lead Compounding Technician, aseptic manipulations are performed in the center of the LAFW (ISO-5).
2. Your firm's mobile particle counting probe is not placed in an orientation demonstrated to obtain a meaningful sample to monitor non-viable particles during production of your firm's non-dedicated vial filling machine (ISO-5), located in your firm's vial filling machine (ISO-5). According to your firm's Lead Quality Technician, who conducts routine environmental monitoring sampling, the mobile particle counting probe is located greater than 1 foot from the most critical area, where the greatest potential risk and highest exposure to the sterilized product occurs.

OBSERVATION 2

Aseptic processing areas are deficient regarding the system for cleaning and disinfecting the room to produce aseptic conditions.

Specifically,

On 7/27/2021, a stainless-steel bin was observed being transferred from the ISO-7 classified area (lab) into the ISO-5 classified area (vial filling machine room) via pass-through box during the production of Triamcinolone, Lot 4115TA50, without being sanitized.

OBSERVATION 3

Procedures designed to prevent microbiological contamination of drug products purporting to be sterile did not include adequate validation of the aseptic and sterilization process.

Specifically,

1. During our review of the smoke study conducted in June 2020, by your firm's 3rd party contractor,
   a. We observed turbulence within the ISO-5 classified area of your firm's automated vial filling machine. The turbulence is observed at your most critical area of production (between filling and stoppering) during routine interventions. For example, but not limited to, at approximately:

Timestamp	Intervention description
00:12 – 00:17	while opening the access panel located near the crimp seal feeder
00:24 – 00:31	while opening the pass-thru window that connects the Lab (ISO-7) area to the Machine Filling Room (ISO-5)
00:38 – 00:39	while opening the entry door to the Machine Filling room (ISO-5) from the vestibule (ISO-7) area

The vial filling machine is used to aseptically fill all sterile drug products at your firm.

2. Your firm's autoclave validation conducted by your 3rd party contractor has not adequately specified a load pattern for your terminally sterilized drug product, Triamcinolone, in 10-mL vials. According to your firm's inventory management software, your firm distributed approximately 57,700 vials of Triamcinolone Acetonide 50mg and Triamcinolone Acetonide 80mg from 05/18/2018 to 07/31/2021.

OBSERVATION 4

Laboratory controls do not include the establishment of scientifically sound and appropriate test procedures designed to assure that drug products conform to appropriate standards of identity, strength, quality and purity.

Specifically,

1. The document used to capture your firm's personnel and environmental monitoring results is pre-populated with CFU counts of zero (0). According to your firm's Lead Quality Technician, they do not contemporaneously document their review of personnel and environmental monitoring plates.
2. Your suspension products (Betamethasone, Dexamethasone, Methylprednisolone, Triamcinolone) do not include a specification for particle size.

OBSERVATION 5

Batch production and control records do not include complete information relating to the production and control of each batch.

Specifically,

Your firm's media fills did not conduct media fill under worst-case, most challenging conditions. For example, but not limited to, prior to this FDA inspection, planned/unplanned interventions were not capture on your firm's batch records. On 08/02/2021, during the media fill, lot DEAPSBETA080221, at least 20 interventions were observed.

In addition, on 07/27/2021, during the manufacture of Triamcinolone 50 mg, lot 4115TA50, at least 9 interventions (manual opening of small window, manual opening of big door, manual adjustment of crimp/cap feeder with hands, manual adjustment of crimper) were observed during a 6-minute time period. These interventions were not documented on your firm's batch records.

OBSERVATION 6
Deviations from written specifications, sampling plans and test procedures are not recorded.

Specifically,

Your firm's Quality Unit failed to initiate investigations when you deviated from your stability protocols by placing one lot instead of three lots on stability, missing pre-established time points for testing and testing outside of the protocol. Your Quality Control Manager acknowledged that she should have initiated a deviation investigation. Your firm does not have a quality agreement with the laboratory who conducted your stability testing.

Re: Eagle Pharmacy 483 Issued 08/12/2021, FEI Number: 3011688532

Dear Ms. Maxwell,

The FDA conducted a routine inspection of our pharmacy, Eagle Pharmacy on 7/26/2021 (Mon), 7/27/2021 (Tue), 7/28/2021 (Wed), 7/29/2021 (Thu), 7/30/2021 (Fri), 8/02/2021 (Mon), 8/03/2021 (Tue), 8/04/2021 (Wed), 8/05/2021 (Thu), 8/06/2021 (Fri), 8/09/2021 (Mon), 8/10/2021 (Tue), 8/11/2021 (Wed), 8/12/2021 (Thu). At the conclusion of the inspection, a Form FDA 483 listing six inspectional observations was issued. Enclosed you will find our responses to these six observations and pertinent documentation to serve as evidence of corrective actions taken.

Eagle Pharmacy is an outsourcing facility that is currently licensed and in good standing with the Alabama Board of Pharmacy ("BOP") and complies with all BOP regulations. Eagle Pharmacy conducts its operations in accordance with the conditions outlined in Section 503B of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act ("FDCA").

Eagle Pharmacy wishes to emphasize that it takes the inspectional observations detailed on the Form FDA 483 very seriously. As Eagle Pharmacy strives to provide our patients with the safe and efficacious compounded medications that they rely upon, we are committed to adhering to applicable regulations and best practices that ensure that compounded medications are packed, prepared, and held under sanitary conditions.

Eagle Pharmacy has engaged a consulting firm, Eagle Analytical Services, with relevant sterile drug manufacturing experience and subject matter expertise in microbiology and regulatory compliance to assist with the development and implementation of the corrective actions outlined in the enclosed FDA 483 response.

Eagle Pharmacy will provide the Agency with a status update on the commitments detailed in the enclosed response within 30 days of this letter. Included in this status update will be documentation to serve as further evidence of corrective actions that have been taken.

In conclusion, we hope this response demonstrates our continued commitment to patient safety and continuous quality improvement. Thank you for your consideration of this response. If you should have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact Haleigh J. (Cawood) Wilkes at haleighc.eaglepharmacy@gmail.com.

Sincerely,

Haleigh Wilkes

Observation 1

1. Environmental monitoring surface sampling conducted in the vial filling room (ISO-5) is not taken in the most critical areas where aseptic manipulations occur. According to the Lead Quality Technician, surface samples are collected on the outer most areas of the LAFW (ISO-5); however, according to the Lead Compounding Technician, aseptic manipulations are performed in the center of the LAFW (ISO-5).
2. Your firm's mobile particle counting probe is not placed in an orientation demonstrated to obtain a meaningful sample to monitor non-viable particles during production of your firm's non-dedicated vial filling machine (ISO-5). According to your firm's Lead Quality Technician, who conducts routine environmental monitoring sampling, the mobile particle counting probe is located greater than 1 foot from the most critical area, where the greatest potential risk and highest exposure to the sterilized product occurs.

Response to Observation 1:

1. The environmental monitoring surface sampling in the vial filling room (ISO-5) will be collected from the most critical area where aseptic manipulations occur, which is in the center of the LAFW (ISO-5). Please see Attachment 1 for revised SOP P2.15.6 Environmental Monitoring Revision 6 Appendices 1-4 to indicate location of sampling. The revision was drafted and approved on 08/13/2021. Attachment 2, Documentation of Training on Updated Environmental Monitoring Procedures dated 08/16/2021 acknowledges training was provided to the Quality Control Technician.

2. The mobile particle counting probe will be placed in an orientation to obtain a meaningful sample to monitor non-viable particles during production. The probe will be placed in an area where the greatest potential risk and highest exposure to the sterilized product occurs. Please see Attachment 1 for revised SOP P2.15.6 Environmental Monitoring Revision 6 Appendices 1-4 to indicate location of sampling. Attachment 2, Documentation of Training on Updated Environmental Monitoring Procedures dated 08/16/2021 acknowledges training was provided to the Quality Control Technician.

Observation 2

On 7/27/2021, a stainless-steel bin was observed being transferred from the ISO-7 classified area (lab) into the ISO-5 classified area (vial filling machine room) via pass-through box during production of Triamcinolone, Lot 4115TA50, without being sanitized.

Response to Observation 2:

The Stainless-steel bins will be disinfected while transferring from ISO-7 classified area into the ISO-5 classified area (vial filling machine room). See Attachment 3 for revised SOP P2.18.7 Standard Operating Procedures for the Controlled Compounding Areas Revision 7 drafted and approved on 08/17/2021 to include staging of the stainless-steel bins Section 2.g. Attachment 4 includes documentation of Retraining of Compounding Personnel on the Staging of Supplies Entering the ISO Areas dated 08/17/2021.

Observation 3

1. During our review of the smoke study conducted in June 2020, by your firm's 3rd party contractor,
   a. We observed turbulence within the ISO-5 classified area of your firm's automated vial filling machine. The turbulence is observed at your most critical area of production (between filling and stoppering) during routine interventions. For example, but not limited to, at approximately:

   The vial filling machine is used to aseptically fill all sterile drug products at your firm.

2. Your firm's autoclave validation conducted by your 3rd party contractor has not adequately specified a load pattern for your terminally sterilized drug product, Triamcinolone, in 10-mL vials. According to your firm's inventory management software, your firm distributed approximately 57,700 vials of Triamcinolone Acetonide 50mg and Triamcinolone Acetonide 80mg from 05/18/2018-07/31/2021.

Response to Observation 3:

1. A third-party contractor was contacted to evaluate the cause of the turbulence inside the automated filling machine. After inspection, the equipment was modified to provide better air flow characteristics. Investigative Report 001 is provided in Attachment 5 and describes the findings of the investigation and the corrective action. After modifications were made to the automated filling machine, a smoke study was performed under dynamic conditions to simulate worst case operation of the equipment, captured in protocol PR-21035. The smoke study demonstrates that the vial filling machine now provides unidirectional airflow above the critical area during dynamic conditions while performing interventions. Summary Report REP-21035 is a summary of the smoke study and the results and is provided in Attachment 6.

2. Additional autoclave qualification activities will be performed to validate a specific load pattern for terminally sterilized Trimcinolone in 10-mL vials. A detailed description of the load pattern, including photos, is provided in Attachment 7. This validation study will be executed by the week of September 13, 2021.

Observation 4

1. The document used to capture your firm's personnel and environmental monitoring results is pre-populated with CFU counts of zero (0). According to your firm's Lead

Quality Technician, they do not contemporaneously document their review of personnel and environmental monitoring plates.

2. Your suspension products (Betamethasone, Dexamethasone, Methylprednisolone, Triamcinolone) do not include a specification for particle size.

Response to Observation 4:

1. The document used to record personnel and environmental monitoring results will not be pre-populated. Personnel and environmental monitoring results will be contemporaneously documented. Haleigh Wilkes, Quality Manager has password-restricted the Environmental and Personnel Monitoring forms. This limits the fields that can have information typed in them by the Quality Technicians preventing them from prepopulating any fields. See Attachment 8 which represents the unpopulated documents. The highlighted cells in Attachment 8 are the only areas that the Quality Technician has the ability to type in.

2. Dissolution/Particle size distribution studies were provided to Investigator Susan Oladeji on Day 2 of the inspection. Particle size distribution range has been established for batch release for both Methylprednisolone and Triamcinolone and the specifications are part of the batch records that were provided to Investigator Susan Oladeji on Day 4 of the inspection Attachments 9 and 10. Day 0 particle and dissolution testing has recently been completed on Dexamethasone and Betamethasone. Attachment 11 indicates the timeline for completion. Betamethasone and dexamethasone time zero particle distribution has been completed and the master batch records have been updated, see Attachments 12 and 13. All suspension products produced by Eagle Pharmacy now have the particle size distribution criteria for batch release.

Observation 5

Your firm's media fills did not conduct media fill under worst-case, most challenging conditions. For example, but not limited to, prior to this FDA inspection, planned/unplanned interventions were not capture on your firm's batch records. On 08/02/2021, during media fill, lot DEAPSBETA080221, at least 20 interventions were observed.

In addition, on 07/27/2021, during the manufacture of Triamcinolone 50mg, lot 4115TA50, at least 9 interventions (manual opening of small window, manual opening of big door, manual adjustment of crimp/cap feeder with hands, manual adjustment of crimper) were observed during a 6-minute time period. These interventions were not documented on your firm's batch records.

Response to Observation 5:

During the inspection, Eagle Pharmacy implemented corrective actions to capture all interventions, both planned and unplanned, that occur during routine batch production, as well as all media fill trials. Attachment 14 is the In-Process Interventions Form that is now part of all product and media fill batch records.

The media fill mentioned in the observation comment, DEAPSBETA080221, that was performed on 08/02/2021 during the FDA inspection, did contain the In-Process Interventions Form. The number of interventions (20) that were observed by the FDA investigator Demario Walls matched identically to the number recorded on the In-Process Interventions Form by the Eagle Pharmacy Quality Technician during the media fill. A copy of the form (Attachment 15) was provided during the inspection on the Day 7 USB.

Additionally, the batch production of Triamcinolone Lot# 4115TA50 was cancelled and discarded due to the malfunction of the crimp seal portion of the vial filling machine. The batch record for 4115TA50 along with the associated OOS report number Lot#4115TA50 was provided to the FDA during the inspection on the Day 8 USB.

Observation 6

Your firm's Quality Unit failed to initiate investigations when you deviated from your stability protocols by placing one lot instead of three lots on stability, missing pre-established time points for testing and testing outside of the protocol. Your Quality Control Manager acknowledged that she should have initiated a deviation investigation. Your firm does not have a quality agreement with the laboratory who conducted your stability testing.

Response to Observation 6:

Eagle Pharmacy responded to the investigators with documentation that three lots were part of the stability study, lot numbers LIPO1000 dated May 2018, LIPO1022 dated July 2019, and LIPO1024 dated September 2019. The original lot LIPO1000 was placed on stability with dates per the established protocol and Eagle Quality management planned to change the test dates due to results of the first lot LIPO1000. The deviation that occurred during the stability study has been documented and closed by quality (Attachment 16). A quality agreement with the 3rd-party laboratory who conducted stability studies has been executed (Attachment 17).

Discussion Item:

503b (5) Outsourcing facility must report ADR. Statement to SOP to promptly submit report with 15 days 21 CFR 310.305 C2 and add failure to report is prohibit.

Response to Discussion Item:

Statement added to SOP to promptly submit report within 15 days 21 CFR 310.305 C2, added failure to report is prohibit. Attachment 18 is the updated SOP.

RESPONSIBILITIES

1. Lead Sterile Compounding Technician
   a. Manage equipment and supplies necessary for sampling and testing.
2. Quality Control Technician
   a. Perform sampling in accordance with this SOP.
   b. Author trending reports of environmental monitoring data at least quarterly.
   c. Order and maintain equipment and supplies necessary for sampling and testing.
3. Quality Control Manager and General Pharmacy Manager
   a. Review documentation associated with the Environmental Monitoring Program at least weekly.
   b. Review and approve trending reports of environmental monitoring data at least quarterly.
   c. Author, review and approve results of investigations and product impact assessments.
   d. Perform an investigation and product impact assessment, when applicable.

PURPOSE

1. This Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) describes how to perform Environmental Monitoring (EM) sampling and testing at Eagle Pharmacy (Eagle).

SCOPE

1. This SOP applies to all personnel and facilities at Eagle engaged in aseptic processing of sterile drug products (SDPs).

DEFINITIONS

1. ATCC: American Type Culture Collection
2. BSC: Biological Safety Cabinet
3. CAPA: Corrective Action Preventative Action
4. CFR: Code of Federal Regulations
5. CFU: Colony Forming Units
6. CoA: Certificate of Analysis
7. EM: Environmental Monitoring
8. FD&C: Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act
9. FDA: Food and Drug Administration
10. GPT: Growth Promotion Testing
11. IPA: Isopropyl Alcohol
12. ISO: International Organization on Standardization
13. LAFW: Laminar Airflow Workbench
14. MEA: Malt Extract Agar
15. N/A: Not Applicable
16. SDA: Sabaroud Dextrose Agar
17. SDP: Sterile Drug Product
18. SOP: Standard Operating Procedure
19. TSA: Tryptic Soy Agar
20. USP-NF: United States Pharmacopeia – National Formulary
21. Action Levels: Established criteria (e.g., microbiological or particulate levels) that when met or exceeded, require immediate investigation, including assessment of product quality impact, and corrective action based on the investigation.
22. Alert Levels: Established criteria (e.g., microbiological or particulate levels) that when met or exceeded, indicate potential drift from normal operating conditions, which should be investigated and may require corrective action.
23. Aseptic Processing: Handling sterile materials in a controlled environment, in which the air supply, materials, equipment, and personnel are regulated to control microbiological and particulate contamination to specified levels.
24. Bioburden: The level and type of microorganisms that can be present in raw materials, starting materials, intermediates, or active pharmaceutical ingredients. Bioburden shall not be considered contamination unless the levels have been exceeded or defined objectionable organisms have been detected.

25. Compounding: The process of combining together active ingredients, excipients, and solvent components into a homogenous mixture.
26. Environmental Monitoring Program: Defined, documented program that describes the routine particulate and microbiological monitoring of processing areas, and includes a corrective action plan when action levels are exceeded.
27. Growth Promotion: Test performed to demonstrate that media will support microbiological growth.
28. Sampling Frequency: Established period for collecting samples.
29. Sterile: Free of any detectable viable organisms. Note: In practice, no such absolute statement regarding the absence of microorganisms can be proven.
30. Sterilization: Validated process used to render a product free of viable organisms. Note: In a sterilization process, the nature of microbiological death or reduction is described by an exponential function. Therefore, then number of microorganisms, which survive a sterilization process, can be expressed in terms of probability. While the probability may be reduced to a very low number, it can never be reduced to zero.

SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCE

1. Not applicable.

PROCEDURE

This SOP is divided into the following sections:

1. Viable Surface Sampling
2. Active Viable Air Sampling
3. Passive Viable Air Sampling
4. Non-Viable Air Sampling
5. Growth Promotion Testing
6. Positive and Negative Controls
7. Analysis of Results
8. Room Condition Monitoring

Attachment 1

1. Section 1: Viable Surface Sampling

    1. For each batch, collect samples at the locations specified in Appendices 1 and 2 or 3 depending on location of Batch Production – Manual Room or Machine Room (Appendix 1 – EM Map; Appendix 2 – EM Legend for Batch Sampling in Machine Room; Appendix 3 – EM Legend for Batch Sampling in Manual Room).
    2. For weekly sampling, collect samples at the locations specified in Appendix 1 and Appendix 4 (Appendix 1 – EM Map; Appendix 4 – EM Legend for Weekly Sampling)

3. Don the appropriate gowning for the area being sampled, including the use of sterile gloves when handling contact plates.
4. Remove the 60 mm TSA contact plates containing neutralizing agents from the refrigerator (if applicable) and allow them to warm to room temperature prior to sampling.
5. Label the outside of the contact plate with a permanent fine tip marker or a pre-printed translucent label, indicating the following: sampler initials, sampling date, and sample ID.
    i. If samples are taken inside an ISO Class 5 post-process, include the batch number of the SDP on the label.
6. To obtain a surface sample, firmly press the surface of each contact plate to the surface being sampled for approximately 5 seconds.
7. For sampling surfaces that are irregular (e.g., stopper bowl, filling nozzle), use a sterile swab to collect the sample (See Appendix 7 for instructs to obtain a proper sample with a swab). Use the swab to inoculate the surface sampling agar plate using method outlined in Appendix 8.
8. Replace the lid on each contact plate and secure it.
9. Immediately clean agar residue from the sampled surface with a non-shedding wipe with sterile 70% IPA.
10. Complete the Surface Sampling Form (P2.15-A1 for batch sampling; P2.15-A3 for weekly sampling).
    i. TSA plates are first incubated at 30 to 35°C for 48 – 72 hours (as this temperature is suited to promote growth of bacteria if present on the plates), and then they will be moved to the incubator held at 20 - 25 °C for 5-7 days (suitable for the growth of fungi).
11. Following the incubation period, record the results obtained on the Surface Sampling Form (P2.15-A1 for batch sampling; P2.15-A3 for weekly sampling) and have a Quality Control Manager or General Pharmacy Manager verify the results.

2. Section 2: Active Viable Air Sampling

1. For each batch, collect samples at the locations specified in Appendix 1 and 2 or 3 depending on location of production. Samples are to be taken relative to critical processes.
    i. In the Laminar Airflow Work area, air samples will be taken within 12 inches of critical operations
    ii. In the Vial Filling Machine, air samples will be taken within 12 inches of the point of filling and withing 12 inches of the point of stopper insertion.
2. For weekly sampling, collect samples at the locations specified in Appendix 4.
3. Don the appropriate garb for the area being sampled, including the use of sterile gloves when handling the active viable air sampler and agar plates.
4. Remove TSA plates from the refrigerator (if applicable) and allow them to warm to room temperature prior to sampling.
5. Label the plates with a permanent marker or a pre-printed translucent label, indicating the following: sampler initials, sampling date, and Sample ID.
    i. If samples are taken inside an ISO Class 5 area during processing, include the batch number of the SDP on the label.
6. To obtain an active air sample, follow the instructions provided in Appendix 5 (Buck Bio-Culture Model B30120 OR Lighthouse Active Count 100H depending on what air sampler used) for a 1000 L air sample.

7. If sampling different classifications of air, begin with the cleanest room or area classification first and work progressively toward the lower room or area classifications (e.g., sample ISO Class 5 locations first, then ISO Class 7 locations, and then ISO Class 8 locations).
8. Complete the Viable Air Sampling Form (P2.15-A2 for batch sampling; P2.15-A4 for weekly sampling).
    i. TSA plates are first incubated at 30 to 35°C for 48 – 72 hours (as this temperature is suited to promote growth of bacteria if present on the plates), and then they will be moved to the incubator held at 20 - 25 °C for 5-7 days (suitable for the growth of fungi).
9. Following the incubation period, record the results obtained on the Viable Air Sampling Form (P2.15-A2 for batch sampling; P2.15-A4 for weekly sampling) and have the Quality Control Manager or General Pharmacy Manager verify and sign off on the results.

3. Section3: Passive Viable Air Sampling

1. For each batch processed in a LAFW, collect samples at the locations specified in Appendix 2 or 3 depending on the location of production.
2. For weekly sampling, collect samples at the locations specified in Appendix 4.
3. Don the appropriate gowning for the area being sampled, including the use of sterile gloves when handling the settling plates.
4. Remove the 100 mm TSA settling plates from the refrigerator (if applicable) and allow them to warm to room temperature prior to sampling.
5. Label the outside of all settling plates with a permanent marker or a pre-printed translucent label, indicating the following: sampler initials, sampling date, and Sample ID.
6. To obtain a passive air sample, open one TSA settling plate and place it at each of the sample locations, "agar-side-up" to expose them to the surrounding air.
7. After not more than 4 hours of exposure, replace the lid of each settling plate, remove it from the sample location, and secure the lid with tape. During production, the passive plates should remain in place for the duration of the production.
8. TSA plates are first incubated at 30 to 35°C for 48 – 72 hours (as this temperature is suited to promote growth of bacteria if present on the plates), and then they will be moved to the incubator held at 20 - 25 °C for 5-7 days (suitable for the growth of fungi).
9. Following the incubation period, record the results obtained on the Viable Air Sampling Form (P2.15-A2 for batch sampling; P2.15-A4 for weekly sampling) and have the Quality Manager or Operations Manager verify the results.

4. Section 4: Non-Viable Air Sampling

1. For each batch, collect samples at the locations specified in Appendix 2 or 3 depending on the location of production. Samples are to be taken relative to critical processes.
    i. In the Laminar Airflow Work area, air samples will be taken within 12 inches of critical operations
    ii. In the Vial Filling Machine, air samples will be taken within 12 inches of the point of filling and withing 12 inches of the point of stopper insertion.
2. For weekly sampling, collect samples at the locations specified in Appendix 4.

3. Don the appropriate garb for the area being sampled, including the use of sterile gloves when handling the air sampler.
4. To obtain an air sample, follow the instructions provided in Appendix 6 (Airy Technology Model P311 Handheld Laser Particle Counter Quick Start Guide).
5. If Sampling different classifications of air, begin with the cleanest room or area classification first and work progressively toward the lower room or area classifications (e.g., sample ISO Class 5 locations first, then ISO Class 7 locations, and then ISO Class 8 locations).
    i. For rooms of the same classification, the sampling order should follow the room pressurization scheme from the highest pressure area to the lowest pressure area.
6. The air sampler will provide data on 0. 5 micron and 5 micron particles.
7. For in-process sampling of ISO Class 5 LAFWs, samples shall be taken continuously for 10 minutes at each location designated in Appendix 2 during aseptic filling at a flow rate of 2.83 L/min.
8. For sampling of open areas within ISO Class 7 and ISO Class 8 areas, samples shall be taken continuously for 10 minutes at each location designated in Appendix 2 at a flow rate of 2.83 L/min during normal compounding activities prior to cleaning.
9. After sample collection, print the results and have it verified by the Pharmacy General Manager or Quality Control Manager.

5. Section 5: Growth Promotion Testing

1. Growth promotion tests demonstrate that growth media support recovery and growth of a wide range of microorganisms.
2. Qualification of the growth medium involves growth promotion testing of not less than three different lots of medium from each supplier. All growth promotion testing will be performed at an outside lab.
    i. If there is a Quality Agreement between the supplier and Eagle Pharmacy, Inc., then after the three lots have undergone growth promotion testing, no additional growth promotion samples are required.
    ii. If three lots have not already been tested for the supplier then have a third party conduct growth promotion testing.
3. Growth Promotion Testing
    i. The growth media will be inoculated with a representative sample from each organism classification including a gram positive, a gram negative, a spore forming, a mold, and a fungi to demonstrate its ability to detect a wide range of organisms.
    ii. Periodic growth promotion testing and other testing may be performed at the discretion of the Quality Control Manager to confirm that growth media meet specifications and conform to CoA.

6. Section 6: Positive and Negative Controls

1. A positive and negative control plate shall be created for each lot of media received into the facility.
2. Upon receipt of a shipment of a new lot of culture plates into the facility, the Environmental Monitoring Controls Form (Attachment 5) shall be reviewed to determine if control plates have been documented for the received lots.

i. If control plates have already been tested for the received lot, then no additional control plates need to be run.
ii. If control plates have not already been tested for the received lot then follow the steps in section 6.3 and 6.4.

3. Positive Control Plate
   i. Expose the plate to a non-controlled environment or surface (e.g., floor surface, mouth swab) for 10 seconds.
   ii. Secure the lid on the plate with tape and label the outside of the plate with a permanent marker or a pre-printed translucent label, indicating the following: sampler initials, sampling date, control, the date, time, and control type (i.e., positive).
   iii. Incubate the plate as appropriate for the selected media.
4. Negative Control Plate
   i. Secure the lid of an unexposed sterile plate with tape and label the outside of the plate with a permanent marker or a pre-printed translucent label, indicating the following: sampler initials, sampling date, control, the date, time, and control type (i.e., negative).
   ii. Incubate the plate as appropriate for the selected media.
5. Complete the Environmental Monitoring Controls Form (P2.15-A5).
6. Following the incubation period, record the results obtained on the Environmental Monitoring Controls Form (P2.15-A5) and have verified by the General Pharmacy Manager or Quality Control Manager.

7. Section 7: Analysis of Results

1. Plates shall be read and documented during normal business hours. If the facility is not open for business when the incubation period ends, the plates shall be read on the following business day.
2. Any growth shall be brought to the attention of the Quality Control Manager or General Pharmacy Manager.
   i. For any samples that exceed the action level, an investigation shall be conducted and documented in an out-of-specification report with a product impact assessment. Affected batches shall be quarantined and may not be released until the investigation has been completed.
3. Any growth within ISO Class 7 or cleaner environments must be sent to an independent laboratory for identification to the species level. Growth within ISO Class 8 environments may be sent for identification periodically as determined by the General Pharmacy Manager or Quality Control Manager.
   i. If a plate contains more than 2 Colony Forming Units (CFUs), the laboratory may be instructed to identify only the two most prominent colonies.
   ii. Corrective actions and preventative actions (CAPAs) may be initiated following identification of the source(s) of contamination, if warranted.
4. All environmental monitoring not associated with sterile batches must be reviewed at least monthly.
5. Trending reports of room condition data shall be prepared at least quarterly and must be approved by the General Pharmacy Manager or Quality Control Manager.

6. Excursions must be investigated and documented in an out-of-specification report, including a product impact assessment.

8. Section 8: Room Condition Monitoring

1. At least twice daily (beginning and end of working day), record the temperature, relative humidity, and differential pressures for all compounding areas on the applicable form (P2.13-A1, P2.13-A3, P2.13-A4).
2. At least twice daily (beginning and end of working day), record the temperature of the controlled drug storage areas on the applicable form (P2.13-A2)
3. All room condition data must be reviewed at least weekly.
4. Trending reports of room condition data shall be prepared at least quarterly and must be approved by the General Pharmacy Manager or Quality Control Manager.
5. Excursions shall be reported to the General Pharmacy Manager or Quality Control Manager immediately.
6. Excursions must be investigated and documented in an out-of-specification report, including a product impact assessment.

CORRECTIVE ACTIONS

1. Any cfu count that exceeds it respective action level should prompt a re-evaluation of the adequacy of personnel work practices, cleaning procedures, operational procedures, and air filtration efficiency within the aseptic compounding location.
2. An investigation into the source of the contamination shall be conducted. Sources could include HVAC systems, damaged HEPA filters, and changes in personnel garbing or work practices.
3. The source of the problem shall be eliminated, affected area cleaned, and resampling performed.
4. Regardless of the number of cfu identified in the pharmacy, further corrective actions will be dictated by the identification of microorganisms recovered (at least the genus level) by an appropriate credentialed laboratory.
   a. Highly pathogenic microorganisms (e.g., gram-negative rods, coagulase positive staphylococcus, molds and yeasts) can be potentially fatal to patients receiving compounded sterile products and must be immediately remedied with the assistance of a competent microbiologist, infection control professional, or industrial hygienist.
   b. Any highly pathogenic organism recovered as part of environmental monitoring associated with batch processing will necessitate that the entire batch be discarded, regardless of whether sterility testing on the batch comes back negative.
   c. Corrective and preventative actions taken will be based on recommendations from the microbiologist or other competent personnel.
      i. Any environmental contamination discovered on weekly or batch processing monitoring will necessitate a complete clean down of the area with an agent proven to kill the identified bacteria/fungi. Highly pathogenic organism will warrant a triple clean procedure.
      ii. Any contamination noted on personnel monitoring will necessitate a reevaluation of hand washing/garbing competency, as well as, aseptic work practices.

1. Buck Bio-Culture Model B30120 Instruction Manual - This section contains basic startup and maintenance instructions. Refer to the user manual for complete instructions and user requirements.
    a. Operating Instructions
        i. Before beginning, ensure the battery is fully charged and that the "Low Battery" LED is not on. For greatest accuracy, the pump should be calibrated each day of use.
        ii. Clean entire machine with sterile prewetted 70% Isopropyl Alcohol wipe prior to each use.
        iii. Allow covered agar dish to reach room temperature before use.
        iv. Unscrew the sample head, remove cover from dish and position within the mounts. Then replace the head back on securely.
        v. Calibrate pump (see Calibration section below)
        vi. Push the "ON" button to power u the Buck Bio-Culture Pump and either: (a) continue to hold the "ON" button for four seconds to pout pump in "Continuous" mode, or (b) push one of the programmed time keys (1,2,5, or 10 minutes) for an automatic timed sample.
        vii. Set the time so that 500 liters of air is sampled.
        viii. At the end of programmed sample period, pump will automatically shut off and "Complete" LED will be lit; under "Continuous" mode, push and hold "OFF" button for 2 seconds to shut off pump.
        ix. Unscrew the head and remove the Agar Plate.
        x. Replace and secure the agar lid on the dish with tape or laboratory film and write sample number on the bottom of the dish.
        xi. Incubate the agar plate for the appropriate time and record the results on Attachment
    b. Cleaning
        i. Bio-Culture must be cleaned after each cycle to avoid cross contamination which would modify the reliability of the sampling.
        ii. Switch off the unit. Clean the surface of Bio-Culture using a sterile cloth wet with sterile 70% IPA.
        iii. After drying, the unit is ready for a new sampling cycle.
        iv. Between two samplings, spray sterile 70% IPA on both faces of the sampling head.
        v. Let dry at room temperature.
        vi. After drying, the sampling head is ready to use
    c. Calibration
        i. Replace sampling head with the Bio-Culture Calibrator which includes attached head and pressure gauge with flow chart on the side.
        ii. Push "ON", the press the "CAL" for 2 seconds to put pump into calibration mode.
        iii. Adjust the flow rate using the up and down arrow keys to the desired mm of water pressure per minute.
        iv. Correlate with the calibration chart on the side of the calibrator head.
        v. Fine adjustments are possible. Allow pump to stabilize.
        vi. When flow rate is achieved, push "CAL" to accept setting, then turn pump off.

vii. Verify the flow at any time with the Calibrator by selecting a 1, 2, 5 or 10 minute timing routine. Press the OFF key to stop. If the verify flow was accurate, entering "Cal" is not necessary.

viii. Entering the "Cal" mode erases the previous setting for a new flow rate.

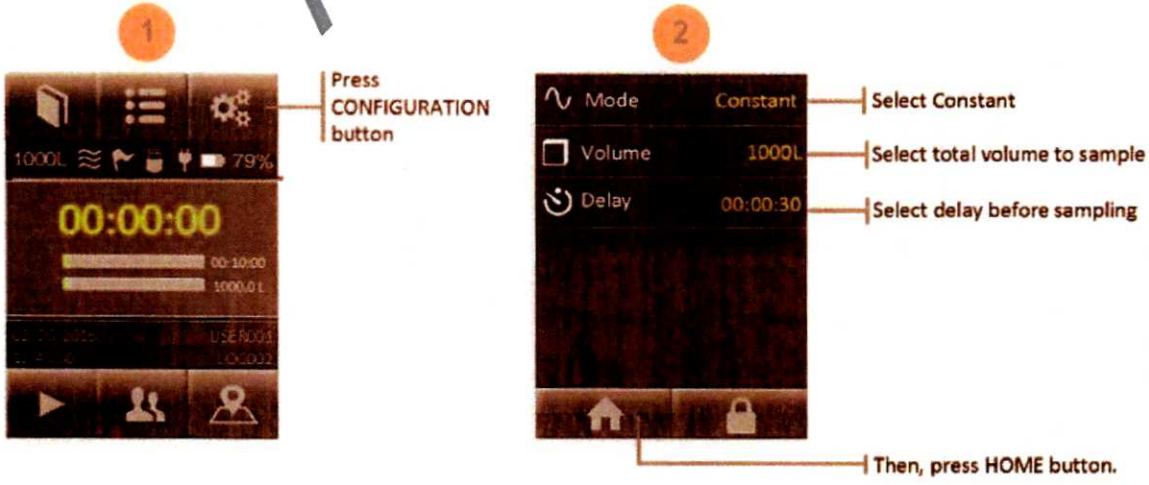
2. Lifehouse Active Count C100H (Refer to user manual for in depth instructions)

a. Prior to bringing the sampler into the controlled environment to be sampled, wipe down entire device with a sterile prewetted 70% isopropyl alcohol wipe.

b. Make sure the battery is sufficiently charged to perform the entire sampling process.

c. Set the amount of air to be sampled (500 Liters) as per diagram below (typically only needs to be done one time and then machine saves data until it is changed manually).



d. Place agar plate in sampler.

    a. Operation
        i. When using AC power, must use the affiliated AC adapter, shown below. Connect Mini USB-B plug to the instrument.
        ii. If using the batteries, first remove the battery cover on the back of the shell, then insert four AA or Ni-MH type batteries.
        iii. Remove a rubber cap at the inlet and attach an Isokinetic inlet. In order to turn on the instrument, press the POWER key. After three seconds the default screen will appear. This means that the instrument is ready for operation.
        iv. From the default screen, press MENU key to go to the Main Menu. Press PREV key to go back to the Default Screen. At the Main Menu you can select the following settings.

Appendix 7 – Proper Swab Sampling Technique

1. Using aseptic technique, peel open the pouch containing the swab tube.

2. Determine the surface to be sampled.

3. Carefully remove the cap with the pre-moistened swab attached from the vial.

4. Hold swab at a 30° angle and wipe over the sample area in a back and forth motion. Rotate swab while wiping.

5. Return the swab to the vial containing the rinse solution and screw on the cap until tightly secured.

6. Immediately inoculate the contact plate using the swab in the manner described in Appendix 8.

Appendix 8 – Innoculation of Agar Plates using a Swab

A sterile swab must be used, care must be taken not to contaminate by touching other surfaces. Transfer to the growth media as quickly as possible. Depending on your purposes, you can inoculate the swab in a few ways. Described below is the Zigzag method of inoculation. The inoculation pattern is usually performed when the sample does not have a high cell density or with pure cultures when isolation is not necessary.

1. With this method, a small amount of sample is placed on the agar plate (either with a swab, or as a drop from an inoculating loop if the sample is a liquid).
2. Hold the swab comfortably in one hand and lift the lid of the petri dish with the other. Use the lid of the petri dish to protect the agar from aerial contamination.

This is repeated 2-3 times, moving around the agar plate.

3. Lightly drag the swab across the agar surface in a zigzag pattern.
   Ex. ^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^
   What should happen is that single bacterial cells get isolated by the streaking, and when the plate is incubated, forming discrete colonies that will have started from just one bacterium each.

Documentation of Training on Updated Environmental Monitoring Procedures

Date: 8/16/2021
Trainer: Haleigh Wilkes, Quality Control Manager
Trainee: Rachel Crawford, Quality Control Technician

Training Topic: Environmental Monitoring Locations within ISO 5 Compounding Room
Description of Training:

- Reviewed updated policy Environmental Monitoring (P2.15.6)
- Reviewed updated sampling location sites (Appendices 1-4 in the Policy)
- Explained reasoning behind the sample sites – This helped quality technician understand that sampling sites need to represent what's happening at critical sites/operation points to represent final product quality.
- During the first Media Fill Process that occurred this day (8/16/2021), I demonstrated the sampling procedures, sites, and techniques to Rachel.
- During the second Media Fill Process that occurred on 8/16/2021, I allowed Rachel to perform the sampling procedures while I observed her.

Acknowledgement of understanding new procedures:
Rachel Crawford Date: 8/18/21

Trainer Signature to verify that trainee has demonstrated appropriate sampling technique and has good understanding of reasoning behind specific sampling practices.

RESPONSIBILITIES

1. It is the responsibility of all compounding personnel to follow the Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) for the controlled compounding environments set forth in this policy
2. It is the responsibility of the Pharmacy General Manager and Quality Control Manager to ensure that all compounding personnel are adequately trained in the SOPs.
3. It is the responsibility of the Pharmacy General Manager and Quality Control Manager to ensure that all compounding personnel correctly adhere to all SOPs for the controlled compounding environments.

PURPOSE

1. This policy describes the Standard Operating procedures for the controlled compounding Environments at Eagle Pharmacy.

SCOPE

1. This SOP applies to all personnel at Eagle engaged in aseptic processing of sterile drug products (SDPs).

DEFINITIONS

1. APS: Aseptic Process Simulation
2. FD&C: Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act
3. IPA: Isopropyl Alcohol

4. ISO: International Organization for Standardization
5. N/A: Not Applicable
6. PEC: Primary Engineering Control
7. SDP: Sterile Drug Product
8. SOP: Standard Operating Procedure
9. USP-NF: United States Pharmacopeia – National Formulary
10. Anteroom: An ISO Class 8 or better transition area between the non-sterile compounding area and the aseptic processing area in which sterile gowning occurs.
11. Aseptic Processing Area: An ISO Class 7 or better area containing Primary Engineering Controls (PECs).

SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCE

1. Not Applicable

PROCEDURE

1. Personnel
   a. Compounded sterile products will be prepared either by a pharmacist or pharmacy technician under the supervision of a pharmacist.
   b. Personnel with weeping or shedding rashes, peeling sunburn, weeping sores, conjunctivitis, and active respiratory infections accompanied by fever, excessive coughing, sneezing, or runny nose will not prepare compounded sterile products or enter the compounding areas for any reason.
   c. Personnel preparing to enter any ISO Classified room shall remove all personal outer garments, cosmetics (because they shed flakes and particles), and all hand, wrist, and other visible jewelry or piercings that can interfere with the effectiveness of compounding garb.
   d. Personnel entering the Ante Room shall don attire and perform hand washing as described in the Personnel Cleansing and Garbing Policy (P2.01).

2. Controlled Environments
   a. Access to the controlled compounding areas is restricted to qualified personnel with specific responsibilities or assigned tasks in the compounding area.
   b. Traffic flow in and out of the Clean Room and Lab areas shall be minimized.
   c. Traffic in the area of the direct compounding environment is minimized and controlled.
   d. Certification of ISO Classified Rooms and Laminar Airflow Workbenches shall be performed by a qualified individual no less than every 6 months and whenever the device or room is relocated or altered or major service to the facility is performed.
      i. HEPA filters and prefilters will be changed based on biannual evaluations performed during certification activities.
   e. Upon entering the Entry Room, all personnel must immediately don hair covers and put on Clean Room Designated Shoes. Prior to entering the Lab or Clean Room, garbing requirements set forth in Policy 2.01.2 Personnel Cleansing and Garbing.
   f. When performing sterile compounding operations in the Vial Filling Room, a minimum of 3 trained personnel are necessary to perform all required process (this includes the quality personnel performing environmental monitoring). A minimum of 3 trained personnel are necessary to perform sterile compounding operations in the Manual Filling Room, including the quality personnel performing the environmental monitoring. Additionally, the number of people in the clean room during sterile compounding operations should not exceed five.

g. Staging of Supplies Used in Compounding
   i. All supplies are removed from their shipping cartons prior to being brought into Compounding Supplies Storage Room.
   ii. The supplies are then decontaminated by wiping with Steri-Perox 6% wipes while they are being transferred to a clean and properly disinfected cart or area prior to being transferred into the Ante Room.
   iii. Passing Items from Ante Room into Lab
      1. Sterile water bags are removed from their outer wrapping as they are transferred into the Lab thru the pass thru window in the Ante Room. When transferring the sterile water bags from the pass thu window, they are sprayed with sterile 70% IPA prior to placing them on their storage shelf.
      2. The outermost bag of the sterile vials is removed prior to placing them in the pass thru for transfer into the Lab. As vial trays are transferred into the lab, each bag will be sprayed with sterile 70% IPA prior to placing them onto a cart.
      3. The outermost bag of the sterile stoppers is removed as they are placed in the pass thru window to the Lab. As the stopper bags are transferred into the Lab, each bag will be sprayed with sterile 70% IPA prior to placing them onto a cart.
      4. The outermost bag of sterile cleaners will be removed as it is placed into the pass thru window to the Lab. As the cleaners are transferred into the Lab they will be sprayed with sterile 70% IPA prior to being placed on storage shelves.
      5. Bagged items of compounding supplies will be sprayed with 70% IPA as they are placed in the pass thru window to the Lab. When transferring these items to the Lab they will be sprayed again with sterile 70% IPA prior to being place in storage location.
      6. All supply bins will be wiped with sterile 70% IPA prior to placing it in the pass thru window to the lab. When transferring the bins into the Lab they will be sprayed with 70% IPA prior to placing on shelves in the Lab or being transferred into the Clean Room.
      7. API containers will be wiped with sterile 70% IPA wipes prior to being placed in the pass thru window to the Lab. As they are being transferred into the Lab they will be wiped again using a sterile 70% IPA wipe.
      8. Double-wrapped depyrogenated beakers (for use in Lab) will be removed from the Depyrogenation oven in the Ante room, outer layer of aluminum foil removed, then transferred into the Lab thru the pass thru window.
      9. Triple-wrapped depyrogenated beakers (for use in the Clean Room) will be removed from the depyrogenation oven in the Ante Room, outer layer of foil removed, then transferred to the Lab.
   iv. Passing Items from the Lab to the Clean Rooms (Manual Room or Vial Filling Machine Room)
      1. Vial tray outermost bag will be cut off prior to placing into the pass thru to the Clean Room. As the bagged vial trays are transferred from the pass thru into the

Clean Room they are sprayed with 70% IPA prior to being placed on a shelf in the Clean Room.

2. The outer most bag of the stoppers will be cut off prior to placing in the pass thru to the Clean Room. As the stoppers are transferred from the pass thru into the Clean Room, they are sprayed with 70% IPA prior to being placed on a shelf in the Clean Room.
3. All supply bins will be wiped with sterile 70% IPA prior to putting them into the pass thru window to the Clean Room. When transferring the bins into the clean room, they will be wiped or sprayed with sterile 70% IPA.
4. Bags containing sterile compounding supplies will be wiped with sterile 70% IPA wipes prior to being placed into the pass thru window to the Clean Room. When transferring these bags into the Clean Room they will be sprayed with sterile 70% IPA prior to being placed on storage shelves.
5. The 10 L depyrogenated beaker will have its 2nd layer of aluminum foil removed prior to passing it into the Clean Room. The last layer of foil is removed as it is being placed into the LAFWA.
6. The outside of the beakers containing non-sterile solutions of drug product will be wiped with a sterile 70% IPA wipe prior to being placed into the pass thru window into the Clean Room. The beakers are then transferred directly into the LAFWA.
7. The sterile bags containing the sterilized stopper bowl and vial tray rake will be wiped with sterile 70% IPA wipes prior to being put in the pass thru window to the Clean Room. As they are transferred into the Clean Room their bags will be sprayed with sterile 70% IPA.
8. Sterile disinfectants will have their final bag removed as they are being transferred into the Clean Room.

h. Supplies that are required frequently or otherwise needed close at hand but not necessarily needed for the scheduled operations of the shift are decontaminated and stored on shelving in the Ante Room.
i. Carts used to bring supplies from the storeroom cannot be rolled beyond the Entry Room. Carts used in the Lab and Clean Room must remain in these areas. If they are moved to a lesser ISO Classification, they must be recleaned prior to being brought back in.
j. Supplies required for the scheduled operations of the shift may be stored in the Lab and Clean Rooms.
k. Supplies that are required for back-up or general support of operations may be stored on designated shelving in the Clean Room and Lab, but excessive amounts of supplies are to be avoided.
l. Nonessential objects that shed particles shall not be brought into the Clean Room, including pencils, cardboard cartons, paper towels, and cotton items (e.g., gauze pads).
m. Essential paper-related products (e.g., paper syringe overwraps, work records contained in a protective sleeve) shall be wiped down with an appropriate disinfecting agent prior to being brought into the Clean Room or Lab.
n. Chewing gum, drinks, candy, or food items shall not be brought into the controlled compounding areas (e.g., Ante Room, Lab, Vestibule, or Clean Room).

Attachment 3

o. Primary engineering controls shall be operated continuously. If for some reason a LAFH is turned off, it must be turn on and allowed to run for 1 hour prior to cleaning it and using it for compounding activities.
p. The pass thru windows should remain closed when not in use.
q. Cell phones, headphones, or other listening devices will not be permitted in ISO Classified areas.
r. Compounding worksheets used in medication preparation must be placed in a plastic sleeve and wiped down prior to being brought into the Lab. If the worksheet must be removed from the sleeve for purposes of recording information during the mixing process, it must be set on top of the plastic sleeve rather than directly on the tables in the Lab. If the worksheet must be taken back out of the Lab for checking purposes, then it must be put back in the plastic sleeve and re-sanitized prior to it going back in the Lab.

3. Sterile Compounding Work Practices
   a. At the beginning of each compounding activity session, and whenever liquids are spilled, the surfaces of the direct compounding environment are cleaned with sterile 70% isopropyl alcohol using a sterile non-shedding wipe.
   b. Supplies used in the direct compounding area for the planned procedures are accumulated and then decontaminated by wiping or spraying the outer surface with sterile 70% isopropyl alcohol or removing the outer wrap at the edge of the direct compounding area as the item is introduced into the aseptic work area.
   c. All supply items are arranged in the direct compounding area as to reduce clutter and provide maximum efficiency and order for the flow of work.
   d. After proper introduction into the direct compounding area of supply items required for and limited to the assigned operations, they are so arranged that a clear, uninterrupted path of HEPA-filtered air will bathe all critical sites at all times during the planned procedures.
      i. No objects may be placed between the first air from the HEPA filters and an exposed critical site.
   e. All procedures are performed in a manner designed to minimize the risk of touch contamination. Gloves are disinfected with adequate frequency with sterile 70% isopropyl alcohol.
   f. Calibration of the volume dispensed is specific to each batch produced and will be done immediately prior to beginning vial filling. Calibrations of dispense volume, as well as calibration re-checks will be performed using a graduated vial of appropriate size in relation to the required dispense volume.
   g. After procedures are completed, used syringes, bottles, vials, and other supplies are removed, but with a minimum of exit and re-entry into the direct compounding area to minimize the risk of introducing contamination into the aseptic workspace.
   h. All batches will be complete (from mixing to sealed final product container) within one shift.
   i. If there is a loss of power or room pressurization during batch production, the entire batch will be discarded, and no production will occur in the rooms until normal operating conditions are restored and a complete clean down of the room is completed.
   j. For suspensions that are steam sterilized in beakers, the opening of the beaker will be wrapped with a single layer of autoclave paper and sealed with 3 rows of autoclave tape. The method will be consistent with each suspension processed in this manner, and compounding staff will be trained on this process and verified on their competency during APS validations.

k. During the compounding process, if a pack of sterile vials is opened and found to have a shattered/crushed vial, the entire tray of vials will be discarded and not used during the compounding process. This is due to the fact that glass fragments from the shattered vial(s) may have come into contact with other vials in the tray.

l. During the compounding process, if a pack of sterile vials is opened and has vials that have been knocked over in the tray, these vials are to be left that way and not used during the filling process. Compounding staff is not to try and stand the vials back up for risk of contaminating other vials in the tray.

4. Beyond Use Dates (BUDs)

a. All Supplies autoclaved by Eagle Pharmacy in autoclave pouches will be assigned a 30-day sterile beyond use date (BUD).
   i. Once autoclaving is complete the exterior of the pouches will be labeled with the date autoclaved, the initials of the person who autoclaved the supplies, and the 30-day BUD.

b. All pharmaceutical ingredients used in the compounding of sterile drug products will be assigned a 1-year BUD upon initially opening the ingredient, unless the manufacturer assigned expiration date is shorter.
   i. Upon opening the pharmaceutical ingredient, the lid or label of the container will be initialed by the compounding personnel and notated with the date opened. Additionally, the BUD date will also be written on the lid/label – either 1 year from the date opened or the manufacturer expiration date, whichever is shorter.
   ii. After this 1-year BUD, the ingredients may no longer be used in compounding.

c. The BUD of sterile compounded drug products will be based on drug stability testing. The BUD cannot exceed the manufacturer provided expiration date of any of the product's active and inactive ingredients.

d. The manufacturer provided expiration date on the following items is considered a "sterile by date" and these items must be used prior to this date (this date is not a factor for determining the final BUD of a sterile compounded product):
   i. Sterile Water for Injection
   ii. Sterile Vials
   iii. Sterile Stoppers

e. All sterile compounding supplies received from the manufacturer that lack a supplier expiration date will be assigned a 2-year BUD.

f. All depyrogenated supplies which remain in a double layer of aluminum foil stored in the Lab will be assigned a beyond-use date of 30 days.

Retraining of Compounding Personnel on the Staging of Supplies Entering the ISO Areas

Trainer: Haleigh Wilkes, Quality Control Manager
Trainees: All personnel who perform functions in ISO Classified Rooms
Dana Epps, Lead Sterile Compounding Technician
Jamie Latham, Sterile Compounding Technician
Kimberly Oliver, Sterile Compounding Technician
David Cole, Sterile Processing Technician
Rachel Crawford, Quality Control Technician

Training Documents:
Standard Operating Procedures for the Controlled Compounding Areas P2.18.7
Staging of Compounding Supplies Reference

Training Overview:
Reviewed Policy 2.18.7; Provide all personnel a copy of this policy for review
Provided all personnel a copy of the Staging of Compounding Supplies Reference

Discussed the staging for each item type that would be taken into the ISO Rooms and explained the reasoning for each process.

I observed these practices over the period of 8/17/21 to 8/20/21 to ensure understanding and compliance with practices.

Personnel Statements of Training and Understanding: I, (undersigned), have received the above mentioned training documents and understand all procedures for the staging of supplies that are to enter ISO Classified Environments.

Name	Signature	Date
Rachel Crawford	Rachel Crawford	8/20/21
Jamie Payton	Jamie Payton	8/20/21
David D. Cole III	David D. Cole III	8-20-21
Kim Oliver	Kim Oliver	8/20/21
Dana Epps	Dana Epps	8/20/21

I, Haleigh Wilkes, Quality Control Manager, have observed the above employees performing the staging of compounding supplies as they are being passed into the ISO Classified Rooms from 8/17/21 to 8/20/21. Each employee listed above has demonstrated proper procedures for cleaning and sanitizing items as they are being transferred into the ISO Classified Areas.

Staging of Compounding Supplies Reference

General Pharmacy Area
All supplies are removed from their shipping cartons prior to storage in the Compounding Supply Storage Room. When supplies are needed for compounding, they are first wiped down using a Steri-Perox 6% wipe and then placed on a cleaned cart indicated they are ready to be passed into the Ante Room.

Passing from Ante Room into Lab
Sterile Water Bags	Remove the overwrap as they are placed into the Pass Thru Window to the Lab. Spray with sterile 70% IPA when transferring from Pass Thru Window to storage shelf in Lab.
Sterile Vials (Quadruple Bagged)	Cut off the outermost bag of the vials as they are placed into the Pass Thru Window to the Lab. Spray with sterile 70% IPA when transferring from the Pass Thru Window to a cart in the Lab
Sterile Stoppers (Quadruple Bagged)	Cut off the outermost bag of the stoppers as they are placed into the Pass Thru window to the Lab. Spray with sterile 70% IPA when transferring from Pass Thru Window to a cart in the Lab.
Sterile Disinfectants	Remove the outermost bag of the disinfectant bottles as they are placed into the Pass Thru Window to the Lab. Spray with sterile 70% IPA when transferring from the Pass Thru Window to storage shelf in the Lab
Bagged Compounding Supplies	Spray bag with sterile 70% IPA as they are placed into Pass Thru Window. Spray again with sterile 70% IPA as they are being transferred from the Pass Thru to storage shelving in the Lab.
Supply Bins	Wipe with sterile 70% IPA as they are placed into Pass Thru Window to Lab. Wipe again with sterile 70% IPA as they are transferred from the Pass Thru Window into the Lab
API containers	Wipe with sterile 70% IPA as they are placed into the Pass Thru Window to Lab. Wipe again with sterile 70% IPA as they are transferred from the Pass Thru to storage shelving in the Lab.
Depyrogenated Beakers	• Beakers for use in the Lab are Double wrapped. Remove from depyrogenation oven and remove outer wrap when placing into Pass Thru to Lab. Beakers are immediately transferred to storage shelving in the Lab • Beakers for use in the Clean Room are Triple Wrapped. Remove from the depyrogenation oven and remove outer wrap when placing into Pass Thru to Lab. Transfer beaker into Lab and immediately remove the 2nd wrap and transfer into the Clean Room (These beakers are to be stored in ISO 5 Environment)

Passing from Lab into Clean Room
Sterile Vials (Quadruple Bagged)	Cut off the outermost bag of the vials as they are placed into the Pass Thru Window to the Clean Room. Spray with sterile 70% IPA when transferring from the Pass Thru Window to shelf in Clean Room.
Sterile Stoppers (Quadruple Bagged)	Cut off the outermost bag of the stoppers as they are placed into the Pass Thru window to the Clean Room. Spray with sterile 70% IPA when transferring from Pass Thru Window to a shelf in Clean Room.
Sterile Disinfectants	Remove the final bag of the disinfectant bottles as they are transferred to the Clean Room.
Bagged Compounding Supplies	Wipe bag with sterile 70% IPA as they are placed into Pass Thru Window. Spray with sterile 70% IPA as they are being transferred from the Pass Thru to storage shelving in the Clean Room.
Supply Bins	Wipe with sterile 70% IPA as they are placed into Pass Thru Window to Clean Room. Wipe again with sterile 70% IPA as they are transferred from the Pass Thru Window into the Clean Room
Sterile Stopper Bowl and Vial Tray Rake	Wipe the bag with sterile 70% IPA wipe and place into Pass Thru Window to Clean Room. As they are being transferred from Pass Thru into Clean Room, mist with 70% IPA.
Depyrogenated Beakers	• Once in the Lab, remove the 2nd layer of foil and immediately transfer the beaker into the Clean Room (These beakers are to be stored in ISO 5 Environment)

Investigative Report – Out of Specification (Equipment)

Report ID: 001
Equipment ID: Vial Filling Machine

Date of Findings: 08/31/2021
Date Investigation Initiated: 08/31/2021
Date Investigation Completed: 08/31/2021
Person(s) Performing Investigation: Jeff Gloyer, Principal Engineer, Eagle Analytical

Statement of Findings:
Within the critical area of the Vial Filling Machine, there was turbulent airflow over the filling needle. Investigation determined that turbulent airflow caused by lack of airflow egress. Air could not flow out of the machine, causing it to push back against incoming air, causing eddy currents. Access doors were removed from both sides of the equipment to allow air to flow out of the machine. After the doors were removed, airflow characteristics improved significantly, allowing for laminar flow over the critical area.

Expected Results:
Airflow within the critical area of the Vial Filling Machine is unidirectional with sweeping action over and away from the product under dynamic conditions.

Actual Results:
Airflow within the critical area of the Vial Filling Machine is turbulent under dynamic conditions.

Investigation:
Smoke was introduced above the critical area to determine if the airflow was laminar over the critical area. Multiple air eddy currents were observed demonstrating turbulent airflow over the filling needle. Very little of the smoke seemed to be exiting the machine, instead staying inside the PEC, and interrupting the incoming airflow. Side doors were opened to simulate interventions into the PEC. While the side door was opened, smoke demonstrated airflow was becoming less turbulent. Due to this observation, both doors were then opened simultaneously to smooth out the airflow even more. While both doors were open, airflow over the critical area demonstrated sustained unidirectional airflow over the critical area.

Corrective/Preventative Action:
Both of the side doors to the Vial Filling Machine were permanently removed from the equipment.

Follow-Up to Test New Process and Confirm Resolution of Identified Problem:
A smoke study was performed under dynamic operating conditions to demonstrate that the equipment is now capable of providing unidirectional airflow under the worst case scenario.

1. Objective

The objective of this summary report is to summarize the results obtained while executing the Smoke Study Protocol (PR-21035) at Eagle Pharmacy.

2. Executive Summary

The purpose of smoke studies is to demonstrate that airflow patterns within the critical areas minimize the risk of contamination, as outlined in FDA's Current Good Manufacturing Practice – Guidance for Human Drug Compounding Outsourcing Facilities Under Section 503B of the FD&C Act and 21 CFR Part 211. The smoke study was performed successfully with no deviations.

3. Test Result:

A comprehensive summary is provided in Table 1: Summary of Test Results. More extensive summaries of the results obtained while executing the tests described in the protocol are provided in sections 3.1 through 3.7.

Attachment 6

Table 1: Summary of Test Results
Test Function	Results	Appendix
Smoke Study	PASS	F

3.1. Appendix A – Identification of Executors and Training

Personnel involved in the execution of the protocol were trained on its content prior to engaging in protocol activities. A training record was attached to Appendix A. Personnel recorded their name, department, signature, initials, and date on the form in Appendix A verifying that they have been trained on the protocol.

3.2. Appendix B – Pre-Requisites Verification

There were no prerequisites to verify for this protocol.

3.3. Appendix C – Test Equipment Identification

Test equipment utilized during the execution of the protocol were documented and verified. Calibration statuses and certification were not required as smoke machines cannot be calibrated.

3.4. Appendix D – Qualification Deviation Log

3.5. Appendix E – Qualification Deviation Form

3.6. Appendix F – Smoke Study

A smoke study was performed under dynamic conditions on the Vial Filling Machine and the Laminar Airflow Workbench in the Vial Filling Room. The smoke tests are performed to demonstrate that the equipment is capable of maintaining unidirectional airflow and sweeping action over and away from the product under dynamic conditions. Dynamic conditions indicate a simulation of operation for the largest batch size. Sterile product is drawn from inside a beaker on the Laminar Airflow Workbench. It is then pumped into the Vial Filling Machine where the vial is filled, stoppered, capped, and crimped in an automated process.

Laminar Airflow Workbench

The smoke generator was positioned roughly six (6) inches from the face of the HEPA filter, in front of the technician preparing the sterile tubing that will be used in production. The smoke generator was positioned to demonstrate airflow over the critical area during the production activities. The sterile tubing was placed inside the beaker, under the protective covering. Smoke airflow patterns were observed to be unidirectional throughout the process. See video "Vial Filling Room – LAFW Dynamic"

Vial Filling Machine

The smoke generator was positions roughly six (6) inches below the face of the HEPA filter, directly over the critical area where the vials are filled. The 1st technician connected the sterile tubing to the filling needle and then placed the filling needle into the equipment. The 2nd technician then loaded the vials into the equipment, which are then automatically taken towards the filling area. As the vial filling process began, the 2nd technician simulated an intervention of filling the stopper bowl with stoppers. The 1st technician then simulated an intervention of filling the cap bowl with caps. While the automated process was continuing, interventions into the room and the PEC were then simulated. Each simulated intervention was audibly spoken into the camera to demonstrate which intervention was occurring. The pass-through into the room was opened, the door to the room was opened, the small door to the Vial Filling Machine was opened, and then the large door to the Vial Filling Machine was opened. Throughout the entire process, the equipment demonstrated unidirectional airflow over the critical area to include all simulated interventions. See Video, "Vial Filling Machine – Dynamic".

3.7. Appendix L – Appendix Index

The appendices generated during the execution of the protocol and the corresponding number of pages were recorded

4. Success or Failure Statement:

The smoke study of the Vial Filling Machine was a success. The Smoke Study meets all acceptance criteria as defined by equipment manufacturer and relevant regulations.

5. Conclusions:

The smoke study on the Vial Filling Machine passed by demonstrating unidirectional airflow and sweeping action over and away from the product under dynamic conditions. The equipment is fit for use in production.

Load Pattern Configuration for Terminal Sterilization

A Max Load configuration of 952 vials will be tested to verify and document that the required biological kill can be achieved with this configuration. The vials will be arranged as follows: 476 vials in each of two baskets, in 3 single rows of upright vials, with 169 vials on the bottom layer, 169 vials on the middle layer, and 138 vials on the top layer. Biological indicators and data loggers will be placed in each row in a diagonal pattern, and in the cold spot (as determined in the OQ) per the diagram below (Diagram 1). Diagram 2 shows photos of the Top and Bottom Basket Vial Load Pattern with the data loggers in their locations. Diagram 3 shows how the baskets are placed in the autoclave for sterilization.

Timeline for Establishing Dissolution Studies to Completion

- December 2019: Eagle Pharmacy, Inc regulatory meeting with the FDA in which it was addressed for the first time that Eagle Pharmacy needed to determine particle size distribution range for all suspension products as a component of batch release and part of a stability study program
- December 2019: Began discussions with ARL Labs to see if they could perform testing. Several months of communication only to determine they could not perform the testing
- March 2020: Hired Valsource consulting to help determine appropriate particle size specifications for our suspension products or help with finding a lab that could perform these studies. This consultant provided information on 4/15/2020 confirming that the testing did need to be completed but was unable to provide any information regarding testing labs.
- October 2020: After contacting several labs (made more difficult due to shutdowns from Covid), we found EuTech Scientific Services to conduct the necessary dissolution studies for our suspension products.
- November 2020: Method Development Studies were started at EuTech
- January 2021: Schedule for Initiation of Testing at EuTech was sent as follows:
    - Methylprednisolone--Validation to begin the second week of January 2021. (Estimated time 15 days)
      To Do:
      Scientech--Forward Protocol to Eagle. Due Date: January 5, 2021
      Eagle--Review/Revise Protocol
      Method Validation Report Completed February 22, 2021; signed by Eagle 2/24/2021
      Eagle sent samples for Dissolution Study (18-month stability study) on 4/15/2021, studies started on 4/19/2021 with estimated completion date of October 2022.

    - Triamcinolone--Validation to begin the fourth week of January 2021. (Estimated time 30 days)
      To Do:
      Scientech--Tweaking the Method as discussed. Due Date: January 8, 2021
      Eagle--Review/Revise Method.
      Scientech--Forward Protocol to Eagle. Due Date: January 22, 2021
      Eagle--Review/Revise Protocol.
      Method Validation Report Completed March 25, 2021; signed by Eagle 3/30/2021
      Eagle sent samples for Dissolution Study (18-month stability study) on 5/13/2021, studies started on 5/18/2021 with estimated completion date of November 2022.

- Betamethasone--Method Development to begin the fourth week of January. (Estimated time 10 days)
  To Do:
  Eagle--Ship samples and placebos. Due Date: January 25, 2021
  Method Validation Report Completed May 26, 2021; signed by Eagle 5/26/2021
  Eagle sent samples for Dissolution Study (18-month stability study) on 7/20/2021, studies started on 7/23/2021 with estimated completion date of January 2023.

- Dexamethasone--Method Development to begin the second week of February 2021. (Estimated time 14 days)
  To Do:
  Eagle--Ship samples and placebos. Due Date: January 25, 2021
  Method Validation Report Completed June 18, 2021; signed by Eagle 6/21/2021
  Eagle sent samples for Dissolution Study (18-month stability study) on 6/23/2021, studies started on 6/28/2021 with estimated completion date of December 2022.

Investigative Report – Deviation from Lab Testing Protocol

Lipo B Plus Lot#1022
Compound Date: 7/31/2019
Date of Findings: N/A Person(s) Completing Report:
Haleigh Cawood, Quality Control Manager

Statement of Findings:
Stability study testing completed on days 0, 270, 365

Expected Results:
Original protocol stated that stability study testing timepoints would be on days 0, 30, 60, 90, 180.

Actual Results:
The testing timepoints per the stability study protocol were altered by Eagle Pharmacy after the initial study and extended to 0, 270, and 365.

Investigation:
Because Eagle Pharmacy had already conducted an initial study confirming passing results for all timepoints, we wanted to test for extension of the 180-day Beyond Use Date. We conducted the study with testing time points at 0, 270, and 365 days. If there were any failing results at the day 270 timepoint or later, Eagle Pharmacy would have retained the original 180 day beyond use date. All time points through the 365-day mark were passing, so there were no negative implications from extending these dates.

Were Other Products Effected?
No

Corrective/Preventative Action:
Because all results from the extended time-points were passing, there are no corrective/preventative actions necessary. Additionally, the BUD on the Lipo B Plus was not extended to 12 months until the passing results of the 365-day time point were received and reviewed by the Quality Manager.

Follow-Up:
An additional lot of Lipo B Plus Lot#1024 was also placed on Stability study on 9/3/2019 to have a second lot with extended testing results.

INFINITY LABORATORIES

Customer Quality Agreement

PARTIES INVOLVED:

This Agreement is entered into on July 29, 2021 by and between:

1. Infinity Laboratories, LLC, having a principal location at: 1585 S Perry St, Suite B, Castle Rock, CO 80104

2. Eagle Pharmacy Inc., having a principal location at: 2200 Riverchase Ctr., Suite 675 Hoover, AL 35244

Attachment 17

1.0 Scope

This Agreement sets forth the mutual expectations between Customer and Infinity regarding, product testing, overall quality systems, responsibilities of each party, and confidentiality.

2.0 Compliance with Laws

Infinity agrees and acknowledges its obligation to act in accordance with the terms of this Agreement, and its independent duty to comply with all applicable laws and regulations in which products are distributed. Infinity and Customer mutually agree to fully cooperate in ensuring compliance with all applicable provisions within the scope and duties and responsibilities established by this Agreement.

The validity, construction, and enforceability of this Agreement is governed by the laws of the State of Delaware.

3.0 Certifications, Registrations and Licenses

Infinity shall maintain the following accreditations, ISO/IEC 17025, FDA registration, DEA license, and any other accreditations required by applicable laws. Infinity shall provide Customer with documentation of such accreditation upon request. Infinity shall notify Customer of any material change in status to the following accreditations: ISO/IEC 17025, FDA registration, and DEA license.

4.0 Quality Management

Infinity shall maintain a Quality Management System that is appropriate for the supported work of the Customer. Infinity shall provide adequate management support, oversight, resources, and infrastructure in support of its Quality Management System. Infinity shall have documented and controlled procedures for test methods, preparatory methods, and any applicable procedures that are used to support test methods and protocols.

5.0 Equipment

Infinity shall have documented procedures in place for the maintenance of equipment used in the receiving, handling, storing, and testing of Customer samples. Furthermore, Infinity shall maintain in reasonable working condition any equipment used in the process of analytical testing for Customer.

6.0 CAPA System

Infinity shall maintain an appropriate Corrective Action and Preventative Action (CAPA) system as required per ISO/IEC 17025. As applicable and if required, Infinity shall communicate test issues to

INFINITY LABORATORIES

Customer Quality Agreement

Customer with root cause and preventive/corrective action required. Infinity shall monitor complaints and corrective actions for trends and other relevant patterns, making adjustments as necessary.

7.0 Nonconforming Results

Infinity shall establish and maintain procedures to control nonconforming results. A nonconforming result may also include Out of Specification (OOS) results. In cases where a nonconforming result has been generated, established procedures and protocols will be followed to determine root cause. If a product nonconformity is observed and a laboratory investigation determines that all laboratory protocols, procedures, and system quality checks were within acceptable criteria, it is the responsibility of Customer to determine root cause per their own quality procedures.

8.0 Audits and Inspections

Infinity shall provide Customer and any third-party consultant approved by Customer, with reasonable access to inspect, review and audit Infinity. Customer shall provide at least 30 days' notice prior to a requested audit, except when special circumstances warrant a shorter notice time. Audit terms such as date, scope, number of participants, and duration of the audit visit shall be mutually agreed upon by both Infinity and Customer and Customer will be responsible for all costs of such audits.

Infinity and Customer understands the FDA shall have access to and the right to inspect or audit any pertinent test results, test procedures and protocols, and the overall laboratory facility of Infinity. Customer acknowledges that FDA inspectors may arrive at Infinity at any time and without notice. Infinity shall notify Customer of such visits if their products are inspected and if Infinity is not prohibited from notifying the Customer.

9.0 Records

Infinity shall maintain a record retention policy as required by applicable law for all records, both written and electronic. When requested by Customer, record retention may be extended at the cost of the Customer. Records may include, but are not limited to: test results, test methods, training records, quality manuals, protocols and procedures, and requisition forms.

10.0 Responsibilities of the Customer

Customer agrees to specific responsibilities in order to achieve quality data. This includes:

a) Provide test samples with instruction detailing the appropriate contact person, test(s) to be performed, quantity of samples submitted, sample description, part number, lot number, test specifications, and any special instructions.
b) Package and deliver samples to Infinity under appropriate conditions to maintain sample integrity and protect samples from outside contamination.
c) Cooperate with laboratory to provide samples in a form which maximizes the probability of an accurate and reliable test.
d) Submit samples within a reasonable period of time to complete the test and meet any testing deadlines. Samples requiring priority testing may incur additional charges.
e) Cooperate with laboratory in providing Customer product information that may assist in method development and test procedures/protocols (e.g. formula worksheets).
f) Notification of a product or design change that may directly impact testing procedures (e.g. formulation change).
g) Notification prior to sending potentially harmful or toxic test material (e.g. chemotherapy drugs).

Attachment 17

INFINITY LABORATORIES

Customer Quality Agreement

11.0 Subcontractors

Infinity shall not subcontract test product(s) unless written permission/approval from Customer has been obtained. Infinity shall not be liable for testing services provided by outside organizations.

12.0 Term of Agreement

This Agreement is effective on the Effective Date and shall remain in effect so long as Customer provides test products to Infinity.

13.0 Confidentiality

Any information disclosed by Infinity and/or Customer, either directly or indirectly in writing, orally or by inspection, including, without limitation, scientific or technical information, information about planned facilities, and all information regarding intellectual property including test results and product trade secrets, financing or personnel matters, suppliers, prices, customers, computer systems, sales, employees, investors or business strategy shall be held in strict confidentiality and not released to any third party unless received prior written approval by entity which holds information as such.

14.0 Amendments

This Agreement may not be amended except in writing signed by Infinity and Customer.

15.0 Conflicts

In the event a conflict arises between this Agreement and any statement of work, quotation, service agreement or master service agreement, the statement of work, the statement of work, quotation, service agreement or master service agreement, the statement of work will govern.

16.0 Counterparts

This Agreement may be executed in one or more counterparts, each of which will be deemed an original and all of which, when taken together, will constitute one and the same instrument.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have caused this Agreement to be executed by their duly authorized representatives.

RESPONSIBILITIES

1. Pharmacy managers and staff pharmacists to oversee this SOP.
2. All staff has a duty to follow this policy by reporting any complaint(s), adverse occurrence or event(s) immediately to the supervising pharmacist.
3. Pharmacy managers and/or staff pharmacists have the responsibility to document and report adverse drug experience to FDA.

PURPOSE

1. Eagle Pharmacy acknowledges that safe use of medicines is an essential component of patient safety.
2. Eagle pharmacy recognizes that accurate reporting, documentation, response and communication of an Adverse Drug Experience and allergies are required in order to reduce potential harm to patients from the use of medicines.

SCOPE

1. Applies to Eagle Pharmacy sterile compounded drug product.
2. Applies to all procured manufactured drugs.

DEFINITIONS

1. Expected adverse drug experiences: one that is reasonably consistent with applicable product information or characteristics of drug.
2. Unexpected adverse drug experiences: any adverse drug experience that is not listed in the current labeling for the drug product. This includes events that may be symptomatically and pathophysiologically related to an event listed in the labeling, but differ from the event because of greater severity or specificity.
3. Unexpected: refers to an adverse drug experience that has not been previously observed (i.e., included in the labeling), rather than from the perspective of such experience not being anticipated from the pharmacological properties of the pharmaceutical product.
4. Medical events: an unexpected reaction to a drug which could have or did lead to unintended or unexpected harm, loss or damage. The onset of a drug adverse reaction could be sudden or develop over time. Examples of medical events:
    1. Allergic bronchospasm requiring intensive treatment in an emergency room or at home.
    2. Blood dyscrasias or convulsions that do not result in inpatient hospitalization.
    3. The development of drug dependency or drug abuse.
5. Serious adverse drug experience: event (events relating to drugs or devices) as one in which the patient outcome is death, life-threatening (real risk of dying), hospitalization (initial or prolonged), disability (significant, persistent, or permanent), congenital anomaly/birth defect, or required intervention to prevent permanent impairment or damage.

FREQUNECY

1. With each adverse drug experience.

SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCE

1. Not applicable.

Attachment 18

PROCEDURE

1. Any non-pharmacist staff member at Eagle Pharmacy upon receiving information or notification of any adverse reaction, has to report it immediately to a pharmacist.
2. The pharmacist upon receiving notification of an adverse reaction from a health care provider or a patient, is required to obtain contact information of the person reporting the adverse reaction and complete the Adverse Drug Experience Form.
3. Staff pharmacist upon receiving and handling an adverse drug experience from a health care provider and/or patient, is required to immediately notify the pharmacist-in-charge.
4. Pharmacist-in-charge/pharmacists are required to submit adverse drug experience report (all serious events, whether expected or unexpected) to FDA as soon as possible, but no later than 15 calendar days of initial receipt of the information along with a copy of the drug product's current labeling. In addition, all serious, expected and unexpected adverse drug experiences that are the subject of these reports must be promptly investigated and a follow-up report must be submitted within 15 calendar days of receipt of new information or as requested by FDA.

5. Eagle Pharmacy will investigate the following four data elements
   i. An identifiable patient: Collect enough information to indicate the existence of a specific patient. One or more of the following would qualify a patient as identifiable. Patients should not be identified by name or address when reporting to FDA. Instead, Eagle Pharmacy should assign a unique code number for each patient.
      1. Age or age category (e.g., adolescent, adult, elderly)
      2. Gender
      3. Initials
      4. Date of birth
      5. Name
      6. Patient identification number
   ii. An identifiable reporter: Person who initially notifies Eagle Pharmacy about an adverse event. Initial reporter can be a patient, consumer, family member, doctor, pharmacist, other health care professional, or other individual. Eagle Pharmacy should obtain, if possible, sufficient information to indicate that the reporter is an identifiable person who purports to have knowledge about the patient, adverse event, and drug involved. One or more of the following would qualify a reporter as identifiable:
      1. A personal identifier (e.g., name)
      2. A professional identifier (e.g., doctor, nurse, pharmacist)
      3. Contact information (e.g., e-mail address, phone number)
   iii. A suspect drug: A suspect drug product that the initial reporter suspected was associated with the adverse event. Adverse event report should describe the known product attributes (e.g., active ingredient(s), dosage form, strength, color, lot number). If compounded drug contains multiple components (e.g., excipients, drug substances, finished dosage forms), Eagle Pharmacy should list each component and its manufacturer. Eagle Pharmacy to should list any other known medical product(s) the patient was taking at the time he or she experienced the adverse event and the manufacturer of that product(s).
   iv. A serious adverse event: When reporting an unexpected adverse event to FDA that results in one or more of the following patient outcomes:
      1. Death
      2. A life-threatening adverse drug experience
      3. Inpatient hospitalization or prolongation of existing hospitalization: inpatient hospitalization includes initial admission to the hospital on an inpatient basis (even if released same day)
      4. A persistent or significant disability or incapacity, or
      5. A congenital anomaly or birth defect

Attachment 18

6. Follow-Up Reports:
    i. If unable to include all four of the data elements mentioned above during initial reporting, Eagle Pharmacy will exercise its due diligence to obtain information about any remaining elements and should keep records of its efforts to obtain this and other relevant information.
    ii. Eagle Pharmacy will report to FDA any new information it obtains about the initial report regarding adverse event.
7. Report attachments and additional information:
    i. A copy of the current labeling for the compounded drug product that is the subject of the report.
    ii. If available:
        1. Hospital discharge summaries.
        2. Autopsy reports/death certificates.
        3. Relevant laboratory data.
        4. Other critical clinical data.
        5. Information on the event(s) that led to the death.
8. How to report adverse events
    i. FDA website (https://www.fda.gov/safety/medical-product-safety-information/forms-reporting-fda) provides two options for electronic submission of initial and follow up adverse event reports to FDA:
        1. Submission through the Safety Reporting Portal (SRP).
        2. Submission through the Electronic Submissions Gateway (ESG).
    ii. Prior to submitting an adverse event to FDA, Eagle Pharmacy should notify the FDA Adverse Event Reporting System (FAERS) Electronic Submission Coordinator of its intent at fareseub@fda.hhs.gov
    iii. Each report should have a unique case identification number (to avoid duplicate adverse event reports in the FAERS database, each report should have a unique case identification number, regardless of how it is transmitted to the FDA).
9. Expected adverse drug events will be reviewed, signed and trended by pharmacy manager(s). All serious (expected and unexpected) adverse events will be reviewed, signed and submitted to the FDA by pharmacy manager(s).
10. Recordkeeping: All adverse drug experiences records/reports must be maintained for 10 years, including raw data and any correspondence relating to the adverse event, and allow FDA access to review, copy, and verify these records.
11. Failure to report adverse events by an entity that is registered in accordance with section 503B(b) is a prohibited act under section 301(ccc)(3) of the FD&C Act.12 Violations relating to this provision are subject to regulatory and enforcement action.

Hello Maria,

I spoke with a representative from the Texas Secretary of State and they confirmed that they no longer use Certificates of Account Status. This document has been replaced with the Taxable Entity Search. I attached an additional document showing the results of this public Taxable Entity Search that shows that we are current with all state franchise taxes. Please let me know if there's anything else I can get for you.

Hi Shaun,

Mark asked me to finalize a few applications to get them set on the scheduled June Board Meeting, and I came upon yours. The only thing we were not sure of is the Certificate of Good Standing you provided has "Certificate of Fact" written on it and it does not state "Certificate of Good Standing" or that all documents and fees have been paid with the Secretary of State? is this one in the same in Texas? Can you provide something from the state of Texas stating that this is One in the same?

Thank you,

WE ASSIGNED YOU AN EMPLOYER IDENTIFICATION NUMBER

Thank you for applying for an Employer Identification Number (EIN). We assigned you EIN 26-3899110. This EIN will identify you, your business accounts, tax returns, and documents, even if you have no employees. Please keep this notice in your permanent records.

When filing tax documents, payments, and related correspondence, it is very important that you use your EIN and complete name and address exactly as shown above. Any variation may cause a delay in processing, result in incorrect information in your account, or even cause you to be assigned more than one EIN. If the information is not correct as shown above, please make the correction using the attached tear off stub and return it to us.

Based on the information received from you or your representative, you must file the following form(s) by the date(s) shown.

Form 940	01/31/2010
Form 1065	04/15/2009

If you have questions about the form(s) or the due date(s) shown, you can call us at the phone number or write to us at the address shown at the top of this notice. If you need help in determining your annual accounting period (tax year), see Publication 538, Accounting Periods and Methods.

We assigned you a tax classification based on information obtained from you or your representative. It is not a legal determination of your tax classification, and is not binding on the IRS. If you want a legal determination of your tax classification, you may request a private letter ruling from the IRS under the guidelines in Revenue Procedure 2004-1, 2004-1 I.R.B. 1 (or superseding Revenue Procedure for the year at issue). Note: Certain tax classification elections can be requested by filing Form 8832, Entity Classification Election. See Form 8832 and its instructions for additional information.

A limited liability company (LLC) may file Form 8832, Entity Classification Election, and elect to be classified as an association taxable as a corporation. If the LLC is eligible to be treated as a corporation that meets certain tests and it will be electing S corporation status, it must timely file Form 2553, Election by a Small Business Corporation. The LLC will be treated as a corporation as of the effective date of the S corporation election and does not need to file Form 8832.

BEFORE THE STATE BOARD OF PHARMACY
STATE OF OKLAHOMA

IN THE MATTER OF THE COMPLAINT AGAINST:	)
Empower Pharmacy (99-7594)	)	Case No. 1510
5980 W. Sam Houston Pkwy, Ste 300	)
Houston, TX 77041	)

AGREED FINDINGS OF FACT, CONCLUSIONS OF LAW AND FINAL ORDER

This matter came for hearing on June 13, 2018, before the Oklahoma State Board of Pharmacy ("Board"). Board members St. Cyr, Dudley, Spoon, Wilson, Adams, and Whitehead were present. President Whitehead presided. John M. Settle, Assistant Attorney General, served as prosecutor for the Board. Respondent appeared and was represented by legal counsel, Doug Rice of Derryberry & Naifeh, LLP.

The Complaint in this matter is incorporated by reference into this Order.

The Board and Respondent hereby agree to the following Findings of Fact, Conclusions of Law and Final Order. Respondent has been advised of the right to contest the allegations of the Complaint herein, to cross-examine witnesses, and to present witnesses and evidence in defense of the allegations of the Complaint. Respondent hereby knowingly and voluntarily waives these rights. In addition, Respondent understands and acknowledges that this document is a public record that must be provided to anyone requesting it.

Should this Order not be accepted by the Board, Respondent agrees that neither the presentation of the Order to the Board nor the Board's consideration of the Order will be deemed to have unfairly or illegally prejudiced the Board or its individual members and, therefore, will not be grounds for precluding the Board or any individual member of the Board from further participating in proceedings related to the matters set forth in the Order.

AGREED FINDINGS OF FACT

1. Respondent is licensed as a non-resident pharmacy in the State of Oklahoma and is located at 5980 W. Sam Houston Pkwy, Ste 300, Houston, TX 77041. Souchinda Nanthavongdouangsy, D.Ph. #15854, is Respondent's pharmacist-in-charge.

2. Respondent compounded the following products that the Board alleges are commercially available or essentially copies of commercially available FDA-approved drug products under Oklahoma law:

HCG 11,000 units/vial & units/vial kits	#287 prescriptions
HCG 5,000 units/vial & units/vial kits	#85 prescriptions

HCG injection in 5,000 units per vial is commercially available. HCG injection in 11,000 units per vial is essentially a copy of the HCG 10,000 units/vial.

AGREED CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

1. The Board has jurisdiction over this matter and over the Respondent pursuant to 59 O.S. §§ 353.7 and 353.26.

2. Any Finding of Fact which is properly a Conclusion of Law is hereby incorporated by reference and vice versa.

3. Respondent has neither admitted nor denied violating OAC 535:15-10-53(a) by compounding a drug preparation that is commercially available in the marketplace or that is essentially a copy of an available FDA-approved drug product, as set forth in Counts 1 through 372 of the First Amended Complaint.

4. Pursuant to 59 O.S. §353.7(12), for any registrant who violates any provision of the Oklahoma Pharmacy Act including the Board's rules, the Board has authority to levy fines not to exceed Three Thousand Dollars ($3000.00) for each violation; to reprimand, place on probation or suspend or revoke the license of a licensee; to require extra hours of continuing education and to require participation in a rehabilitation program for the impaired. The Board may also impose as part of any disciplinary action the payment of costs expended by the Board for any legal fees and costs, including, but not limited to, staff time, salary and travel expense, witness fees and attorney fees.

AGREED ORDER

1. Respondent, Empower Pharmacy, a non-resident pharmacy in the State of Oklahoma and holder of non-resident pharmacy license number 99-7594, neither admits nor denies guilt on all Three Hundred Seventy-two (372) Counts. In order to resolve this dispute outside of a hearing on the merits, however, Respondent agrees as follows:

2. Respondent is hereby fined One Hundred and no/100 Dollars ($100.00) for each Count 1 through 372 of the Complaint for a total fine on said Counts 1 through 372 of Thirty-seven Thousand Two Hundred and no/1 00 Dollars ($37,200.00).

3. The total amount of fines due from Respondent is Thirty-seven Thousand Two Hundred and no/1 00 Dollars ($37,200.00). This fine is due on June 13, 2018.

4. This Agreed Order is not considered "discipline" by the Board, but instead is a deferral of the same pending a probationary period of two years. After a period of two years, any discipline by the Board shall be suspended unless Respondent has violated this Agreed Order, or any Oklahoma Board of Pharmacy rule. This deferred penalty is intended to ensure continued compliance with the Oklahoma Board of Pharmacy rules.

5. Failure of Respondent to abide by any of the terms of this Agreed Order could result in disciplinary action as allowed by the Oklahoma Pharmacy Act or the Board's rules.

6. The Board retains jurisdiction over the instant case until all matters are finally resolved as set forth in this Order.

All participating members vote "Aye".

Notification of Stipulation and Consent Order for Informal Disposition

Empower Pharmacy entered into a Stipulation and Consent Order for Informal Disposition with the Idaho State Board of Pharmacy regarding allegations involving Empower Pharmacy's filling of prescriptions for three patients from an out-of-state prescriber that allegedly did not attain appropriate licensure from the Idaho Medical Board as defined in the Idaho Telehealth Access Act, and allegedly did not have the requisite prescriber-patient relationship prior to issuing a prescription.

In the attached Stipulation and Consent Order for Informal Disposition with Idaho, Empower did not admit or deny violating any law or the Board's rules. The Informal Disposition also does not constitute a restriction on Empower's pharmacy license, and, most importantly, the Informal Disposition is not considered discipline in Idaho. The Idaho State Board of Pharmacy also refrained from taking administrative or other action against Empower for the alleged conduct. Although the disposition with the Idaho State Board of Pharmacy is not considered discipline or a restriction on Empower's license we hereby inform you, out of an abundance of caution given diverse reporting requirements of state boards, of the attached Informal Disposition.

Please note, this Stipulation and Consent Order for Informal Disposition was included and communicated to The Nevada State Board of Pharmacy on 10/25/2019 regarding a new Out-of-State Pharmacy License application. The Board questioned Empower regarding this Stipulation and Consent Order for Informal Disposition during the Board's scheduled license approval meeting and had no concerns once explained, and our new Out-of-State Pharmacy License (PH04169) was approved on 12/16/2019.

WHEREAS, information has been received by the Idaho Board of Pharmacy ("Board") that could constitute grounds for the initiation of an administrative case against Empower Pharmacy ("Respondent"); and,

WHEREAS, the Parties wish to expeditiously settle this matter of possible administrative violations relating to non-resident pharmacies dispensing controlled substances to Idaho residents, by Informal Disposition pursuant to Idaho Code § 67-5241(1);

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED AND AGREED between the undersigned Parties that this matter shall be settled and resolved upon the following terms:

A. JURISDICTION OF THE BOARD

1. The Board may regulate the practice of pharmacy in the state of Idaho in accordance with title 54, chapter 17, Idaho Code. The Board is further empowered by title 37, chapter 27, Idaho Code, to administer the regulating provisions of the Uniform Controlled Substances Act in the state of Idaho.

2. Respondent is a licensee of the Board and holds Mail Service Pharmacy License No. 36411MS. Respondent's license is subject to the provisions of title 54, chapter 17, Idaho Code, title 37, chapter 27, Idaho Code, and the Board's rules promulgated at IDAPA 27.01.01, et seq.

B. STIPULATED FACTS

1. Board staff's review of the PMP reports and records provided by Respondent revealed the following:

A. Idaho resident D.B. received from Respondent delivery of four (4) prescriptions fills for testosterone, a Schedule III controlled substance, which were issued in December 2016 through October 2017, by prescriber, J.S., located in Tampa, Florida.

B. Idaho resident J.S. received delivery of four (4) prescription fills for testosterone from Respondent, which were issued in October 2016 through September 2017 by prescriber, J.S., located in Tampa, Florida.

C. Idaho resident J.H. received delivery of six (6) prescription fills for testosterone from Respondent, which were issued in December 2016 through February 2018 by prescriber, J.S., located in Tampa, Florida.

2. Allegations arose from concerns of the Board that Respondent issued prescription drugs, including Schedule III controlled substances, to the above three (3) patients, based upon prescriptions which may have been invalid, the patients not having been seen in a face-to-face encounter by prescriber, J.S., in accordance with 21 U.S.C. § 829(e) prior to prescribing, and the prescriber not having been in compliance with the Idaho Telehealth Access Act, Title 54, Chapter 56, Idaho Code. Specifically, Idaho Code § 54-5703(4) requires telehealth providers to be licensed in the state of Idaho; Idaho Code § 54-5707(1) requires telehealth providers to have an established provider-patient relationship in order to issue prescription drug orders; and Idaho Code § 54-5705 requires two-way audio and visual interaction between the provider and patient.

In addition, 21 U.S.C. § 802(54) states that if telemedicine is being practiced, the patient must be in the presence of an onsite practitioner who possesses a valid DEA controlled substance registration and state license, and Idaho Code § 37-2716(a) requires the distant provider to hold a state controlled substance registration in the state where the patient is located.

3. Respondent asserts that the prescriber, J.S., advised Respondent that he had seen these three (3) patients in Florida, prior to prescribing for them, in accordance with 21 U.S.C. § 829(e).

4. Respondent admits that its business practices are subject to the following statutes and rules: Idaho Code §§ 54-1726(1)(f) and (2), 54-1728(1)(f) and (2), 37-2718(a)(4), 37-2719(c), 37-2722(c), 37-2723, 37-2730A(2), 37-2733(a)(1); and IDAPA 27.01.01.110 and 27.01.01.501.

5. Without Respondent admitting or denying that facts support a basis for discipline, and in lieu thereof, the Parties agree to an Informal Disposition pursuant to Idaho Code § 67-5241(1), as settlement and compromise, which shall not be deemed admitting to any acts or omissions which may be alleged, and Respondent agrees, the Board may enter its final Order as set forth in Section C below.

C. STIPULATED, AGREED SETTLEMENT

1. Respondent shall pay a monetary sum of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000).

2. This monetary sum shall become payable after the Board approves and executes its Order approving this Settlement, to be paid to the Board within 180 days of the date the Order is executed.

3. Commencing the date the Stipulation is executed by the Board, Respondent shall verify that all prescribers issuing prescriptions to Idaho residents to be filled by Respondent shall have the required prescriber licenses and controlled substance registrations which allow the prescribers to issue prescriptions to Idaho residents. Documentation of such verifications shall be retained by Respondent for two years from the date they are obtained and shall be provided to the Board upon its written request.

4. Further, Respondent shall designate a representative of its management to whom the Board may direct its communications and inquiries and who shall be responsible for responding to such inquiries. This representative shall be designated in writing within thirty (30) days of the date the Order incorporating this Stipulation is executed.

5. Failure to comply with any of the terms of this Stipulation may result in administrative action being taken against Respondent's mail service pharmacy license.

6. All costs associated with Respondent's compliance with the terms of this Stipulation shall be borne solely by Respondent. Nothing relating to this Stipulation shall be considered a restriction of Respondent's licensure.

D. COMPLIANCE WITH STIPULATION

1. The Board has authority to enforce compliance with the terms and conditions of this Stipulation. By signing this Stipulation, Respondent waives its ability to challenge the Board's lack of authority of its Order upon appeal to a district court. Thereafter, if there shall be reason to believe Respondent may have violated any terms or conditions of this Stipulation, the Executive Director of the Board may file an administrative complaint, setting forth the allegations of non-compliance and notifying Respondent that Respondent may request a hearing regarding the allegations of non-compliance. If Respondent does not request a hearing on such administrative complaint, any allegations of non-compliance may be deemed admitted.

2. If Respondent fails to comply with this Stipulation, Respondent's license may then be subject to discipline, up to and including suspension or revocation. Accordingly, the Board retains jurisdiction over this proceeding, until all matters are finally resolved, as set forth in this Stipulation.

3. Any additional costs and/or attorney fees incurred by the Board in any future enforcement action based upon any allegation of this Stipulation shall be borne solely by Respondent.

E. ACKNOWLEDGMENTS AND WAIVER OF RIGHTS

Respondent, by signature of its authorized representative hereto, hereby acknowledges the following:

1. The Board has jurisdiction to proceed in this matter.

2. Respondent has read the above Stipulation fully and has had the opportunity to review it with legal counsel. Respondent understands and acknowledges that, by its terms, it is waiving certain rights provided under Idaho law.

3. Respondent acknowledges that, should the Board have brought a formal complaint in this matter, Respondent would have had certain rights, including but not limited to: the right to a full and complete hearing, pursuant to the Idaho Administrative Procedure Act; the right to confront and to cross examine witnesses; the right to present evidence, to call witnesses and to testify on its own behalf; the right to administrative reconsideration; the right to appeal any findings to the district court; and, any and other rights provided pursuant to the Idaho Administrative Procedure Act, statutes and rules governing the practice of pharmacy in Idaho, and otherwise as may be applicable pursuant to law. By entering into this Stipulation, Respondent agrees to forgo such rights and process and to waive same as part of the resolution of any allegations which may obtain.

4. Respondent understands that in signing this Stipulation, it agrees to the above terms without further process.

5. Respondent understands that, if approved as proposed, the Board shall execute and issue this Stipulation and Consent Order for Informal Disposition: I.C. § 67-5241(1) ("Stipulation"), according to the aforementioned terms, and Respondent agrees to the above Stipulation for settlement of all allegations, which allegations are contested and which Respondent denies. If the Board approves this Stipulation subject to changes, and those changes are acceptable to Respondent, Respondent acknowledges the Stipulation shall take effect, and an order modifying the terms of the Stipulation shall be issued. If the changes are unacceptable, or the Board rejects this Stipulation, this Stipulation shall be of no force or effect. Admissions in this Stipulation and negotiations preceding the signing of this Stipulation shall not be admissible at any subsequent administrative hearing.

6. In the event this Stipulation is rejected by the Board, or any changes proposed by the Board are not accepted, Respondent waives any right it may have to challenge the Board's impartiality to hear the allegations in any subsequent administrative proceedings, based on that the Board had considered and rejected this Stipulation.

7. Respondent understands the Board shall have the right to make full disclosure of this Stipulation to any state, agency or individual requesting information subject to any applicable provisions of the Idaho Public Records Act, title 9, chapter 3, Idaho Code.

8. Respondent understands this Stipulation and Consent Order is the resolution of a contested case and is a public record.

9. This Stipulation contains the entire agreement between the Parties, and Respondent is not relying on any other agreement or representation of any kind, verbal or otherwise.

10. This Stipulation shall be presented by the Executive Director of the Board and the Deputy Attorney General responsible for this matter to the Board with a recommendation for approval at the next regularly scheduled meeting of the Board.

11. Except for Paragraph E.6., which becomes effective when Respondent signs this Stipulation, this Stipulation shall not become effective, until it has been approved by a majority of the Board, and a Board member signs the attached Order.

12. Each Party shall bear its own costs and fees associated with this matter.

Notification of Agreed Order

Empower Pharmacy entered into an Agreed Order with the Oklahoma State Board of Pharmacy regarding allegations involving the compounding of what the Oklahoma State Board of Pharmacy considered essential copies under Oklahoma law. Please note that our home state Board, the Texas State Board of Pharmacy, did not consider these compounds essential copies (see attached). FDA also did not consider these compounds essential copies by their final guidance issued in January 2018 (see attached) and evidenced through FDA's most recent inspection of Empower Pharmacy in January 2018.

In the attached Agreed Order with Oklahoma, Empower did not admit or deny violating any law or the Board's rules. The Agreed Order also does not constitute a restriction on Empower's pharmacy license, and, most importantly, the Agreed Order is not considered discipline in Oklahoma. The Oklahoma State Board of Pharmacy also refrained from taking administrative or other action against Empower for the alleged conduct. Although the agreement with the Oklahoma State Board of Pharmacy is not considered discipline or a restriction on Empower's license we hereby inform you, out of an abundance of caution given diverse reporting requirements of state boards, of the attached Agreed Order.

Please note, this Agreed Order was included and communicated to The Nevada State Board of Pharmacy on 10/25/2019 regarding a new Out-of-State Pharmacy License application. The Board questioned Empower regarding this Agreed Order during the Board's scheduled license approval meeting and had no concerns once explained, and our new Out-of-State Pharmacy License (PH04169) was approved on 12/16/2019.

RE: Empower Pharmacy, License #26444
Complaint #2019-00426

The Texas State Board of Pharmacy (Board) received a copy of the Agreed Findings of Fact, Conclusions of Law and Final Order of the Oklahoma State Board of Pharmacy entered June 13, 2018, which imposed a non-disciplinary deferral of probation against the license and a $37,200 fine. The Order of the Oklahoma State Board of Pharmacy references allegations the pharmacy compounded commercially available medication and medication that was essentially a copy of a commercially available product. This violation is addressed in Section 565.002(a)(3) of the Texas Pharmacy Act, Tex. Occ. Code Ann., Title 3, Subtitle J; and Section 291.133(d)(1)(C) and (D) of the Texas Pharmacy Board Rules, 22. Tex. Admin. Code.

Following Board staff's review of this matter, this complaint was closed with this letter specifically notifying you of applicable Texas pharmacy law and rules. A copy of the referenced pharmacy laws and rules are attached for your review. Board staff encourages you to develop and implement policies and procedures to ensure compliance with pharmacy compounding requirements. If additional information indicates you may have violated Texas laws, the laws of another state, or the United States, you may be subject to further review and action by the Board.

A reply to this letter is not required. If you choose to reply, please include the complaint number listed above in your written reply.

Sincerely,

Compounded Drug Products That Are Essentially Copies of a Commercially Available Drug Product Under Section 503A of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act
Guidance for Industry[1]

This guidance represents the current thinking of the Food and Drug Administration (FDA or the Agency) on this topic. It does not create any rights for any person and is not binding on FDA or the public. You can use an alternative approach if the approach satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations. To discuss an alternative approach, contact the FDA office responsible for this guidance as listed in the title page.

I. INTRODUCTION AND SCOPE

To qualify for exemptions under section 503A of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FD&C Act), a drug product must be compounded by a licensed pharmacist or physician who does not compound regularly or in inordinate amounts any drug products that are essentially copies of a commercially available drug product, among other conditions. This guidance sets forth FDA's policies regarding this provision of section 503A, including the terms commercially available, essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product, and regularly or in inordinate amounts.[2]

In general, FDA's guidance documents do not establish legally enforceable responsibilities. Instead, guidances describe the Agency's current thinking on a topic and should be viewed only as recommendations, unless specific regulatory or statutory requirements are cited. The use of the word should in Agency guidances means that something is suggested or recommended, but not required.

[1] This guidance has been prepared by multiple offices in the Center for Drug Evaluation and Research, in consultation with the Office of Regulatory Affairs at the Food and Drug Administration.

[2] This guidance does not apply to drugs compounded for use in animals, to biological products subject to licensure in a biologics license application, or to repackaged drug products. For policies pertaining to mixing, diluting, and repackaging biological products, see FDA's guidance, Mixing, Diluting, and Repackaging Biological Products Outside the Scope of an Approved Biologics License Application. For policies pertaining to repackaged drug products, see FDA's guidance, Repackaging of Certain Human Drug Products by Pharmacies and Outsourcing Facilities.

All FDA guidances are available on the FDA guidance web page. FDA updates guidances regularly. To make sure you have the most recent version of a guidance, always consult the guidance web page at http://www.fda.gov/Drugs/GuidanceComplianceRegulatoryInformation/Guidances/default.htm.

II. BACKGROUND

A. Section 503A of the FD&C Act

Section 503A, added to the FD&C Act by the Food and Drug Administration Modernization Act of 1997 and amended by the Drug Quality and Security Act in 2013, describes the conditions that must be satisfied for human drug products compounded by a licensed pharmacist in a State-licensed pharmacy or Federal facility, or by a licensed physician, to qualify for exemptions from the following three sections of the FD&C Act:[3]

- Section 501(a)(2)(B) (concerning current good manufacturing practice (CGMP) requirements)
- Section 502(f)(1) (concerning the labeling of drugs with adequate directions for use)
- Section 505 (concerning the approval of drugs under new drug applications (NDAs) or abbreviated new drug applications (ANDAs))

One of the conditions that must be met for a compounded drug product to qualify for the exemptions under section 503A of the FD&C Act is that it must be compounded by a licensed pharmacist or a licensed physician that "does not compound regularly or in inordinate amounts (as defined by the Secretary) any drug products that are essentially copies of a commercially available drug product."[4]

The statute further states that "the term 'essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product' does not include a drug product in which there is a change, made for an identified individual patient, which produces for that patient a significant difference, as determined by the prescribing practitioner, between the compounded drug and the comparable commercially available drug."[5]

A complete list of the conditions that must be met for a compounded drug product to qualify for the exemptions in section 503A appears in the FDA guidance, Pharmacy Compounding of Human Drug Products Under Section 503A of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

B. Compounding, Generally

Compounded drug products serve an important role for patients whose clinical needs cannot be met by an FDA-approved drug product, such as a patient who has an allergy and needs a medication to be made without a certain dye, an elderly patient who cannot swallow a pill and needs a medicine in a liquid form that is not otherwise available, or a child who needs a drug in a strength that is lower than that of the commercially available product. Drug products for identified individual patients can be compounded by licensed pharmacists in state-licensed pharmacies and Federal facilities and by licensed physicians operating under section 503A of the FD&C Act. Drug products can also be compounded by outsourcing facilities under section 503B of the FD&C Act for identified individual patients pursuant to prescriptions or for distribution to health care practitioners without first receiving a prescription.[6] Both sections 503A and 503B restrict compounding drug products that are essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product (section 503A) or an approved drug product (section 503B).

[3] In addition, under section 581(13) of the FD&C Act, the term "product," for purposes of pharmaceutical supply chain security requirements, does not include a drug compounded in compliance with section 503A.

[4] See section 503A(b)(1)(D).

[5] See section 503A(b)(2).

C. Risks Associated with Compounded Drug Products

Although compounded drugs can serve an important need, they can also pose a higher risk to patients than FDA-approved drugs. Compounded drug products are not FDA-approved, which means they have not undergone FDA premarket review for safety, effectiveness, and quality. In addition, licensed pharmacists and licensed physicians who compound drug products in accordance with section 503A are not required to comply with CGMP requirements. Furthermore, FDA does not interact with the vast majority of licensed pharmacists and licensed physicians who compound drug products and seek to qualify for the exemptions under section 503A of the FD&C Act for the drug products that they compound because these compounders are not licensed by FDA and generally do not register their compounding facilities with FDA. Therefore, FDA is often not aware of potential problems with their compounded drug products or compounding practices unless it receives a complaint, such as a report of a serious adverse event or visible contamination.

FDA has investigated numerous serious adverse events associated with compounded drug products that were contaminated or otherwise compounded improperly, including the adverse events associated with the 2012 fungal meningitis outbreak in which contaminated injectable drug products resulted in more than 60 deaths and 750 cases of infection. FDA has also identified many pharmacies that compounded drug products under insanitary conditions such that the drug products may have been contaminated with filth or rendered injurious to health and that shipped the compounded drug products made under these conditions to patients and health care practitioners across the country, sometimes in large amounts.

D. Compounded Drugs That Are Essentially Copies of Commercially Available Drug Products

Section 503A provides exemptions from new drug approval, labeling with adequate directions for use, and CGMP requirements of the FD&C Act, so that drug products can be compounded as customized therapies for identified individual patients whose medical needs cannot be met by commercially available drug products. The restrictions on making drugs that are essentially copies ensure that pharmacists and physicians do not compound drug products under the exemptions for patients who could use a commercially available drug product. Such a practice would create significant public health risks because patients would be unnecessarily exposed to drug products that have not been shown to be safe and effective and that may have been prepared under substandard manufacturing conditions. FDA has investigated serious adverse events in patients who received contaminated compounded drugs when a comparable approved drug, made in a facility subject to CGMP requirements, was available.

In addition to these immediate public health risks, section 503A's limitations on producing a drug product that is essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product protects the integrity and effectiveness of the new drug and abbreviated new drug approval processes that Congress put in place to protect patients from unsafe, ineffective, or poor quality drugs. Furthermore, sponsors may be less likely to invest in and seek approval of innovative, life-saving medications if a compounder could, after a drug is approved, compound "substitutes" that may be less expensive because they have not had to demonstrate safety and effectiveness and are not produced in accordance with CGMP requirements or labeled with adequate directions for use.

Sponsors might also be less likely to seek approval of an ANDA for a generic drug if compounders were permitted to compound drugs that are essentially copies of commercially available drugs without going through the ANDA process. An ANDA must include data to demonstrate that the drug has the same active ingredient and is bioequivalent to an approved drug. FDA also conducts premarketing inspections of proposed manufacturing facilities.

The copies restriction also protects FDA's drug monograph process. FDA has an ongoing process for evaluating the safety and effectiveness of certain over-the-counter (OTC) medications, and if the Agency determines that an OTC drug meets certain conditions and is generally recognized as safe and effective, it will publish a final monograph specifying those conditions. Products that comply with a final monograph may be marketed, but manufacturers are required to meet CGMP standards. Restrictions in section 503A prevent compounders from producing drugs without having to comply with monograph standards, or CGMP requirements.

III. POLICY

As stated above, to qualify for the exemptions under section 503A of the FD&C Act, a drug must be compounded by a licensed pharmacist or a licensed physician that does not compound regularly or in inordinate amounts (as defined by the Secretary) any drug products that are essentially copies of a commercially available drug product.[7] This means that a compounded drug product is not eligible for the exemptions in section 503A if it is (1) essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product, and (2) compounded regularly or in inordinate amounts. Accordingly, and as discussed below, when evaluating whether a drug product meets the condition in section 503A regarding essentially copies, FDA intends to determine whether a compounded drug product is essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product: if it is, FDA intends to determine whether the drug product was compounded regularly or in inordinate amounts.[8]

[7] See section 503A(b)(1)(D).

[8] FDA is considering the applicability of the policies described in this guidance to hospitals and health systems and intends to address these issues in separate guidance or rulemaking. FDA regards a health system as collection of hospitals that are owned and operated by the same entity and that share access to databases with drug order information for their patients. There is no definition of "health system" that applies to all sections of the FD&C Act.

FDA's policies with regard to the terms (1) commercially available drug product, (2) essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product, and (3) regularly or in inordinate amounts, are as follows:

A. Commercially Available Drug Product

For purposes of this guidance, a drug product is commercially available if it is a marketed drug product.

We do not consider a drug product to be commercially available if

- the drug product has been discontinued and is no longer marketed[9] or
- the drug product appears on the FDA drug shortage list in effect under section 506E of the FD&C Act.[10] A drug "appears on the drug shortage list in effect under section 506E" if the drug is in "currently in shortage" status (and not in "resolved" status) in FDA's drug shortage database.

Commercially available drugs are available on the market, and they are generally subject to FD&C Act requirements relating to approval, labeling, and CGMP requirements, and the copies restriction applies to all such drugs because section 503A is not intended to provide a means for compounders to produce compounded drugs exempt from the Act's requirements that are essentially copies of commercially available drug products.

B. Essentially a Copy of a Commercially Available Drug Product

1. What is Essentially a Copy?

FDA intends to consider a compounded drug product to be essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product if:

- the compounded drug product has the same active pharmaceutical ingredient(s) (API) as the commercially available drug product;
- the API(s) have the same, similar, or an easily substitutable dosage strength; and

However, this is the definition of a "health system" used in section 506F of the Act concerning hospital repackaging of drugs in shortage.

[9] FDA maintains a list of approved drug products that sponsors have indicated are not marketed in the discontinued section of the list of Approved Drug Products with Therapeutic Equivalence Evaluations (Orange Book). See http://www.accessdata.fda.gov/scripts/cder/ob/default.cfm. Specifically, the list includes approved drug products that have never been marketed, are for exportation, are for military use, have been discontinued from marketing and we have not determined were withdrawn for safety or effectiveness reasons, or have had their approvals withdrawn for reasons other than safety or effectiveness subsequent to being discontinued from marketing.

[10] See http://www.accessdata.fda.gov/scripts/drugshortages/default.cfm.

- the commercially available drug product can be used by the same route of administration as prescribed for the compounded drug, unless, as provided by section 503A(b)(2), a prescriber determines that there is a change, made for an identified individual patient, which produces, for that patient, a significant difference from the commercially available drug product.

The limitations in section 503A(b)(1)(D) apply to the compounding of drug products that are essentially copies of a commercially available drug product – not only to drugs that are exact copies or even to drugs that are nearly identical. This is to ensure that compounders do not evade the limits in this section by making relatively small changes to a compounded drug product and then offering the drug to the general public without regard to whether a prescribing practitioner has determined that the change produces for the patient a significant difference. For example, Congress contemplated that a compounded drug may be essentially a copy of a commercially available drug if "minor changes in strength (such as from .08% to .09%) are made that are not known to be significant . . ." for the patient for whom the drug was prescribed.[11]

a. Same API

With regard to the characteristics listed above, an API is the substance in a drug product that is intended to furnish pharmacological activity or other direct effect in the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease or to affect the structure or function of the body.[12] When a compounded drug product offers the same API as a commercially available drug product, in the same, similar, or easily substitutable dosage strength and for use through the same route of administration, we generally intend to consider such a drug product essentially a copy, unless a prescriber determines that there is a change, made for an identified individual patient, that will produce a significant difference for that patient.

We recognize that, for some patients, a drug product that has the same API, strength, and route of administration may include a change that produces a significant difference for a particular patient. For example, a drug product compounded without a particular inactive ingredient may produce a significant difference for a patient who has an allergy to the inactive ingredient in the commercially available drug product. However, for other patients, this change may produce no difference at all. Congress did not intend for compounders to use, for example, the fact that some patients may have allergies as a basis to compound a drug without the inactive ingredient for other patients who do not have the allergy under the exemptions in section 503A (i.e., without meeting requirements for premarket approval, labeling with adequate directions for use, or

[11] U.S. House. Food and Drug Administration Modernization Act of 1997, Conference Report (to Accompany S. 830). (105 H. Rpt. 399).

[12] Section 503A refers to bulk drug substances. A bulk drug substance is defined as any substance that is intended for incorporation into a finished drug product and is intended to furnish pharmacological activity or other direct effect in the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease, or to affect the structure or any function of the body. It does not include intermediates used in the synthesis of the substance. This definition is the same as the definition of active pharmaceutical ingredient. See 21 CFR 207.1, 207.3.

CGMP requirements).[13] In the context of compounding and consistent with the statute, we generally intend to consider such a drug essentially a copy unless a prescriber determines that there is a change that will produce a significant difference for the patient for whom it is prescribed.

b. Same, Similar or Easily Substitutable Strength

FDA generally intends to consider two drugs to have a similar dosage strength if the dosage strength of the compounded drug is within 10% of the dosage strength of the commercially available drug product.

With regard to the concept of easily substitutable strength, in some cases, the same or similar dosage strength can be achieved by administration of fractional or multiple doses of a drug product. For example, if FDA-approved Drug X tablets have a dosage strength of 25 mg and a patient needs 50 mg of Drug X, FDA would generally consider a compounded Drug X 50 mg tablet to have an easily substitutable strength because the patient could take two Drug X 25 mg tablets to achieve the required dose.[14]

c. Same Route of Administration

Route of administration is a way of administering a drug to a site in a patient (e.g., topical, intravenous, oral).[15] In general, FDA does not intend to consider a compounded drug product with the same API and similar or easily substitutable strength to be essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product if the compounded drug product and the commercially available drug product have different routes of administration (e.g., if the commercially available drug product is oral and the compounded drug product is topical). However, if the compounded drug product has the same API and similar or easily substitutable strength as the commercially available drug product and the commercially available drug product can be used (regardless of how it is labeled) by the route of administration prescribed for the compounded drug, FDA generally intends to consider the compounded drug to be essentially a copy of the commercially available drug. In this case, the compounded drug product generally would not produce a significant difference for an identified individual patient relative to the commercially available drug product.

For example, if the commercially available drug is an injectable drug sold in a vial that is labeled for intra-muscular use, but the drug also can be drawn from the vial by a smaller needle for subcutaneous administration, a compounded drug product with the same API and similar or

[13] See note 11.

[14] If a commercially available tablet must be split to achieve the prescribed dosage strength, and such tablet is not suitable for splitting, FDA would not consider the compounded drug made to the prescribed dosage strength to have an easily substitutable strength. For example, some tablets may be too small or crumble too easily when split, making splitting an inappropriate option. Information regarding tablet splitting may be printed in the "HOW SUPPLIED" section of the professional label insert and in the patient package insert of an approved drug product.

easily substitutable strength prescribed for sub-cutaneous administration would generally be considered to be essentially a copy, unless the prescriber documents on the prescription that the compounded drug product produces a significant difference for the identified individual patient.

d. Same Characteristics as Two or More Commercially Available Drug Products

FDA intends to consider a compounded drug product to be essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product if the compounded drug product contains the same APIs as two or more commercially available drug products in the same, similar, or easily substitutable strength and if the commercially available drug products can be used (regardless of how they are labeled) by the same route of administration prescribed for the compounded drug, unless there is documentation as described in section III.B.2. Such drug products present the same kinds of concerns as drug products that have a single API and in some respects may be more dangerous because of the potential for unintended drug interactions or formulation issues. For example, if drug X and drug Y are commercially available oral drug products, FDA generally intends to consider a compounded oral drug product that combines drug X and drug Y in strengths that are within 10% of the strengths of the respective commercially available products to be essentially a copy of the commercially available drug product, unless a prescriber determination of a significant difference has been documented.

2. Statement of Significant Difference

Pursuant to section 503A(b)(2) of the FD&C Act, a compounded drug product is not essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product if a change is made for an identified individual patient, and the prescribing practitioner has determined that the change will produce a significant difference for that patient. If a compounder intends to rely on such a determination to establish that a compounded drug is not essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product, the compounder should ensure that the determination is documented on the prescription.

FDA does not believe that a particular format is needed to document the determination, provided that the prescription makes clear that the prescriber identified the relevant change and the significant difference that the change will produce for the patient. For example, the following would be sufficient:

- "No Dye X, patient allergy" (if the comparable drug contains the dye)
- "Liquid form, patient can't swallow tablet" (if the comparable drug is a tablet)
- "6 mg, patient needs higher dose" (if the comparable drug is only available in 5 mg dose)

However, if a prescription identifies only a patient name and drug product formulation, this would not be sufficient to establish that the prescriber made the determination described by section 503A(b)(2). Note also that the significant benefit that the prescriber identifies must be produced by the change the compounder will make to a commercially available drug product (i.e., a change in drug product formulation). Other factors, such as a lower price, are not sufficient to establish that the compounded drug product is not essentially a copy of the commercially available drug product.[16]

If a prescription does not make clear that the prescriber made the determination required by section 503A(b)(2), or a compounded drug is substituted for the commercially available drug product, the compounder can contact the prescriber and if the prescriber confirms it, make a notation on the prescription that the compounded drug product contains a change that makes a significant difference for the patient. The notations should be as specific as those described above, and the date of the conversation with the prescriber should be included on the prescription.[17]

It is not possible to offer exhaustive guidance about when a difference will be "significant" to an identified individual patient. At this time, FDA generally does not intend to question prescriber determinations that are documented in a prescription or notation. However, we do intend to consider whether a prescription or notation relied upon by a compounder to establish that a drug is not essentially a copy documents that the determination was made.

If the compounder produces drugs in anticipation of receiving valid prescriptions for identified individual patients, and the compounder obtains the statement of significant difference from the prescriber when it receives the prescription for the compounded drug, prior to distribution, FDA does not intend to consider the compounded drug that is then distributed to be essentially a copy.

3. Documentation of Shortage

If the drug was compounded because the approved drug product was not commercially available because it was on the FDA drug shortage list, the prescriber or compounder should include a notation on the prescription that it was on the drug shortage list and the date the list was checked.[18]

4. Regularly or in Inordinate Amounts

A drug product is not eligible for the exemptions in section 503A if it is prepared by a pharmacist or physician who compounds "regularly or in inordinate amounts (as defined by the Secretary)" any drug products that are essentially copies of a commercially available drug

[16] Congress noted that "where it is readily apparent, based on the circumstances, that the 'significant difference' is a mere pretext to allow compounding of products that are essentially copies of commercially available products, such compounding would be considered copying of commercially available products and would not qualify for the compounding exemptions if it is done regularly or in inordinate amounts. Such circumstances may include, for example, instances in which minor changes in strength (such as from .08% to .09%) are made that are not known to be significant or instances in which the prescribing physician is receiving financial remuneration or other financial incentives to write prescriptions for compounded products." See the U.S. House. Food and Drug Administration Modernization Act of 1997, Conference Report (to Accompany S. 830). (105 H. Rpt. 399).

product.[19] FDA interprets this to mean that, in order to be compounded in accordance with section 503A, a drug product that is essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product cannot be compounded regularly – i.e., it cannot be compounded at regular times or intervals, usually, or very often. Nor can the amounts compounded be inordinate, in light of the purpose of section 503A.

Section 503A is intended to protect patients from the public health risks of providing compounded drugs to patients whose medical needs could be met by commercially available drug products and to protect the integrity and efficiency of the drug approval process. Under the statutory scheme, only very rarely should a compounded drug product that is essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product be offered to a patient. We conclude, therefore, that a drug product that is essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product is compounded regularly or in inordinate amounts if it is compounded more frequently than needed to address unanticipated, emergency circumstances, or in more than the small quantities needed to address unanticipated, emergency circumstances.

It is important to note that the regularly or in inordinate amounts provision is not implicated if the compounded drug is not essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product. For example, a compounded drug product that has the same API, dosage strength, and route of administration as a drug product on FDA's shortage list would not be considered essentially a copy of a commercially available drug because a drug product is not considered commercially available if it is on FDA's drug shortage list. In addition, a compounded drug product is not essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product if a prescriber has determined that the compounded drug has a change that produces a significant difference for a patient.
Once it has been determined that a compounded drug is essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product as described above, the following are examples of factors that may be the basis for concluding that it has been compounded regularly or in inordinate amounts:

- The compounded drug product amounts to more than a small number of prescriptions or a small percentage of the compounded drug products that a compounder prepares.
- The compounder routinely substitutes compounded drugs that are essentially copies of commercially available drugs upon receiving prescriptions for patients.
- The compounder offers pre-printed prescription pads that a prescriber can use to write a prescription for the drug product that is essentially a copy without making a determination that there is a change that will produce a significant difference for a patient.
- The compounded drug product is not compounded on an as-needed basis, but on a routine or pre-set schedule.

The foregoing list is not intended to be exhaustive. Other factors may be appropriate for consideration in a particular case.

To focus enforcement on the most significant cases, as a matter of policy, at this time FDA does not intend to take action against a compounder for compounding a drug product that is essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product regularly or in inordinate amounts if the compounder fills four or fewer prescriptions for the relevant compounded drug product in a calendar month.[20] As noted above, a compounded drug product is not essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product if a prescriber has determined that the compounded drug has a change that produces a significant difference for a patient; thus, a prescription that documents such a prescriber determination would not be counted towards the four prescriptions.

Compounders may produce a limited amount of drugs in anticipation of receiving valid prescriptions for identified individual patients. See section 503A(a)(2). FDA generally intends to consider whether such drugs are essentially a copy at the time the drug is distributed rather than the time it is produced.

5. Recordkeeping

A licensed pharmacist or physician seeking to compound a drug product under section 503A should maintain records to demonstrate compliance with section 503A(b)(1)(D). For example, records should be kept of notations on prescriptions for identified individual patients that a prescriber has determined that the compounded drug has a change that produces a significant difference for the identified patient.

Compounders under section 503A should also maintain records of the frequency in which they have compounded drug products that are essentially copies of commercially available drug products and the number of prescriptions that they have filled for compounded drug products that are essentially copies of commercially available drug products to document that such compounding has not been done regularly or in inordinate amounts.[21]

FDA recommends that compounders maintain the records described above for a period of at least three years.

IV. PAPERWORK REDUCTION ACT

This guidance contains information collection provisions that are subject to review by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3501-3520). See footnotes 17, 18, and 21. These provisions require review and are not in effect until they display a currently valid OMB control number. The information collection provisions in this guidance have been submitted to OMB for review as required by section 3507(d) of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995. FDA will publish a notice in the Federal Register announcing OMB's decision regarding the information collection provisions in this guidance.

[20] For purposes of this policy, FDA intends to consider each refill of a prescription as an additional prescription.

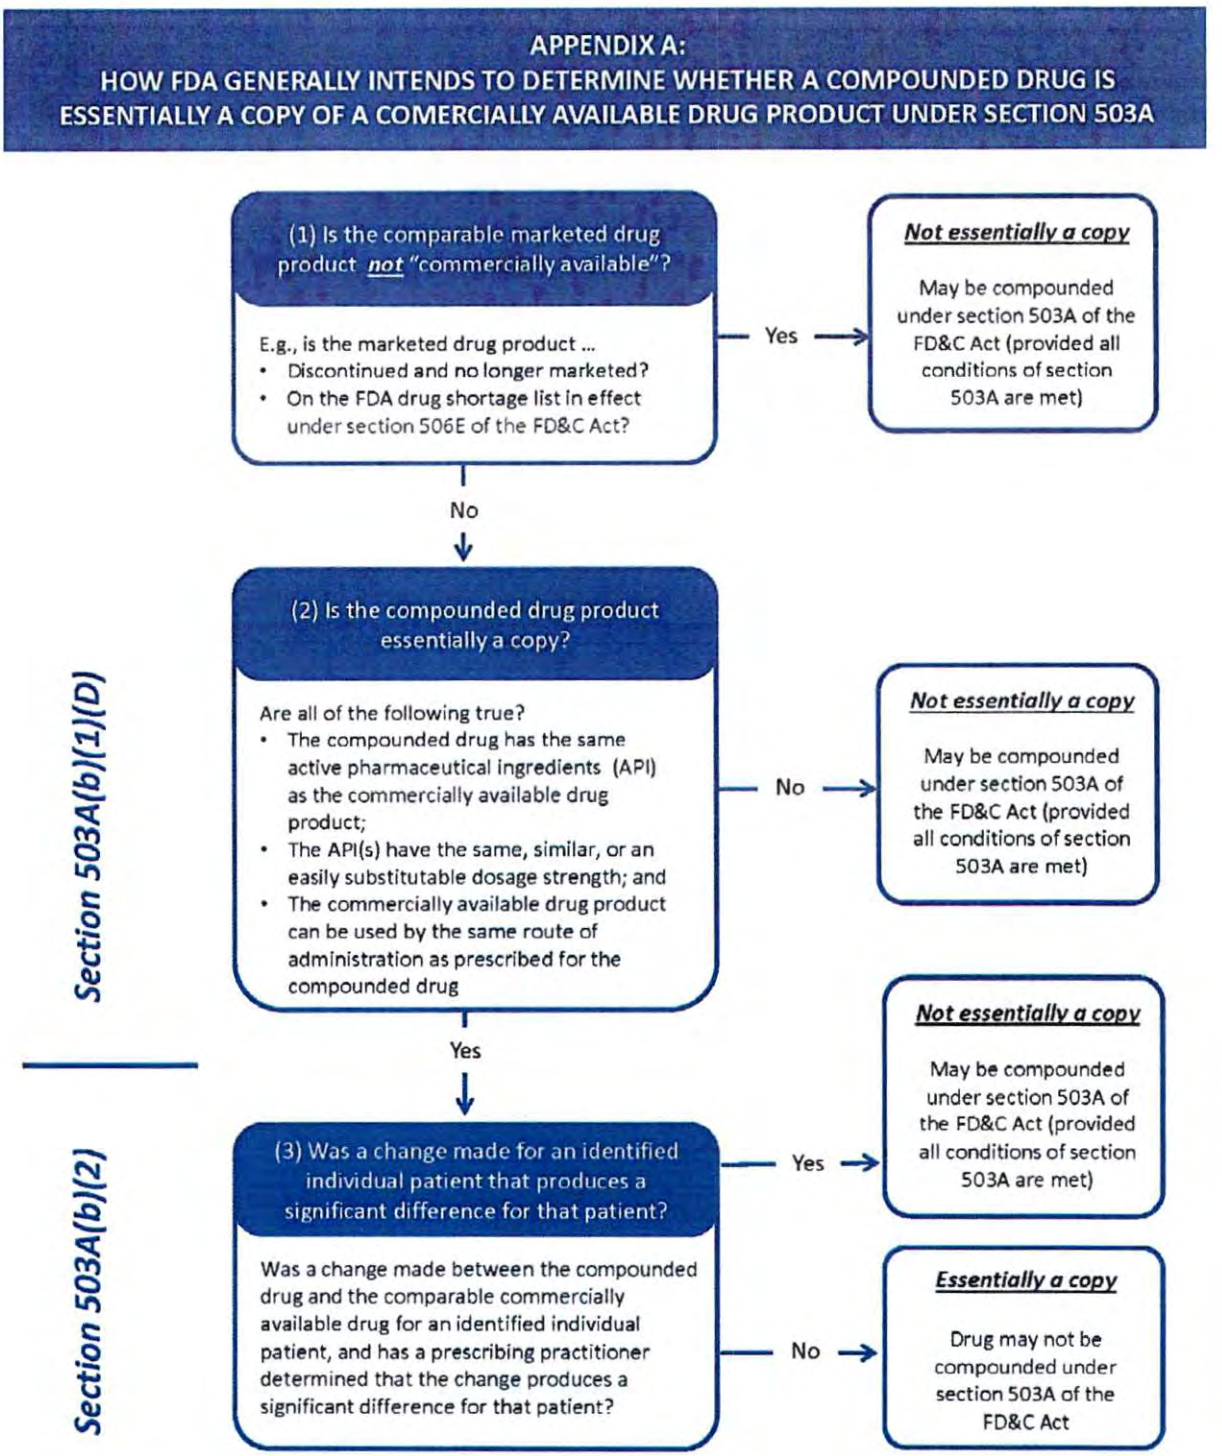
APPENDIX A.



APPENDIX A:
HOW FDA GENERALLY INTENDS TO DETERMINE WHETHER A COMPOUNDED DRUG IS ESSENTIALLY A COPY OF A COMERCIALLY AVAILABLE DRUG PRODUCT UNDER SECTION 503A
(1) Is the comparable marketed drug product not "commercially available"?
E.g., is the marketed drug product ...
• Discontinued and no longer marketed?
• On the FDA drug shortage list in effect under section 506E of the FD&C Act?
Yes
Not essentially a copy
May be compounded under section 503A of the FD&C Act (provided all conditions of section 503A are met)
No
Section 503A(b)(1)(D)
(2) Is the compounded drug product essentially a copy?
Are all of the following true?
• The compounded drug has the same active pharmaceutical ingredients (API) as the commercially available drug product;
• The API(s) have the same, similar, or an easily substitutable dosage strength; and
• The commercially available drug product can be used by the same route of administration as prescribed for the compounded drug
No
Not essentially a copy
May be compounded under section 503A of the FD&C Act (provided all conditions of section 503A are met)
Yes
Section 503A(b)(2)
(3) Was a change made for an identified individual patient that produces a significant difference for that patient?
Was a change made between the compounded drug and the comparable commercially available drug for an identified individual patient, and has a prescribing practitioner determined that the change produces a significant difference for that patient?
Yes
Not essentially a copy
May be compounded under section 503A of the FD&C Act (provided all conditions of section 503A are met)
No
Essentially a copy
Drug may not be compounded under section 503A of the FD&C Act

RE: Empower Pharmacy, License #26444
Complaint #2019-00426

The Texas State Board of Pharmacy (Board) received a copy of the Agreed Findings of Fact, Conclusions of Law and Final Order of the Oklahoma State Board of Pharmacy entered June 13, 2018, which imposed a non-disciplinary deferral of probation against the license and a $37,200 fine. The Order of the Oklahoma State Board of Pharmacy references allegations the pharmacy compounded commercially available medication and medication that was essentially a copy of a commercially available product. This violation is addressed in Section 565.002(a)(3) of the Texas Pharmacy Act, Tex. Occ. Code Ann., Title 3, Subtitle J; and Section 291.133(d)(1)(C) and (D) of the Texas Pharmacy Board Rules, 22. Tex. Admin. Code.

Following Board staff's review of this matter, this complaint was closed with this letter specifically notifying you of applicable Texas pharmacy law and rules. A copy of the referenced pharmacy laws and rules are attached for your review. Board staff encourages you to develop and implement policies and procedures to ensure compliance with pharmacy compounding requirements. If additional information indicates you may have violated Texas laws, the laws of another state, or the United States, you may be subject to further review and action by the Board.

A reply to this letter is not required. If you choose to reply, please include the complaint number listed above in your written reply.

Compounded Drug Products That Are Essentially Copies of a Commercially Available Drug Product Under Section 503A of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act
Guidance for Industry[1]

This guidance represents the current thinking of the Food and Drug Administration (FDA or the Agency) on this topic. It does not create any rights for any person and is not binding on FDA or the public. You can use an alternative approach if the approach satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations. To discuss an alternative approach, contact the FDA office responsible for this guidance as listed in the title page.

I. INTRODUCTION AND SCOPE

To qualify for exemptions under section 503A of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FD&C Act), a drug product must be compounded by a licensed pharmacist or physician who does not compound regularly or in inordinate amounts any drug products that are essentially copies of a commercially available drug product, among other conditions. This guidance sets forth FDA's policies regarding this provision of section 503A, including the terms commercially available, essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product, and regularly or in inordinate amounts.[2]

In general, FDA's guidance documents do not establish legally enforceable responsibilities. Instead, guidances describe the Agency's current thinking on a topic and should be viewed only as recommendations, unless specific regulatory or statutory requirements are cited. The use of the word should in Agency guidances means that something is suggested or recommended, but not required.

II. BACKGROUND

A. Section 503A of the FD&C Act

Section 503A, added to the FD&C Act by the Food and Drug Administration Modernization Act of 1997 and amended by the Drug Quality and Security Act in 2013, describes the conditions that must be satisfied for human drug products compounded by a licensed pharmacist in a State-licensed pharmacy or Federal facility, or by a licensed physician, to qualify for exemptions from the following three sections of the FD&C Act:[3]

- Section 501(a)(2)(B) (concerning current good manufacturing practice (CGMP) requirements)
- Section 502(f)(1) (concerning the labeling of drugs with adequate directions for use)
- Section 505 (concerning the approval of drugs under new drug applications (NDAs) or abbreviated new drug applications (ANDAs))

One of the conditions that must be met for a compounded drug product to qualify for the exemptions under section 503A of the FD&C Act is that it must be compounded by a licensed pharmacist or a licensed physician that "does not compound regularly or in inordinate amounts (as defined by the Secretary) any drug products that are essentially copies of a commercially available drug product."[4]

The statute further states that "the term 'essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product' does not include a drug product in which there is a change, made for an identified individual patient, which produces for that patient a significant difference, as determined by the prescribing practitioner, between the compounded drug and the comparable commercially available drug."[5]

A complete list of the conditions that must be met for a compounded drug product to qualify for the exemptions in section 503A appears in the FDA guidance, Pharmacy Compounding of Human Drug Products Under Section 503A of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

B. Compounding, Generally

Compounded drug products serve an important role for patients whose clinical needs cannot be met by an FDA-approved drug product, such as a patient who has an allergy and needs a medication to be made without a certain dye, an elderly patient who cannot swallow a pill and needs a medicine in a liquid form that is not otherwise available, or a child who needs a drug in a strength that is lower than that of the commercially available product. Drug products for identified individual patients can be compounded by licensed pharmacists in state-licensed

[3] In addition, under section 581(13) of the FD&C Act, the term "product," for purposes of pharmaceutical supply chain security requirements, does not include a drug compounded in compliance with section 503A.

[4] See section 503A(b)(1)(D).

[5] See section 503A(b)(2).

pharmacies and Federal facilities and by licensed physicians operating under section 503A of the FD&C Act. Drug products can also be compounded by outsourcing facilities under section 503B of the FD&C Act for identified individual patients pursuant to prescriptions or for distribution to health care practitioners without first receiving a prescription.[6] Both sections 503A and 503B restrict compounding drug products that are essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product (section 503A) or an approved drug product (section 503B).

C. Risks Associated with Compounded Drug Products

Although compounded drugs can serve an important need, they can also pose a higher risk to patients than FDA-approved drugs. Compounded drug products are not FDA-approved, which means they have not undergone FDA premarket review for safety, effectiveness, and quality. In addition, licensed pharmacists and licensed physicians who compound drug products in accordance with section 503A are not required to comply with CGMP requirements. Furthermore, FDA does not interact with the vast majority of licensed pharmacists and licensed physicians who compound drug products and seek to qualify for the exemptions under section 503A of the FD&C Act for the drug products that they compound because these compounders are not licensed by FDA and generally do not register their compounding facilities with FDA. Therefore, FDA is often not aware of potential problems with their compounded drug products or compounding practices unless it receives a complaint, such as a report of a serious adverse event or visible contamination.

FDA has investigated numerous serious adverse events associated with compounded drug products that were contaminated or otherwise compounded improperly, including the adverse events associated with the 2012 fungal meningitis outbreak in which contaminated injectable drug products resulted in more than 60 deaths and 750 cases of infection. FDA has also identified many pharmacies that compounded drug products under insanitary conditions such that the drug products may have been contaminated with filth or rendered injurious to health and that shipped the compounded drug products made under these conditions to patients and health care practitioners across the country, sometimes in large amounts.

D. Compounded Drugs That Are Essentially Copies of Commercially Available Drug Products

Section 503A provides exemptions from new drug approval, labeling with adequate directions for use, and CGMP requirements of the FD&C Act, so that drug products can be compounded as customized therapies for identified individual patients whose medical needs cannot be met by commercially available drug products. The restrictions on making drugs that are essentially copies ensure that pharmacists and physicians do not compound drug products under the exemptions for patients who could use a commercially available drug product. Such a practice would create significant public health risks because patients would be unnecessarily exposed to drug products that have not been shown to be safe and effective and that may have been prepared under substandard manufacturing conditions. FDA has investigated serious adverse events in patients who received contaminated compounded drugs when a comparable approved drug, made in a facility subject to CGMP requirements, was available.

In addition to these immediate public health risks, section 503A's limitations on producing a drug product that is essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product protects the integrity and effectiveness of the new drug and abbreviated new drug approval processes that Congress put in place to protect patients from unsafe, ineffective, or poor quality drugs. Furthermore, sponsors may be less likely to invest in and seek approval of innovative, life-saving medications if a compounder could, after a drug is approved, compound "substitutes" that may be less expensive because they have not had to demonstrate safety and effectiveness and are not produced in accordance with CGMP requirements or labeled with adequate directions for use.

Sponsors might also be less likely to seek approval of an ANDA for a generic drug if compounders were permitted to compound drugs that are essentially copies of commercially available drugs without going through the ANDA process. An ANDA must include data to demonstrate that the drug has the same active ingredient and is bioequivalent to an approved drug. FDA also conducts premarketing inspections of proposed manufacturing facilities.

The copies restriction also protects FDA's drug monograph process. FDA has an ongoing process for evaluating the safety and effectiveness of certain over-the-counter (OTC) medications, and if the Agency determines that an OTC drug meets certain conditions and is generally recognized as safe and effective, it will publish a final monograph specifying those conditions. Products that comply with a final monograph may be marketed, but manufacturers are required to meet CGMP standards. Restrictions in section 503A prevent compounders from producing drugs without having to comply with monograph standards, or CGMP requirements.

III. POLICY

As stated above, to qualify for the exemptions under section 503A of the FD&C Act, a drug must be compounded by a licensed pharmacist or a licensed physician that does not compound regularly or in inordinate amounts (as defined by the Secretary) any drug products that are essentially copies of a commercially available drug product.[7] This means that a compounded drug product is not eligible for the exemptions in section 503A if it is (1) essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product, and (2) compounded regularly or in inordinate amounts. Accordingly, and as discussed below, when evaluating whether a drug product meets the condition in section 503A regarding essentially copies, FDA intends to determine whether a compounded drug product is essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product: if it is, FDA intends to determine whether the drug product was compounded regularly or in inordinate amounts.[8]

[7] See section 503A(b)(1)(D).

[8] FDA is considering the applicability of the policies described in this guidance to hospitals and health systems and intends to address these issues in separate guidance or rulemaking. FDA regards a health system as collection of hospitals that are owned and operated by the same entity and that share access to databases with drug order information for their patients. There is no definition of "health system" that applies to all sections of the FD&C Act.

FDA's policies with regard to the terms (1) commercially available drug product, (2) essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product, and (3) regularly or in inordinate amounts, are as follows:

A. Commercially Available Drug Product

For purposes of this guidance, a drug product is commercially available if it is a marketed drug product.

We do not consider a drug product to be commercially available if

- the drug product has been discontinued and is no longer marketed[9] or
- the drug product appears on the FDA drug shortage list in effect under section 506E of the FD&C Act.[10] A drug "appears on the drug shortage list in effect under section 506E" if the drug is in "currently in shortage" status (and not in "resolved" status) in FDA's drug shortage database.

Commercially available drugs are available on the market, and they are generally subject to FD&C Act requirements relating to approval, labeling, and CGMP requirements, and the copies restriction applies to all such drugs because section 503A is not intended to provide a means for compounders to produce compounded drugs exempt from the Act's requirements that are essentially copies of commercially available drug products.

B. Essentially a Copy of a Commercially Available Drug Product

1. What is Essentially a Copy?

FDA intends to consider a compounded drug product to be essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product if:

- the compounded drug product has the same active pharmaceutical ingredient(s) (API) as the commercially available drug product;
- the API(s) have the same, similar, or an easily substitutable dosage strength; and

However, this is the definition of a "health system" used in section 506F of the Act concerning hospital repackaging of drugs in shortage.

[9] FDA maintains a list of approved drug products that sponsors have indicated are not marketed in the discontinued section of the list of Approved Drug Products with Therapeutic Equivalence Evaluations (Orange Book). See http://www.accessdata.fda.gov/scripts/cder/ob/default.cfm. Specifically, the list includes approved drug products that have never been marketed, are for exportation, are for military use, have been discontinued from marketing and we have not determined were withdrawn for safety or effectiveness reasons, or have had their approvals withdrawn for reasons other than safety or effectiveness subsequent to being discontinued from marketing.

[10] See http://www.accessdata.fda.gov/scripts/drugshortages/default.cfm.

- the commercially available drug product can be used by the same route of administration as prescribed for the compounded drug,

The limitations in section 503A(b)(1)(D) apply to the compounding of drug products that are essentially copies of a commercially available drug product – not only to drugs that are exact copies or even to drugs that are nearly identical. This is to ensure that compounders do not evade the limits in this section by making relatively small changes to a compounded drug product and then offering the drug to the general public without regard to whether a prescribing practitioner has determined that the change produces for the patient a significant difference. For example, Congress contemplated that a compounded drug may be essentially a copy of a commercially available drug if "minor changes in strength (such as from .08% to .09%) are made that are not known to be significant . . ." for the patient for whom the drug was prescribed.[11]

With regard to the characteristics listed above, an API is the substance in a drug product that is intended to furnish pharmacological activity or other direct effect in the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease or to affect the structure or function of the body.[12] When a compounded drug product offers the same API as a commercially available drug product, in the same, similar, or easily substitutable dosage strength and for use through the same route of administration, we generally intend to consider such a drug product essentially a copy, unless a prescriber determines that there is a change, made for an identified individual patient, that will produce a significant difference for that patient.

We recognize that, for some patients, a drug product that has the same API, strength, and route of administration may include a change that produces a significant difference for a particular patient. For example, a drug product compounded without a particular inactive ingredient may produce a significant difference for a patient who has an allergy to the inactive ingredient in the commercially available drug product. However, for other patients, this change may produce no difference at all. Congress did not intend for compounders to use, for example, the fact that some patients may have allergies as a basis to compound a drug without the inactive ingredient for other patients who do not have the allergy under the exemptions in section 503A (i.e., without meeting requirements for premarket approval, labeling with adequate directions for use, or

[11] U.S. House. Food and Drug Administration Modernization Act of 1997, Conference Report (to Accompany S. 830). (105 H. Rpt. 399).

[12] Section 503A refers to bulk drug substances. A bulk drug substance is defined as any substance that is intended for incorporation into a finished drug product and is intended to furnish pharmacological activity or other direct effect in the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease, or to affect the structure or any function of the body. It does not include intermediates used in the synthesis of the substance. This definition is the same as the definition of active pharmaceutical ingredient. See 21 CFR 207.1, 207.3.

CGMP requirements).[13] In the context of compounding and consistent with the statute, we generally intend to consider such a drug essentially a copy unless a prescriber determines that there is a change that will produce a significant difference for the patient for whom it is prescribed.

b. Same, Similar or Easily Substitutable Strength

FDA generally intends to consider two drugs to have a similar dosage strength if the dosage strength of the compounded drug is within 10% of the dosage strength of the commercially available drug product.

With regard to the concept of easily substitutable strength, in some cases, the same or similar dosage strength can be achieved by administration of fractional or multiple doses of a drug product. For example, if FDA-approved Drug X tablets have a dosage strength of 25 mg and a patient needs 50 mg of Drug X, FDA would generally consider a compounded Drug X 50 mg tablet to have an easily substitutable strength because the patient could take two Drug X 25 mg tablets to achieve the required dose.[14]

c. Same Route of Administration

Route of administration is a way of administering a drug to a site in a patient (e.g., topical, intravenous, oral).[15] In general, FDA does not intend to consider a compounded drug product with the same API and similar or easily substitutable strength to be essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product if the compounded drug product and the commercially available drug product have different routes of administration (e.g., if the commercially available drug product is oral and the compounded drug product is topical). However, if the compounded drug product has the same API and similar or easily substitutable strength as the commercially available drug product and the commercially available drug product can be used (regardless of how it is labeled) by the route of administration prescribed for the compounded drug, FDA generally intends to consider the compounded drug to be essentially a copy of the commercially available drug. In this case, the compounded drug product generally would not produce a significant difference for an identified individual patient relative to the commercially available drug product.

For example, if the commercially available drug is an injectable drug sold in a vial that is labeled for intra-muscular use, but the drug also can be drawn from the vial by a smaller needle for subcutaneous administration, a compounded drug product with the same API and similar or

[13] See note 11.

[14] If a commercially available tablet must be split to achieve the prescribed dosage strength, and such tablet is not suitable for splitting, FDA would not consider the compounded drug made to the prescribed dosage strength to have an easily substitutable strength. For example, some tablets may be too small or crumble too easily when split, making splitting an inappropriate option. Information regarding tablet splitting may be printed in the "HOW SUPPLIED" section of the professional label insert and in the patient package insert of an approved drug product.

easily substitutable strength prescribed for sub-cutaneous administration would generally be considered to be essentially a copy, unless the prescriber documents on the prescription that the compounded drug product produces a significant difference for the identified individual patient.

d. Same Characteristics as Two or More Commercially Available Drug Products

FDA intends to consider a compounded drug product to be essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product if the compounded drug product contains the same APIs as two or more commercially available drug products in the same, similar, or easily substitutable strength and if the commercially available drug products can be used (regardless of how they are labeled) by the same route of administration prescribed for the compounded drug, unless there is documentation as described in section III.B.2. Such drug products present the same kinds of concerns as drug products that have a single API and in some respects may be more dangerous because of the potential for unintended drug interactions or formulation issues. For example, if drug X and drug Y are commercially available oral drug products, FDA generally intends to consider a compounded oral drug product that combines drug X and drug Y in strengths that are within 10% of the strengths of the respective commercially available products to be essentially a copy of the commercially available drug product, unless a prescriber determination of a significant difference has been documented.

2. Statement of Significant Difference

Pursuant to section 503A(b)(2) of the FD&C Act, a compounded drug product is not essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product if a change is made for an identified individual patient, and the prescribing practitioner has determined that the change will produce a significant difference for that patient. If a compounder intends to rely on such a determination to establish that a compounded drug is not essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product, the compounder should ensure that the determination is documented on the prescription.

FDA does not believe that a particular format is needed to document the determination, provided that the prescription makes clear that the prescriber identified the relevant change and the significant difference that the change will produce for the patient. For example, the following would be sufficient:

- "No Dye X, patient allergy" (if the comparable drug contains the dye)
- "Liquid form, patient can't swallow tablet" (if the comparable drug is a tablet)
- "6 mg, patient needs higher dose" (if the comparable drug is only available in 5 mg dose)

However, if a prescription identifies only a patient name and drug product formulation, this would not be sufficient to establish that the prescriber made the determination described by section 503A(b)(2). Note also that the significant benefit that the prescriber identifies must be produced by the change the compounder will make to a commercially available drug product (i.e., a change in drug product formulation). Other factors, such as a lower price, are not sufficient to establish that the compounded drug product is not essentially a copy of the commercially available drug product.[16]

If a prescription does not make clear that the prescriber made the determination required by section 503A(b)(2), or a compounded drug is substituted for the commercially available drug product, the compounder can contact the prescriber and if the prescriber confirms it, make a notation on the prescription that the compounded drug product contains a change that makes a significant difference for the patient. The notations should be as specific as those described above, and the date of the conversation with the prescriber should be included on the prescription.[17]

It is not possible to offer exhaustive guidance about when a difference will be "significant" to an identified individual patient. At this time, FDA generally does not intend to question prescriber determinations that are documented in a prescription or notation. However, we do intend to consider whether a prescription or notation relied upon by a compounder to establish that a drug is not essentially a copy documents that the determination was made.

If the compounder produces drugs in anticipation of receiving valid prescriptions for identified individual patients, and the compounder obtains the statement of significant difference from the prescriber when it receives the prescription for the compounded drug, prior to distribution, FDA does not intend to consider the compounded drug that is then distributed to be essentially a copy.

3. Documentation of Shortage

If the drug was compounded because the approved drug product was not commercially available because it was on the FDA drug shortage list, the prescriber or compounder should include a notation on the prescription that it was on the drug shortage list and the date the list was checked.[18]

4. Regularly or in Inordinate Amounts

A drug product is not eligible for the exemptions in section 503A if it is prepared by a pharmacist or physician who compounds "regularly or in inordinate amounts (as defined by the Secretary)" any drug products that are essentially copies of a commercially available drug

[16] Congress noted that "where it is readily apparent, based on the circumstances, that the 'significant difference' is a mere pretext to allow compounding of products that are essentially copies of commercially available products, such compounding would be considered copying of commercially available products and would not qualify for the compounding exemptions if it is done regularly or in inordinate amounts. Such circumstances may include, for example, instances in which minor changes in strength (such as from .08% to .09%) are made that are not known to be significant or instances in which the prescribing physician is receiving financial remuneration or other financial incentives to write prescriptions for compounded products." See the U.S. House. Food and Drug Administration Modernization Act of 1997, Conference Report (to Accompany S. 830). (105 H. Rpt. 399).

[18] See section IV of this guidance.

product.[19] FDA interprets this to mean that, in order to be compounded in accordance with section 503A, a drug product that is essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product cannot be compounded regularly – i.e., it cannot be compounded at regular times or intervals, usually, or very often. Nor can the amounts compounded be inordinate, in light of the purpose of section 503A.

Section 503A is intended to protect patients from the public health risks of providing compounded drugs to patients whose medical needs could be met by commercially available drug products and to protect the integrity and efficiency of the drug approval process. Under the statutory scheme, only very rarely should a compounded drug product that is essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product be offered to a patient. We conclude, therefore, that a drug product that is essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product is compounded regularly or in inordinate amounts if it is compounded more frequently than needed to address unanticipated, emergency circumstances, or in more than the small quantities needed to address unanticipated, emergency circumstances.

It is important to note that the regularly or in inordinate amounts provision is not implicated if the compounded drug is not essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product. For example, a compounded drug product that has the same API, dosage strength, and route of administration as a drug product on FDA's shortage list would not be considered essentially a copy of a commercially available drug because a drug product is not considered commercially available if it is on FDA's drug shortage list. In addition, a compounded drug product is not essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product if a prescriber has determined that the compounded drug has a change that produces a significant difference for a patient.
Once it has been determined that a compounded drug is essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product as described above, the following are examples of factors that may be the basis for concluding that it has been compounded regularly or in inordinate amounts:

- The compounded drug product amounts to more than a small number of prescriptions or a small percentage of the compounded drug products that a compounder prepares.
- The compounder routinely substitutes compounded drugs that are essentially copies of commercially available drugs upon receiving prescriptions for patients.
- The compounder offers pre-printed prescription pads that a prescriber can use to write a prescription for the drug product that is essentially a copy without making a determination that there is a change that will produce a significant difference for a patient.
- The compounded drug product is not compounded on an as-needed basis, but on a routine or pre-set schedule.

The foregoing list is not intended to be exhaustive. Other factors may be appropriate for consideration in a particular case.

To focus enforcement on the most significant cases, as a matter of policy, at this time FDA does not intend to take action against a compounder for compounding a drug product that is essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product regularly or in inordinate amounts if the compounder fills four or fewer prescriptions for the relevant compounded drug product in a calendar month.[20] As noted above, a compounded drug product is not essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product if a prescriber has determined that the compounded drug has a change that produces a significant difference for a patient; thus, a prescription that documents such a prescriber determination would not be counted towards the four prescriptions.

Compounders may produce a limited amount of drugs in anticipation of receiving valid prescriptions for identified individual patients. See section 503A(a)(2). FDA generally intends to consider whether such drugs are essentially a copy at the time the drug is distributed rather than the time it is produced.

5. Recordkeeping

A licensed pharmacist or physician seeking to compound a drug product under section 503A should maintain records to demonstrate compliance with section 503A(b)(1)(D). For example, records should be kept of notations on prescriptions for identified individual patients that a prescriber has determined that the compounded drug has a change that produces a significant difference for the identified patient.

Compounders under section 503A should also maintain records of the frequency in which they have compounded drug products that are essentially copies of commercially available drug products and the number of prescriptions that they have filled for compounded drug products that are essentially copies of commercially available drug products to document that such compounding has not been done regularly or in inordinate amounts.[21]

FDA recommends that compounders maintain the records described above for a period of at least three years.

IV. PAPERWORK REDUCTION ACT

This guidance contains information collection provisions that are subject to review by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3501-3520). See footnotes 17, 18, and 21. These provisions require review and are not in effect until they display a currently valid OMB control number. The information collection provisions in this guidance have been submitted to OMB for review as required by section 3507(d) of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995. FDA will publish a notice in the Federal Register announcing OMB's decision regarding the information collection provisions in this guidance.

[20] For purposes of this policy, FDA intends to consider each refill of a prescription as an additional prescription.

Re: Form FDA 483 - Inspectional Observations Issued 03/06/2020

To Whom It May Concern:

This letter is in response to the Form FDA 483 – Inspectional Observations issued on March 6, 2020 at Empower Clinic Services, LLC (the Company) located at 5980 W Sam Houston Parkway N, Suite 300, Houston, TX 77041. See Attachment # 1 for a copy of the issued Form FDA 483.

We appreciate the investigator's time in conducting a comprehensive cGMP audit of our facility over a four-week period (13 days) and welcome the opportunity to respond to the listed findings. The Company is committed to quality and regulatory compliance, taking its responsibility as a manufacturer of compounded products very seriously.

We have evaluated the issued observations and the following response reflects our current business practices and steps we will take to address FDA's observations, as applicable. This response also contains content provided to the investigator's questions during the inspection but was not included within the cited observation(s).

Respectfully,

Shaun Noorian
Founder & CEO

BUILDING AND FACILITIES
Observation # 1

Aseptic processing areas are deficient regarding the system for monitoring environmental conditions.

Specifically, your firm's procedure, T06.04 Lighthouse Environmental Monitoring System, Revision 02, requires that operators document differential pressure, relative humidity, and temperature monitoring before and during sterile drug production. Your procedure fails to require the recording and/or documentation of these results as part of your firm batch record. The Sterile Temperature, Pressure, and Humidity Monitoring Logs dated 2/4/2019 through 2/28/2020 demonstrated that your firm did not always document the differential pressure, relative humidity, and temperature before and during drug production in each ISO classified area. You failed to maintain adequate environmental controls during sterile drug production.

Response to Observation # 1

This observation corresponds to 21 CFR § 211.42(c)(10)(iv) regarding Environmental Monitoring Systems:

> "(10) Aseptic processing, which includes as appropriate... (iv) A system for monitoring environmental conditions."

Per FDA's updated guidance released January 2020 titled, "Current Good Manufacturing Practice – Guidance for Human Drug Compounding Outsourcing Facilities Under Section 503B of the FD&C Act," lines 319 – 322:

> "An adequate control system includes monitoring for pressure differentials, humidity, and temperature during production and taking prompt action to correct adverse conditions, which are necessary activities to prevent contamination during aseptic processing."

As indicated in the observation and discussed during the inspection, the Company utilizes the Lighthouse Environmental Monitoring System as a measure to maintain adequate environmental controls before and during sterile drug production.

Per SOP T06.04, under the Introduction and Scope section:

> The Lighthouse Monitoring system is a real-time recording system that measures temperature, pressure, humidity, and non-viable particulates in real-time in the cleanroom, non-sterile compounding area, and drug storage areas. All the data is saved, and it is centrally connected to a designated Lighthouse Server.

This system is monitored by the Company's Facilities and Engineering team and reviewed by the Company's Quality Unit to ensure readings align with those documented on the Company's Sterile Temperature, Pressure, and Humidity Monitoring Log. During the inspection, examples of the pressure differential readings taken during production were provided to the investigator for review per his request. The examples were shown to be all within specification and had no issues; thus demonstrating the Company maintains "adequate environmental controls during sterile drug production."

With regards to the Sterile Temperature, Pressure, and Humidity Monitoring Log, this log serves as the primary method in which operators document the environmental factors and note any immediate issue within their designated area(s); however, neither this log information nor the data from Lighthouse were ever required to be included within the batch record, but instead be readily available for reference purposes only.

To address this observation, however, we have re-evaluated the requirements in our SOPs addressing the contents of batch records and made the decision to revise batch records to include the environmental factors before and during compounding, as well as revise SOP T06.04 to specify how to document and incorporate the data captured by Lighthouse before and during compounding operations within the batch record.

See Attachment # 2 for a copy of the revised SOP titled, "T06.04 Lighthouse Environmental Monitoring System."

See Attachment # 3 for a copy of the revised batch record that includes the environmental factors to be recorded before, during, and immediately after filling.

See Attachment # 4 for a copy of a Training Register addressing Observation # 1, with regards to the revised SOP and revised batch record.

PRODUCTION AND PROCESS CONTROL
Observation # 2

Time limits are not established when appropriate for the completion of each production phase to assure the quality of the drug product.

Specifically, your firm failed to establish validated hold-times for sterilized bulk drug products to mitigate the risk of contamination of finished drug products. For example, the table below shows the date production process steps were performed for selected batch records.

Drug Product Description	Lot #	Formulation Date	Sterile Filter Date 1	Sterile Filter Date 2	Fill Date (s)
Leuprolide 10mg/ml	64738	2/11/20	2/12/2020	2/15/2020	2/15/20
Glycine 50mg/ml	64619	2/10/20	2/10/20	2/14/20	2/14/20
Testosterone Cyp. In GSO (5 ml) 200 mg/ml Injectable	64579	2/11/20	2/11/20	2/14/20	2/14/20 & 2/15/20
Testosterone Cyp. In GSO (5 ml) 50 mg/ml Injectable	56796	8/21/19	8/21/19	8/28/19	8/28/19
Pyridoxine HCL (Vit B6) (30 ml) 100 mg/mL Injectable	62303	12/23/19	12/23/19	1/7/20	1/7/20

Your firm's management reported the firm has not estoblished a written hold-time procedure.

Response to Observation # 2

This observation directly corresponds to the first part of 21 CFR § 211.111, which states,

> When appropriate, time limits for the completion of each phase of production shall be established to assure the quality of the drug product.

Based on our current process, sterilization is immediately conducted via a continuous process, specifically with a filtration step before filling into the final product container (as seen in the table above). Since this step occurs as close to filling into the final product container as is feasible, the Company determined that establishing time limits and hold times is "not appropriate" or necessary for this phase of production.

In addition, the Company also determined that it was "not appropriate" to establish time limits (or hold times) for the first filtration step since documented historical data and analytical test results for each of the finished products' specifications regarding potency, endotoxin, and sterility (which are performed for each lot produced) have shown repeatedly to fall well within their respective acceptable tolerances and specifications, thereby validating sterility assurance of the finished product.

Regardless, to address this observation, we will develop a procedure to establish storage (or hold) times for the relevant intermediate steps by validating our first filtration step to further assure control of the microbiological content (bioburden) articles and components that are to be subsequently sterilized.

See Attachment # 5 for a copy of the new protocol establishing in-process time limits (hold times) for relevant intermediate steps during compounding operations.

QUALITY
Observation # 3

The responsibilities and procedures applicable to the quality control unit are not in writing and fully followed.

Specifically, your firm failed to adequately write and fully follow the following procedures applicable to your firm's quality unit:

A. Your firm failed to adequately implement your firm's change control procedure, T01.05 Good Documentation Practices, Revision 03 for changes made to approved protocols. For example;
    1. During a review of your firm's performance qualification report, PennTech Vial Washer, Model RW-250 Performance Qualification Report, Version V 3.0 dated 6/27/2019, I found your firm made changes to the protocol reporting section without initiating a change control and receiving approval to revise the original approved protocol, PennTech Vial Washer, Model RW-250 Performance Qualification Protocol, Version V 3.0 dated 6/27/2019.
    2. During a review of your firm's performance qualification report, PennTech Tunnel Performance Qualification Report, Asset# E1078, Revision V.3 dated November 2019, Approved 11/12/2019, I found your firm made changes to the protocol reporting section without initiating a change control and receiving approval to revise the original approved protocol, PennTech Tunnel Performance Qualification Protocol, Asset# E1078, Revision V.3 dated November 2019, Approved 11/12/2019.

B. Your firm failed to adequately implement your firm's written, procedure T08.19 Investigation of Non-conformance and CAPA Issuance procedure, Revision 03. For example, during a review of your firm's performance qualification report, PennTech Tunnel Performance Qualification Report, Asset# E1078, Revision V.3 dated November 2019, Approved 11/12/2019, I found as a result of investigations into documented deviations, your firm's quality unit made changes to the acceptance criteria documented within the original protocol without obtaining your firm's management approval prior to its implementation and ultimate approval of the performance qualification.

Response to Observation # 3
This observation directly corresponds to 21 CFR § 211.22(d), stating, "The responsibilities and procedures applicable to the quality control unit shall be in writing; such written procedures shall be followed."

The Company's "responsibilities and procedures applicable to the Quality Control Unit" are in writing as illustrated by the standard operating procedures and protocols provided to the investigator during the audit.

Please note that the investigator neither stated nor clearly identified the "changes" he allegedly observed within the protocols listed in both #1 and #2 of Part A of this observation. Based on the conversations with the investigator during the audit, we initiated a CAPA addressing what we understood to be the changes he meant to convey during the audit. However, after evaluating these identified "changes", we understood the adjustments made to the final report to be simple format differences to appropriately manage the results in the reporting section. Please note we understand and believe that formatting to allow for proper results documentation does not warrant a change control. However, as mentioned, to address Part A of the observation, a CAPA was initiated to review and evaluate these adjustments.

With regards to Part B, when a change to a Protocol occurs, a verbal approval is given to deviate from the Protocol template, and the specific changes made are to be appropriately documented using the Protocol's Deviation form. The Company understands and believes based on industry practice that Protocol changes allow for certain minor deviations to occur, which do not fall within the scope of a Company's deviation procedure or change control procedure.

In addition, our review of the attached Protocol shows that the acceptance criteria were not altered or changed, and the deviation from the original protocol was properly documented on the appropriate Deviation Form attached to the Protocol. Since the investigator did not provide any specific examples of the acceptance criteria "changed," and the Company did not find any change in the acceptance criteria, there is no need for change control or non-conformance to be initiated per T08.19.

To address Part B, the Company has re-evaluated our Protocol structure and included a section in the Protocol's Deviation Form requiring approval prior to implementing any change and/or deviation to a Protocol.

See Attachment # 7 for a copy of the CAPA Executive Summary Report addressing Observation # 3, Part A.
See Attachment # 8 for a copy of revised Deviation Form attached to the Protocols addressing Part B
See Attachment # 9 for a copy of a Training Register addressing Observation # 3.

Observation # 4

Your firm compound drugs that are essentially a copy of one or more approved drugs within the meaning of sections 503B(a)(5) and 503B(d)(2).

Specifically, a) you compound drug products that are identical or nearly identical to an approved drug that is not on the drug shortage list in effect under section 506E at the time of compounding, distribution, and dispensing; or b) are not identical or nearly identical to an approved drug, but contain a bulk drug substance that is also a component of an approved drug, and for which there is no change that produces for an individual patient a clinical difference, as determined by the prescribing practitioner, between the compounded drug and the comparable approved drug.

Examples of compounded drug products that ore essentially a copy of one or more approved drugs include:

A. Human Chorionic Gonadotropin
B. Menotropins Injection
C. Leuprolide Acetate Injection

D. Pyridoxine HCL Injection

[The investigator designated this observation to be a repeat observation.]

Response to Observation # 4

This observation directly corresponds to the Guidance for Industry dated January 2018 titled, "Compounded Drug Products That Are Essentially Copies of Approved Drug Products Under Section 503B of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act."

With regards to the observation, in general, the formulations listed above have each been requested for compounding by physicians/providers/purchasing agents based on a clinical need and determination of clinical difference between the commercially available drug product and the compounded formulation.

FDA's Essentially Copies Final Guidance describes this issue as follows:

> If an outsourcing facility compounds a drug, the component of which is a bulk drug substance that is a component of an approved drug, there must be a change that produces a clinical difference for an individual patient as determined by the prescribing practitioner.

Each of the compounded formulations listed above were specifically requested by a prescriber. The Company's clinical team communicates with health care practitioners and/or their purchasing agents to obtain "Clinical Difference Statements" from the prescribers when requesting the compounded products. Empower will modify its documentation practices concerning receiving prescriptions or orders. Empower will ensure that each prescription or order (that may be otherwise considered "essentially a copy") will include a statement of clinical difference from the practitioner. The order will also include a statement or notation that the compounded formulation will be used by the practitioner for those patients with that clinical need.

Empower will further ensure that the documentation "clearly identifies the relevant change and the clinical difference that the change will produce for patient(s), as determined by the prescriber."

Most importantly, contrary to the investigator's observation, this is NOT a "repeat observation." FDA has not made this observation during or after any FDA inspection prior to this inspection.

We kindly request that the statement regarding this observation being a "repeat observation" be removed from this form FDA 483.

See Attachment # 10 for a copy of SOP T03.36 regarding essential copy documentation procedure for 503A products.
See Attachment # 11 for a copy of SOP T08.36 regarding essential copy documentation procedure for 503B products.

Observation # 5

The containers of your outsourcing facility's drug products does not include information required by section 503B(a)(10)(B). Specifically, your containers do not include the following information:

a) Information to facilitate adverse event reporting: www.fda.gov/medwatch and 1-800-FDA-1088; Examples of your container labels that do not contain this information:

3. Testosterone Cypionate 200 mg/ml Injection
4. Testosterone Cypionate 50mg/ml Injection
5. HCG 12000 IU
6. HCG 6000 IU
7. FSH 1500 IU
8. Menotropins (HMG) 500 IU
9. Ascorbic Acid Preserved 500mg/ml
10. Leuprolide Acetate 40MCG/0.2ml
11. Pyridoxine HCL (Vit B6) 100mg/ml
12. BCAA 30ml 15/10/40 MG/ML Injection
13. Taurine 50 mg/ml Injection
14. Omnitrope 5.8mg Injection
15. Glutathione Preserved 200mg/ml Injection

Response to Observation # 5

The Drug Quality and Security Act, Title I (2013), specifically Section 503B(a)10(B)(ii), states, "B) Container.-- The container from which the individual units of the drug are removed for dispensing or for administration (such as a plastic bag containing individual product syringes) shall include ... the following information to facilitate adverse event reporting: www.fda.gov/medwatch and 1-800-FDA-1088 (or any successor Internet Web site or phone number)."

As explained during the inspection, due to the limited space on the primary packaging, we included the information to facilitate adverse event reporting on the finished product's secondary packaging and/or an insert included within the finished product's primary packaging.

However, to address this observation, the Company has completed a change control to place the necessary information onto the primary packaging, which now includes the required adverse event reporting contact information.

NOTE: It is important to highlight that in the observation, the product listed as # 14 is NOT compounded by our facility. This is an FDA-approved drug product, Omnitrope® (somatropin) injection, that is dispensed directly to a patient based on a patient-specific prescription.

See Attachment # 12 for a copy of an example of the revised product label for Glutathione Injection Preserved 200 mg/mL.

Observation # 6

Your outsourcing facility has not submitted adverse event reports in 2019 FDA in accordance with the content and format requirements established through guidance (AE Reporting Guidance) or regulation under section 310.305 of 21 CFR.

Response to Observation # 6

This observation directly corresponds to the industry guidance document titled, "Adverse Event Reporting for Outsourcing Facilities Under Section 503B of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act."

The guidance specifically states, "The regulation requires reporting of each adverse drug experience received or otherwise obtained that is both serious and unexpected...."

Per the guidance, "Section 310.305(b) defines a serious adverse drug experience to mean:
Any adverse drug experience occurring at any dose that results in any of the following outcomes:

- Death,
- A life-threatening adverse drug experience,
- Inpatient hospitalization or prolongation of existing hospitalization,
- A persistent or significant disability/incapacity, or
- A congenital anomaly/birth defect."

The Company is not aware of any claim and/or adverse event resulting from use of Empower's compounded formulations that would qualify as "serious and unexpected" and thus would require reporting to FDA pursuant to the guidance (AE Reporting Guidance) or regulation under 21 C.F.R. § 310.305.

This observation also fails to provide any specific examples or provide any indication that the Agency itself had received, or was aware of, any such complaint or adverse event that meets the definition of a reportable adverse drug event."

The Company is well aware of its reporting obligations, and is fully prepared to report any adverse event (as defined by applicable guidance) to FDA: specifically, "all serious [and] unexpected adverse drug experiences associated with the use of their prescription drug products (which includes any compounded drug products subject to the prescription requirements in section 503(b)(1) of the FD&C Act)."

Should the Company receive notice of or otherwise discover a serious and unexpected adverse event, the Company has a SOP outlining steps to be taken to address the situation. This SOP, titled, "T08.13 Variance Reporting and Investigation," was provided to the investigator for review.

Specifically, the Procedure (Section 5) states, "If a Serious and Unexpected ADE is discovered the below steps must be followed and reported to the FDA within 15 calendar days of initial report."

For the reasons stated, this observation leaves Empower guessing about exactly what FDA observed concerning Empower's reporting of adverse drug events. Empower has not received any reports whatsoever where it determined the event was in fact "reportable" pursuant to either FDA's guidance or its own SOP. Empower has never received notice of a "serious and unexpected" adverse drug event.

Since FDA's observation cannot and does not address any "event" that the Company in fact failed to report, Empower respectfully requests the Agency withdraw Observation # 6.

We want to again express our sincere appreciation for the opportunity to engage in a dialogue with the Agency concerning compliance with FDA regulations and guidance at Empower's Section 503B outsourcing facility. The Company will continue to work diligently to maintain compliance with FDA's regulations and other guidance provided by the Agency.

Specifically, your firm failed to adequately write and fully follow the following procedures applicable to your firm's quality unit:

A. Your firm failed to adequately implement your firm's change control procedure, T01.05 Good Documentation Practices, Revision 03 for changes made to approved protocols. For example;
   1. During a review of your firm's performance qualification report, PennTech Vial Washer, Model RW-250 Performance Qualification Report, Version V 3.0 dated 6/27/2019, I found your firm made changes to the protocol reporting section without initiating a change control and receiving approval to revise the original approved protocol, PennTech Vial Washer, Model RW-250 Performance Qualification Protocol, Version V 3.0 dated 6/27/2019.
   2. During a review of your firm's performance qualification report, PennTech Tunnel Performance Qualification Report, Asset # E1078, Revision V.3 dated November 2019, Approved 11/12/2019, I found your firm made changes to the protocol reporting section without initiating a change control and receiving approval to revise the original approved protocol, PennTech Tunnel Performance Qualification Protocol, Asset # E1078, Revision V.3 dated November 2019, Approved 11/12/2019.

B. Your firm failed to adequately implement your firm's written, procedure T08.19 Investigation of Non-conformance and CAPA Issuance procedure, Revision 03. For example, during a review of your firm's performance qualification report, PennTech Tunnel Performance Qualification Report, Asset # E1078, Revision V.3 dated November 2019, Approved 11/12/2019, I found as a result of investigations into documented deviations, your firm's quality unit made changes to the acceptance criteria documented within the original protocol without obtaining your firm's management approval prior to its implementation and ultimate approval of the performance qualification.

T06.04 Lighthouse Environmental Monitoring System

INTRODUCTION AND SCOPE

The Lighthouse Monitoring system is a real-time recording system that measures temperature, pressure, humidity, and non-viable particulates in real-time in the cleanroom, non-sterile compounding area, and drug storage areas. All the data is saved and it is centrally connected to a designated Lighthouse Server.

PURPOSE

The Lighthouse Monitoring System congregates selected monitors throughout the pharmacy to monitor that operations are running in a state of control. Data is saved to ensure operating conditions are stored in real-time.

RESPONSIBILITY

Pharmacist-in-Charge (PIC) or designee, Facility Manager, and Quality Assurance Manager.

POLICY

1. Environmental monitoring of critical operations is required by cGMP regulations.
2. The following areas shall be monitored for each type of environmental parameters:
   - 2.1. Cleanroom—before compounding daily (during operational hours)
     - 2.1.1. Temperature
     - 2.1.2. Humidity
     - 2.1.3. Pressure differentials
   - 2.2. Sterile production areas—before compounding daily (during operational hours)
     - 2.2.1. Temperature
     - 2.2.2. Humidity
     - 2.2.3. Pressure differentials
     - 2.2.4. Non-viable particulates
   - 2.3. Non-sterile production areas—before compounding daily (during operational hours)
     - 2.3.1. Temperature
     - 2.3.2. Humidity
     - 2.3.3. Pressure differential (Hazardous room only)
   - 2.4. Drug storage areas—at least once a day
     - 2.4.1. Temperature
     - 2.4.2. Humidity
3. Monitoring that occurs during sterile product compounding shall be documented in the specific product batch record.

4. Warning and alarm limits will be set in the system to alert if the levels are higher or lower than specifications.
5. Calibration of the Lighthouse System will be performed per manufacturer's specifications. Calibration documentation shall be retained.
6. Furniture/Equipment Placement
   6.1. PECs and furniture shall not negatively affect the HVAC system and its ability to deliver required Air Changes per Hour (ACPH).
   6.2. PECs and furniture must be placed away from doors or high traffic areas to avoid disruptions in air flow.
   6.3. Personnel must report any deviations in the monitored areas to the PIC and Facility Manager immediately (i.e. doors not closing completely).

PROCEDURE

1. LMS Operation
   1.1. Open LMS Pharma Configuration ViewStation.
   1.2. Click 'File' and select 'Log on…' to log on with personal username and password. NOTE: Username and password are case sensitive.
   1.3. Select the tab 'Map' under 'Main Facility'.
   1.4. Click the appropriate location within the pharmacy to view.
   1.5. Viewing Panel
      1.5.1. Ensure that under "Time Frame to Display," "Rolling" is selected, which indicates real time monitoring.
         1.5.1.1. To view the monitoring data from a specific date, click on "Rolling" and change it to "Fixed Time." Input the historical date and time to view.
      1.5.2. To analyze trend, left click monitor, select the desired monitor, then click trend.
      1.5.3. Filter out certain parameters by clicking the measurement under 'Data to Display' on the bottom left hand corner of the screen
2. Environmental Monitoring
   2.1. Record cleanroom daily environmental data on T09.06 Sterile Temperature, Pressure, and Humidity Monitoring Log.
   2.2. Record cleanroom environmental data taken before, during, and immediately after aseptic filling operations at discrete points, as listed on the batch record in the appropriate section.

2.3. Record non-sterile compounding environmental data for both the hazardous and non-hazardous rooms on T09.78 Non-Sterile Temperature, Pressure, and Humidity Monitoring Log.

INTRODUCTION AND SCOPE

During manufacture of sterile injectables, products are formulated, pre-filtered into an IV bag, and then final-filtered into their product packaging. Standard processing involves in-process hold times between the pre- and final-filter operations. As stated by CFR 211.111, "when appropriate, time limits for the completion of each phase of production shall be established to assure the quality of the drug product."

The scope of this validation protocol covers sterile injectable products that are subjected to a hold time more than 8 hours and/or not part of a continuous fill process directly into their final container(s). It has been determined that a continuous fill process is completed within one normal shift (8 hours), so it is appropriate to establish a time limit for the completion of this phase of production outside of this range.

Finished products will be grouped based on concentrations and/or common APIs, with the worst-case product selected for testing.

Objective

To establish a maximum in-process time limit (or hold time) that is acceptable and does not allow for microbial proliferation for products that have been formulated and filtered but have not yet been packaged into their final containers.

Materials

- 250 mL pre-sterilized Nalgene bottles

References and Applicable Documents

- 21 CFR 211.110 (a)(6)
- FDA Guidance for Industry—Sterile Drug Products Produced by Aseptic Processing
- USP <61> Microbiological Examination of Nonsterile Products: Microbial Enumeration Tests
- USP <85> Bacterial Endotoxins Test

Definitions

- Time Limit (or Hold time) — The time a product is held in an intermediate phase of production (such as in a container) following the pre-filtration step, but prior to the final filtration step into its final packaging.

POLICY

1. Testing shall be completed for any injectable product which does not have a continuous fill process or has an intermediate phase of production lasting more than 8 hours.
2. For products available in multiple concentrations or with multiple APIs, the highest concentration and/or most APIs shall represent the product family.
3. Bioburden testing per USP <61> and endotoxin testing per USP <85> shall be performed at the initial start of pre-filtration phase of production (referred to as Day 0) and again at the proposed maximum time limit to be established (referred to as the Max Hold Time).
4. Products with proposed max hold time longer than five (5) days shall be tested for bioburden and endotoxin as an intermediate timepoint check to ensure negative results.
5. Any microbial recoveries from the bioburden testing, regardless of CFU count, shall be identified and documented for trending.
6. Once a time limit (max hold time) has been established, any finished product(s) that exceeds the established time limit shall be subject to a full material review to determine approval (continuation to the final filtration and fill step) or rejection (waste and/or destruction).

Acceptance Criteria

1. Bioburden results for all samples taken must not exceed 10 CFU/100 mL product.
2. Endotoxin results must not exceed the product's endotoxin release specification.

PROCEDURE

1. Product will be sampled from regular production lots. The specific batch number being tested must be identified prior to any sampling and documented on Attachment I.
2. Take a sample immediately following the pre-filtration step into the IV bag. Aseptically sample through one of the outlet ports into the 250-mL Nalgene bottle. A minimum of 200 mL must be collected.
   2.1. Label the Nalgene bottle with product name, strength, lot number, date sampled, and personnel initials.
   2.2. Immediately send the sample to the lab to evaluate bioburden and endotoxin.
3. Close the sampling port and hold the product inside of an ISO 5 space.
   3.1. Hold times will be product-specific and documented on Attachment II. Certain product hold times tested will subsequently be applied to similar products, based on concentration, APIs, etc. Justifications for the groupings will be provided in Attachment II. The default maximum hold time tested will be 5 days.
4. After the appropriate time has elapsed, prepare the product for final filtration. Immediately before filtering, repeat the sampling from Step 2.
   4.1. For products that require holding for longer than 5 days, a third, intermediate sampling must be taken in addition to the samples taken following the pre-filtration and prior to the final filtration.

CAPA EXECUTIVE SUMMARY REPORT

OBJECTIVE

To summarize the findings of the Corrective and Preventive Action initiated on the Performance Qualification documents found during the FDA inspectional audit and described in the Form FDA 483 as Observation # 3.

PURPOSE

The purpose of this executive summary report is to outline the results of the open CAPA initiated in response to Observation # 3 Part A of the Form FDA 483 issued on March 6, 2020 and discuss the impact, if any, the changes made to the PennTech tunnel final reports may have had on the overall performance qualifications that were completed for the respective equipment described in the observation.

OVERVIEW

During the closeout meeting with the FDA Consumer Safety Officer (Inspector), it was stated that the firm did not adequately implement a change control to implement changes made to the company's performance qualification reports for the PennTech Vial Washer and PennTech Tunnel Performance protocols. It was discovered that adjustments were made to the attachments between the approved protocol and the submitted test reports.
This was noted in Observation #3 - Part A, #1 and #2.

Current company practices dictate that such performance qualification protocols are submitted to management for approval with a test report template. However, should the results to be reported need additional space, the report may be adjusted (reformatted) to accommodate the documented results. Therefore, so long as no content is changed or acceptance criteria is changed, the final report submitted may be adjusted (or reformatted) to accommodate the data collected. The current process dictates that any content changes made to the original template must be handled through the T09.02 Policy and Procedure Change Request Form.

In addition, the FDA Inspector stated the firm did not receive our firm's management approval prior to changes made to the acceptance criteria documented within the original protocol. Specifically, he was addressing the protocol's Deviation form (not the Company's Deviation process).

After reviewing the PennTech Vial Washer Performance Qualification Protocol and PennTech Tunnel Performance Qualification Protocol, it was found that deviation forms had been used and executed before receiving approval from the appropriate Quality designee, as is stated in SOP T08.19 Investigation of Non-Conformance and CAPA Issuance Procedure, Rev. 03.

INVESTIGATION

A CAPA investigation was initiated to identify instances where the approved protocol and the submitted final reports differed since the FDA Inspector did not sate, describe, nor clearly identify the "changes" he thought he found in the observed protocols of #1 and #2 of Part A. The differences we gathered from the conversation with the inspector during the audit for each protocol are listed below and outlined in Tables 1 and 2:

PennTech Vial Washer, documented deviations:

1. Deviation description: Initial 10 mL vial inspection for chemical residue was inconclusive. Vials appeared to have a faint residue, but results needed to be confirmed with additional testing. All other vials were found to be acceptable and were dispositioned as pass.
   Deviation cause: May have been due to a handling or processing issue. The black light and fluorescence is a visual qualitative test used to detect gross contamination and results may be inconclusive for minute contaminants.
   Corrective action(s) taken: Additional 62 vials were spiked with same concentration and volume used in the initial test. A 1 mg/mL was placed in each vial and allowed to dry for 24 hours. Sixty vials were washed using the 10 ml vial washing cycle. No changes were made to the vial wash cycle. The vials were inspected for the presence of riboflavin fluorescence under black light. Two positive and negative controls were provided to the inspector for comparison standards. All vials passed with no visible signs of chemical remains. The qualification was concluded to have met the acceptance criteria.

PennTech Tunnel, documented deviations:

1. Deviation description: One out of the three biological indicators used for testing the 30 mL vials (specifically the middle indicator) appeared to turn positive.
   Deviation cause: it was determined the indicator that appeared to be positive was caused by human error as the pharmacy technician opened each individual ampoule to inoculate the Biological Indicator with BI media. Considering only one biological indicator (BI) turned positive out of the three runs for the 30 mL vial recipe, and given the sensitivity of the indicators and the fact there were no other positive BIs from any of the other recipe runs, human error seems most likely.
   Corrective action(s) taken: Three separate runs of BIs were completed with 30 mL vials to confirm the cross-contamination. The three runs returned sterile and clear of growth, as shown in the results section. All endotoxin results were within acceptable limits as well, further indicating the sterilization occurring for the 30 mL vials.

2. Deviation description: Particle counts for the locations across the three chambers in the tunnel were documented as a deviation in the Protocol's official Deviation Form, where it was specifically stated only particle counts inside the sterilization chamber were performed since a 3rd party vendor was utilized to certify the entire chamber.
   Deviation cause: The entire tunnel was certified through SLSI prior to releasing the tunnel to operations and did not require counts from the infeed and cooling chambers.
   Corrective action(s) taken: The locations across the three chambers have been re-evaluated and the infeed and cooling chambers have been listed as optional so long as a 3rd party certifies the chamber. This has been determined to the fact that the infeed and cooling chambers particle counts were not affected, as differential pressure is maintained between the chambers.

Table 1: PennTech Vial Washer Protocol formatting adjustments

Location in Final Protocol Report	Adjustment Description	Purpose of Adjustment
p. 14, Chemical Challenge Test Vial Preparation	Spike concentration units changed from "mL" to "mg/mL" for 5-, 10-, and 30-mL tables	Adjustment needed to reflect accurate units for concentration
p. 15, Particle Reduction Test Vial Preparation	Spike concentration units changed from "mL" to "mg/mL" for 5-, 10-, and 30-mL tables	Adjustment needed to reflect accurate units for concentration
Pages 18, 19, and 20 Particle Reduction Test Results	Positive control expected outcome corrected from "≤ 600 particles / vial" to "≥ 600 particles / vial"	Simple typo was discovered and corrected.

Table 2: PennTech Tunnel Performance Protocol formatting adjustments

Location in Final Protocol Report	Adjustment Description	Purpose of Adjustment
p. 15, Attachment I (Page 3 of 3)	Formatting made to table headers with 3 additional entries added to the sensors table	Entries to the table adjusted to accommodate sensors inside the tunnel
p. 16, Attachment II	1. Formatting of Attachment II was split over three pages with check boxes for each entry	Necessary adjustment to clearly present relevant calibration data for different sensor types
	2. Formatting of Calibration certificate number and last calibration date	Not necessary but adds clarity to data logger, thermocouple, incubator, and particle counter tables

EmpoweRx PHARMACY

	3. Formatting to include Tag Number	Adjustment of tag number clarifies the gauge table
p. 19, Attachment V	1. Biological indicator results table reformatted to allow photos to be included	Not necessary but photos help clarify and present supporting data in a manner that is easy to use
	2. Endotoxin results table formatted	Not necessary but clarifies presented data
	3. Formatting adjusted to allow a table to report values for equivalence destruction	Necessary adjustment since this value was specified as an acceptance criteria
p. 20, Deviation Form	Formatting of approval sign-off	Adjusted for clarity and compliance
p. 21, Report Approval	Formatting of submission report	Adjustment of the front page to provide Sign-off visibility

CONCLUSION

After a full and thorough investigation, no change controls were necessary for Part A examples #1 and #2. The formatting changes and documented deviations within the Protocol Deviation form did not have an impact on the overall results of the performance qualification for the PennTech vial washer, the PennTech tunnel, or the overall functionality of the equipment.

It was determined that only content changes in the Protocol would significantly alter or impact the final results but not adjustments made to accommodate the results in the Protocol's reporting section. Since the purpose of the final report is to document results, format adjustments are expected, allowed, and do not warrant a change control.

With regards to the vial washer positive particle requirements, a typo was discovered and corrected. An evaluation of the results showed they were met according to the corrected criteria specified in the protocol. The critical acceptance criteria did not change, and all were met.

CORRECTIVE ACTIONS

To address Observation # 3 in the Form FDA 483, the adjustments made to the protocols have been identified and documented in a CAPA for both the vial washer and tunnel protocol. The investigation results ensured there was no risk to the validity of either performance qualification.

PREVENTATIVE ACTIONS

The Protocol's attached Deviation form used for the performance qualifications protocol will be re-evaluated and revised to address the need for Change Controls per Observation # 3, Part A, #1 and #2. Additionally, moving forward, a deviation form (with prior approval) will be required for any changes, including those considered to be formatting adjustments to the final report after the protocol has been approved.

T03.36 Essential Copy Procedure for 503A Products

INTRODUCTION AND SCOPE

This document explains the procedure by which Empower Pharmacy shall collect and/or notate the "statement of significant difference" for an individual patient as determined by the prescribing practitioner, when a compounded product may otherwise be considered "essentially a copy" of an FDA-approved product. This Standard Operating Procedure is pursuant to Guidance for Industry (GFI) "Compounded Drug Products That Are Essentially Copies of a Commercially Available Drug Product Under Section 503A of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act" (Jan. 2018).

PURPOSE

To ensure that proper documentation and oversight are in place for collecting and or notating from the prescriber, a "statement of significant difference" for an individual patient, when the prescribed compounded may otherwise be considered "essentially a copy" of a commercially available drug product.

RESPONSIBILITY

The responsibility for adherence to this policy will fall to the Pharmacist in Charge (PIC) and the Director of Compliance and Operations (DOC).

DEFINITIONS (if applicable)

1. Essential Copy (Essentially a copy of an approved drug): A drug product is considered to be essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product if:
   - the compounded drug product has the same active pharmaceutical ingredient(s) (API) as the commercially available drug product;
   - the API(s) have the same, similar, or an easily substitutable dosage strength; and
   - the commercially available drug product can be used by the same route of administration as prescribed for the compounded drug,
   - unless, as provided by section 503A(b)(2), a prescriber determines that there is a change, made for an identified individual patient, which produces, for that patient, a significant difference from the commercially available drug product.

POLICY

1. Upon the receipt of a prescription for any patient-specific compounded product that may otherwise be considered "essentially a copy" of a commercially available drug product, a "statement of significant difference" regarding the need for the compounded medication for an individual patient must be present on the original prescription.
2. If the prescription does not include a "statement of significant difference," one must be collected before the prescription can be processed.
3. When the "statement of significant difference" must be notated after receiving the prescription, the notation shall include the "statement of significant difference," date, the name of the practitioner or practitioner's agent who provided the information, and initials of the individual making the notation.

PROCEDURE

1. Upon receipt of a prescription for any patient-specific compounded product, the pharmacist or technician will fully review the prescription to determine if any of the products may be considered "essentially a copy" of an FDA-approved product. This review is conducted pursuant to FDA's Final Guidance for Industry titled, "Compounded Drug Products That Are Essentially Copies of a Commercially Available Drug Product Under Section 503A of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (Jan. 2018)."

2. Should it be determined that one or more of the products appearing on the prescription may be otherwise be considered "essentially a copy" of a commercially available drug product, the pharmacist or technician will determine if a "statement of significant difference" is present on the prescription.
3. If a "statement of significant difference" does not appear on the prescription, the pharmacist shall collect from the practitioner a "statement of significant difference" and notate the significant difference on the prescription. The notation shall include the "statement of significant difference," date, the name of the practitioner or practitioner's agent who provided the information, and initials of the individual making the notation.

TRAINING

1. Personnel involved in the process will be trained on these procedures on a periodic basis.

COMPLIANCE AUDIT (if applicable)

1. On a periodic basis, the DOC shall review prescriptions described herein in order to ensure proper documentation is being maintained.

T08.36 Essential Copy Procedure for 503B Products

INTRODUCTION AND SCOPE

This document explains the procedures by which Empower Pharmacy shall collect and/or notate the "statements of clinical difference" for a particular patient as determined by the practitioner, when the compounded product is otherwise "essentially a copy" of a commercially available drug product. This Standard Operating Procedure is pursuant to Guidance for Industry (GFI) titled "Compounded Drug Products That Are Essentially Copies of Approved Drug Products Under Section 503B of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act" (Jan. 2018).

PURPOSE

To ensure that proper documentation and oversight are in place for collecting and or notating from the practitioner or the practitioner's ordering agent, "statements of clinical difference" for a particular patient, when the compound ordered is otherwise essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product (i.e., contains the same active pharmaceutical ingredient as a commercially available drug product).

RESPONSIBILITY

The responsibility for adherence to this policy will fall to the Pharmacist in Charge (PIC) and the Director of Compliance and Operations (DOC).

DEFINITIONS (if applicable)

1. Essential Copy (Essentially a copy of a commercially available drug product):
   - A drug, a component of which is a bulk drug substance that is a component of an approved drug or a marketed drug that is not subject to section 503(b) and is not subject to approval in an application submitted under section 505.
     - There must be a change in the compounded formulation that produces for an individual patient a clinical difference, as determined by the prescribing practitioner, between the compounded drug and the comparable commercially available drug (section 503B(d)(2)(B)).

POLICY

1. Upon the receipt of an order for any office use product that contains the same active pharmaceutical ingredient as the commercially available product the ordering entity must provide a statement of clinical difference between the compounded formulation and the commercially available drug product, and that the compounded drug will be administered only to a patient whose prescribing practitioner determines that the formulation will produce this clinical difference, as referenced in FDA's Final Guidance at 8-11.
2. If the order does not include a statement of clinical difference, one must be collected before the order can be processed.
3. When the statement of clinical difference must be notated after receiving the order, the notation shall include the statement, date and the name of individual providing the statement, and the initials of the employee that received the statement.

PROCEDURE

1. Upon receipt of an order for any office use compounded product, the order processor will fully review the order to determine if any of the compounded products contain the same active pharmaceutical ingredients as a commercially available drug product. See FDA

Final GFI "Compounded Drug Products That Are Essentially Copies of Approved Drug Products Under Section 503B of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act" (Jan. 2018).

2. Should it be determined that one or more of the compounded products appearing on the order contain the same active pharmaceutical ingredients as a commercially available drug product, the employee will determine whether the order contains a sufficient statement of clinical difference.
4. If a statement of clinical difference does not appear on the order, the employee reviewing the order shall obtain from the practitioner or the practitioner's ordering agent a statement of clinical difference.
5. If not originally accompanying the order, the statement of clinical difference shall be notated on the order, which notation shall also include the date, and the name of the practitioner or practitioner's agent that provided the statement, and initials of the employee that received the statement.

TRAINING

1. Personnel involved in the process will be trained on the procedures on a periodic basis.

COMPLIANCE AUDIT (if applicable)

1. On a periodic basis, the DOC will review the orders described herein in order to ensure proper documentation is being maintained.

Notification of Agreed Order

Empower Pharmacy entered into an Agreed Order with the Oklahoma State Board of Pharmacy regarding allegations involving the compounding of what the Oklahoma State Board of Pharmacy considered essential copies under Oklahoma law. Please note that our home state Board, the Texas State Board of Pharmacy, did not consider these compounds essential copies (see attached). FDA also did not consider these compounds essential copies by their final guidance issued in January 2018 (see attached) and evidenced through FDA's most recent inspection of Empower Pharmacy in January 2018.

In the attached Agreed Order with Oklahoma, Empower did not admit or deny violating any law or the Board's rules. The Agreed Order also does not constitute a restriction on Empower's pharmacy license, and, most importantly, the Agreed Order is not considered discipline in Oklahoma. The Oklahoma State Board of Pharmacy also refrained from taking administrative or other action against Empower for the alleged conduct. Although the agreement with the Oklahoma State Board of Pharmacy is not considered discipline or a restriction on Empower's license we hereby inform you, out of an abundance of caution given diverse reporting requirements of state boards, of the attached Agreed Order.

Please note, this Agreed Order was included and communicated to The Nevada State Board of Pharmacy on 10/25/2019 regarding a new Out-of-State Pharmacy License application. The Board questioned Empower regarding this Agreed Order during the Board's scheduled license approval meeting and had no concerns once explained, and our new Out-of-State Pharmacy License (PH04169) was approved on 12/16/2019.

Arta Shaun Noorian
Owner
Empower Clinic Services, LLC dba Empower Pharmacy
5980 West Sam Houston Parkway North
Suite 300
Houston, Texas 77041-5251

Mr. Noorian:

You registered your facility with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) as an outsourcing facility under section 503B of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FDCA) [21 U.S.C. § 353b][1] on July 16, 2016, and most recently on October 26, 2020. From February 12, 2020, to March 6, 2020, an FDA investigator inspected your facility, Empower Clinic Services, LLC dba Empower Pharmacy located at 5980 West Sam Houston Parkway North, Suite 300, Houston, Texas 77041. During the inspection, the investigator noted that drug products you produced failed to meet the conditions of section 503B of the FDCA necessary for drugs produced by an outsourcing facility to qualify for exemptions from certain provisions of the FDCA.

FDA issued a Form FDA 483 to your facility on March 6, 2020. FDA acknowledges receipt of your facility's response, dated March 27, 2020. Based on this inspection, it appears you produced drugs that violate the FDCA.

A. Compounded Drug Products under the FDCA

Under section 503B(b) of the FDCA, a compounder can register as an outsourcing facility with FDA. Drug products compounded by or under the direct supervision of a licensed pharmacist in an outsourcing facility qualify for exemptions from the drug approval requirements in section 505 of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. § 355(a)], the requirement in section 502(f)(1) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. § 352(f)(1)] that labeling bear adequate directions for use, and the Drug Supply Chain Security Act requirements in section 582 of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. § 360eee-1], if the conditions in section 503B of the FDCA are met. [2]

An outsourcing facility, which is defined in section 503B(d)(4) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. § 353b(d)(4)], is a facility at one geographic location or address that — (i) is engaged in the compounding of sterile drugs; (ii) has elected to register as an outsourcing facility; and (iii) complies with all of the requirements of this section. Outsourcing facilities must comply with other applicable provisions of the FDCA, including section 501(a)(2)(B) [21 U.S.C. § 351(a)(2)(B)], regarding current good manufacturing practice (CGMP), and section 501(a)(2)(A) [21 U.S.C. § 351(a)(2)(A)], regarding insanitary conditions. Generally, CGMP requirements for the preparation of drug products are established in Title 21 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) parts 210 and 211.

In addition, for a compounded drug product to qualify for the exemptions under section 503B, the labeling of the drug must include certain information (section 503B(a)(10) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. §353b(a)(10)]).

Further, for a compounded drug product to qualify for the exemptions under section 503B, it must be compounded in an outsourcing facility that is in compliance with the registration and reporting requirements in section 503B(b), including the requirement to submit a report to FDA upon initially registering as an outsourcing facility, once in June of each year and once in December of each year, identifying the drug products compounded during the previous 6-month period (section 503B(b)(2) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. §353b(b)(2)]), as well as the requirement to submit adverse event reports to FDA "in accordance with the content and format requirements established through guidance or regulation under section 310.305 of title 21, Code of Federal Regulations (or any successor regulations)" (section 503B(a)(1), (b)(5) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. § 353b(a)(1), (b)(5)]).

Moreover, subject to certain exceptions, a compounded drug product cannot qualify for the exemptions under section 503B if it will be sold or transferred by an entity other than the outsourcing facility that compounded such drug (section 503B(a)(8) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. §353b(a)(8)]).

B. Failure to Meet the Conditions of Section 503B

During the inspection, the FDA investigator noted that drug products produced by your facility failed to meet the conditions of section 503B. For example, the investigator noted:

1. Some of your facility's drug products, including HCG (LYO) 12,000 IU Injectable, Testosterone Cypionate in GSO (5ml) 200mg/ml Injectable, FSH (LYO) 1,500 IU Injectable, and Menotropins (HMG)(LYO) 500 IU Injectable, did not include the following information on the container to facilitate adverse event reporting: www.fda.gov/medwatch and 1–800–FDA–1088. [Section 503B(a)(10) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. §353b(a)(10)]].

2. Your facility failed to submit a complete report to FDA in December 2019 and again in June 2020, identifying all the drug products that you compounded during the previous 6-month period, including Leuprolide Acetate 40mcg/0.2ml 10ml Injectable. [Section 503B(b)(2) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. §353b(b)(2)]].

3. Your facility did not submit adverse event reports to FDA in accordance with the content and format requirements established through guidance or regulation under section 310.305 of title 21, Code of Federal Regulations.[3] Specifically, your facility's procedures for reporting adverse events are inadequate. For example, your documented procedures for reporting adverse events do not include a requirement to promptly investigate and submit a follow-up report regarding a serious, unexpected adverse event within 15 calendar days of receipt of new information or as requested by FDA. [Section 503B(b)(5) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. §353b(b)(5)]; 21 CFR 310.305(c)(2)].

4. Your facility compounded a drug product, BlueChew, that was sold by an entity other than your firm, the outsourcing facility that compounded such drug [Section 503B(a)(8) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C § 353b(a)(8)]].

Because your compounded drug products have not met all of the conditions of section 503B, they are not eligible for the exemptions in that section from the FDA approval requirements of section 505, the requirement under section 502(f)(1) that labeling bear adequate directions for use, and the Drug Supply Chain Security Act requirements described in section 582 of the FDCA.

Specific violations are described below.

C. Violations of the FDCA

Unapproved New Drug Products

You do not have any FDA-approved applications on file for drug products that you compound.[4] Under sections 505(a) and 301(d) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. §§ 331(d)] a new drug may not be introduced into or delivered for introduction into interstate commerce unless an application approved by FDA under section 505 of the FDCA is in effect for the drug. Marketing of these products, or other applicable products, without an approved application violates these provisions of the FDCA.

[3] For more information, see FDA's guidance, "Adverse Event Reporting for Outsourcing Facilities Under Section 503B of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act," which can be found at https://www.fda.gov/downloads/Drugs/GuidanceComplianceRegulatoryInformation/Guidances/UCM434188.pdf.

[4] The specific products made by your firm are drugs within the meaning of section 201(g) of the Act, [21 U.S.C. § 321(g)] because they are intended for use in the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease and/or because they are intended to affect the structure or any function of the body. Further, they are "new drugs" within the meaning of section 201(p) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. § 321(p)] because they are not generally recognized as safe and effective for their labeled uses.

Misbranded Drug Products

You compound drug products that are intended for conditions not amenable to self-diagnosis and treatment by individuals who are not medical practitioners; therefore, adequate directions for use cannot be written so that a layman can use these products safely for their intended uses. Consequently, their labeling fails to bear adequate directions for their intended uses causing them to be misbranded under section 502(f)(1) of the FDCA.[5] The introduction or delivery for introduction into interstate commerce of these products therefore violates section 301(a) of the FDCA. Further, it is also a prohibited act under section 301(k) of the FDCA to do any act with respect to a drug, if such act is done while the drug is held for sale after shipment in interstate commerce and results in the drug being misbranded.

Failure to Report Drugs

As noted above, your facility failed to submit a complete report to FDA in December 2019 and again in June 2020, identifying the drug products that you compounded during the previous 6-month period (section 503B(b)(2) of the FDCA). The failure to report drugs by an entity that is registered with FDA in accordance with section 503B(b) is a prohibited act under section 301(ccc)(3) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. § 331(ccc)(3)].

D. Corrective Actions

We have reviewed your facility's response to the Form FDA 483.

Regarding observations related to the conditions of section 503B of the FDCA, some of your corrective actions appear adequate. For example, you state that you have "completed a change control to place the necessary information onto the primary packaging, which now includes the required adverse event reporting contact information."

In addition, regarding observations related to the conditions of section 503B of the FDCA, some of your corrective actions appear deficient. For example, we acknowledge your statement that you "are fully prepared to report any adverse event to FDA." However, we have reviewed the Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) you submitted during the inspection, which "describes the steps Empower Pharmacy follows to fulfill the regulatory requirements for adverse event reporting." Although the SOP addresses adverse event reporting for adverse events "within 15 calendar days of initial report," this SOP does not appear to adequately address adverse event reporting. For example, your SOP does not include information regarding follow-up reports or investigation procedures, and there is no timeline for investigating or providing a follow-up report of an adverse event. When making any corrections, also ensure that your procedures for adverse event reporting comply with the requirements in 21 C.F.R. 211.198.

Furthermore, you did not address certain observations related to the conditions of section 503B of the FDCA. For example, during the inspection, you noted to the FDA investigator that you wholesale drugs that you compound to BlueChew. We remind you of section 503B(a)(8) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. §353b(a)(8)]), entitled "Prohibition on Wholesaling," which states, in part, that the "drug will not be sold or transferred by an entity other than the outsourcing facility that compounded such drug."

During the inspection, the FDA investigator noted that some of your facility's drug products intended for dispensing to patients pursuant to a prescription included the statement "For office use only." We remind you that for a compounded drug product to qualify for the exemptions under section 503B, the labeling of the drug must comply with the provisions of section 503B(a)(10) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. §353b(a)(10)].

During the inspection, the investigator observed that your facility compounded Pyridoxine HCL 100mg/ml injection using the bulk drug substance Pyridoxine. Pyridoxine is a component of an approved drug product. Please note that for a compounded drug product to qualify for the exemptions under section 503B, it must not be essentially a copy of one or more approved drugs (section 503B(a)(5) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. § 353b(a)(5)]). The term "essentially a copy of an approved drug" means (A) a drug that is identical or nearly identical to an approved drug, or a marketed drug not subject to section 503(b) and not subject to approval in an application submitted under section 505, unless, in the case of an approved drug, the drug appears on the drug shortage list in effect under section 506E at the time of compounding, distribution, and dispensing (section 503B(d)(2)(A) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. § 353b(d)(2)(A)]); or (B) a drug, a component of which is a bulk drug substance that is a component of an approved drug or a marketed drug that is not subject to section 503(b) and not subject to approval in an application submitted under section 505, unless there is a change that produces for an individual patient a clinical difference, as determined by the prescribing practitioner, between the compounded drug and the comparable approved drug (section 503B(d)(2)(B) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. § 353b(d)(2)(B)]). For more information on the "essentially a copy" condition, including FDA's recommendations on documenting prescriber determinations of a clinical difference with respect to compounded drugs that would otherwise be copies under section 503B(d)(2)(B), please see FDA's guidance, "Compounded Drug Products That Are Essentially Copies of Approved Drug Products Under Section 503B of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act."[6]

Furthermore, the FDA investigator noted that your facility produced biological products. Please be advised that federal law does not provide a legal pathway for marketing biological products that have been prepared outside the scope of an approved biologics license application (BLA). Specifically, section 351(a)(1) of the Public Health Service Act (PHS Act) prohibits the introduction into interstate commerce of any biological product unless "a biologics license . . . is in effect for the biological product" (i.e., an approved BLA). Additionally, biological products subject to licensure under section 351 of the PHS Act are not eligible for the exemptions for compounded drugs under sections 503A and 503B of the FDCA. We also note that, as required by the Biologics Price Competition and Innovation Act of 2009, on March 23, 2020, an approved application for a biological product under section 505 of the FDCA was deemed to be a license for the biological product (i.e., an approved BLA) under the PHS Act. This transition affects compounding under sections 503A and 503B of the FDCA because, beginning on March 23, 2020, these biological products that previously could have been submitted in a marketing application under the FD&C Act are subject to licensure under section 351 of the PHS Act and thus are not eligible for the exemptions for compounded drugs under sections 503A and 503B of the FDCA. See Notice to Compounders: Changes that affect compounding as of March 23, 2020[7] and section 7002(e)(4) of the Biologics Price Competition and Innovation Act of 2009 for additional information. Although these biological products are not eligible for the exemptions in sections 503A and 503B, FDA issued guidance explaining conditions under which we do not intend to take action when certain biological products are mixed, diluted, or repackaged in a manner not described in their approved labeling. See Guidance for industry, Mixing, Diluting, or Repackaging Biological Products Outside the Scope of an Approved Biologics License Application (January 2018).[8]

E. Conclusion

The violations cited in this letter are not intended to be an all-inclusive statement of violations at your facility. You are responsible for investigating and determining the causes of any violations and for preventing their recurrence or the occurrence of other violations. It is your responsibility to ensure that your firm complies with all requirements of federal law, including FDA regulations.

You should take prompt action to correct any violations. Failure to adequately address any violations may result in legal action without further notice, including, without limitation, seizure and injunction.

Within fifteen (15) working days of receipt of this letter, please notify this office in writing of the specific steps that you have taken to address any violations. Please include an explanation of each step being taken to prevent the recurrence of any violations, as well as copies of related documentation. If you believe that your products are not in violation of the FDCA, include your reasoning and any supporting information for our consideration. If you cannot completely address this matter within fifteen (15) working days, state the reason for the delay and the time within which you will do so.

Your written notification should refer to case # 613792.

Re: FDA Warning Letter
Case #: 613792

To Whom It May Concern:

This letter is in response to the Warning Letter dated October 15, 2021, to Empower Clinic Services, LLC (the Company) located at 5980 W. Sam Houston Parkway N., Suite 300, Houston, TX 77041.

We appreciate the opportunity to respond to FDA's issues raised in the Letter and demonstrate the Company's commitment to compliance with the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and its implementing regulations. The Company continues to be committed to quality and regulatory compliance, taking its responsibility as an outsourcer of compounded formulations very seriously.

Empower notes, importantly, that it understood and believed FDA's February and March 2020 inspection of its facility intended to cover Empower's Section 503B operations. Notwithstanding, because the Section 503A and Section 503B operations were at that time located in one facility, FDA inspected the Section 503A operations as if Empower were required to comply with the provisions of Section 503B, including but not limited to certain labeling requirements and FDA's current good manufacturing practice regulations (cGMP). In order to obviate such confusion in the future, Empower recently engaged in a multi-million dollar investment to completely separate its Section 503A and 503B operations. Its Section 503A operations are imminently relocating to a new, state-of-the-art, compounding center.

The Company has reviewed the remaining issues set forth in FDA's Letter, specifically, "D. Corrective Actions." Set forth below is the issue noted in FDA's Letter, in bold, followed by Empower's Response. The Response below reflects the Company's business practices and certain changes to the same that either have been initiated in response to FDA's Warning Letter or will imminently be corrected, as noted. Empower will keep FDA informed of its remedial activities, as it considers itself a partner with the Agency in its efforts to ensure access to quality, affordable compounded medications to its customers.

Respectfully,

Shaun Noorian
CEO

FDA Issue:

[Y]our facility failed to submit a complete report to FDA in December 2019 and again in June 2020, identifying all the drug products that you compounded during the previous 6-month period, including Leuprolide Acetate 40mcg/0.2ml 10ml Injectable. [Section 503B(b)(2) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. §353b(b)(2)]].

Empower's Response:

Empower submitted a complete report of all Leuprolide Acetate 40mcg/.2ml compounded under its 503B license pursuant to 21 U.S.C. § 353b(b)(2), in December 2019 and June 2020. Empower's Leuprolide Acetate 40mcg/.2ml has only been dispensed through our 503A pursuant to patient-specific prescriptions, which is why this compound was not reported as part of our outsourcing facility's biannual report. Notwithstanding, Empower understands FDA's position that 503A operations are subject to the provisions of Section 503B when both take place in the same facility. As such, Empower is relocating its 503A operations to a new facility in an effort to permanently define, distinguish and disjoin both operations.

FDA Issue:

[R]egarding observations related to the conditions of section 503B of the FDCA, some of your corrective actions appear deficient. For example, we acknowledge your statement that you "are fully prepared to report any adverse event to FDA." However, we have reviewed the Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) you submitted during the inspection, which "describes the steps Empower Pharmacy follows to fulfill the regulatory requirements for adverse event reporting." Although the SOP addresses adverse event reporting for adverse events "within 15 calendar days of initial report," this SOP does not appear to adequately address adverse event reporting. For example, your SOP does not include information regarding follow-up reports or investigation procedures, and there is no timeline for investigating or providing a follow-up report of an adverse event. When making any corrections, also ensure that your procedures for adverse event reporting comply with the requirements in 21 C.F.R. 211.198

Empower's Response:

Empower has revised its SOP for adverse event reporting to cover the areas that FDA references above (titled "Adverse Drug Event Reporting"), attached hereto as Exhibit "A", to ensure it fulfills regulatory requirements. Additionally, Empower has updated its SOP for receiving and investigating complaints, including those related to Adverse Drug Event Reporting (titled "Complaint Handling"), and attached hereto as Exhibit "B". In particular, the SOPs state that "product based complaints" shall be forwarded to the clinical pharmacist team to gather the appropriate data outlined in Section 6.3.3 and 6.3.4 of Exhibit "B". The clinical pharmacist team is required to complete Form T09.72, attached as Exhibit "C" and route that document to the Pharmacist-in-Charge. The Pharmacist-in-Charge shall be responsible for reporting all Serious and/or Unexpected Adverse Drug Experiences as defined in Section 4.3 and 4.4 of Exhibit "A" in a manner consistent with Section 6.2 and 6.3, and within the appropriate timeframe outlined in Section 6.4. Simultaneously, the Quality Department shall perform an investigation pursuant to Section 6.4.2 of Exhibit "B". Empower believes these updated SOPs sufficiently outline a robust complaint investigation and reporting structure necessitated by an adverse event, a timeline for completing the same, and complaint handling documentation requirements set forth in 21 C.F.R. § 211.198. Empower's enhanced procedures also add provisions that help determine whether the complaint concerning the compounded formulations represents a "serious and unexpected" adverse drug experience, which Empower understands is required to be reported to FDA in accordance with §§ 310.305 and 514.80. Empower has trained its responsible employees on the revised SOP in advance of submitting this response. That training log has been completed and is attached hereto as Exhibit "D".

FDA Issue:

[Y]ou did not address certain observations related to the conditions of section 503B of the FDCA. For example, during the inspection, you noted to the FDA investigator that you wholesale drugs that you compound to BlueChew. We remind you of section 503B(a)(8) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. §353b(a)(8)]], entitled "Prohibition on Wholesaling," which states, in part, that the "drug will not be sold or transferred by an entity other than the outsourcing facility that compounded such drug."

Empower's Response:

As of June 21, 2021, Empower no longer compounds or dispenses BlueChew formulations. As such, this observation is no longer at issue. However, prior to that date, Empower only compounded BlueChew pursuant to a lawful, valid prescription and dispensed to individually identified patients accordingly. Empower never engaged in the sale and/or transfer of BlueChew formulations to any third-party entity (including BlueChew itself), as referenced in the observation and outlined in 21 U.S.C. § 353b(a)(8). As such, this code provision is inapplicable to facts at hand. However, assuming arguendo, 21 U.S.C. § 353b(a)(8) was deemed applicable, this code provision "does not prohibit administration of a drug in a health care setting or dispensing a drug pursuant to a prescription executed in accordance with section 353(b)(1)...."

FDA Issue:

During the inspection, the FDA investigator noted that some of your facility's drug products intended for dispensing to patients pursuant to a prescription included the statement "For office use only." We remind you that for a compounded drug product to qualify for the exemptions under section 503B, the labeling of the drug must comply with the provisions of section 503B(a)(10) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. §353b(a)(10)].

Empower's Response:

Empower understands that certain drug products that were intended for dispensing to patients pursuant to a prescription were inadvertently labeled "For office use only." These medications were intended for in-office administration to individually identified patients and pursuant to a prescription. Notwithstanding, Empower understands the requirements of 21 U.S.C. § 353b(a)(10) and has updated its internal labeling checklist, attached as Exhibit "E", to ensure the appropriate labeling is included on drug products which are dispensed pursuant to prescriptions and those which are distributed.

FDA Issue:

During the inspection, the investigator observed that your facility compounded Pyridoxine HCL 100mg/ml injection using the bulk drug substance Pyridoxine. Pyridoxine is a component of an approved drug product. Please note that for a compounded drug product to qualify for the exemptions under section 503B, it must not be essentially a copy of one or more approved drugs (section 503B(a)(5) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. § 353b(a)(5)]) * unless there is a change that produces for an individual patient a clinical difference, as determined by the prescribing practitioner, between the compounded drug and the comparable approved drug (section 503B(d)(2)(B) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. § 353b(d)(2)(B)]).

Empower's Response:

Empower understands that it may not compound "essentially copies" of commercially available drug products unless there is a change that produces for an individual patient a clinical difference as determined by the prescribing practitioner, between the compounded drug and the FDA-approved drug product. Empower has diligently undertaken practices to ensure that practitioners and purchasing agents (per FDA's Essentially Copies Final Guidance (2018)) list a clinical difference between the commercially available product and the compounded formulation. For example, Empower's compounded formulation for "Pyridoxine HCL 100mg/ml" cited in the Letter, substitutes Chlorobutanol (used in the commercial formula) for Benzyl Alcohol, to produce a clinical difference for patients with a known sensitivity. Empower recognizes the need for robust clinical statements and has revised its SOP as a result of FDA's Form 483 Observations and this Letter, attached hereto as Exhibit "F". As such, compounded products like Pyridoxine will only be dispensed or distributed for patients who present an individual clinical need for the compounded formulation, appropriately documented by a physician or the purchasing agent (as set forth in FDA's Essentially Copies Guidance). As part of its commitment to the same, Empower's employees have received updated "essential copy" training, attached as Exhibit "G".

FDA Issue:

[T]he FDA investigator noted that your facility produced biological products.

Empower's Response:

Empower is in the process of pursuing a biologics license application (BLA) so that it may continue to provide biologics to its patients that require them. However, given FDA's position on the compounding of biologics, Empower has ceased compounding and dispensing biologics.

==========

We want to again express our sincere appreciation for the opportunity to engage in a dialogue with the Agency concerning compliance with FDA regulations and guidance at Empower's facilities. The Company will continue to work diligently to maintain compliance with FDA's regulations and other guidance provided by the Agency.

EMPOWER PHARMACY

Exhibit A: A copy of revised SOP "Adverse Drug Event Reporting"

1.0 Purpose

1.1 The purpose of this procedure is to outline the requirements and process for reporting adverse drug experiences to the Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

2.0 Scope

2.1 This procedure applies to all serious and unexpected adverse drug experiences reported to the outsourcing facility.

3.0 Roles and Responsibilities

3.1 Clinical pharmacists are responsible for taking calls and other notifications of adverse drug experiences and performing an investigation to obtain all necessary information related to the adverse event. The clinical pharmacist shall document the information using the T09.72 Product Complaint / Adverse Drug Event / Therapy Form.

3.2 The Pharmacist in Charge, or designee, is responsible for reporting all serious unexpected adverse drug experiences to the FDA according to this procedure.

3.3 The Quality Unit is responsible for assisting with any investigations and coordinating corrective action when necessary. For more information see the Complaint Handling SOP.

4.0 Terms and Abbreviations

4.1 Individual Case Safety Report (or "ICSR") – A description of an adverse drug experience related to an individual patient or subject.

4.2 ICSR Attachments – Supporting information for ICSRs, such as relevant hospital discharge summaries, copies of the current labeling of the suspect drug product(s), and autopsy or death certificates.

4.3 Serious Adverse Drug Experience – Any adverse drug experience occurring at any dose that results in any of the following outcomes:

- 4.3.1 Death,
- 4.3.2 A life-threatening adverse drug experience,
- 4.3.3 Inpatient hospitalization or prolongation of existing hospitalization,
- 4.3.4 A persistent or significant disability/incapacity, or
- 4.3.5 A congenital anomaly/birth defect.

4.4 Unexpected Adverse Drug Experience – Any adverse drug experience that is not listed in the current labeling for the drug product. For example, if current labeling for a compounded drug product does not list any adverse drug experiences, all adverse drug experiences associated with the compounded drug product would be considered "unexpected."

5.0 Policy

5.1 All serious unexpected adverse events associated with the use of a compounded prescription drug product shall be reported to the FDA in accordance with section 503B(b)(5) of the Food Drug and Cosmetic Act.

- 5.1.1 The adverse event reporting requirements apply to prescription drug products regardless of whether the outsourcing facility distributes them pursuant to prescriptions.

5.2 Adverse event reporting for drug products compounded by outsourcing facilities is a critical mechanism by which FDA identifies signals of potential quality problems that may be associated with a particular drug or drug component.

6.0 Procedure

6.1 Reporting

6.1.1 Reporting of each adverse drug experience received or otherwise obtained that is both serious and unexpected shall be completed no later than 15 calendar days from the date of initial receipt.

6.1.2 Reports should not include the names and/or addresses of individual patients. A unique code should be assigned for each individual patient.

6.1.3 All records relating to adverse drug experiences required to be reported under 21 CFR section 310.305 shall be kept for 10 years.

6.1.4 The report or information submitted does not necessarily reflect a conclusion that the report or information constitutes an admission that the drug caused or contributed to an adverse effect.

6.2 What to Report

6.2.1 The four following data elements are required when reporting adverse drug experiences to the FDA:

6.2.1.1 An identifiable patient

6.2.1.1.1 There should be enough information to indicate the existence of a specific patient (i.e., age or category, gender, initials, date of birth, name, patient identification number).

6.2.1.1.2 Each identifiable patient should be distinguished to prevent duplicate reports of a single adverse event.

6.2.1.2 An identifiable reporter

6.2.1.2.1 The person who initially notifies the outsourcing facility about an adverse event, can be a patient, consumer, doctor, or other individual.

6.2.1.2.2 Sufficient information to indicate the reporter as an identifiable person should be obtained [i.e., a personal identifier (name), a professional identifier (title), contact information (email, phone number)].

6.2.1.2.3 When possible, the reporter's contact information should be obtained so that the facility and/or the FDA can conduct follow-up investigations.

6.2.1.2.4 If the reporter requests that their information not be submitted to the FDA, submit the report with the reporter field as "Requested Anonymity."

6.2.1.3 A suspect drug

6.2.1.3.1 The drug product that the initial reporter suspected was associated with the adverse event.

6.2.1.3.2 Describe the known product attributes (e.g., active ingredient(s), dosage form, strength, color, lot number, etc.).

6.2.1.3.3 If multiple drugs are involved submit only one report that notes the drug product considered most suspect by the reporter. If the reporter views each drug product as equally suspect submit only one report that lists all of the drug products as suspect.

6.2.1.3.4 If the compounded drug contains multiple components (e.g., excipients, drugs substances, finished dosage forms), list each component and its manufacturer if known.

6.2.1.3.5 List any other known medial product(s) the patient was taking at the time he or she experienced the adverse event and the manufacturer of that product(s).

6.2.1.4 A serious adverse event

6.2.1.4.1 Report the unexpected adverse event that results in one or more of the following patient outcomes:

6.2.1.4.1.1 Death,

6.2.1.4.1.2 A life-threatening adverse drug experience,

6.2.1.4.1.3 Inpatient hospitalization or prolongation of existing hospitalization,

6.2.1.4.1.4 A persistent or significant disability or incapacity, or

6.2.1.4.1.5 A congenital anomaly or birth defect.

6.2.1.4.2 Important medical events that may not result in death, be life-threatening, or require hospitalization may be considered serious adverse drug experiences if, when based on appropriate medical judgement, they may jeopardize the patient and may require medical or surgical intervention to prevent one of the outcomes listed above.

6.2.1.4.3 For reporting purposes, an adverse event should be described in terms of signs (including abnormal laboratory findings, if appropriate), symptoms, or disease diagnosis (including any colloquial descriptions obtained), if available.

6.3 Report Attachments

6.3.1 A copy of the current labeling for the compounded drug product that is the subject of the report must be submitted as an attachment.

6.3.2 The following may also be appropriate to provide, if available:

6.3.2.1 Hospital discharge summaries,

6.3.2.2 Autopsy reports/death certificates,

6.3.2.3 Relevant laboratory data, and

6.3.2.4 Other critical clinical data.

6.3.3 In the case of a death any available information on the event(s) that led to the death should be provided.

6.4 When to Report

6.4.1 The facility must submit the report as a 15-day "alert report" to the FDA as soon as possible, but not later than 15 calendar days after first receiving information about the adverse event.

6.4.1.1 Reports should be submitted so long as information on at least the suspect drug and the adverse event are known.

6.5 Investigations

6.5.1 All serious and unexpected adverse drug experiences must be promptly investigated, and a follow-up report submitted within 15 calendar days of receipt of new information or as requested by the FDA.

6.5.1.1 Initial investigations must be completed within 15 calendar days.

6.5.2 If all four data points listed in section 6.2.1 were not included in the initial report, every effort shall be made to obtain the missing information.

6.5.2.1 Records of the efforts to obtain this and other relevant information shall be retained (e.g., dates of discussions with the reporter to determine how many patients experienced a particular adverse event or dates of discussion with a health care facility to obtain contact information for an identifiable person who purports to have knowledge about the patient, adverse event, or drug involved).

6.5.3 New information obtained about the initial report should be reported when it could assist the FDA in investigating an adverse event. If additional information is not obtainable, records shall be maintained documenting the steps that were taken to attempt to seek the additional information.

6.6 How to Report Adverse Events

6.6.1 Reports shall be submitted electronically to the FDA using the Safety Reporting Portal (SRP). http://www.safetyreporting.hhs.gov

6.6.2 Initial Report

6.6.2.1 When submitting an adverse event report for the first time notify the FDA Adverse Event Reporting System (FAERS) Electronic Submission Coordinator at faersesub@fda.hhs.gov. The coordinator will assist the organization and ensure that all steps have been completed for successful submission of adverse event reports.

6.6.3 Adverse event reporting is considered postmarketing safety reporting and involves submitting a series of reports consisting of the initial individual case safety report (ICSR) and follow-up ICSRs, along with any associated attachments, over the life cycle of an individual case.

6.6.3.1 An ICSR is a description of an adverse drug experience related to an individual patient or subject. ICSR attachments include supporting information for ICSRs, such as relevant hospital discharge summaries and autopsy reports or death certificates.

6.6.3.2 To avoid duplicate adverse event reports in the FAERS database, each report should have a unique case identification number, regardless of how it is transmitted to the FDA.

6.6.4 Safety Reporting Portal Use

6.6.4.1 The ICSR information is entered manually into a web-based form and then submitted to the FDA to be uploaded into the FAERS database.

6.6.4.2 When the initial ICSR is submitted through the SRP, users will be able to return to the initial ICSR and submit follow-up reports as more information about the reported adverse experience becomes available.

6.6.4.3 Users may log in to their SRP accounts, locate the ICSR record, and modify or add to the initial ICSR to create a follow-up submission. Users may submit as many follow-up reports as necessary.

6.6.4.3.1 All staff who submit reports shall create an SRP account which can be done from the SRP homepage.

6.6.4.4 After a submission is made an acknowledgement message will be sent to the user. The SRP acknowledgement provides the user the status of the submission and indicates whether it was accepted into the FAERS database. This acknowledgement should be retained as part of the facility's internal documentation.

6.6.4.4.1 Any issue should be corrected by the user and resubmitted within the reporting timeframe. The receipt date of the corrected resubmission serves as the official FDA receipt date of the report.

6.6.4.5 If SRP is not functional contact the FAERS Electronic Submission Coordinator at faersesub@fda.hhs.gov for assistance.

6.7 Inspection of Adverse Event Reporting

6.7.1 As part of its inspections of outsourcing facilities the FDA may review adverse event information received by the outsourcing facility.

6.7.2 Records shall be retained for 10 years and shall be readily retrievable.

EMPOWER PHARMACY

Exhibit B: A copy of revised SOP "Complaint Handling"

1.0 Purpose

1.1 The purpose of this procedure is to establish requirements for the handling of complaints related to compounded preparations.

2.0 Scope

2.1 This procedure applies to Empower Pharmacy's 503B Outsourcing Facility operations.

3.0 Roles and Responsibilities

3.1 The Clinical Pharmacist team is responsible for creating and maintaining Incident Reports in Salesforce as complaints related to products are received either via phone or in writing and completing Form T09.72 when required.

3.2 The Quality Unit is responsible for reviewing product related Incident Reports and assisting in investigations as needed.

3.3 The Incident Team is responsible for ensuring complaint resolutions are coordinated and documentation is complete.

3.4 The Pharmacist in Charge, or their designee, is responsible for reporting all serious and unexpected adverse drug experiences to the FDA.

4.0 Terms and Abbreviations

4.1 N/A

5.0 Policy

5.1 Written procedures describing the handling of all written and oral complaints regarding drug product shall be established and followed.

5.2 Such procedures shall include a provision for review by the quality control unit, of any complaint involving the possible failure of a drug product to meet any of its specifications and, for such drug products, a determination as to the need for an investigation.

5.3 Such procedures shall include provisions for review to determine whether the complaint represents a serious and unexpected adverse drug experience which is required to be reported to the Food and Drug Administration. See the Adverse Drug Event Reporting SOP for more information.

6.0 Procedure

6.1 Complaints are generally reported via the call center, clinic support, or the sales team. All complaints shall be recorded in Salesforce as an Incident Report.

6.1.1 See Attachment 1 – Incident Types, for some examples of different types of complaints.

6.2 If a complaint regarding delivery or customer experience is reported, technicians, managers, pharmacists, and directors have been granted authority to give credits to help resolve some incidents that would not need further review.

6.2.1 Any refunds of credits shall require management approval prior to being processed.

6.3 All complaints that are related to the product (such as adverse reactions or product issues) go to the clinical pharmacist team for a pharmacist consultation, initial information gathering and documentation. This would include pharmacist consultation for a patient that has had an adverse reaction to the medication.

6.3.1 The complaint shall be documented as an Incident in the Salesforce platform.

6.3.2 The clinical pharmacist shall initiate the incident record which can be collaborated on by other staff involved in the complaint handling process.

6.3.3 The Incident contains the following information:

6.3.3.1 Basic Incident Information

6.3.3.1.1 Incident Number (generated by Salesforce)

6.3.3.1.2 Site

6.3.3.1.3 Owner

6.3.3.1.4 Status

6.3.3.1.5 Priority

6.3.3.1.6 Record Type

6.3.3.1.7 Root Cause

6.3.3.1.8 Record Subtype

6.3.3.1.9 Department

6.3.3.2 Incident Overview

6.3.3.2.1 How the incident was reported.

6.3.3.2.2 Overview of the incident – a description according to the initial report.

6.3.3.3 Clinical and Patient Information

6.3.3.3.1 Prescriber and/or Clinic name

6.3.3.3.2 Patient information (if known)

6.3.3.3.3 Provider information

6.3.3.4 Medication and Incident Cost Information

6.3.3.4.1 Invoice number

6.3.3.4.2 Medication name and strength

6.3.3.4.3 Prescription number

6.3.3.4.4 Lot number

6.3.3.4.5 Case / RX / Tracking Number

6.3.3.4.6 Case number

6.3.3.4.7 Cost

6.3.3.5 Full Details and Resolution

6.3.3.5.1 A full description of information gathered during the incident handling and resolution.

6.3.3.6 Activity History

6.3.3.6.1 Lists each inbound or outbound call related to the incident, includes comments so information about the call can be documented, time, date, and the person it was assigned to.

6.3.3.7 Notes and Attachments

6.3.3.7.1 All supporting documentation shall be attached to the record.

6.3.4 The clinical pharmacists shall make at least three attempts to contact the patients and/or the prescriber (if they were not the incident reporter) for further information.

6.3.4.1 Each attempt is documented in the Activity History section of the Incident Report.

6.4 Investigation

6.4.1 Product related complaints are submitted to the clinical quality group after the incident has been created so that members of the Quality Unit can review the incident and assist in the investigation.

6.4.1.1 When the Quality Unit performs an independent investigation a copy of that documentation shall be attached to the Incident Report in Salesforce.

6.4.2 Investigations can include, but are not limited to, the following:

6.4.2.1 Batch record review

6.4.2.2 Test results review

6.4.2.3 Retention sample review

6.4.2.4 Raw materials and components review

6.4.2.5 Related incidents review/incident trending

6.4.2.6 Review of the returned medication (if applicable)

6.4.3 The Incident Team shall help ensure documentation is complete, assist in replacing medication or retrieving medication, processing refunds, etc. as appropriate.

6.4.4 Results of the investigation shall be documented in the Incident Report and should be reported back to the initial incident reporter and/or prescriber by a clinical pharmacist.

6.4.4.1 All replies to the complainant shall be documented in the Incident Report.

6.4.5 If an investigation is found to be unnecessary the reason that the investigation was found not to be necessary and the name of the person responsible for making that determination shall be included in the Incident Report.

6.5 Documentation

6.5.1 In addition to the Incident Report the Product Complaint / Adverse Drug Event / Therapy Form T09.72 is completed if the incident is related to a product issue, adverse drug event or clinical therapy issue.

6.5.1.1 The original shall go to the PIC or designee and a copy of the form will go to the Customer Service Quality and Compliance Coordinator for retention.

6.5.1.2 A completed copy of this form shall be attached to the Salesforce Incident Report in the Notes and Attachments section.

6.5.1.3 The form shall document the determination of whether the incident is a serious and unexpected adverse drug experience.

6.5.2 If the incident is determined to be a serious and unexpected adverse drug experience the form will be escalated to the Pharmacist in Charge (PIC) and/or the Compliance Department for review.

6.5.2.1 The PIC, or designee, shall report the ADE to the FDA per the Adverse Drug Event Reporting SOP within 15 days of the incident notification.

6.6 Timeframes

6.6.1 Documentation for adverse drug experiences shall be initiated within 72 hours of becoming aware of the incident unless the incident resulted in hospitalization or death in which case documentation must occur within 24 hours.

6.6.1.1 The Product Complaints / Adverse Drug Event / Therapy Form must be completed within 5 days of the incident.

6.6.1.2 Documentation shall be submitted to the FDA within 15 calendar days.

6.6.1.3 Follow-up reports shall be submitted to the FDA within 15 calendar days of when new information is obtained.

6.6.2 Upon completion of the investigation the PIC or designee is responsible for ensuring appropriate corrective action is implemented within 14 days.

6.6.3 All complaint records involving drug product shall be maintained until at least 1 year after the expiration date of the drug product, or 1 year after the date that the complaint was received, whichever is longer.

6.6.4 All complaint records for serious and unexpected adverse drug experiences shall be retained for 10 years.

EMPOWER PHARMACY

Exhibit F: A copy of revised SOP "Essential Copy Procedure for 503B Products"

1.0 Purpose

1.1 The purpose of this procedure is to establish requirements that ensure drug products compounded by Empower Pharmacy are not essentially a copy of one or more approved drug product.

2.0 Scope

2.1 This procedure applies to Empower Pharmacy's 503B Outsourcing Facility operations.

3.0 Roles and Responsibilities

3.1 The Pharmacist in Charge (PIC) is primarily responsible for this procedure.

3.2 The Clinical Pharmacist receiving the prescription or order shall use this procedure to determine if the requested compounded preparation is essentially a copy of an approved drug and obtain a determination of clinical difference when necessary.

3.2.1 If they cannot make the determination the prescription or order shall be provided to the PIC for further guidance.

4.0 Terms and Abbreviations

4.1 Approved Drug – A drug product that (1) is approved under section 505 of the FD&C Act, (2) does not appear on the list described in subsection 503B(a)(4) of drugs that have been withdrawn or removed from the market because such drugs or components of such drugs have been found to be unsafe or not effective.

4.2 Bulk Drug Substance – Any substance that is intended for incorporation into a finished drug product and is intended to furnish pharmacological activity or other direct effect in the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease, or to affect the structure or any function of the body.

4.3 Drug that appears on the drug shortage list in effect under section 503E – if the drug is in "currently in shortage" status, and not in "resolved" status, as indicated in the FDA's drug shortage database.

4.4 Marketed drug not subject to section 503(b) and not subject to approval in an application submitted under section 505 – any nonprescription drug product marketed without an approved application. FDA also refers to these products as 'covered OTC drug products.'

5.0 Policy

5.1 To qualify for the exceptions under section 503B of the FD&C Act compounded drug products must not be essentially a copy of one or more approved drugs.

5.2 Section 503B(d)(2) defines essentially a copy of an approved drug as –

5.2.1 A drug that is identical or nearly identical to an approved drug, or marketed drug not subject to section 503(b) and not subject to approval in an application submitted under section 505 (New Drugs), unless, in the case of an approved drug, the drug appears on the drug shortage list in effect under 506E at the time of compounding, distribution, and dispensing (section 503B(d)(2)(A))); or

5.2.2 A drug, a component of which is a bulk drug substance that is a component of an approved drug or a marketed drug that is not subject to section 503(b) and is not subject to approval in an application submitted under section 505 (New Drugs), unless there is a change that produces for an individual patient a clinical difference, as determined by the prescribing practitioner, between the compounded drug and the comparable approved drug (section 503B(d)(2)(B)).

5.3 Drug products compounded by outsourcing facilities in accordance with the conditions of section 503B are exempt from FDA drug approval requirements and the requirement to be labeled with adequate directions for use.

5.4 Under section 503B(a)(5) of the FD&C Act, a compounded drug must not be essentially a copy of one or more approved drugs.

6.0 Procedure

6.1 A compounded drug is essentially a copy of an approved drug if the compounded drug is identical or nearly identical to an approved drug unless the approved drug appears on the drug shortage list in the FDA's Drug Shortage Database at the time of compounding, distribution, and dispensing.

6.2 Identical or Nearly Identical Drugs

6.2.1 A compounded drug product is considered to be identical or nearly identical to an approved drug if the compounded drug product and the FDA-approved drug product have the same:

6.2.1.1 Active ingredient(s),

6.2.1.1.1 The substance in a drug product that is intended to furnish pharmacological activity or other direct effect in the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease or to affect the structure or function of the body.

6.2.1.2 Route of administration,

6.2.1.2.1 Describes the way a drug is administered to the body.

6.2.1.3 Dosage form,

6.2.1.3.1 The way of identifying the drug in its physical form.

6.2.1.4 Dosage strength, and 6.2.1.5 Excipients.

6.2.1.5.1 Inactive ingredients which may include preservatives, dyes, and flavorings.

6.2.2 A compounded drug product that has all of these characteristics in common with an FDA-approved drug product is essentially a copy of an approved drug, unless the approved drug appears on the FDA Drug Shortage list at the time of compounding, distribution, and dispensing.

6.2.2.1 If the compounded drug product is identical or nearly identical to an approved drug that is not on FDA's drug shortage list at the time of compounding, distribution, and dispensing, the compounded product is essentially a copy, and an outsourcing facility may not produce it under section 503B.

6.2.3 The identical or nearly identical compounded product cannot be exempted from the copying restriction by a prescriber determination that there is a change to the compounded product that produces a clinical difference for an individual patient. Compounded products meeting the criteria outlined above are not expected to contain changes from an approved drug that would product such difference.

6.2.4 If the compounded product differs on one or more of these characteristics, the FDA will generally not consider the product to be identical or nearly identical to the approved drug. If the compounded drug product is not considered identical or nearly identical it would then be evaluated under section 503B(d)(2)(B). See Attachment 2, Essential Copy Determination Guide.

6.3 Drug Shortage

6.3.1 A compounded drug that is identical, or nearly identical, to an approved drug is not considered essentially a copy if the approved drug is in shortage at the time of compounding, distribution and dispensing.

6.3.1.1 It is important to patient and prescribers that compounded drugs prepared to address a shortage closely resemble the drug in shortage, and for that reason, the statute seeks to allow compounders to compound drugs that are as close as possible to the drug in shortage.

6.3.2 There may be circumstances where the drug product is in shortage when the outsourcing facility compounds the drug, but the shortage is resolved before the outsourcing facility distributes it. The FDA does not intend to take action for filling orders that are received for identical or nearly identical compounded drug products that were on the FDA drug shortage list at the time the facility received the order, provided the drug also appears on the FDA drug shortage list within 60 days of the outsourcing facility distributing or dispensing the drug.

6.4 Essential Copy

6.4.1 If a component of the compounded drug is a bulk drug substance that is also a component of an approved drug, the compounded product is essentially a copy of an approved drug, and cannot be compounded under section 503B, unless there is a prescriber determination of clinical difference as described below. This applies to a compounded drug whether it was compounded from bulk drug substances or from drugs in finished form.

6.4.2 If the facility compounds a drug, the component of which is a bulk drug substance that is a component of an approved drug, there must be a change that produces a clinical difference for an individual patient as determined by the prescribing practitioner.

6.5 Prescriber Determination of Clinical Difference

6.5.1 To establish that a compounded drug is not essentially a copy of an approved drug the determination shall be noted on the prescription order (which may be a patient-specific prescription or a non-patient specific order) for the compounded drug.

6.5.1.1 In the case when a prescriber orders office stock and will not know the identity of the individual patients who will receive the compounded drug at the time of the order the facility shall obtain a statement from the practitioner that specifies the change between the compounded drug and the comparable approved drug and indicates that the compounded drug will be administered or dispensed only to a patient for whom the change produces a clinical difference, as determined by the prescribing practitioner for that patient.

6.5.1.2 Such assurances should be provided by the health care practitioner or a person able to make the representation for the health care practitioner.

6.5.2 For example, a physician who regularly treats patients with an allergy to an inactive ingredient in a particular approved injectable drug product could order a compounded version of the drug for office use provided he or she includes a statement on the order that removing the particular inactive ingredient produces a clinical difference for his or her individual patients and that he or she will provide the drug only to patients with that particular clinical need.

6.5.3 There is no specific form that is needed for the determination of clinical need statement, only that it is included on the prescription or medication order. See Attachment 1, Clinical Difference Statement Examples.

6.5.3.1 The clinical difference must be produced by the change between the compounded product and the approved drug.

6.5.4 If a prescription or order does not make clear that the determination required has been made, the facility shall contact the prescriber or health care facility, and if the prescriber or health care facility contact confirms it, make a notation on the prescription or order that the prescriber has determined that the compounded product contains a change that produces a clinical difference for patient(s).

6.5.4.1 The notations should be as specific as those described in attachment 1, and shall indicate the date of the conversation, the contact or prescriber and the name of the individual who provided the determination.

6.6 Essential Copy of One or More Approved Drug Products

6.6.1 Compounded drug product that has bulk drug substances that are components of one or more approved drugs will be considered essentially a copy unless the prescribing practitioner determines that there is a change that produces a clinical difference for an individual patient.

6.6.1.1 For example, if there are two approved drug products that are tablets, one containing 5 mg of active ingredient A and the other containing 10 mg of active ingredient B and the facility compounded a tablet that offered both active ingredients in the same dosage strengths, the compounded drug would be essentially a copy absent a prescriber determination of clinical difference.

6.7 OTC Drugs

6.7.1 A compounded drug product is essentially a copy and cannot be compounded under section 503B if a component of the compounded drug product is a bulk drug substance that is also a component of a covered OTC drug, unless there is a change that produces for an individual patient a clinical difference, as determined by the prescribing practitioner, between the compounded drug and the comparable approved drug.

6.8 Recordkeeping

6.8.1 Records shall be maintained that demonstrate compliance with the essentially a copy provision on section 503B(a)(5).

6.8.1.1 Prescription and/or order records of a prescriber's determination of clinical difference shall be retained.

6.8.2 If a compounded drug considered to be identical or nearly identical to an approved product that appeared on FDA's drug shortage list is made the facility shall maintain documentation (e.g., a notation on the order for the compounded drug) regarding the status of the drug on FDA's drug shortage list at the time of compounding, distribution, and dispensing.

6.8.3 Record shall be retained for at least three (3) years.

Pharmacist Name: Mary Grear, RPh NV Pharmacist License #: 10687

As the employed/contracted pharmacist, for (ASC/RC Name): Centennial Specialty Surgery Center :

I understand that I am responsible for establishing policies and procedures which (NAC 639.4996):

a) Are consistent with the policies and procedures developed pursuant to NAC 639.447;
b) Require to maintain records in accordance with the provisions of NAC 639.485 and 639.485;
c) Address the purchase, storage, maintenance of records and dispensing of drugs and investigational drugs;
d) Require maintenance of a perpetual inventory of all controlled substances;
e) Prescribe the procedure for quarantining and destroying drugs and investigational drugs that are expired, adulterated, mislabeled or otherwise unsafe for human use;
f) Require the storage of drugs and investigational drugs in accordance with the specifications of the manufacturer;
g) Ensure that the ASC and RC dispenses drugs and investigational drugs pursuant to chart orders and in accordance with applicable state and federal laws; and
h) Ensure that all compounding is
    a. Performed by a registered pharmacist in accordance with the provisions of NRS and NAC 639; or
    b. If performed by an employee of the ASC or RC, other than a registered pharmacist, performed:
        i. In accordance with the provisions of NRS and NAC 639;
        ii. In a location designated for compounding that is clean and disinfected before each act of compounding; and
        iii. By a person who has completed training for the type of compounding that will be performed.

I understand that I shall (NAC 639.4998):

a) Visit the ASC or RC at least once each month to:
    a. Evaluate the effectiveness of the policies and procedures established pursuant to NAC 693.4996; and
    b. Confirm that the ASC or RC is complying with those policies and procedures, the below provisions.
b) Maintain documentation of each visit that the pharmacist makes;
c) Conduct an audit at least once each month using a sufficient number of records of the ASC or RC, including, without limitation, records of patients and records relating to the purchasing, storing and dispensing of drugs and investigational drugs, which must be randomly selected, to determine whether:
    a. The records indicate that the drugs and investigational drugs are dispensed in a safe and effective manner in accordance with accepted standards of practice and the specifications of the manufacturer;
    b. Drugs and investigational drugs are diluted in accordance with accepted standards of practice or pursuant to the specifications of the manufacturer;
    c. The records demonstrate:
        ii. That drugs, not including investigational drugs, which are in vials designated by the manufacturer for a single use and any remaining medication in those vials are discarded after use;
    d. The records demonstrate that drugs, not including investigational drugs, which are in vials designated by the manufacturer for more than one use are discarded when the medication in the vials has expired or not more than 28 days after the initial breach of the vial;
    e. The employees of the ASC or RC properly maintain accurate records relating to drugs and investigational drugs; and
    f. The employees of the ASC or RC properly monitor and maintain the perpetual inventory required pursuant to paragraph (d) of subsection 1 of NAC 639.4996; and
d) Submit a written report, including, without limitation, a written explanation, to the Board not later than 5 business days after the pharmacist determines that:
    a. The ASC or RC is violating a state or federal law which affects the care and safety of a patient;
    b. There is a discrepancy of 5 percent or more between the actual quantity of a controlled substance in the possession of the ASC or RC and the amount of the controlled substance that should be in the possession of the ASC or RC according to the records of the ASC or RC, including, without limitation:
        i. Purchase orders and invoices for the controlled substance;
        ii. Records which indicate the removal of the controlled substance from the storage area;
        iii. Patient records;
        iv. Records which indicate the return of the controlled substance to the manufacturer;
        v. Records which indicate that the controlled substance was destroyed; and
        vi. Any other record for the controlled substance;
    c. The recovery center or surgical center has intentionally or recklessly failed to create or maintain a record required by the policie and procedures established pursuant to NAC 639.4996;
    d. The recovery center or surgical center is administering a drug or an investigational drug in violation of accepted standards of practice or the specifications of the manufacturer; or
    e. The recovery center or surgical center is engaged in a practice which endangers the health, safety or welfare of a patient or employee of the recovery center or surgical center.

Provide explanation below: A complaint was made concerning grants to PRN, Inc. Board sent notice of request for hearing to the wrong address even though the correct address was on file at the Board. This resulted in my not being aware that I needed to appear until after the Board Meeting. I subsequently prepared the requested documents and submitted them to Board auditors who found no discrepancies in the funds granted by the Board of Pharmacy to PRN and the expense record under my administration. A rehearing was held and the case was closed finding all monies were accounted for the PRN, Inc grants.

Explanation regarding the public reprimand issued by the Nevada State Board of Medical Examiners:

The public reprimand from the Nevada State Board of Examiners was issued in response to violating NRS 630.301(3), receiving a disciplinary action from another jurisdiction. In this case, a public reprimand from the Medical Board of California, Department of Consumer Affairs.

The public reprimand was for a deficiency in recordkeeping. The records for four patients were reviewed and a few items were found to be incomplete. These deficiencies were primarily a result of the practice's transition to a new EMR. Our practice successfully transitioned to the new EMR and a medical recordkeeping course was taken and all recordkeeping issues have been resolved.

I write this letter not because I need to justify myself, rather I do so because I sincerely believe that both me and my practice are an asset to each of the communities we serve and provide exceptional dermatologic care and wish to continue to provide it to your members.

Sincerely,

Daniel Taheri, MD

Date of Action: 03/08/2016

I have been practicing dermatology for over 20 years without any issues. I was a Regents Scholar and given the Valentine Award, the highest honor bestowed upon a UCLA medical school graduate.

A few years back, we had a couple of complaints to the medical board that in my opinion, were meritless. To my shock and surprise, the medical board, despite my attorney and my vehement objections, picked Bernard Raskin as the expert in the case. Raskin has been our main competitor in Valencia and we have had a number of run-ins since we began our practice in town. When we started our practice in Valencia in 2002, he responded by writing derogatory articles in the local paper about us and we were forced to hire an attorney to write letters to cease his behavior. We continued to have significant issues with him in the ensuing years.

Despite our objections, the board for some reason refused to replace him, mostly because Raskin persisted that he was unbiased. Raskin proceeded to formulate a number of complaints against my level of care in the treatment of these patients that were completely unfounded. We had no choice but to hire an expert who systematically refuted all his allegations. The charges were all dismissed but there were deficiencies in our medical notes, some including the charts not being finalized contemporaneously with the date of service. Most of these issues were due to the rudimentary versions of EMR and the difficult in adjusting to the EMR. Nonetheless, I accepted the public reprimand and took a notekeeping course.

Regards,

Daniel Taheri, MD

On March 05, 2021, the Texas Medical Board offered an "Agreed Order" based on the action taken by the California Medical Board in 2016. The public reprimand from Texas Medical Board was issued, per Section 164.051 of the Act authorizes the Board to impose disciplinary action against Applicant for disciplinary action taken against his license to practice medicine by another state.

In April 2016, the California Medical Board issued a public reprimanded for recordkeeping violation. This deficiency accord during the time the practice was in transition to new EMR. The reprimand was accepted and note keeping course was completed.

Thank you,

Section 7: Employed/Contracted Pharmacist (MUST BE COMPLETED BY the Employed/Contracted Pharmacist)

Pharmacist Name: Mary Grear, RPh NV Pharmacist License #: 10687

As the employed/contracted pharmacist, for (ASC/RC Name): Mountain West Surgical Center :

I understand that I am responsible for establishing policies and procedures which (NAC 639.4996):

a) Are consistent with the policies and procedures developed pursuant to NAC 639.447;
b) Require to maintain records in accordance with the provisions of NAC 639.48S and 639.485;
c) Address the purchase, storage, maintenance of records and dispensing of drugs and investigational drugs;
d) Require maintenance of a perpetual inventory of all controlled substances;
e) Prescribe the procedure for quarantining and destroying drugs and investigational drugs that are expired, adulterated, mislabeled or otherwise unsafe for human use;
f) Require the storage of drugs and investigational drugs in accordance with the specifications of the manufacturer;
g) Ensure that the ASC and RC dispenses drugs and investigational drugs pursuant to chart orders and in accordance with applicable state and federal laws; and
h) Ensure that all compounding is
    a. Performed by a registered pharmacist in accordance with the provisions of NRS and NAC 639; or
    b. If performed by an employee of the ASC or RC, other than a registered pharmacist, performed:
        i. In accordance with the provisions of NRS and NAC 639;
        ii. In a location designated for compounding that is clean and disinfected before each act of compounding; and
        iii. By a person who has completed training for the type of compounding that will be performed.

I understand that I shall (NAC 639.4998):

a) Visit the ASC or RC at least once each month to:
    a. Evaluate the effectiveness of the policies and procedures established pursuant to NAC 693.4996; and
    b. Confirm that the ASC or RC is complying with those policies and procedures, the below provisions.
b) Maintain documentation of each visit that the pharmacist makes;
c) Conduct an audit at least once each month using a sufficient number of records of the ASC or RC, including, without limitation, records of patients and records relating to the purchasing, storing and dispensing of drugs and investigational drugs, which must be randomly selected, to determine whether:
    a. The records indicate that the drugs and investigational drugs are dispensed in a safe and effective manner in accordance with accepted standards of practice and the specifications of the manufacturer;
    b. Drugs and investigational drugs are diluted in accordance with accepted standards of practice or pursuant to the specifications of the manufacturer;
    c. The records demonstrate:
        ii. That drugs, not including investigational drugs, which are in vials designated by the manufacturer for a single use and any remaining medication in those vials are discarded after use;
    d. The records demonstrate that drugs, not including investigational drugs, which are in vials designated by the manufacturer for more than one use are discarded when the medication in the vials has expired or not more than 28 days after the initial breach of the vial;
    e. The employees of the ASC or RC properly maintain accurate records relating to drugs and investigational drugs; and
    f. The employees of the ASC or RC properly monitor and maintain the perpetual inventory required pursuant to paragraph (d) of subsection 1 of NAC 639.4996; and
d) Submit a written report, including, without limitation, a written explanation, to the Board not later than 5 business days after the pharmacist determines that:
    a. The ASC or RC is violating a state or federal law which affects the care and safety of a patient;
    b. There is a discrepancy of 5 percent or more between the actual quantity of a controlled substance in the possession of the ASC or RC and the amount of the controlled substance that should be in the possession of the ASC or RC according to the records of the ASC or RC, including, without limitation:
        i. Purchase orders and invoices for the controlled substance;
        ii. Records which indicate the removal of the controlled substance from the storage area;
        iii. Patient records;
        iv. Records which indicate the return of the controlled substance to the manufacturer;
        v. Records which indicate that the controlled substance was destroyed; and
        vi. Any other record for the controlled substance;
    c. The recovery center or surgical center has intentionally or recklessly failed to create or maintain a record required by the policies and procedures established pursuant to NAC 639.4996;
    d. The recovery center or surgical center is administering a drug or an investigational drug in violation of accepted standards of practice or the specifications of the manufacturer; or
    e. The recovery center or surgical center is engaged in a practice which endangers the health, safety or welfare of a patient or employee of the recovery center or surgical center.

Section 8: Personal and Professional History of the Employed/Contracted Pharmacist	Yes	No
1. Have you been diagnosed or treated for any mental illness, including alcohol or substance abuse, or physical condition that would impair your ability to perform the essential functions of your license?		✔
2. Have you been charged, arrested, or convicted of a felony or misdemeanor in any state?		✔

Reason/Charge
Complaint concerning records of PRN, Inc

Plaintiff/Defendant/Claimant/Respondent	Lawsuit/Arbitration/Bankruptcy
Mary Grear

Name of Business/Industry/Entity
PRN, Inc.

Provide explanation below:

A complaint was made concerning grants made by the Board of Pharmacy to PRN, Inc. to Mary Grear, Executive Director. The Board of Pharmacy sent notice of a request for hearing to the wrong mailing address even though the correct address was on file at the Board Office. This resulted in my not being aware that I needed to appear until after the Board Meeting. I subsequently prepared the requested documents and submitted them to the Board Auditors who found no discrepencies in the funds granted by the Board of Pharmacy to PRN and the expense record under my administration. A rehearing was held and the case was closed finding all monies wre accounted for the PRN, Inc. grants.

PROPOSED REGULATION OF THE

LCB File No. R040-21

December 29, 2021

EXPLANATION – Matter in italics is new; matter in brackets [~~omitted material~~] is material to be omitted AUTHORITY: §§ 1 and 2, NRS 639.070, 639.120 and 639.134.

A REGULATION relating to the practice of pharmacy; revising the requirement that an applicant for a certificate as a registered pharmacist complete a certain number of hours of practical pharmaceutical experience as an intern pharmacist under the direct and immediate supervision of a registered pharmacist; revising the requirements for the issuance of a certificate as a registered pharmacist by reciprocity; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law authorizes the State Board of Pharmacy to adopt regulations governing the practice of pharmacy. (NRS 639.070, 639.120) Existing law requires an applicant for a certificate as a registered pharmacist to complete not less than 1,500 hours of practical pharmaceutical experience as an intern pharmacist under the direct and immediate supervision of a registered pharmacist. (NRS 639.120) Existing regulations establish that 1,740 hours of such practical pharmaceutical experience as an intern pharmacist are required to satisfy the requirement of not less than 1,500 hours of such practical pharmaceutical experience. (NAC 639.208) Section 1 of this regulation removes the requirement that an applicant complete 1,740 hours of such practical pharmaceutical experience, thereby requiring an applicant to complete not less than 1,500 hours of such practical pharmaceutical experience pursuant to existing law.

Existing law authorizes the Board to grant an application for a certificate as a registered pharmacist, without requiring an examination, if the person (1) is registered as a pharmacist in another jurisdiction which requires the person to pass an examination in order to be registered in that jurisdiction; (2) produces evidence satisfactory to the Board that the person has the required secondary and professional education and training; and (3) is of good moral character. (NRS 639.120, 639.134) Section 1 authorizes such an applicant to satisfy the requirement to provide evidence of having the required secondary and professional education and training by providing evidence that the applicant has satisfied the requirements of reciprocation of the Electronic Licensure Transfer Program of the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy.

Section 2 of this regulation establishes that the provisions of this regulation apply to any applicant who has submitted an application for a certificate as a registered pharmacist before the effective date of this regulation if the Board has not been approved or denied the application before the effective date of this regulation.

Section 1. NAC 639.208 is hereby amended to read as follows:

639.208 ~~[For the purposes of paragraph (d) of subsection 1 of NRS 639.120, an]~~ An applicant for a certificate as a registered pharmacist in this State ~~[must complete 1,740 hours of practical pharmaceutical experience as an intern pharmacist under the direct and immediate supervision of a registered pharmacist.]~~ by reciprocity pursuant to NRS 639.134 may provide evidence that the applicant has satisfied the requirements of paragraphs (b) and (d) of subsection 1 of NRS 639.120 by completing the requirements of reciprocation of the Electronic Licensure Transfer Program of the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy.

Sec. 2. The amendatory provisions of this regulation apply to any applicant for a certificate as a registered pharmacist who has submitted an application for such a certificate to the State Board of Pharmacy before the effective date of this regulation if the Board has not approved or denied the application before the effective date of this regulation.

A REGULATION relating to pharmacy; requiring certain euthanasia technicians to register with the State Board of Pharmacy; revising requirements for certain applications with the Board; increasing certain fees; clarifying that an applicant for registration as a pharmacist or pharmaceutical technician is required to undergo a criminal background check in certain circumstances; revising requirements for an outsourcing facility that is engaged in the compounding of sterile drugs; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law requires every practitioner or other person who dispenses any controlled substance within this State or who proposes to engage in the dispensing of any controlled substance within this State to obtain a registration issued by the State Board of Pharmacy in accordance with its regulations. (NRS 453.226) Existing regulations prescribe the prerequisites for a euthanasia technician to possess and administer sodium pentobarbital, including registering with the Board. (NAC 638.510) Section 2 of this regulation requires a euthanasia technician who possesses or administers or who proposes to possess or administer sodium pentobarbital within this State to obtain a registration issued by the Board.

Existing law provides that an application for registration as a pharmacist is only valid for 1 year after the date it is received by the Board. (NRS 639.127) Existing regulations require an applicant for a certificate as a registered pharmacist to provide all information and make all appearances required by the Board within 1 year after passing the North American Pharmacist

Licensure Examination. (NAC 639.205) Section 3 of this regulation provides that an application for any certificate, license or permit issued by the Board is only valid for 1 year after the application is received by the Board.

Senate Bill No. 408 of the 2021 Legislative Session increased the maximum fees that the Board is authorized to impose for the investigation or issuance or the renewal of a license as a manufacturer or wholesaler from $500 to $1,000. (section 7 of Senate Bill No. 408, chapter 218, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 1019) Section 5 of this regulation amends existing regulations to increase those fees from $500 to $1,000.

Existing law requires an applicant for registration as a pharmacist or a pharmaceutical technician to submit his or her fingerprints to the Board for the purpose of conducting criminal background check. (NRS 639.127, as amended by section 5 of Senate Bill No. 408, chapter 218, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 1018, NRS 639.1371, as amended by section 6 of Senate Bill No. 408, chapter 218, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 1019)

Section 6 of this regulation makes a conforming change to clarify in the Nevada Administrative Code that an applicant for registration as a pharmaceutical technician is required to comply with this requirement. Section 4 of this regulation makes a conforming change to account for changes in numbering made by section 6. Section 7 of this regulation authorizes an applicant for registration as a pharmacist or a pharmaceutical technician to submit his or her fingerprints electronically to the Board. Section 9 of this regulation requires an applicant for registration as a pharmacist or pharmaceutical technician to submit a second set of fingerprints if his or her first set of fingerprints is rejected by the Central Repository for Nevada Records of Criminal History.

Existing regulations prescribe certain duties for an outsourcing facility that is engaged in the compounding of sterile drugs in this State or for shipment into this State. (NAC 639.6915) Section 8 of this regulation requires such a facility to submit an application for a license as a manufacturer in accordance with existing law on a form prescribed by the Board.

Section 1. Chapter 639 of NAC is hereby amended by adding thereto the provisions set forth as sections 2 and 3 of this regulation.

Sec. 2. 1. A euthanasia technician who possesses or administers or proposes to possess or administer sodium pentobarbital pursuant to NAC 638.510 must apply to the Board on a form prescribed by the Board for a certificate of registration pursuant to NRS 453.226.

2. Any certificate of registration issued pursuant to subsection 1 is a revocable privilege and no holder of such a certificate acquires any vested right therein or thereunder.

3. As used in this section, "euthanasia technician" has the meaning ascribed to it in NRS 638.005.

Sec. 3. Except as otherwise provided in NAC 639.205, an application for any certificate, license or permit issued by the Board is valid for 1 year after the date on which the application is received by the Board unless the Board extends the period of validity for the application. An applicant who fails to provide all required information or make all required appearances within 1 year after that date must submit a new application for the applicable certificate, license or permit.

Sec. 4. NAC 639.010 is hereby amended to read as follows:

639.010 As used in this chapter, unless the context otherwise requires:

PROPOSED REGULATION OF THE

LCB File No. R013-21

October 28, 2021

EXPLANATION – Matter in italics is new; matter in brackets [~~omitted material~~] is material to be omitted.

AUTHORITY: § 1, NRS 639.070; § 2, NRS 639.070 and 639.2655.

A REGULATION relating to pharmacy; establishing certain fees relating to the use of an automated drug dispensing system or a mechanical device at certain locations; authorizing a pharmacy to dispense prescription drugs to a patient using an automated drug dispensing system under certain circumstances; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law authorizes the State Board of Pharmacy to adopt regulations relating to the practice of pharmacy as necessary for the protection of the public. Existing law authorizes the Board to adopt regulations governing the dispensing, recordkeeping, storage and handling of drugs. Additionally, existing law authorizes the Board to charge and collect fees for any incidental service the Board provides. (NRS 639.070) Existing law further allows a pharmacist to use computerized mechanical equipment to perform work that a pharmacist is authorized to perform by law in accordance with the regulations adopted by the Board. (NRS 639.2655)

Under existing regulations, the Board has adopted a schedule of fees for certain applications, licenses and registrations. (NAC 639.220) Section 1 of this regulation adds fees for the licensing of an automated drug dispensing system and the certification of certain mechanical devices to the schedule of fees. Section 1 also makes a conforming change by removing a reference to a previously deleted fee.

Existing regulations authorize pharmacies and medical facilities to use mechanical devices to dispense drugs to a patient. (NAC 639.718, 639.720) Section 2 of this regulation establishes certain requirements that a pharmacy must follow to use an automated drug dispensing system. Section 2 requires an automated drug dispensing system to track who uses the system, what drugs are in the system, the temperature of the system and other information to ensure that the drugs in the system are safely stored and only dispensed to a person authorized to receive the dispensed drug. Section 2 of this regulation further requires the Board to issue a license to a pharmacy for an automated drug dispensing system upon approval of an application for a license by the Board and payment of the requisite fee.

(4) Monitor the temperature of the system or be able to have a device installed to monitor the temperature of the system, including, without limitation, an alarm that records when the temperature of the system reaches a level outside the range compatible with the proper storage of a prescription drug and a method to notify the pharmacy of the temperature change.

(5) Create and maintain a complete, accurate and readily retrievable record of all transactions. The record must include, without limitation:

(I) The name, strength, quantity and form of dosage of each prescription drug stocked, inventoried, removed or dispensed from the system;

(II) Each day and time the system is accessed;

(III) An inventory of the prescription drugs stored in the system; and

(IV) The identity of each person who accesses the system.

(6) Restrict access to a patient who previously has indicated to the pharmacy that the patient desires that his or her prescription drugs be ~~[furnished]~~ dispensed by the ~~[mechanical device.]~~ system.

~~[(4) Provides]~~ (7) Provide a method to identify the patient and ~~[furnishes]~~ dispense a prescription drug only to the patient or to an authorized agent of the patient.

~~[(5) Can furnish]~~ (8) Dispense one, any combination or all of the prescription drugs available to a patient at the option of the patient at the time that the patient removes the prescription drugs from the ~~[device.]~~ system.

~~[(6) Records]~~ (9) Record the date and time that the patient removes the prescription drugs from the ~~[device.]~~ system.

~~[(7) Informs]~~ (10) Inform a patient:

(I) That a prescription drug is not available to be ~~[furnished]~~ dispensed by the ~~[device]~~ system if the pharmacist wishes to counsel the patient regarding the prescription drug.

in real time, with a registered pharmacist who has access to any patient record necessary for counseling the patient in compliance with NAC 639.707 and 639.708.

(IV) That the patient may choose not to purchase the prescription drug from the system at any time before the system dispenses the prescription drug.

(11) Dispense all prescription drugs in containers labeled in conformance with NRS 639.2801.

(12) Be installed in such a place and manner that a person is unable to remove the system from its location and any attempts to obtain access to the device without authorization are visible to the pharmacist of the pharmacy either through the system being in view of the pharmacist or by real-time audio-visual communication technology or audio-visual recording technology.

(13) Be located in a:

(I) Pharmacy;

(II) Medical facility, as defined in subsections 1 to 14, inclusive, or 16 of NRS 449.0151; or

(III) Practice site of one or more practitioners of medicine.

(14) Be approved for use by the Board upon determination that the system:

(I) Dispenses prescription drugs accurately; and

(II) Otherwise satisfies the provisions of this section.

~~[2. A pharmacy shall not use a mechanical device to furnish a prescription drug to a patient until the pharmacy has notified the Board in writing of:~~

~~(a) The type of device that will be used; and~~

~~(b) The anticipated date that the device will first be used.]~~

4. A pharmacy that dispenses prescription drugs by an automated drug dispensing system pursuant to this section shall maintain a written policy that sets forth:

(a) The duties of all persons who are authorized to access the system; and

(b) The procedures for:

(1) Maintaining the security of the prescription drugs stored in the system during the maintenance and repair of the system;

(2) The preparation of an inventory of the prescription drugs stored in the system; and

(3) Stocking the system with prescription drugs.

5. A pharmacy that dispenses prescription drugs through an automated drug dispensing system pursuant to this section shall comply with all applicable federal and state recordkeeping requirements and shall maintain those records in a readily retrievable manner separate from other pharmacy records.

6. Prescription drugs stored in an automated drug dispensing system pursuant to this section shall be deemed part of the inventory and the responsibility of the pharmacy that was issued the license for the system. Prescription drugs dispensed from the system shall be considered to have been dispensed by that pharmacy.

~~[3.]~~ 7. The Board may prohibit a pharmacy from using a ~~[mechanical device]~~ system to furnish a prescription drug to a patient if the Board determines that the ~~[device]~~ system or the pharmacy's use of the ~~[device]~~ system does not comply with this section.

~~[4.]~~ 8. The provisions of this section do not prohibit the use of a ~~[mechanical device]~~ system to furnish a drug or device that is approved by the Food and Drug Administration for sale over the counter without a prescription if the pharmacy using the ~~[mechanical device]~~ system is otherwise authorized to use the ~~[mechanical device]~~ system pursuant to this section.

9. As used in this section:

(a) "Automated drug dispensing system" means a system that performs operations, other than compounding or administration, related to the storage and dispensing of drugs.

(b) "User-based access technology" means software or hardware that restricts access to the system to authorized users by requiring two-factor authentication. Authentication factors may include, without limitation, knowledge, hardware tokens or biometric information.

Sec. 2. NAC 639.718 is hereby amended to read as follows:

639.718 1. Except as otherwise provided in this section, a pharmacy may use ~~[a mechanical device to furnish]~~ an automated drug dispensing system to dispense a prescription drug to a patient if the pharmacy obtained a license from the Board for the automated drug dispensing system.

2. The Board will provide to a pharmacy an application for a license for an automated drug dispensing system upon request. The Board will issue a license for an automated drug dispensing system if the application for a license is approved and the requisite fee is paid. A license must be:

(a) Issued for each automated drug dispensing system at a designated location; and

(b) Posted on the system so that the license is visible to the public.

3. The ~~[device]~~ automated drug dispensing system must conform to all of the following provisions:

(a) The ~~[device]~~ system must contain only prescription drugs:

(1) Approved for use in the system by a registered pharmacist employed by the pharmacy;

~~[(1)]~~ (2) For which counseling is not required pursuant to NAC 639.707~~[;]~~, unless the system uses user-based access technology that includes, without limitation, an audio-visual

Conforming Amendments to NAC 639.720:

1. A license shall not be required for a mechanical device in a hospital that meets the requirements of this section.

2. The mechanical device must conform to all the following provisions:

(a) All drugs and medicines stocked in the device must be approved for use in the device by a registered pharmacist employed by the:

(1) Medical facility in which the drug or medicine is administered; or

(2) Pharmacy that supplies the medical facility in which the drug or medicine is administered.

(b) Access to the device must be:

(1) Limited to pharmaceutical technicians, pharmaceutical technicians in training, intern pharmacists, registered pharmacists, licensed practical nurses, registered nurses or other practitioners who are:

(I) Authorized by law to prescribe or administer controlled substances, poisons, or dangerous drugs and devices; and

(II) Employed by the medical facility or pharmacy that supplies the medical facility.

(2) Monitored and controlled by the pharmacy which supplies the medical facility or the registered pharmacist who is employed by the medical facility.

(c) Each container of a drug or medicine stored in the device must be labeled in a manner which includes the information required pursuant to subsection 2 of NAC 639.476.

(d) The device must be designed in such a manner that:

(1) Each time a person obtains access to the device, the device automatically prepares a record which is readily retrievable and which includes:

(I) The name, strength, quantity and form of dosage of the drug or medicine which is stocked, inventoried or removed for administration to a patient;

(II) The day and time access to the device is obtained;

(III) If a drug or medicine is removed for administration to a patient, the name of the patient;

(IV) An inventory of the drugs and medicines stored in the device; and

(V) The name of the person who obtained access to the device.

(2) Access to the device may be obtained only by a person with the use of a code which identifies that person.

3. ~~[2.]~~ A pharmacy which supplies drugs and medicines to a medical facility which are furnished by a mechanical device pursuant to subsection 1 shall maintain a written policy which sets forth:

(a) The duties of all persons who are authorized to obtain access to the device; and

(b) The procedure for:

(1) Maintaining the security of the drugs and medicines stored in the device during the maintenance and repair of the device;

(2) The preparation of an inventory of the drugs and medicines stored in the device; and

(3) Stocking the device with drugs and medicines.

~~[3. A pharmacy which supplies drugs or medicines to a medical facility which uses a mechanical device to furnish drugs or medicines for administration to patients pursuant to subsection 1 shall provide written notice to the Board. The notice must include:~~

~~(a) A description of each mechanical device used by the medical facility to furnish drugs or medicines for administration to patients, including, without limitation, the name of the manufacturer of the device; and~~

~~(b) The address of the medical facility at which the mechanical device is located.]~~

4. The Board will issue a license for mechanical device if the application for a license is approved and the requisite fee is paid. A license ~~[pharmacy shall not stock a mechanical device with drugs or medicines and a mechanical device must not be used to furnish drugs or medicines for administration to patients until:~~

~~(a) The pharmacy has notified the Board as required by subsection 3; and~~

~~(b) The Board has issued a certificate to the pharmacy that]~~ authorizes the use of the mechanical device at the medical facility at which the mechanical device is located.

5. Each medical facility that uses a mechanical device pursuant to subsection 1 must make and maintain a record of any waste of a controlled substance in the manner provided in NAC 639.486. The record of any waste of a controlled substance may be prepared:

(a) By the mechanical device if the mechanical device is capable of making and maintaining such a record and documenting the record of the waste being witnessed by another person as provided in paragraph (g) of subsection 1 of NAC 639.486; or

(b) As a written record.

6. A mechanical device may be used to furnish drugs and medicines for administration to a patient receiving treatment in the emergency room of a hospital. The device must conform to all the following provisions:

(a) All drugs and medicines stocked in the device must be approved for use in the device by a registered pharmacist employed by or contracted with the:

(1) Hospital in which the drug or medicine is furnished; or

(2) Pharmacy that supplies the hospital in which the drug or medicine is furnished.

(b) Access to the device for the purposes of stocking, inventory and monitoring must be limited to pharmaceutical technicians, pharmaceutical technicians in training, intern pharmacists or registered pharmacists employed by the hospital or the pharmacy that supplies the hospital.

(c) ~~[Use of the device to furnish a drug or medicine to a patient must be:~~

~~(I) Is authorized by law to prescribe controlled substances or dangerous drugs;~~

~~(II) Is employed by or who has privileges at the hospital;~~

~~(III) Prescribed the drug or medicine that is furnished to the patient;~~

~~(IV) Personally verifies the correctness of the prescription for the drug or medicine before he or she furnishes it to the patient; and~~

~~(V) Has offered to the patient the choice of being provided a prescription that may be filled at a pharmacy, which offer first must be declined by the patient before the prescription is transmitted to the mechanical device to fill and furnish the prescription [; or~~

~~(2) By the patient where:~~

~~(I) The device requires from the patient a unique code known only to the patient to allow the patient to access the device; and~~

~~(II) The patient is notified by the device that he or she may choose not to purchase the drug or medicine from the device at any time before the device furnishes the drug or medicine.~~

~~(d) Each container of a drug or medicine dispensed by the device is labeled pursuant to NRS 639.2801.]~~

(d) ~~[(c)]~~ The device must be designed in such a manner that:

(1) Each time a person obtains access to the device, the device automatically prepares a record which is readily retrievable and which includes:

(I) The name, strength, quantity and form of dosage of the drug or medicine which is stocked, inventoried or removed for ~~[dispensing]~~ administration to a patient;

(II) The day and time access to the device is obtained;

(III) If a drug or medicine is removed for ~~[dispensing]~~ administration to a patient, the name of the patient;

PROPOSED REGULATION OF THE

LCB File No. R039-21

November 4, 2021

EXPLANATION – Matter in italics is new, matter in brackets [~~omitted material~~] is material to be omitted

AUTHORITY: §§ 1-5, NRS 639.070 and section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201.

A REGULATION relating to pharmacy; prescribing training that is required for a pharmacist to be authorized to prescribe, dispense and administer certain drugs for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus; prescribing certain requirements concerning the prescribing, dispensing and administering of those drugs by a pharmacist; adopting certain publications by reference; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law requires the State Board of Pharmacy to adopt regulations that establish a protocol to authorize a pharmacist to: (1) order and perform laboratory tests that are necessary for therapy that uses a drug approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus; and (2) prescribe, dispense and administer any of those drugs to a patient. (Section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201)

Section 2 of this regulation requires a pharmacist to complete certain training concerning the prescribing, dispensing and administering of drugs approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus before prescribing, dispensing or administering such drugs. Section 2 also requires a pharmacist who prescribes, dispenses or administers such drugs to maintain and make readily available proof of completion of that course of training. Section 2 additionally requires such a pharmacist to maintain professional liability insurance coverage of at least $1,000,000.

Section 3 of this regulation requires a pharmacist to complete an assessment of the patient prior to prescribing, dispensing or administering a preexposure prophylaxis drug. Section 3 authorizes a pharmacist to prescribe, dispense or administer a postexposure prophylaxis drug immediately to a patient exposed to the human immunodeficiency virus and requires the pharmacist to complete an assessment to continue the treatment after the initial dispensing or administering of such a drug. Section 3 also requires a pharmacist who prescribes, dispenses or administers a preexposure prophylaxis drug or postexposure prophylaxis drug to provide counsel and certain information to the patient.

Section 4 of this regulation adopts by reference certain guidelines from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention of the United States Department of Health and Human Services. Section 5 of this regulation requires a pharmacist to comply with those guidelines when prescribing, dispensing and administering drugs approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus. Section 5 authorizes a pharmacist to prescribe, dispense and administer not more than a 30-day supply of such a drug without completing the laboratory testing required by those guidelines and section 3 under certain circumstances. Section 5 additionally requires a pharmacist who prescribes, dispenses or administers such a drug to establish and adhere to a plan of care for treatment using the drug.

Section 1. Chapter 639 of NAC is hereby amended by adding thereto the provisions set forth as sections 2 to 5, inclusive, of this regulation.

Sec. 2. 1. A pharmacist may prescribe, dispense and administer drugs approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus pursuant to section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201, if the pharmacist has completed a course of training concerning treatment using such drugs. The course must be:

(a) Approved by the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education, or its successor organization; or

(b) Offered by a college of pharmacy or department of pharmacy at a university accredited by the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education, or its successor organization.

2. A pharmacist who prescribes, dispenses or administers drugs approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus pursuant to section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201, shall maintain and make readily available proof of completion of a course completed pursuant to subsection 1 while the pharmacist prescribes, dispenses or administers such drugs, as applicable, and for at least 2 years following that prescribing, dispensing or administering.

3. A pharmacist who prescribes, dispenses or administers drugs approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus pursuant to section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201, shall maintain professional liability insurance coverage of at least $1,000,000.

Sec. 3. 1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2 of section 5 of this regulation, a pharmacist shall, before prescribing, dispensing or administering a preexposure prophylaxis drug pursuant to section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201, complete an assessment of the patient that includes, without limitation:

(a) A test for human immunodeficiency virus;

(b) A test for renal function;

(c) A test for hepatitis B; and

(d) An evaluation for any signs and symptoms of acute human immunodeficiency virus infection.

2. A pharmacist may prescribe, dispense or administer a postexposure prophylaxis drug pursuant to section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201, immediately upon the request of a patient who has recently been exposed to human immunodeficiency virus. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2 of section 5 of this regulation, the pharmacist shall, before continuation of treatment using such drugs beyond the initial prescribing, dispensing or administering, complete an assessment of the patient that includes, without limitation:

(a) A test for human immunodeficiency virus;

(b) A pregnancy test if the patient is a woman of child-bearing age;

(c) A test for liver function;

(d) A test for renal function;

(e) A test and screening for sexually transmitted infections;

(f) A test for hepatitis B; and

(g) A test for hepatitis C.

3. Upon prescribing, dispensing or administering a preexposure prophylaxis drug or a postexposure prophylaxis drug pursuant to section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201, a pharmacist shall counsel the patient and provide information on the drug dispensed or administered, including, without limitation:

(a) The proper administration and storage of the medication;

(b) The proper dosage of the medication;

(c) The effectiveness of the medication;

(d) The potential side effects of the medication;

(e) The need to be regularly tested for human immunodeficiency virus;

(f) The need to adhere to the treatment; and

(g) The inability of the drug to prevent sexually transmitted infections other that the human immunodeficiency virus.

4. As used in this section:

(a) "Preexposure prophylaxis drug" means a drug approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus that is designed to be administered before exposure to the virus.

(b) "Postexposure prophylaxis drug" means a drug approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus that is designed to be administered after exposure to the virus.

Sec. 4. 1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2, the following publications are hereby adopted by reference:

(a) "Preexposure Prophylaxis for the Prevention of HIV Infection in the United States - 2017 Update - A Clinical Practice Guideline," published by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention of the United States Department of Health and Human Services. A copy of this publication may be obtained free of charge at the Internet address https://www.cdc.gov/hiv/pdf/risk/prep/cdc-hiv-prep-guidelines-2017.pdf or, if that Internet website ceases to exist, from the Board.

(b) "Updated Guidelines for Antiretroviral Postexposure Prophylaxis After Sexual, Injection Drug Use, or Other Nonoccupational Exposure to HIV" published by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention of the United States Department of Health and Human Services. A copy of this publication may be obtained free of charge at the Internet address https://www.cdc.gov/hiv/pdf/programresources/cdc-hiv-npep-guidelines.pdf or, if that Internet website ceases to exist, from the Board.

2. Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, the most current version of a publication adopted by reference in subsection 1 which is published will be deemed to be adopted by reference. The Board will periodically review and determine, within 30 days after the review, whether any change made to a publication listed in subsection 1 is appropriate for application in this State. If the Board does not disapprove a change to an adopted publication within 30 days after the review, the change is deemed to be approved by the Board.

Sec. 5. 1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2, a pharmacist shall comply with the publications adopted by reference in section 4 of this regulation when prescribing, dispensing and administering drugs approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus pursuant to section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201.

2. A pharmacist may prescribe, dispense and administer up to a 30-day supply of a drug approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus to continue treatment without completing the requirements for laboratory testing prescribed in section 3 of this regulation or the publications adopted by reference in section 4 of this regulation if the pharmacist:

(a) Makes a good faith effort to obtain and review the laboratory history of the patient;

(b) Completes an assessment of the patient;

(c) Reviews potential adverse side effects with the patient; and

(d) Determines that the benefit of continuing the treatment outweighs the risk of not continuing the treatment.

3. A pharmacist who dispenses or administers a drug approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus pursuant to section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201, must establish and adhere to a plan of care for treatment using the drug. The plan must include, without limitation, support and ongoing assessment as required by the publications adopted by reference in section 4 of this regulation.

REVISED PROPOSED REGULATION OF THE

LCB File No. R039-21

February 7, 2022

EXPLANATION – Matter in italics is new; matter in brackets [~~omitted material~~] is material to be omitted.

AUTHORITY: §§ 1-6, NRS 639.070 and section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201 (NRS 639.28085); § 7, NRS 639.070 and 639.210.

A REGULATION relating to pharmacy; prescribing the training that is required for a pharmacist to be authorized to prescribe, dispense and administer certain drugs for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus; prescribing certain requirements concerning the prescribing, dispensing and administering of such drugs by a pharmacist; adopting certain publications by reference; providing that failure by a pharmacist to make certain reports is unprofessional conduct; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law requires the State Board of Pharmacy to adopt regulations that establish a protocol to authorize a pharmacist to: (1) order and perform laboratory tests that are necessary for therapy that uses a drug approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus; and (2) prescribe, dispense and administer any of those drugs to a patient. (Section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201 (NRS 639.28085)) Existing law defines "drug" to include devices intended for use in the prevention of disease. (NRS 639.007)

Section 2 of this regulation provides that a latex or polyurethane prophylactic device is a drug and, therefore, that a pharmacist may prescribe such devices where approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus. Section 3 of this regulation requires a pharmacist to complete certain courses of training concerning the prescribing, dispensing and administering of drugs approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus before prescribing, dispensing or administering such drugs. Section 3 also requires a pharmacist who prescribes, dispenses or administers such drugs to maintain and make readily available proof of completion of each course of training. Section 3 additionally requires such a pharmacist to maintain professional liability insurance coverage of at least $1,000,000.

Section 4 of this regulation requires a pharmacist to complete an assessment of the patient before prescribing, dispensing or administering a preexposure prophylaxis drug. Section 4 authorizes a pharmacist to prescribe, dispense or administer a postexposure prophylaxis drug immediately upon the request of a patient who has been exposed to the human immunodeficiency virus and requires the pharmacist to complete an assessment to continue the treatment after the initial prescribing, dispensing or administering of such a drug. Section 4 also requires a pharmacist who prescribes, dispenses or administers a preexposure prophylaxis drug or postexposure prophylaxis drug to provide counsel and certain information to the patient.

Section 5 of this regulation adopts by reference certain guidelines from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention of the United States Department of Health and Human Services. Section 6 of this regulation requires a pharmacist to comply with those guidelines and all applicable federal and state laws when prescribing, dispensing and administering drugs approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus. Section 6 authorizes a pharmacist to prescribe, dispense and administer not more than a 30-day supply of such a drug without completing the laboratory testing required by those guidelines and section 4 under certain circumstances. Section 6 additionally requires a pharmacist who prescribes, dispenses or administers such a drug to establish and adhere to a plan of care for treatment using the drug.

Existing law: (1) requires providers of health care to make certain reports concerning cases of communicable diseases, drug overdoses and attempted suicides; and (2) deems a pharmacist to be a provider of health care for that purpose. (NRS 441A.110, as amended by section 5 of Senate Bill No. 229, chapter 290, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 1663, NRS 441A.150, as amended by section 6.4 of Assembly Bill No. 181, chapter 185, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 864) Section 7 of this regulation provides that the failure by a pharmacist to comply with those reporting requirements is unprofessional conduct, thereby subjecting the pharmacist to disciplinary action. (NRS 639.210)

Section 1. Chapter 639 of NAC is hereby amended by adding thereto the provisions set forth as sections 2 to 6, inclusive, of this regulation.

Sec. 2. For the purposes of section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201 (NRS 639.28085), and sections 2 to 6, inclusive, of this regulation, "drug" includes a latex or polyurethane prophylactic device, including, without limitation, a latex or polyurethane condom.

Sec. 3. 1. A pharmacist may prescribe, dispense and administer drugs approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus pursuant to section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201 (NRS 639.28085), if the pharmacist has completed a course of training concerning the prescribing, dispensing and administering of such drugs. The course must be:

(a) Approved by the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education, or its successor organization; or

(b) Offered by a college of pharmacy or department of pharmacy at a university accredited by the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education, or its successor organization.

2. A pharmacist who prescribes, dispenses or administers drugs approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus pursuant to section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201 (NRS 639.28085), shall maintain and make readily available proof of completion of a course completed pursuant to subsection 1 while the pharmacist prescribes, dispenses or administers such drugs, as applicable, and for at least 2 years following that prescribing, dispensing or administering.

3. A pharmacist who prescribes, dispenses or administers drugs approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus pursuant to section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201 (NRS 639.28085), shall maintain professional liability insurance coverage of at least $1,000,000.

Sec. 4. 1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2 of section 6 of this regulation, a pharmacist shall, before prescribing, dispensing or administering a preexposure prophylaxis drug pursuant to section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201 (NRS 639.28085), complete an assessment of the patient that includes, without limitation:

(a) A test for human immunodeficiency virus;

(b) A test for renal function;

(c) A test for hepatitis B; and

(d) An evaluation for any signs and symptoms of acute human immunodeficiency virus infection.

2. A pharmacist may prescribe, dispense or administer a postexposure prophylaxis drug pursuant to section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201 (NRS 639.28085), immediately upon the request of a patient who has recently been exposed to human immunodeficiency virus. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2 of section 6 of this regulation, the pharmacist shall, before continuation of treatment using such drugs beyond the initial prescribing, dispensing or administering, complete an assessment of the patient that includes, without limitation:

(a) A test for human immunodeficiency virus;

(b) A pregnancy test if the patient is a woman of child-bearing age;

(c) A test for liver function;

(d) A test for renal function;

(e) A test and screening for sexually transmitted infections;

(f) A test for hepatitis B; and

(g) A test for hepatitis C.

3. Upon prescribing, dispensing or administering a preexposure prophylaxis drug or a postexposure prophylaxis drug pursuant to section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201 (NRS 639.28085), a pharmacist shall counsel the patient and provide information on the drug dispensed or administered, including, without limitation:

(a) The proper administration and storage of the drug;

(b) The proper dosage of the drug;

(c) The effectiveness of the drug;

(d) The potential side effects of the drug;

(e) The need to be regularly tested for human immunodeficiency virus;

(f) The need to adhere to the treatment; and

(g) If applicable, the inability of the drug to prevent sexually transmitted infections other than the human immunodeficiency virus.

4. As used in this section:

(a) "Postexposure prophylaxis drug" means a drug approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus that is designed to be administered after exposure to the virus.

(b) "Preexposure prophylaxis drug" means a drug approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus that is designed to be administered before exposure to the virus.

Sec. 5. 1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2, the following publications are hereby adopted by reference:

(a) Preexposure Prophylaxis for the Prevention of HIV Infection in the United States - 2017 Update - A Clinical Practice Guideline, published by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention of the United States Department of Health and Human Services. A copy of this publication may be obtained free of charge at the Internet address https://www.cdc.gov/hiv/pdf/risk/prep/cdc-hiv-prep-guidelines-2017.pdf, or, if that Internet website ceases to exist, from the Board.

(b) Updated Guidelines for Antiretroviral Postexposure Prophylaxis After Sexual, Injection Drug Use, or Other Nonoccupational Exposure to HIV - United States, 2016, published by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention of the United States Department of Health and Human Services. A copy of this publication may be obtained free of charge at the Internet address https://www.cdc.gov/hiv/pdf/programresources/cdc-hiv-npep-guidelines.pdf, or, if that Internet website ceases to exist, from the Board.

2. Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, the most current version of a publication adopted by reference in subsection 1 which is published will be deemed to be adopted by reference. The Board will periodically review and determine, within 30 days after the review, whether any change made to a publication listed in subsection 1 is appropriate for application in this State. If the Board does not disapprove a change to an adopted publication within 30 days after the review, the change is deemed to be approved by the Board.

Sec. 6. 1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2, a pharmacist shall comply with the publications adopted by reference in section 5 of this regulation and all applicable federal and state laws and regulations, including, without limitation, laws and regulations relating to labeling of prescriptions and keeping records, when prescribing, dispensing and administering drugs approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus pursuant to section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201 (NRS 639.28085).

2. A pharmacist may prescribe, dispense and administer up to a 30-day supply of a drug approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus to continue treatment without completing the requirements for laboratory testing prescribed in section 4 of this regulation or the publications adopted by reference in section 5 of this regulation if the pharmacist:

(a) Makes a good faith effort to obtain and review the laboratory history of the patient;

(b) Completes an assessment of the patient;

(c) Reviews potential adverse side effects with the patient; and

(d) Determines that the benefit of continuing the treatment outweighs the risk of not continuing the treatment.

3. A pharmacist who prescribes, dispenses or administers a drug approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for preventing the acquisition of human immunodeficiency virus pursuant to section 1 of Senate Bill No. 325, chapter 492, Statutes of Nevada 2021, at page 3201 (NRS 639.28085), must establish and adhere to a plan of care for treatment using the drug. The plan must include, without limitation, support and ongoing assessment as required by the publications adopted by reference in section 5 of this regulation.

Sec. 7. NAC 639.945 is hereby amended to read as follows:

639.945 1. The following acts or practices by a holder of any license, certificate or registration issued by the Board or any employee of any business holding any such license, certificate or registration are declared to be, specifically but not by way of limitation, unprofessional conduct and conduct contrary to the public interest:

(a) Manufacturing, compounding, selling, dispensing or permitting to be manufactured, compounded, sold or dispensed substandard drugs or preparations.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in NRS 639.2583 to 639.2808, inclusive, for substitutions of generic drugs, dispensing or causing to be dispensed a different drug or brand of drug in place of the drug or brand of drug ordered or prescribed, unless the express permission of the orderer or prescriber is obtained and, in the case of a written prescription, unless the following information is recorded on the prescription by the person obtaining permission:

(1) The date on which the permission was granted;

(2) The name of the practitioner granting the permission;

(3) The name of the person obtaining the permission;

(4) The name of the drug dispensed; and

(5) The name of the manufacturer or distributor of the drug.

(c) Using secret formulas.

(d) Except as otherwise provided by subsection 2 of NRS 639.2396, failing strictly to follow the instructions of the person writing, making or ordering a prescription or chart order as to its filling or refilling, the content of the label of the prescription or giving a copy of the prescription or chart order to any person except as permitted by law.

(e) Failing to confer with the person writing, making or ordering a prescription or chart order if there is an error or omission in it which should be questioned.

(f) Operating a pharmacy at a location other than the location at which the pharmacy is licensed to operate.

(g) Supplying or diverting drugs, biologicals, medicines, substances or devices which are legally sold in pharmacies or by wholesalers, so that unqualified persons can circumvent any law pertaining to the legal sale of such articles.

(h) Performing or in any way being a party to any fraudulent or deceitful practice or transaction.

(i) Performing any of his or her duties as the holder of a license, certificate or registration issued by the Board, or as the owner of a business or an entity licensed by the Board, in an incompetent, unskillful or negligent manner.

(j) Aiding or abetting a person not licensed to practice pharmacy in the State of Nevada.

(k) Performing any act, task or operation for which licensure, certification or registration is required without the required license, certificate or registration.

(l) Violating any term or condition of a subpoena or order issued by the Board or the staff of the Board.

(m) Failing to provide any document, data or information that is required to be made and maintained pursuant to chapters 453, 454, 585 and 639 of NRS and chapters 453, 454, 585 and 639 of NAC to a member of the Board or a member of the staff of the Board upon his or her request.

(n) Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2:

(1) Dispensing a drug as a dispensing practitioner to a patient or animal or owner of an animal with whom the dispensing practitioner does not have a bona fide therapeutic relationship; or

(2) Prescribing a drug as a prescribing practitioner to a patient with whom the prescribing practitioner does not have a bona fide therapeutic relationship.

(o) Failure by a pharmacist to comply with the provisions of chapter 441A of NRS and chapter 441A of NAC concerning the reporting of cases of communicable diseases, drug overdoses and attempted suicides.

2. It is not unprofessional conduct or conduct contrary to the public interest for a practitioner to prescribe or dispense a drug under the circumstances described in paragraph (n) of subsection 1 if the drug is prescribed or dispensed in accordance with either publication adopted by reference in section 1 of this regulation.

3. The owner of any business or facility licensed, certified or registered by the Board is responsible for the acts of all personnel in his or her employ.

4. For the purposes of this section, a bona fide therapeutic relationship between the patient and practitioner shall be deemed to exist if the patient was examined in person, electronically, telephonically or by fiber optics within or outside of this State or the United States by the practitioner within the 6 months immediately preceding the date the practitioner dispenses or prescribes a drug to the patient and, as a result of the examination, the practitioner diagnosed a condition for which a given drug therapy is prescribed.
