Section 2: Sterile Compounding Questions (Use a separate piece of paper if additional space is needed.)

1. What risk level sterile compounding will your facility be performing (check all that apply)? ☐ Low ☒ Medium ☒ High
If you marked "High", you must also complete section 4.

2. Will you be performing sterile hazardous drug compounding? ☒ Yes ☐ No
If you marked "Yes", you must also complete section 3.

3. List the sterile compounded products that you will be compounding for Nevada patients or consumers:
Testosterone Cypionate, Testosterone Enanthate, Testosterone Propionate, Nandrolone, Anastrozole, DHEA, Levocarnitine, Glutamine, Arginine, Leucine, Isoleucine, Valine, Ornithine, Lysine, Methionine, Inositol, Choline Chloride, Vitamin D3, Chromium Picolinate, Methylcobalamin, Phenylephrine, Papaverine, Phentolamine, Alprostadil, Atropine, ABP-7, AOD-9604, ARA-290, BPC-157, CJC-1295, Delta Sleep Inducing Peptide, Epithalon, GHK-Cu, Gonadorelin, IGF-1, Ipamorelin, Kisspeptin, LL-37, Melanotan II, Met-Enkephalin, MOTs-C, NAD+, PEG-MGF, PT-141, Semax, Semaglutide, Sermorelin, Terzepatide, Thymulin.

4. Will you be utilizing beyond use dates in excess of USP-797? ☒ Yes ☐ No

5. If yes, describe the additional testing performed on your products to validate the extended BUD:
The following testing protocol is followed for products to received extended BUD's - Container closure integrity testing - Day 0 and at end of test period (e.g. Day 90 or Day 180)
Sterility and Endotoxin testing - Day 0 and at end of test period (e.g. Day 90 or Day 180)
Potency testing - Day 0 and (at minimum) end of test period - generally tested every 30 days during study to track any decline in potency in storage.

These studies are transitioning to incorporate stability-indicating-assay tests this year to comply with the updated USP <797> chapter and maximum beyond use dates will conform the maximums given in the chapter.

6. What laboratory performs this additional testing?
Name: ARL Bio Pharma
Address: 840 Research Parkway, Ste. 546
City: Oklahoma City State: OK Zip: 73104
Telephone: 800-393-1595

7. What is your procedure for visual inspection of compounded sterile products?
Finished sterile products are inspected by a Quality Control technician and a Sterile Compounding Pharmacist in a light box with both white and black backgrounds to detect particles present in the solution and to inspect for any flaws in the vial or closure. Each batch is inspected twice - by QC and by a Pharmacist - before release.

8. How often do you perform glove fingertip and medial fill testing?

Glove fingertip testing is performed at the completion of every sterile compounded batch. Gowning validation and media fill testing is performed semi-annually for sterile compounding staff.

9. What is your policy if an employee fails a glove fingertip or media-fill test?

Employee will not be permitted to enter the ISO 7 Buffer Area until gowning validation has passed. If an alert limit is observed on a end-of-production batch plate, the entire batch will be destroyed. If a media fill test is failed, the employee will not be permitted to perform any duties related to sterile compounding until a media fill test is passed.

10. Describe your initial and annual training program for all personnel performing sterile compounding:

Personnel must attend a professional sterile compounding training course before being allowed to begin on-the-job training. Personnel must then complete a computer-based in-house didactic sterile compounding training course. Gowning validation must be performed three times consecutively with no failures before personnel can enter the clean room during compounding. Personnel are trained in cleaning and decontamination of the clean room suite and the process of disinfection of materials to be brought into the clean room suite prior to being allowed to commence a media fill test. A media fill test conducted under the most challenging conditions must be completed prior to being involved in the compounding process - whether as compounder or as support. These are repeated semi-annually. Any personnel responsible for mixing sterile compounds must pass a finished product assay (four ingredients are assayed) test to establish their ability to mix products to the required specifications.

11. Describe the cleaning procedure for your primary and secondary engineering controls, including the frequency of cleaning and the names of cleaning, disinfectant, sporicidal, and/or deactivation and decontamination agents used:

Interior surfaces of ISO 5 primary engineering controls and exterior surfaces in ISO 7 Buffer Area are cleaned with sporicidal disinfectant (Spor-Klenz) at the beginning of each day upon which sterile compounding occurs. The ISO 5 work surfaces are cleaned after each product compounded with a deactivation/decontamination agent (Peridox RTU). The counters and floors of the ISO 7 secondary engineering controls (Buffer Area) are cleaned at the conclusion of compounding with sporicidal disinfectant (Spor-Klenz). The floors of each ISO-classified area are disinfected at the end of each day upon which they have been entered. Additionally, the walls and ceilings of all ISO-classified areas are disinfected on a monthly basis. A breach clean is performed following 1) entry to lab by non-certified personnel such as outside contractors, maintenance personnel or semi-annual certification personnel, 2) the completion of any repair or maintenance work which has the capacity to disrupt pressure differentials or generate viable or non-viable particles, 3)

12. Who performs the sterile compounding process at your facility?

Sterile compounding technicians - Kristen Salinas, Evie Jerdee, Ruth Muentes, Jaime Rosa

13. Who is responsible and accountable for the sterile compounding process at your facility?

Kim Hiddessen - Pharmacist-in-Charge

14. If products are shipped/mailed, what shipping conditions are used to ensure product safety/efficacy?

Packaged in insulated mailing pouches with frozen cold packs. Volume of cold packs is increased during warmer months. Shipping speed (same-day courier, Next-Day Air or Second Day Air) is determined as required by outdoor weather conditions, storage requirements of the medication being shipped and the travel distance for the medication to arrive at the appropriate storage temperature.

Section 3: Sterile Hazardous Compounding Questions (Complete this section ONLY if you be performing Sterile Hazardous Compounding.)

4. Proper disposal of unused, expired or discontinued injectable medications
5. Descriptions of physical appearances of products which indicate a potential problem with the medication - e.g. broken capsules, cloudy solutions, broken emulsions.
6. Explanation of drop-off sites and National Take Back Day for drug disposal.
7. Contact information for staff pharmacist for patients and providers to obtain additional information.

9. Describe your initial process for training new employees prior to compounding sterile hazardous drugs?

Gowning validation must be performed three times consecutively with no failures before personnel can enter the clean room during compounding.
Personnel are trained in cleaning and decontamination of the clean room suite and the process of disinfection of materials to be brought into the clean room suite prior to being allowed to commence a media fill test.
A media fill test conducted under the most challenging conditions must be completed prior to being involved in the compounding process - whether as compounder or as support. These are repeated semi-annually. Any personnel responsible for mixing sterile compounds must pass a finished product assay (four ingredients are assayed) test to establish their ability to mix products to the required specifications.
Specific to hazardous drugs, personnel are trained in the proper safe handling and containment of chemicals and materials. Specific gowning items (gloves, sleeves and masks) are utilized. Personnel are made aware of the risks involved with compounding and handling hazardous drugs and the importance of proper PPE to minimize the potential for exposure.

2. What sterilization methods are utilized at your facility?

Sterilization is achieved by 0.2 micron filtration in an ISO 5 environment using aseptic technique and sterile instruments.

3. Does your facility utilize biological indicators? ☑ Yes ☐ No

4. If yes, describe how they are utilized:

Biological indicators and endotoxin challenge vials are used for initial performance qualification and routine of the autoclaves and depyrogenation oven. Dry heat indicators and steam indicators are used to validate every sterilization cycle.

I certify under penalty of perjury that the information contained in this form is accurate, true and complete in all material respects. I understand that making any false representation in this form is a crime under NRS 639.281. I understand that, pursuant to NRS 239.010, this entire form and any portion thereof is a public record unless otherwise declared confidential by law, and will be considered by the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy at a public meeting pursuant to NRS 241.020. | | (1) Your pharmacy fills a discernable pattern of prescriptions for prescribers who write essentially the same prescriptions for numerous persons, indicating a lack of individual drug therapy |
| | (2) Your pharmacy operates with limited hours of operation or closes after a certain threshold of controlled substance prescriptions are dispensed, and has overall low prescription dispensing volume. |
| | (3) Prescriptions presented to the pharmacy are for controlled substances with popularity as street drugs, such as opiates, benzodiazepines, muscle relaxants, psychostimulants, and/or cough syrups, or any combination of these drugs. |
| | (4) The prescriptions for controlled substances contain nonspecific or no diagnoses. |
| | (5) The prescriptions are commonly for the highest strength of the drug and/or for large quantities. |
| | (6) Dangerous drugs or OTC products (such as multi-vitamins or laxatives) are added to the controlled substance prescriptions, maintaining relatively consistent 1:1 ratio of controlled substances to dangerous drugs and/or OTC products dispensed as prescriptions. |
| | (7) Prescriptions are authorized by the same prescriber with what appears to be different handwriting on the hardcopy prescription drug order forms. |
| | (8) Upon contact with the prescriber's office, you are unable to engage in comprehensive discussion with the actual prescriber, or he/she is unconcerned about your apprehensions regarding his/her prescribing practices or unwilling to provide additional information, such as treatment goals and/or prognosis with prescribed drug therapy. |
| | (9) You rely solely on the prescriber's representation, or on the representation of the individual answering the phone at the number on the prescription, that prescriptions are legitimate. |

| | (11) Drugs prescribed are inconsistent with the prescriber's area of practice. |
| | (12) The prescriber of the drugs is located a significant distance from your pharmacy. |
| | (13) The prescriber has been subject to disciplinary action by the licensing board, had his/her DEA registration removed, or been subject to criminal action. |
| | (14) The Texas PMP system indicates that persons are obtaining prescriptions for the same drugs from multiple prescribers or that persons are filling prescriptions for the same drugs at multiple pharmacies. |
| | (15) The person's address is a significant distance from your pharmacy and/or from the prescriber's office. |
| | (16) Multiple persons with the same address present prescriptions from the same prescriber. |
| | (17) Persons pay with cash or credit card more often than through insurance. |
| | (18) Persons presenting controlled substance prescriptions are doing so in such a manner that varies from seeking routine pharmacy services (e.g., willing to wait in long lines to receive drugs, persons arrive in the same vehicle with prescriptions from same prescriber, one person presents to pick up prescriptions for multiple others, persons refer to drugs by "street names" and/or comment on drug's color, persons seek early refills, persons travel from outside reasonable trade area of pharmacy). |
| | (19) Your pharmacy charges and persons are willing to pay more for controlled substances than they would at nearby pharmacies. |
| | (20) Your pharmacy routinely orders controlled substances from more than one drug supplier, or your pharmacy has been discontinued by a drug supplier related to controlled substance orders. |
| | (21) Sporadic and non-consistent dispensing volume (including zero dispensing) varies from day to day and week to week, and your pharmacy does not maintain operational hours each week on Monday through Friday. |
| | (22) Your pharmacy employs or contracts security personnel during operational hours to prevent problems. |
| | (23) Your pharmacy has been previously warned or disciplined by the Texas State Board of Pharmacy for inappropriate dispensing of controlled substances (i.e., corresponding responsibility). |

If you checked any of the above items, you should review the laws and rules regarding corresponding responsibility and non-therapeutic dispensing, especially Board rule §291.29, in the law book or on our website: www.pharmacy.texas.gov (click on Texas Pharmacy Rules and Laws). Additional educational material is available at: http://www.pharmacy.texas.gov/Nontherapeutic.asp. Failure of pharmacies and pharmacists to detect patterns of inappropriate dispensing of prescription drugs is unprofessional practice and constitutes grounds for disciplinary action.

1. INTRODUCTION

It is an absolute necessity that a system exists to rapidly remove a medicinal product from use if a defect is identified that could lead to the safety, quality or efficacy of the product being compromised and hence render the product unsuitable for its intended use.

The FDA is committed to providing assistance during a recall. Recall coordinators provide information about the recall process and are available to work closely with an organization throughout the course of the recall. If assistance is needed, contact a Division Recall Coordinator within the FDA Office of Regulatory Affairs (ORA). For a comprehensive list of FDA Recall Coordinator contact information by product type and location, please visit:
https://www.fda.gov/Safety/Recalls/IndustryGuidance/ucm129334.htm

2. SCOPE

This procedure describes the processing of information liable to result in medicinal product corrective action (PCA) and the organization of the systems set up at WP Pharma Labs (WPPL) for medicinal product Lot recall. The systems afford the possibility of rapidly and efficiently withdrawing manufactured products from the market in case of detection or suspicion of anomalies, and also the appropriate communication to ensure products supplied and distributed by WPPL are handled accordingly (e.g. quarantined, withdrawn, etc).

QA is not available, the Site Manager/PIC will assume the QA responsibilities for the product recall procedure.

5.2. The QA Manager approves all recall decisions. If the QA Manager is not available, the responsibility may be fulfilled by the Operations Manager.

5.3. Any person becoming aware of information liable to result in Product Corrective Action (e.g. Lot recall) is to forward the information immediately to the relevant Site QA and Management should be alerted immediately.

6. DEFINITIONS

Consignee – Anyone who received, purchased, or used the product being recalled.

Recall – as defined by the FDA, is a voluntary action by manufacturers to protect the public health from products that present a risk of injury or are defective. Recalls are applicable only to products that have been distributed and are not in the control of the manufacturer.

Note: Products enroute or products that have yet to be received by a customer are still considered to be in control by WP Pharma Labs, Inc.

7. PROCEDURE: NON-STERILE

7.1. The pharmacy shall immediately initiate a recall of any non-sterile preparation compounded by the pharmacy upon identification of a potential or confirmed harm to a patient.

7.2. Investigate the problem

7.2.1. QA department should investigate a potential problem with a product, which may include:

7.2.1.1. A timely investigation to determine whether a deviation in manufacturing occurred and, as applicable, whether the safety, purity, or potency of distributed products may have been affected

7.2.1.2. A prompt evaluation by a qualified person (Technical and Clinical evaluation by a Pharmacist and Management) and following established criteria, to ensure that potential risks are consistently assessed and investigated for products potentially affected.

7.3. Processing of the Information Liable to Result in Product Corrective Action

7.3.1. Product Corrective Action including medicinal product Lot recall of manufactured product is a decision taken in the event of:

7.3.1.1. Reports of adverse reactions (SOP 9.320) that could constitute a risk to public health, for which a causal relationship with the product administered, cannot be excluded and which are not listed in the summary of product characteristics as already identified effects.

7.3.1.2. Complaints evidencing, or giving rise to suspicion of, a quality defect.

7.4. Practical Conditions

7.4.1. The Site QA will notify the head of QA, the Site Manager/Pharmacist-in-Charge, or designee of the possibility of the need for a recall.

7.4.2. The Lot in question should be immediately quarantined, if a portion of the Lot is on site, and the need to examine other lots which could present the same defect is to be examined.

7.4.3. The Lot record and the quality control tests for the Lot will be examined in depth. Product distribution records and contact details should be immediately gathered.

7.5. Notification of the FDA

7.5.1. If upon completion of a risk assessment there is a significant community risk, the FDA will be notified by the head of QA if a decision is made to recall a product due to detection of anomalies with distributed and unused product.

7.5.2. The FDA assigns the recall classification listed below based on an evaluation of the health hazard presented by the product:

7.5.3. Class I Recall: A situation in which there is a reasonable probability that the use of or exposure to a violative product will cause serious adverse health consequences or death.

7.5.4. Class II Recall: A situation in which use of or exposure to a violative product may cause temporary or medically reversible adverse health consequences, or where the probability of serious adverse health consequences is remote.

7.5.5. Class III Recall: A situation in which use of or exposure to a violative product is not likely to cause adverse health consequences.

7.6. Recall Actions

7.6.1. When the recall decision has been taken, the QA department will execute Attachment 1 - Internal Notification of Product Recall and ensures that the following measures are immediately implemented.

7.6.1.1. Halt all shipments of the medicinal product Lot involved

7.6.1.2. Place the product, if available, in physical quarantine in an identified zone.

7.7. Identification of Customers

7.7.1. Site QA and Site Manager/Pharmacist-in-Charge obtains a list of customers to whom the product has been shipped.

7.7.2. The list states the quantities that have been shipped and the contact details.

7.7.3. Delivery companies will be contacted to allow a halt to distribution if the product is enroute.

7.8. Customer Information and Product Recall

7.8.1. It is necessary to alert all users (i.e. Physicians/Patients) of the affected product Lot or Lots requesting immediate discontinuation of use.

7.8.2. If deemed appropriate, a press release will also be used to notify patients.

7.8.3. In parallel, a Customer Notification Form (Attachment 2 - Customer Notification of Product Recall Example) is also completed and signed by the head of QA and forwarded by fax or email as rapidly as possible.

7.9. Effectiveness Checks

7.9.1. The purpose of effectiveness checks is to verify that all consignees (Physicians, Patients) have received notification about the recall and have taken appropriate action.

7.9.2. Consignees will be requested to complete Attachment 3 - Recall Response Form Example or may be contacted by personal visits, telephone calls, letters, or a combination thereof.

7.9.3. The recall strategy will specify the method(s) to be used for and the level of effectiveness checks that will be conducted, as follows:

7.9.3.1. Level A - 100 percent of the total number of consignees to be contacted;

7.9.3.2. Level B - Some percentage of the total number of consignees to be contacted, which percentage is to be determined on a case-by-case basis, but is greater than 10 percent and less than 100 percent of the total number of consignees;

7.9.3.3. Level C - 10 percent of the total number of consignees to be contacted;

The application for licensure as a non-resident pharmacy with the state of Nevada was denied. Per the Nevada board of pharmacy, approval would be considered given additional training and competencies of the sterile compounding staff. 1st Choice Pharmacy is currently providing additional sterile compounding trainings to the compounding staff and gathering materials to submit to the Nevada Board to prove competency. Compounding staff is also completing several continuing education courses on the subject of sterile compounds. 1st Choice Pharmacy plans to re-apply to Nevada as a non-resident pharmacy in the near future with this new evidence. To Whom It May Concern:

The application for licensure as a non-resident pharmacy with the state of Arkansas was denied. Per the Arkansas board of pharmacy, approval would be considered pursuant to attendance at a board meeting and explaining certain practices. The practices that were in question are using a lyophilizer, a measurement on a certification report showing that the hazardous room went out of range for the negative pressure, and the compounding of peptides pursuant to legitimate prescriptions. 1st Choice Pharmacy is appealing this decision with Arkansas with these explanations. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to reach out.

Safe Handling of Hazardous Medicines in the Home

Some medicines need special handling because they can be hazardous (harmful) to the people giving them. This is because some studies show that people who care for patients taking these special medicines can also have changes within their own body's cells. These changes can be avoided by following certain steps. Exposure can occur from spills, splashes, breathing in the medicine's vapors or powder, and from coming in contact with the patient's vomit, urine or stool.

The medicine that needs safe handling is:

The risk of danger from handling small amounts of these hazardous medicines is small, but it is a good idea to avoid exposure if possible. Here are suggestions for things you can do at home to limit exposure.

Supplies you may need

- Disposable gloves (Picture 1) – Get them from your local pharmacy or 1st Choice Compounding Pharmacy
- Disposable gown – if you are handling liquid medicines
- Household soap or detergent – any brand can be used for cleaning
- Disposable towel – in case of an accidental spill
- Two-ply, heavy duty trash bag – for used supplies
- Disposable plastic medicine cups and oral syringes – depending on what kind of medicine is being taken

Picture 1 Putting on disposable gloves.

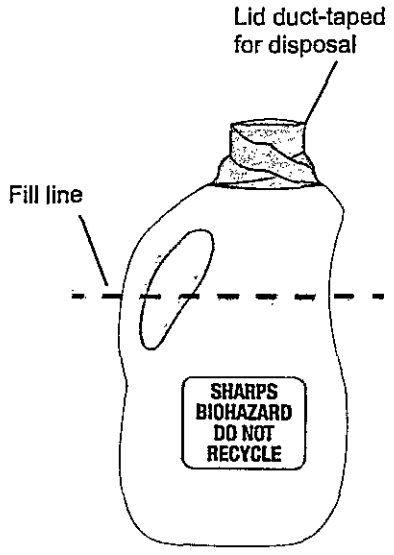
- Needle disposal or "sharps" container – needed if you are handling injectable (given by needle or IV) medicines



Continued...

Safety measures for handling hazardous medicines

- Wash your hands before and after handling hazardous medicines.
- Use disposable gloves if you are touching any type of hazardous medicine. Do not use torn or punctured gloves.
- Use disposable plastic medicine cups to move a pill from a medicine bottle.
- Throw away any used gloves, gowns, medicine cups, oral syringes, or bottles in a two-ply, heavy-duty trash bag. Tie or seal the plastic bag and place it in your household trash bag for disposal. Be sure to keep this trash out of the reach of pets and children.
- If you are pregnant or trying to become pregnant, you should not handle hazardous medicines. If you are the primary caregiver, speak to your nurse, doctor, or pharmacist about safe ways to care for the patient.

Handling hazardous medicines at home – needles and sharps

- Do not recap the used needle. Do not bend or break off the needle.
- Do not remove the needle from the syringe.
- All sharps or needles must be thrown away in a safe 'sharps container.' If you do not have a hospital-issued sharps container, use a container made of heavy-duty plastic. This can be a laundry detergent bottle or liquid laundry softener bottle (Picture 2). It must close with a lid that screws on tightly. Needles should not be able to poke through (puncture) the lid. The container must be leak-proof, and able to sit up and not fall over (stable).

Picture 2 Hard plastic laundry detergent bottle and fill line.

- Place the container in the middle of a full, heavy duty trash bag. You are allowed to put the trash bag out for regular trash pick-up. DO NOT put the container in the recycling.

Storing hazardous medicines

- Your pharmacist or nurse will tell you if there are any special storage instructions.
- Keep all drugs out of reach of children or pets.
- Keep hazardous medicines separate from all other medicines.
- If the medicine needs to be refrigerated, separate it from other foods. Use a separate bin in the refrigerator or place the medicine in a container.
- Keep the hazardous medicine in its original bottle or container. Do not place it in a pill box with other non-hazardous medicines.

Taking hazardous medicines

- Your physician, nurse, or pharmacist will explain to you how and when to take your medicine.
- It is important for you to take these drugs exactly as told. Do not skip a dose without discussing it with your physician.
- If you forget to take a dose, do not take double the dose the next time. Contact your physician's office or pharmacist to discuss what to do if this happens.

Accidental hazardous medicine spills

- If you are taking a hazardous medicine and it spills, wear a disposable gown and two pairs of gloves to clean up the spill. Cover the spill with a disposable towel, and then thoroughly wipe up the spill. The area should then be cleaned three times with a home cleaning product. This is to make sure that no medicine is left on the surface. All materials should be thrown away in a heavy-duty sealed trash bag and placed in a trash can that is out of reach of pets and children.
- Hazardous liquid medicines spilled on your skin may cause irritation. Wash the area well with soap and water and dry. If redness or irritation occurs within 7 days, contact your doctor.
- If the drug splashes in the eye, rinse the eye with tap water for at least 15 minutes and contact your doctor.

During clinic visits, be sure to tell the staff about any hazardous drugs you may have taken at home. If you have any other questions or concerns, ask your doctor, pharmacist, or nurse.

Remarks:

The retail pharmacy inventory is no longer at this location-medicinal drugs are missing and have been moved to Cross pharmacy. According to the PDM, the medicinal drugs were sold to MMG Pharma. The pharmacy compounds non-sterile and sterile compounds at this location.
Inspectors were informed, the pharmacy is not licensed in Texas or California but ships patient specific CSP to the physician clinic who then mails it to the patient. The pharmacy does document decontamination with cleaning agents after each batch.

RE: State of Florida Department of Health Investigative Services INV797 – Sterile Compounding, File # 22731, Insp # 178902, Date 4/28/2022, Pharmacy Permit 20208

The State of Florida Department of Health Investigative Services, represented by Ms. Mala Cullipher, Completed an inspection on April 28th, 2022. Although no Corrective Action Plan or follow-up was requested by inspector, 1st Choice Compounding Pharmacy submits the following Corrective Actions for deficiencies that were listed on the INV797 – Sterile Compounding:

| Item # | Type | Inspection Item | Inspection Notes | Facility Response/Corrective Action/Comments |
| 45 | [HAZARDOUS DRUGS AS CSPs] | Hazardous drugs are prepared in an ISO Class 5 environment (BSC or CACI) with protective engineering controls in place, following aseptic practices specified for the appropriate contamination risk levels. | HD's such as Testosterone and Nandrolone compounded in the same BSC where Peptides such as Semaglutide, Sermorelin, Ipamorelin and CJC combinations are compounded. These HD's may pose a risk of contamination to the non-HD peptide where partially stoppered vials are lyophilized over several hours and then removed and crimped in the BSC. The pharmacy is decontaminating the BSC after each batch with Peridox. | The pharmacy, as noted by the inspector, is decontaminating the BSC after each batch using an approved operating procedure and the approved materials including Peridox RTU. Peridox RTU has been demonstrated to be an effective decontaminate when used as directed, thereby eliminating the cross-contamination risk between batches of drugs. |
| 62 | [ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY AND CONTROL: Facility Design and Environmental Controls] | Surfaces and essential furniture in buffer rooms or zones and clean rooms are nonporous, smooth, non-shedding, impermeable, cleanable, and resistant to disinfectants. | Peridox applied in pass through of non-HD IV room did not remove stain or residue in the center of the pass-through, some screws still noted to be discolored and rusted on rivets/threshold in between the ante area and buffer room. The rusty nail was fixed during the inspection as well as threshold cleaner. There is a cart with | All discolored rivets and screws have been coated with an oxidizer and then coated with silicone. The cart legs have also been coated with oxidizer and sealed using enamel paint. All horizontal surfaces required for structural stability and safety meet all requirements of USP, including being non-porous, |

| 78 | [ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY AND CONTROL: Cleaning and Disinfecting the Sterile Compounding Areas] | Cleaning and disinfecting agents and methods of application are in accordance with written SOPs and followed by custodial and/or compounding personnel. | Daily cleaning log reviewed - demonstrates Hyp-chlor followed by Peridox RTU and SIPA, however documents show hypochlor is used, but none in cleanroom, Decon spore used. Each PEC is listed and Lyophilizer listed. Cleaning documentation - procedure does not match policy. | Policy & Procedure (SOP 304.8) has been updated to include only Sterile Water for irrigation, Peridox RTU as cleaning agents, and Sterile IPA as the disinfectant. |
| 85 | [ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY AND CONTROL: Cleaning and Disinfecting the Sterile Compounding Areas] | Shelving, walls, and ceilings in ante-areas and buffer areas are cleaned and disinfected at least monthly. | For months of Feb, used Peridox and SIPA, however, only documented a disinfecting agent for monthly cleaning using Decon-Ahol and IPA | Please see response to #78 |
| 95 | [ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY AND CONTROL: Personnel Training and Competency Evaluation of Garbing, Aseptic Work Practices and Cleaning/Disinfection Procedures] | Documentation indicates compounding personnel have successfully completed didactic training, passed written competency assessments, undergone skill assessment using observational audit tools (hand hygiene, garbing, aseptic technique) and media-fill testing annually or semiannually (high risk) and before any compounding personnel begin to prepare CSPs . | Documents of observational assessments for hand hygiene and garbing do not assess process for specific donning of coveralls to completely cover all exposed skin during lyophilization process. Documentation of written and didactic assessments available from Critical Point. | Policy & Procedure SOP F-410.a - Gowning and Gloving has been updated to include measures to minimize the potential to create external contamination when garbing using sterile hoods which cover all exposed skin when using sterile goggles. |

| 99 | [ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY AND CONTROL: Gloved Fingertip Sampling] | Immediately after the compounder completes the hand hygiene and garbing procedure, the evaluator collects a gloved fingertip and thumb sample from both hands of the compounder onto appropriate agar plates. The plates are incubated at 30-35° for 2–3 days. All compounding personnel have successfully completed an initial competency evaluation and gloved fingertip/thumb sampling procedure (0 cfu) no less than three times before initially being allowed to compound CSPs for human use. | Temps for MEA plates not properly documented for RPT MH-these indicate they are incubated at 30-33 degrees C on test date of 11-3-21. It is not documented the plates used for GFS have L&T. | SOP F-202.b has been updated to reflect that all plates used for GFS contain lecithin and polysorbate 80 |
| 100 | [ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY AND CONTROL: Gloved Fingertip Sampling] | Re-evaluation of glove fingertip testing onto appropriate agar plates (Trypticase soy agar (TSA) with lecithin and polysorbate 80) for all compounding personnel occurs at least annually for low- and medium-risk level CSPs and semiannually for high-risk level CSPs before being allowed to continue compounding CSPs. Gloves shall not be disinfected with sterile 70% IPA prior to testing. The cfu action level is based on the total number of cfu on | See comments in #99. | Please see the reply for #99. |

| 101 | [FINISHED PREPARATION RELEASE CHECKS AND TESTS: Identity and Strength Verification of Ingredients] | Labels of CSPs contain name and address of pharmacy, correct names and amounts or concentrations of ingredients, total volumes, beyond-use dates, storage conditions, and route(s) of administration. | Labels do not contain Benzyl Benzoate preservative lot 04132022@15 on the label, also noted on Lipo C lot 03112022@16 Benzyl Alcohol not listed as a preservative. Several vials such as Myers Cocktail do not contain the Federal Legend, specifically lot 04252022@5 or Magnesium Chloride/Taurine compound lot 03232022@19. These vials were noted to have black and white labels. | All printed dispensing labels shall be updated to include preservative content, federal legend and shall be printed in color. |
| 108 | [PATIENT OR CAREGIVER TRAINING] | Facility provides a multiple component formal training program to ensure patients and caregivers understand the proper storage, handling, use, and disposal of CSPs. | Lyophilized peptides do not have any drug information provided to the patient | Package inserts have been updated for all peptides. |
| 117 | [FAC 64B16-27.700 (3)(g ] | Facility engaged in office use sterile compounding for human use is registered with FDA as an outsourcing facility. | Pharmacy has Titan Medical (name of clinic) on top left of label vials of Hercules injection compound lot 02182022@21 stored at room temperature; vials were observed in the quarantine area-LG21820 Life File records demonstrate not dispensed. Batch record reviewed demonstrates 23 vials compounded. | All vials quarantined for disposal have been disposed of. No vials dispensed. |
| 118 | [FAC 64B16-28.140(4)] | Compounding records are properly maintained. | Compounding records reviewed for Ipamorelin/Sermorelin PF 15mg/15mg Inj lot 01262022@15 shows hood as LFH1, however the drug was compounded in the BSC where | Compounding records have been updated to reflect the correct hood. Documented theoretical yield is missing for Amino Acid #1 lot 04132022@15 -2250ml was the intended batch yield, actual yield was documented as 74 vials volume of 30ml, | tolerance to allow for fluid retention and/or cohesion in tubing, sterilizing filter and beaker. |
| 137 | [64B16-27.797(5) F.A.C.] | The pharmacy has established and follows policies and procedures for the high-level disinfection of the lyophilizer chamber, piping, and all other areas of the unit which pose a potential risk for contamination of the product. | Contact time not adhered to based on study from Pharmetric | SOP 613.1updated to correct contact time. |
| 140 | [64B16-27.797(5) F.A.C.] | Policies and procedures are established and followed for cleaning the lyophilizer prior to disinfection and include cleaning agents and schedules. Documentation of cleaning is maintained and available for inspection. | Procedures for use of Cleaning agents for the lyophilizer and dwell times used are not according the study done by Pharmetric lab on Aug 17, 2020 which documents a dwell time of 10 mins for Peridox and Decon Phene as well as SIPA. Infact only Hypo Chlor listed on cleaning log which has not been studied, Peridox and SIPA (no dwell times specified) The pharmacy has a cleaning document "Daily Cleaning Log for Controlled Sterile Compounding Environments & Adjacent Areas" which has documented daily cleaning stating "Lyophilize (if no compound inside)", and reviewed "Maintenance and check the Lyophilizer" which has documented on production days March 2022 as "Weekly Inside | Please see reply for #137. |

| | | | the ISO 5" activity of cleaning Gaskets, Trays and shelves, Door and the handle", however this latter document only states "Wipe the lyo with SIPA" for outside the lyp. | |
| 147 | [64B16-27.797(5) F.A.C.] | Glove Fingertip Sampling is performed with every batch after fill and transport into the lyophilizer on all personnel compounding for lyophilization. The results are incorporated into the batch record. | Documented on batch record for all Peptides, specifically noted to be TSA+ and MEA+ but does not specify L&T for compound Ipamorelin/Sermorelin PF 15mg/15mg Inj lot 01262022@15, compounding technician was DH. SOP 613 "Cleaning and maintenance of a SP Scientific Lyophilizer" does not specify the TSA plates for surface sampling. -see line 15. Observed correct TSA with L&T and MEA with L&T plates in refrigerator. Incubation temps are incorrect for MEA plates used-stated to be 30-33 degrees C. | Please see reply for #99. |
| 148 | [64B16-27.797(5) F.A.C.] | In-process acceptance criteria such as color, moisture limits and visual appearance are established for each lyophilized product. | Inspector identified vials of lyophilized compound which appear to be product ejection, specifically BPC-157 Acetate lot 01102022@16. This may impact product quality attributes. Other CSP's noted to have this visual defect: Semaglutide 5mg inj (not released). In process criteria for rejection of different cake quality such as color, moisture, cake appearance not fully established to allow the inspector of the cake to reject or accept the end product | The lyophilized product labeled by the inspector "which appear to be product ejection" are, in fact, not product ejection but are actually just droplets from the fill process which splash and collect on the inner surface of the vial and sublimate. "Visual defects" in this case do NOT affect the product quality attributes based on potency testing and beyond use date testing. SOP 616.1 has been updated to establish criteria for rejection of different cake qualities. |
| 149 | [64B16-27.797(5) F.A.C.] | A 100% visual examination of the finished product is conducted to | See note above in #148-rejection criteria not established for some vials in this lot and has been released to patient. | Please see reply for #148. |

LETTER OF ADMONISHMENT

HAYWARD, CA 94545

RE: CI 2019 84877
TRUEPILL
PHY 56100

This LETTER OF ADMONISHMENT is being issued pursuant to Business and Professions Code section 4315 for failure to comply with the laws and regulations that govern the practice of pharmacy in California. (For exact language refer to the California Pharmacy Law and Index, located on the board's website at www.pharmacy.ca.gov, under Forms and Publications.)

The Board of Pharmacy has completed its investigation in the above referenced matter. All documentation and/or statements relating to the investigation have been accepted and included in an Investigation Report on file in this office. Facts contained in this report lead to the conclusion that the following violations of pharmacy laws or regulations have occurred:

JURISDICTION: Bus. & Prof. Code § 4315; 1764/56.10(a) - Unauthorized disclosure of prescription and medical information

Unauthorized disclosure of prescriptions: California Code of Regulations section 1764 states in pertinent part that no pharmacist shall exhibit, discuss, or reveal the contents of any prescription or any medical information furnished by the prescriber with any person other than the patient or his or her authorized representative and Civil Code section 56.10 subdivision (a) states, in pertinent part, no provider of health care shall disclose medical information regarding a patient of the provider of health care without first obtaining an authorization. Truepill Pharmacy was not in compliance with these regulations. Specifically, on 4/17/2019, Truepill Pharmacy (PHY56100) located at 3121 Diablo Avenue in Hayward, CA shipped prescription RX#1186395 to the wrong person. The prescription was intended for AR but was shipped to the address of MS in error. Also, Truepill Pharmacy shipped prescriptions to patients with a shipping label showing the return address of NuRx located at 6838 Ellicott Drive in East Syracuse, NY and from Apostrophe located at 330 2nd Street in Oakland, CA. NuRx and Apostrophe are not licensed pharmacies and prescription packages returned as undeliverable to these locations would cause the disclosure of medical information without authorization.

Shipping prescriptions to an unauthorized person violates California Code of Regulations section 1764 and Civil Code 56.10.

If you wish to contest this Letter of Admonishment, you may do so by submitting, within 30 days of the date of service of this Letter of Admonishment, namely February 22, 2020, the attached "Request for an Office Conference" form. If an office conference is not requested, compliance with the Letter of Admonishment shall not constitute an admission of the violations described in the Letter of Admonishment.

Unless it is dismissed following an office conference or you receive other instructions from the Board in writing, Pharmacy Law requires that you maintain and have readily available for inspection a copy of this Letter of Admonishment and any written corrective action plan, if any, for at least three years from the date of issuance at the top of this letter. The Letter of Admonishment will be considered a public record for purposes of disclosure for three years from issuance. The issuance of this Letter of Admonishment does not limit the board's ability to pursue other disciplinary or administrative action under Business and Professions Code section 4315, subdivision (f).

If you have any questions regarding this Letter of Admonishment, please contact Barbera Schleicher, Public Inquiry Analyst at (916) 518-3081.

| VIOLATION CODE SECTION | OFFENSE | AMT OF FINE |
| CCR, Title 16, § 1714 subd. (b) | Operational Standards and Security; pharmacy responsible for pharmacy security | $5,000.00 |
| Bus. & Prof. Code § 4169 subd. (a)(2)/Health & Safety Code § 111295 | Prohibited Acts; Purchase, trade, sell, or transfer dangerous drugs to that the person knew or reasonably should have known were adulterated.../It is unlawful for any person to manufacture, sell, deliver, hold, or offer for sale any drug or device that is adulterated | Citation without a fine |

CONDUCT:

California Code of Regulations 1714, section b states, (b) Each pharmacy licensed by the board shall maintain its facilities, space, fixtures, and equipment so that drugs are safely and properly prepared, maintained, secured and distributed. The pharmacy shall be of sufficient size and unobstructed area to accommodate the safe practice of pharmacy. Specifically, Truepill Pharmacy, PHY56100, located at 3121 Diablo Ave, Hayward, CA 94545 was in violation when they failed to keep dangerous drugs stored according to policy and procedure 2001.4, Oversight of Pharmacy Safety, which states: "The Pharmacy will make all attempts at maintaining a room temperature below 85F and ideally between 68-77F". Between 7/1/2020 and 9/14/2020, on numerous occasions, dangerous drug storage temperatures, summarized in Table 2, exceeded the recommended storage temperatures. The most egregious of these temperature spikes were:

a)On 8/13/2020, in the cage area of the warehouse, dangerous drugs were stored approximately 161 hours over 77 F and 47 hours over 85F.
b)On 9/6/2020, in the cage area of the warehouse, dangerous drugs were stored approximately 59 hours over 77 F and 17 hours above 85F.
c)On 8/13/2020, in the Parata Automated dispensing machine located in the warehouse, dangerous drugs were stored for approximately 163 hours above 77 F and 44 hours above 85 F.

Business and Professions Code 4169 section (a), subdivision (2) states, A person or entity shall not do any of the following: (2) Purchase, trade, sell, or transfer dangerous drugs that the person knew or reasonably should have known were adulterated, as set forth in Article 2 (commencing with Section 111250) of Chapter 6 of Part 5 of Division 104 of the Health and Safety Code as it relates to Health and Safety Code 111295 which states, It is unlawful for any person to manufacture, sell, deliver, hold or offer for sale any drug or device that is adulterated. Specifically, Truepill Pharmacy, PHY56100, located at3121 Diablo Ave, Hayward, CA 94545 was in violation when they used the MKT calculation alone instead of in conjunction with manufactures stability data as stated in USP <1079>, which provides guidance for assessing possible adulteration to dangerous drugs stored at the pharmacy due to excessive heat. In particular, USP<1079> states, "Knowing the MKT for an excursion is useful for evaluating the potential impact on product quality. However, it is also essential to know the upper and lower temperature limits of any excursion. If these extreme temperatures are outside available stability data, it may not be possible to predict the quality impact of the excursion with any confidence regardless of the MKT. At higher temperatures the kinetics of degradation may change or new degradation reactions may occur. Truepill Pharmacy did not consider the manufacture's stability data for at least 72 dangerous drugs stored in the cage area of the warehouse which were held and offered for sale when determining if a dangerous drug was adulterated by the extreme heat, summarized in Table 3. For each one of the 72 dangerous drugs, the maximum temperature for storage was listed by the manufacturer as 77F or storage information was not listed. As there was no stability temperature for at least the 72 drugs in question and per USP<1079>, the MKT cannot be without the stability data, these drugs which were held and offered for sale were adulterated.

ORDER OF ABATEMENT

By the Abatement date/payment date submit to the Board the following:

- Either (1) full payment of the assessed fine(s) in the amount of $5,000.00; or payment in the amount of $1,000.00 and (2) provide proof of new temperature control systems in addition to central HVAC systems installed throughout the pharmacy and 30 days of temperature log from the various drug storage locations within ninety (90) days.

COPY

If you choose option (2), within 90 days of this citation, you shall submit proof of new temperature control systems in addition to central HVAC systems installed throughout the pharmacy and 30 days of temperature log from the various drug storage locations. Any failure to do so shall be deemed a failure to meet the abatement requirements of this citation.

If you timely submit proof of new temperature control systems in addition to central HVAC systems installed throughout the pharmacy and 30 days of temperature log from the various drug storage locations within 90 days from the date the citation was issued, this citation shall be reduced to $1,000.00 and proof of compliance of new temperature control systems in addition to central HVAC systems installed throughout the pharmacy and 30 days of temperature log from the various drug storage locations shall be considered satisfactory abatement of the citation.

On December 17, 2021 the Board received an "Application for New Louisiana Pharmacy Permit for Nonresident Pharmacy" from Postmeds, Inc. d/b/a Truepill. Accompanying correspondence and organization chart detailed a 100% change in the ownership structure of Postmeds Inc., effective November 6, 2019. Postmeds Inc. went from being owned 31.5% by Mohammad Umar Afridi, 31.5% by Siddharth Viswanathan, 16.5% by Initialized III L.P., and 20.5% by others with no individual owner holding more than 4%, to being owned 100% by Truepill, Inc.

WHEREAS, the Board alleges that such actions constitute violations of the following:

LAC, Title 46: LIII §1135(A)(2). The new owner(s) of the pharmacy shall submit a properly completed pharmacy permit application, with appropriate fee, to the board.

LAC, Title 46: LIII §1135(A)(4). Pharmacy permits are not transferable from the original holder(s) of the permit to the new owner(s).

LAC, Title 46: LIII §2307(C). Authority and Accountability. This responsibility necessarily includes accountability for any violation involving federal or state laws or regulations occurring within the prescription department supervised by a pharmacist-in-charge.

THIS MATTER came to be considered before a member of the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy (hereinafter, the "Board") pursuant to 21 N.C.A.C. 46 .2008. The Conference was scheduled for Thursday, February 24, 2022, and, after appropriate notice, was heard on that day by Board member Wallace E. Nelson. Respondent PostMeds, Inc. was informed of its right to be present at the pre-hearing conference and declined. The Board's General Counsel, Clinton R. Pinyan, represented the Board.

Respondent has agreed to waive a formal hearing in the above-referenced matter. It stipulates and agrees to the findings of fact and conclusions of law recited herein and to the order of discipline imposed. By its consent, Respondent also stipulates that it waives its right to appeal this Consent Order or challenge in any way the sufficiency of the findings of this Order as a basis for the action taken. Based upon the consent of the parties, the Board hereby enters the following:

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. On November 20, 2017, the Board issued Permit No. 13413 to Respondent PostMeds, Inc. d/b/a Truepill (Permit No. 13413) ("PostMeds").

2. On PostMeds' initial permit application, its then-pharmacist manager, Mohammad Umar Afridi, submitted an inaccurate statement that he was the sole owner and officer of PostMeds. In fact, PostMeds now acknowledges that Afridi and Siddharth Viswanathan each owned 47 percent of PostMeds on November 20, 2017, with others owning six percent, and that Viswanathan was also an officer of PostMeds.

3. Viswanathan and the minority owners' interests would not have raised questions about the permit application in this particular case. If PostMeds had disclosed the true ownership and officers of PostMeds, the Board still would have granted PostMeds a permit. However, it was an inaccurate statement that Afridi, as the person who submitted the application, knew was inaccurate. That statement prevented the Board from vetting Viswanathan as the owner of the pharmacy. Because of the inaccuracy of the representations, the initial permit was void ab initio.

4. In November 2019, PostMeds went through a corporate restructuring. During that restructuring, Truepill, Inc. was created as a holding company for PostMeds. At that time, Truepill, Inc. became the sole owner of PostMeds. Afridi, Viswanathan and the other former direct owners of PostMeds became indirect owners with the same ownership interests in the holding company, Truepill, Inc., that they had before the transfer of ownership.

5. This restructuring required PostMeds to submit a transfer of ownership application and have that application granted before the restructuring closed. PostMeds failed to do this. Therefore, even if the initial permit had been valid (which it was not), it would have become invalid upon the corporate restructuring.

6. Insertion of a new holding company between the ultimate owners and PostMeds would not have raised questions about the permit application in this particular case. The ownership interests of the ultimate owners did not change. If PostMeds had disclosed the new holding company, the Board still would have granted the transfer of ownership. However,

PostMeds failed to submit the transfer of ownership application or otherwise disclose the interests of Truepill, Inc.

7. In each of its subsequent renewals, PostMeds failed to correct the ownership information that it had inaccurately submitted on its initial application or to list Truepill, Inc., as the direct owner of the pharmacy.

8. On November 4, 2021, counsel for PostMeds informed the Board that its "current ownership information on file with the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy is out of date." Upon follow-up questioning, the next day, PostMeds disclosed that it should have submitted a transfer of ownership application in November 2019. It further was apparent from the ownership information that PostMeds provided that Afridi made inaccurate representations about ownership and officers on PostMed's initial application that had never been corrected.

9. PostMeds agreed to stop shipping any drugs, devices or medical equipment into the State of North Carolina until the matter was resolved. It further agreed to stop shipping or dispensing any drugs, devices or medical equipment from six other pharmacies under its ownership until the matter was resolved (even though those pharmacies did not receive permits until after the transfer of ownership had occurred, and so did not suffer from the same problem).

10. PostMeds submitted a transfer of ownership application promptly.

11. Although PostMed's disclosure of its inaccuracies was tardy, its remedial actions are a mitigating factor in this matter.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

1. Reporting of correct and complete ownership information on an initial pharmacy permit application or a renewal application is material, indeed essential, to the Board's ability to ensure that a pharmacy will provide services safely and competently to the public.

2. PostMeds made inaccurate statements about its ownership and officers on its initial application, which it failed to correct at any point through its 2022 renewal. That initial permit was therefore void ab initio and violated G.S. § 90-85.38(b).

3. The creation of Truepill, Inc. as a holding company further triggered a requirement to report the ownership change and obtain a successor permit, and to do so before the closing of the transaction that created Truepill, Inc. The transaction "result[ed] in a different person . . . owning more than 50 percent interest in the permit holder . . . ." 21 NCAC 46.1603. Failure to apply for and obtain a successor permit prior to the transaction, and a continuing failure to disclose the ownership interest of Truepill, Inc., violated G.S. § 90-85.38(b).

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED:

PostMeds was in violation of G.S. § 90-85.38(b) in North Carolina from November 20, 2017 until at least November 4, 2021. Respondent PostMed's Permit No. 13413 was VOID from the time that it was granted on November 20, 2017. G.S. § 90-85.38(c).

Respondent PostMed's change of ownership application is APPROVED as a successor permits to Permit No. 13413 (the "Successor Permit") with the following CONDITIONS:

1. PostMeds shall provide timely advance notice of any contemplated change in ownership to the current pharmacist-manager and any future pharmacist-manager(s) of the Successor Permit. PostMeds shall consult with the Successor Permit's pharmacist-manager(s) to determine whether any contemplated transaction triggers the need to obtain new permits. PostMeds shall authorize the Successor Permit's pharmacist-manager(s) to take any necessary action to update that ownership information with the Board or to apply for new permits. If a contemplated transaction triggers the need for new permits, PostMeds shall not complete that transaction unless and until either the Board issues new permits or PostMeds ceases all practice of pharmacy at the permitted location.

2. The Successor Permit shall violate no laws governing the practice of pharmacy or the distribution of drugs.

3. The Successor Permit shall violate no rules or regulations of the Board.

4. If the Successor Permit fail to comply with any term or condition of this Order, it may be subject to additional disciplinary action by the Board.

DEA Certificate of Registration FP6189725

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

Telemedicine is an important tool for providing increased access to medical treatment that has been relied upon by hundreds of millions of Americans since the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic in 2020. Unfortunately, this access is being exploited by a subset of medical practitioners and businesses seeking opportunities to profit by wrongfully providing controlled substances without a legitimate medical purpose.

DEA has an obligation to protect the public by ensuring that pharmacists only fill prescriptions for controlled substances which are prescribed for legitimate medical purposes by practitioners acting in the usual course of professional practice. It is critical that entities engaged in the practice of online pharmacy are appropriately registered and subject to reporting, disclosure, and other requirements imposed under law. These requirements allow entities engaged in the legitimate practice of telemedicine to continue safely providing critical services and protect the safety and health of the American public.

The Ryan Haight Online Pharmacy Consumer Protection Act of 2008 (Ryan Haight Act) and its implementing regulations prohibit actors from operating as an "online pharmacy" without the appropriate DEA registration. Truepill does not have the requisite registration to act as an online pharmacy. But since September 2020, it has acted as an online pharmacy, and in a two-year period filled 72,000 controlled substance prescriptions, of which 60% were for stimulants, such as amphetamines used in the treatment of Attention Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD).

Truepill was the pharmacy for telehealth companies, including Cerebral, that marketed ADHD treatments, including Adderall ® and its generic forms, directly to consumers using Internet advertisements and social media. Cerebral arranged for patients to receive prescriptions for ADHD treatments through a telehealth visit, and for Truepill to fill those prescriptions. In numerous instances, Truepill dispensed controlled substances pursuant to prescriptions that were not issued for a legitimate medical purpose in the usual course of professional practice. Many of these prescriptions were written by providers that lacked the requisite state certifications to prescribe and who issued multiple prescriptions for a patient to receive more than a 90-day supply of a Schedule II controlled substance, including prescriptions for the treatment of ADHD, in violation of federal regulations.

Accordingly,

PURSUANT to Sections 303 and 304 of the Controlled Substances Act, Title 21, United States Code, Sections 823 and 824,

NOTICE is hereby given to afford Truepill an opportunity to Show Cause before the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA), at the DEA Hearing Facility, 700 Army Navy Drive, 2nd Floor, Arlington, Virginia 22202, or a location designated by the Administrative Law Judge, on March 21, 2023, or on such a subsequent date designated by the Administrative Law Judge (if Truepill requests such a hearing), as to why DEA should not revoke Truepill's DEA Certificate of Registration (COR or registration), Number FP6189725, pursuant to 21 U.S.C. § 824(a)(4), and deny any applications for any other DEA registrations, because Truepill's registration would be inconsistent with the public interest, as that term is defined in 21 U.S.C. § 823(f).

As detailed below, this Order states DEA's basis to revoke the above-referenced DEA registration, including a non-exhaustive summary of the matters of fact and law at issue, as well as citations to laws and regulations that Truepill has violated (see 21 C.F.R. §§ 1301.36(e) and 1301.37(c), which DEA construes in pari materia). In order to preserve Truepill's rights in this proceeding, Truepill may appear in these revocation proceedings by filing a notice of appearance or request for hearing in the manner prescribed by regulations within 30 days from the receipt of this Order. On or before the date of Truepill's appearance, Truepill may submit a corrective action plan that will be considered by DEA in accordance with 21 U.S.C. § 824(c).

LEGAL REQUIREMENTS

Entities That Must Register as Online Pharmacies

Federal law proscribes any person from distributing or dispensing a controlled substance except as authorized by the Controlled Substances Act (CSA). See 21 U.S.C. §§ 841(a)(1); 842(a)(1). Federal law further explicitly provides that it is unlawful for "any person" to "deliver, distribute, or dispense a controlled substance by means of the Internet, except as authorized" by the CSA. 21 U.S.C. § 841(h)(1).

An "online pharmacy" is "a person, entity, or Internet site . . . that knowingly or intentionally delivers, distributes, or dispenses, or offers or attempts to deliver, distribute, or dispense, a controlled substance by means of the Internet." 21 U.S.C. § 802(52)(A); see also 21 C.F.R. § 1300.04(h) (same). Further, the term "'deliver, distribute, or dispense by means of the Internet' refers, respectively, to any delivery, distribution, or dispensing of a controlled substance that is caused or facilitated by means of the Internet." 21 U.S.C. § 802(51). To act as an online pharmacy, a pharmacy must "request that the Administrator modify its registration to authorize the pharmacy to dispense controlled substances by means of the Internet as an online pharmacy." 21 C.F.R. § 1301.19(a); see 21 C.F.R. § 1301.11(b).

The CSA instructs that "it is unlawful for any person who falls within the [CSA's] definition of 'online pharmacy' . . . to deliver, distribute, or dispense a controlled substance by means of the Internet" unless that person is "validly registered with a modification of such registration authorizing such activity." 21 C.F.R. § 1301.11(b). "Accordingly, any pharmacy registered" with DEA "that falls within the definition of an online pharmacy and proposes to dispense controlled substances by means of the Internet must obtain a modification of its registration authorizing such activity." Id.; see also 21 C.F.R. § 1301.19(f) ("No person . . . required to obtain a modification of a registration . . . authorizing it to operate as an online pharmacy may engage in any activity for which such modification of registration is required until the application for such modified registration is granted and an active Certificate of Registration indicating the modification of the registration has been issued by the Administrator to such person."). The CSA explicitly provides that "delivering, distributing, or dispensing a controlled substance by means of the Internet by an online pharmacy that is not validly registered with a modification authorizing such activity" is a violation of section 841(h)(1). 21 U.S.C. § 841(h)(2)(A).

Requirements Applicable to Online Pharmacies

An online pharmacy is subject to a number of requirements under the CSA. Among other things, an online pharmacy must:

- "[D]isplay in a visible and clear manner on its homepage a statement that it complies with the requirements of this section with respect to the delivery or sale or offer for sale of controlled substances." 21 U.S.C. § 831(a); 21 C.F.R. § 1304.45(a); see also 21 U.S.C. § 802(53) ("The term 'homepage' means the opening or main page or screen of the website of an online pharmacy that is viewable on the Internet.").

- Post "in a visible and clear manner" on its homepage or a page clearly linked from its homepage, the following information:

    - "The name, professional degree, and States of licensure of the pharmacist-in-charge, and a telephone number at which the pharmacist-in-charge can be contacted."

    - "A list of the States in which the pharmacy is licensed to dispense controlled substances."

    - "A certification that the pharmacy is registered under" the CSA "to deliver, distribute, or dispense" controlled substances "by means of the Internet."

    - The following statement: "This online pharmacy is obligated to comply fully with the Controlled Substances Act and DEA regulations. As part of this obligation, this online pharmacy has obtained a modified DEA registration authorizing it to operate as an online pharmacy. In addition, this online pharmacy will only dispense a controlled substance to a person who has a valid prescription issued for a legitimate medical purpose based upon a medical relationship with a prescribing practitioner. This includes at least one prior in-person medical evaluation in accordance with section 309 of the Controlled Substances Act (21 U.S.C. 829) or a medical evaluation via telemedicine in

See 21 U.S.C. § 831(c); 21 C.F.R. § 1304.45.

- Notify the DEA Administrator, thirty days before offering a controlled substance for sale, delivery, distribution, or dispensing, of, among other things: the information the online pharmacy is required to post on its Internet site under 21 U.S.C. § 831(c), and 21 C.F.R. § 1304.45; each Internet site address used by the online pharmacy; the DEA registration numbers of every pharmacy that delivers, distributes or dispenses controlled substances pursuant to orders made through each of those identified websites; and a certification that the information provided on its Internet site under 21 U.S.C. § 831(c), and 21 C.F.R. § 1304.45 is true and accurate. See 21 U.S.C. § 831(d); 21 C.F.R. § 1304.40(b).

- Display on its homepage a declaration that it has made an appropriate notification to the DEA Administrator. See 21 U.S.C. § 831(e); 21 C.F.R. § 1304.40(d).

- Monthly report to the DEA Administrator of the total quantity of controlled substances the online pharmacy has dispensed for each calendar month in which it dispenses either 100 or more controlled substance prescriptions, or 5,000 or more dosage units of controlled substances. If the pharmacy's dispensing does not meet either threshold in a given month, it must report a negative response for that month. See 21 C.F.R. § 1304.55.

Requirements Applicable to All Pharmacies

A "prescription for a controlled substance may only be filled by a pharmacist, acting in the usual course of his professional practice." 21 C.F.R. § 1306.06. A pharmacist is only permitted to fill prescriptions "issued for a legitimate medical purpose by an individual practitioner acting in the usual course of his professional practice." 21 C.F.R. § 1306.04(a). Although "[t]he responsibility for the proper prescribing and dispensing of controlled substances is upon the prescribing practitioner, . . . a corresponding responsibility rests with the pharmacist who fills the prescription." Id.

"DEA has consistently interpreted this provision as prohibiting a pharmacist from filling a prescription for a controlled substance when [s]he either knows or has reason to know that the prescription was not written for a legitimate medical purpose." Wheatland Pharmacy, 78 Fed. Reg. 69,441, 69,445 (2013) (internal quotation marks and citation omitted, alternation in original). Section 1306.04(a) "expressly requires pharmacists to identify and resolve suspicions that a prescription is illegitimate." Trinity Pharmacy II, 83 Fed. Reg. 7304, 7331 (2018).

A violation of these regulations is a violation of federal law. See 21 U.S.C. § 842(a)(1) (making it unlawful to dispense controlled substances in violation of 21 U.S.C. § 829, whose scope is defined in part by 21 C.F.R. §§ 1306.04, 1306.06). Any attempt to violate these regulations is also a violation of federal law. See 21 U.S.C. § 846.

Additionally, DEA may find that a registrant's DEA COR is inconsistent with the public interest if the registrant acted carelessly or negligently in handling controlled substances, even if the registrant did not intend to violate the Controlled Substances Act. See, e.g., Med. Shoppe, 79 Fed. Reg. 59,504, 59,506 (2014) ("Careless or negligent handling of controlled substances creates the opportunity for diversion and [can] justify revocation or denial." (quoting Paul J. Caragine, Jr., 63 Fed. Reg. 51,592, 51,601 (1998))).

Pharmacies are also required to keep appropriate records as set forth in the CSA. "Recordkeeping is one of the CSA's principal tools for preventing the diversion of controlled substances." Wayne Pharmacy, 85 Fed. Reg. 63,579, 63,582 (2020). Such recordkeeping is one of the central features of the CSA's regulatory regime because "a registrant's accurate and diligent adherence to this obligation is absolutely essential to protect against the diversion of controlled substances." Superior Pharmacy I & Superior Pharmacy II, 81 Fed. Reg. 31,310, 31,337 (2016). Thus, a finding that a registrant "failed to maintain complete and accurate records . . . supports the conclusion that [the registrant] has committed such acts as to render its continued registration 'inconsistent with the public interest.'" Id. at 31,338 (quoting 21 U.S.C. § 824(a)(4)).

Pharmacies are also required to, among other things, "maintain, on a current basis, a complete and accurate record of each [controlled] substance . . . received, sold, delivered, or otherwise disposed of." 21 U.S.C. § 827(a)(3); 21 C.F.R. § 1304.21(a); see also 21 C.F.R. § 1304.22(c) (specific recordkeeping requirements for dispensers).

An individual practitioner is not authorized, on a single occasion, to issue multiple prescriptions for a patient to receive more than a 90-day supply of a Schedule II controlled substance. See 21 C.F.R. § 1306.12(b).

State of California Authority to Dispense Controlled Substances

As noted above, a pharmacy may only fill valid prescriptions. See 21 U.S.C. § 829; 21 C.F.R. § 1306.06.

California law provides that to practice as a nurse practitioner in California, a nurse practitioner must hold, among other things, a valid and active registered nursing license issued by the Board of Registered Nursing (Nursing Board). Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 2835.5. Additionally, for a nurse practitioner licensed in California to prescribe a controlled substance, the Nursing Board must certify that the nurse practitioner satisfactorily completed a course in pharmacology covering the controlled substances to be prescribed and must issue a Furnishing Number to the nurse practitioner. See id. §§ 2836.1(g)(1), 2836.2, 2836.3.

To practice as a doctor of naturopathic medicine in California, one must hold a valid and active naturopathic medicine license issued by the California Naturopathic Medicine Committee. See Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 3630, 3633, 3644(d)(2). Schedule III through V controlled substances may only be dispensed by a naturopathic doctor under supervision by a physician or surgeon and pursuant to standardized procedures or protocols established between them. See Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 3640.5(f).

To practice as a physician assistant in California, one must hold a valid physician assistant license issued by the California Physician Assistant Board. See Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 3519;

see also Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 3501, 3503, 3516. Schedule II through V controlled substances may only be prescribed by a physician assistant under supervision by a physician or surgeon and pursuant to a practice agreement. See Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 3502.1 and 3516.

Additionally, practitioners licensed outside California may only be authorized to practice within California by the California Director of Emergency Medical Services Authority during a gubernatorially declared state of emergency. See Cal. Bus. and Prof. Code § 900.

BACKGROUND

1. Truepill is registered as a retail pharmacy under DEA COR Number FP6189725 in Schedules II through V with a registered address of 3121 Diablo Avenue, Hayward, California 94545. Truepill's registration expires by its own terms on November 30, 2025.

2. Truepill is not registered as an online pharmacy with DEA.

3. Truepill is licensed by the State of California as a community pharmacy with license number PHY58585. Truepill's pharmacy license expires by its own terms on March 1, 2023.

4. Between on or about September 14, 2020, and September 13, 2022, of the more than 72,000 controlled substances Truepill filled, nearly 46,000 were stimulants, accounting for more than 60% of the controlled substances Truepill dispensed.

5. Truepill's DEA COR should be revoked, and any applications for registration should be denied, because Truepill has committed such acts as would render its registration inconsistent with the public interest. See 21 U.S.C. §§ 823(f), 824(a)(4). Specifically, Truepill has acted as an online pharmacy without obtaining an appropriate DEA registration and without meeting a number of legal requirements applicable to online pharmacies. Truepill has, on numerous occasions, unlawfully filled controlled stimulant prescriptions issued by prescribers with no state authority to issue such prescriptions. Truepill has also repeatedly filled controlled stimulant prescriptions there were for more than a 90-day supply, in violation of 21 C.F.R. § 1306.12(b).

6. Dextroamphetamine-amphetamine, which is often sold under the brand names Adderall® and Adderall XR®, is a Schedule II stimulant.

7. Methylphenidate, which is often sold under the brand name Ritalin®, is a Schedule II stimulant.

OPERATING AS AN ONLINE PHARMACY WITHOUT DEA REGISTRATION

8. Truepill provides both pharmacy and technical services to corporate customers, including telehealth companies such as Cerebral. Moreover, Truepill employs a number of customer service representatives to assist its corporate customers.

9. On its Internet site, Truepill describes itself as a "virtual pharmacy," providing "[a]n end-to-end virtual pharmacy experience." Furthermore, Truepill claims that "Truepill's virtual pharmacy enables you to create the convenient experience your customers want."

10. Truepill provides its corporate customers with a software platform containing, among other things, patient information, prescriber information, and prescription information to facilitate the delivery of prescriptions by means of the Internet.

11. Truepill's Internet site also extensively describes how its software programs assist its corporate customers in providing patients with prescriptions. Among other things, the Truepill's Internet site includes the following statements:

    a. Truepill states that it can help companies "[d]eliver medications to your patients using powerful programmatic APIs [Application Programing Interfaces] that give you full control." It further states that these companies can "[p]air our pharmacy fulfillment services with our telehealth solutions to make your programs more accessible to patients who may find it difficult to commute to a doctor's office."

    b. Truepill informs that it provides other software that uses the Internet to facilitate the filling of prescriptions, including, among others, telehealth APIs to help practitioners create and update patient records, and to provide the practitioners' patients with patient health questionnaires, all in "the Truepill ecosystem." Truepill makes clear that its telehealth API customers are "third-party provider networks and physician groups that that can diagnose, treat and prescribe for your patient population. These providers are all part of licensed professional medical corporations who are independently owned and operated."

    c. Truepill explains that it uses a "fulfillment API" to assist providers to "efficiently get medications to your patient's door across all 50 states." Truepill goes on to explain how its software platform uses the Internet to electronically create patient records, obtain prescriptions, and allow practitioners to create fill requests that they submit to Truepill electronically.

    d. Truepill states that it offers a "team of marketers, merchandisers, and fulfillment experts" to help telehealth companies "maximize the value of your e-commerce program."

12. Through these services, Truepill "deliver[ed], distribute[ed], or dispense[ed]" "a controlled substance by means of the Internet," despite not being registered as an online pharmacy, in violation of 21 U.S.C. § 841(h)(1) and 21 C.F.R. §§ 1301.11(b) & 1301.19(f).

FAILURE TO MAKE AND DISPLAY REQUIRED REPORTS AND NOTIFICATIONS

13. Despite operating as an online pharmacy, Truepill failed to put on its Internet site information required by the CSA, including:

a. A statement on its homepage that Truepill complies with the requirements of 21 U.S.C. § 831 with respect to the delivery or sale or offer for sale of controlled substances, in violation of 21 U.S.C. § 831(a) and 21 C.F.R. § 1304.45(a).

b. A visible and clear statement on its homepage, or a page clearly linked from its homepage including:

   i. the name, professional degree, and states of licensure of its pharmacist-in-charge;

   ii. a telephone number at which its pharmacist-in-charge can be contacted;

   iii. a list of states in which Truepill is licensed to dispense controlled substances;

   iv. a certification that Truepill is licensed under the CSA to deliver, distribute, or dispense controlled substances by means of the Internet; and

   v. the following statement: "This online pharmacy is obligated to comply fully with the Controlled Substances Act and DEA regulations. As part of this obligation, this online pharmacy has obtained a modified DEA registration authorizing it to operate as an online pharmacy. In addition, this online pharmacy will only dispense a controlled substance to a person who has a valid prescription issued for a legitimate medical purpose based upon a medical relationship with a prescribing practitioner. This includes at least one prior in-person medical evaluation in accordance with section 309 of the Controlled Substances Act (21 U.S.C. 829) or a medical evaluation via telemedicine in accordance with section 102(54) of the Controlled Substances Act (21 U.S.C. 802(54))."; all in violation of 21 U.S.C. § 831(c) and 21 C.F.R. § 1304.45.

14. Truepill failed to notify the DEA Administrator of the information listed in 13.b., supra, through the submission of an application for a modified registration thirty days before offering a controlled substance for sale, delivery, distribution, or dispensing together with a certification that such information is true and accurate, in violation of 21 U.S.C. § 831(d) and 21 C.F.R § 1304.40(a)(1). Truepill also did not notify the DEA Administrator of each Internet site address it used, nor of the DEA registration numbers of every pharmacy that delivers, distributes or dispenses controlled substances pursuant to orders made through each of those identified websites, in violation of 21 U.S.C. § 831(d) and 21 C.F.R. § 1304.40(b)(3) and (4).

15. Truepill failed to display on the homepage of its Internet site that it had made an appropriate notification to the DEA Administrator under 21 U.S.C. § 831(d) and 21 C.F.R. § 1304.40(b), in violation of 21 U.S.C. § 831(e) and 21 C.F.R. § 1304.40(d).

16. Truepill failed to the provide the DEA Administrator with any of the monthly reports required by 21 C.F.R. § 1304.55.

UNLAWFUL DISPENSING OF SCHEDULE II CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES PURSUANT TO PRESCRIPTIONS FOR GREATER THAN 90-DAY SUPPLY

17. Between on or about September 13, 2020, and September 13, 2022, in dozens of instances, Truepill dispensed Schedule II controlled substances for prescriptions written on a single date by an individual practitioner to an individual patient for a greater than 90-day supply. A non-exhaustive set of examples is provided below.

18. On August 24, 2020, a practitioner issued Patient N.S. five prescriptions amounting to a 150-day supply of dextroamphetamine-amphetamine extended release (ER) 10 mg capsules, which are often sold under the brand name Adderall XR®, a total of 300 capsules, which Truepill dispensed.

19. On January 12, 2021, a practitioner issued Patient L.H. four prescriptions amounting to a 120-day supply of methylphenidate 20 mg tablets, which are often sold under the brand name Ritalin®, a total of 120 tablets, which Truepill dispensed.

20. On January 12, 2021, a practitioner issued Patient L.H. four prescriptions amounting to a 120-day supply of methylphenidate ER 54 mg tablets, which are often sold under the brand name Ritalin®, a total of 120 tablets, which Truepill dispensed.

21. On February 11, 2021, a practitioner issued Patient D.K. two prescriptions amounting to a 120-day supply of dextroamphetamine-amphetamine 20 mg tablets, which are often sold under the brand name Adderall®, a total of 120 tablets, which Truepill dispensed.

22. On February 11, 2021, a practitioner issued Patient D.K. two prescriptions amounting to a 180-day supply of dextroamphetamine-amphetamine ER 30 mg capsules, which are often sold under the brand name Adderall XR®, a total of 180 capsules, which Truepill dispensed.

23. On March 9, 2021, a practitioner issued Patient H.M. three prescriptions amounting to a 210-day supply of dextroamphetamine-amphetamine 10 mg tablets, which are often sold under the brand name Adderall®, a total of 315 tablets, which Truepill dispensed.

24. On November 8, 2021, a practitioner issued Patient N.B. four prescriptions amounting to a 120-day supply of dextroamphetamine-amphetamine ER 15 mg capsules, which are often sold under the brand name Adderall XR®, a total of 120 capsules, which Truepill dispensed.

25. On November 8, 2021, a practitioner issued Patient N.B. four prescriptions amounting to a 120-day supply of dextroamphetamine-amphetamine 5 mg tablets, which are often sold under the brand name Adderall®, a total of 120 tablets, which Truepill dispensed.

UNLAWFUL DISPENSING OF CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES PURSUANT TO PRESCRIPTIONS ISSUED BY PRACTITIONERS WITHOUT STATE AUTHORITY

26. Between on or about September 13, 2020, and September 13, 2022, Truepill dispensed controlled substances to patients located in California pursuant to prescriptions written by numerous practitioners who were neither sufficiently licensed in California to do so nor holders of an Authorization for Out-of-State Health Care Practitioner issued by the California Emergency Medical Services Authority (Temporary Emergency Authorization). These practitioners included nurse practitioners, physician assistants, and doctors of naturopathic medicine.

27. A non-exhaustive set of insufficiently licensed practitioners who also did not hold a Temporary Emergency Authorization include: Nurse Practitioner N.B.; Nurse Practitioner T.C.; Nurse Practitioner D.S.; Nurse Practitioner H.M.; Nurse Practitioner J.M.; Nurse Practitioner A.N.; Nurse Practitioner S.O.; Nurse Practitioner A.S.; and Nurse Practitioner N.S.

RECORDKEEPING AND AUDIT FINDINGS

28. In September and October of 2022, DEA investigators conducted an audit of Truepill's controlled substance records by conducting an inventory of certain controlled substances present at Truepill's registered location and comparing that inventory to the records maintained and provided by Truepill. DEA's audit identified 1,674 missing dosage units of dextroamphetamine-amphetamine ER 20 mg, often sold under the brand name Adderall XR®, for which Truepill was unable to account, in violation of 21 C.F.R. §§ 1304.21(a) and 1304.22(c). See Bill Lloyd Drug, 64 Fed. Reg. 1,823, 1,824 (1999) ("The shortages and overages revealed by the accountability audit show that Respondent does not keep complete and accurate records of its controlled substance handling as required by 21 U.S.C. 827 and 21 CFR 1304.21.").

29. This shortage of 1,674 units constituted over two percent of the dextroamphetamine-amphetamine ER 20 mg, often sold under the brand name Adderall XR®, for which Truepill was accountable during the audit period. Truepill's failure to account for a significant number of dosage units of controlled substances not only violated its obligation to maintain accurate records, but also constituted a failure to comply with its obligation to maintain effective controls against the diversion of controlled substances into illicit channels. See, e.g., Superior Pharmacy, 81 Fed. Reg. at 31,337.

THE following procedures are available to Truepill in this matter:

1. Within 30 days after the date of receipt of this Order to Show Cause, Truepill may file with DEA a written request for a hearing in the form set forth in 21 C.F.R. § 1316.47. See 21 C.F.R. § 1301.43(a). If Truepill fails to file such a request, the hearing shall be cancelled in accordance with paragraph 3, below.

2. Within 30 days after the date of receipt of this Order to Show Cause, Truepill may file with DEA a waiver of hearing together with a written statement regarding its position on the matters of fact and law involved. See 21 C.F.R. § 1301.43(c).

3. Should Truepill decline to file a request for a hearing, or should Truepill request a hearing and then fail to appear at the designated hearing, Truepill shall be deemed to have waived the right to a hearing, and DEA may cancel such hearing and may enter a final order in this matter without a hearing based upon the evidence presented. See 21 C.F.R. §§ 1301.43(d), 1301.43(e).

Requests for hearing should be filed by email with the Office of Administrative Law Judges at the following address: ECF-DEA@dea.gov, with a copy simultaneously provided to the Government at the following address: DEA.Registration.Litigation@dea.gov. Except as provided below with respect to a corrective action plan, correspondence concerning this matter, including requests referenced in paragraphs 1 and 2 above, should be addressed to the Hearing Clerk, Office of Administrative Law Judges, Drug Enforcement Administration, 8701 Morrissette Drive, Springfield, VA 22152. A copy of the same shall also be served on Government counsel, Edward O. Siclari, and be addressed to the Office of Chief Counsel, Diversion and Regulatory Litigation Section, 8701 Morrissette Drive, Springfield, VA 22152. Matters are deemed filed upon receipt by the Hearing Clerk. See 21 C.F.R. § 1316.45.

OPPORTUNITY TO SUBMIT CORRECTIVE ACTION PLAN

In addition to the procedural options set forth in paragraphs 1 and 2 above, in accordance with 21 U.S.C. § 824(c)(2)(C), Truepill has the opportunity to submit a corrective action plan, which must be received by the Acting Assistant Administrator, Diversion Control Division, on or before the date of its appearance. Truepill is not required to submit a corrective action plan, nor will any adverse inference be drawn if Truepill chooses not to do so. If Truepill wishes to submit a corrective action plan, it must be submitted directly to the Acting Assistant Administrator, Diversion Control Division, who will decide whether, in view of the plan and the allegations set forth in this Order to Show Cause, the proceedings to revoke Truepill's registration should be discontinued, or deferred for the purposes of modification, amendment, or clarification of such plan. Any corrective action plan should be clearly labeled "Corrective Action Plan" and submitted by email to Thomas W. Prevoznik, Acting Assistant Administrator, Diversion Control Division, at the following address: CAPresponse@usdoj.gov.

A copy of the corrective action plan shall also be served on Government counsel, Edward O. Siclari, and be addressed to the Office of Chief Counsel, Diversion and Regulatory Litigation Section, 8701 Morrissette Drive, Springfield, VA 22152.

In the event Truepill submits a corrective action plan and the Acting Assistant Administrator decides not to discontinue or postpone the proceedings, please note that such a decision is not a final determination by the agency regarding Truepill's corrective action plan or registration. In such circumstances, the Administrator may nonetheless consider the corrective action plan in issuing the final order at the conclusion of the proceedings.

Finally, please be advised that the submission of a corrective action plan shall not constitute a request for a hearing under paragraph 1 above or a written statement regarding Truepill's position on the matters of fact and law involved under paragraph 2 above. As indicated, if Truepill chooses to submit a corrective action plan and also wishes to proceed under paragraph 1 or 2 above, it must separately submit its request for a hearing (paragraph 1) or written statement (paragraph 2) in accordance with the instructions above.

AMENDED SUMMARY ORDER

NOW on this 20th day of January, 2023, comes before the Kansas Board of Pharmacy (the "Board"), through its Executive Director, the matter of PostMeds, Inc dba Truepill ("Respondent").

Pursuant to the authority granted to the Board by the Kansas Pharmacy Act, K.S.A. 65-1625, et seq., and in accordance with the Kansas Administrative Procedure Act, K.S.A. 77-501, et seq., the Board's Executive Secretary enters this Amended Summary Order in the above-captioned matter. After reviewing the investigation materials and being otherwise duly advised in the premises, makes the following findings, conclusions and order:

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. The Board has previously issued Respondent Registration No. 22-104228 which entitled Respondent to operate as a non-resident pharmacy in the State of Kansas.

2. On November 6, 2019, the ownership of Respondent's non-resident pharmacy changed.

3. On May 22, 2020, the Board received a renewal application for Respondent's Registration No. 22-104228, which was approved on June 3, 2020 with an expiration date of June 30, 2021. Respondent answered "No" to the question: "Has any license or registration, currently or previously held by the applicant or the PIC been surrendered to, denied, disciplined, censured, suspended, limited, placed on probation, or revoked by any state of federal government?"

Respondent certified the information submitted was true, correct, and complete to the best of Respondent's knowledge.

4. On June 1, 2021, the Board received a renewal application for Respondent's Registration No. 22-104228, which was approved on June 21, 2021 with an expiration date of June 30, 2022. Respondent answered "No" to the question: "Has any license or registration, currently or previously held by the applicant or the PIC been surrendered to, denied, disciplined, censured, suspended, limited, placed on probation, or revoked by any state of federal government?" Respondent certified the information submitted was true, correct, and complete to the best of Respondent's knowledge.

5. Due to staffing challenges, personnel turnover and administrative oversight resulting from its early, rapid growth and restructuring and the corresponding COVID-19 pandemic, Respondent mistakenly failed to report the 2019 ownership change and related disclosures to the Board in its May 22, 2020 and June 1, 2021 renewal applications.

6. On April 18, 2022, the Board received notification from Respondent of an ownership change and several past disciplinary actions not previously reported to the Board including: North Carolina Board of Pharmacy Consent Order of Discipline dated March 8, 2022; California State Board of Pharmacy Letter of Admonishment dated January 23, 2020; California State Board of Pharmacy Citation and Fine dated June 16, 2020; California State Board of Pharmacy Citation and Fine Order of Abatement dated August 25, 2021; Alabama State Board of Pharmacy Final Order dated October 25, 2021; California State Board of Pharmacy Citation and Fine dated January 24, 2019; and California State Board of Pharmacy Citation dated December 16, 2019.

7. On April 28, 2022, the Board received from Respondent a Form BA-22 Non-Resident Pharmacy Registration Application ("Respondent's Application"), notifying of the change in ownership effective November 6, 2019, and applying for a new non-resident pharmacy registration under the new ownership.

8. On May 20, 2022, the Board approved Respondent's Application and issued Respondent the new Non-Resident Pharmacy Registration No. of 22-117859 ("Respondent's Registration") under their new ownership.

9. Prior to receiving the ownership change application, registrant provided a letter notifying of the late ownership change, as well as unreported discipline. Ownership change application completed indicating discipline had occurred and providing details of discipline (5 occurrences).

10. In mitigation, Respondent states that it has invested in additional staff, engaged internal and external legal counsel and implemented training efforts to prevent any such reporting oversights in the future.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

1. Pursuant to K.S.A. 65-1658, the Board may assess a civil fine not to exceed $5,000, after notice and an opportunity to be heard, to any registrant for violation of the pharmacy act of the state of Kansas or any other rules or regulations of the state board of pharmacy.

2. Pursuant to K.S.A. 65-1627(f), the Board may take action against a registration on any ground that would authorize the board to take action against the registration of a pharmacy under K.S.A. 65-1627, and amendments thereto.

3. Pursuant to K.S.A. 65-1627(e)(1), the Board may take action against the registration of a pharmacy upon a finding that such pharmacy has been operated in such manner that violations of the provisions of the pharmacy act of the state of Kansas or of the rules and regulations of the board have occurred in connection therewith.

4. Pursuant to K.S.A. 65-1627(e)(4), the Board may take action against the registration of a pharmacy upon a finding that the registrant has had a registration revoked, suspended or limited, has been censured or has had other disciplinary action taken, or an application for registration denied, by the proper registering authority of another state, territory, District of Columbia or other country.

5. Pursuant to K.S.A. 65-1657, no nonresident pharmacy shall ship, mail, or deliver, in any manner, prescription drugs to a patient in this state unless registered with the Board as a nonresident pharmacy.

6. Pursuant to K.S.A. 65-1645(f), registrations shall not be transferable.

7. Pursuant to K.A.R. 68-2-9, each registrant shall notify the executive secretary of the Board in writing of any change in majority ownership of the operation for which the registration was issued within five days after the date the change in ownership becomes effective.

8. Pursuant to K.A.R. 68-2-23, each pharmacy owner shall notify the board in writing within 30 days of any denial, limitation, suspension, revocation, voluntary surrender, or other disciplinary action taken by the state of Kansas or another jurisdiction against the pharmacy or the pharmacy owner or any application, license, registration, or permit held by the pharmacy owner.

9. Respondent's registered facility changed ownership on November 6, 2019 but Respondent did not provide notification or file a new application with the Board until April 18 and 28, 2022, respectively.

10. Respondent's failure to submit the complete change of ownership to the Board until April 2022 is a violation pursuant to K.A.R. 68-2-9 and an unlawful transfer of the previous registration to the new ownership. Respondent's actions are a violation pursuant to K.S.A. 65-1657 and K.S.A. 65-1627(e)(1), and a basis to take action against Respondent's Registration.

11. Respondent failed to notify the Board of the six disciplinary actions by North Carolina, California, and Alabama until April 18, 2022, nearly one to two years after they were effective, is a violation of K.A.R. 68-2-23 and a basis to take action against Respondent's Registration pursuant to K.S.A. 65-1627(e)(1) and (e)(4).

ORDER

Taking into account the mitigating and corrective actions of Respondent, the Board finds and concludes that Respondent's conduct, as described above, violates the Act and such conduct warrants the imposition of a fine pursuant to K.S.A. 65-1658, in the amount of $3,500.00. Respondent has 30 days from the date of this order to pay the fine.

NOTICES

The Respondent is hereby notified as follows:

1. The Respondent may request a hearing pursuant to the Kansas Administrative Procedure Act by filing a written request with the Kansas Board of Pharmacy, 800 SW Jackson, Suite 1414, Topeka, KS 66612-1231 within fifteen (15) days after service of this order.

2. If a hearing is not requested as described above, the Order shall become a final order of the Board, effective upon the expiration of the time to request a hearing.

3. Within fifteen (15) days after entry of a final agency order, either party may file a petition for reconsideration pursuant to K.S.A. 77-529.

4. Within the time limits established in K.S.A. 77-613, either party may seek judicial review of a final agency order, pursuant to said statute. The agency officer designated to receive service of a petition for judicial review is:

1. The recitals set forth above are incorporated in this Settlement Agreement as though fully set forth herein.

2. Christopher Spitzer neither admits nor denies the allegations stated in the Notice of Opportunity for hearing letter dated March 9, 2022; however, the Board has evidence sufficient to sustain the allegations, finds them to violate Ohio's pharmacy law as set forth in the Notice, and hereby adjudicates the same.

6. If this order is granted under the provisions of Penal Code section 1203.4 or 1203.41:
   a. The petitioner is required to disclose the above conviction in response to any direct question contained in any questionnaire or application for public office, or for licensure by any state or local agency, or for contracting with the California State Lottery Commission.

In any subsequent prosecution of the petitioner for any other offense, the prior conviction may be pleaded and proved and shall have the same effect as if probation had not been granted or the accusation or information dismissed. The dismissal does not permit a person to own, possess, or have in his or her control a firearm if prevented by Penal Code sections 29800 or 29900 (formerly sections 12021 and 12021.1). Dismissal of a conviction does not permit a person prohibited from holding public office as a result of that conviction to hold public office.

7. What is your procedure for visual inspection of compounded sterile products?

I have included the SOP (IPD-007) for visual inspection.

8. How often do you perform glove fingertip and medial fill testing?
Media fill testing is completed every six months. We have fully contained robotic filling isolators. There is glove access to the sterile areas without breaching the isolators, the gloves fingertips are tested with touchplates after every batch. The gloves are also tested for punctures before each batch begins.

9. What is your policy if an employee fails a glove fingertip or media-fill test?
It would not be an employee, but if one of the glove sets fails, then a full investigation would be initiated.

6.1.1.1.1 Topic or Document Name.

6.1.1.1.2 Document Number and its Document Revision, when applicable.

6.1.1.1.3 Type of Training (what kind of training).

6.1.1.1.4 Method of Training (how is the training conducted). This is not applicable on Form ITD-001-F2.

6.1.1.1.5 Trainer. This is not applicable on Form ITD-001-F2.

6.1.1.1.6 Date of Training.

6.1.1.1.7 Employee Name, Department, and Signature.

6.1.1.3 Training and Development verifies the training record for accuracy and completeness and files training records appropriately.

6.1.1.4 Training and Development keeps all employees training records and any other document pertaining to training.

a) Training curriculums and qualification techniques are also considered a training record since these documents are used by personnel to acknowledge the completion of self training.

b) The signature log included in the batch and packaging records is also considered a training record since the personnel involved during the manufacturing, packaging, and inspection activities of the product use this record to acknowledge their competence and understanding of the work to be done and the precautions required during the execution of each activity.

6.2 Type of Training:

6.2.1 New Employee Orientation:

6.2.1.1 At the time of hiring all new employees are required to attend the new employee orientation program following general and specific training.

6.2.1.2 New Employee Training (General and Specific Training):

6.2.1.2.1 General Training consist in an overview and completion of respective forms, overview of general safety, overview of cGMPs, overview of quality systems, and a general SOP self training session as per Training Curriculum TC-IGN-001. A combination of group training and self-training method is used as part of the training session and discussion.

6.2.1.2.2 Discussion and completion of respective forms (i.e., Employee Signature List, Employee Screening Questionnaire, Respiratory Medical Evaluation Questionnaire, Respiratory Fitness Test, Company Safety Policies) is coordinated by Training and Development and acknowledged on respective Training Curriculum TC-IGN-001.

6.2.1.2.3 An overview of federal regulations, current Good Manufacturing Practices based on 21 CFR Parts 210, 211, 820, and 4, WHO Guidelines – Hormones, FDA Guidance – 503B, DBPR, DOH, internal audits, warning letters, and annual trend of 483s, overview of general safety, and overview of quality systems is coordinated by Training and Development and documented on respective Training Curriculum TC-IGN-001.

6.2.1.2.4 General SOP Self Training (coordinated by Training and Development) identifies a list of SOPs / documents required to complete general SOP self-training session. New employees are required to read each SOP / document according to section 6.3.1; self training record is documented upon completion using the respective Training Curriculum TC-IGN-001. Training and Development coordinates questions and answers session upon self training session completion to ensure trainee has comprehended the material read.

6.2.1.2.5 Upon completion of General cGMP Training, General Department Core Training and Specific Training Curriculum are issued to employee on the respective employee's training folder for execution. Respective training is coordinated by each department supervisor or designee based on respective training curriculums and depending on functions to be performed.

6.2.1.2.6 An assessment is done by the department head or designee based on the person's education, job experience, and previous training to determine the extent of the training and its method of training (i.e., self-training, on the job training).

6.2.1.2.7 Conducted self-training is documented on respective General Department Core Training Curriculum, and Specific Training Curriculum assigned to employee's training folder. In addition, conducted on the Job / Hands on Training is documented using Form ITD-001-F1.

6.2.1.2.8 Upon completion of respective training curriculums, the department head or designee informs by any means (i.e., via e-mail) to Training and Development.

6.2.1.2.9 Training and Development ensures that all trainings were properly performed and documented, and acknowledgement of completion of respective training curriculums is performed by employee, supervisor and training group accordingly by placing signatures and date on respective section at the end of Department and Specific Training Curriculums (refer to section 6.5 for details of training evaluation).

6.2.1.2.10 After acknowledgement of completion of training curriculum, final release is performed. Employee is required to sign on respective section of Training Curriculum TC-IGN-001 (i.e., Completion of Department General Training section). Lastly, employee and supervisor are required to perform respective acknowledgment of completion of new employee training by placing respective signatures and date on the Acknowledgement of Completion of New Employee Training section using Training Curriculum TC-IGN-001. Training Group releases the trainee for normal activities by informing the department head or designee by any means (i.e., via e-mail) if all training requirements were met using TC-IGN-001.

NOTE: As a general practice, new employees should complete the new employee orientation training ideally within 3 months from their hiring date.

6.2.2 Biennial Training (Continuing Training Program):

6.2.2.1 Training curriculums are used as a tool to assure that training is performed on a continuing basis. They include the list of documents and skills training that are required to perform assigned position adequately. Training curriculums need to be executed by employees at least once every two years.

6.2.2.2 Each department supervisor prepares training curriculums by position following SOP IQA-002, contacts at the beginning of the period his / her employees to plan for the execution of the training curriculum throughout the two-year period, identifies additional training needs, updates training curriculums as needed, and coordinates any extra training not included in the training curriculum.

6.2.2.3 After completion of respective training curriculum, acknowledgement of completion of training curriculum is performed as part of employee evaluation. Signature and date are placed by employee, supervisor, and training group on respective section as part of an overall evaluation of the training curriculum (refer to section 6.5 for details of training evaluation).

NOTES:

a) Employee's training folder is prepared using the training plan. The training plan is established after discussing with the supervisor / manager to include all the applicable training curriculums based on the employee's job functions and responsibilities.

b) Training and Development group prepares a training folder using the training plan by employee including the applicable training curriculums to be executed during the respective training period (i.e., TC-IGN-002, TC-IGN-003, General Department Training Curriculum). Applicable training curriculums are distributed to respective employee's training folder based on each employee's applicable job functions and responsibilities.

c) The Training and Development group keeps track of the progress of the employee's biennial training curriculum on a quarterly basis.

d) Training curriculum impact assessment is performed each time a training curriculum is revised via change control in order to assess that the respective document is not impacted by the change and to determine the need of distribution to respective training folders (i.e., if an additional SOP is added to the training curriculum, that training curriculum might not require to be distributed within the training period if respective training has been completed as part of change control).

e) Training plan is assessed for the employees who are transferred to other functions or departments. The training plan is updated accordingly for such employees and the progress about completion of the issued training curriculums as per the updated training plan is tracked by Training and Development group for completeness. As a general practice, this training should be completed ideally within 3 months from the transfer / new functions date.

6.2.3 Annual Training (Update of Forms, cGMP Training and General Safety Training):

6.2.3.1 Update of Forms (i.e., Employee Signature List, Employee Screening Questionnaire, Respiratory Medical Evaluation Questionnaire, Respiratory Fitness Test, Company Safety Policies) are discussed and coordinated by Training and Development at least once a year and acknowledged by employee on respective Training Curriculum TC-IGN-002.

6.2.3.2 cGMP training is conducted for all employees by Training and Development at least once a year as per Training Curriculum TC-IGN-002. Topics are selected from federal regulations (i.e., 21 CFR Parts 210, 211, 820, and 4, WHO Guidelines – Hormones, FDA Guidance – 503B, DBPR, DOH, internal audits, warning letters, and annual trend of 483s), documentation practices, data integrity, compliance programs, among others.

6.2.3.3 General Safety Training is conducted for all employees by Training and Development at least once a year as per Training Curriculum TC-IGN-002. Training consists of a refreshment of the company's safety program standard operating procedures.

6.2.3.4 Conducted cGMP and General Safety trainings are documented on respective group training form ITD-001-F1, and acknowledgement of completion of training is documented by employee on training curriculum TC-IGN-002 located on each employee respective training folder.

6.2.3.5 Completion of Training Curriculum TC-IGN-002 is acknowledged by employee, supervisor, and training group by placing respective signature and date on "Acknowledgement of Completion of Annual General Employee Training Section" at the end of respective training curriculum.

6.2.4 New / Revised Documents Training:

6.2.4.1 As a general practice, training on new / revised documents is applicable at least to SOPs, Forms, STMs, Master Batch Records, and Master Packaging Records before they become effective.

6.2.4.2 When a document is written or revised and that document is needed by users that are not the authors, reviewers, or approvers, training should be conducted.

6.2.4.3 During the change control approval process, area management and Quality Assurance evaluate the impact of changes against the established training curriculums in the quality system and training needs and decide the extent and the method of training (i.e., individual training, group training, practical training) as well as determine all the individuals affected with the change; this decision is documented on the change control form. Upon training notification from Quality Assurance, area management or designee coordinates the execution of the training ideally in not more than fifteen (15) business days from the training notification date.

6.2.4.4 Training sessions can be coordinated by the subject matter expert (i.e., author) depending on the topic of the activity (i.e., change control system). A training assessment quiz might be administered to the employees, as required by trainer, Quality Assurance, and / or area management.

6.2.4.5 Upon completion of the training the designee informs Training and Development / Document Control and submits all training records accordingly.

6.2.4.6 Each department destroys the training document copies (training copy) upon training completion. Under no circumstances the training copy can be used for reference, nor can it replace the official effective copy.

6.2.4.7 Once training requirements are met, Training and Development and Document Control confirm each other to ensure that the document can be made effective.

6.2.4.8 Only employees trained in the most recent version of the document can be released to perform the work described in the document.

6.2.4.9 Following the initial training period, the department supervisor conducts training of the missing employees (i.e., for those who are on short term disability or leave) and documents this activity in a separate training record.

6.2.4.10 Department head is responsible for assuring that all reporting personnel are trained on job-related documents.

a) Minor changes to documents such as but not limited to editorial updates to documents, creation or revision of documents used for reference only (i.e., official list), change in revision number and revision history without any change in the content of the document as a result of triennial review, and change due to typographical errors, might not require training. This decision is documented on the change control form.

b) Major changes to documents such as but not limited to addition of equipment in master batch records and master batch packaging records, update of processes and parameters in master batch records and master batch packaging records, revision of analytical procedure in test methods, update of practices in SOPs, and implementation of new Forms require training.

6.2.5 Other Training:

6.2.5.1 Department supervisor, Training and Development and / or Quality Assurance may determine that one or more employees need training or retraining. If that is the case, a trainer is designated, and a training session is conducted. Whenever retraining is conducted the training record should be identified as such.

6.2.5.2 Department supervisors identify outside training needs for their employees, as required, and coordinate the registration for the courses. Employees submit copy of the training certificate to Training and Development department upon completion.

6.3 Method of Training:

6.3.1 Self Training:

6.3.1.1 Training conducted by one person and considered as a read and understanding session. Training shall be performed following these steps:

6.3.1.1.1 Overview the document briefly. Get familiarized with it. Review its sections and any additional parts of it (i.e., forms, charts, tables, etc.). Perform these activities before starting reading.

6.3.1.1.2 Read slowly and if possible loud enough that one can hear himself / herself.

6.3.1.1.3 Ensure to understand what it is read. Have a paper and pen to write down any question and/or suggestion to be later discussed with supervisor, co-worker, trainer, or designee.

6.3.1.1.4 A self training record (Form ITD-001-F2) is documented accordingly.

NOTE: Training curriculums and qualification techniques can be used to acknowledge the completion of self training. In these cases, Form ITD-001-F2 is not required.

6.3.1.2 Upon training completion, self training conducted by the employee is evaluated by discussing respective topic between employee and supervisor or designee (refer to section 6.5 for details of training evaluation). Respective evaluation is documented accordingly in the respective section of the training record as follows:

6.3.1.2.1 For self training using Form ITD-001-F2, supervisor or designee performs evaluation of respective topic (s) with employee by asking random questions of the topic (s) to the employee for discussion in order to measure the level of understanding. At the end of the evaluation, supervisor or designee acknowledges that the employee has understood respective material read on the appropriate section of the form.

6.3.1.2.2 For self training using training curriculums and qualification techniques, supervisor or designee performs evaluation of respective topic (s) with employee during the training period by asking random questions of the topic (s) to the employee for discussion and by assessing performance of the employee related to job functions and assigned tasks, in order to confirm the appropriateness of the extent of the training in line with the work responsibilities. Overall evaluation and acknowledgment of completion of the training is performed by the supervisor or designee using the respective section of the training curriculums and qualification techniques at the end of the training period.

NOTE: If during the training evaluation performed by the supervisor or designee an opportunity of additional training is identified to enhance the level of understanding of the topic, the extent and method of training are determined and coordinated accordingly as per this SOP.

6.3.2 Group Training:

6.3.2.1 Training conducted between two or more persons and considered as a read, understand, and discussion session. Trainer can be the second person.

6.3.2.2 A training record (Form ITD-001-F1) is documented accordingly.

6.3.3 On The Job Training / Hands-on Training / Practical Training:

6.3.3.1 On the Job Training (OJT) is a training that takes place while employees are actually working; this means the skills are gained while trainees are carrying out their jobs. This training can be executed following below tasks. Equivalent approaches are considered acceptable as long as the process leads to proficiency for specific job tasks.

6.3.3.2 Department head or designee assigns a trainer to work with the trainee.

NOTE:

Authorized Trainers: BPI Labs employees or contractors who have the education, training and experience or any combination thereof, that enables them to conduct training. This includes but is not limited to:

a) The training coordinator.

b) External trainers upon approval of Quality Assurance via verification of their credentials.

c) All supervisors and managers after completion of their training curriculum unless pre-employment qualifications to conduct training are provided and approved by Quality Assurance.

d) Personnel designated by department managers or supervisors upon approval of Quality Assurance via verification of qualifications that include, but are not limited to:

- Submission of a resume.
- Completion of the training curriculum for their position.
- Completion of the qualification technique for the unit operation, module or technique.
- Verifiable experience of outside training (certifications, diplomas, etc.)

6.3.3.3 The trainer shall be an employee well experienced, knowledgeable, and fully trained on the topics to be covered and shall have good training / communication skills.

6.3.3.4 The trainee performs a self training according to section 6.3.1 for all documents included in the training curriculum in addition to others assigned by the Department head or designee.

6.3.3.5 The trainer performs the job and the trainee observes. The trainer goes over the procedure together with the trainee and in the work area showing where every equipment, files, documents, or any other item related to the training are located and, when applicable, its function and/or operation. Every practice, and method, is followed by the trainee with the written procedure and discussed / explained by the trainer, as needed. Trainer and trainee review the written procedures. This step can be repeated, as required. A training record (Form ITD-001-F1) is documented accordingly and identified as On the Job Training.

NOTE: As part of execution of qualification techniques, these documents are used to acknowledge the completion of this step. In these cases, Form ITD-001-F1 is not required.

6.3.3.6 Trainee performs the job with the reference of the written procedure, in presence of the trainer, and with the help and guidance of the trainer.

6.3.3.6.1 The trainer observes and verifies performance and execution against the written procedure. The activity or task performed are initialed / signed and dated by the trainee and trainer using appropriate records according to the activity. This record confirms that trainer has been present at the time of the task execution.

NOTE: During execution of qualification techniques, these documents are used to acknowledge the completion of this step. In these cases, Form ITD-001-F1 is not required.

6.3.3.6.2 Trainer conducts a question and answer session with the trainee. The trainer clarifies any doubt. Trainer verifies for comprehension.

6.3.3.6.3 This step can be performed as needed at the discretion of the trainer and department head according to performance observed and taking into consideration the trainee's performance, experience, and previous training. In case additional training is needed, trainer informs department head or designee for further instructions.

6.3.3.7 The trainer informs by any means (i.e., via e-mail) to the department head or designee about the completion of on the job training program.

6.4 Qualification Techniques:

6.4.1 Qualification techniques are used by department supervisors as a tool to qualify an employee in regards to a specific unit operation, module, or technique (i.e., sterile filtration, aseptic filling, sampling, HPLC analysis) and to acknowledge his / her competence and qualification on a continuous basis.

6.4.2 Qualification techniques records include, but are not limited to, the list of reference documents, the list of related equipment and measuring devices, the reference for the on the job training completion, and the approval of the exercise.

6.4.3 Each department supervisor prepares qualification techniques as needed based on the criticality of the unit operation, module, or technique, and coordinates execution with the selected employee.

6.4.4 Qualification techniques need to be executed by personnel at least once every three years according to the overall evaluation by the supervisor of the employee's performance throughout the entire certification process taking in consideration job performance, quality / accuracy of work, dependability, ability to work as part of a team, and compliance with company procedures. Acknowledgement of completion of training for the qualification technique unit operation / module is performed by placing employee and supervisor's signatures and date at the respective section of the Qualification Technique Form. Training and Development group assigns the re-certification due date for employees based on above criteria and supervisor's recommendations.

a) Qualification Technique re-certification for production visual inspection of injections needs to be executed by personnel at least once every year according to the guidelines outlined on SOP IPD-017.

b) The qualification techniques for cGMP and Safety (i.e., QT-ITD-001 and QT-IEH-002, respectively) are executed once every two years and annual refreshment training is completed every year to be up to date on all the training needs from time to time.

6.4.5 The qualification techniques matrix shows the core / primary activities that qualified personnel (i.e., subject matter experts) can perform unsupervised.

a) Training and Development group prepares a training folder by employee including the applicable qualification techniques to be executed during the respective certification period. Respective Qualification Technique Matrix is updated accordingly, and training folders are distributed to respective supervisor or designee upon request.

b) As a general practice, the employees should complete the initial qualification technique ideally within 3 months from the date of issuance.

c) Qualification Technique impact assessment is performed each time a qualification technique is revised via change control in order to assess that the respective document is not impacted by the change and to determine the need of distribution to respective training folders (i.e., if an additional SOP is added to the qualification technique, that qualification technique might not require to be distributed within the training period if respective training has been completed as part of change control).

d) As part of qualification technique recertification exercise, whenever the employee is unable to execute hands on / on the job training verification (Section – 4, Training Reference of Execution by Trainee) at the time of the recertification due period, then the employee must complete the self-training related to the respective qualification technique and inform Training and Development group accordingly to acknowledge this situation in the training system (i.e., Qualification Technique Matrix and corresponding qualification technique). The hands on / on the job training is executed once the activity / unit operation becomes available as per the department's needs.

e) The qualification technique recertification due date is assigned from the date of issuance of the qualification technique for the execution purposes. Whenever the qualification technique is recertified,

Training and Development group updates the Qualification Technique Matrix and re-issues the respective qualification technique for the next period.

f) On a quarterly basis, Training and Development group verifies the Qualification Technique Matrix for the employee's pending recertification for the next quarter. The Training and Development designee prepares a list of all the employees due for recertification and communicates to the employees and the supervisor to inform them about the qualification technique recertification. This list is monitored and updated on a monthly basis by the Training and Development group until completion.

6.5 Evaluation of Training:

6.5.1 Training and Development may, at its sole discretion, conduct an evaluation at any time of any part of the training process (i.e., training sessions, trainees, trainer, training material, retraining, repetitive human mistakes) to verify training effectiveness. Evaluation of training process involves the identification of unwanted trends that are discussed with supervisors and managers in order to determine the further action needed to enhance the performance of the personnel.

6.5.2 Supervisor or designee is fully responsible to evaluate training effectiveness of his / her employees routinely by assessing the job performance, quality and accuracy of work, consistency of work, among others, in order to understand the adequacy of the extent and method of training. The training evaluation is verified continuously and documented in all the available records in the quality system related to training and specific job functions.

6.5.3 In order to further measure the understanding of the training conducted to employees and as part of assessment check to ensure employees comprehend the SOPs related to their job function, Training and Development performs a quarter evaluation of the training system via verification of employee training records, and via review of quality system records such as but not limited to incidents, non-conformances, deviations, laboratory incidents, laboratory out of specifications, laboratory out of trends, CAPAs, and documentation errors with the purpose of identifying unwanted trends including repetitive human errors that may have been contributed due to lack of training understanding. The findings of this evaluation are discussed with supervisors and management to determine improvement plans for the specific employee in case a negative tendency is observed. The improvement plan, when needed, is designed between supervisor, employee, and Training and Development and executed accordingly to enhance the performance of personnel.

6.3.4 All the chambers and walk-in stability rooms are connected to the Security System. This system sends a notification to Security System Operator in case any temperature and relative humidity reading exceeds out of the temperature and relative humidity tolerances of ± 2°C and / or ± 5%RH, respectively. The Security System Operator informs to concerned persons at BPI Labs immediately.

6.3.5 The Security monitoring system of Stability Chambers / Walk-in Stability Room is checked once in every six months by maintenance department in coordination with Security System Company.

6.3.6 After checking the Security monitoring system, details are entered in Form IGN-030-F1 Security Monitoring of Environment Controlled Chambers by maintenance department. The form is submitted to QA for final approval and filing.

6.4 Excursions:

6.4.1 Short term spikes due to opening of doors are acceptable as unavoidable.

6.4.2 If for any reason (e.g., power, equipment failures, etc.), chamber / walk-in stability room is in excursion that exceeds the defined tolerances for more than 24 hours, samples in the chamber / walk-in stability room shall be transferred into back-up chamber. If back-up chamber / walk-in stability room is not available, samples shall be stored at room temperature maximum up to three working days. Once the chamber / walk-in stability room is ready, the samples shall be moved to the original stability condition. If exceeds three working days, the pulling date shall be extended for Accelerated and Intermediate conditions. For CRT condition, it is not required to extend the pulling dates. The impact of such excursion will be assessed.

6.5 Storage Conditions (General Case):

6.5.1 Accelerated Stability (AA):

6.0 PROCEDURE

6.1 General:

6.1.1 In general, unless specified in the manufacturing batch record, Visual Inspection is performed for all cGMP Products. The inspection program is designed to understand the nature of defects and establish appropriate controls to eliminate them based on the product life cycle.

6.1.2 Personnel participating in Visual Inspection of Injections must be trained and qualified as per SOP IPD-017 Qualification and Validation of Inspection Processes.

6.1.3 Inspectors must have their eyes examined by an optometrist at least once a year as per specifications listed in SOP IPD-017. The frequency may be increased if the inspectors complain of headache, eye fatigue, or other complaints directly attributable to visual performance.

6.1.4 Supervisors must be informed if any inspectors are suffering from eye allergies, eye infections, eye fatigue, headache, or any other concerns that affect the performance of inspection.

6.1.5 Inspectors must gown with hair net, beard cover (if facial hair is present), lab coat, and gloves when entering the visual inspection room. Inspectors must degown within respective visual inspection room prior to exiting.

6.1.5.1 Gowning materials such as lab coat must be dedicated to a single batch. If inspections are performed in multiple rooms then separate gowning materials are required.

6.1.6 Avoid glare and direct viewing of the light source at high intensities as this may result in eye strain or fatigue.

6.1.7 Check the intensity of light before the start of a batch and after completion of each batch.

6.1.8 After every 55-65 minutes of visual inspection, a no less than 5-minute break MUST be taken to relax eyes. Document inspection and break times in Form IPD-007-F1 section II.

6.1.8.1 When a break is required, the inspector should finish the tub or tray they are inspecting before taking a break. If they are unable to finish, they must keep inspected and uninspected units separate and secure before taking a break and upon returning, must start with the same uninspected tub/tray.

6.1.8.2 The inspection times and break times should be sequential. For example, an inspector inspects on 07/24/19 from 11:00 to 12:03 and he/she takes a break from 12:03 to 12:08. This will be documented on one line, from left to right, in section II of IPD-007-F1 and initialed by the inspector.

6.1.8.3 All open entries in section II of form IPD-007-F1 should be closed on the same day of completion.

6.1.9 Visual inspection rooms must be locked if visual inspection personnel are not in the room. Visual inspection personnel are responsible for locking the visual inspection room door during breaks and at end of business day.

6.1.10 Visual inspectors are not required to use a magnifier or wear safety glasses during the inspection. Magnification should only be used for critical examination of a small number of units, as may be needed during an investigation. The use of the magnifier will be determined by a supervisor or designee.

6.1.11 There are three different categories of defects representing the risk to the patient, as defined below.

6.1.11.1 Critical Defect:

A defect which poses risk to the patient, especially risk of injury to patient and integrity breach of container closure (sterility of the product) and indicates the inspected article is likely to:

A. Result in hazardous or unsafe conditions for individuals using, maintaining, or relying on the product; or

B. May prevent performance of the product or material or failure to meet specifications. A critical defect is a unit of product that contains one or more critical defects.

Examples: Critical defects include cracks in the glass of the vial or syringe, missing stopper/plunger, etc.

6.1.11.2 Major Defect:

A condition/non-conformity, other than critical, that carries the risk of a temporary impairment or medically reversible reaction or involves a remote probability of a serious adverse reaction or reduce the usability of the unit of product for its intended purpose. A major defect is a unit of product that contains one or more major defects.

Examples: Major defects include contamination intrinsic to the manufacturing process such as fibers or particles and issues associated with the filling/stoppering process such as low fill, high fill, or empty container.

6.1.11.3 Minor Defect:

A minor defect is a condition/non-conformity that is not likely to reduce the usability of the unit of product for its intended purpose or is a departure from established standards having little bearing on the effective use, safety or operation of the unit of product. A minor defect is a unit of product that contains one or more defects. They are often cosmetic in nature, affecting only product appearance or pharmaceutical elegance.

Examples: Minor defects include cosmetic issues such as scratches/scuffs on the body of the vial/syringe, dents on the container/cap, etc.

6.2 Handling of the Visual Inspection Booths:

6.2.1 Setup:

6.2.1.1 Setup inspection booth on the workbench for safe and comfortable operation.

6.2.1.2 Connect to 120 Volts power source and turn ON the light switch and ensure lights are illuminating with no flickering. If the lights do not function properly, contact area supervisor and initiate a maintenance request as per SOP IGN-020.

6.2.2 Operation:

6.2.2.1 Log equipment usage into appropriate Cleaning, Use, and Maintenance Logbook.

6.2.2.2 Ensure the light is turned on and verify in the appropriate logbook that the Visual Inspection Booth is cleaned prior to use. If not, follow step 6.2.3 as applicable.

6.2.2.3 When inspecting filled product, hold the units approximately 8-10 inches below the light source and NMT 5 inches from the center line.

6.2.2.4 When finished with operation, ensure the light is turned off.

6.2.3 Cleaning:

6.2.3.1 Minor Cleaning:

A. Ensure the power is turned OFF.

B. Remove all evidence of the previous batch, including all filled product, both inspected and rejected.

C. Wipe down the interior of the inspection booth with 70% Isopropyl Alcohol (IPA).

D. Record the activities into the proper Cleaning, Use, and Maintenance logbook and ensure the cleaning is verified by a Supervisor or designee.

E. Place a "CLEAN" label on the Visual Inspection Booth

6.2.3.2 Major Cleaning:

A. Ensure the power is turned OFF.

B. Remove all evidence of the previous batch, including all filled product, both inspected and rejected.

C. Wipe down the interior and exterior of the inspection booth and the magnifying glass with a lint-free cloth and 70% IPA.

D. Record the activities into the proper Cleaning, Use, and Maintenance logbook and ensure the cleaning is verified by a Supervisor or designee.

E. Place a "CLEAN" label on the Visual Inspection Booth.

6.2.4 Verification of Light Intensity:

6.2.4.1 Light intensity verification will be performed annually for all Visual Inspection Booths using NIST calibrated standard Light Intensity Meter. Measure the light intensities at the locations specified in Form IPD-007-F2 and record values in Form.

6.2.4.2 Light intensity should be NLT 2100 lux at the furthest specified point. If the light intensity fails to meet the acceptance criteria, initiate a maintenance request as per SOP IGN-020 and repeat verification after maintenance is performed.

6.2.5 Corrective Maintenance:

6.2.5.1 In case of equipment break down, contact maintenance personnel for necessary actions. Refer to SOP IGN-020 for repair/maintenance procedure.

6.3 Visual Inspection Requirements per Product Type:

6.3.1 Manual visual inspection requirements are based on product type. Refer to Table 1 for inspection requirements per batch type and corresponding procedure section.

Table 1: General Visual Inspection Requirements Based on Product Type

| Product Type | Inspection Requirement | Procedure Section |
|---|---|---|
| Research and Development (Exhibit / Stability / Pivotal) | 100% Inspection (One Time) | 6.4 |
| Initial Commercial (i.e., Initial Process Validation) | First and Second 100% Inspections (Two Times) | 6.5 |
| Commercial Certified for Reduced Inspection | 100% Inspection (One Time) | 6.7 |
| Difficult to Inspect (i.e., Colored Products for Research and Development & Commercial) | 100% Inspection (One Time)Destructive Testing | 6.8 |

6.3.1.1 Research and Development products (Exhibit / Stability / Pivotal) are one time 100% inspected by Production personnel.

6.3.1.2 Initial Commercial products (if not qualified under reduced inspection program) are two times (First 100% and Second 100%) inspected by Production personnel. Although regulatory expectations require only 100% inspection, Second 100% inspection is performed to better understand the life cycle of the product, common defects types, and provide product quality assurance.

6.3.1.3 Commercial products certified for the Reduced Inspection Certification Program are one time 100% inspected by Production personnel. To determine if the product is qualified for reduced inspection program, refer to the respective Product Validated List (i.e., EOL I-034).

6.3.1.4 Difficult to inspect products (i.e., colored products for Research and Development & Commercial) are one time 100% inspected by Production personnel and then tested as per supplemental destructive testing.

NOTE: Whenever samples are required to be submitted to Quality Control and Microbiology for testing prior to the completion of visual inspection of the entire batch, visual inspection can be performed on representative tub or tray of filled units from beginning, middle, and end of the run using the appropriate procedure. Record inspection of such selected tub or tray using form IPD-007-F1, i.e., if a batch has 100 tub or tray, 10,000 units are filled (100 units per tub or tray), and 45 units of samples are required for Quality Control and Microbiology testing, select tub or tray 1, 50, and 100 for the inspection. Upon completion of the inspection of all units in the three tubs or trays, notify QA to collect representative samples as per SOP IQA-007.

6.3.2 Production department requests visual inspection forms with Batch Manufacturing Record using Form IQA-006-F1 "Batch / Packaging Record Request Form". Production department will verify the visual inspection requirements (either First 100% and Second 100% inspections or only First 100% inspection) using the respective Product Validated List (i.e., EOL I-034) to determine the amount of visual inspection forms needed.

6.3.3 Form IPD-007-F1 "Visual Inspection of Injections Report" is issued for each individual involved in visual inspection. Form IPD-007-F3 "Log for Visual Inspection of Injections" is issued per batch. These forms are issued with the Batch Manufacturing Record by QA department.

6.4 Inspection of Research and Development Products:

6.4.1.1 Research and Development (Exhibit / Stability / Pivotal) products are one time 100% inspected by Production personnel. Refer to Figure 1 for a general overview of research and development product inspections.

| SOP No. | Title | Revision No. |

6.4.1.2 Before QA issues line clearance, ensure the product is secured (e.g., cage with fastener and lock, rack that has been wrapped) and there is no sign of tampering. If there is evidence of tampering, notify supervisor or designee immediately to determine how to proceed.

| SOP No. | Title | Revision No. |
| IPD-007 | VISUAL INSPECTION OF INJECTIONS | 09 |

6.4.1.3 Once line clearance has been given, bring product into the room and place a STATUS label on the rack/cage containing filled product (Status should be: To Be Inspected).

6.4.1.4 Place a STATUS label on the receiving rack/cage with appropriate status (e.g., First 100% inspected product, 100% re-inspected product)

6.4.1.5 Test light intensity using NIST calibrated standard Lux Meter prior to inspection start, and record results in Form IPD-007-F1. Light intensity should be NLT 2100 lux approximately 8-10 inches from the light source. If the light intensity is less than 2100 lux the booth cannot be used for inspection, initiate a maintenance request as per SOP IGN-020.

6.4.1.6 Collect one Filled Units tub/tray to be inspected at a time from the batch of filled units. If filled units are in tubs count the number of units available for inspection and record number of units in the appropriate space on form IPD-007-F1 and check the First 100% inspection box. If filled units are in trays, prepare another empty tray to place inspected units.

6.4.1.7 Pick up and hold the units in between finger and thumb in horizontal position (with bottom of the vial/syringe touching the thumb) approximately 8-10 inches below the light source and NMT 5 inches from the center line. Rotate and observe the containers, slowly, for five seconds in such a way that the complete body of the containers, including neck and bottom, are visible for inspection. Observe the containers for following defects:

A. For inspection of vials with Liquid Product:

a. Scratches/Scuff Marks on Body
b. Dents on Container
c. Dents on Flip-cap
d. Dirt on Exterior Surface
e. Empty Container
f. Cracked vial
g. Leakage
h. Missing Stopper
i. Missing Flip-cap
j. Incomplete seal/cap
k. Wrong color stopper/cap
l. Crimp defect (loose crimp or non-uniform crimp)

NOTE: When inspecting for incomplete seal/cap, rotate unit between fingers and ensure the cap is leveled with the vial and the seal is securely locked from all points. Holding in one hand, move the cap head side to side and ensure the securing flanges do not move past the crown of the vial.

B. For inspection of syringes with Liquid Product:

a. Scratches/Scuff Marks on Body
b. Dents on Container
c. Dents on needle sheath or luer lock
d. Dirt on Exterior Surface
e. Empty syringe
f. Cracked or broken syringes
g. Missing stopper
h. Wrong stopper position (stopper upside down) with reference to standard
i. Liquid between stopper ribs
j. Partially Inserted Stopper, with reference to standard

6.4.1.8 Gently swirl or invert the vials/syringes making sure that minimal air bubbles are introduced and bring back to an upright position. Inspect the product in front of the black background for minimum five seconds and check for the defects mentioned below, as applicable for vials or syringes with liquid product.

A. For inspection of Liquid Product in either vials or syringes:

a. Low Fill Level
b. High Fill Level
c. Discolored, or Cloudy/Precipitate
d. Colored particles
e. Black Particles
f. White Particles
g. Glass Particles

6.4.1.9 Invert the vials/syringes momentarily and bring to an upright position and inspect the product in front of the white background for minimum five seconds and check for the defects mentioned below.

A. Black/Brown Particles
B. Fibers
C. Colored Particles

NOTE: As each unit is inspected in front of black and white background each for a minimum of five seconds, and maximum of 2 containers are inspected at a time, it will take 20 seconds to inspect 2 units. No more than 360 units should be inspected per hour.

6.4.1.10 Accepted vials/syringes will be placed into their respective tub/tray. Rejected vials/syringes will be marked with the defect code number as listed in IPD-007-F1 form section III and placed into the appropriate labeled reject bin (i.e., critical reject bin, major reject bin, minor reject bin).

NOTE: If an inspector has a doubt about a defect category, another qualified inspector may inspect and confirm.

6.4.1.11 At the end of inspection process, test light intensity using NIST calibrated standard Lux Meter, and record in Form IPD-007-F1. Light intensity should be NLT 2100 lux approximately 8-10 inches from the light source; if the light intensity does not meet specification, initiate a maintenance request as per SOP IGN-020. All units inspected in this booth must be re-inspected after taking corrective action/repair or perform inspection in any other inspection booth.

6.4.1.12 Individual operators will reconcile the inspected units and rejects in his/her form and attach to the batch record.

6.4.1.13 Review total reject rates from the First 100% inspection through respective inspection forms. If it is within the specified limits from batch record, coordinate with Quality Assurance for Acceptable Quality Level (AQL) Inspection. If the reject rates are not specified in the Batch Manufacturing Record, follow the limits specified in Table 2.

Table 2: Research and Development Products Visual Inspection Acceptance Criteria

| Type of Defects | % Reject Rates (Action Level) | |
|---|---|---|
| | First 100% Inspection | 100% Re-inspection |
| Critical Defects | 0.5 | 0.2 |
| Major Defects | 1.5 | 0.5 |
| Minor Defects | 2.0 | 1.0 |

A. If the reject rates from the first 100% inspection are NOT within the specified limits, request Quality Assurance Document Control to issue respective Batch record pages and Form IPD-007-F1 for 100% re-inspection as per SOP IQA-006.

B. Review total reject rates from 100% re-inspection. If it is within the specified limits from batch record or Table 2 "100% Re-inspection", coordinate with Quality Assurance for Acceptable Quality Level (AQL).

C. If first AQL inspection fails, re-inspection of complete batch is performed with "100% Re-inspection" limits in Table 2. Once re-inspection is complete, a second AQL inspection can be performed with tightened inspection limits, as per SOP IQA-016. If it is NOT within the specified limits, inform supervisor. An investigation must be initiated as per IGN-001, corrective and preventive actions must be implemented prior to commercial batch manufacturing.

6.4.1.14 Once AQL inspection is complete and the batch record has been updated, the filled product can be further released for labeling and packaging.

A. If product is left unattended, ensure the product is secure (e.g., secured in a cage with fastener and lock).

6.4.1.15 If the filled product needs transfer to the warehouse, prepare the transfer by following the procedure in SOP IPK-003.

6.5 Inspection of Initial Commercial Products:

6.5.1.1 Initial Commercial products (i.e., initial process validation batches) are First 100% inspected and then Second 100% inspected, unless they are qualified for Reduced Inspection Program. NOTE: If an inspector has a doubt about a defect category, another qualified inspector may inspect and confirm.

6.5.1.11 At the end of inspection process, test light intensity using NIST calibrated standard Lux Meter, and record in Form IPD-007-F1. 6.5.1.16 At the end of inspection process, test light intensity using NIST calibrated standard Lux Meter, and record in Form IPD-007-F1. Light intensity should be NLT 2100 lux approximately 8-10 inches from the light source; if the light intensity does not meet specification, initiate a maintenance request as per SOP IGN-020. All units inspected in this booth must be re-inspected after taking corrective action/repair or perform inspection in any other inspection booth.

6.5.1.17 Individual operators will reconcile the inspected units and rejects in his/her form and attach to the batch record.

6.5.1.18 Once the Second 100% inspection is complete, inform supervisor or designee to summarize overall inspection results in Form IPD-007-F3 and Batch Manufacturing Record.

6.5.1.19 Review total reject rates "Together First & Second Inspection" in respective inspection forms. If it is within the specified limits listed in batch record or Table 3, coordinate with Quality Assurance for Acceptable Quality Level (AQL) Inspection.

A. If the reject rates from the "Together First & Second Inspection" are NOT within the specified limits, request Quality Assurance Document Control to issue respective Batch record pages and Form IPD-007-F1 for 100% re-inspection as per SOP IQA-006.

B. Review total reject rates from 100% re-inspection. If it is within the specified limits from batch record or Table 3, coordinate with Quality Assurance for Acceptable Quality Level (AQL). If it is NOT within the specified limits, inform supervisor and an investigation must be initiated as per IGN-001.

C. If first AQL testing fails, re-inspection of complete batch is performed with "100% Re-inspection" limits from Table 3. Once re-inspection is complete, a second AQL inspection can be performed with tightened inspection limits, as per IQA-016.

NOTE: Only one re-inspection is allowed. If the reject rates are still NOT within the specified limits, an investigation must be initiated as per IGN-001.

6.5.1.20 Once AQL inspection is complete and the batch record has been updated, the filled product can be further released for labeling and packaging.

A. If product is left unattended, ensure the product is secure (e.g., secured in a cage with fastener and lock).

6.5.1.21 If the filled product needs transfer to the warehouse, prepare the transfer by following the procedure in SOP IPK-003.

6.6 Reduced Inspection Certification Program for Commercial Products:

6.6.1 Manufacturing Science & Technology or Production Lead/designee are responsible for compiling results and report for the Reduced Inspection Certification Program.

6.6.2 Reduced Inspection Certification is performed based on the following criteria:

6.6.2.1 Execute First 100% and Second 100% Visual Inspections for three consecutive cGMP commercial manufacturing batches per container closure system or product and filling process line.

6.6.2.2 Once three consecutive cGMP visual inspection results are available, a summary report will be prepared evaluating if the process is well understood, visible particulates type and characteristics are determined, and the visual inspection process is in control to maintain reject rates.

6.6.2.3 The summary report will compare the consistency of results between the batches and ensure the results meet the following criteria.

A. Each defect category in each inspection meets the criteria in Table 3.

B. Defect types are consistent between the batches.

C. The reject rate from the Second 100% inspection is significantly lower than First 100% inspection (typically 50% less than First 100% inspection).

6.6.2.4 The summary report will be reviewed and approved by Quality Assurance Management through change control request.

6.6.2.5 Upon approval of change control, the respective Product Validated List (i.e., I-034) will be updated with reduced inspection for all future cGMP batches.

6.6.2.6 First 100% and Second 100% Visual Inspection should be performed for reduced inspection certified products if:

A. First 100% visual inspection reject rates are significantly higher and any new particle types are identified which originated from the process.

B. Primary container or closure manufacturer changes their process, which may affect particulates from packaging component.

C. Major changes are made in the aseptic fill process/equipment which may impact either particulate generation or particulate retention.

6.6.2.7 If the visual inspection results for certified products do not comply with above requirements, an investigation as per SOP IGN-001 is conducted and the product must be removed from the Reduced Inspection Program. The respective Product Validated List (i.e., EOL I-034) must be updated via change control to remove the product from the Reduced Inspection Program. The product will then be First and Second 100% inspected until the criteria is met once again as per the requirements of this SOP.

6.7 Inspection of Commercial Products Certified for Reduced Inspection Program:

6.7.1.1 All commercial products certified for Reduced Inspection Certification Program are one time 100% inspected (i.e., First 100% Inspection). To determine if the product is qualified for reduced inspection program, refer to the respective Product Validated List (i.e., EOL I-034).

A. Refer to Figure 3 for the general inspection process of commercial products certified for reduced inspection.

6.7.1.2 Before QA issues line clearance, ensure the product is secured (e.g., cage with fastener and lock, rack that has been wrapped) and there is no sign of tampering. If there is evidence of tampering, notify supervisor or designee immediately to determine how to proceed.

6.7.1.3 Once line clearance has been given, bring product into the room and place a STATUS label on the rack/cage containing filled product (Status should be: To Be Inspected).

6.7.1.4 Place a STATUS label on the receiving rack/cage with appropriate status (e.g., First 100% inspected product)

6.7.1.5 Test light intensity using NIST calibrated standard Lux Meter prior to inspection start and record results in Form IPD-007-F1. Light intensity should be NLT 2100 lux approximately 8-10 inches from the light source. If the light intensity is less than 2100 lux the booth cannot be used for inspection, initiate a maintenance request as per SOP IGN-020.

If filled units are in tubs count the number of units available for inspection and record number of units in the appropriate space on form IPD-007-F1 and check the First 100% inspection box. If filled units are in trays, prepare another empty tray to place inspected vials/syringes.

6.7.1.7 Pick up and hold the units in between finger and thumb in horizontal position (with bottom of the vial/syringe touching the thumb) approximately 8-10 inches below the light source and NMT 5 inches from the center line. Rotate and observe the containers, slowly, for five seconds in such a way that the complete body of the containers, including neck and bottom, is visible for inspection. Observe the containers for following defects:

A. Black/Brown Particles
B. Fibers
C. Colored Particles

NOTE: As each unit is inspected in front of black and white background each for a minimum of five seconds, and maximum of 2 containers are inspected at a time, it will take 20 seconds to inspect 2 units. No more than 360 units should be inspected per hour.

6.7.1.10 Accepted vials/syringes will be placed into their respective tub/tray. Rejected vials/syringes will be marked with the defect code number as listed in IPD-007-F1 form section III and placed into the appropriate labeled reject bin (i.e., critical reject bin, major reject bin, minor reject bin).

NOTE: If an inspector has a doubt about a defect category, another qualified inspector may inspect and confirm.

6.7.1.11 At the end of inspection process, test light intensity using NIST calibrated standard Lux Meter, and record in Form IPD-007-F1. Light intensity should be NLT 2100 lux approximately 8-10 inches from the light source; if the light intensity does not meet specification, initiate a maintenance request as per SOP IGN-020. All units inspected in this booth must be re-inspected after taking corrective action/repair or perform inspection in any other inspection booth.

6.7.1.12 Individual operators will reconcile the inspected units and rejects in his/her form and attach to the batch record.

| Type of Defects | % Reject Rates (Action Level) | |
|---|---|---|
| | First 100% Inspection | 100% Re-inspection |
| Critical Defects | 0.5 | 0.1 |
| Major Defects | 1.5 | 0.25 |
| Minor Defects | 2.0 | 0.5 |

NOTE: If First 100% Inspection reject rates are within the specified limits, then a comment should be made in the Batch Manufacturing Record for Second 100% Inspection results referring to the Reduced Inspection Certification.

A. If the reject rates from the first 100% inspection are NOT within the specified limits, initiate an incident report as per SOP IGN-001 and request Quality Assurance Document Control to issue respective Batch record pages and Form IPD-007-F1 for 100% Re-inspection as per SOP IQA-006.

B. Review total reject rates from 100% re-inspection. If it is within the specified limits from batch record or Table 4 "100% Re-inspection", coordinate with Quality Assurance for Acceptable Quality Level (AQL).

C. If first AQL testing fails, re-inspection of complete batch is performed with "100% Re-inspection" limits from Table 4 after initiating an incident report as per SOP IGN-001. Once re-inspection is complete, a second AQL inspection can be performed with tightened inspection limits, as per SOP IQA-016. If it is NOT within the specified limits, inform supervisor. An investigation must be initiated as per IGN-001.

NOTE: Whenever the "100% re-inspection" and final AQL pass the requirements, the decision of removing the commercial product from the reduced inspection program is assessed and discussed in the respective incident / investigation report based on the nature of the defect.

6.7.1.14 Once AQL inspection is complete and the batch record has been updated, the filled product can be further released for labeling and packaging.

A. If product is left unattended, ensure the product is secure (e.g., secured in a cage with fastener and lock).

6.7.1.15 If the filled product needs transfer to the warehouse, prepare the transfer by following the procedure in SOP IPK-003.

6.8 Handling of Difficult to Inspect Products:

6.8.1 Some products may be difficult to inspect for particulates (e.g., colored products for Research and Development & Commercial). If a product cannot be reliably inspected following the procedures above, the following method will be used for inspection.

6.8.1.1 The product will undergo first 100% inspection, AQL inspection, and destructive testing. Refer to Figure 4 for the general inspection process for difficult to inspect products.

Figure 4: General Visual Inspection Process for Difficult to Inspect Products

6.8.1.2 Review total reject rates from the first 100% inspection through respective inspection forms. If the reject rate acceptance criteria are not specified in the Batch Manufacturing Record, follow the limits specified in Table 5. If it is within the specified limits, coordinate with Quality Assurance for Acceptable Quality Level (AQL) Inspection.

Table 5: Difficult to Inspect Products Visual Inspection Acceptance Criteria

| Type of Defects | % Reject Rates (Action Level) | |
|---|---|---|
| | First 100% Inspection | 100% Re-inspection |
| Critical Defects | 0.5 | 0.1 |
| Major Defects | 1.5 | 0.25 |
| Minor Defects | 2.0 | 0.5 |

A. If the reject rates from the first 100% inspection are NOT within the specified limits, request Quality Assurance Document Control to issue respective Batch record pages and Form IPD-007-F1 for 100% re-inspection as per SOP IQA-006.

B. Review total reject rates from 100% re-inspection. If it is within the specified limits from batch record or Table 5 "100% Re-inspection", coordinate with Quality Assurance for Acceptable Quality Level (AQL).

C. If first AQL testing fails, re-inspection of complete batch is performed with "100% Re-inspection" limits from Table 5. Once re-inspection is complete, a second AQL inspection can be performed with tightened inspection limits, as per SOP IQA-016. If it is NOT within the specified limits, inform supervisor. An investigation must be initiated as per IGN-001.

6.8.1.3 Once production and AQL inspections are complete, QA department will take samples following Form IQA-016-F2 American National Standard (ANSI Z1.4) Sampling Plan, Special Inspection level S3 for supplemental destructive testing, by either an in-house or outside laboratory.

6.8.1.4 Transfer the samples to in-house laboratory for testing or to Warehouse to prepare samples for shipping.

A. In-house testing is performed as per SOP IMI-038 "Determination of Particulate within Injectables Products using Filtration Method".

B. If supplemental destructive testing does not meet the acceptance criteria, retesting is performed with tightened parameters.

At this time, QA department will take additional samples following Form IQA-016-F2 American National Standard (ANSI Z1.4) Sampling Plan, Special Inspection level S4 with tightened inspection limits for retesting of supplemental destructive testing.

If retesting does not meet the acceptance criteria, an investigation is initiated as per SOP IGN-001.

6.8.1.5 Once AQL inspection and supplemental testing are complete and the batch record has been updated, the filled product can be further released for labeling and packaging.

A. If product is left unattended, ensure the product is secure (e.g., secured in a cage with fastener and lock).

6.8.1.6 If the filled product needs transfer to the warehouse, prepare the transfer by following the procedure in SOP IPK-003.

6.9 Reconciliation of Visually Inspected Product:

6.9.1 After complete inspection, Production Supervisor or designee will review each IPD-007-F1 with IPD-007-F3 to ensure each tub/tray was inspected as per established inspection program and all units are accounted for.

6.9.2 Production Supervisor or designee will check each tub/tray's inspections and acknowledge in respective space in Form IPD-007-F3.

6.9.3 Production Supervisor or designee will then check the number of units available for each inspection, number of units rejected in each inspection, and number of units available after complete inspection.

6.9.4 Form IPD-007-F3 and Batch Manufacturing Record inspection results must be reviewed and found acceptable by Production Supervisor or designee prior to labeling or packaging of visually inspected product.

6.10 Handling of Rejected Units:

6.10.1 Once Visual Inspection is finished and the appropriate forms and Batch Record pages are complete, the rejected units will be placed into a storage container (e.g., box, resealable bags). Production will complete the label shown in Figure 5 and place it on the storage container.

6.10.2 Production will take labeled storage container to warehouse. Warehouse and production will place the storage container into the "REJECT" cage and production will document in the appropriate logbook.

6.10.3 Once the batch has been released by QA and no further testing is needed, QA will notify production and warehouse personnel.

6.10.4 Production designee will complete form IGN-024-F1 for the rejected units and give the completed form to warehouse.

6.10.5 Warehouse personnel will follow the waste procedure outlined in IWH-004 to dispose of the rejected units.

6.10.6 If the inspection is outside the specified acceptance criteria, production supervisors may determine that testing and identification of particulates is needed for a product. If so, production will send samples from the respective batch to either an in-house or outside laboratory using the following procedure.

6.10.6.1 Take the rejected units from warehouse to appropriate inspection room.

6.10.6.2 Separate the units into groups of similar particulate types (e.g., colored fiber, white fiber, dark fiber).

6.10.6.3 Choose a representative sample from each particulate type to send for testing.

6.10.6.4 Transfer the representative sample to QC laboratory for testing or to Warehouse to prepare samples for shipping. Return remaining rejected units to the warehouse.

6.11 Trending of Visual Inspection Results:

6.11.1 Visual inspection results for each cGMP batch will be tabulated and trended on a quarterly basis (once every three months) to ensure that manufacturing and inspection processes are operating in control.

6.11.2 Trending is performed to compile results and identify possible anomalies such as abnormal defect type or number of defects observed in a single product or container/closure system.

6.11.3 A report of the trend will be written and reviewed accordingly.

6.11.4 Visual inspection results for products certified for reduced inspection program are reviewed to ensure the product still qualifies for reduced inspections. In case a product no longer qualifies for the reduced inspection program, the product must be removed through change control procedure and revision of respective Product Validated List (i.e., EOL I-034).

6.11.5 Based on the results obtained, Corrective and Preventive Action (CAPA) may be proposed as per SOP IQA-024 if required.

6.0 PROCEDURE

6.1 General:

6.1.1 BPI Labs aseptic fill process is designed to perform within a Grade ISO 5 environment, through use of robotic isolators, both gloved and gloveless.

6.1.2 Gloveless isolators eliminate human interventions and human originated microbial contamination risk is eliminated from aseptic fill in Sterile Drug Products fill finish. Due to this reason, some traditional elements of aseptic process are not applicable, such as, but not limited to, personnel gowning qualification and personnel monitoring during fill.

6.1.3 Gloved Isolators are designed to fill with no direct human interaction. Isolator designed with gloves ports are used in the event of necessary adjustments to the fill machine within ISO 5 environment.

6.1.4 Sterile Drug Products Manufacturing is designed either by means of aseptic filling or aseptic filling followed with terminal sterilization of product in its final container/closure system.

6.1.5 APS is only required for all products manufactured using aseptic process. If terminal sterilization is used, no media fill support is required since these products are subjected to subsequent terminal sterilization. This provides the necessary Sterility Assurance Level (SAL) for those products, provided sufficient pre-sterilization hold time studies have been established.

6.1.6 Processes to be challenged in process simulation:

The conduct of process simulations for aseptically produced parenteral products entails simulation of the process from the point of sterilization of the product and product contact surfaces, including containers and closures, through sealing of the filled container. Process such as weigh dispensing, mixing, pre-sterilization/filtration, and post sealing does not require to be simulated, similarly to the product process.

6.1.6.1 Compounding/Mixing and Sterile Filtration Operation: After sterilization, the medium should be passed through the equipment train. as though it were an actual production batch, and all routine aseptic procedures used in the manufacture of a batch should be performed, e.g., sampling, aseptic connection. Any aseptic manipulations performed during and at the end of the holding period should be simulated as well.

6.1.6.2 Filling Operation: The containers and closures (if necessary), product contact equipment, and filling parts should be prepared using standard operating procedures (SOPs). The filling machine should be operated at the pre-determined conditions for the container size being utilized based on risk assessment and "worst case" conditions.

A. For a process conducted in an isolator or robotic aseptic operations, where there is a low risk of contamination because of the lack of direct human intervention, a standard quantity of NLT 3,500 containers is sufficient to perform operations and interventions. For container formats with larger sizes and less containers per nest (formats greater than 10mL filling volume), a standard of NLT 1,200 containers is sufficient. This would yield a similar or greater number of nests required to complete the batch, similarly allowing for all required operations and interventions to be performed.

B. For traditional aseptic fills under Laminal Air Flow hoods, with manual aseptic operations and interventions:

a. When the production batch size is above 10,000 units, a minimum of 10,000 units is sufficient to perform all operation and interventions.
b. When the production size is below 5,000 units, at least equal the maximum batch size.

6.2 APS Strategy:

6.2.1 Media fill runs and required frequencies are listed in Table 1.

Table 1: Media Fill Strategy

| When to Perform | How Many | Action | Reporting System |
|---|---|---|---|
| When a processing line is being initially qualified, including new facility construction and new filling line installation. | At least three separate, consecutive, successful runs | Any one size container | Protocol & Report |
| When introducing new container/closure size outside of the established bracket. | At least three separate, consecutive, successful runs | Specific container/closure | Protocol & Report |
| When introducing new container/closure type (e.g. syringes). | At least three separate, consecutive, successful runs | Specific container/closure | Protocol & Report |
| Once initially qualified, every six (6) months ± 1 month (semi-annually). | One successful run | Alternating with each end of the bracket (e.g., largest, smallest) | Protocol & Report |
| Facility and equipment modifications, such as breach to the sterile/aseptic area/isolator and line configuration changes. | Revalidation as per Change Control assessment | Impact assessed via Change Control | Protocol & Report |
| When using alternate filtration or filling assembly, such as Multi-Use flow path instead of Single-Use flow path. | One successful run | Impact assessed via Change Control | Protocol & Report |
| Minor modifications in Flow paths or sterile filtration/filling assembly, such as alternate use of sterile connector or change in product holding container size, material, etc. | One successful run | Impact assessed via Change Control | Protocol & Report |
| Anomalies in environmental testing results from filling operation, container closure system changes, extended shutdowns, or sterility testing failure due to fill system failures. | Impact assessed via Change Control | Impact assessed via Change Control | Impact assessed via Change Control |

6.2.2 A detailed APS strategy and guidance written in the Validation Master Plan of BPI Labs should be followed to perform media fills.

6.3 Risk Assessment (RA):

6.3.1 Risk Assessment is performed per fill line to determine container closure configurations, identify, and evaluate the aseptic process steps, interventions, and worst-case conditions that can potentially adversely affect the sterility assurance risk to the product and incorporate in the APS.

6.4 Media Fill Matrix:

6.4.1 A matrix will be prepared based on the Risk Assessment to include validated Media Fills.

6.4.2 Specific conditions that represent the worst case(s) will be identified within the matrix. The matrix and specific criteria for assessment and inclusion of Media Fills must be documented and approved by Quality Assurance or designee.

6.5 Execution of Media Fill Validation:

6.5.1 Batch Record preparation and execution:

6.5.1.1 It should be written in the same format as a normal production batch record and contain all the routine data and sign-off requirements. All information applicable to the process simulation, which normally would be attached to a batch record, also should be attached to the simulation batch record, e.g., cleaning and sterilization records for pieces of equipment used, release stickers for the containers and closures, etc. All interventions, whether inherent (integral component of the process) or corrective (required to maintain operation), and stoppages, should be documented in the batch record as the type of intervention, time the intervention occurred, aseptic operators involved with the duration of the intervention or stoppage, and the number of the tub or tray being filled. The executed batch record should include information which is relevant to the performance and completion of the study. This includes but is not limited to:

A. Names of individuals participating in the simulation

B. Media sterilization/filtration

C. Filter identification and membrane integrity test results

D. Record or log of routine and non-routine occurrences including those in the filling room, which may have an effect on the outcome of the study

E. Number of units filled

P. Acceptance criteria for all activities

Q. Description of the documentation required for the final report

R. Duration of the aseptic process simulation

S. Duration of routine production fills being simulated

T. Definition of conditions that may cause the simulations to be invalidated and decision-making authority

6.5.3 Pre-Incubation Container Inspection:

6.5.3.1 Prior to incubation 100% media filled units are visually inspected for non-integral units (e.g., missing, or misaligned closures, cracks in container) due to the possible breach of product sterility, according to the Master Batch Manufacturing Record instructions.

6.5.4 Incubation:

6.5.4.1 All pre-inspected media filled units must be incubated for at least 7 days at 22.5°C ± 2.5°C (where vials will be inverted), followed with another at least 7 days at 32.5°C ± 2.5°C (where vials will be upright), in temperature-controlled incubators. Syringes are always incubated upright as product is always in contact with the stopper.

6.5.5 Post-Incubation Container Inspection:

6.5.5.1 At the end of each incubation condition, visual inspection of all units for growth is performed by microbiologist or qualified operator.

6.5.6 Acceptance Criteria:

6.5.6.1 When filling fewer than 5000 units, no contaminated units should be detected.
A. One (1) contaminated unit is considered cause for revalidation, following an investigation.

6.5.6.2 When filling from 5,000 to 10,000 units:

A. One (1) contaminated unit should result in an investigation, including consideration of a repeat media fill.

B. Two (2) contaminated units are considered cause for revalidation, following investigation.

6.5.6.3 When filling more than 10,000 units:

A. One (1) contaminated unit should result in an investigation.

B. Two (2) contaminated units are considered cause for revalidation, following investigation.

6.5.6.4 Leftover Media in the container/bags:

A. Samples are taken from the leftover media in the container/bags and are submitted for incubation. The samples from the leftover media are representative of the container they were attached to, but are not directly representative of the final units being filled as part of the media fill.

6.5.6.5 Investigations should be performed per SOP IGN-001.

6.6 Initial APS:

6.6.1 Initial APS is performed in the events discussed in Table 1.

6.6.2 Upon completion of facility, utility, and equipment qualification, risk assessment is prepared by MS and approved to all departments involved, along with Quality Assurance.

6.6.3 Three (3) consecutive, separate, successful, runs are executed and included in an Effective Official List.

6.6.4 Quality Assurance controls the schedule to re-qualify each media fill based on a six-month period. Schedule is circulated to the concerned departments every month to ensure media fill program to the specific container closure systems are in valid state.

6.7 Continued Process Simulation Verification:

6.7.1 The bracketing approach will be maintained as the basis for requalification. APS is to be performed every six months for each processing line / fill machine, alternating between smallest and largest, as well as alternating container/closure systems, to maintain qualification of the aseptic filling operations.

Example:

Process Simulations for Vanrx Formats are bracketed by 2R vials and 50R vials, as well as 1mL syringes and 10mL syringes. As such, process simulations can be performed in the following order: 2R Vials -> 10mL Syringe -> 1mL Syringe - > 50R Vials. This would repeat back to 2R Vials and the order repeats.

6.7.2 An Initial Protocol will be created for initial qualification. A verification Protocol will be created and reissued for requalification, when applicable. These protocols will be used for execution of media fill runs for the specific run.

6.7.3 Quality Assurance updates media fill history and schedule to ensure that the process bracketing is maintained.

6.8 Disposal of Media Filled Containers and leftover media:

6.8.1 After completion of the incubation, media filled containers are disposed of per SOP IWH-004, unless there is a pending investigation related to the media fill or GPT failure of the media used.

6.9 Media Fill Failure Investigation:

6.9.1 Any contaminated unit cause for an investigation (as per IGN-001) should include a comparison, and analysis, of environmental monitoring performed during the media fill. If an assignable cause is identified, a single re-validation run will be planned. If no root cause is found for a process simulation failure, three consecutive, successful process simulations are required for re-qualification.

6.9.2 The investigation into a failed APS will include the following activities:

6.9.2.1 Identification of microorganisms, preferably to species level, to aid in the determination of the possible sources of the contamination.

6.9.2.2 Review of the data of microbial environmental monitoring and airborne particulate monitoring.

6.9.2.3 Review of the sterilization / depyrogenation cycles of container / closures, components, equipment, and filter integrity test data of filters used for filtration.

6.9.2.4 Review qualification documents of the HEPA Filters (integrity when challenged with aerosol, airflow direction, velocity measurements, air flow patterns, and pressure differentials).

6.9.2.5 Review of interventions and batch report from filler for any unusual events that occurred during the media fill.

6.9.2.6 Review of the procedure adopted during the intervention.

6.9.2.7 Storage condition of sterile items, disinfection procedures, and training.

6.9.2.8 Review of the equipment qualification, such as autoclave sterilization performance qualifications.

6.9.2.9 Post filter integrity test data of the filters used in the media fill.

6.9.2.10 Evidence of power failure and all deviations that occurred during the process.

6.9.2.11 Evaluation of incubated bulk media.

6.9.2.12 The investigation must be directed towards identification of the root cause of the failure and suggest the corrective and preventive actions to be taken in order to prevent failure. Refer to SOP IQA-024.

6.9.2.13 Based on investigation performed by manufacturing, QA will perform a risk assessment and assess the impact on all product filled on the affected fill line since the last acceptable APS, and determine the disposition of released product, as well as the product in-process.

6.9.2.14 After incubation is underway, any unit found to be damaged should be included in the data for the media fill run, because the units can be representative of drug product released to the market. Any decision to exclude such incubated units (i.e., non-integral) from the final run must be fully justified through a deviation. If a correlation emerges between difficult to detect damage and microbial contamination, a thorough investigation should be conducted to determine its cause.

6.10 Invalidation of APS or abortion of media fill will occur in the following conditions:

6.10.1 When growth promotion test (GPT) of media fails.

6.10.2 When filtered media shows mass growth in bulk solution.

6.10.3 Under circumstances in which written procedures require commercial lots to be equally handled, such as:

6.10.3.1 Filter integrity test failure which would have resulted in product re-filtration or rejection.

6.10.3.2 Failure of physical conditions in the isolator (e.g., power outage).

6.10.3.3 Any major breakdown in the fill equipment, which requires to open the isolator.

6.10.4 If for any reason the media fill run is considered invalid/aborted, containers should not be incubated.

| SOP No. | Title | Revision No. |
|---|---|---|
| IGN-025 | ASEPTIC PROCESS SIMULATION (APS) OR MEDIA FILL PROGRAM | 04 |

6.10.5 All media filled units filled before an incident that would cause an aborted fill must be incubated.

6.10.6 Invalidation of APS or abortion of media fill will be documented through the respective section in the appropriate protocol. Investigation should be performed per SOP IGN-001.

6.11 New Product or Container Closure Introduction:

6.11.1 Change control will be initiated for new product and container closure introduction. The team, including Quality Assurance, will evaluate the need for a media fill.

6.11.2 If the product being evaluated falls in the already validated container closure configuration, no additional media fills are required, e.g. Product "A" container closure system is 2R vial, 13mm neck with 13mm stopper cap as closure, and the new product "B" introduced is also is 2R vial, 13mm neck with 13mm stopper cap as closure.

6.11.3 If the new container closure is out of the bracketing range established, media fill must be performed for at least three consecutive separate successful runs for that container closure. For example, if bracketing is for 2R vial with 13mm neck and 13mm stopper cap, and 10R vial with 20mm neck and 20mm stopper cap, the 4R, 6R, and 8R vials with 20mm neck and 20mm stopper cap do not require media fill, however the 100R vial with 32mm neck with 32mm stopper cap does require 3 consecutive successful media fills.

6.11.4 New product manufacturing process is evaluated for aseptic operations and any additional interventions or process conditions, other than the previously validated, must be reviewed for criticality.

6.2 Facility Design:

6.2.1 The manufacturing facility within 12393 Belcher Road, Suite 450, Largo, Florida is designed to prevent contamination and mix ups, segregate zones of differing cleanliness classification, and facilitate ease of cleaning, maintenance, and operations. Refer to the Project Plan for BPI Labs PLN-I01 for more details.

6.2.1.1 The facility prevents contamination and mix ups by designating areas for specific unit operations for a single product at a time. This is controlled by use of equipment and area labeling, QA line clearance, and Manufacturing Batch Record review.

6.2.2 The facility consists of sealed modular cleanroom walls, ceilings, and walkable ceiling panels to maintain ISO 14644 Class 8 conditions throughout the facility.

6.2.3 Potential risks have been identified and applicable controls have been implemented as per facility design Risk Assessment.

6.2.4 The facility has been qualified through the execution of Performance Qualification Protocol to maintain no less than ISO Class 8 cleanliness by controlling non-viable particulate, viable particulate, number of air changes, and directional airflow in cleanrooms.

6.2.4.1 Clean and ample airflow within the facility is controlled by ensuring all supplies and returns are clear, all HEPA filters are leak tested, and the supply airflow is sufficient for the required number of room changes.

6.2.4.2 Manufacturing Science and Technology (MS) department is responsible for validation, requalification, and calibration of facility control systems (refer to SOP IVD-007 for details).

6.2.5 The facility is designed to aseptically fill and stopper syringe and vial 503B drug products within ISO 5 isolators surrounded by a qualified ISO 8 environment.

6.2.5.1 The temperature, relative humidity, and air pressure differentials of all cleanroom environments are continuously monitored during production and periodically revalidated (refer to SOP IQA-005 for details).

6.2.6 Terminally sterilized 503B products are filled under ISO 5 environment surrounded by ISO 8 environment.

6.2.6.1 Terminal sterilization cycles are validated using appropriate biological indicator challenge for 6-log reduction.

6.2.7 Controls are available to maintain and monitor the facility design including, but not limited to, those documented in SOPs IGN-030, IQA-005, and IMI-020.

6.3 Control Systems and Procedures for Maintaining Suitable Facilities:

6.3.1 The facility is designed to limit the possibility of mix ups and cross contamination by establishing defined areas per unit operation and procedures for personnel flow, material flow, and cleaning (refer to SOPs IGN-017, IGN-018, and IGN-028).

| SOP No. | Title | Revision No. |
| IGN-033 | HANDLING OF 503B PRODUCTS | 08 |

6.3.2 The possibility of cross contamination of hazardous and non-hazardous drugs is limited by designating separate sampling rooms and equipment for dispensing of different drug types.

6.3.2.1 Hazardous drugs are dispensed within containment and dispensing isolators to prevent cross contamination and ensure the safety of operators.

Printed by sanjana@bpiindia.com on 27 Aug 2021 at 6:37:56 PM UTC

6.3.3 Production equipment follow cleaning schedules based on production schedule and Time Limitations.

6.3.3.1 Time Limitations are established for production and cleaning of process equipment and areas (refer to SOP IPD-006).

6.3.4 Processing, non-processing areas, and cleanroom support areas are kept clean and sanitary with cleaning schedule of WFI, disinfectant, and weekly sporicidal cleaning agent (refer to SOPs IGN-027 and IGN-028 for details).

6.3.4.1 Cleaning technicians are required to be trained on and review facility cleaning SOP, with an emphasis on cleaning schedule and rotating use of disinfectant / sporicidal cleaning agents.

6.3.4.2 Cleaning, Use, and Maintenance Logbooks are designated for each area to ensure the facility is being cleaned on the established schedule.

6.3.4.3 As with all received materials, disinfectant / sporicidal cleaning agents are inspected by QA department and verified with applicable SPC.

6.3.5 Temperature, relative humidity (RH), and pressure differentials within the manufacturing facility are maintained by the central heating, ventilation, and air conditioning (HVAC) system and monitored through Building Management System (BMS) to maintain product quality. The BMS provides trend reports of each condition and alerts personnel in case of an excursion (refer to SOP IGN-030).

6.3.5.1 The facility is designed to maintain 20 ± 2°C, less than 60% RH, and pressure differentials across rooms of differing classification.

6.3.5.2 These conditions are continuously monitored during production and are a requirement of room release (refer to SOP IQA-005).

6.3.5.3 In case of an excursion, impact is assessed, and incident is initiated when necessary.

6.3.6 Calibration schedule for critical instruments such as temperature, relative humidity, and pressure differential sensors in processing areas and equipment is maintained by QA and executed by MS (refer to SOP ICB-001).

6.3.7 Water systems (purified water, water for injection, and pure steam) are monitored every day of production and frequently as per applicable SPC (refer to SOP IGN-019).

6.3.7.1 In case of an excursion from the applicable SPC, impact is assessed, and investigation is initiated when necessary.

Printed by sanjam@belcherpharma.com on 26 Apr 2023 at 6:37:36 PM UTC

6.4.2 Training Curriculums (TC) are established for initial and periodic GMP refreshment training of employees. This curriculum includes on-the-job and self-training on general and department specific roles (refer to SOP ITD-001 for details).

6.4.2.1 Prior to engaging in any commercial batch manufacturing, personnel must have completed their initial qualification for the applicable unit operation.

6.4.3 GMP trainers must be qualified through completion of the Qualification Technique (QT) prior to new employee or refreshment training.

6.4.4 Personnel, production process, container / closure type, and production equipment have been challenged through Aseptic Processing Simulation (APS) media fill studies prior to engaging in commercial batch manufacturing (refer to SOP IGN-025).

6.4.4.1 APS media fill studies must be successfully performed in worst case scenarios to validate routine manufacturing parameters.

A. For example, validating the use of one (1) in-line filter during compounding of successful APS media fill study validates the use of two (2) in-line filters during routine manufacturing.

6.5 Environmental and Personnel Monitoring:

6.5.1 Environmental conditions such as temperature, relative humidity, and air pressure differentials are continuously monitored by Building Monitoring System (BMS) (refer to SOPs IGN-030 and IQA-005).

6.5.1.1 BMS creates trends of environmental conditions able to be monitored and reviewed by trained personnel. QA reviews these trends prior to each unit operation room release.

6.5.1.2 Air pressure differential limits ensure that cascading pressure differentials are maintained during compounding of sterile drug products.

6.5.1.3 BMS automatically notifies Management / responsible personnel in the event of an excursion from ideal conditions.

6.5.2 Passive air (settle plate) and active air Environmental Monitoring (EM) are conducted daily during compounding, filling, and sterilization operations. Surface (contact plate) sampling is conducted at the end of operation, prior to cleaning (refer to SOP IMI-020).

6.5.2.1 The procedure, locations, actions limits, and justification of locations for EM are established (refer to SOP IMI-020).

6.5.2.2 The results from EM are completed in the applicable Forms and results are reviewed with the Master Batch Manufacturing Record.

6.5.3 Sampling data is reviewed after each batch and an extensive review is conducted periodically to identify any issues and scrutinize existing procedures.

6.5.3.1 In the event of results near or above action levels, QA department is responsible for facilitating investigation of potential product impact and root cause.

6.5.4 Personnel monitoring is not implemented because of the nature of the production process. Refer to the Project Plan PLN-I01 for BPI Labs for more details.

Printed by sandeep@bpilabs.com on 26 Apr 2023 at 6:37:36 PM UTC

6.5.5 Personnel gowning, sanitation, health habits, and health conditions are controlled and established (refer to SOP IGN-010).

6.5.6 Personnel flow and personal protective equipment requirements within the facility are established (refer to SOP IGN-017). It is the responsibility of Production personnel to follow this procedure and Management's responsibility to ensure this procedure is being followed.

6.5.6.1 These procedures control the safety of operators, cleanliness of processing rooms, and limit the possibility of cross contamination.

6.6 Equipment:

6.6.1 Process equipment used for batch production are qualified for use and calibrated on a scheduled maintained by the QA department (refer to SOP ICB-001).

6.6.1.1 The calibration schedule for production equipment and instruments are maintained by QA department and implemented by Manufacturing Science and Technology (MS) department.

6.6.1.2 Product contact surfaces of production equipment must be certified (i.e., certified 316 stainless steel) as non-reactive, non-adsorptive, and non-additive.

6.6.1.3 All documentation concerning material certification and current calibration performed in-house by MS with executed Form or by a third party is maintained by QA department.

6.7 Containers and Closures:

6.7.1 Pharmacist / Product Development / Production identifies vendors and materials required for a new project following SOP IPC-001. Materials can be ordered as samples for trial / experimental use; these materials are unaccounted. Once materials and vendors are identified and approved, a code number is requested per SOP IGN-003.

6.7.2 Upon creation of a code number using the appropriate official list, the following activities are coordinated:

6.7.2.1 Pharmacist / Analytical Research / Quality Control Department generates specification (SPC) and standard test method (STM) following instructions delineated in SOP IQA-025. Refer to Table 1 for suggested specification testing for primary and secondary packaging components.

Table 1 – Suggested Specification Testing for Containers and Closures

| Type of Material | Suggested Testing Types |

6.9.3.4 Pharmacist designs experimental batches in order to analyze product behavior and test different formulations and processes (refer to SOP IPH-001 for details). Generally, these batches are documented and tracked via notebook. At this stage, Pharmacist / R&D / QC Department can analyze experimental samples and coordinate informal stability of the product. All experimental data generated by the Laboratory is submitted to the Pharmacist / Product Development Department for analysis and further action. Experimental batches are disposed according applicable SOP when required.

6.9.3.5 QA Validation Department incorporates the product into the cleaning validation matrix in order to swab cGMP equipment to look for active residue content (if equipment is shared between products). Pharmacist / R&D / QC Department prepares documented method in the laboratory to analyze active residue content of swab samples (refer to SOPs IVD-001, IVD-003, and IQC-005), when applicable.

6.9.3.6 QA Department swabs product contact cGMP equipment following cleaning validation matrix and submits swab samples to R&D / QC Department for analysis as per SOPs IVD-001 and IVD-003.

6.9.3.7 Once Pharmacist / Product Development develops the formulation and processes that are going to be used in the manufacturing of the product for stability / Beyond-use-Dating (BUD) or batch, a code number is requested via SOP IGN-003.

6.9.3.8 Upon creation of code number using the appropriate official list, the following activities are coordinated:

A. Pharmacist / R&D / QC Department generates specification for intermediates and bulk finished products, and STM (refer to SOP IQA-025 for details).

B. Pharmacist / Product Development prepares master batch records and master packaging records for stability batches, ensuring formula number is traceable. The sampling plan requirements are included as part of the master batch records and master packaging records where all instructions are clearly sequentially identified and step by step process is implemented and executed at all times (refer to SOP IGN-023 for details).

C. Pharmacist / R&D / QC / Microbiology Department coordinates method validation of analytical, microbial testing (i.e., Description, Assay, Sterility, Bacterial Endotoxins Test) only for stability products (refer to STMs IMV-I01 and IMV-I02 as well as SOP IQC-005).

6.9.3.9 Pharmacist / Production requests issuance of master batch record and executes batch using a cGMP qualified and validated facility and equipment. Samples of the intermediate and bulk finished products are submitted to Pharmacist / R&D / QC Department for testing. If during testing activities Pharmacist / R&D / QC Department finds that any test does not conform to established specifications, an investigation is performed. Upon testing completion, results and data generated are submitted to QA for final disposition.

6.11.5.2 Pharmacist / QC department is responsible for reviewing the data for accuracy, completing analytical report and specification, and submitting analytical report to QA department.

6.11.5.3 QA department is responsible for final disposition of product based on the received results.

6.12 Stability / Expiration Dating for Compounded Drug Products:

6.12.1 The expiration date for all products, is established through the conduct of a stability program that includes testing to assess the product's performance against specifications after aging to the desired expiration date (§ 211.137); the conditions are outlined in ICH guidance for industry 4 Q1A(R2) Stability Testing of New Drug Substances and Products.

6.12.1.1 Beyond use Date (BUD), like expiration date, is the number of days or date at which a drug product is no longer acceptable for use. BUD is calculated from the date of manufacture (i.e., compounding date).

6.12.2 The expiration date is presented as month/date/year using the format MM/DD/YY (i.e., 08/20/19) or equivalent.

Printed by kirtan.patel@bpiindia.com on 28 Apr 2023 at 6:57:56 PM GMT

6.12.3 A listing of established products and their corresponding expiration dating intervals is included in Finished Products Code Number List.

6.12.4 The expiration dating interval is established by obtaining stability data conducted by following an established stability protocol specific for the product (refer to SOP IQC-002 for additional details), as per SOP IQA-019 assignment of expiration dates are given, within requirements listed below.

6.12.4.1 At least 10 percent of the proposed maximum size commercial batch (i.e., pilot scale size) or at least commercial batch size.

6.12.4.2 Stability study condition and test intervals can be found in Table 6.

NOTE: As a general policy, Accelerated (AA) stability studies are only conducted for Stability batches. Long Term (CRT) stability studies are conducted for Stability and Commercial batches.

Table 6 - Temperature, Relative Humidity, Test Interval Conditions for Stability Studies

| | Temperature | Relative Humidity | Test Intervals |
|---|---|---|---|
| Long Term (CRT) | 25°C ± 2°C | 60%RH ± 5%RH | 2, 4, 6, 8 months |
| Accelerated (AA) | 40°C ± 2°C | 75%RH ± 5%RH | 1, 2 months |

6.12.4.3 Accelerated studies, combined with basic information of the components, drug products, and container / closure system, may be used to establish a tentative BUD interval provided shelf life studies are not available and are being conducted.

6.12.4.4 For product stored in accelerated conditions that yield acceptable stability results after 30 days (1 month), BUD / expiration dating interval of 240 days (8 months) from the manufacturing date of the batch can be assigned.

Example: If the batch was manufactured on 08/20/19 and stability data shows that the product is stable for 30 days in the accelerated conditions, a tentative BUD/expiration date of 04/15/20 can be assigned to the product, as follows.

Manufacturing Date (Compounding Date): 08/20/19

Beyond Use Date Interval: 240 days

Beyond Use Date (BUD): 08/20/19 + 240 days - 1 day = 04/15/20

NOTE: In case the BUD / expiration dating interval is assigned as 360 days, then the test intervals for the long term stability are adjusted accordingly, i.e., 3, 6, 9, and 12 months.

6.12.4.5 When a tentative expiration dating interval has been established using accelerated test data and the product has been marketed based on that interval, if the product stored at a controlled room temperature fails to conform to all acceptance criteria during stability testing, an investigation is conducted following SOP IGN-001.

6.12.4.6 All official data generated in the development phase is filed by Document Control.

NOTE: Preparation and approval activities of all formal documents are performed using Change Control System.

6.14.3 Reserve samples must be retained and stored under the labeled storage conditions and in the same immediate container-closure system in which the drug product is marketed or in one that has essentially the same characteristics (e.g., same material, same headspace for liquids).

6.14.4 Reserve samples must be held for no less than 30 days following the established expiration date.

6.14.5 Reserve samples are collected from the beginning, middle, and end of a packaging run.

6.15 Product Complaint Handling:

6.15.1 The procedure to handle (receipt, logging, investigation, monitoring, trending, and resolution) written and oral product complaints received by the company concerning any of the distributed drug products is established as per SOP IQA-009.

6.15.2 All complaints received are logged into "Complaints" logbook and assigned a complaint number.

6.15.3 Depending on the nature of the complaint, QA or designee may request concerned department for investigation, along with complaint sample if available.

6.15.4 QA or designee will investigate through review of batch record, packaging record, and analytical data looking for deviations, issues, or nonconformance to evaluate the impact and cause of the complaint.

6.15.5 QA or designee will arrange for appropriate physical, chemical, and/or microbial testing of complaint sample.

Printed by sathang@wellnesspharma.com on 25 Apr 2022 at 03:36 PM CDT

6.15.6 Once the results are reviewed, an Investigation report is prepared indicating the detailed investigation, most probable root cause, corrective and preventive actions, and conclusions. Corrective and preventive actions are addressed as per applicable SOP.

6.16 Adverse Event Handling:

6.16.1 The procedure for the surveillance, receipt, evaluation, and reporting of Adverse Drug Experiences (ADEs) associated with human and veterinary drug products manufactured at BPI Labs must follow the FDA guideline "Adverse Event Reporting for Outsourcing Facilities under Section 503B of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act".

6.16.2 It is the responsibility of Regulatory Affairs personnel to assure all ADEs (i.e., all serious and unexpected adverse drug experiences) are properly documented, investigated by appropriate personnel, and reported to the FDA (i.e., 15-day Alert Report) as per SOP IRA-001.

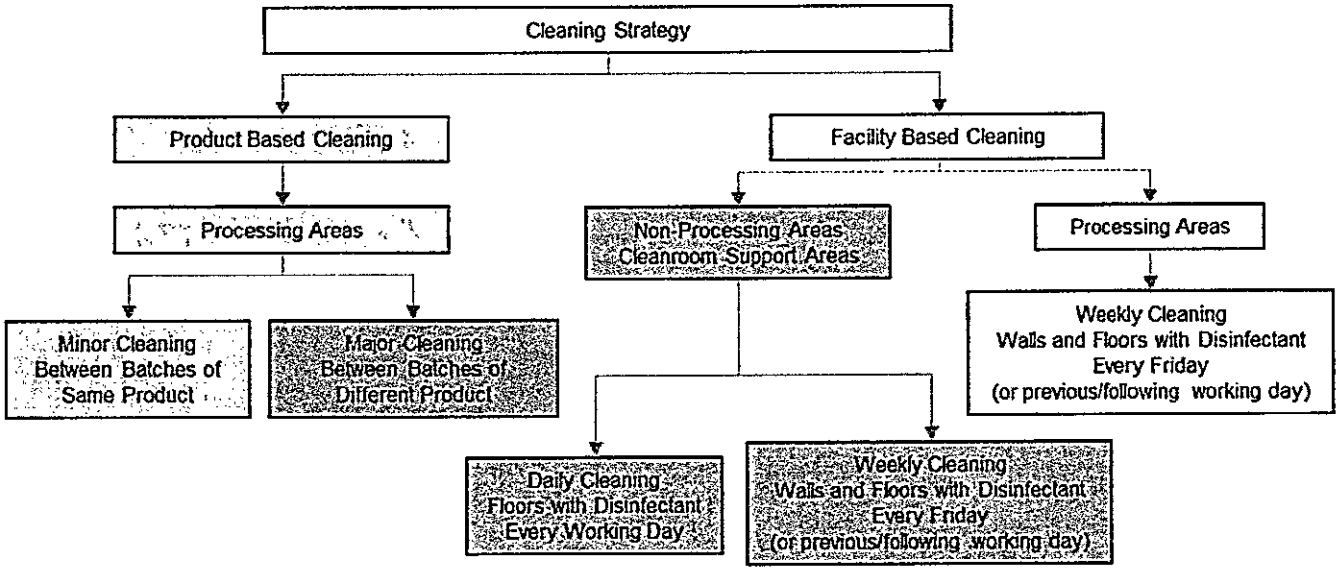
6.1.5 Types of Areas:

6.1.5.1 Processing Areas include rooms in cleanroom area that may be used for Production.

6.1.5.2 Cleanroom Support Areas include rooms and corridors that are within cleanroom area but where a Production process would not occur.

6.1.5.3 Non-Processing Areas are rooms and corridors outside the cleanroom area, and where open product would not be exposed.



A. Inspection and Packaging Rooms and Labeling and Packaging Room are areas outside the cleanroom where Finished Product is processed, but always in a sterile, sealed state. As there is no open product, routine Facility Based Cleaning is performed as per Table 4 and Product Based Cleaning is performed as per Step 6.2.5.

| SOP No. | Title | Revision No. |
|---|---|---|
| IGN-028 | CLEANING OF PROCESSING AND NON-PROCESSING ROOMS | 08 |

6.1.6 BPI's cleaning strategy is designed considering cross contamination and microbial bioburden. Product Based Cleaning revolves around manufacturing areas and reducing the risk of contamination of the product. Facility Based Cleaning involves areas of all classifications and ensuring there is no introduction of microbial contaminants from lower to higher classified areas. See Figure 1 below.

6.1.7 Cleaning Strategy:

6.1.7.1 Mops and cleaning supplies used in Non-Processing Areas will NOT be used in Processing Areas or Cleanroom Support Areas, however the same mops and cleaning supplies can be used between Processing Areas and Cleanroom Support Areas. Ensure mops and cleaning supplies are labeled accordingly.

6.1.7.2 Ensure the correct cleaning supplies are used for their respective area by reviewing the labels before the start of cleaning.

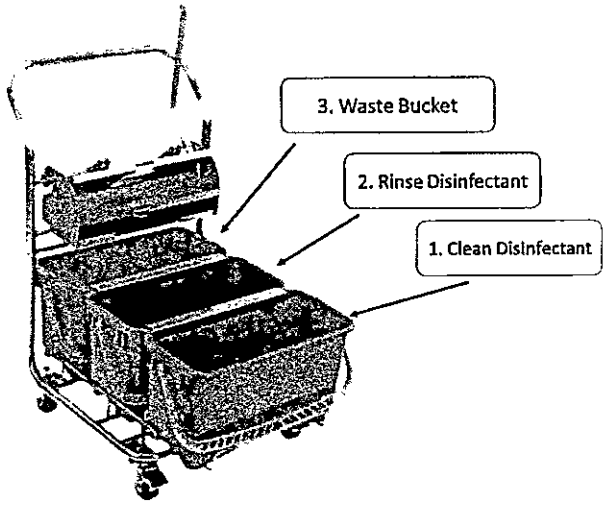
6.1.7.3 Production Cleaner should refer to the cleaning schedule posted in accessible areas for use of the appropriate disinfectant as per rotation.

6.1.7.4 To ensure water ports and transfer equipment are not incidentally contaminated, care should be taken when collecting WFI or Purified Water for cleaning.

A. If a hose or pipe is needed to transfer water, ensure it is securely connected to the water port without leaks. Do not touch the water port directly with bare hands as this may contaminate the water port.
B. Before collecting or using water for cleaning, direct the hose to a drain and flush for NLT 1 minute.
C. Collect water or use for cleaning, then close the water port valve tightly to avoid leaks.

D. Remove the water hose and place it in a designated area to air dry. Ensure the hose is placed in a position that will drain any residual water.

6.1.7.5 Prepare disinfectants as per SOP IGN-027. Document the amount of disinfectant used in the appropriate Preparation of Disinfectant Dilutions Logbook.



6.1.7.6 Production Cleaner should refer to the approved Facility Based Cleaning Flows for Cleanrooms as a guide to which rooms should be cleaned for Daily and Weekly cleaning, as well as provide direction where cleaning should begin and end.

NOTE: Cleaning Flows are only a recommendation. When a specific room cannot be cleaned per the approved flow, due to unavoidable circumstances, cleaning can proceed in the following available room, as needed.

6.1.7.7 The "Three Bucket System" works as follows: first bucket contains a clean disinfectant (or WFI/PW as applicable), second bucket contains a rinse disinfectant and is used to rinse the cleaning agent (or WFI/PW as applicable) from dirty mop, and third bucket is a waste bucket used to wring the mop. See Figure 2.

6.1.7.8 The flow for the "Three Bucket System" is as follows: dip mop into clean disinfectant, then wring mop into waste bucket to remove excess liquid and begin mopping. After mopping, insert mop into rinse bucket to remove dirty liquid, then wring mop to remove excess liquid. Repeat process until cleaning is finished.

6.1.7.9 Cleaning should be performed from the highest surface point to the lowest surface point (i.e., walls, equipment, and then floors, in sequential order), as well as, from the furthest surface point to the closest surface point (i.e., farthest corner of the room towards the exit that will be used to leave the room).

6.1.7.10 Cleaning should be performed uniformly in single overlapping strokes, ensuring all areas are reached by the mop without going over a single area multiple times.

6.2 Product Based Cleaning:

6.2.1 Product Based Cleaning is applicable to Process Equipment and Processing Rooms to avoid cross contamination majorly. It is separated as Minor Cleaning and Major Cleaning, and they are performed between batches.

NOTE: Whenever cleaning a processing room along with multiple equipment located in the same room, open each related logbook (i.e., equipment and room) and document the type of cleaning (i.e., major cleaning / minor cleaning) under the "Description" column. Whenever the cleaning of each specific equipment is initiated, log such information in the respective logbook using only the "Start Date" and "Start Time" columns. Additionally, whenever the cleaning of each equipment is completed, document such information in the respective logbook using only the "Finish Date" and "Finish Time". Finally, the room should be cleaned last and the corresponding entries in the logbook related to the initiation and completion of the cleaning process need to be documented accordingly whenever the operation is started and completed. In case of cleanroom supporting areas, enter cleaning details in one single logbook.

6.2.2 Before starting minor or major cleaning, put a check mark against the appropriate box on status label of the room, as applicable.

6.2.3 Minor Cleaning:

6.2.3.1 Minor cleaning is performed between batches of the same product type.

6.2.3.2 Ensure all evidence of the previous batch, including the batch record, all containers produced, and all raw materials, is cleared from the room. Ensure debris is removed off floor, and trash is removed from room.

6.2.3.3 Equipment should be cleaned per respective equipment cleaning SOP.

6.2.3.4 Using sterile 70% IPA, wipe down scales, tables, carts, windows, and doors.

6.2.3.5 Mop the floors using a mop wetted in WFI/PW following the "Three Bucket System" method and allow to dry.

6.2.3.6 After cleaning, sign the Cleaning, Use, and Maintenance Logbook for minor cleaning. Call the supervisor or designee to verify the cleaning.

6.2.3.7 Place a "CLEAN" label on the door with cleaning details.

6.2.3.8 Discard leftover cleaning agents through the drains in the Component Preparation Room, or designated areas. Clean buckets thoroughly with Purified Water after use.

6.2.4 Major Cleaning:

6.2.4.1 Major cleaning is performed between batches of different product type.

6.2.4.2 Ensure all evidence of the previous batch, including the batch record, all containers produced, and all raw materials, is cleared from the room. Ensure debris is removed off floor and trash is removed from room.

6.2.4.3 Cover room temperature / relative humidity monitoring probe in polyethylene bag to avoid water spill and physical damage to probe.

6.2.4.4 Equipment should be cleaned per respective equipment cleaning SOP.

NOTE: Never spray WFI/PW directly on opening of exhaust duct, inlet supply grills, electrical fixtures, and light fixtures.

6.2.4.5 Clean ceilings using a mop wetted in WFI/PW following the "Three Bucket System" method.

6.2.4.6 Clean walls and floors, using a mop wetted in WFI/PW following the "Three Bucket System" method and allow to dry.

6.2.4.7 Using sterile 70% IPA, wipe down scales, tables, carts, windows, and doors.

NOTE: While performing the cleaning of the processing rooms, ensure the personnel and material flow are done in a way that avoids any cross contamination (i.e., do not enter the cleaned rooms while cleaning an un-cleaned room).

6.2.4.8 After cleaning, sign the Cleaning, Use, and Maintenance Logbook for major cleaning and call the Supervisor or designee to verify the cleaning.

6.2.4.9 Place a "CLEAN" label on the door with cleaning details.

6.2.4.10 Discard leftover cleaning agents through the drains in the Component Preparation Room. Or designated areas. Clean buckets thoroughly with Purified Water after use.

6.2.5 Product Based cleaning for Inspection and Packaging Rooms and Labeling and Packaging Room are different as they are outside the cleanroom area but there is not open product exposed:

6.2.5.1 Minor cleaning is performed between batches of the same product type as below:

A. Ensure all evidence of the previous batch, including the batch record, all containers produced, and all raw materials, is cleared from the room. Ensure debris is removed off floor and trash is removed from room.

B. Equipment should be cleaned per respective equipment cleaning SOP.

C. Using sterile 70% IPA, wipe down scales, tables, carts, windows, and doors. If any debris or spills are present, mop floor using a mop wetted in WFI/PW.

D. After cleaning, sign the Cleaning, Use, and Maintenance Logbook for minor cleaning. Call the supervisor or designee to verify the cleaning.

E. Place a "CLEAN" label on the door with cleaning details.

F. Discard leftover cleaning agents through the drains in the Utilities Area, or designated areas. Clean buckets thoroughly with Purified Water after use.

6.2.5.2 Major cleaning is performed between batches of different product as below:

A. Ensure all evidence of the previous batch, including the batch record, all containers produced, and all raw materials, is cleared from the room. Ensure debris is removed off floor and trash is removed from room.

B. Equipment should be cleaned per respective equipment cleaning SOP.

F. Place a "CLEAN" label on the door with cleaning details.
G. Discard leftover cleaning agents through the drains in the Utilities Area, or designated areas. Clean buckets thoroughly with Purified Water after use.

6.3 Facility Based Cleaning:

6.3.1 Facility Based Cleaning is applicable to Processing Areas only when production is inactive. If Production is active, cleaning may be performed in rooms that are not in use and areas that are in use must been cleaned whenever the activity is done. When production is active, refer to Product Based Cleaning as per section 6.2.

NOTE: Production cleaner should not enter a room with cleaning utensils where production process is occurring.

6.3.2 The different types of cleanings are detailed in Table 2. Types of Cleanings are defined by the frequency of the specific procedure required.

Table 2: Types of Cleanings

| Type of Cleaning | Identification | Main Surfaces | When Required |
|---|---|---|---|
| Daily | D | Floors | Every scheduled working day with Decon-Phene or Decon-Quat |
| Weekly | W | Ceilings, Walls, and Floors | Every Friday, or next working day if it is a holiday/not scheduled with Decon-Phene, Decon-Quat, or Decon-Spore |

NOTE: Cleaning types should not overlap (i,e. Daily cleaning and Weekly cleaning should not be performed on the same day).

6.3.3 Daily Cleaning is performed only in Non-Processing Areas and Cleanroom Support Areas (Refer to Table 1) using a disinfectant. Daily Cleaning is not performed in Processing Areas.

6.3.4 Weekly cleaning is performed in Processing Areas, Non-Processing Areas, and Cleanroom Support Areas, using disinfectants and sporicidal agents to reduce microbial bioburden majorly.

6.3.5 Weekly Cleaning supersedes Product Based Major cleaning and can be documented as equals when releasing a room for production.

6.3.6 Disinfectant Type use is determined by the disinfectant rotation as per SOP IGN-027 and approved rotation schedule posted in accessible areas. Table 3 shows an example of four-week period of Disinfectant Rotation.

6.3.8.1 Daily cleaning is performed every scheduled working day in Non-Processing Areas and Cleanroom Support Areas, with exceptions, as listed in Table 4.

6.3.8.2 Prior to cleaning, sweep away dust and debris, and dust-off surfaces as needed.

6.3.8.3 Prepare appropriate cleaning solution and document the amount of disinfectant used in the Preparation of Disinfectant Dilutions Logbook.

NOTE: Cleanroom Cleaning should begin in the highest classified areas (i.e., filling rooms, formulations room) and should end in the least classified areas (i.e., corridor 301, anteroom), as possible. However, ensure personnel and material flow are in a way that avoids cross contamination (i.e., do not enter cleaned rooms from an un-cleaned room). Refer to approved Facility Based Cleaning Flows for Cleanrooms.

6.3.8.4 Using sterile 70% IPA, wipe down windows, handles, and doors. Also wipe any chairs, tables, phones, racks, carts, etc., when applicable.

6.3.8.5 Mop the floors using a mop wetted in disinfectant solution (refer to EOL I-003 Miscellaneous List and refer to SOP IGN-027 for preparation of disinfectant solution), following the "Three Bucket System" method, or other bucket system when applicable, and allow a minimum contact time of 10 minutes. Once contact time has been allowed, confirm the action within the Cleaning, Use, and Maintenance Logbook.

6.3.8.6 Mop the floors using a mop wetted in WFI following the "Three Bucket System" method, or other bucket system when applicable, to remove disinfectant residues and allow to dry.

6.3.8.7 After cleaning, sign the Cleaning, Use, and Maintenance Logbook for daily cleaning and call the Supervisor or designee to verify the cleaning.

6.3.8.8 Discard leftover cleaning agents through the drains in the Component Preparation Room, or designated areas. Clean buckets thoroughly with Purified Water after use.

6.3.9 Weekly Cleaning:

6.3.9.1 Weekly cleaning is performed every Friday (or previous/next working day, as necessary) in Non-Processing Areas, Cleanroom Support Areas and Processing Areas, with exceptions, as listed in Table 4 (if Friday is in production, clean upon completion or next working day). In addition to the daily cleaning procedure performed as per section 6.3.8, ceilings and walls are included as part of weekly cleaning.

NOTE: If management is aware the Weekly cleaning cannot be completed for all rooms on Friday, cleaning may be performed Thursday and Friday. If cleaning is started on Friday but cannot be completed, cleaning may be continued on Monday followed by routine schedule starting on Tuesday or the next working day, as required.

6.3.9.2 Prior to cleaning, sweep away dust and debris, and dust-off surfaces as needed.

6.3.9.3 Prepare appropriate cleaning solution and document the amount of disinfectant used in the Preparation of Disinfectant Dilutions Logbook.

NOTE: Cleanroom Cleaning should begin in the highest classified areas (i.e., filling rooms, formulations room) and should end in the least classified areas (i.e., corridor 301, anteroom), as possible. However, ensure personnel and material flow are in a way that avoids cross contamination (i.e., do not enter cleaned rooms from an un-cleaned room). Refer to approved Facility Based Cleaning Flows for Cleanrooms.

6.3.9.4 Clean ceilings using a mop wetted in WFI following the "Three Bucket System" method.

6.3.9.5 Clean the walls using a mop wetted in disinfectant solution (refer to EOL I-003 Miscellaneous List and refer to SOP IGN-027 for preparation of disinfectant solution), following the "Three Bucket System" method, or other bucket system when applicable, and allow a minimum contact time of 10 minutes.

This document lists observations made by the FDA representative(s) during the inspection of your facility. They are inspectional observations, and do not represent a final Agency determination regarding your compliance. If you have an objection regarding an observation, or have implemented, or plan to implement, corrective action in response to an observation, you may discuss the objection or action with the FDA representative(s) during the inspection or submit this information to FDA at the address above. DURING AN INSPECTION OF YOUR FIRM WE OBSERVED:
Pre-Approval, NDA #205029 Supplement 10: Epinephrine, USP Pre-Filled Syringes 1mg/mL

OBSERVATION 1

Equipment used in the manufacture, processing, packing or holding of drug products is not of appropriate design to facilitate operations for its intended use.

Specifically, during inspection, it was observed that the equipment "Groinger Plunger Rod and Labelling Machine type SMKE with de-nester" intended for labeling the pre-filled epinephrine syringes referenced in your NDA application has not been installed and qualified for use.

OBSERVATION 2

Potential suppliers were not evaluated and selected based on their ability to meet specified requirements.

Specifically, your firm was not evaluating suppliers based upon their ability to meet requirements established in your Vendor Management System procedure (SOP IGN-034) and Purchasing System procedure (SOP IPC-001). Your firm's initial qualification (signed 02/26/2019) of your supplier of sterile 1 mL syringes indicates that a "review of collected data shows that the company has a vigorous quality system and capable of meeting customer expectations," but the approved supplier did not provide the information required per your firm's procedures and the questionnaire provided. For example, the initial Questionnaire for Customers provided by your supplier as a self-audit indicated that their Site Master File, manufacturing equipment, site maps and drawings, an explanation of how product is protected from the manufacturing environment, deviation handling procedures, previous deviations and OOS syringes, and an explanation of rejected batches of syringes within the last year were not provided. The supplier indicated that this information could be provided at the next on-site audit. There has not been an on-site audit conducted since this initial qualification nor is one scheduled by the firm. Additionally, this self-assessment indicated that the supplier has not been inspected by a regulating body and doesn't confirm the supplier's understanding of FDA's regulations, which is a requirement of the firm's Purchasing System procedure.

OBSERVATION 3

Risk analysis is inadequate.

Specifically, your firm's risk analysis conducted as part of the Combination Product Compliance 21 CFR Part 4 Drug and Device Constituent Parts document you identified as the design history file for your firm's 1 mL epinephrine syringe does not adequately identify the hazards, estimated risks, and mitigations associated with the use of your finished combination product.

For example, your firm identifies the glass syringe and rubber plunger components of your finished 1 mL epinephrine syringe as high risk for particulate matter, bacterial endotoxin, and lack of sterility in the Product Development Report for Epinephrine Injection, USP 1 mG/mL under section 2.1.3. In your firm's design history file your risk analysis conducted for the finished 1 mL epinephrine syringe device does not evaluate the risk levels for the eight risks identified by your firm. Additionally, one of the mitigations listed for risk of particulates is "incoming materials controls". Your firm's supplier control's do not adequately evaluate your supplier's capabilities of meeting the supplier requirements established by your firm, including technical and regulatory requirements. Your firm's supplier of syringes for this combination product was not subject to a quality agreement and did not provide evidence to support their abilities to meet your firm's established supplier requirements during their initial self-audit approved on 02/26/2019.

OBSERVATION 4

Procedures for design transfer have not been adequately established.

Specifically, your firm's design history file for your 1 mL epinephrine syringe combination product did not contain a documented design transfer that supported the device's design was correctly translated into production specifications. Under design transfer your firm documented "there is no transfer involved."

OBSERVATION 5

The type and extent of control to be exercised over the product and suppliers was not clearly defined.

Specifically, your firm did not establish a quality agreement with your supplier that defined the type and extent of control to be exercised over the sterile 1 mL syringe that is a component of your firm's sterile 1 mL epinephrine syringe combination product until 04/22/2021. This is required per SOP IGN-034 Section 6.3.6 upon vendor approval. Your firm's supplier of sterile 1 mL syringes was approved on 02/26/2019.

Subject: Response to FDA Inspectional Observations from 04/19/2021 to 04/30/2021

Dear Madam,

This correspondence is in response to the 04/19/2021 through 04/30/2021 pre-approval inspection of NDA # 205029 Supplement # 9: Epinephrine Injection, USP 10 mg / 10 mL (10 mL Vial) and NDA # 205029 Supplement # 10: Epinephrine Injection, USP 1 mg / mL (1 mL Syringe) to be manufactured commercially by BPI Labs, LLC, at 12393 Belcher Road, Suite # 450, Largo, FL 33773 (FEI Number 3015156709), upon FDA approval.

This communication is in response to the Form FDA 483 Inspectional Observations issued to BPI Labs, LLC ("BPI") specific to its NDA # 205029 Supplement # 10: Epinephrine Injection, USP 1 mg / mL (1 mL Syringe) by FDA Investigators Ms. Saundrea A Munroe and Ms. Emma R Schaefer (collectively, referred to as the "Investigators").

BPI would like to bring to your attention that no FDA 483 observations were issued to NDA # 205029 Supplement # 9: Epinephrine Injection, USP 10 mg / 10 mL (10 mL Vial) at the end of the inspection. Investigators mentioned during the close out meeting that this drug product was going to be recommended for approval. BPI respectfully requests FDA to facilitate the approval of the NDA # 205029 Supplement # 9: Epinephrine Injection, USP 10 mg / 10 mL (10 mL Vial) in order to commence the commercial manufacturing as soon as possible.

In addition, BPI would like to acknowledge that no FDA 483 observations were issued during the 503B outsourcing facility inspection that occurred simultaneously with the pre-approval inspection. The 503B outsourcing facility inspection was conducted by FDA Investigator Ms. Jessica L Pressley.

In regard to the Form FDA 483 Inspectional Observations issued to BPI specifically to its NDA # 205029 Supplement # 10: Epinephrine Injection, USP 1 mg / mL (1 mL Syringe), BPI accepts the Investigators' observations and commits to address the issue expeditiously. well-being and safety. Enclosed please find an attachment that addresses BPI's responses to the FDA Investigators' observations on an individual and systemic basis.

Our corrective action plan will address all issues effectively and comply with Current Good Manufacturing Practices (cGMP) Regulations (Title 21, Code of Federal Regulations, Parts 210, 211, and 4).

BPI would like to inform the Agency that all corrective actions taken have been completed, as can be evidenced from our responses enclosed with this letter, except Observation 1.

BPI expects to complete the qualification of the intended equipment, TechLine Horizontal Roller Syringe Wrap Labeling System Machine, to be used in commercial labeling of NDA # 205029 Supplement # 10: Epinephrine Injection, USP 1 mg / mL (1 mL Syringe) and submit the executed qualification protocols and associated final report to FDA on or before 09/30/2021.

BPI's action plan for Observation 1 includes the specifics of its actions along with targeted timelines. We will closely monitor the implementation of the plan and will provide your Office with updates along with evidence of implementation. Should we change any of our commitments, we will provide you with our reasons and supporting documentation.

Henceforth, upon receipt of BPI's final response related to this FDA 483 observation, BPI respectively requests that the Agency accepts the submitted executed qualification documentation of the TechLine Horizontal Roller Syringe Wrap Labeling System Machine in lieu of a second separate visit to our facility to inspect the qualification exercise of the mentioned machine onsite. Instead, the Agency would be more than welcome to inspect such documentation at our facility at any convenient time, i.e., next BPI cGMP inspection or pre-approval inspection associated with BPI other filed NDAs or ANDAs.

Accordingly, we would like to request a review of our response and action plan at your earliest convenience.

Finally, as per Investigators' request during the close out meeting, BPI is also enclosing along with this response the information related to non-conformance NCR No. I-21004 associated to the sanitization of the Purified Water System.

PRE-APPROVAL, NDA # 205029 SUPPLEMENT 10: EPINEPHRINE, USP PRE-FILLED SYRINGES 1 MG/ML

OBSERVATION 1:

Equipment used in the manufacture, processing, packing or holding of drug products is not of appropriate design to facilitate operations for its intended use.

Specifically, during inspection, it was observed that the equipment "Groinger Plunger Rod and Labelling Machine type SMKE with de-nester" intended for labeling the pre-filled epinephrine syringes referenced in your NDA application has not been installed and qualified for use.

BPI'S RESPONSE TO OBSERVATION 1:

BPI acknowledges and accepts the investigator's observation.

BPI's application NDA # 205029 Supplement 10 for Epinephrine, USP Pre-Filled Syringes 1 mg/mL submitted to FDA on 03/19/21 included the current installed and qualified labeling machine, i.e., Labeler (Model #: Q105 Stepper), referenced via SOP IPK-004 "Handling of the Labeler (Model # Q105 Stepper)", as part of the proposed intended commercial Labeling Master No.: PK-I117-0-10 "Master Batch Packaging Record – Labeling Instructions" document for this product (refer to Exhibit – 1.1).

In regards to the observation noted by the FDA, BPI would like to clarify the situation encountered with the Q105 Stepper labeling machine, included in the Supplement information given to FDA as part of the submission, and the "Groinger Plunger Rod and Labelling Machine type SMKE with de-nester" (hereinafter referred to as "Groninger labeling machine") as discussed with the FDA investigators during this inspection.

BPI's initial intention was to utilize the Q105 Stepper labeling machine for the labeling of the pre-filled epinephrine syringes as it was expected to be suitable for both vials and syringes configurations. However, further technical and operational assessment of the Q105 Stepper labeling machine along with discussion with the equipment manufacturer revealed that this equipment will not be the most ideal labeling machine to be used for the pre-filled syringes. This finding identified the need to re-evaluate the need to purchase and commission the Groninger labeling machine for the labeling operation of the pre-filled epinephrine syringes.

At this time, the available quotation received by BPI for this Groninger labeling machine was shown to the FDA investigators (refer to Exhibit – 1.2) and also the explanation of the technical constraints related to the current installed and qualified Q105 Stepper labeling machine for the pre-filled syringes was presented during the inspection. BPI confirmed that the Groninger labeling machine had not been purchased, installed, and qualified for use.

After the FDA inspection, BPI contacted the manufacturer of the Groninger labeling machine to inquire about its availability based on the past quotation. Unfortunately, the manufacturer confirmed that due to the COVID-19 pandemic this equipment has very long lead time for delivery.

As a result, BPI searched for alternate suitable labeling machines for the labeling operation of pre-filled syringes. BPI identified the TechLine Horizontal Roller Syringe Wrap Labeling System machine, manufactured by Quadrel Labeling Systems, as adequate for the intended use based on the technical specifications and product design (refer to Exhibit – 1.3 for the quotation provided by this firm).

Quadrel Labeling Systems confirmed that the TechLine labeling machine is expected to be delivered to BPI on or before 08/31/21 (refer to Exhibit – 1.4 for copy of purchase order).

BPI commits to install and qualify the TechLine labeling machine and expects to complete this activity and submit the executed qualification protocols and associated final report to the FDA on or before 09/30/21.

OBSERVATION 2:

Potential suppliers were not evaluated and selected based on their ability to meet specified requirements.

Specifically, your firm was not evaluating suppliers based upon their ability to meet requirements established in your Vendor Management System procedure (SOP IGN-034) and Purchasing System procedure (SOP IPC-001). Your firm's initial qualification (signed 02/26/2019) of your supplier of sterile 1 mL syringes indicates that a "review of collected data shows that the company has a vigorous quality system and capable of meeting customer expectations," but the approved supplier did not provide the information required per your firm's procedures and the questionnaire provided. For example, the initial Questionnaire for Customers provided by your supplier as a self-audit indicated that their Site Master File, manufacturing equipment, site maps and drawings, an explanation of how product is protected from the manufacturing environment, deviation handling procedures, previous deviations and OOS syringes, and an explanation of rejected batches of syringes within the last year were not provided. The supplier indicated that this information could be provided at the next on-site audit. There has not been an on-site audit conducted since the initial qualification nor is one scheduled by the firm. Additionally, this self-assessment indicated that the supplier has not been inspected by a regulatory body and doesn't confirm the supplier's understanding of FDA's regulations, which is a requirement of the firm's Purchasing System procedure.

BPI'S RESPONSE TO OBSERVATION 2:

BPI acknowledges and accepts the investigator's observation. However, BPI would like to explain to the Agency all the available procedures that were in place at the time of the FDA inspection to evaluate and select potential vendors based on their ability to meet specified requirements.

New vendors are initially approved in the quality system following the requirements documented in SOPs IPC-001 "Purchasing System" and IGN-034 "Vendor Management System." Then, vendors are re-qualified in a periodic manner as per the guidelines written in both mentioned procedures. Both the initial and re-qualification exercises are well defined to assess the adequacy of the vendor performance at all times.

Refer to Exhibit – 5.1 for copy of mentioned SOPs IPC-001 Revision No. 04 and IGN-034 Revision No. 04 that were effective at the time the FDA inspection was conducted.

In regards to the observation noted by the FDA, specifically related to SCHOTT Schweiz AG which is the vendor supplying the syringes for the epinephrine pre-filled syringes 1 mg/mL, BPI would like to clarify the execution of all available procedures that were in place at the time of the FDA inspection to evaluate and select potential vendors based on their ability to meet specified requirements, consistent with the quality system standards available in both above mentioned SOPs.

Firstly, SCHOTT Schweiz AG was initially approved in the quality system on 02/26/19 (refer to Exhibit – 5.2). SCHOTT Schweiz AG is one of the world's leading manufacturers of special glass and polymers including vials, cartridges, and syringes ready to use for the pharmaceutical industry; this company was established in year 1930.

During the initial qualification of this reputed vendor, BPI requested a variety of technical documentation for the components that were required as part of product development as well as an understanding of the quality principles of this firm. Based on their internal administrative process, SCHOTT Schweiz AG does not complete feedback questionnaires and rather they provide their own self-assessment explaining several information about the company. As part of this initial process, BPI identified few points that were not fully communicated and explained in SCHOTT Schweiz AG's self-assessment and despite making diligent efforts by BPI to clarify such information as further preliminary understanding of the vendor, SCHOTT Schweiz AG did not provide the clarifications requested due to some organizational reason, out of BPI's control. That being said, as stated below BPI has been able to get further clarifications on these points.

Further evaluation of this firm made at the time of initial qualification revealed that a US DMF (i.e., 18416) was filed for the components SCHOTT Schweiz AG intended to distribute to United States. In addition, the technical documentation related to the components BPI was interested to acquire was found highly accurate and complete (refer to Exhibit – 2.1 for an example of technical data). Moreover, SCHOTT Schweiz AG presented certifications from accredited organizations in regards to ISO 9001 and ISO 15378 (refer to Exhibit – 2.2) confirming vendor's understanding in quality (i.e., development, engineering, manufacturing and sales of primary packaging materials made of glass tubing and polymers) and vendor's experience in audits under a regulatory environment. Finally, the vendor reputation verified during initial approval confirmed that SCHOTT Schweiz AG adheres to good quality standards according to available public data.

BPI approved SCHOTT Schweiz AG on 02/26/19 to supply components for research and development use because all data indicated that the vendor had a robust quality system capable of meeting customer expectations, inline with technical data, certifications, vendor history, and DMF filing in United States.

BPI would like to clarify to the Agency that SCHOTT Schweiz AG is a quality focused and highly knowledgeable firm. This company has provided detailed technical documents from day one related to the design, manufacturing, and controls for its components, confirming that this mentioned vendor fully understands the GMP regulations / expectations in an FDA environment.

Secondly, this vendor was re-qualified in the quality system on 02/17/21 (refer to Exhibit – 5.3), based on two years re-qualification period. As part of this re-qualification process, SCHOTT Schweiz AG performance was scrutinized based on technical data, available certifications in ISO 13485, ISO 14001, and ISO 45001 (refer to Exhibit – 2.3), and vendor history with BPI since the initial approval, and found out that six shipments were received, inspected, tested, and released for use at BPI without any problem or unwanted trend, corroborating one more time that this vendor had proper systems in place capable of meeting customer expectations and that BPI had available procedures to evaluate the quality of the components received.

In accordance with above specifics, please be advised that BPI has carefully evaluated SCHOTT Schweiz AG and has selected it based on its ability to meet specified requirements, which has been further substantiated with SCHOTT Schweiz AG's performance since February 2019 to date (i.e., no rejections, no unwanted trends).

It is important to inform to the Agency that all these explanations and evidences were shown and discussed with the FDA investigator during the inspection.

Nonetheless as part of this observation, BPI performed a thorough evaluation of all vendors related to commercial materials and components, and confirmed that adequate initial vendor approval and vendor re-qualification exercises have been systematically conducted including the periodic evaluation of vendor's performance and materials / components quality, inline with the requirements of SOPs IPC-001 and IGN-034. This finding further validates that BPI has been following its internal controls at all times.

As a further assurance, BPI contacted SCHOTT Schweiz AG again to inquire one more time about some information that was not provided by this vendor at the time of initial qualification. As a result SCHOTT has agreed to have a remote audit discussion with BPI with the purpose of clarifying all the pending items, including the ones pointed out by the Agency. During this process conducted on 05/20/21, SCHOTT Schweiz AG explained the majority of the open questions and shared specifics about their controls in place, validating that SCHOTT Schweiz AG has a strong quality system tailored to meet customer needs (refer to Exhibit – 2.4 for the updated SCHOTT Schweiz AG report).

As a further assurance and as part of continuous improvement, BPI revisited the wording of its controls for initial and re-qualification of vendors and identified an opportunity for enhancement to present in a more explicit manner the current expectations and practices on this topic. Consequently, BPI has revised SOP IGN-034 "Vendor Management System" in the quality system to clarify the requirements of initial and re-qualification of vendors, including the addition of handling self-assessments provided by the firms in lieu of BPI's feedback questionnaire. The revised SOP was made effective on 05/18/21 as Revision No. 05; all users of this SOP were part of the review and approval process (refer to Exhibit – 5.7 for a copy of the revised SOP along with the respective change control). BPI believes that clearer instructions on this SOP would contribute to avoid misinterpretations about the process of evaluating, selecting, and monitoring vendors.

As a final point, BPI would like to clarify to the Agency that SCHOTT Schweiz AG is a vendor classified for research and development use only at this specific time (i.e., no components is currently used in any commercial product) and for this reason on-site audit need as per SOP IGN-034 has not been undertaken yet. Once this vendor is transitioned from research and development to commercial, at that time the requirement of on-site audit will be assessed as per the frequency established in this mentioned SOP, and if selected, this vendor will be added to the "Vendor On-site Audit Tentative Schedule Plan" for on-site audit planning and execution.

In conclusion, BPI believes that procedures that defined the evaluation and selection of vendors based on their ability to meet specified requirements were established in the quality system from day one and were executed effectively, that initial and re-qualification processes for SCHOTT Schweiz AG has been done methodically, and that SCHOTT Schweiz AG is a vendor considered in respectable standards and capable of meeting customer needs, reaffirming that BPI has followed its SOPs and has operational systems to control and monitor vendors in a consistent manner.

OBSERVATION 3:

Risk analysis is inadequate.

Specifically, your firm's risk analysis conducted as part of the Combination Product Compliance 21 CFR Part 4 Drug and Device Constituent Parts document you identified as the design history file for your firm's 1 mL epinephrine syringe does not adequately identify the hazards, estimated risks, and mitigations associated with the use of your finished combination product.

For example, your firm identifies the glass syringe and rubber plunger components of your finished 1 mL epinephrine syringe as high risk for particulate matter, bacterial endotoxin, and lack of sterility in the Product Development Report for Epinephrine Injection, USP 1 mg/mL under section 2.1.3. In your firm's design history file your risk analysis conducted for the finished 1 mL epinephrine syringe device does not evaluate the risk levels for the eight risks identified by your firm. Additionally, one of the mitigations listed for risk of particulates is "incoming materials controls". Your firm's supplier control's do not adequately evaluate your supplier's capabilities of meeting the supplier requirements established by your firm, including technical and regulatory requirements. Your firm's supplier of syringes for this combination product was not subject to a quality agreement and did not provide evidence to support their abilities to meet your firm's established requirements during their initial self-audit approved on 02/26/2019.

BPI'S RESPONSE TO OBSERVATION 3:

BPI acknowledges and accepts the investigator's observation.

BPI would like to clarify to the Agency that the risk assessment using qualitative tool (high, medium, and low terminology) was performed for the glass syringe and rubber plunger as part of the Product Development Report No. IPT-R-I11 "Epinephrine Injection, USP 1 mg/mL" under Section 2.1.3 (refer to Exhibit – 3.1 for a copy of Section 2.1.3 – only pages 1, 25, 26, and 27 are included in this exhibit; refer to Exhibit 4.1 for a copy of the entire Product Development Report No. IPT-R-I11).

As part of product design for Epinephrine Injection, USP 1 mg/mL, it was determined that the particulate matter, bacterial endotoxin (BET), and sterility of the syringe and rubber plunger pose "high" risk level, hence necessary mitigation controls were established to monitor these risks in a consistent manner (refer to below Table 1 for details). Based on thorough evaluation of these critical quality attributes impacting directly the product quality, it was understood that this high risk could be mitigated by performing adequate internal testing of incoming syringes and rubber plungers prior to release and use for production. In addition, it was defined during product development that the final finished product also needed to be tested for particulate matter, bacterial endotoxin (BET), and sterility as part of the release specifications to ensure patient safety during usage.

BPI performed risk analysis as per the FDA Guidance for Industry and FDA Staff: Current Good Manufacturing Practice Requirements for Combination Products FINAL GUIDANCE, January 2017, specified in iii. Risk Analysis page 44. BPI believes risk levels, either qualitative or quantitative, can be performed. Quantitative analysis is recommended in order to evaluate if mitigations are required or not, but BPI has implemented mitigations in this case nevertheless to ensure there is no negative impact to product quality.

BPI further reviewed the SOP IGN-035 "Handling of Combination Products" and improvements were made to provide additional instructions on risk analysis related to manufacturing as well as use-related. The revised SOP was made effective on 05/20/21 as Revision No. 03; all users of this SOP were part of the review and approval process (refer to Exhibit – 3.2 for a copy of the revised SOP along with the respective change control). BPI believes that clearer instructions on this SOP would help to assess better the risks associated as part of product design going forward.

Moreover, the combination product document associated with the design of epinephrine pre-filled syringes "Design Controls for Epinephrine Injection, USP 1 mg/mL (1 mL Syringe)", Section No. CP-I11-02, was revised to perform the risk analysis with quantitative risk levels for manufacturing related items of this mentioned product inline with the revised SOP IGN-035. Refer to Exhibit – 4.4 for copy of the revised section.

Additionally, a new section related to the combination product associated with the use-related risk analysis of epinephrine pre-filled syringes "Use-Related Risk Analysis for Epinephrine Injection, USP 1 mg / mL (1 mL Syringe)", Section CP-I11-08, was created to evaluate the use-related risk analysis linked with this mentioned product inline with the revised SOP IGN-035. Refer to Exhibit – 3.3 for copy of the revised section.

On the other hand, it is important to mention that BPI has diligently approved and re-qualified all vendors associated with the cGMP operations, including Schott Schweiz AG which is the supplier of the syringes, to ensure these are evaluated on a periodic basis to confirm their capabilities of meeting BPI requirements. Furthermore, BPI has worked systematically to generate the quality agreement between BPI and Schott Schweiz AG and to approve it in the quality system before the commercial manufacturing of the epinephrine pre-filled syringes product, in agreement with the internal company standards. The quality agreement was provided to the FDA investigators on 04/23/21 during the inspection. Refer to the responses for Observation 2 and Observation 5 to get a clearer and detailed understanding of the available controls at BPI for vendor evaluation and for quality agreements.

Finally, BPI would like to conclude that the hazards, risks, and mitigations associated with the use of the epinephrine pre-filled syringes combination product were further discussed and clarified, and it is believed that this document now reflects a more thorough risk analysis according to the product design and intended use.

OBSERVATION 4:

Procedures for design transfer have not been adequately established.

Specifically, your firm's design history file for your 1 mL epinephrine syringe combination product did not contain a documented design transfer that supported the device's design was correctly translated into product specifications. Under design transfer your firm documents "there is no transfer involved".

BPI'S RESPONSE TO OBSERVATION 4:

BPI acknowledges and accepts the investigator's observation. However, BPI would like to clarify to the Agency the design transfer activities to support the device's design and how BPI has performed this activity.

As a general policy, any product development activity is performed following Quality by Design (QbD) concepts as per US FDA guidance, which includes identification of raw materials and container closure system components, such as syringes and plungers, conducting of several compatibility studies, formulation developments, laboratory experimental batches manufacturing, risk assessments of the formulation variables, manufacturing process developments, initial risk assessments of the drug product manufacturing process, establishment of mitigation controls, and execution of exhibit batches (stability batch) manufacturing and testing activities.

As part of this process, various risk analyses are conducted, necessary specifications are established, test methods, batch manufacturing records, batch packaging records, and stability protocols are generated, among others, and finally technology transfer is executed to transition the product from research and development to production.

Specifically, for Epinephrine Injection, USP 1 mg/mL syringe product all these activities are performed and explicitly written in the Product Development Report (PDR) for this mentioned product (Document No. IPT-R-I11 – refer to Exhibit – 4.1). As the combination product requires Design Controls as per 21 CFR Part 4 Regulation of Combination Products, Guidance for Industry and FDA Staff: Current Good Manufacturing Practice Requirements for Combination Products FINAL GUIDANCE, January 2017, BPI used the activities performed as per above mentioned PDR as a reference and guidance to determine the combination product documentation.

As all design transfer activates were conducted as per the PDR and three batches of Epinephrine Injection, USP 1 mg / mL Pre-Filled Syringes (Batch Numbers I117R002, I117R003, and I117R004) were manufactured and tested for all critical quality attributes per approved specifications, it was found that the combination product meets the pre-determined specifications. However, BPI accidentally missed to explicitly write the design transfer activity in the first version of the Design Controls document, Section No. CP-I11-02, Revision 01 (refer to Exhibit – 4.2 for copy of this section), and accepts that this unwanted situation created a gap in understanding the design transfer strategy utilized by BPI. From discussions with FDA investigator, BPI modified the Design Controls document, Section No. CP-I11-02, Revision 02, to incorporate the proper documentation associated with design transfer improvements according to the Product Development Report IPT-R-I11 (refer to Exhibit – 4.3 for a copy of the revised section). This revised section was provided to the FDA investigators during the inspection.

As a further assurance and as part of this observation, BPI proactively reviewed again the Design Controls document, Section No. CP-I11-02, Revision 02, specifically design transfer topic, and identified an extra enhancement in regards to making reference of internal SOPs associated with product development procedures, and to acknowledge the adequacy of the design transfer for the epinephrine pre-filled syringes combination product based on the acceptable results of three batches meeting pre-determined specifications and proving the overall design controls established and design transfer are effective. Refer to Exhibit – 4.4 for a copy of the revised Section No. CP-I11-02, Revision 03, Effective Date 05/20/21.

In conclusion, BPI acknowledges the inadvertent gap created in the Design Controls document, Section No. CP-I11-02, Revision 01, associated with the design transfer, even though the available standard SOP IGN-035 "Handling of Combination Products" was appropriate and included the expected discussion on this topic. Furthermore, BPI commits to be more attentive whenever creating any combination product section in the future for any new product to make sure information is accurate and precise reflecting the company's strategy from product development to the intended production environment.

OBSERVATION 5:

The type and extent of control to be exercised over the product and suppliers was not clearly defined.

BPI'S RESPONSE TO OBSERVATION 5:

BPI acknowledges and accepts the investigator's observation. However, BPI would like to explain to the Agency all the available procedures that were in place at the time of the FDA inspection to define and execute the type and extent of control to be exercised over vendors and components were met.

New vendors are initially approved in the quality system following the requirements documented in SOPs IPC-001 "Purchasing System" and IGN-034 "Vendor Management System". Then, vendors are re-qualified in a periodic manner as per the guidelines written in both mentioned procedures. Both the initial and re-qualification exercises are well defined to assess the adequacy of the vendor performance at all times.

Similarly, new components are initially approved in the quality system following the requirements documented in SOP IGN-003 "Creation and Modification of Code Numbers and National Drug Code Numbers (NDC)"; the components are first introduced in the company for research and development purposes. Specification for each component is generated in the quality system describing all incoming controls to be exercised during physical, chemical, and microbiological testing as part of full testing, retesting, and reduced testing. Moreover, each component is introduced to the qualification program stipulated in SOP IQA-010 "Vendor Qualification Program" defining the type and extent of control to be exercised over the specific component during initial full testing and subsequent reduced testing.

Refer to Exhibit – 5.1 for copy of mentioned SOPs IPC-001 Revision No. 04, IGN-034 Revision No. 04, IGN-003 Revision No. 01, and IQA-010 Revision No. 03 that were effective at the time the FDA inspection was conducted.

In regards to the observation noted by the FDA, specifically related to the Clear Glass Syringes Ready to Use Packaging Component, BPI Code Number I3021, supplied by SCHOTT Schweiz AG, BPI would like to clarify the execution of all available procedures that were in place at the time of the FDA inspection to define and execute the type and extent of control to be exercised for this vendor and this syringe, consistent with the quality system requirements explained above.

SCHOTT Schweiz AG was initially approved in the quality system on 02/26/19 (refer to Exhibit – 5.2). This vendor was re-qualified in the quality system on 02/17/21 (refer to Exhibit – 5.3), based on two years re-qualification period.

Clear Glass Syringes Ready to Use Packaging Component code number creation was approved in the quality system on 11/11/19 with material type as "Research and Development" and under Code Number I3021 (refer to Exhibit – 5.4).

Specification for Code Number I3021 was initially approved on 12/27/19 as Revision No. 01 (refer to Exhibit – 5.5). This specification clearly defined the full testing, reduced testing, and retesting requirements to be utilized for the type and extent of control of this component during release.

Based on SOP IQA-010, full testing needs to be executed per specification on three consecutive different vendor lots received by BPI; each lot tested needs to conform to established specifications in order to qualify this component for reduced testing. Precisely, BPI has received three shipments of component Code Number I3021 from SCHOTT Schweiz AG and performed successful full testing accordingly to the specification. As of now, this component is still classified as "Full Testing" since one extra consecutive different vendor lot is needed to be received and tested as part of the "Reduced Testing" certification (refer to Exhibit – 5.6 for the full testing data of the three shipments).

The above confirms that BPI has determined clear procedures to define the type and extent of control to be exercised on vendors and components, has executed the procedures in place with SCHOTT Schweiz AG and with the Clear Glass Syringes Ready to Use Packaging Component (Code Number I3021), and hence has full understanding and control about the quality of this component handled by the firm.

On the other hand, BPI has determined the need to generate quality agreements for some vendors depending on the type of component that is being supplied. These quality agreements are intended to provide an overall approach about the implementation of oversight and controls between parties involved with the purpose of establishing each party's key specific roles and manufacturing activities to comply with cGMP. Specifically, quality agreements for ready to use pre-sterile packaging components (i.e., syringes) are only required at BPI for commercial materials (refer to Exhibit – 5.1 for copy of SOPs IPC-001 and IGN-034).

As of today, all components supplied to BPI by SCHOTT Schweiz AG are still categorized under "Research and Development", including the Clear Glass Syringes Ready to Use Packaging Component (Code Number I3021), and all shipments received so far from this mentioned vendor have only been used for the manufacturing of research and development lots. Accordingly, it is evident that the component pointed out by the Agency is not approved for commercial use until now and therefore the quality agreement was technically not needed yet based on internal BPI's standards stated in SOPs IPC-001 and IGN-034.

BPI started working with SCHOTT Schweiz AG in September 2020 in order to generate the quality agreement between both firms as part of completeness of tasks for potential and upcoming commercial use of this vendor and associated components. For some administrative reasons, SCHOTT Schweiz AG took longer time to finalize this quality agreement despite the frequent and diligent follow up made by BPI. Finally, the quality agreement was approved on 04/22/21 and confirmed to be adequate to initiate the further control of the upcoming commercial shipments. The same was also provided to the investigator during the inspection.

As explained in this response, the Clear Glass Syringes Ready to Use Packaging Component (Code Number I3021) has not been internally approved for commercial use although all incoming and in-process controls for the shipments received so far have been meticulously monitored during release and use and found them to be acceptable and appropriate ratifying the quality and performance of SCHOTT Schweiz AG. Based on all the facts mentioned as part of this answer, BPI believes that there is no negative impact on SCHOTT Schweiz AG and on the Clear Glass Syringes Ready to Use Packaging Component (Code Number I3021) by not having the quality agreement approved before 04/22/21 since the vendor and the component are still under research and development use and BPI has followed strictly its internal standards and controls.

It is important to inform to the Agency that all these explanations and evidences were shown and discussed with the FDA investigator during the inspection.

Nonetheless as part of this observation, BPI performed a thorough evaluation of all commercial materials and components and confirmed that adequate quality agreements are in place and approved prior to any commercial distribution of the associated products, inline with the requirements of SOPs IPC-001 and IGN-034. This finding further validates that BPI has been following its internal controls at all times.

As a further assurance, BPI revisited the wording of its controls for quality agreements and identified an opportunity for improvement to present in a more explicit manner the current expectations and practices on this topic. Consequently, BPI has revised SOP IGN-034 "Vendor Management System" in the quality system to clarify the requirements of quality agreements, including the ones that are required for materials and components transitioning from research and development to commercial use. The revised SOP was made effective on 05/18/21 as Revision No. 05; all users of this SOP were part of the review and approval process (refer to Exhibit – 5.7 for a copy of the revised SOP along with the respective change control). BPI believes that clearer instructions on this SOP would contribute to avoid misinterpretations about the need and timeliness of the quality agreements, whenever applicable.

Finally, BPI believes that procedures that defined the type and extent of control to be exercised over vendors and components that were incorporated into the quality system from day one and executed effectively, did not require a quality agreement between BPI and SCHOTT Schweiz AG to be in place since 02/26/19, and that quality agreement between both mentioned firms was already approved on 04/22/21 prior to the release of the associated commercial product, reaffirming that BPI has followed its SOPs and has operational systems to control vendors and components intended for commercial purposes.

Section 2: Sterile Compounding Questions (Use a separate piece of paper if additional space is needed.)

1. What risk level sterile compounding will your facility be performing (check all that apply)? ■ Low ■ Medium ☐ High
If you marked "High", you must also complete section 4.

2. Will you be performing sterile hazardous drug compounding? ☐ Yes ■ No
If you marked "Yes", you must also complete section 3.

3. List the sterile compounded products that you will be compounding for Nevada patients or consumers:
See Attached Product List.

4. Will you be utilizing beyond use dates in excess of USP-797? ■ Yes ☐ No

5. If yes, describe the additional testing performed on your products to validate the extended BUD:
All products have completed stability studies supporting their BUD. Annual stability studies are ongoing and confirm the BUD. Stability studies include a stability indicating method for potency, identification, appearance, pH, visible particles, sub-visible particles, osmolarity, sterility and endotoxin testing.

6. What laboratory performs this additional testing?
Name: Hikma Injectables USA Inc.
Address: 36 Stults Road
City: Dayton State: NJ Zip: 08810
Telephone: 732-380-4440

7. What is your procedure for visual inspection of compounded sterile products?
100% visual inspection is performed by trained and qualified inspectors. They are trained for identifying particles as well as defects, overfill, underfill and leaking. They utilize a black and white box and inspect for 5 seconds on each background. They invert the syringes or bags to look at them from all angles. Visual inspection is followed by an acceptable quality limit or AQL to test a smaller portion of the batch for a second time.

8. How often do you perform glove fingertip and medial fill testing?

Glove fingertip and wrist sampling is performed after the different processes within each batch. Media fill is completed every 6 months for processes and once per year for personnel. Initial qualification requires a triplicate media fill.

9. What is your policy if an employee fails a glove fingertip or media-fill test?

Gloved fingertip as far as a gowning qualification would require a compounder to retrain and requalify. They would not be allowed entry into the cleanroom with a failed gowning qualification. Gloved fingertip sampling that fails during production would cause a rejection in a batch and require an investigation. A failed media fill test would require an investigation, a retraining and a repeat of the media fill before being qualified to compound.

10. Describe your initial and annual training program for all personnel performing sterile compounding:

Personnel who compound are required to complete all SOPs related to gowning and compounding. They are them required to become gown qualified. Upon successful completion of gowning qualification, personnel train in a LAFH utilizing all of the same equipment that is used in the cleanroom. They learns hands on training with a qualified trainer and are required to perform each process first through observation, followed by performing with assistance and finally performing without assistance. Once all requirements are met, personnel participate in a media fill and must pass with no turbid units to be qualified. Initial media fill requirements are to be performed in triplicate. Annual requirements are to complete one media fill per year. Process media fills are required every six months, so technicians often participate in media fills multiple times per year.

11. Describe the cleaning procedure for your primary and secondary engineering controls, including the frequency of cleaning and the names of cleaning, disinfectant, sporicidal, and/or deactivation and decontamination agents used:

The primary engineering controls (ISO 5 laminar airflow hoods) are cleaned on per batch and daily bases. Prior to production use for a batch, the hood and compounding equipment are cleaned with a sporicidal agent (Spor-Klenz RTU®). After the contact time is met, the hood and compounding equipment are again cleaned with sterile 70% isopropyl alcohol before batch processing begins. On a daily basis, the hoods and compounding equipment, as well as accessories, carts, tables, and floors, are cleaned with a phenolic disinfectant (LpH® III st or Vesphene ® III st, depending on the rotation plan). On a weekly basis, the same surfaces plus the walls are cleaned with the phenolic disinfectant. And on a monthly basis, the same surfaces plus the walls and ceilings are cleaned with Spor-Klenz RTU®.

12. Who performs the sterile compounding process at your facility?

Trained and qualified compounders perform the sterile compounding.

13. Who is responsible and accountable for the sterile compounding process at your facility?

The pharmacist in charge is responsible for the sterile compounding process. Quality assurance provides oversight in the cleanroom.

14. If products are shipped/mailed, what shipping conditions are used to ensure product safety/efficacy?

1. All products are packaged with a bubble-wrap liner inside the intermediate carton to ensure the product is not damaged during storage and transit to the customer.
2. Any additional space inside the shipper box is filled with paper filling to ensure no movement of the product during transit.
3. All intermediate cartons for product is sealed with tamper evident tape to ensure if there's any tampering of product it'll be visibly noticeable.
4. The only label visible on the outside of the shipper box is the shipper label (FedEx Label). No labels identifying what is inside the box is present on the outside of the shipper box.

This document lists observations made by the FDA representative(s) during the inspection of your facility. They are inspectional observations, and do not represent a final Agency determination regarding your compliance. If you have an objection regarding an observation, or have implemented, or plan to implement, corrective action in response to an observation, you may discuss the objection or action with the FDA representative(s) during the inspection or submit this information to FDA at the address above. If you have any questions, please contact FDA at the phone number and address above.

DURING AN INSPECTION OF YOUR FIRM WE OBSERVED:

OBSERVATION 1

Aseptic processing areas are deficient regarding the system for monitoring environmental conditions.

Specifically:

1. Your airborne particulate monitoring program for aseptic operations is not designed and conducted to provide meaningful data to support the quality of your drug products intended to be sterile. You do not monitor airborne particulates to ISO 5 air classifications throughout aseptic operations and the orientation of the particle counter isokinetic probe is not directed into the flow of air during monitoring. For example:

   a. On 05/24/2022 during the aseptic filling of Ketamine HCL 50 mg per ml Injection, NDC 63037-137-25, Lot No.: 221430001D in cleanroom 142-6 within ISO 5 Horizontal Laminar Flow Hood No.: GE-CMP-ELH026, we observed that airborne particulate monitoring was performed only one time for approximately one minute during the operation. You do not provide scientific justification for the frequency and duration of airborne particulate monitoring performed during aseptic operations in the critical zone of the ISO 5 Horizontal Laminar Flow Hood.

   b. On 05/24/2022 during the aseptic filling of Ketamine HCL 50 mg per ml Injection, NDC 63037-137-25, Lot No.: 221430001D in cleanroom 142-6 within ISO 5 Horizontal Laminar Flow Hood No.: GE-CMP-ELH026, we observed that the orientation of the particle counter isokinetic probe was not directed into the flow of air during monitoring. The particle counter isokinetic probe was positioned nearly vertically in the horizontal laminar flow hood where the airflow is expected to be horizontal as delivered from the HEPA filter in the back of the hood. You do not provide scientific justification for the observed orientation of the particle counter isokinetic probe.

c. Requirements written in your procedure SOPDTN15162, Routine Non-Viable particle count procedure, Effective 02/28/2022, specify an airborne particulate monitoring frequency of only one time for one minute during each aseptic compounding and filling operation to include pooling, subassembly, and syringe or IV Bag filling. You do not provide scientific justification for this frequency and duration of airborne particulate monitoring performed during aseptic operations in the critical zone of the ISO 5 Horizontal Laminar Flow Hood.

2. On 05/24/2022 during the aseptic filling of Ketamine HCL 50 mg per ml Injection, NDC 63037-137-25, Lot No.: 221430001D in cleanroom 142-6 within ISO 5 Horizontal Laminar Flow Hood No.: GE-CMP-ELH026, we observed that the passive airborne viable monitoring (settling plate) location was adjacent to the HEPA filter face in the back of the hood. You do not provide scientific justification for the observed monitoring location. Your procedure SOPDTN15121, Microbiological Environmental Monitoring of Compounding Department, Effective 02/28/2022, describes the passive airborne viable monitoring (settling plate) location as "Inside LFH, back of the workbench".

OBSERVATION 2

Aseptic processing areas are deficient regarding air supply that is filtered through high-efficiency particulate air filters under positive pressure.

Specifically:

You have not evaluated the airflow pattern in all your ISO 5 Horizontal Laminar Flow Hoods under dynamic conditions simulating every aseptic operation performed in each hood during sterile-to-sterile compounding and aseptic filling of your drug products intended to be sterile.

Inspectional evaluation of your ISO 5 area airflow pattern studies; Document No.: MMFDocDTN15033, Risk Assessment Regarding the Equivalency of the LFH through the process of dynamic smoke studies, Approved Date: 05/26/2022; and List of Commercial Batches Compounded related with hood smoke studies in dynamic, revealed that numerous products/lots were produced during the period 02/22/2022 to the present through aseptic operations performed in ISO 5 Horizontal Laminar Flow Hoods for which there was no direct dynamic airflow pattern evaluation. For example: Fentanyl Citrate 50 mcg/ml (100 mcg per 2 ml) in 0.9% Sodium Chloride Injection, NDC 63037-190-25, Lot No.: 220750002D, Expiry: 07/15/2022, was produced in cleanroom suite 142-7 and filled in ISO 5 Horizontal Laminar Flow Hood No.: GE-CMP-ELH025 which was not directly assessed in an airflow pattern study for the aseptic syringe filling operation.

Furthermore, your dynamic airflow pattern studies performed in ISO 5 Horizontal Laminar Flow Hoods did not consider the condition when the cleanroom suite (housing the ISO 5 Hoods) doors are opened momentarily during aseptic operations.

OBSERVATION 3
An adequate number of batches of each drug product are not tested to determine an appropriate expiration date.

Specifically:
1. Your drug product stability program for commercial drug products labeled with a 120-Day beyond use date (BUD) does not include data from direct testing of those products produced in your facility. To date you have not placed any drug products/lots produced in your facility on a stability testing program. Your stability program and current 120-day BUD for all drug products is based on data derived from testing of stability products/lots produced for this purpose in other facilities.

Dear Mr. Mrak,

We write in response to the FDA 483 observations issued on June 8, 2022, which followed FDA's inspection of the Hikma Injectables USA Inc. compounding outsourcing facility located at 36 Stults Road, Dayton NJ 08810.

The detailed responses to the observations and comments that FDA investigators raised in the FDA 483 form are set forth below. If the agency has any questions, please do not hesitate to contact us. If there are additional explanations or documents the agency needs in order to evaluate our response, we will provide them as quickly as possible.

Hikma 503B values its partnership with FDA and takes great pride in providing high quality, safe, effective, and needed compounded sterile products to the U.S. market. Hikma 503B knows it must be ever vigilant of quality, however, especially as its business evolves and grows. The responses below demonstrate our commitment to quality and compliance and address any and all concerns the agency has about our operations.

I. Company Overview

Hikma Injectables USA Inc. (dba Hikma 503B) is based in Dayton, New Jersey, where it has been in commercial production since December 2021 and has been registered with the FDA as an outsourcing facility since September 2021. At its current facility, it makes single use syringes and IV bag sterile injectable drugs working on one shift 5 days a week. It employs just under 50 people, including approximately 29 in manufacturing operations and approximately 20 in the facility's Quality Organization.

Hikma Pharmaceuticals PLC is the parent company of Hikma Injectables USA Inc. Through various subsidiaries, Hikma Pharmaceuticals operates drug-manufacturing facilities in the United States, Europe, the Middle East, and North Africa. The high-quality drugs made in these facilities are delivered to markets around the world.

II. Manufacturing Operations

Hikma Injectables 503B Dayton facility is a dedicated, purpose-built facility designed to meet FDA requirements, adding segregation and automation as a differentiator within the industry. Hikma's expertise, talent, and engrained commitment to quality ensure our 503B business meets cGMP (Current Good Manufacturing Practice) standards.

Hikma Injectables 503B Dayton sterile compounding facility is dedicated to repackaging sterile-to-sterile injectables into ready-to-administer syringes or IV bags for use in hospitals. The same Quality that has underpinned the manufacture and distribution of hundreds of millions of vials to US hospitals is the basis of Hikma's 503B business.

IV. Response to Observation 1

Observation 1 of the June 8, 2022, FDA 483 states as follows:

Aseptic processing areas are deficient regarding the system for monitoring environmental conditions.

Specifically:

1. Your airborne particulate monitoring program for aseptic operations is not designed and conducted to provide meaningful data to support the quality of your drug products intended to be sterile. You do not monitor airborne particulates to ISO 5 air classification throughout aseptic operations and the orientation of the particulate counter isokinetic probe is not directed into the flow of air during monitoring. For example:

    a. On 05/24/2022 during the aseptic filling of Ketamine HCl 50 mg per mL Injection, NDC 63037-137-25, lot No.: 221430001D in cleanroom 142-6 within ISO 5 Horizontal Laminar Flow Hood No.: GE-CMP-ELH026, we observed that airborne particulate monitoring was performed only one at a time for approximately one minute during the operation. You do not provide scientific justification for the frequency and duration of airborne particulate monitoring performed during aseptic operations in the critical zone of the ISO 5 Horizontal Flow Hood.

    c. Requirements written in your procedure SOPDTN15162, Routine Non-Viable Particle Count Procedure, Effective 02/28/2022, specify an airborne particulate monitoring frequency of only one time for one minute during each aseptic compounding and filling operation to include pooling, subassembly, and syringe or IV Bag filling. You do not provide scientific justification for this frequency and duration of airborne particulate monitoring performed during aseptic operations in the critical zone of the ISO 5 Horizontal laminar Flow Hood.

Hikma's Response to Observations 1, *1a and 1c

For organizational purposes, Observation 1a and 1c have been grouped together, as one speaks to an observed activity and the other speaks to the written procedure on the observed activity.

Hikma Injectables USA Inc. acknowledges that the duration of non-viable particle monitoring is not performed throughout aseptic operations (pooling, sub-assembly and filling), as it is currently performed one time per laminar flow hood for 1 minute duration drawing in 75 liter samples. Therefore, Hikma Injectables USA Inc. evaluated the current process and has updated the procedure to allow for continuous monitoring throughout aseptic operations. To illustrate the corrective measures that were completed, Hikma has made the following procedure updates:

- SOPDTN15162 "Routine Non-Viable Particle Count Procedure" has been revised to reflect the continuous NVP monitoring throughout each of our aseptic processes in the ISO 5 classified areas – See Exhibit #1.

- WIDTN15011 "Non-Viable Particle Monitoring Using an Airborne Particle Counter" has been revised to provide instructions on how to program the portable counter to perform continuous particle monitoring throughout each of our aseptic processes in the ISO 5 classified areas – See Exhibit #2.

  Live, instructor-led training has been provided for technicians who will operate the equipment, as well as technicians who will support the compounding operations to understand the requirements for each laminar airflow hood and compounding suite – See Exhibit #3

- The newly executed smoke studies for the hoods being used in commercial activities included the placement of the NVP monitoring equipment for the entirety of each aseptic process – See Exhibit #4, Exhibit #21 and Exhibit#22.

b. On 05/24/2022 during aseptic filling of Ketamine HCl 50 mg per mL Injection, NDC 63037-137-25, Lot No.: 221430001D in cleanroom 142-6 within ISO 5 horizontal Laminar Flow Hood No.: GE-CMP-ELH026, we observed that the orientation of the particle counter isokinetic probe was not directed into the flow of air during monitoring. The particle counter isokinetic probe was positioned nearly vertically in the horizontal laminar flow hood where the airflow is expected to be horizontal as delivered from the HEPA filter in the back of the hood. You do not provide scientific justification for the observed orientation of the particle counter isokinetic probe.

Hikma's Response to Observation 1, *1b

Hikma Injectables USA Inc. acknowledges that the orientation of the isokinetic probe of the NVP monitoring equipment throughout aseptic operations (pooling, sub-assembly and filling), as it was observed to be nearly vertical in the horizontal laminar airflow hood. Therefore, Hikma Injectables USA Inc. evaluated the current process and has updated the procedures to define an optimized orientation of the isokinetic probe to be directed toward the airflow. To illustrate the corrective measures that were completed, Hikma has made the following updates:

- SOPDTN15162 "Routine Non-Viable Particle Count Procedure" has been revised to reflect the orientation of the isokinetic probe of the NVP monitoring equipment throughout each of our aseptic processes in the ISO 5 classified areas – See Exhibit #1

- WIDTN15011 "Non-Viable Particle Monitoring Using an Airborne Particle Counter" has been revised to provide clarification of the verbiage as well as a picture of the correct orientation of the isokinetic probe of the NVP monitoring equipment for continuous monitoring throughout each of our aseptic processes in the ISO 5 classified areas – See Exhibit #2.

- Live, instructor-led training has been provided for technicians who will operate the equipment, as well as technicians who will support the compounding operations to understand the requirements for each laminar airflow hood and compounding suite – See Exhibit #3

- The newly executed smoke studies included the placement of the NVP monitoring equipment with the correct orientation of the isokinetic probe of the NVP monitoring equipment for the entirety of each aseptic process – See Exhibit #4, Exhibit #21 and Exhibit#22.

2. On 05/24/2022 during the aseptic filling of Ketamine HCl 50 mg per mL Injection, NDC 63037-137-25, Lot No.: 221430001D in cleanroom 142-6 within ISO 5 Horizontal Laminar Flow hood No.: GE-CMP-ELH026, we observed that the passive airborne viable monitoring (settling plate) location was adjacent to the HEPA filter face in the back of the hood. You do not provide scientific justification for the observed monitoring location. Your procedure SOPDTN15121, Microbiological Environmental Monitoring of Compounding Department, Effective 02/28/2022, describes the passive airborne viable monitoring (settling plate) location as "Inside LFH, back of the workbench".

Hikma's Response to Observation 1, *2

Hikma Injectables USA Inc. acknowledges the placement of the passive airborne viable monitoring (settle plate) inside the ISO 5 hood was adjacent to the HEPA filter for the aseptic operations (pooling, sub-assembly and filling). The current location is around 6 inches away from the HEPA filter close to where the aseptic operations occur (as presented in the picture below), in a hood with 22 inches in depth.

(*extracted from MMFDocDTN15036 – Exhibit#10)

The location of the passive airborne viable monitoring (settle plate) was chosen to be close the aseptic operations, and due to the limited space, the location was chosen to be in its current position. Hikma Injectables USA Inc. evaluated the current process and has added a second location for a passive airborne viable monitoring (settle plate) to pooling and final container filling processes to ensure passive air monitoring coverage of all critical sites inside the ISO 5 hoods (Figure 2 and 3a and 3b). For the sub-assembly process, based on the location of the critical site, only 1 plate will be used to capture the critical connection while allowing for placement of the particle counter (Figure 4).

Therefore, Hikma 503B has updated the procedures to include specific pictures (as above) as well as more detailed description on the location of the passive air monitoring (settle plates) depending on the process. The detailed description ensures comprehensive instructions to avoid positioning the plates too close to the HEPA filter in the ISO 5 hood. To illustrate the corrective measures that were completed, Hikma has made the following updates:

- SOPDTN15121 "Microbiological Environmental Monitoring of Compounding Department" has been revised to define and illustrate the location of the settling plates for each of our aseptic processes in the ISO 5 classified areas – See Exhibit #5.

- Live, instructor-led training has been provided for technicians who will place the settling plates, as well as technicians who will support the compounding operations to understand the settling plate requirements for each laminar airflow hood and compounding suite – See Exhibit #6

- The newly executed smoke studies included the placement of the settling plates for the entirety of each aseptic process – See Exhibit #4, Exhibit #21 and Exhibit#22..

V. Response to Observation 2

Observation 2 of the June 8, 2022, FDA 483 states as follows:

Aseptic processing areas are deficient regarding air supply that is filtered through high-efficiency particulate air filters under positive pressure.

Specifically:

You have not evaluated the airflow pattern in all your ISO 5 Horizontal Laminar Flow Hoods under dynamic conditions simulating every aseptic operation performed in each hood during sterile-to-sterile compounding and aseptic filling of your drug products intended to be sterile.

Inspectional evaluation of your ISO 5 area airflow pattern studies; Document No.: MMFDocDTN15033, Risk Assessment Regarding the Equivalency of the LFH through the process of dynamic smoke studies, Approved Date: 05/26/2022; and List of Commercial Batches Compounded related with hood smoke studies in dynamic, revealed that numerous products/lots were produced during the period 02/22/2022 to the present through aseptic operations performed in ISO 5 Horizontal Laminar Flow Hoods for which there was no direct dynamic airflow pattern evaluation. For example, Fentanyl Citrate 50 mcg/mL (100 mcg per 2 mL) in 0.9% Sodium Chloride Injection, NDC 63037-190-25, Lot No.: 220750002D, Expiry: 07/15/2022, was produced in cleanroom suite 142-7 and filled in ISO 5 Horizontal Laminar Flow Hood No.: GE-CMP-ELH025 which was not directly assessed in an airflow pattern study for the aseptic syringe filling operation.

Furthermore, your dynamic airflow pattern studies performed in ISO 5 Horizontal Laminar Flow Hoods did not consider the condition when the cleanroom suite (housing the ISO 5 Hoods) doors are opened momentarily during aseptic operations.

Hikma's Response to Observation 2

Hikma Injectables USA Inc. acknowledges the dynamic smoke studies were not performed for all the ISO 5 laminar airflow hoods for all the aseptic operations (pooling, sub-assembly and filling). When considering the rationale for the execution of dynamic smoke studies, Hikma Injectables USA Inc. decided not to perform the dynamic studies for all processes per ISO5 hoods simulating all interventions and utilized a bracketing approach for the following reasons:

- Hikma 503B performed static smoke studies for all ISO5 hoods and demonstrated equivalency of performance as per Exhibit #7 (MMFDocDTN15033 "Risk Assessment Regarding the Equivalency of the LFH through the process of dynamic smoke studies");

- The interventions performed on the hoods are, as per Exhibit #8 (MMFDocDTN15039 "Report on the Equivalence of the Aseptic Operations Simulated During Smoke Test") considered equivalent as per the equivalency intervention list (ReportDTN15001 "Media Fill Program Design Rational – Hikma Injectables USA" – Exhibit#9)

- The set-up of the compounding processes in the hood for those interventions are considered equivalent. As part of the initial dynamic smoke studies, Hikma 503B demonstrated dynamic smoke studies for at least one of aseptic processes and/or interventions in each hood as per the Risk Assessment for the aseptic operations equivalency (exhibit#8) to conclude that these interventions will not affect the direction of the air and does not cause turbulence that might affect the sterility assurance of the products compounded.

As a corrective measure, CAPA-0027/22 (Exhibit#23) was initiated to perform dynamic smoke studies for all compounding sub-processes in all of the ISO 5 laminar airflow hoods to demonstrate the effectiveness of the bracketing approach Hikma used for the initial dynamic smoke studies as part of the room qualification. Hikma immediately executed smoke studies starting with the qualified rooms that will be used in production. Smoke studies were performed from 23May2022 through 27May2022 incorporating the placement of the isokinetic probe facing the HEPA filter for the entirety of the processes. Additionally, the smoke studies included the new settle plate locations which incorporated the additional plate per process, where sufficient room and critical locations dictated. CAPA-0027/22 has been extended to include the remaining rooms incorporating a new process utilizing and automatic compounding device (ACD) for the sub-assembly process.

Although the ISO 5 aseptic compounding suite doors were opened and closed during the initial dynamic smoke studies, Hikma 503B did not include the opening and closing of the compounding suite doors as a measured parameter and did not record the activity. As an additional corrective measure, Hikma 503B included recording the compounding suite door activity as part of the newly executed smoke studies. A separate recording of the doors of the compounding suites was incorporated into the process and saved to the files to demonstrate the frequent opening and closing of the doors to the compounding suites (Exhibit#22). See Exhibit #4 for a summary of the scope of the dynamic smoke studies. Hikma has included Exhibits #21E1.1 through Exhibits #21E2.5 as an example for suite 142-7, to demonstrate the newly executed smoke studies as well as the open door effect to the compounding process, seen in

Exhibits #22A through Exhibit #22F. Exhibit#21 summarizes all the smoke studies performed per hood presenting the individual records that demonstrate that smoke tests have been performed for all the hoods covering all the manual aseptic processes, environmental monitoring and doors open/close activities.

Impact on the marketed compounded products in response to observation 1 and 2

Hikma recognizes the FDA's concerns regarding the environmental monitoring program combined with the lack of smoke studies performed for every aseptic process in every laminar airflow hood. Based on the environmental monitoring and smoke study observations noted in the FDA form 483, the products that were produced in the Hikma 503B Dayton facility were reassessed to evaluate the impact on their quality. A risk assessment (MMFDocDTN15036, "Risk Assessment Report on the Released Batches at Hikma Injectables USA Inc") was made using the Failure Modes Effect Analysis Methodology ("FMEA") and has been submitted as Exhibit #10. Table 1 below summarizes the risk assessment performed to the commercial released products.

Additionally, a risk assessment report for hood equivalence (Exhibit #7) as well as a comparison of the aseptic operations simulated during smoke test (Exhibit #8) has been performed. These reports allow to conclude the hoods are equivalent in terms of performance and the risk of producing different results during aseptic operations is low. Additionally, the reports illustrate that the manual aseptic interventions employed are equivalent for pooling, the subassembly process, and final container filling (supported by the "Media Fill Program Design Rational" ReportDTN15001 - Exhibit #9) Lastly, the reports indicate the smoke tests performed to cover one process in a certain hood can be extrapolated to cover the other processes in the same hood.

Furthermore, an engineering study comparing the orientation of the isokinetic probes was executed to determine if there was a significant difference in a vertical and horizontal positioning of the isokinetic probe. The results of this study have been incorporated into the risk assessment for release of products. The engineering study (VLDRepDTN15005 "Report for Study of the Orientation of the Non-Viable Particle Counter Isokinetic Probes in Horizontal LFH") has been included as Exhibit #11.

Moreover, the engineering study performed confirms that the non-viable particle counter orientation did not have an impact on data collected during dynamic conditions inside the ISO 5 environment. The evaluation performed assures with 95% confidence level, that there is no statistically significant difference between the particle counts collected by a horizontally or vertically oriented isokinetic probe demonstrating the commercial batches compounded in ISO 5 are not negatively impacted.

The recovery rates from the period of 18th of February and 26th of May were trended. During this period, 523 active air samples were taken (zero recoveries) , 620 passive air samples were measured (1 CFU recovered on one sample) , and 547 contact surfaces were sampled (zero recoveries) making a total of 1690 samples taken with zero recoveries, except one passive air recovered. This supports that the controls in place are effective in creating a controlled aseptic environment to support sterile filling operation (for more details please refer to table 1 and table 2 page 12 of Exhibit # 10).

Based on the data above, the risk assessment, and the engineering study that was performed (Exhibit#10), it could be concluded that all current environmental engineering controls that are in place indicates that sterility assurance of the products produced at Hikma Injectables USA Inc. was not compromised.

Table 1 – Summary of the Risk Assessment on the Release of Commercial Batches compounded at Hikma Dayton 503B.

| Risk Assessment | | Risk Control | |

All materials / components used in compounding activities are bought sterile and procedures are in place to control those materials since arrival until final used in the compounding activities. | No impact |
| Process Time Limitations | Absence of process time limitations for personnel and materials/components inside the classified / critical areas compromise Sterility Assurance and hence products will be deemed nonsterile | Manual Aseptic Processes (MAP) are dependent on personnel and are critical. Process time limitations was determined for the critical processes such as Operator Fatigue and clean hold times of materials / components. These times were validated through Media Fill and the quality systems implemented assures that these times are verified for each batch being released. | No Impact |
| Manual Aseptic Processes (MAP) | MAP is not validated compromise Sterility Assurance hence products will be deemed nonsterile | MAP is performed in qualified classified areas using equipment that went through a thorough qualification process. All material / components in direct contact with the product are bought sterile and are released by QA prior to use. Configuration of equipment inside the critical area (hood ISO 5) is defined and it was challenge through Media Fill and dynamic smoke tests. No impact was seen on the sterility assurance of the operations. | No Impact |

Bacterial endotoxin and sterility following methods described in Sterility Test <71> and Bacterial Endotoxins Test <85>, are applied to each compounded batch before the release. Suitability of the methods was verified for the compounded sterile preparations produced in Hikma Injectables USA Inc. Each batch is released by Quality after thorough review of the batch documentation. | No Impact |

VI. Response to Observation 3

Observation 3 of the June 9, 2022, FDA 483 states as follows:

An adequate number of batches of each drug product are not tested to determine an appropriate expiration date.

Specifically:

1. Your drug product stability program for commercial drug products labeled with a 120-Day beyond use date (BUD) does not include data from direct testing of those products produced in your facility. To date you have not placed any drug products/lots produced in your facility on a stability testing program. Your stability program and current 120-day BUD for all drug products is based on data derived from testing of stability products/lots produced for this purpose in other facilities.

A stability program was developed for each compounded product to be produced at Hikma Injectables USA Inc., by Hikma's Pharmaceutical Development teams that are located in Hikma Pharmaceuticals Injectable facility, located in United States, Cherry Hill (south west of Dayton) and in Hikma Farmacêutica (Portugal), S.A located in Sintra, Portugal (EC country) sister companies, to establish the period during which the quality and safety characteristics of compounded product are ensured (BUD) and at which storage conditions.

The premises employed in the stability program carried out by each distinct Development team, hence in distinct facilities, followed the exact same approach and strategy, which means:

- Mimic the same conditions and environment as settled for the compounding of the commercial batches;
- Simulate the same compounding process steps as the ones defined for the production of the commercial compounded products;
- Use the same components and materials or equivalent to the ones that will be employed for the commercial compounded products;
- Use equivalent qualified equipment to support the activities;
- Perform testing using the same validated methods that will be afterwards used to analyze the commercial compounded product against release specification.

A Risk Assessment Report on the Factors Affecting BUD Determination for the Products Manufacturing at Hikma Injectables USA Inc. (MMFDocDTN15037) was performed (exhibit #12). The risk assessment concluded that the critical factors affecting BUD are the primary packaging materials, storage conditions, materials used in compounding process, filling equipment and testing methods and these critical parameters do not depend on if the study was performed in a certain physical location or not.

A summary of the risk assessment is presented in the table 2 below:

Table 2 – Side-by side Comparison of the factors affecting BUD determination and its impact on the current process at Hikma Dayton 503B (extracted from Exhibit#12).

| Risk Assessment | | Risk Control | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | | Side-by-side Comparison | | Impact on BUD Determination | Assessment |
| Factors Affecting the BUD Determination | Failure Mode (Risk Identification) | Hikma sites | Hikma Dayton 503B | | |
| Primary Packaging components in which compounded drug is stored (container closure) | Interaction with the product resulting in a product that does not meet quality attributes. | As per Table 1 (Exhibit#12) components used in Hikma sites are the same for syringes, IV Bags and capping seals. | As per Table 1 (Exhibit#12) components used in Hikma Compounding center are the same for syringes, IV Bags and capping seals. | No impact | The same components that come in direct contact with the product, hence if a study was performed in one site, it does not need to be repeated to redetermine the BUD in another site. |
| Disposable components that come in direct contact with the compounded product | Interaction with the components that might affect the physiochemical properties of the compounded drug resulting in a product that does not meet quality attributes. | As per Table 3 (Exhibit#12) components used in Hikma sites (tubes, intermediate bags and needles) are made of the same material and are equivalent to the ones used in Hikma Compounding Center. | As per Table 3 (Exhibit#12) components used in Hikma Compounding Center (tubes, intermediate bags and needles) are made of the same material and are equivalent to the ones used in Hikma\ Injectables, USA. | No impact | Components used in the compounding of the stability lots were from the same type of the ones used in the commercial batches; there is no impact of doing the studies in different Hikma sites. |
| Storage conditions | Do not store compounded drug as per stated in ICH to evaluate the effect on the storage conditions on the physiochemical properties of the compounded drug might result in a product not meeting quality attributes. | As per Table 4 (Exhibit#12) long term conditions were applied to the compounded products having in consideration the type of container closure: 25°C ± 2°C / 60% ±5%RH 25°C ± 2°C / 40% ±5%RH* | N/A | No Impact | As per ICH the site and location where the storage conditions are taken place does not have an impact in the quality of the compounded drugs, as they met the defined criteria established in the guidance. |
| Filling process, capping and filling equipment | Filling equipment might affect the physiochemical properties of the drug resulting in a product that does not meet quality attributes. | There is no filling machines involved other than peristaltic pumps to push the product into the components. | There is no filling machines involved other than peristaltic pumps to push the product into the components. | No impact | Supporting equipment used was from the same brand and model or similar. |
| Testing methods | Methods that are not robust to determine the physiochemical properties of the compounded drugs resulting in a product that does not meet quality attributes. | Analytical methods were developed and validated in Hikma Sites. | The methods validated in Hikma Sites were transferred to Hikma Compounding Center, as per approved protocols | No impact | The same method is used and technically transferred into Hikma Dayton 503B compounding Center. |

* Long term conditions for drug products packaged in semi-permeable containers

The stability studies were performed using the same components (i.e. tubes, sub-assembly bags, etc) and exact same container closure that the commercial compounded batches were filled in. The compounding process does not involve any machine that might affect the stability of the batch and only supportive equipment is used to fill in the compounded products into either IV bags or syringes (e.g. peristaltic pumps). Therefore, Hikma has demonstrated that the factors, which are container closure and storage conditions, that are affecting the BUD determination have been studied and support the BUD dating proposed.

As a commitment, Hikma Injectables USA Inc. will be placing batches of commercial products that are compounded at Hikma Injectables USA Inc. on stability.

2. Your drug product stability program for commercial drug products labeled with a 120-Day beyond use date (BUD) does not include testing of container closure integrity at or beyond the labeled BUD. For example: your Report# 2021-038RA1, Compounding development and stability report for 50 mcg/mL Fentanyl Citrate Injection (PF) for the Dayton Outsourcing Facility does not include container closure integrity results for a timepoint at or beyond the labeled 120-day BUD.

Hikma Injectables USA Inc. acknowledges the container closure integrity tests (CCIT) performed as part of stability was not performed on aged product. Container closure studies were performed for each container represented in the product portfolio using Sterile Water for Injection. Additionally, Hikma completed sterility at the last timepoint of each stability study with no positive growth, indicating the integrity of the containers was maintained. Additionally, Hikma performed freeze-thaw studies on every stability batch. These results were all conforming, indicating all the physiochemical properties were maintained.

As for the CCIT, although the CCIT was demonstrated by sterility testing at the end of the BUD, Hikma performed CCIT leak testing on aged samples beyond the BUD dating from the stability lots as per protocol TestProtDTN15007 (exhibit #13) and all samples met the acceptance criteria (exhibit #14 TRDTN15016 "Container Closure System Integrity Study Report on post BUD Product"). Furthermore, Hikma has developed protocol TestProtDTN15008, which defines the testing plan for products reaching their BUD from batches produced since the facility was released for commercial production (see Exhibit #15). This protocol will be executed between June 2022 and September 2022.

Hikma is committed to perform CCIT as well as full physiochemical, sterility and LAL testing for commercial lots as part of the annual stability program, as demonstrated in SOPDTN15283, Guidelines for Annual Stability for 503B Products (see Exhibit #16).

The risk assessment below (Table 3) was performed to identify the current controls in place to assure Container Closure System Integrity (CCSI) on the commercial batches.

Comment 2: Adverse Events SOP Missing the following: Reporting Adverse events to the FDA using online portal. Center Reference 21 CFR 310.305.

As requested by the Agency, Hikma has revised our U.S. Pharmacovigilance SOPUSPV 001 "Collection, Processing, and Submission of Adverse Events and Other Safety Reports" (Exhibit#18), to include additional specificity regarding adverse event reporting for 503B compounded drugs.

The Hikma U.S. Pharmacovigilance SOP covers adverse event reporting to FDA for all products marketed in the US. This is inclusive of New Drug Applications (NDA), Abbreviated New Drug Applications (ANDA) Over-the-counter (OTC) products and 503B Compounded Drugs (Human Drug Compounding Outsourcing Facilities under Section 503B of the FD&C Act).

Please note the more significant revisions and updates to the sections below:

- References Section
- Definitions Section
- Table 2 within the SOP defining timelines

References: Originally this SOP include referenced to 21 CFR 310.305 as this is the governing regulation for adverse event reporting of 503B compounded drugs. To strengthen the reference section of this SOP regarding 503B compounded drugs, we have added the following additional references:

- Adverse Event Reporting for Outsourcing Facilities Under Section 503B of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act dated October 2015
- Guidance or Industry - Providing Submissions in Electronic Format — Post marketing Safety Reports dated April 2022

Reference to the guidance "Providing Submissions in Electronic Format — Post marketing Safety Reports dated April 2022" is included as this is the Agency's most current process for the electronic submission of post marketing safety reports. The Agency states that this guidance document is applicable to human drugs compounded under section 503B of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

3. Definitions: This section was updated as follows to add a specific definition for 503B Individual Case safety report (ICSR) following

3.25 503B Individual Case safety report (ICSR)
A description of an adverse drug experience related to an individual patient or subject, formatted for electronic submission to the Agency in xml format via the US FDA Adverse Event Reporting System (FAERS) via the Electronic Submissions Gateway) (ESG) [synonym: ADE case or cases]. All 503B ICSRs will be processed as 15-day reports.

503B

As recommended in the guidance Adverse Event Reporting for Outsourcing Facilities Under Section 503B of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, Hikma will be reporting all valid Adverse Events regarding our 503B compounded drugs as expedited 15-day reports. These reports will be electronically submitted in XML format to the FDA Adverse Event Reporting System (FAERS) database through the Electronic Submissions Gateway (ESG).

Table 2 from USPVSOP 001: Submission timelines and requirements: The table was updated to add a row dedicated to 503B products indicating that all reports are 15-day expedited and submitted in XML to the FDA Adverse Event Reporting System (FAERS) database via ESG pursuant to the Guidance for Industry - Providing Submissions in Electronic Format — Postmarketing Safety Reports.

Response to Comment 3

Comment 3: Syringe Product labels are missing a complete statement: " This is a compounded drug" - instead it says "compounded drug"

Hikma Injectables USA (herein referred to as "Hikma") acknowledges FDA's concern regarding the primary labels on our syringe products missing the complete statement "This is a compounded drug". Instead, they are labeled as "Compounded Drug" on the primary label with the full statement, "This is a Compounded Drug" on the secondary packaging label. Hikma is committed to taking all actions necessary to ensure that our product labels comply with FDA requirements, and we are steadfast in our determination to meet our commitment. As a corrective action, Hikma has performed a full inventory of all labeled products, labels that we have in our current inventory, and labels that are in-transit to the Dayton facility that are impacted (see Table 4). Additionally, Hikma has placed a SHIP - HOLD on all in-transit syringe labels to the facility that are also impacted (see Table 4).

Corrective Actions

Hikma has initiated CAPA-032/22 (Exhibit#24) (revision of primary syringe labels to include the complete statement "This is a compounded drug") to address FDA concern. The CAPA is currently in the investigation and data gathering phase. Per CAPA-032/22 (Exhibit#24), Hikma will evaluate the syringe label design, procedure, form, and approval process at the Dayton facility to ensure that the quality system is fully compliant with the requirement per section 503b(a)(10)(A)(i) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FD&C Act). Specifically, Hikma will ensure that procedures are addressed to ensure that there is no repeat observation of the labeling concern.

In-lieu of the completed CAPA, below is a summary of key actions taken after the observation, demonstrating that Hikma is fully committed to addressing the label issues identified by FDA.

1. Hikma label design and approval process optimized

   We have added a checklist (Form FPDTN15252) to the label approval process to ensure all primary and secondary packaging labels are fully compliant with the requirement per 503b(a)(10)(A)(i) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FD&C Act). The checklist will be required to be executed by Operations, the Pharmacist-in-Charge, and Quality. See Exhibit#19.

2. Labels on-hand

   To address the concern for the labels we currently have in the facility, Hikma has committed to the agency to revise all 26 primary labels by end of Q4 2022 (December 31, 2022). In parallel to this commitment, we have ensured that all secondary labels have the full statement, "This is a compounded drug," on each labeled product.

3. In-transit labels

   Significantly, we have taken the immediate action of communicating to our label vendor to cease production of all syringe labels until further notice. Furthermore, we have directed the vendor not to ship any label in-transit that is missing the words "This is a" from the statement "compounded drug". As a corrective action included in CAPA-032/22 (Exhibit#24), for the impacted syringe labels, we will revise the label proofs to include the complete statement "This is a compounded drug".

Product Impact Assessment

1. An initial assessment of the label concern was performed. The assessment determined that the issue was limited to only the primary labels for syringe products. However, for those impacted products, it was confirmed that the secondary product labeling contains the complete statement "This is a compounded drug".
2. As of June 15, 2022, a total of 26 syringe product labels are on-hand at the Dayton facility. Five (5) of the 26 products have gone through labeling processing with the products available to the market.
3. As of June 15, 2022, a total of three (3) of the impacted products have been shipped (totaling 1,300 units).

Interim and Long-Term Commitment

Hikma has taken this opportunity to initiate CAPA-032/22 (Exhibit#24) to update all the syringe labels to fully comply with the requirement per section 503b(a)(10)(A)(i) of the FD&C Act.

Commitment Timeline:

1. Hikma shall proceed with distribution of those 26 syringe products. Hikma commits that by end of Q4 for the calendar year 2022, all Hikma Injectables, USA syringe labels will be revised to include the complete statement "This is a compounded drug". Any inventory of the impacted labels not yet depleted by the end of Q4 2022 shall be destroyed.
2. All new syringe labels that have not already been received into our inventory system will have the label proof design revised to include the complete statement "This is a compounded drug".

Any NO responses from State regarding the inspection or any that received a YES or U but had a comment noted by an inspector that PQ Pharmacy could further clarify will be addressed within this document.

(See Attachment A for State Inspection Sheet).

1. Received a NO

| State Inspection: Investigations include findings, conclusion and follow-upState Comment: "DEV2022019 - OOS Potency of Prednisolone Sodium Phosphate 1%/Moxifloxacin HCl 0.5%/Bromfenac Sodium Sesquihydrate 0.09% - no indication that the lot was not released. Batch Record states batch was not released". |

This specific lot was associated with two separate deviations. Deviation DEV2022019 noted by the State Inspector was regarding the preliminary low potency result. ARL (third party lab) opened an OOS investigation and it was noted that the preliminary result was incorrect and was due to a lab error; deviation was closed on 14Apr2022 (Attachment B).

This lot was also associated with Deviation DEV2022027, opened 18Apr2022. This deviation was opened to document the non-viable particle counters not working at the time of aseptic filling of this lot. It is documented within this deviation record that due to the inability to recover non-viable data during aseptic filling operations, the batch was not released for sale (Attachment C).

2. Received a NO

| State Inspection: Personnel have been periodically trained in core competencies; visual observation is conducted to confirm personnel have necessary skills (I.e., Hand hygiene and garbing, aseptic manipulations, cleaning and disinfecting.State Comment: BM support production personnel unable to demonstrate proper aseptic technique- did not sanitize gloved hands with sIPA prior to reaching in from the side and removing finished droptainers containing Prednisolone/Moxifloxacin HCl/Bromfenac, specifically, LOT: PMB110722IJ. |

During dosing of ophthalmic solutions, specifically lot PMB110722IJ, the support operator's role is to assist the two operators filling and capping in the ISO 5 by wiping/shedding in supplies and removing the filled/capped droptainers from the ISO 5, thus limiting the operators directly involved in the critical aseptic manipulations from entering and exiting the PEC multiple times. This technique has been qualified at minimum in triplicate with the same personnel during media fill simulations; all resulting in passing results.

Units are pulled from the beginning, middle and end of the filling process; this ensures uniformity throughout the entirety of the batch. These units are used for Sterility testing samples per SOP S700400 Sampling of In-Process Bulk and Final Products (Attachment D). Sterility testing results for lot PMB110722IJ were sterile (Attachment E).

While the operator failed to follow proper aseptic technique when entering the ISO 5, the droptainers that the Inspector witnessed BM removing from the hood were completely sealed.

A training session was performed by Operations Supervisor with operator BM on proper aseptic technique includes spraying hands EVERY time you are entering the ISO 5 whether you are acting as support or directly involved in the filling process. In addition to spraying hands, Operations Supervisor reviewed when and how often glove changes should be performed (Attachment F).

After a retraining session was performed, on 11Nov2022 operator BM was performing support duties under the direct supervision of the Quality Manager during filling operations of Lot: PMB110922IJ.An observation was documented by Quality Manager (Attachment G).

3. Received a NO

State Inspection: Certifications of primary and secondary engineering controls are current and are conducted under dynamic, worst-case conditions with the maximum number of personnel allowed per SOP present.
State Comment: Certifications: Medrep Sept 19-23,2022 not completed under dynamic conditions. Prior certification in March 2022- conducted under dynamic conditions for smoke study. Medrep 11/1/2022 - conducted under dynamic conditions, but preliminary report does not specify the number of personnel that were present – this must be completed per policy every 6 months. SOP does not specify the worst-case dynamic conditions with the maximum number of personnel present.

During semi-annual certification of the ISO Classified areas Medrep failed to perform non-viable dynamic testing and had to reschedule to come back to perform dynamic testing (11/01). The report for the dynamic non-viable testing that Medrep provided noted the particle counts but did not include the number of personnel present during sample. A change request was submitted to revise SOP S117000 Smoke Studies and Certification of ISO Classified Areas to include that the Medrep or other qualified third-party vendor shall include the number of personnel present at the time of sampling and also to state the maximum validated number of personnel for ISO 7 areas is 5 operators (Attachment H).

4. Received a NO

State Inspection: The facility has validated the effectiveness of the cleaning solutions
State Comment: No validation for 10-minute dwell time of Spor Klenz or Vesta Syde; Chamber brite for equipment. Cleaning effectiveness studies in-process with Focus Labs.

During commissioning stages of PQ Pharmacy facility, cleaning along with environmental monitoring took place to evaluate the effectiveness of the chosen cleaning agents along with our written cleaning procedure. The data collected from the study and provided literature from Steris, was used as justification in the cleaning effectiveness until our annual collection and review of facility specific microbial recoveries could take place.

On 16Nov2022, SOP S302002 Facility Cleaning and Maintenance was revised to replace the 10-minute contact time with 30-minute contact time pending DET study completion (Attachment I).

On 04Nov2022, a quote was signed with qualified third-party lab, FOCUS Laboratories for a DET study (Attachment J); evaluating PQ Pharmacy's selected antimicrobial cleaning agents (Sporklenz, Vesta Syde SQ and sIPA), contact times, facility specific surfaces and organisms.

Estimated completion of the DET study 4-6 weeks.

| State Inspection: Endotoxin testing is conducted on all batchesState Comment: Endotoxin testing on Mitomycin Irrigation Solution and not Ophthalmic Drops |

Endotoxin Testing is performed on all irrigations and injectable drug products produced at PQ Pharmacy. Endotoxin <85> testing is not performed on topical ophthalmic drops; specifically, Prednisolone Sodium Phosphate/ Moxifloxacin HCL/Bromfenac 1%/0.5%/0.09% Ophthalmic Drops (PMB) and Prednisolone Sodium Phosphate/ Moxifloxacin HCL 1%/0.5% Ophthalmic Drops (PMO). PQ Pharmacy PMB/PMO ophthalmic drops are not labeled and nonpyrogenic. Additionally, FDA Guidance references USP Chapter <771> ophthalmic Products, Quality Tests stating that typically, endotoxin testing is not required for topically administered ophthalmic products (page 25 of Current Good Manufacturing Practice – Guidance for Human Drug Compounding Outsourcing Facilities Under Section 503B) (Attachment M).

| State Inspection: Batch production and control records are accurate and complete.State Comment: Multiple batch records for PMB1/0.5/0.09 calculation page on page 11 of 16: total volume made is changed all calculations changed. Material used in process- batch record does not include all items, manually documented. Master batch record has been changed total volume compounded blank.PMB 1/0.5/0.09 5.6mL - lot PMB102522IJ, pg 15 of 16 Post Qualification count not documented.Media Fill TSB072121MM and TSB062322SV-BR states monoject, however BD syringes were used and this was not corrected. |

At the time of the State Inspection, batch records had a change request in process to revise the calculations page so that the batch size and proceeding calculations are left blank to eliminate the cross throughs if a different volume is being produced; example (Attachment N).

Additionally, the materials pages of the batch records were revised to add additional blank spaces in the materials section for operators to document any additional supplies used.

In reference to the Post Qualification page, this section of the batch record lacked uniformity as to what number shall be documented on the count line – some cases the total number of units after testing units were pulled was documented, other cases the total number of dosed units was documented. Moving forward the total number of units dosed prior to any units being pulled for retains, rejects or testing will be the count documented.

A typographical error was discovered in the Pump to Syringe Media Fill Protocol; in the filling section of the protocol the materials table included prepopulated manufacturer of the syringes used incorrectly as Monoject, when BD syringes were actually used. Operators were still documenting the correct BD lot umber of the syringes used in the media fill – but not all were correcting the prepopulated "monoject" to "BD". The Pump to Syringe protocol was revised to remove Monoject from the materials sections; example (Attachment O).

Quality System

OBSERVATION 1

The quality control unit lacks authority to review production records to assure that no errors have occurred and fully investigate errors that have occurred.

The quality control unit (QCU) did not fully investigate laboratory test results before releasing finished drug products.

Specifically,

A. Your firm did not have a validated test method for assay testing of your drug products, Prednisolone Sodium Phosphate/Moxifloxacin HCL/Bromfenac 1%/0.5%/0.09% and Prednisolone Sodium Phosphate/Moxifloxacin HCL 1%/0.5% ophthalmic solutions before release and distribution of final product. Lot PMO41322SV assigned no beyond use date (BUD) was used for your third-party test method validation for both ophthalmic solutions that was completed on 10/27/2022. Prior to 10/27/2022, the following lots were distributed to customers with final assay results using an unvalidated test method:

- PMB041922SV 8.6mL starting on 05/16/2022- 10 units
- PMB060322SV 5.6mL starting on 07/06/2022- 273 units
- PMB072522SV 5.6mL starting on 08/10/2022- 921 units

B. The quality control unit (QCU) did not fully investigate the low potency assay test result of an in process drug sample and the high potency assay test result for the finished drug product sample of mitomycin 1 mg/ml (40 mg/40 ml) syringes for bladder irrigation before the release of the batch for use in patients. The in-process sample consisting of one 10 ml syringe containing 5 ml contract lab test result under lab # 821095 was obtained following an unwritten high performance/pressure liquid chromatography (HPLC) test method for mitomycin 1mg/ml (40 mg/40ml) syringes for bladder irrigation lot MIT030722MM beyond use date (BUD) 6/5/2022 for assay and was out of the specification 90 % - 120 % as follows:

- 88.0 % on 3/9/2022
- 80.4 % on 3/18/2022
- 79.9 % on 3/18/2022

Based on the in-process test result 88.0 % obtained on 3/9/2022 the bulk in process mitomycin 1mg/ml in (40 mg/40 ml) syringes for bladder irrigation lot MIT030722MM BUD 6/5/2022 was adjusted and reworked on 3/16/2022 with 0.539 g of mitomycin C USP bulk drug substance lot AD191102AV. This batch was assigned the adjusted lot number MIT030722MM-R and resubmitted for finished product testing. The finished product sample consisted of nine 50 ml syringes each containing 40 mg/40 ml of mitomycin (1mg/ml) lot MIT030722MM-R BUD "5/6/2022" under the lab # 824079.

Specifically,

Your firm compounded Prednisolone Sodium Phosphate/Moxifloxacin HCL 1%/0.5%/mL Ophthalmic Solution Lot number: PMO052622SV on May 26, 2022, into a filtered bulk bag and held it for 13 days before filing into its finished form (droptainers) on June 8, 2022. Your firm's established hold time for this drug product is 8 days. This discrepancy was not identified by anyone including your quality unit and no investigation was performed. Additionally, operator SV who performed the manufacturing of this compound was only qualified for 7 days according to your media fill hold time study. This batch was released by your quality unit on July 01, 2022 for sale but was not distributed due to no client need before its product expiration date.

Laboratory Control System

OBSERVATION 3
An adequate number of batches of each drug product are not tested nor are records of such data maintained to determine an appropriate expiration date.

Specifically, the beyond use date (BUD) for mitomycin (1mg/1ml) 40mg/40 ml in 50 ml syringe for bladder irrigation was changed from 30 days to 90 days on 5/4/2022, 90 days to 130 days on 7/8/2022 and from 130 to 180 days for lot MIT081622IJ. This BUD was extended based on the stability batch contract lab test results for lot MIT122821MM. This stability batch was not tested using a contract test lab validated test method for assay until after the validation of the test method which according to documentation occurred on 4/26/2022.

OBSERVATION 4
The written stability program for drug products does not include reliable test methods.

Specifically, the stability batch MIT122821MM was tested at the time points 0 and 30 days using an un-

Dear Acting Division Director,

PQ Pharmacy acknowledges the observations cited during the FDA Inspection conducted from 10/11/2022 - 10/27/2022. Our organization takes responsibility to correct the observed conditions and will do so as described within this document; including corrective actions and timelines where appropriate. Additionally, we would like to take this opportunity to provide clarifying data for observations where the information we presented may not have been clearly communicated. PQ Pharmacy relied on "Guidance for Human Drug Compounding Outsourcing Facilities Under Section 503B of the FD&C Act Guidance for Industry", Enforcement Policy Regarding the Use of Limited Stability Testing to Assign a BUD, literature, potency overtime testing using validated testing method by FDA registered third-party lab (ARL) and familiarity with the products when assigning BUDs while stability studies were in-process.

Please include a redacted version of this response if posting PQ Pharmacy's 483 findings on the FDA.gov website.

PQ Pharmacy wants to emphasize the commitment to correcting the observations noted by the inspectors as we strive to include efficient quality processes throughout each aspect of our organization while focusing on continuous quality improvement.

Regards,

Hale N. Dimetry, Pharm. D.

President, PQ Pharmacy

Mitomycin (1 mg/ml) 40 mg/40 ml syringes for bladder irrigation lot MIT030722MM-R BUD "5/6/2022" was used for the test method validation under lab # 825821 and the validation was completed on 4/26/2022.*

Observation 1 Response:

CAPA2022005 was opened to remediate and mitigate future instances in which PQ Pharmacy would use methods before the final Method Suitability report is provided. The CAPA record shall include mitigation, remediation and corrective and preventative action(s).

Observation 1, Part A Response:

PQ Pharmacy recognizes the failure to assign a BUD to Method Suitability/Validation lot PMO041322SV. This lot was prepared in different volumes and product iterations requested by qualified third-party lab, ARL to perform method suitability and validation testing only; no product was distributed from this lot (Attachment A).

Additionally, PQ Pharmacy relied on referenced validated method statements on the release CoAs by FDA registered third-party lab, ARL. PQ Pharmacy acknowledges the failure to receive the signed/completed method suitability report prior to releasing the above-mentioned lots of PMB/PMO; although many attempts were made.

PHARMA
PRECISION QUALITY

Root Cause(s)/Potential Root Cause(s):

RC1: Lack of BUD procedure on how to assign BUD during method suitability and validation batches.

RC2: ARL qualified third-party lab failed to sign the PMB/PMO Method Suitability protocol at time of completion.

RC3: PQ Pharmacy failed to obtain and review protocol prior to release of product as we relied on referenced validated method statements on the provided CoAs.

Correction(s)/Mitigation(s):

C1: On 02Nov2022 a call was had with ARL senior chemist Dr. Quang Liu and PQ Pharmacy Quality Manager and Senior Management to discuss the delay in providing the completed report and the comparison between the in-house method and the AMI-2085 method. Data was provided stating the parameters of the analytical methods used for in-house assay testing using HPLC are scientifically identical to PQ Pharmacy's specified validated HPLC method (AMI-2085) (Attachment B).

C2: Review of the CoAs for the potency tests performed for batch release on the mentioned lots were performed (Attachment C).

C3: Samples from the above-mentioned lots were sent for potency retesting on 11/07/2022 using validated method AMI-2085; all retests reported with passing results (Attachment D).

Corrective Action(s):

CA1: SOP S700400 Sampling of In-Process Bulk and Final Products was revised to state during method suitability and validation batches the BUD of the Raw Materials/APIs and excipients shall be used as the default BUD of the product being submitted to the lab, but not to exceed 12 months. This revision was implemented on 17Nov2022. (Attachment E)

CA2: Additionally, a statement was added to SOP S700400 Sampling of In-Process Bulk and Final Products stating all validations must be completed, reviewed and signed by all documented personnel prior to the method being used in release testing.

CoA method statements shall not be used in lieu of completed method suitability/validation report. (Attachment E) This revision will be implemented on 17Nov2022

Observation 1, Part B Response:

PQ Pharmacy performed in-process potency testing to ensure final product specifications were met for bulk solutions during the initial batches of Mitomycin 1mg/mL. A rework of an additional 0.589g was performed on this lot after preliminary results were reported at 88% (Attachment F). ARL performed an Investigation for the OOS result (Attachment G). The 10L bulk solution bag was incorrectly labeled with a BUD of 90 days (6/05/2022) due to a typographical error in lieu of 5/06/2022 (60 days).

Quality Unit released lot: MIT030722MM-R on 4/05/2022 after receiving and reviewing final OOS ARL investigation (Attachment H), final result CoA that noted validated method AMI-1150 was used (Attachment I, ) and completion of Deviation DEV2022020 on 4/05/2022 (Attachment J). MIT030722MM-R was released with an assigned BUD of 60 days (5/06/2022).

Additionally, FDA noted within the observation stated "Mitomycin (1mg/mL) 40mg/40mL syringes for bladder irrigation lot MIT030722MM-R BUD "5/6/2022" was used for the test method validation under lab #825821 and the validation was completed on 4/26/2022". However, Lot MIT030722MM-R was not used for Potency Method Suitability/Validation which was completed on 4/26/2022 and was used for the Sterility Method Suitability (Attachment K).

Root Cause(s)/Potential Root Cause(s):

RC1: Quality Unit failed to request raw analytical data on the retests performed in ARL's OOS Investigation and relied on information written within the report without further explanation behind the lab error.

RC2: Quality Unit failed to obtain, and review completed ARL Method Suitability Report prior to the method being used for batch release. Further, PQ Pharmacy relied on the statement on the CoA stating AMI-1150 validated method was used before receipt of signed validation report.

RC3: Detailed labeling form that includes labels used for bulk bags were not a part of the batch records at the time this lot was produced.

Correction(s)/Mitigation(s):

C1: Phone conference was held with FDA investigators, PQ Pharmacy Quality Manager and Senior Management to review the Investigation and analytical packet for the potency method suitability. ARL Chemist reported that the 125.2% could not be replicated and was a lab error, thus was not included in the final reported result of 115.7%.

C2: Review of CoAs for potency testing for lot: MIT030722MM-R was performed, and the following was noted (Attachment I).

- On 3/23/2022 the CoA was released with the final potency results 115.7%.
- On 4/04/2022 the CoA was revised to state AMI-1150 was used to run the sample.
- On 6/15/2022 the CoA was further revised to remove the statement "non-GMP" as the method used to run the sample was the validated AMI-1150.

PHARMA

C3: Review of testing submissions was performed. Lot: MIT030722MM-R was submitted for Method Suitability <71>, in addition to routine release testing for batch release for this product (sterility <71>, subvisible particulate <788>, pH <791>, Potency and Endotoxin <85>).

Corrective Action(s):

CA1: A statement was added to SOP S700400 Sampling of In-Process Bulk and Final Products stating, all validations must be completed prior to release testing (Attachment E) This revision was implemented on 16Nov2022.

CA2: Additionally, a statement was added to SOP S700400 Sampling of In-Process Bulk and Final Products stating all validations must be completed, reviewed and signed by all documented personnel prior to the method being used in release testing. CoA method statements shall not be used in lieu of completed method suitability/validation report. (Attachment E) This revision will be implemented on 17Nov2022.

CA3: Label Control and Reconciliation Form was made official on 24Jun2022 (Attachment L) and was revised on 05Oct2022 (Attachment M). This requires signatures from QA personnel to perform a label check on all labels including In-process Testing, Bulk Bag and Final Product prior to personnel printing the full number of labels and applying labels.

Observation 2

The responsibilities and procedures applicable to the quality control unit are not fully followed.

Specifically, Your firm compounded Prednisolone Sodium Phosphate/Moxifloxacin HCL 1%/0.5%/mL Ophthalmic Solution Lot number: PMO052622SV on May 26, 2022, into a filtered bulk bag and held it for 13 days before filing into its finished form (droptainers) on June 8, 2022. Your firm's established hold time for this drug product is 8 days. This discrepancy was not identified by anyone including your quality unit and no investigation was performed. Additionally, operator SV who performed the manufacturing of this compound was only qualified for 7 days according to your media fill hold time study. This batch was released by your quality unit on July 01, 2022 for sale but was not distributed due to no client need before its product expiration date.

CAPA2022006 was opened to investigate the observation and potential additional deficiencies for root cause(s)/potential root cause(s); specifically, the validated hold-times established during personnel Media Fills. The CAPA record shall include mitigation, remediation and corrective and preventative action (s).

PHARMA
PRECISION QUALITY

Observation 2 Response:

PQ Pharmacy recognizes that the validated hold time per personnel and per product were not followed. Hold times representative to specific operators and product sets will be based on the media fill performed. Routinely, batches are bulked and dosed next business day as in-process potency is only performed the first initial batches of product to ensure accuracy of formulary. Lot PMO052622SV was not distributed and was sent for destruction (Attachment N).

Root Cause(s)/Potential Root Cause(s):

RC1: Bag was held for 13 days due to delay of in-process potency results. Potency results were submitted on 27May2022, and results were not received from the lab until 07Jun2022 (Attachment O).

RC2: Quality Unit failed to identify the non-conformance upon batch review and failed to open a deviation to document the non-conformity.

RC3: Operator(s) failed to verify hold time per media fill validation.

Correction(s)/Mitigation(s):

C1: A review of all hold times for released drug products produced at PQ Pharmacy took place to ensure that no other batches were affected by this deficiency. No additional deficiencies were discovered.

Corrective Action(s):

CA1: No units from this lot were distributed. SOP S601002 Validation of Aseptic Processes by Simulation (Media Fills) was revised to include in the event that a bag is held over the validated hold time, the bag shall be refiltered prior to being dosed into final containers (Attachment P). These revisions were implemented on 16Nov2022.

CA2: Media Fill Verification was added to the Quality Batch Release Checklist 103009F and S 103009 Quality Review for Batch Release and Final Disposition to verify the personnel validated yield and hold time (Attachment Q and Attachment R). These revisions were implemented on 14Nov2022.

Additionally, SOP 601002 Validation of Aseptic Process by Simulation (Media Fills) was revised to state the operator's unit yield and bulk bag hold time will be determined by the media fill (Attachment P). This revision was implemented on 16Nov2022.

CA3: Specific directions were added to the Media Fill protocols to document the number of days the bulk bag was held prior to dosing (Attachment S). These revisions were implemented on 16Nov2022.

CA4: Personnel Training Spreadsheet where validated yield and due dates for requalification are tracked by Quality was locked to edits but made public to operations personnel so they can verify prior to participating in scheduled production (Attachment T). This was made available to all personnel on 31Oct2022.

Observation 3

An adequate number of batches of each drug product are not tested nor are records of such data maintained to determine an appropriate expiration date.

Specifically, the beyond use date (BUD) for mitomycin (1mg/1ml) 40mg/40 ml in 50 ml syringe for bladder irrigation was changed from 30 days to 90 days on 5/4/2022, 90 days to 130 days on 7/8/2022 and from 130 to 180 days for lot MIT081622IJ. This BUD was extended based on the stability batch contract lab test results for lot MIT122821MM. This stability batch was not tested using a contract test lab validated test method for assay until after the validation of the test method which according to documentation occurred on 4/26/2022.

CAPA2022007 was opened to investigate the observation and potential additional deficiencies for root cause(s)/potential root cause(s); specifically, to provide data on utilizing potency over time testing and literature to extend the BUD on Mitomycin 1mg/mL Bladder Irrigation. The CAPA record shall include mitigation, remediation and corrective and preventative action (s).

Observation 3 Response:

PQ Pharmacy recognizes that the BUD for Mitomycin 1mg/mL is assigned based on cited literature (Attachment U) and timepoint potency tests performed with validated method (Attachment V). Lot MIT122821MM was used for potency overtime testing only and separate from the 3 current on-going stability studies. Additionally, this lot was not distributed and used for testing purposes only.

It is PQ Pharmacy's understanding of "Guidance for Human Drug Compounding Outsourcing Facilities Under Section 503B of the FD&C Act Guidance for Industry" Specifically Section C, Enforcement Policy Regarding the Use of Limited Stability Testing to Assign a BUD (page 45 and 46), that based on timepoint data using validated test methods and literature regarding the stability of the product, dating could be extended; yet not to exceed 12 months or any of the API or excipients.

Current BUD has been established based on potency testing over time using cGMP validated method. Currently, Mitomycin 1mg/mL Bladder Irrigation has an assigned BUD of 180 days under refrigerated conditions.

Root Cause(s)/Potential Root Cause(s):

RC1: Lot: MIT122821MM is not a stability lot.

RC2: Validated Method AMI-1150 was used and documented on CoAs prior to the completed Method Suitability report being signed by ARL.

PHARMA

Correction(s)/Mitigation(s):

C1: A review of the FDA "Guidance for Human Drug Compounding Outsourcing Facilities Under Section 503B of the FD&C Act Guidance for Industry" Specifically Section C, Enforcement Policy Regarding the Use of Limited Stability Testing to Assign a BUD (page 45 and 46), regarding assigning BUD was performed and the requirements listed in the Guidance were addressed:

- Samples are evaluated following aging under the long-term storage conditions (i.e., temperature and humidity) in ICH Q1A(R2).

Lot: MIT122821MM used for potency overtime testing was stored per labeled refrigerated conditions.

- The data from each time point are evaluated against the established specifications for the compounded drug product.

Testing results were reviewed based on validated method AMI-1150, USP Monograph and the formulary.

- The BUD is no longer than 12 months

Assigned BUD is 180 days; 6months.

- If the data for any test fall outside of the established specifications, the BUD is restricted to the last time point at which the data remained within specifications, or the default BUD (described above) is used.

All potency timepoint results for MIT122821MM were passing results.

Observation 4

Specifically, the stability batch MIT122821MM was tested at the time points 0 and 30 days using an un-validated contract lab test method.

CAPA2022008 was opened to investigate the observation and potential additional deficiencies for root cause(s)/potential root cause(s); specifically, to identify and clarify the purpose of lot MIT122821MM. The CAPA record shall include mitigation, remediation and corrective and preventative action (s).

Observation 4 Response:

PQ Pharmacy recognizes that the initial potency test was performed using an unvalidated test method (ARL in-house Method). PQ Pharmacy would like to clarify that all testing performed in stability studies are performed using validated test methods per SOP S 700250 Stability Program for Finished Drug Products (Attachment X). Specifically, Lot: MIT122821MM is not a full stability batch and is only used for testing potency overtime. Additionally, this lot was not distributed and used for testing purposes only. Current BUD has been established based on potency testing over time using cGMP validated method.

Root Cause(s)/Potential Root Cause(s):

RC1: Potency validations for HPLC AMI-1150 Mitomycin Validated Method were not complete at the time of the testing the first 2 potency timepoints.

RC2: Lot: MIT122821MM mentioned in the observation is not a part of the Mitomycin 1mg/mL stability program at PQ Pharmacy. This lot is only tested for potency over time to provide additional data as to the length of stability of the drug product.

Observation 5 Response:

PQ Pharmacy developed cleaning procedures based on training provided by qualified supplier, Steris, in addition to Environmental Monitoring during commissioning stages and risk assessment.

Root Cause(s)/Potential Root Cause(s):

RC1: 10-minute contact time was based on on-site training provided by Steris upon ordering Sporklenz cleaning agent.

RC2: PQ Pharmacy failed to notice or question the difference in the communicated 10-minute contact time and the label claim of 30-minutes.

Correction(s)/Mitigation(s)

C1: 30-minute contact time was implemented to match Steris label claim.

C2: PQ Pharmacy reviewed Environment Monitoring Trending to assure that the integrity of the ISO classified rooms was not compromised due to the 10-minute contact time. There we no noticeable negative microbial recoveries.

C3: PQ Pharmacy Quality Manager and Senior Management met with Steris Management to discuss the variation between contact time of 10-minutes communicated during training and the 30-minute label claim. It was stated by Steris that there are efficacy studies that are completed, and data is in review process by Steris QA and will be made public in the near future. Literature was provided demonstrating that applying a 10-minute contact time has proven the ability to eliminate spores (Attachment Z).

The EU label claim of Sporklenz RTU does instruct the 10-minute contact time. This product is the same product used at PQ Pharmacy which is noted by Steris within the attached letter (Attachment AA).

Corrective Action(s):

1. What risk level sterile compounding will your facility be performing (check all that apply)? ☐ Low ☐ Medium ☒ High
If you marked "High", you must also complete section 4.

2. Will you be performing sterile hazardous drug compounding? ☒ Yes ☐ No
If you marked "Yes", you must also complete section 3.

3. List the sterile compounded products that you will be compounding for Nevada patients or consumers:

Norepinephrine in 0.9% NaCl
Phenylephrine in 0.9% NaCl

Diltiazem in 0.7% NaCl and 5% Dextrose
Fentanyl in 0.9% NaCl
Hydromorphone in 0.9% NaCl
Ketamine in 0.9% NaCl

All products contain various strengths. All packaged via automation in a traditional IV bag or Blow-Fill-Seal bottle (BFS).

4. Will you be utilizing beyond use dates in excess of USP-797? ☒ Yes ☐ No

5. If yes, describe the additional testing performed on your products to validate the extended BUD:

Stability program created to establish expiry dating for all products. Each product line undergoes real time and accelerated stability and sterility testing. Data collected and analyzed to determine expiry dating not BUD. SOP-VAL-0097, Stability Program, governs this process.

6. What laboratory performs this additional testing?

Name: ARL Bio Pharma

Address: 840 Research Pkwy #546

City: Oklahoma City State: OK Zip: 73104

Telephone: (405) 271-1144

7. What is your procedure for visual inspection of compounded sterile products?

SOP-P-0401, Visual Inspection of Injectable Products. This procedure covers sterile injectables manufactured on any of the Blow, Fill, Seal (BFS) Machine and IV Bag Fill and Seal Machines. This inspection utilizing an approved light source will take place before any subsequent packaging operations are performed. All personnel performing visual inspection are certified by testing prior to being put on the inspection line.

8. How often do you perform glove fingertip and medial fill testing?

Glove fingertip qualifications of personnel involved in sterile processing are performed annually.
Medial Fill testing of equipment is performed semiannually, with qualification of personnel required annually.

9. What is your policy if an employee fails a glove fingertip or media-fill test?

Glove fingertip - Each occurrence is investigated internally for root cause and impact to compounded lot. Trend of 3 failures leads to revocation of participation in processing, pending formal retraining and qualification/testing.

Media-fill failure - results in investigation of root cause and denial of qualification until a successful media fill is performed.

10. Describe your initial and annual training program for all personnel performing sterile compounding:

The following training must be completed prior to an operator participating in sterile processing activities.

- Aseptic Processing Training Using Barrier Technology - Blow Fill Seal Machine / Bausch Robotic Bag Filler
- The Importance of Aseptic Practice in Pharmaceutical Manufacturing
- Aseptic Refresher Training
- Successful testing in 3 glove fingertip and sleeve tests
-Successful participation in media fill test

11. Describe the cleaning procedure for your primary and secondary engineering controls, including the frequency of cleaning and the names of cleaning, disinfectant, sporicidal, and/or deactivation and decontamination agents used:

Each area of processing is governed by SOP for cleaning procedures relating to batch processing, daily, and weekly cleaning requirements.

Daily - All surfaces, floors, interior of pass through boxes, and equipment used.
Weekly - Ceilings, walls, doors, vents, floor, exterior surfaces of RABS, and compressed air ports.

Cleaning/Disinfectant Agents
Sterile 70% IPA
Sterile MINNCARE
CANI HI-Con 256
Sterile Paradox RTU

12. Who performs the sterile compounding process at your facility?

Compounding of raw materials is performed by a Pharmacist and a Production Operator in an ISO 7 compounding suite.

Filling of the compounded solution is performed via automated technology. The "fill zone" of all automated equipment is maintained and monitored as an ISO 5 area.

13. Who is responsible and accountable for the sterile compounding process at your facility?

Pharmacists are responsible and accountable for the compounding process.

14. If products are shipped/mailed, what shipping conditions are used to ensure product safety/efficacy?

Shipping studies have been performed on all products using our currier service FedEx with their standard shipping conditions in the summer and winter seasons. Through the shipping studies, the products then undergo stability testing to ensure that the conditions have not effected the safety and efficacy of the product. SOP-QA-0032, Shipping Studies, govern this process.

Details of Inspection On 9/21/21, 10/12/21 and 11/4/21 I accompanied Edmund Mrak, FDA Investigator and Lori Newman, Investigator on an FDA inspection of SterRx, LLC. On August 10, 2021, SterRx LLC announced the voluntary recall of 3 lots of Sodium Bicarbonate in 5% Dextrose Injection 150 mEq per 1,000 ml due to water borne microbial contamination. The recall was initiated at the hospital level. The FDA contacted the Pharmacy

Details of Inspection Board Office to invite an ~~rep~~ investigator on this inspection. On 10/4/21, SterRx shut down all compounding operations. The last product shipped interstate were

① 4mg Norepinephrine in 0.9% Sodium Chloride Injection 250ml (16 mcg/ml) BFS IV bag

② 160 mg Norepinephrine in 0.9% Sodium Chloride Injection 250ml (64 mcg/ml) BFS IV Bag both on 10/1/21 SEE 211-Shipment information for 52/438.pdf Shipment details the product received in Little Rock, AK on 10/5/21. Subsequently, on 11/10/21 SterRx announced the voluntary recall of approximately 240 lots within their expiry period due to equipment and process issues that could lead to a lack of sterility assurance for products intended to be sterile. The recall is to the hospital pharmacy level. To date, there were no product complaints or adverse events associated with these lots. received

SterRx employees present on the first day were:
Sarah McCoy, Director-Plant Operations
Tracy M. Roth, Acting Site Quality Manager
Tony Pilcher, Director - R&D
Michael Hitchingham, Director, Quality Operations, Sagent Pharmaceuticals
Napoleon Harrington, Associate Director of Production
Jennifer Garrant, Administrative Assistant, QA.
Sue Martin, Supervising Pharmacist.
In addition to the above list is an attached employee list. Checks indicate the employee worked that day.
Potential issues are indicated below.

① Receiving area was dirty and dead bugs were found at receiving dock area. Receiving process does not include cleaning of received goods prior to taking them into the warehouse. See photos (1-43) and SOP-SC-002T (SOP PHR 202)

② In the non-GMP labeled location O2C2 refrigerator ~~the~~ contained food and a package wrapped in plastic labeled ATCC organism.

Details of Inspection See Photos (5, 7-8). Philip Hewitt, Materials Management Supervisor stated that he did not know the reason for this.

(3) Location 02K2 had filters, both quarantined and released in the same area. Philip Hewitt stated this area is being enlarged because they need more area for filters. See photos 11.

(4) The area above the filters, 02K2 had adhesive stored there. See photo 9. It was GMP and non-GMP on top of each other.

(5) Locations 12ZA1 and 11ZA1 contain the back-up samples for sterility testing. A TempTale Vitra monitoring device was attached to the shelving. McCoy stated that this type of device is used throughout the facility. The readings are downloaded weekly. I asked why this was not done more often. McCoy said they've done studies to show how the warehouse temperature fluctuates, so there is no need. Later, I discussed this with Ed Mrak if that was acceptable and shouldn't it be done at a minimum of every shift to which he agreed. An email is sent when temperature goes out of range to materials management, engineering/maintenance, quality assurance, quality control and pharmacy. See ~~SOP-SL-0037~~ SOP does not match with what McCoy stated as the process. 33-SOP WRH 107 (SOP-SL-0031.

(6) In location 12ZA1, 28 (twenty-~~eight~~) documents of master batch records (MBRs) that were old MBRs were found sitting in this location. Roth stated their new computer system (VIVA - was told) applied an expiration date of 3 days from the date of printing and applies that date to the tangible record at the bottom of the page. None of these documents had any date on the bottom, so they were said to be old MBRs. They should have been destroyed ~~to~~ to minimize the risk of using these to compound. See 36-Retention MBR pages.

(7) The hot pack oven used as the dry heat sterilizer ~~had~~ was outdated (SOP Aug 21) release stickers. They should have been removed (destroyed) almost a month ago. See Photo 14

(8) Inside a stability chamber there was a box labeled ~~Hemoglobin~~

(9) Operators (unlicensed employees) are compounding in a 503B facility. McCoy stated that a pharmacist is present during compounding (the tank rooms) with the operator (unlicensed employee) that gets the tank ready. The pharmacist tells the operator (unlicensed employee) when they may start the process. S21356 MSD I witnessed this and confirmed with

(b) Also, there is a pharmacist in the packaging room and the operator Sarah McCoy lines up the empty "sterile" bags in the RABS and waits for the pharmacist to give the go ahead to proceed. I witnessed this and confirmed with McCoy

(c) Acceptable quality level (AQL) checks in the packaging area are performed by a lead operator (unlicensed employee). S19049 TD Baillargeon S19115 F. Lafountain

(10) Employees work in street clothes in packaging areas due to COVID supply issues. McCoy stated employees may work in clean street clothes because of the COVID supply issues. ~~SEE~~ KW McCoy said employees have the option to change into scrubs after arriving at the facility. In the packaging room everyone wore street clothes, except for one employee.

Details of Inspection are conducted under air that is less than ISO5. BFS 172, Equipment #E0201 and BFS 321-190, equipment #E0581 are ISO-7 in the cutting and shuttling of the parison process. In addition, the airflow pattern and airborne particulates in the critical processing zones during operation of BFS 172 and BFS 321-190 where parisons are cut and the open parisons are shuttled to the point of aseptic filling has not been evaluated. (i) ~~PR-2018-187-E0432-55.docx~~ RPT-2018-187-E0432-55, Bausch Type 529 Bag Filling and Sealing Machine (E0432) Smoke Study, identified turbulence & upward flow of air near Fill Station #1. This was accepted & approved by firm management without attempting corrective actions.

(ii) First pass air flow (HEPA-filtered) laminar flow air is ~~not provide~~ blocked by the "plenum" (metal bended sheet) over approximately one-half of the vibratory bowl and the track system to convey sterile closures (ports) to the filling side of the Bausch Type 529 Bag Filling & Sealing Machine. Also, the above mentioned smoke study did not evaluate the airflow pattern in the area of the vibratory bowl.

(iii) First pass HEPA-filtered laminar flow air is not provided over the filling side of the Bausch Type 529 Bag Filling & Sealing Machine where open IV Bags are manually removed from wrapping and exposed, held and passed to the filling section of the line.

(c) First pass HEPA Filtered air is obstructed by the glove port and glove and the vibratory bowl over open, partial bags of syringe plungers held

No assignable cause determined and no CAPA (corrective and preventive actions) initiated. Failed to identify the BFS 172, #E0201 condition and inadequate environmental monitoring program as potentially contributing to this event.

(3) MIR-2021-310, MIR-2021-421 and MIR-2021-463
Batches were released in full.
Did not determine and implement effective preventive actions to control generation of particulate contamination within the ISO 5 classified zone of the IV Bag Filling line, #E0432. Although, your records show drug products produced during periods of high particle count generation were segregated by the Packaging Units, your Quality Unit did not issue a hold status or otherwise control the implicated (segregated) product and require additional consideration for its disposition.

Details of Inspection

(c) MIR-2021-463 was for two events of over-action-in-process particle counts on the IV Bag filling line, #E0432 during drug product production as follows:

(i) 8/20/2021, in process environmental monitoring detected 894 ~~148.0~~ particles/ft$^3$ over 0.5um, exceeding the action limit ≤100 particles/ft$^3$ over 0.5um, on the filling side of the IV Bag filling line, #E0432 on batch 521391.

See: 521391 EM.pdf

(ii) 8/23/2021, in process EM detected 148.0 particles/ft$^3$ over 0.5um, exceeding the Action Limit ≤100 particles/ft$^3$ over 0.5um, on the filling side of the IV Bag filling line, #E0432 for batch 521394.

See: 521394 EM.pdf

The investigation MIR-2021-463 determined that equipment malfunction including a leaking solenoid, vacuum generator "blowing out occassionally" and loose hardware are the root cause of these over action limit particle counts. The investigation ~~included~~ concluded, without adequate justification, that there is no product impact as a result of these over-action in-process particle count events and disposition of the subject lots is pending.

Details of Inspection to use.

Equipment used on the IV bag filling line #E0432 including drug product component contact change parts and utensils required to be sterile is not adequately protected from contamination before use. Equipment and change parts used in production in the ISO5 classified zone of the IV bag filling line, such as the utensil box, tweezers, scoop, and vibratory bowl is sterilized in Hotpack oven #E0333. This oven is located in an unclassified area adjacent to the process water production area.

PER SOP PRD213 (see 40-SOP-P-0436 (PRD123) - Hotpack oven, "Sterilization of Bag Filler Components and Equipment in Hotpack Oven E0333," the equipment is triple-wrapped in "heavy duty Reynolds aluminum foil or equivalent" prior to sterilization in the oven, and any rips in the outer foil layer may be repaired with high temperature 3M tape. After the wrapped equipment is sterilized, it is removed from the oven and placed on a transfer cart. The cart is moved to the controlled unclassified "transition area," and the outer layer of foil is sprayed with sterile 70% isopropyl alcohol (IPA).

The SOP does not specify how long the equipment may remain in the transition zone wrapped in foil prior to use.

(18) Refer to Observation 8 of the FDA Form 483, 21 CFR 211.113(b) Procedures designed to prevent microbiological contamination of drug products purporting to be sterile did not include adequate validation of the aseptic process.

(1) You have not validated polymer extrusion/sterilization in BFS machine BFS 172, #E0201 and BFS 321-190, #E0581. You have not validated that time temperature conditions of the extrusion (parison formation) process are effective against endotoxin

(a) Operator SF participated in the production of commercial sodium bicarbonate batches S19197 in June 2019 and S19199 in July 2019 on the IV bag filling line #E0432. One of SF's roles is to spray the outer package of the sterile IV bags with sterile Peridox RTU and place the package in the material isolator pass-thru adjacent to the bag filling station, as document in step 83 of batch S19197. The only aseptic simulation documented in SF's training record was on the syringe line #E0433 on 01/27/2021. This occurred both after he participated in commercial aseptic production on the IV bag filler in 2019 and on another production line (syringe line #E0433). No documentation of SF participating in an aseptic simulation on the IV bag filling line #E0432 has been provided. See S19197 S. Farrell

(b) Operator FL participated in the production of commercial sodium bicarbonate batches S19115 and S19117 in 03/2019 on the IV bag filling line #E0432. One of FL's roles on this line is collecting prefiltration bioburden samples, as documented in step 18 of batch S19115. He completed an aseptic simulation on this line in 09/2019, after the batches were produced in 03/2019. FL participated in aseptic production prior to participating in an aseptic simulation for that production line.

Details of Inspection

(19) Refer to Observation 9 of the FDA Form 483, 21 CFR 211.28(a) Protective apparel is not worn as necessary to protect drug products from contamination.
During the inspection on 9/22/2021 I observed packaging and inspection personnel dressed in street clothes and personal footwear handling BFS IV bags containing 150 mEq Sodium Bicarbonate in 5% Dextrose Injection 1,000 ml (12.6 mg/ml) BFS IV Bag, Batch #S21460, in controlled unclassified Packaging Room 148. Personnel were handling the drug product for visual inspection and insertion of the BFS IV bags into secondary packaging (pouches) before sealing.
See: CC-2020-043 SOP for change in Packaging governing requirements.pdf

(20) Yes Refer to Observation 10 of the FDA Form 483, 21 CFR 211.166(a)(3) The written stability program for drug products does not include meaningful test methods.
See SOP-VAL-0099 (0097) Packaging Validation and Evaluation. (193-Stability Program.pdf) It does not evaluate the photostability of light sensitive drug products in the marketed packaging.
Examples are:
① 2mg epinephrine in 0.9% sodium chloride injection 250ml (8mcg/ml)
② 1mg fentanyl in 0.9% sodium chloride injection 100ml (10mcg/ml)
Although in accordance with your protocols the stability samples remain within their marketed secondary packaging consisting of foil-lined pouches throughout the hold time, your firm lacks sufficient evidence through direct testing to show that the secondary packaging adequately protects ~~that~~ drug products from light.

Details of Inspection Employees are not given training in the particular operations they perform as part of their function.

(1) See MIR-2020-008 (Close) states that a root cause of the sterility failure for 150 mEq sodium bicarbonate in 5% dextrose batch S19433/Lot ATK, compounded 12/13/19, was a lack of training of an operator (JW) working in the aseptic production of that batch. The batch was produced on IV Bag filling line #E0432, and the organism identified was Burkholderia multivorans. MIR-2019-394 was opened to address JW's production activities prior to training. It shows JW did not complete the prerequisite training module MOD00002, "General GMP" until 12/23/19, 10 days after he participated in batch production. This conflicts with your SOP QAS 209 "Training Program" See QA Product Release S19433 and Manufacturing S19433 Batch Record. See SOP-QA-0163 "Training Program SterRx" It states "Employees, consultants, interns and contractors will be trained on procedures required to perform their job functions prior to performing the tasks described in the procedure."

(2) Operator FL participated in the production of commercial sodium bicarbonate batches S19115 and S19117 on the IV Bag filling line (E0432) in March 2019. FL's training record shows that he was "first trained" to operate the bag filling line in early March 2019 but was not considered "fully trained" until September 6, 2019, which is after batches S19115 and S19117 were produced. Training form TRNOOHH-ASSESS (Version A) defines "first training" as watching the activity and "full training" as performing the activity independently and accurately. FL participated in aseptic production prior to being certified to perform production independently and accurately. SEE S.Farrell.pdf (Column Heads)

If you have any questions, please contact FDA at the phone number and address above.

DURING AN INSPECTION OF YOUR FIRM WE OBSERVED:

OBSERVATION 1

Aseptic processing areas are deficient regarding air supply that is filtered through high-efficiency particulate air filters under positive pressure.

Specifically:

1. Blow-Fill-Seal (BFS) operations in your open parison process, including cutting parisons and shuttling of the open parisons to the point of aseptic filling, are conducted under air supplied at lesser quality than ISO 5. Open parisons are exposed during cutting and shuttling within the ISO 7 classified zone to the point of aseptic filling in BFS machines BFS 172, Equipment # E0201 and BFS 321-190, Equipment # E0581.

   Furthermore, you have not evaluated the airflow pattern and airborne particulates in the critical processing zones during operation of BFS machines BFS 172 and BFS 321-190 where parisons are cut and the open parisons are shuttled to the point of aseptic filling.

   BFS 172 is used to produce drug products intended to be sterile including 20mg Phenylephrine HCl in 0.9% Sodium Chloride Injection, Batch: S21159, packaged as Lot: BTQ, Released: 04/30/2021, Expiration Date: 01/30/2022.

   BFS 321-190 is used to produce drug products intended to be sterile including Sodium Bicarbonate 150mEq/1000ml in 5% Dextrose Injection, Batch: S21061, packaged as Lot: BPW, Released: 02/23/2021, Expiration Date: 12/28/2021.

2. The design and construction of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432, Bausch Type 529 and its enclosure do not provide first pass HEPA-filtered laminar flow air over all critical areas within the ISO 5 classified zone as follows:

   a. Your dynamic airflow pattern study conducted under protocol PR-2018-187-E0432-SS and reported in RPT-2018-187-E0432-SS, Bausch Type 529 Bag Filling and Sealing Machine (E0432) Smoke Study, identified turbulence and upward flow of air near Fill Station #1. This airflow condition was accepted and approved on 10/15/2019 by your firm management without attempting corrective actions.
   b. Direct coverage by first pass HEPA-filtered laminar flow air is not provided over the filling side of the Bausch Type 529 Bag Filling and Sealing Machine where open IV bags are manually removed from wrapping and exposed, held, and passed to the filling section of the line.
   c. First pass HEPA-filtered laminar flow air is blocked by the "plenum" over approximately one half of the vibratory bowl and the track system used to convey sterile closures (ports) to the filling side of the Bausch Type 529 Bag Filling and Sealing Machine. Furthermore, your airflow pattern study reported in RPT-2018-187-E0432-SS, Bausch Type 529 Bag Filling and Sealing Machine (E0432) Smoke Study, did not evaluate the airflow pattern in the area of the vibratory bowl and track system where it is obstructed by the plenum.

   The IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432, is used to produce drug products intended to be sterile including Midazolam 1 mg/ml in 0.9% Sodium Chloride, 100ml fill in 100ml IV Bag, Batch: S21066, packaged as Lot: BQB, Released: 05/07/2021, Expiration Date: 11/19/2021.

3. First pass HEPA-filtered laminar flow air is obstructed by the glove port and glove and the vibratory bowl over open, partial bags of syringe plungers held adjacent to the vibratory bowl used to hold and convey plungers on the aseptic syringe filling system, Inova SV-122 Automatic Syringe Filling and Sealing Machine with RABS (Restricted Access Barrier Systems), Equipment # E0433. The Inova SV-122 Automatic Syringe Filling and Sealing Machine with RABS (Restricted Access Barrier Systems), Equipment # E0433, is used to produce drug products intended to be sterile including 200 mg Succinylcholine Chloride Injection 10mL (20 mg/mL), Batch: S21476, filled on 09/24/2021.

OBSERVATION 2

Container closure systems do not provide adequate protection against foreseeable external factors in storage and use that can cause deterioration or contamination of the drug product.

Specifically:

You do not maintain the sterility of the cap and bag interfacing surfaces and the interstitial space making up the container closure of BFS IV bags containing sterile drug products. Furthermore, the container closure is not designed such that the user can sanitize the surface(s) before spiking for administration to a patient. More specifically:

1. The cap and bag interfacing surfaces and the interstitial space making up the container closure of BFS IV bags containing drug products produced in BFS 172, Equipment # E0201, are not maintained sterile. Filled BFS IV bags produced in BFS 172 are manually offloaded from a conveyor and held in an ISO 7 classified area prior to capping. The capping process includes sanitization of the BFS IV bag tops with non-sterile 3% Hydrogen Peroxide solution, UV light exposure, and drying with filtered air followed by passage under heated air from a "heat gun" that is particle generating by design (due to the brushed blower motor), before capping under ISO 7 conditions. BFS 172 and the offline capping system are used to produce drug products intended to be sterile including 20mg Phenylephrine HCl in 0.9% Sodium Chloride Injection,

2. The cap and bag interfacing surfaces and the interstitial space making up the container closure of BFS IV bags containing drug products produced in BFS 321-190, Equipment # E0581, are not maintained sterile and are exposed to less than ISO 5 environmental conditions. BFS IV bags containing drug products produced in BFS 321-190 are conveyed and capped in-line under ISO 7 classified conditions. BFS 321-190, Equipment # E0581, is used to produce drug products intended to be sterile including Sodium Bicarbonate 150mEq/1000ml in 5% Dextrose Injection, Batch: S21061, packaged as Lot: BPW, Released: 02/23/2021, Expiration Date: 12/28/2021.

OBSERVATION 3

Aseptic processing areas are deficient regarding the system for monitoring environmental conditions.

Specifically:

1. Your surface and airborne viable monitoring program for aseptic filling operations is not designed and conducted to provide meaningful data to support the quality of your drug products intended to be sterile. Your firm's procedures permit surface and air samples from within ISO 5 environments to yield microbiological contaminants of 1 CFU (colony forming unit) without conducting an investigation. More specifically:

    a. Prior to revision in August 2021 your environmental monitoring plans and specifications for surface viable monitoring permitted 1 CFU microbial recoveries on filling needles and mandrels (BFS) in the critical filling zones of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432; Syringe Line, Equipment # E0433; BFS 172, Equipment # E0201; and BFS 321-190, Equipment # E0581 without requirements for investigation and action. Furthermore, your specifications written in Work Instruction WI-MCB-0017 and batch monitoring records for airborne particle counts taken on the filler side of the IV Bag filling line during filling of 150mEq Sodium Bicarbonate in 5% Dextrose Injection and 125mg Diltiazem D5W / 125mg Diltiazem 0.7% Sodium Chloride Injection do not meet clean area air classifications for ISO 5 as follows:

- 150mEq Sodium Bicarbonate in 5% Dextrose Injection:
  - 0.5µm Alert ≥460 particles/ft$^3$
  - 0.5µm Action: ≥485 particle/ft$^3$

7723 particles/ ft³, in the critical filling zone of BFS 172, Equipment # E0201, do not meet clean area air classifications for ISO 5. No corrective actions are taken for excursions over ISO 5 air classifications that are within your internal specifications. OBSERVATION 4

Equipment used in the manufacture, processing, packing or holding of drug products is not of appropriate design to facilitate operations for its cleaning and maintenance.

Specifically:

The design and construction of BFS 172, Equipment # E0201, incorporates machine parts that are particle generating and difficult to sanitize within the ISO 7 classified zone of your open parison process equipment. During the inspection we observed the following within the ISO 7 Classified shrouded area of BFS 172: painted machine parts were chipped and missing paint; the machine frame had signs of surface corrosion; wiring was hanging and secured with tape; tubing was hanging; and there was a build-up of resin residues. Additionally, tubing and wiring are not routed and secured in a manner to prevent chaffing and particle generation. The ISO 7 classified area where these conditions were observed houses the critical processing zone of BFS 172, where parisons are cut and the open parisons are shuttled to the point of aseptic filling. BFS 172 is used to produce drug products intended to be sterile including 20mg

OBSERVATION 5

Substances required for equipment operations such as lubricants and coolants come in contact with components and closures so as to alter the safety, identity, strength, quality or purity of the drug product beyond the official or other established requirements.

Specifically:

On the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432, Bausch Type 529, you have not evaluated whether or to what extent solvents and lubricants contained in sterile silicon spray applied to the vibratory bowl transfer to and contaminate IV Bag closures (ports). In accordance with your manufacturing batch records, during setup and operation of IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432, Bausch Type 529, you apply sterile silicon spray onto the stainless-steel vibratory bowl to facilitate movement of sterile closures (ports) to the filling side of the machine. Your manufacturing batch records indicate that the machine may be stopped during the filling operation and "When stoppers are no longer able to feed, more spray can be applied as needed". The IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432, is used to produce drug products intended to be sterile including Midazolam 1 mg/ml in 0.9% Sodium Chloride, 100ml fill in 100ml IV Bag, Batch: S21066, packaged as Lot: BQB, Released: 05/07/2021, Expiration Date: 11/19/2021.

There is a failure to thoroughly review any unexplained discrepancy and the failure of a batch or any of its components to meet any of its specifications whether or not the batch has been already distributed.

Specifically:

You lack complete information about the environmental conditions in critical areas during aseptic filling operations necessary for investigation and determination of the full product impact and root cause of environmental excursions and drug product sterility failures. Furthermore, your lack of complete environmental data and root cause identification diminishes your ability to determine and implement effective corrective and preventive actions. For example:

1. Since June 2019 you have reported three drug product sterility failures for lots produced on the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432. Conclusions from your investigations are as follows:
   a. Your investigation, MIR-2019-350, for 150mEq Sodium Bicarbonate in 5% Dextrose batch S19378, Lot ARB, manufactured on 10/24/2019, out of specification (OOS) results for Particulate Matter per USP<788> and Not Sterile per USP<71>, was inconclusive. Organisms recovered were identified as Herbaspirillum huttiense and Burkholderia multivorans. The batch was rejected. There was no assignable cause determined and no CAPA initiated. Your investigation failed to attempt identification of the particulate matter in the drug product samples and use such information to assist in determining the root cause of the event and effective CAPA. Your investigation failed to consider whether an inadequate environmental monitoring program for the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432 and equipment design deficiencies affecting airflow in critical areas contributed to this event.

   b. Your investigation, MIR-2020-008, for 150mEq Sodium Bicarbonate in 5% Dextrose batch S19433, Lot ATK, manufactured on 12/13-14/2019, OOS result Not Sterile per USP<71>, identified inadequate methods for cleaning and sanitization of the IV Bag filling line following maintenance interventions. The organism recovered was identified as

Burkholderia multivorans. The batch was rejected. Your investigation failed to consider whether an inadequate environmental monitoring program for the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432 and equipment design deficiencies affecting airflow in critical areas contributed to this event.

c. Your investigation, MIR-2020-127, for 150mEq Sodium Bicarbonate in 5% Dextrose batch S20107, Lot AYP, manufactured on 03/18-19/2020, OOS result Not Sterile per USP<71>, was inconclusive. The batch was rejected. Although there was no assignable cause attributable to the contract laboratory your investigation concluded that the most likely cause of this event was contamination during testing since the analyst performed 51 tests on the day that the subject sample was tested, and the organism (Staphylococcus epidermidis) only grew in one media. Your investigation failed to consider whether an inadequate environmental monitoring program for the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432 and equipment design deficiencies affecting airflow in critical areas contributed to this event.

2. Your investigation, MIR-2020-099, for 150mEq Sodium Bicarbonate in 5% Dextrose batch S20107, Lot AYP, manufactured on BFS 172, Equipment # E0201, on 03/18-19/2020, OOS result Not Sterile per USP<71>, was inconclusive. The organism recovered was identified as Bacillus subtilis. The batch was rejected. There was no assignable cause determined and no CAPA initiated. Your investigation failed to identify the BFS 172, Equipment # E0201 condition and inadequate environmental monitoring program as potentially contributing to this event.

3. Your investigations including MIR-2021-310, MIR-2021-421, and MIR-2021-463 in response to airborne particle count exceeding action limits in the critical zone of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432 conclude that multiple equipment related issues inherent to the filling process on the IV Bag filling line are the root cause of the subject events. You determined that there was no product impact resulting from these events due to acceptable viable monitoring results, visual inspection results, and finished product release testing results and all batches/lots implicated in these investigations were released in full. You did not determine and implement effective preventive actions to control generation of particulate contamination within the ISO 5 classified zone of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432. Furthermore, although your records indicate that drug products produced during periods of high particle count generation were segregated by the Packaging Unit, your Quality Unit did not issue a hold status or otherwise control the implicated (segregated) product and require additional consideration for its disposition.

For example:

a. Your investigation, MIR-2021-310, was written for three events of over-action in-process particle counts on the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432 during production of drug products as follows:

   i. On 06/03/2021, in-process environmental monitoring detected 708.0 particles/ft³ over 0.5 µm, exceeding the Action Limit: >573 particles/ft³ over 0.5 µm, on the filling side of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432, while filling 125 mg Diltiazem D5W/125mg Diltiazem 0.7% Sodium Chloride Batch: S21272, Lot: BXP, Released: 07/14/2021, Expiration Date: 01/28/2022.

   ii. On 06/15/2021, in-process environmental monitoring detected 119.0 particles/ft³ over 0.5 µm, exceeding the Action Limit: ≤100 particles/ft³ over 0.5 µm, on the filling side of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432, while filling 100 mg Morphine Sulfate 1 mg/ml in 5% Dextrose 100 ml, Batch: S21293, Lot: BYJ, Released: 07/08/2021, Expiration Date: 12/12/2021.

   iii. On 06/17/2021, in-process environmental monitoring detected 143.0 particles/ft³ over 0.5 µm, exceeding the Action Limit: ≤100 particles/ft³ over 0.5 µm, on the filling side of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432, while filling 1 mg/ml Midazolam in 0.9% Sodium Chloride 100 ml, Batch: S21287, Lot: BYE, Released: 07/28/2021, Expiration Date: 02/12/2022.

Your investigation, MIR-2021-310, concluded that multiple equipment malfunctions including the stopper arm of Station 1, Station two air leak, the conveyor belt and the sampling port pipe in improper position are the root cause of these overaction limit particle counts. You determined, without adequate justification, that there is no product impact as a result of these over-action in-process particle count events and you released each lot in full for distribution.

b. Your investigation, MIR-2021-421, was written for four events of over-action in-process particle counts (Action Limit: ≤100 particles/ft³ over 0.5 µm) on the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432 during production of drug products as follows:

i. On 07/27/2021, in-process environmental monitoring detected 102.0 particles/ft³ over 0.5 µm on the filling side of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432, while filling 1 mg Fentanyl in 0.9% Sodium Chloride Injection 100 ml (10 mcg/ml) Batch: S21349, Lot: CAI, Released: 08/30/2021, Expiration Date: 03/23/2022. Your investigation concluded that the port vibratory bowl was activated during sampling and produced particles detected on the filling side of the machine. This implies that the filling system and designed flow of HEPA filtered air is incapable of excluding particles generated on the component side from the filling side near the filling needles. You determined, without adequate justification, that there is no product impact as a result of this over-action in-process particle count event and you released the lot in full for distribution.

ii. On 08/02/2021, in-process environmental monitoring detected 108.0 particles/ft³ over 0.5 µm on the filling side of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432, while filling 2.5 mg Fentanyl in 0.9% Sodium Chloride Injection 250 ml (10 mcg/ml) Batch: S21358, Lot: CAR, Released: 08/30/2021, Expiration Date: 03/30/2022. Your investigation concluded that particles were generated in the filler zone due to a port insertion arm and rails requiring adjustment and loose hardware requiring tightening. You determined, without adequate justification, that there is no product impact as a result of this over-action in-process particle count event and you released the lot in full for distribution.

iii. On 08/04/2021, in-process environmental monitoring detected 162.0 particles/ft³ over 0.5 µm on the filling side of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432, while filling 1 mg Fentanyl in 0.9% Sodium Chloride Injection 100 ml (10 mcg/ml) Batch: S21356, Lot: CAP, Released: 09/08/2021, Expiration Date: 04/01/2022. There were no corrective actions reported in your investigation. You determined, without adequate justification, that there is no product impact as a result of this over-action in-process particle count event and you released the lot in full for distribution.

iv. On 08/11/2021, in-process environmental monitoring detected 103.0 particles/ft³ over 0.5 µm on the filling side of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432, while filling 1 mg Fentanyl in 0.9% Sodium Chloride Injection 100 ml (10 mcg/ml) Batch: S21373, Lot: CBG. Your investigation concluded that particles were generated in the filler zone due to loose thumb screws and tri-clamps and station 2 stoppering arm was not working properly. Your investigation concluded, without adequate justification, that there is no product impact as a result of this over-action in-process particle count event and disposition of the subject lot is pending review.

c. Your investigation, MIR-2021-463, was written for two events of over-action in-process particle counts on the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432 during production of drug products as follows:

i. On 08/20/2021, in-process environmental monitoring detected 894.0 particles/ft³ over 0.5 µm, exceeding the Action Limit: ≤100 particles/ft³ over 0.5 µm, on the filling side of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432, while filling 1 mg/ml Midazolam in 0.9% Sodium Chloride 100 ml, Batch: S21391, Lot: CBY.

ii. On 08/23/2021, in-process environmental monitoring detected 148.0 particles/ft³ over 0.5 µm, exceeding the Action Limit: ≤100 particles/ft³ over 0.5 µm, on the filling side of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # E0432, while filling 1 mg/ml

Your investigation, MIR-2021-463, determined that equipment malfunctions including a leaking solenoid, vacuum generator "blowing out occasionally" and loose hardware are the root cause of these overaction limit particle counts. Your investigation concluded, without adequate justification, that there is no product impact as a result of these over-action in-process particle count events and disposition of the subject lots is pending review.

OBSERVATION 7

Procedures for the cleaning and maintenance of equipment are deficient regarding the protection of clean equipment from contamination prior to use.

Specifically:

Equipment used on the IV bag filling line #E0432 including drug product component contact change parts and utensils required to be sterile is not adequately protected from contamination before use. Equipment and change parts used in production in the ISO 5 classified zone of the IV bag filling line, such as the utensil box, tweezers, scoop, and vibratory bowl is sterilized in Hotpack oven #E0333. This oven is situated in an unclassified area adjacent to the process water production area. Per SOP PRD213, "Sterilization of Bag Filler Components and Equipment in Hotpack Oven E0333," the equipment is triple-wrapped in "heavy duty Reynolds aluminum foil or equivalent" prior to sterilization in the oven, and any rips in the outer foil layer may be repaired with high temperature 3M tape. After the wrapped equipment is sterilized, it is removed from the oven and placed on a transfer cart, the cart is moved to the controlled unclassified "transition area," and the outer layer of foil is sprayed with sterile 70% IPA.

The SOP does not specify for how long the equipment may remain in the transition zone wrapped in foil prior to use.

OBSERVATION 8

Procedures designed to prevent microbiological contamination of drug products purporting to be sterile did not include adequate validation of the aseptic process.

Specifically:

1. You have not validated polymer extrusion/sterilization in BFS machines BFS 172, Equipment # E0201 and BFS 321-190, Equipment # E0581. More specifically you have not validated that time temperature conditions of the extrusion (parison formation) process are effective against endotoxin or spore challenges in the polymeric material that makes up the drug product primary container closure.

   BFS 172 is used to produce drug products intended to be sterile including 20mg Phenylephrine HCl in 0.9% Sodium Chloride Injection, Batch: S21159, packaged as Lot: BTQ, Released: 04/30/2021, Expiration Date: 01/30/2022.

   BFS 321-190 is used to produce drug products intended to be sterile including Sodium Bicarbonate 150mEq/1000ml in 5% Dextrose Injection, Batch: S21061, packaged as Lot: BPW, Released: 02/23/2021, Expiration Date: 12/28/2021.

2. Operators are permitted to participate in aseptic production on a given line prior to completing a successful aseptic simulation on that line. For example:

a. Operator SF participated in the production of commercial sodium bicarbonate batches S19197 in June 2019 and S19199 in July 2019 on the IV bag filling line # E0432. One of his roles is to spray the outer package of the sterile IV bags with sterile Peridox RTU and place the package in the material isolator pass-thru adjacent to the bag filling station, as documented in step 83 of batch S19197. The only aseptic simulation documented in SF's training record was on the syringe line # E0433 on January 27, 2021. This occurred both after he participated in commercial aseptic production on the IV bag filler in 2019 and on a different production line (syringe line # E0433). No documentation of SF participating in an aseptic simulation on the IV bag filling line # E0432 has been provided.

b. Operator FL participated in the production of commercial sodium bicarbonate batches S19115 and S19117 in March 2019 on the IV bag filling line # E0432. One of his roles on this line is collecting prefiltration bioburden samples, as documented in step 18 of batch s19115. He completed an aseptic simulation on this line in September 2019, after the batches were produced in March 2019. Thus, FL participated in aseptic production prior to participating in an aseptic simulation for that production line.

OBSERVATION 9

Protective apparel is not worn as necessary to protect drug products from contamination.

Personnel in street clothes, handled the drug product for visual inspection and insertion of the BFS IV bags into secondary packaging (pouches) before sealing.

OBSERVATION 10

The written stability program for drug products does not include meaningful test methods.

Specifically:

Your stability program SOP-VAL-0097 does not evaluate the photostability of light-sensitive drug products in the marketed packaging. Examples of such products are 2 mg epinephrine in 0.9% sodium chloride injection 250 mL (8 mcg/mL) and 1 mg fentanyl in 0.9% sodium chloride injection 100 mL (10 mcg/mL). Although in accordance with your protocols the stability samples remain within their marketed secondary packaging consisting of foil-lined pouches throughout the hold time, your firm lacks sufficient evidence through direct testing to show that the secondary packaging adequately protects drug products from light.

OBSERVATION 11

Employees are not given training in the particular operations they perform as part of their function.

Specifically:

1. Investigation MIR-2020-008 states that a root cause of the sterility failure for 150 mEq sodium bicarbonate in 5% dextrose batch S19433/Lot ATK, manufactured 12/13/19, was a lack of training of an operator (JW) participating in the aseptic production of that batch. The batch was produced on IV Bag filling line #E0432, and the organism was identified as Burkholderia multivorans. MIR-2019-394 was opened to address JW's production activities prior to training. It indicates that he did not complete the prerequisite training module MOD00002 "General GMP" until 12/23/19, 10 days after he participated in batch production. This practice conflicts with your SOP QAS 209 "Training Program," which states, "Employees, consultants, interns and contractors will be trained on procedures required to perform their job functions prior to performing the tasks described in the procedure.".

2. Operator FL participated in the production of commercial sodium bicarbonate batches S19115 and S19117 on the IV bag filling line (E0432) in March 2019. His training record shows that he was "first trained" to operate the bag filling line in early March 2019 but was not considered "fully trained" until September 6, 2019, which is after batches S19115 and S19117 were produced. Training form TRN00114-ASSESS (Version A) defines "first training" as watching the activity, and "full training" as performing the activity independently and accurately. Thus, FL participated in aseptic production prior to being certified to perform production independently and accurately.

OBSERVATION 12

Complaint records are deficient in that they do not include the known reply to complainant.

Specifically:

Complainants do not always receive a final written response to their drug product complaint. For instance, you have received complaints for four adverse events since the last inspection and investigated these, but your records do not include a final written response to the complainant regarding investigation findings. Firm management confirmed that a written response was not issued. SOP QAS205 "Customer Complaints and Adverse Events" also does not require a written response to the complainant.

Product complaint PC-2019-011, concerning a hair found on the outside of a pouch of 20 mg phenylephrine in 0.9% sodium chloride (lot AMI, manufactured 29 March 2019), contains the following text in an e-mail from the supervising pharmacist to the complainant: "Our sterile phenylephrine IV product is filled and sealed within a sterile ISO5 automated system. The sealed bottle is then labeled and packaged in a clean room."
   This lot was produced on blow-fill-seal (BFS) machine 172 (E0201) in Filling Room 2. The containers were capped in a separate ISO 7 area. The sealed containers were then labeled and packaged (pouched) in an unclassified room.

2. Complaint record PC-2020-135, regarding broken IV bags of 150 mEq sodium bicarbonate in 5% dextrose (Lot BCE, manufactured 13 May 2020) includes an e-mail from the supervising pharmacist to the complainant stating that your automated filling system "fills and seals the sterile container within an ISO5 chamber. This sealed and sterile final product is then inspected, labeled, and placed in the labeled foil pouch in an ISO7 room." This lot was produced on the IV bag filling line(E0432) in Filling Room 4 and inspected, labeled, and packaged (pouched) in an unclassified room. The complainant replies to the supervising pharmacist, "This information confirms my understanding of your processes, which was that the package preparation and filling all take place in an ISO5 or better environment and the integrity of the drug was never compromised or in danger of being compromised."

July 18, 2022

Dr. Peter A. Kaemmerer
Chief Executive Officer
Sagent Pharmaceuticals, Inc.
1901 N. Roselle Road, Suite 450
Schaumburg, IL 60195

Dear Dr. Kaemmerer:

You registered your facility with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) as an outsourcing facility under section 503B of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FDCA) [21 U.S.C. § 353b][1] on May 29, 2015, and reregistered most recently on November 29, 2021. From September 21, 2021 to November 4, 2021, FDA investigators inspected your facility that was acquired by Sagent Pharmaceuticals, Inc., SterRx, LLC, located at 141 Idaho Avenue, Plattsburgh, NY 12903. During the inspection, the investigators noted serious deficiencies in your practices for producing drug products intended or expected to be sterile, which put patients at risk.

FDA issued a Form FDA 483 to your facility on November 4, 2021, and an amended Form FDA 483 on December 1, 2021. FDA acknowledges receipt of your facility's responses, including correspondence dated November 23, 2021, January 31, 2022, March 31, 2022, and June 30, 2022. FDA also acknowledges that your firm voluntarily ceased "production and distribution of all aseptically processed products" as of October 5, 2021. In addition, we acknowledge that on November 12, 2021, your firm initiated a voluntary recall of approximately 240 lots of certain drug products intended to be sterile that were within expiry due to a lack of sterility assurance. Furthermore, FDA acknowledges your firm's February 4, 2022 "45-day Notification of Intent to Resume Distribution" of sterile products on or after March 21, 2022 and your firm's commitment to destroy 36 in-process lots pursuant to a teleconference held on March 21, 2022. Based on this inspection, it appears you produced drugs that violate the FDCA.

A. Compounded Drug Products under the FDCA

Under section 503B(b) of the FDCA, a compounder can register as an outsourcing facility with FDA. Drug products compounded by or under the direct supervision of a licensed pharmacist in an outsourcing facility qualify for exemptions from the drug approval requirements in section 505 of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. § 355(a)], the requirement in section 502(f)(1) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. § 352(f)(1)] that labeling bear adequate directions for use and the Drug Supply Chain Security Act requirements in section 582 of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. § 360eee-1] if the conditions in section 503B of the FDCA are met.[2]

An outsourcing facility, which is defined in section 503B(d)(4) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. § 353b(d)(4)], is a facility at one geographic location or address that — (i) is engaged in the compounding of sterile drugs; (ii) has elected to register as an outsourcing facility; and (iii) complies with all of the requirements of this section. Outsourcing facilities must comply with other applicable provisions of the FDCA, including section 501(a)(2)(B) [21 U.S.C. § 351(a)(2)(B)], regarding current good manufacturing practice (CGMP), and section 501(a)(2)(A) [21 U.S.C. § 351(a)(2)(A)], regarding insanitary conditions. Generally, CGMP requirements for the preparation of drug products are established in Title 21 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) parts 210 and 211.

C. Violations of the FDCA

Adulterated Drug Products

FDA investigators noted that drug products intended or expected to be sterile were prepared, packed, or held under insanitary conditions, whereby they may have become contaminated with filth or rendered injurious to health, causing your drug products to be adulterated under section 501(a)(2)(A) of the FDCA. For example, the investigators observed that:

1. Your facility is designed and operated in a way that first air is either not provided or blocked within ISO 5 areas where critical in-process operations are performed. For example:
    a. Lack of first pass air over unwrapped, open IV bags prior to filling.

[2] We remind you that there are conditions, other than those discussed in this letter, that must be satisfied to qualify for the exemptions in section 503B of the FDCA.

b. Blocked first pass air for exposed sterile closures (ports and syringe plungers) during introduction and conveyance on IV bag filling lines.

2. Your smoke studies demonstrated that the air in an ISO 5 classified zone was turbulent and non-laminar near areas where IV bag filling and sealing are performed.

3. You did not perform adequate product evaluation and take appropriate corrective action after microbial contamination was recovered within the ISO 5 aseptic processing area.

4. Your firm does not maintain the sterility of inter seals and outer closures for IV bags during production. Blow Fill Seal (BFS) IV bags and caps with ports are exposed to worse than ISO 5 quality air prior to and during assembly/capping.

5. The ISO-classified areas had visibly dirty equipment and difficult to clean surfaces. Specifically, chipped and missing paint, apparent rust, adhesive tape, and a build-up of residues were observed on and around BFS equipment in an area where parisons are cut and conveyed to the point of aseptic filling.

6. Sterilized equipment and utensils wrapped in aluminum foil and tape were stored in your "transition area," an unclassified area, without an established hold time to ensure that these items remain sterile.

FDA investigators also noted CGMP violations at your facility, that caused your drug product(s) to be adulterated within the meaning of section 501(a)(2)(B) of the FDCA. The violations include, for example:

1. Your firm failed to establish an adequate air supply filtered through high-efficiency particulate air filters under positive pressure in the aseptic processing areas (21 CFR 211.42(c)(10)(iii)).

2. Your firm failed to establish an adequate system for monitoring environmental conditions in aseptic processing areas (21 CFR 211.42(c)(10)(iv)).

3. Your firm failed to ensure container closure systems provide protection against foreseeable external factors in storage and use that can cause deterioration or contamination of the drug product (21 CFR 211.94(b)).

4. Your firm failed to use equipment in the manufacture, processing, packing, or holding of drug products that is of appropriate design, adequate size, and suitably located to facilitate operations for its intended use and for its cleaning and maintenance (21 CFR 211.63).

5. Your firm failed to ensure that substances required for equipment operations, such as lubricants and coolants, do not come in contact with components, drug product containers, closures, in-process materials, or drug products so as to alter the safety, identity, strength, quality or purity of the drug product beyond the official or other established requirements (211.65(b)).

6. Your firm failed to thoroughly investigate any unexplained discrepancy or failure of a batch or any of its components to meet any of its specifications, whether or not the batch has already been distributed (21 CFR 211.192).

7. Your firm failed to clean, maintain, and, as appropriate for the nature of the drug, sanitize and/or sterilize equipment and utensils at appropriate intervals to prevent malfunctions or contamination that would alter the safety, identity, strength, quality, or purity of the drug product beyond the official or other established requirements (21 CFR 211.67(a)).

8. Your firm failed to establish and follow appropriate written procedures that are designed to prevent microbiological contamination of drug products purporting to be sterile, and that include validation of all aseptic and sterilization processes (21 CFR 211.113(b)).

Outsourcing facilities must comply with CGMP requirements under section 501(a)(2)(B) of the FDCA. FDA's regulations regarding CGMP requirements for the preparation of drug products have been established in 21 CFR parts 210 and 211. FDA intends to promulgate more specific CGMP regulations for outsourcing facilities. FDA has issued a revised draft guidance, Current Good Manufacturing Practice — Guidance for Human Drug Compounding Outsourcing Facilities under Section 503B of the FD&C Act. This draft guidance, when finalized, will describe FDA's expectations regarding outsourcing facilities and the CGMP requirements in 21 CFR parts 210 and 211 until more specific CGMP regulations for outsourcing facilities are promulgated.

Under section 301(a) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. § 331(a)], the introduction or delivery for introduction into interstate commerce of any drug that is adulterated is a prohibited act. Further, it is a prohibited act under section 301(k) of the FDCA [21 U.S.C. § 331(k)] to do any act with respect to a drug, if such act is done while the drug is held for sale after shipment in interstate commerce and results in the drug being adulterated.

D. Corrective Actions

We have reviewed your facility's responses to the Form FDA 483. FDA acknowledges that your firm voluntarily ceased "production and distribution of all aseptically processed products" as of October 5, 2021, and that your firm intended to resume distribution of sterile products on or after March 21, 2022. We also acknowledge that on November 12, 2021, your firm initiated a voluntary recall of certain lots of drug products intended to be sterile that were within expiry due to a lack of sterility assurance. In addition, we acknowledge that your firm voluntarily destroyed seven (7) in-process lots in March 2022 and one (1) in-process lot on May 2, 2022. Furthermore,

FDA acknowledges your "intent to continue [the voluntary destruction] process with the remaining 28 WIP lots within inventory..."

We are unable to fully evaluate some of your corrective actions due to lack of adequate supporting documentation. For example:

1. In response to Observation 1 of the Form FDA 483, you stated in part: new smoke studies will be performed; environmental monitoring for particles will be revised; BFS machinery and surrounding barriers will be assessed; integrity testing (leak check test) will be performed, equipment that remains in use will be relocated to ensure first pass air is not blocked; and employee training will be provided to include operator prevention of obstructing first pass air. However, you did not provide:

    a. CMTs 2021-424, 2021-426, 2021-427, 2021-428, 2021-429, 2021-430, and 2021-431 referenced in your response pertaining to new smoke studies, changes to particle monitoring, equipment and barrier assessment, leak check testing, and operator training.
    b. Change controls 2021-109 and 2021-110 referenced in your response pertaining to decommissioning of filling lines, installation of new particle monitoring equipment, and environmental monitoring revisions.

2. In response to Observation 2 of the Form FDA 483, you provided a written risk assessment for capping of BFS IV bags and a study evaluating the sterility of caps. However, you did not provide any supporting documentation, such as air certification reports, to demonstrate that the caps and bags are not exposed to worse than ISO 5 quality air during loading, conveying, and capping.

3. In response to Observation 3 of the Form FDA 483, you stated in part: limits for the ISO 5 zones will be changed to 1 CFU and require an investigation; environmental monitoring limits will be standardized to metric units; and the entire environmental monitoring program will be evaluated. Additionally, your response stated continuous particle counting will be implemented and a probe will be added in close proximity to the vibratory bowl. However, you did not provide:

    a. CMTs 2021-435 and 2021-436 referenced in your response pertaining to your environmental monitoring evaluation, revised procedures for ISO 5 zones, and changes to particle monitoring.
    b. Completed document change controls DCC-002749 and DCC-003733 referenced in your response pertaining to revised viable action limits.

4. In response to Observation 4 of the Form FDA 483, you stated in part: the bag filling line would be decommissioned and a new corporate policy, PQL-QA-0025 will be implemented to ensure equipment is adequate for GMP processes. However, you did not provide a copy of PQL-QA-0025 or CMT 2021-444 referenced in your response for policy implementation and employee training.

5. In response to Observation 5 of the Form FDA 483, you stated in part: the bag filling line would be decommissioned; an assessment would be performed for all product contact lubricants; and SOP-VAL-0103, Equipment/Utility and Software Validation/Qualification, would be revised to include a requirement to assess lubricants as part of equipment qualification. However, you did not provide a copy of the revised SOP-VAL-0103 or CMTs 2021-438 and 2021-439 referenced in your response for SOP revisions and employee training.

6. In response to Observation 6 of the Form FDA 483, you stated in part: the site will transition to compliance software for non-conformances and CAPAs; enhanced training for aseptic techniques and investigations will be developed; and SOP-QA-0157, Manufacturing Investigation Procedure, will be revised. However, you did not provide:

    a. CMT 2021-414 referenced in your response pertaining to your changes to investigations, CAPAs, and related training.
    b. A copy of SOP-QA-0157.

7. In response to Observation 7 of the Form FDA 483, you stated in part: SOP-VAL-0103, Equipment/Utility and Software Validation/Qualification, will be revised and employee training will be conducted. However, you did not provide a copy of SOP-VAL-0103 or CMT 2021-439 referenced in your response for SOP revisions and employee training.

8. In response to Observation 8 of the Form FDA 483, you stated in part: revisions will be made to SOP-P-0435, Operation and Maintenance of the Resin Delivery System. However, you did not provide a copy of SOP-P-0435 or CMT 2021-411 referenced in your response. Additionally, you did not provide supporting documentation referenced in the attachment identified as MEMO-VAL-0037 including but not limited to third-party studies for the lethality of the BFS polymer extrusion process.

In addition to the issues discussed above, you should note that CGMP requires the implementation of quality oversight and controls over the manufacture of drugs, including the safety of raw materials, materials used in drug manufacturing, and finished drug products. See section 501 of the FDCA. If you choose to contract with a laboratory to perform some functions required by CGMP, it is essential that you select a qualified contractor and that you maintain sufficient oversight of the contractor's operations to ensure that it is fully CGMP compliant. Regardless of whether you rely on a contract facility, you are responsible for assuring that drugs you produce are neither adulterated nor misbranded. [See 21 CFR 210.1(b), 21 CFR 200.10(b).]

FDA strongly recommends that your management undertake a comprehensive assessment of operations, including facility design, procedures, personnel, processes, maintenance, materials, and systems. In particular, this review should assess your aseptic processing operations. We also recommend a third-party consultant with relevant sterile drug manufacturing expertise to assist you in conducting this comprehensive evaluation.

E. Conclusion

The violations cited in this letter are not intended to be an all-inclusive statement of violations at your facility. You are responsible for investigating and determining the causes of any violations and for preventing their recurrence or the occurrence of other violations. It is your responsibility to ensure that your firm complies with all requirements of federal law, including FDA regulations.

You should take prompt action to address any violations. Failure to adequately address any violations may result in legal action without further notice, including, without limitation, seizure and injunction.

Within fifteen (15) working days of receipt of this letter, please notify this office in writing of the specific steps you have taken to address any violations, or you may inform us that you do not intend to resume production of drugs intended or expected to be sterile. This letter notifies you of our concerns and provides you an opportunity to address them. If you believe your products are not in violation of the FDCA, include your reasoning and any supporting information for our consideration. If you cannot completely address this matter within fifteen (15) working days, state the reason for the delay and the time within which you will do so.

RESPONSE TO WARNING LETTER #636636

RESPONSE: General items

As stated during the inspection, in our FDA 483 and WL responses, as part of the integration into Sagent Pharmaceuticals, SterRx was in the process of implementing changes to facilities, utilities, and equipment. This includes the following:

- Two new IV bag filler lines were scheduled for installation and qualification:
    - A new IV Bag Filler Line E0655 was qualified on 20 Apr 2022.
    - Due to production capacity currently being fulfilled with the first IV Bag Filler Line, the second IV Bag Filler Line E0670 that was scheduled to be qualified in September 2022 has been postponed to Q1 2023.
- Two new labelers have been qualified for Blow Fill Seal BFS 321 bottles and all pouch labeling completed 15 September 2022. This improvement has eliminated manual labeling.
- The Maintenance System (Fluke eMaint Computerized Maintenance Management System (CMMS)) software was implemented on 27 September 2022. This improvement replaces a paper-based system.
- A new 60,000 sq. ft. warehouse located on Connecticut Rd., Plattsburgh, NY has been constructed, and SterRx gained occupancy of this leased warehouse on 22 Aug 2022. Upon approval by the New York State Board of Pharmacy, the new warehouse activities will include the following:
    - Incoming Receiving area.
    - Relocation of support staff for warehouse activities and general office space.
    - Distribution process using JD Edwards Enterprise ERP system for distribution of Finished Product to hospitals (excluding Controlled Substances).
    - Finished Product that is a Controlled Substance will continue to be distributed from the main SterRx facility located at 141 Idaho Avenue.

SterRx resolution of FDA 483 and Warning Letter observations have been supplemented with the ongoing engagement of RCA consultants. We have also engaged two additional independent consulting firms with significant expertise in aseptic processing, 503B Outsourcing Facility compounding, and training to help provide additional system assessments and training.

- Regulatory Compliance Associates Inc. (RCA) performed a comprehensive assessment of operations, facility design, procedures, personnel, processes, maintenance, materials and systems. The RCA Assessment consisted of three separate weeks and was completed on 14 October 2022. The assessment highlighted areas for continuous improvement and opportunities to expand the current updated processes and procedures related to corrective actions in response to the FDA 483 (November 2021) and FDA Warning Letter (July 2022). The assessment had zero critical observations. SterRx is in-process of implementing an action plan to address the findings of the RCA Assessment with a target for approval of the RCA Action Plan on or before 15 November 2022.

- Compliance Insight provided additional Aseptic Processing Training to Operations, Quality, Engineering, Microbiology, Pharmacy, Materials Management, and Senior Management staff. The training was completed on 19-21 September 2022. See attached training documentation.
- Amicus GMP Consulting, Kristopher Le, Pharm.D. and Becca Mitchell, PharmD performed a comprehensive assessment of 503B Compounding requirements and procedures. The Amicus GMP assessment was completed 03 October 2022. The assessment stated there were zero critical deficiencies noted during the assessment of SterRx's readiness for a follow-up inspection from FDA to its previous inspection in November 2021. The audit focused on the 503B production facility and aseptic processing procedures.

  The recent corrective actions performed in response to the November 2021 Form 483 and subsequent voluntary shutdown and recall represented positive steps toward regulatory compliance. SterRx is in-process of implementing an action plan to address the findings of the Amicus Assessment with a target for approval of the Amicus GMP Action Plan on or before 15 November 2022.

The results from the consulting activity have been reviewed by SterRx and Sagent Pharmaceuticals executive management.

Training: Additional training oversight was started on 25 Jul 2022, with the SterRx Production Supervisor who has been assigned a three-month assignment for monitoring production sanitization, room and equipment setup, and aseptic production behavior. The Production Supervisor has been providing updates to SterRx management on the effectiveness of the training provided to operators on aseptic techniques approximately every two weeks during this timeframe. A CAPA record in Trackwise PR 41105 has been closed on 28 October 2022. See the attached Trackwise PR 41105.

Fentanyl Recall: During the inspection of Fentanyl stability samples from the first two PPQ batches it was noted a room temperature sample was leaking. This SterRx stability testing observation was on 15 Jun 22. The investigation was conducted, and distribution of Product was halted and product inventory was placed in quarantine pending resolution on 22 Jun 22. The root cause identified was an incomplete seal on the filling port. The IV bag is aseptically filled and then the bag is sealed. Due to leaking IV bags noted during an additional AQL inspection, both lots were recalled.

Recall RES# 90653
Recall Number: D-1331-2022 FentaNYL Citrate in 0.9% Sodium Chloride 1 mg per 100 mL (10 mcg per mL) IV bags Lot CHI.
Recall Number: D-1332-2022 FentaNYL Citrate in 0.9% Sodium Chloride, 2.5 mg per 250 mL, (10 mcg per mL) IV bags Lot CHL

No product complaints or adverse events have been reported for these lots to-date. All customers affected by this recall have been notified and have responded/returned recalled product as of 28 Sep 2022.

Syringe Line Decommissioned: As part of the decommissioning of equipment, SterRx has further evaluated the use of the SterRx Syringe Line in Fill Room 5. Due to market demand, it was determined the best path forward was to decommission Syringe Line. The Syringe line was taken out of service on 30 Jun 2022.

SterRx and Sagent Pharmaceuticals are fully committed to the resolution and close out of the July 18, 2022, FDA Warning Letter. Below is a summary of the status of our FDA 483 activities since November 2021 and commitments in the August 2022 Response to WL:

Notes

1. The "initial date of registration as an outsourcing facility" is the date the facility was first registered (i.e., the date FDA determined that the initial registration information submitted for the facility was complete, and for firms first registering on or after October 1, 2014, the establishment fee was paid in full).

Under section 503B(b) of the FD&C Act, after the initial registration, a facility that elects to continue to be registered with FDA as an outsourcing facility must re-register annually. Beginning in fiscal year (FY) 2015 (October 1, 2014 to September 30, 2015), a facility that elects to register (or re-register) with FDA as an outsourcing facility must pay an annual establishment fee. The "date of most recent registration as an outsourcing facility" reflects the date FDA determined the most recently submitted registration information was complete and the annual establishment fee for that fiscal year paid in full.

DURING AN INSPECTION OF YOUR FIRM WE OBSERVED:

OBSERVATION 1

Aseptic processing areas are deficient regarding air supply that is filtered through high-efficiency particulate air filters under (b) (4) pressure.

Specifically:

1. Blow-Fill-Seal (BFS) operations in you(b) (4) process, including (b) (4) and shuttling of the (b) (4) to the point of aseptic filling, are conducted under air supplied at lesser quality than ISO 5. (b) (4) are exposed during (b) (4) and shuttling within the ISO 7 classified zone to the point of aseptic filling in BFS machines BFS (b) (4) Equipment # (b) (4) and BFS (b) (4) , Equipment # (b) (4)

   Furthermore, you have not evaluated the airflow pattern and airborne particulates in the critical processing zones during operation of BFS machines BFS (b) (4) and BFS (b) (4) where (b) (4) and the (b) (4) are shuttled to the point of aseptic filling.

   BFS (b) (4) is used to produce drug products intended to be sterile including 20mg Phenylephrine HCl in 0.9% Sodium Chloride Injection, Batch: (b) (4) packaged as Lot: (b) (4), Released: 04/30/2021, Expiration Date: 01/30/2022.

   BFS (b) (4) is used to produce drug products intended to be sterile including Sodium Bicarbonate 150mEq/1000ml in 5% Dextrose Injection, Batch: (b) (4) packaged as Lot: (b) (4), Released: 02/23/2021, Expiration Date: 12/28/2021.

2. The design and construction of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # (b) (4) and its enclosure do not provide first pass HEPA-filtered laminar flow air over all critical areas within the ISO 5 classified zone as follows:

   a. Your dynamic airflow pattern study conducted under protocol PR-2018-187(b) (4) and reported in RPT-2018-187-(b) (4) Bag Filling and Sealing Machine (b) (4) Smoke Study, identified turbulence and upward flow of air near Fill Station (b) (4) This airflow condition was accepted and approved on 10/15/2019 by your firm management without attempting corrective actions.

   b. Direct coverage by first pass HEPA-filtered laminar flow air is not provided over the filling side of the (b) (4) Bag Filling and Sealing Machine where open IV bags are (b) (4) removed from wrapping and exposed, held, and passed to the filling section of the line.

   c. First pass HEPA-filtered laminar flow air is blocked by the "(b) (4) " over approximately one half of the (b) (4) bowl and the track system (b) (4) to the filling side of the (b) (4) Bag Filling and Sealing Machine. Furthermore, your airflow pattern study reported in RPT-2018-187-(b) (4) Bag Filling and Sealing Machine (b) (4) Smoke Study, did not evaluate the airflow pattern in the area of the (b) (4) bowl and track system where it is obstructed by the (b) (4) .

   The IV Bag filling line, Equipment # (b) (4) is used to produce drug products intended to be sterile including Midazolam 1 mg/ml in 0.9% Sodium Chloride, 100ml fill in 100ml IV Bag, Batch: (b) (4) packaged as Lot: (b) (4), Released: 05/07/2021, Expiration Date: 11/19/2021.

3. First pass HEPA-filtered laminar flow air is obstructed by the (b) (4) and (b) (4) and the (b) (4) bowl over open, partial bags of syringe plungers held adjacent to the (b) (4) bowl

OBSERVATION 2

Container closure systems do not provide adequate protection against foreseeable external factors in storage and use that can cause deterioration or contamination of the drug product.

Specifically:

You do not maintain the sterility of the cap and bag interfacing surfaces and the interstitial space making up the container closure of BFS IV bags containing sterile drug products. Furthermore, the container closure is not designed such that the user can sanitize the surface(s) before spiking for administration to a patient. More specifically:

(b) (4)
(b) (4) , before capping under ISO 7 conditions. BFS (b) (4) and the offline capping system are used to produce drug products intended to be sterile including 20mg Phenylephrine HCl in 0.9% Sodium Chloride Injection,

2. The cap and bag interfacing surfaces and the interstitial space making up the container closure of BFS IV bags containing drug products produced in BFS (b) (4) , Equipment # (b) (4) are not maintained sterile and are exposed to less than ISO 5 environmental conditions. BFS IV bags containing drug products produced in BFS (b) (4) are conveyed and capped (b) (4) under ISO 7 classified conditions. OBSERVATION 3

Aseptic processing areas are deficient regarding the system for monitoring environmental conditions.

Specifically:

1. Your surface and airborne viable monitoring program for aseptic filling operations is not designed and conducted to provide meaningful data to support the quality of your drug products intended to be sterile. Your firm's procedures permit surface and air samples from within ISO 5 environments to yield microbiological contaminants of (b) (4) without conducting an investigation. More specifically:

    a. Prior to revision in August 2021 your environmental monitoring plans and specifications for surface viable monitoring permitted (b) (4) microbial recoveries on filling needles and mandrels (BFS) in the critical filling zones of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # (b) (4) Syringe Line, Equipment # (b) (4) BFS (b) (4) Equipment # (b) (4) and BFS (b) (4) (b) (4) Equipment # (b) (4) without requirements for investigation and action. No corrective actions are taken for excursions over ISO 5 air classifications that are within your internal specifications. OBSERVATION 4

Equipment used in the manufacture, processing, packing or holding of drug products is not of appropriate design to facilitate operations for its cleaning and maintenance.

Specifically:

The design and construction of BFS (b) (4) Equipment # (b) (4) incorporates machine parts that are particle generating and difficult to sanitize within the ISO 7 classified zone of your (b) (4) process equipment. During the inspection we observed the following within the ISO 7 Classified shrouded area of BFS (b) (4) painted machine parts were chipped and missing paint; the machine frame had signs of surface corrosion; wiring was hanging and secured with tape; tubing was hanging; and there was a build-up of resin residues. Additionally, tubing and wiring are not routed and secured in a manner to prevent chaffing and particle generation. The ISO 7 classified area where these conditions were observed houses the critical processing zone of BFS (b) (4) where (b) (4) are shuttled to the point of aseptic filling. BFS (b) (4) is used to produce drug products intended to be sterile including 20mg

There is a failure to thoroughly review any unexplained discrepancy and the failure of a batch or any of its components to meet any of its specifications whether or not the batch has been already distributed.

Specifically:

You lack complete information about the environmental conditions in critical areas during aseptic filling operations necessary for investigation and determination of the full product impact and root cause of environmental excursions and drug product sterility failures. Furthermore, your lack of complete environmental data and root cause identification diminishes your ability to determine and implement effective corrective and preventive actions. For example:

1. Since June 2019 you have reported three drug product sterility failures for lots produced on the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # (b) (4) Conclusions from your investigations are as follows:
   a. Your investigation, MIR-2019-350, for 150mEq Sodium Bicarbonate in 5% Dextrose batch (b) (4) Lot (b) (4), manufactured on (b) (4), out of specification (OOS) results for Particulate Matter per USP<788> and Not Sterile per USP<71>, was inconclusive. Organisms recovered were identified as Herbaspirillum huttiense and Burkholderia multivorans. The batch was rejected. There was no assignable cause determined and no CAPA initiated. Your investigation failed to attempt identification of the particulate matter in the drug product samples and use such information to assist in determining the root cause of the event and effective CAPA. Your investigation failed to consider whether an inadequate environmental monitoring program for the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # (b) (4) and equipment design deficiencies affecting airflow in critical areas contributed to this event.

   b. Your investigation, MIR-2020-008, for 150mEq Sodium Bicarbonate in 5% Dextrose batch (b) (4) Lot (b) (4), manufactured on (b) (4) OOS result Not Sterile per USP<71>, identified inadequate methods for cleaning and sanitization of the IV Bag filling line following maintenance interventions. The organism recovered was identified as

c. Your investigation, MIR-2020-127, for 150mEq Sodium Bicarbonate in 5% Dextrose batch (b) (4) Lot (b) (4), manufactured on (b) (4) , OOS result Not Sterile per USP<71>, was inconclusive. The batch was rejected. Although there was no assignable cause attributable to the contract laboratory your investigation concluded that the most likely cause of this event was contamination during testing since the analyst performed (b) (4) tests on the day that the subject sample was tested, and the organism (Staphylococcus epidermidis) only grew in one media. Your investigation failed to consider whether an inadequate environmental monitoring program for the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # (b) (4) and equipment design deficiencies affecting airflow in critical areas contributed to this event.

2. Your investigation, MIR-2020-099, for 150mEq Sodium Bicarbonate in 5% Dextrose batch (b) (4) Lot (b) (4), manufactured on BFS (b) (4) Equipment # (b) (4) on 03/18-19/2020, OOS result Not Sterile per USP<71>, was inconclusive. The organism recovered was identified as Bacillus subtilis. The batch was rejected. There was no assignable cause determined and no CAPA initiated. Your investigation failed to identify the BFS (b) (4) Equipment # (b) (4) condition and inadequate environmental monitoring program as potentially contributing to this event.

3. Your investigations including MIR-2021-310, MIR-2021-421, and MIR-2021-463 in response to airborne particle count exceeding action limits in the critical zone of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # (b) (4) conclude that multiple equipment related issues inherent to the filling process on the IV Bag filling line are the root cause of the subject events. You determined that there was no product impact resulting from these events due to acceptable viable monitoring results, visual inspection results, and finished product release testing results and all batches/lots implicated in these

a. Your investigation, MIR-2021-310, was written for three events of over-action in-process particle counts on the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # (b) (4) during production of drug products as follows:

   i. 0n 06/03/2021, in-process environmental monitoring detected 708.0 particles/ft³ over (b) (4) µm, exceeding the Action Limit: (b) (4) particles/ft³ over (b) (4) µm, on the filling side of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # (b) (4) while filling 125 mg Diltiazem D5W/125mg Diltiazem 0.7% Sodium Chloride Batch: (b) (4) Lot: (b) (4), Released: 07/14/2021, Expiration Date: 01/28/2022.

Your investigation, MIR-2021-310, concluded that multiple equipment malfunctions including (b) (4) are the root cause of these overaction limit particle counts. You determined, without adequate justification, that there is no product impact as a result of these over-action in-process particle count events and you released each lot in full for distribution.

b. Your investigation, MIR-2021-421, was written for four events of over-action in-process particle counts (Action Limit: ≤ (b) (4) particles/ft³ over (b) (4) µm) on the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # (b) (4) during production of drug products as follows:

   i. On 07/27/2021, in-process environmental monitoring detected 102.0 particles/ft³ over (b) (4) µm on the filling side of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # (b) (4) while filling 1 mg Fentanyl in 0.9% Sodium Chloride Injection 100 ml (10 mcg/ml) Batch: (b) (4) , Lot: (b) (4), Released: 08/30/2021, Expiration Date: 03/23/2022. Your investigation concluded that the (b) (4) . This implies that the filling system and designed flow of HEPA filtered air is incapable of excluding particles generated on the component side from the filling side near the filling needles. You determined, without adequate justification, that there is no product impact as a result of this over-action in-process particle count event and you released the lot in full for distribution.

   ii. On 08/02/2021, in-process environmental monitoring detected 108.0 particles/ft³ over (b) (4) µm on the filling side of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # (b) (4) while filling 2.5 mg Fentanyl in 0.9% Sodium Chloride Injection 250 ml (10 mcg/ml) Batch: (b) (4) Lot: (b) (4), Released: 08/30/2021, Expiration Date: 03/30/2022. result of this over-action in-process particle count event and you released the lot in full for distribution.

iii. On 08/04/2021, in-process environmental monitoring detected 162.0 particles/ft³ over (b) (4) µm on the filling side of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # (b) (4) while filling 1 mg Fentanyl in 0.9% Sodium Chloride Injection 100 ml (10 mcg/ml) Batch: (b) (4) , Lot: (b) (4), Released: 09/08/2021, Expiration Date: 04/01/2022. There were no corrective actions reported in your investigation. You determined, without adequate justification, that there is no product impact as a result of this over-action in-process particle count event and you released the lot in full for distribution.

iv. On 08/11/2021, in-process environmental monitoring detected 103.0 particles/ft³ over (b) (4) µm on the filling side of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # (b) (4) while filling 1 mg Fentanyl in 0.9% Sodium Chloride Injection 100 ml (10 mcg/ml) Batch: (b) (4) Lot: (b) (4). Your investigation concluded that particles were generated in the filler zone due to (b) (4) . Your investigation concluded, without adequate justification, that there is no product impact as a result of this over-action in-process particle count event and disposition of the subject lot is pending review.

c. Your investigation, MIR-2021-463, was written for two events of over-action in-process particle counts on the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # (b) (4) during production of drug products as follows:

i. On 08/20/2021, in-process environmental monitoring detected 894.0 particles/ft³ over (b) (4) µm, exceeding the Action Limit: ≤ (b) (4) particles/ft³ over (b) (4) µm, on the filling side of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # (b) (4) while filling 1 mg/ml Midazolam in 0.9% Sodium Chloride 100 ml, Batch: (b) (4) , Lot: (b) (4).

ii. On 08/23/2021, in-process environmental monitoring detected 148.0 particles/ft³ over (b) (4) µm, exceeding the Action Limit: ≤ (b) (4) particles/ft³ over (b) (4) µm, on the filling side of the IV Bag filling line, Equipment # (b) (4) while filling 1 mg/ml

OBSERVATION 7

Procedures for the cleaning and maintenance of equipment are deficient regarding the protection of clean equipment from contamination prior to use.

Specifically:

Equipment used on the IV bag filling line #(b) (4) including drug product component contact change parts and utensils required to be sterile is not adequately protected from contamination before use. Equipment and change parts used in production in the ISO 5 classified zone of the IV bag filling line, such as the utensil box, tweezers, scoop, and (b) (4) bowl is sterilized in (b) (4) (b) (4) #(b) (4). This (b) (4) is situated in an unclassified area adjacent to the process (b) (4) production area. Per SOP PRD213, "Sterilization of Bag Filler Components and Equipment in (b) (4) " the equipment is (b) (4) wrapped in "(b) (4) or equivalent" prior to sterilization in the (b) (4) and any rips in the outer foil layer may be repaired with (b) (4) tape. After the wrapped equipment is sterilized, it is removed from the (b) (4) and placed on a transfer cart, the cart is moved to the controlled unclassified "transition area," and the outer layer of foil is sprayed with sterile (b) (4)

The SOP does not specify for how long the equipment may remain in the transition zone wrapped in foil prior to use.

OBSERVATION 8

Procedures designed to prevent microbiological contamination of drug products purporting to be sterile did not include adequate validation of the aseptic process.

Specifically:

1. You have not validated (b) (4) in BFS machines BFS (b) (4) Equipment # (b) (4) and BFS (b) (4) , Equipment # (b) (4) More specifically you have not validated that time temperature conditions of the (b) (4) process are effective against endotoxin or spore challenges in the (b) (4) material that makes up the drug product primary container closure.

   BFS (b) (4) is used to produce drug products intended to be sterile including 20mg Phenylephrine HCl in 0.9% Sodium Chloride Injection, Batch: (b) (4) packaged as Lot: (b) (4), Released: 04/30/2021, Expiration Date: 01/30/2022.

   BFS (b) (4) is used to produce drug products intended to be sterile including Sodium Bicarbonate 150mEq/1000ml in 5% Dextrose Injection, Batch: (b) (4) , packaged as Lot: (b) (4), Released: 02/23/2021, Expiration Date: 12/28/2021.

2. Operators are permitted to participate in aseptic production on a given line prior to completing a successful aseptic simulation on that line. For example:

a. Operator (b)(6) participated in the production of commercial sodium bicarbonate batches (b)(4) in June 2019 and (b)(4) in July 2019 on the IV bag filling line # (b)(4) One of (b)(6) roles is to spray the outer package of the sterile IV bags with sterile (b)(4) and place the package in the material (b)(4) adjacent to the bag filling station, as documented in step (b)(4) of batch (b)(4) The only aseptic simulation documented in (b)(6)'s training record was on the syringe line # (b)(4) on January 27, 2021. This occurred both after (b)(6) participated in commercial aseptic production on the IV bag filler in 2019 and on a different production line (syringe line # (b)(4) No documentation of (b)(6) participating in an aseptic simulation on the IV bag filling line # (b)(4) has been provided.

b. Operator (b)(6) participated in the production of commercial sodium bicarbonate batches (b)(4) and (b)(4) in March 2019 on the IV bag filling line # (b)(4) One of (b)(6) roles on this line is collecting (b)(4) bioburden samples, as documented in step (b)(4) of batch (b)(4) (b)(6) completed an aseptic simulation on this line in September 2019, after the batches were produced in March 2019. Thus, (b)(6) participated in aseptic production prior to participating in an aseptic simulation for that production line.

OBSERVATION 9

Protective apparel is not worn as necessary to protect drug products from contamination.

Specifically:

You permit personnel to enter packaging areas and conduct packaging operations in their street clothes and footwear. Your Change Control, CC No. CC-2020-043, approved on 04/09/2020, permitted temporary deviation from your procedure ADM102, Facility and Gowning, due to a shortage of supplies. OBSERVATION 10

The written stability program for drug products does not include meaningful test methods.

Specifically:

Your stability program SOP-VAL-0097 does not evaluate the photostability of light-sensitive drug products in the marketed packaging. Examples of such products are 2 mg epinephrine in 0.9% sodium chloride injection 250 mL (8 mcg/mL) and 1 mg fentanyl in 0.9% sodium chloride injection 100 mL (10 mcg/mL). Although in accordance with your protocols the stability samples remain within their marketed secondary packaging consisting of foil-lined pouches throughout the hold time, your firm lacks sufficient evidence through direct testing to show that the secondary packaging adequately protects drug products from light.

OBSERVATION 11

Employees are not given training in the particular operations they perform as part of their function.

Specifically:

1. Investigation MIR-2020-008 states that a root cause of the sterility failure for 150 mEq sodium bicarbonate in 5% dextrose batch (b) (4) /Lot (b) (4), manufactured (b) (4) , was a lack of training of an operator (b) (6) participating in the aseptic production of that batch. The batch was produced on IV Bag filling line #(b) (4) and the organism was identified as Burkholderia multivorans. MIR-2019-394 was opened to address (b) (6) production activities prior to training. It indicates that (b) (6) did not complete the prerequisite training module MOD00002 "General GMP" until 12/23/19, 10 days after (b) (6) participated in batch production. This practice conflicts with your SOP QAS 209 "Training Program," which states, "Employees, consultants, interns and contractors will be trained on procedures required to perform their job functions prior to performing the tasks described in the procedure."

2. Operator (b) (6) participated in the production of commercial sodium bicarbonate batches (b) (4) and (b) (4) on the IV bag filling line ((b) (4) in March 2019. (b) (6) training record shows that (b) (6) was "first trained" to operate the bag filling line in early March 2019 but was not considered "fully trained" until September 6, 2019, which is after batches (b) (4) and (b) (4) were produced. Training form TRN00114-ASSESS (Version A) defines "first training" as watching the activity, and "full training" as performing the activity independently and accurately. Thus, (b) (6) participated in aseptic production prior to being certified to perform production independently and accurately.

OBSERVATION 12

Complaint records are deficient in that they do not include the known reply to complainant.

Specifically:

Complainants do not always receive a final written response to their drug product complaint. For instance, you have received complaints for four adverse events since the last inspection and investigated these, but your records do not include a final written response to the complainant regarding investigation findings. Firm management confirmed that a written response was not issued. SOP QAS205 "Customer Complaints and Adverse Events" also does not require a written response to the complainant.

Some complaint records do include e-mail correspondence between SterRx personnel and complainants, but without a formal final response. For example:

1. Product complaint PC-2019-011, concerning a hair found on the outside of a pouch of 20 mg phenylephrine in 0.9% sodium chloride (lot (b) (4), manufactured (b) (4) ), contains the following text in an e-mail from the supervising pharmacist to the complainant: "Our sterile phenylephrine IV product is filled and sealed within a sterile ISO5 (b) (4) system. The sealed bottle is then labeled and packaged in a clean room."
   This lot was produced on blow-fill-seal (BFS) machine (b) (4) in Filling Room (b) (4) The containers were capped in a separate ISO 7 area. The sealed containers were then labeled and packaged (pouched) in an unclassified room.

2. Complaint record PC-2020-135, regarding broken IV bags of 150 mEq sodium bicarbonate in 5% dextrose (Lot (b) (4), manufactured (b) (4) ) includes an e-mail from the supervising pharmacist to the complainant stating that your (b) (4) filling system "fills and seals the sterile container within an ISO5 chamber. This sealed and sterile final product is then inspected, labeled, and placed in the labeled foil pouch in an ISO7 room." This lot was produced on the IV bag filling line ((b) (4) in Filling Room (b) (4) and inspected, labeled, and packaged (pouched) in an unclassified room. The complainant replies to the supervising pharmacist, "This information confirms my understanding of your processes, which was that the package preparation and filling all take place in an ISO5 or better environment and the integrity of the drug was never compromised or in danger of being compromised."

FACILITY DESCRIPTION

133 CONNECTICUT ROAD, PLATTSBURGH, NY 12903

SterRx, LLC is an FDA-registered, 503B Outsourcing facility located at 141 Idaho Avenue, Plattsburgh, NY. SterRx manufactures and ships only their own finished, compounded drug products directly to their customers.

SterRx has secured a warehouse facility located at 133 Connecticut Road. The warehouse is 0.3 miles from SterRx's manufacturing building located at 141 Idaho Avenue. 133 Connecticut Road will function as a Shipping/Receiving warehouse for SterRx. In this facility, SterRx will ship finished SterRx products, receive and store API pharmaceutical ingredients and packaging components, as well as dispense bulk API ingredients.

The FDA identifies and registers the 133 Connecticut Road warehouse as part of SterRx's 141 Idaho Avenue manufacturing campus. The Connecticut Road facility will operate under the same FDA Establishment #, Federal Tax ID # and legal organization as SterRx's 141 Idaho Avenue facility. There will be no compounding activity, nor Controlled Substances, located at 133 Connecticut Road. At no point in time will there be a transfer of product ownership, or any wholesaling activities taking place. All drug products will remain under the ownership of SterRx, LLC.

The warehouse facility is a 60,000 sq. ft. pre-engineered insulated metal building with a new HVAC system, propane generator, parking lot for 77 spaces and storm water management system. The mezzanine floor will house office space, open workspace, conference room space, a kitchenette and washrooms. The main floor will be mainly comprised of warehouse space, as well as a reception, conference spaces and washrooms. There are 8 various-height dock doors located on the east side of the building.

The facility is environmentally controlled, employing a HVAC Direct Digital Control system, a boiler, chiller, two roof-top units, an air handling unit and two air rotation units. The HVAC system is designed to control the temperature thermostatically, at a temperature between 20 and 25 Celsius and a relative humidity below 40%. The facility has the capacity to seat 77 employees.

SterRx, LLC manufacturers sterile liquid pharmaceuticals under blow-fill-seal, aseptic technology in a cGMP-compliant environment.

There is one general use entrance on the west side of the building that is monitored and has card access. Two other doors on the west side are restricted use; one in the warehouse near the holding/sample room and one at the south end of the warehouse. These are both emergency exit only doors that are constantly monitored/alarmed. There are two doors on the north side of the building; one goes to the sprinkler room and the other goes to the mechanical room. Neither door has access to the interior of the building beyond those two rooms, both are card access and monitored.

There are two doors on the east side of the building; one has access to the trucker area and the other is to access the electrical room. The door to the trucker area allows entry to a room and restroom area during normal business hours, entry to the rest of the facility is prevented by a card access door that is monitored. Outside of normal business hours, the trucker area door is locked and monitored. The electrical room only has access from the exterior by means of a card reader. The door is constantly monitored.

STATEMENT OF ALLEGATIONS

The Board alleges that grounds exist to deny the application for renewal of the registration of SterRX, LLC ("Applicant") to act as a non-resident outsourcing facility delivering in the Commonwealth of Virginia in that Applicant violated Virginia Code §§ 54.1-3316(1), (7), and (13) and 54.1-3434.5(C) based on an inspection of the facility between or about September 21 and November 4, 2021, during which investigators from the United States Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") observed instances of noncompliance with the Current Good Manufacturing Practices ("CGMP") as set forth in 21 C.F.R. § 211.1 et. seq. of the Code of Federal Regulations, including the following:

1. The air supply for aseptic processing areas was not filtered through high-efficiency particulate air ("HEPA") filters under positive pressure (Observation 1; 21 C.F.R. § 211.42(c)(10)(iii)). Specifically:

a. Applicant had not evaluated the airflow pattern and airborne particulates in the critical processing zones during operations of the Blow-Fill-Seal ("BFS") machines BFS 172 and BFS 321-190 where parisons are cut and the open parisons are shuttled to the point of aseptic filling.

b. The design and construction of the intravenous ("IV") bag filling line on Equipment #E0432, Bausch Type 529, and its enclosure did not provide first-pass HEPA-filtered laminar flow air over all critical areas within the ISO-5 classified zone.

c. First pass HEPA-filtered laminar flow air was obstructed by the glove port and glove and the vibratory bowl over open, partial bags of syringe plungers held adjacent to the vibratory bowl used to hold and convey plungers on the aseptic syringe-filling system.

2. The container closure system did not provide adequate protection against foreseeable external factors in storage and use that can cause deterioration or contamination of the drug product (Observation 2; 21 C.F.R. § 211.94(b)). Specifically:

a. Applicant did not maintain the sterility of the cap and bag interfacing surfaces and the interstitial space making up the container closure of BFS IV bags containing sterile drug products.

b. The container closure was not designed in a way that the user can sanitize the surface(s) before spiking for administration to a patient.

3. Aseptic processing areas were deficient regarding the system for monitoring environmental conditions (Observation 3; 21 C.F.R. § 211.42(c)(10)(iv)). Specifically:

a. The surface and airborne viable monitoring program for aseptic filling operations was not designed and conducted to provide meaningful data to support the quality of the drug products intended to be sterile. Further, Applicant's procedures permit surface and air samples from within ISO 5 environments to yield microbiological contaminants of 1 CFU without conducting an investigation.

b. The airborne particulate monitoring program for aseptic filling operations was not designed and conducted to provide meaningful data to support the quality of the drug products intended to be sterile. Further, Applicant did not monitor airborne particulates to ISO-5 air classifications in all critical locations; the frequency of airborne particulate monitoring was not adequately supported; and the orientation of particle counter probes was not directed into the flow of air in monitored locations.

4. Equipment used in the manufacture, processing, packing, or holding of drug products was not of appropriate design to facilitate operations for its cleaning and maintenance (Observation 4; 21 CFR § 211.63). Specifically, the design and construction of Equipment #E0201, BFS machine 172, incorporated machine parts that were particle generating and difficult to sanitize within the ISO 7 classified zone of the open parison process equipment.

5. Substances required for equipment operations, such as lubricants and coolants, came in contact with components and closures so as to alter the safety, identity, strength, quality, or purity of the drug product beyond the official or other established requirements (Observation 5; 21 CFR § 211.65(b)).

Specifically, on the IV Bag filling line, Equipment #E0432, Bausch Type 529, Applicant had not evaluated whether or to what extent solvents and lubricants contained in sterile silicon spray applied to the vibratory bowl of the IV bag filling line, which is intended to produce sterile drug products, transfer to and contaminate IV bag closures (ports). According to manufacturing batch records, during setup and operations of the IV bag filling line, sterile silicon spray is applied onto the stainless steel vibratory bowl to facilitate movement of sterile closures to the filling side of the machine. The records further indicated that the machine may be stopped during the filling operation and more spray may be applied as needed.

6. Applicant failed to thoroughly review any unexplained discrepancy and the failure of a batch or any of its components to meet any of its specifications, whether or not the batch had already been distributed (Observation 6; 21 CFR § 211.192). Specifically, Applicant lacked complete information about environmental conditions in critical areas during aseptic filling operations necessary for investigation and determination of the full product impact and root cause of environmental excursions and drug product sterility failures. The lack of complete environmental data and root cause identification diminished the Applicant's ability to determine and implement effective corrective and preventative actions.

7. Applicant's procedures for cleaning and maintenance of equipment did not include protection of clean equipment from contamination prior to use (Observation 7; 21 CFR § 211.67(b)(5)). Specifically, the SOP does not specify for how long equipment that has been sterilized in Hotpack oven #E0333 may remain in the transition zone wrapped in foil after being removed from the oven but prior to use.

8. Applicant's procedures designed to prevent microbiological contamination of drug products purporting to be sterile did not include adequate validation of the aseptic process (Observation 8; 21 CFR § 211.113(b)).

9. Protective apparel was not worn as necessary to protect drug products from contamination. Specifically, Applicant permits personnel to enter packaging areas and conduct packaging operations in their street clothes and footwear (Observation 9; 21 CFR § 211.28(a)).

10. The written stability program for drug products did not include meaningful test methods (Observation 10; 21 CFR § 211.166(a)(3)). Specifically, the stability program, "SOP-VAL-0097" did not evaluate the photostability of light-sensitive drug products in the marketed packaging. Although, in accordance with the Applicant's protocols, the stability samples remained within their marketed secondary packaging consisting of foil-lined pouches throughout the hold time, Applicant lacked sufficient evidence through direct testing to show that the secondary packaging adequately protects drug products from light.

11. Personnel were not trained in the particular operations they performed as part of their assigned function (Observation 11; 21 CFR § 211.25(a)). Specifically, records indicated that two operators participated in the aseptic production of batches of drugs prior to being certified to perform production independently, accurately, and in compliance with the CGMP.

12. Complaint records do not include the known reply to a complainant. Specifically, complainants do not always receive a final written response to their drug product complaint (Observation 12; 21 CFR § 211.198(b)(1)).

ALLEGATION SUMMARY WORKSHEET

Name: SterRX, LLC Registration No.: 0236-000017
Case No.: 220191

| Applicant violated Virginia Code §§ 54.1-3316(1), (7), and (13) and 54.1-3434.5(C) based on an inspection of the facility between or about September 21 and November 4, 2021, during which investigators from the United States Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") observed instances of noncompliance with the Current Good Manufacturing Practices ("CGMP") as set forth in 21 C.F.R. § 211.1 et. seq. of the Code of Federal Regulations, including the following:1. The air supply for aseptic processing areas was not filtered through high-efficiency particulate air ("HEPA") filters under positive pressure (Observation 1; 21 C.F.R. § 211.42(c)(10)(iii)). Specifically:a. Applicant had not evaluated the airflow pattern and airborne particulates in the critical processing zones during operations of the Blow-Fill-Seal ("BFS") machines BFS 172 and BFS 321-190 where parisons are cut and the open parisons are shuttled to the point of aseptic filling.b. The design and construction of the intravenous ("IV") bag filling line, Equipment #E0432, Bausch Type 529, and its enclosure did not provide first-pass HEPA-filtered laminar flow air over all critical areas within the ISO-5 classified zone.c. First pass HEPA-filtered laminar flow air was obstructed by the glove port and glove and the vibratory bowl over open, partial bags of syringe plungers held adjacent to the vibratory bowl used to hold and convey plungers on the aseptic syringe-filling system. | • P. 10-13, 56-97, 65-70 |
| 2. The container closure system did not provide adequate protection against foreseeable external factors in storage and use that can cause deterioration or contamination of the drug product (Observation 2; 21 C.F.R. § 211.94(b)). Specifically:a. Applicant did not maintain the sterility of the cap and bag interfacing surfaces and the interstitial space making up the container closure of BFS IV bags containing sterile drug products.b. The container closure was not designed in a way that the user can sanitize the surface(s) before spiking for administration to a patient. | • P. 13-14, 56-97, 70-72 |

| b. The airborne particulate monitoring program for aseptic filling operations was not designed and conducted to provide meaningful data to support the quality of the drug products intended to be sterile. Further, Applicant did not monitor airborne particulates to ISO-5 air classifications in all critical locations; the frequency of airborne particulate monitoring was not adequately supported; and the orientation of particle counter probes was not directed into the flow of air in monitored locations. | |
| 4. Equipment used in the manufacture, processing, packing, or holding of drug products was not of appropriate design to facilitate operations for its cleaning and maintenance (Observation 4; 21 CFR § 211.63). Specifically, the design and construction of Equipment #E0201, BFS machine 172, incorporated machine parts that were particle generating and difficult to sanitize within the ISO 7 classified zone of the open parison process equipment. | • P. 22-23, 56-97, 79-80 |
| 5. Substances required for equipment operations, such as lubricants and coolants, came in contact with components and closures so as to alter the safety, identity, strength, quality, or purity of the drug product beyond the official or other established requirements (Observation 5; 21 CFR § 211.65(b)). Specifically, on the IV Bag filling line, Equipment #E0432, Bausch Type 529, Applicant had not evaluated whether or to what extent solvents and lubricants contained in sterile silicon spray applied to the vibratory bowl of the IV bag filling line, which is intended to produce sterile drug products, transfer to and contaminate IV bag closures (ports). According to manufacturing batch records, during setup and operations of the IV bag filling line, sterile silicon spray is applied onto the stainless steel vibratory bowl to facilitate movement of sterile closures to the filling side of the machine. The records further indicated that the machine may be stopped during the filling operation and more spray may be applied as needed. | • P. 23, 56-97, 80 |
| 6. Applicant failed to thoroughly review any unexplained discrepancy and the failure of a batch or any of its components to meet any of its specifications, whether or not the batch had already been distributed (Observation 6; 21 CFR § 211.192). Specifically, Applicant lacked complete information about environmental conditions in critical areas during aseptic filling operations necessary for investigation and determination of the full product impact and root cause of environmental excursions and drug product sterility failures. The lack of complete environmental data and root cause identification diminished the Applicant's ability to determine and implement effective corrective and preventative actions. | • P. 23-29, 56-97, 81-88 |
| 7. Applicant's procedures for cleaning and maintenance of equipment did not include protection of clean equipment from contamination prior to use (Observation 7; 21 CFR § 211.67(b)(5)). Specifically, the SOP does not specify for how long equipment that has been sterilized in Hotpack oven #E0333 may remain in the transition zone wrapped in foil after being removed from the oven but prior to use. | • P. 29-30, 56-97, 88-89 |
| 8. Applicant's procedures designed to prevent microbiological contamination of drug products purporting to be sterile did not include adequate validation of the aseptic process (Observation 8; 21 CFR § 211.113(b)). | • P. 30-31, 56-97, 89-90 |

| 9. Protective apparel was not worn as necessary to protect drug products from contamination. Specifically, Applicant permits personnel to enter packaging areas and conduct packaging operations in their street clothes and footwear (Observation 9; 21 CFR § 211.28(a)). | • P. 31-32, 56-97, 90-91 |
| 10. The written stability program for drug products did not include meaningful test methods (Observation 10; 21 CFR § 211.166(a)(3)). Specifically, the stability program, "SOP-VAL-0097" did not evaluate the photostability of light-sensitive drug products in the marketed packaging. Although, in accordance with the Applicant's protocols, the stability samples remained within their marketed secondary packaging consisting of foil-lined pouches throughout the hold time, Applicant lacked sufficient evidence through direct testing to show that the secondary packaging adequately protects drug products from light. | • P. 32, 56-97, 92 |
| 11. Personnel were not trained in the particular operations they performed as part of their assigned function (Observation 11; 21 CFR § 211.25(a)). Specifically, records indicated that two operators participated in the aseptic production of batches of drugs prior to being certified to perform production independently, accurately, and in compliance with the CGMP. | • P. 32-33, 56-97, 92-94 |
| 12. Complaint records do not include the known reply to a complainant. Specifically, complainants do not always receive a final written response to their drug product complaint (Observation 12; 21 CFR § 211.198(b)(1)). | • P. 33-35, 56-97, 94-96 |

WE ASSIGNED YOU AN EMPLOYER IDENTIFICATION NUMBER

Thank you for applying for an Employer Identification Number (EIN). We assigned you EIN 88-1175079. This EIN will identify you, your business accounts, tax returns, and documents, even if you have no employees. Please keep this notice in your permanent records.

Taxpayers request an EIN for their business. Some taxpayers receive CP575 notices when another person has stolen their identity and are opening a business using their information. If you did not apply for this EIN, please contact us at the phone number or address listed on the top of this notice.

When filing tax documents, making payments, or replying to any related correspondence, it is very important that you use your EIN and complete name and address exactly as shown above. Any variation may cause a delay in processing, result in incorrect information in your account, or even cause you to be assigned more than one EIN. If the information is not correct as shown above, please make the correction using the attached tear-off stub and return it to us.

Based on the information received from you or your representative, you must file the following forms by the dates shown.

|---|---|
| Form 941 | 07/31/2022 |
| Form 940 | 01/31/2023 |
| Form 1065 | 03/15/2023 |

If you have questions about the forms or the due dates shown, you can call us at the phone number or write to us at the address shown at the top of this notice. If you need help in determining your annual accounting period (tax year), see Publication 538, Accounting Periods and Methods.

We assigned you a tax classification (corporation, partnership, etc.) based on information obtained from you or your representative. It is not a legal determination of your tax classification, and is not binding on the IRS. If you want a legal determination of your tax classification, you may request a private letter ruling from the IRS under the guidelines in Revenue Procedure 2020-1, 2020-1 I.R.B. 1 (or superseding Revenue Procedure for the year at issue). Note: Certain tax classification elections can be requested by filing Form 8832, Entity Classification Election. See Form 8832 and its instructions for additional information.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION FOR S CORPORATION ELECTION:
If you intend to elect to file your return as a small business corporation, an election to file a Form 1120-S, U.S. Income Tax Return for an S Corporation, must be made within certain timeframes and the corporation must meet certain tests. All of this information is included in the instructions for Form 2553, Election by a Small Business Corporation.

(IRS USE ONLY) 575A 03-11-2022 RELI B 9999999999 SS-4

A limited liability company (LLC) may file Form 8832, Entity Classification Election, and elect to be classified as an association taxable as a corporation. If the LLC is eligible to be treated as a corporation that meets certain tests and it will be electing S corporation status, it must timely file Form 2553, Election by a Small Business Corporation. The LLC will be treated as a corporation as of the effective date of the S corporation election and does not need to file Form 8832.

If you are required to deposit for employment taxes (Forms 941, 943, 940, 944, 945, CT-1, or 1042), excise taxes (Form 720), or income taxes (Form 1120), you will receive a Welcome Package shortly, which includes instructions for making your deposits electronically through the Electronic Federal Tax Payment System (EFTPS). A Personal Identification Number (PIN) for EFTPS will also be sent to you under separate cover. Please activate the PIN once you receive it, even if you have requested the services of a tax professional or representative. For more information about EFTPS, refer to Publication 966, Electronic Choices to Pay All Your Federal Taxes. If you need to make a deposit immediately, you will need to make arrangements with your Financial Institution to complete a wire transfer.

The IRS is committed to helping all taxpayers comply with their tax filing obligations. If you need help completing your returns or meeting your tax obligations, Authorized e-file Providers, such as Reporting Agents or other payroll service providers, are available to assist you. Visit www.irs.gov/mefbusproviders for a list of companies that offer IRS e-file for business products and services.

REPORT NOTATIONS

Phillip Usera, MD, FCAP
Laboratory Director

Nevada State Licensed Medical Laboratory

06/21/2023

To: Nevada State Board of Pharmacy

My name is Bernice "Bonnie" Benscoter and I am currently attending the Pharmacy Technician program at Northwest Career College in Las Vegas, NV. I am writing to provide details about a Misdemeanor I received in 2003. Please see the details below.

- Case No: 03F05982X City, State: Las Vegas, Nevada Arrest Date: 04/05/2003

On April 5th, 2003 it was the first time I was arrested. I had been helping my friends move into a new place and we were hanging up curtains and getting everything ready. It wasn't in the best area, with a high amount of police. My friend and I started getting asked questions by the police consistently, most of which I could not answer, but they thought the Uhaul in the area was suspicious.

I ended up having half a gram of methamphetamine in my pocket at the time, it was given to me by my friend to hold and when the police came up to me asking questions about the moving truck and the people, I did inform them that I had it in my pocket and gave it to them.

I was supposed to go to a baseball game with my sons but instead I was arrested for the first time. It was a scary experience that I was not prepared for, but I made sure that I followed police orders and did not try to hide anything.

I was taken to county jail and released on my own recognizance the same day. I went to court and was given a drug class and a book that I had to complete and they said it would be dropped. I completed everything immediately and focused on moving past the charges.

- Case No: 09MCH007753 City, State: Las Vegas, Nevada Arrest Date: 11/05/2009

On November 5th, 2009, I was spending an evening at my friend's house. I was living there and helping out after his mom passed to assist with the challenges that come up from having someone in your life pass. My friend was having a hard time after his mothers passing and started drinking really heavily as well as other things. People were consistently coming in and out of the house, including those that I didn't know. I was just trying to be a good friend and help and understand that he was going through a rough time after an unexpected death, that I wasn't exactly sure what to do but be there for someone that needed it.

I tried to be a good influence and keep everything as tame as possible, but it is hard when you have people coming in and out, drinking, stealing, breaking things, drug use, everything and my goal was just to keep it as calm as possible and make sure he didn't lose his house or his mind.

On the night of November 5th, the house raided. SWAT brought their giant trucks and believed that my friend was a huge dealer in the area and set off fire crackers in the house and demanded that everyone in the house get out. I was taken out of the house and were forced to sit outside while they destroyed the house looking for anything to incriminate him.

In the end, everyone there was given tickets for possession of drug paraphernalia due to having bongs and test tubes (because it could be made into pipes). In the end, I was not arrested, just given a ticket and had to pay a fine for $200. This ticket was given to everyone that was in the house. I ended up moving out of the house quickly after that because in the end, as much as I wanted to save my friend, I had to save myself first.

About a year ago, I was working, doing well and enjoying my job that I was at for 8 years. I loved it. It was something that I didn't mind getting up in the morning to do and I always did it well. On February 14th, 2022, I had a terrible accident that caused me to undergo massive hand surgery and hospitalization. I ended up losing one finger and the function of three others. Currently, on my left hand, I only have the utilization of my thumb. I thought life as I knew was over and was faced with a scary future. I did end up getting workers compensation and they recommended options for me to be retrained in a new career, Pharmacy technician stood out to me.

I have learned so much since being in school and have 4.0 GPA in class. I have not missed one day and make sure all my homework is completed. This is what I want to be able to do with my life. It is a chance for me to learn more, grow more and help the community.

I know I have made mistakes and faced challenges, but I appreciate you considering me for the honor of becoming a pharmacy technician in the state of Nevada.

Thank you,

"Bonnie" Bernice Benscoter

Provide explanation below:

After my arrest and surrender of my pharmacist license (also pertaining to Question 2, Question 3, and Question 4), I entered treatment for substance use disorder at QuestHouse (now known as JourneyPure) on May 22, 2014. I was discharged on June 19, 2014. At that time (around May 26, 2014) I entered into a contract with the Kentucky Pharmacists Recovery Network (KYPRN).

As the reinstatement of my license required compliance with my treatment plan and KYPRN contract, I entered after-care at The Morton Center in Louisville, KY, participating in individual therapy with a counselor, as well as group therapy sessions, and weekly attendance at a health care professionals recovery group.

I attended 90 recovery meetings in my first 90 days after discharge as required by my contract with KYPRN. I then continued with my contract by attending 12 recovery meetings monthly, with a minimum of 3 each week for the duration of my contract. In Spring 2015, prior to appearing before the KYPRN Committee of the Board (with the intention of being approved to appear before the full board for license reinstatement), I saw Dr. Lon Hays, MD with the University of Kentucky Medical Center in Lexington, KY. His ultimate diagnosis of opioid use disorder in remission was required for reinstatement of my license.

In addition to the above treatment, I submitted to random drug screens for the duration of my contract.

As of this writing, I have over eight years of continuous recovery, with a "clean" or "sobriety date" of May 19, 2014.

Provide explanation below:

I was arrested on March 21, 2014 and charged with Theft by Unlawful Taking, Controlled Substance.

Pretrial diversion was ordered, into which I entered on or around July or August 2014. Supervised probation was mandated for one year. Upon completion of supervised probation, I continued in unsupervised probation for two more years until around August 2017. At this point, having completed three years of probation, the charge was dismissed as diverted.

As the charge was eligible for expungement, I applied for, and received the approval for expungement of the charge, with the order being entered on May 9, 2019. (See letter from John K. Spalding, my attorney in this matter.)

I do not recall exact dates aside from the date of arrest, and the date of the expungement order. Once charges are expunged in Kentucky, they are "deemed never to have happened." As I was moving in a positive direction in my life, I destroyed all the documents in my possession pertaining to this period in my life.

Attached are the above-referenced letter from my attorney, as well as documents from Kentucky Revised Statues pertaining to Pretrial Diversion, and the Effects of Successful Diversion.

RE: 2014 Representation of James Arnett

To whom it may concern:

In March of 2014, I was retained to represent James "Jim" Arnett in regard to a criminal case in Hardin County, Kentucky. Jim was charged with a Class D felony for alleged unlawful possession of prescription medication. Ultimately, based on the facts and evidence available to the Commonwealth, Jim was offered, and agreed, to enter a pre-trial diversion program. He successfully completed the diversion program in 2017 and his case was dismissed. Later in 2018, the Court ordered his case to be expunged. This Order was entered on May 9, 2018. Pursuant to Kentucky law, the Kentucky Constitution, and the United States Constitution, the expungement had the legal effect of erasing the charge from Jim's record and it is legally deemed to have never occurred. This case should not be counted against James or weighed in any manner regarding Jim's licensure or merit for a position. Further, all entities who ever possessed any documents or record of the case were ordered to destroy those materials within sixty (60) days of the expungement order.

As such, Jim has nothing on his record in Kentucky. He has legally never committed or been convicted of a crime in Kentucky. Neither I, nor any other Kentucky body, possess any record of a criminal charge relating to Jim.

Should you have any questions, please feel free to contact me. Thank you.

Sincerely,

John K. Spalding

(1) Every pretrial diversion program shall set as a condition precedent for entry into the program that any defendant charged with a Class D felony offense under KRS Chapter 218A and any defendant charged with a Class D felony offense whose criminal, medical, or mental health record indicates a present need for or benefit from substance abuse treatment participate in and demonstrate suitable compliance with the terms of a secular or faith-based substance abuse treatment or recovery program if space is available in a treatment or recovery program suitable for that defendant. (2) The court may waive compliance with subsection (1) of this section if the defendant can show that exigent circumstances exist sufficient to justify diversion program participation without a prior demonstration of treatment compliance.

(3) The court may continue in effect any nonfinancial conditions of pretrial release imposed under KRS 431.520 or 431.525 and may hold the case in abeyance during the period of time the defendant is attempting treatment or recovery prior to diversion under subsection (1) of this section.

(4) The court may allow a person charged with a Class C felony to participate in a secular or faith-based substance abuse treatment or recovery program under subsection (1) of this section or obtain a waiver under subsection (2) of this section. Relating to Question 1, Question 2, and Question 4.

I surrendered my Kentucky Pharmacist License #010401 on or around March 24, 2014.

On November 7, 2014, my pharmacist license was officially suspended by the Kentucky Board of Pharmacy.

Upon completion of the stipulations in my order of suspension, I appeared before the Kentucky Pharmacist Recovery Network (KYPRN) Committe and the full Board in May, 2015. At this time, I was approved for reinstatement of my license with stipulations as included in the attached Agreed Order or Reinstatement and Order of Suspension.

As of August 11, 2015, my license was reinstated with stipulations as included in the attached Agreed Order.

Effective August 11, 2021, my license is no longer on probation, and is "clear and active," albeit with the prior discipline being viewable on the Kentucky Board of Pharmacy webisite. The participation in KYPRN being part of my Agreed Order, the release letter from the Director of KYPRN is attached.

IN RE: PETITION FOR REINSTATEMENT OF JAMES ARNETT

Agreed Order of Reinstatement with Restrictions

Come the parties, the Kentucky Board of Pharmacy (hereafter "Board") and James Arnett (hereafter "Respondent"), and both being fully informed regarding the matter set forth herein, state as follows:

(1) Pursuant to KRS Chapter 315, the Board is authorized to regulate and control all matters related to pharmacists.

(2) Respondent entered into an Agreed Order of Suspension with the Board on or about November 7, 2014 (incorporated by reference herein).

(3) Respondent is currently under contract with KYPRN, has complied fully with the terms of his Agreed Order of Suspension, and desires reinstatement of his license.

(4) The Board agrees to license Respondent to practice the profession of pharmacy so long as his license is issued with conditions and restrictions. Respondent agrees to each of the conditions and restrictions as stated in this Agreed Order of Reinstatement with Restrictions.

WHEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY AGREED AND ORDERED THAT:

(A) Pursuant to KRS 315.050 and 315.121, Respondent's pharmacist license shall be issued upon paying the requisite fees, tendering proof of completion of required continuing education, and submitting a completed application to the Board;

(B) Respondent's pharmacist license is placed on probation for five (5) years and is subject to the following terms and conditions:

(1) Respondent shall work a maximum of forty-five hours per week or ninety hours within two weeks, with a maximum of fifty hours in any seven consecutive days, with no overtime;
(2) Respondent shall provide a copy of this Agreed Order of Reinstatement to all Pharmacists-in-Charge (PIC) and all employers, wherever Respondent is employed as a pharmacist or in a pharmacy;
(3) Respondent shall not engage in the practice of pharmacy in any other state or jurisdiction;
(4) A perpetual inventory is required at all places of employment and pharmacies owned, in whole or in part, for C-II's, with electronic tracking of C-III's, C-IV's, C-V's, and this perpetual inventory/electronic tracking must be made available to the Board on request and audits may be conducted;
(5) Respondent shall sign a Monitoring Agreement with Kentucky Pharmacist Recovery Network (KYPRN), which includes a drug counselor and/or mental health counselor if indicated by KYPRN. The aftercare contract with KYPRN shall be in full force and effect for as long as Respondent is under the terms of this Agreed Order of Reinstatement, and Respondent shall notify the Board and KYPRN of any violation of this Agreed Order of Reinstatement or KYPRN contract, within twenty-four hours;
(6) Respondent shall notify the Board of change of home address, telephone number and/or email within seven days of change;
(7) Respondent shall provide to the Board a signed release granting the Board and KYPRN access to all medical records and patient information;
(8) Respondent shall attend AA or NA meetings no less than six times per two weeks or twelve meetings per calendar month, which shall include a minimum of two meetings per week and shall provide the Board and KYPRN with monthly written reports of all AA/NA meetings;
(9) Respondent shall agree to provide a minimum of six random urine or other body fluid or hair samples at the discretion of PRN, the Board, or any other monitoring body for licit and illicit drugs of abuse and over-the-counter medications each year during the probation, with all expenses to be paid by Respondent. Production of these samples shall be observed. Respondent shall provide copies of any results of these screens ordered by anyone to the KYPRN Chair and the Board. Respondent understands that it is his responsibility to notify the KYPRN Chair, the testing company, and the Board office of anything that may affect his availability for screens (e.g. vacations, travel, family obligations and so on prior to the events). The agency that provides the collection shall be approved by the KYPRN Chair. A missed screen may be cause for reporting such to the Board. Any positive screen that is a violation of this Agreed Order of Reinstatement or KYPRN contract shall be communicated to the Board by the KYPRN Chair within twenty-four hours. A report indicating a presumptive presence shall constitute a conclusive basis, without the necessity of a hearing, for a determination that Respondent is not in compliance with the terms of this Agreed Order of Reinstatement;
(10) Respondent shall agree to abstain from any and all mood-altering chemicals (including but not limited to alcohol (i.e.-ethyl alcohol or ethanol), marijuana, tranquilizers, sedatives, stimulants, narcotics, opioids, including tramadol, nulbuphine, soporifics, androgenic steroids, scheduled and/or unscheduled drugs, mood altering over-the-counter medications, herbals, dietary supplements and any other known addictive drug) except as prescribed by his physician and only after consultation with the Director of KYPRN. If any mood altering and/or potentially addictive medications are required or recommended by his physician, Respondent shall notify the KYPRN Chair in advance and provide documentation of the need for the medication (i.e.-a copy of the prescription or note from the prescribing practitioner) within three days. If the need for the medication is ongoing, Respondent shall renew and verify with the KYPRN Chair every ninety (90) days. Respondent also agrees to avoid exposure to anything that will cause his drug test to be positive. In that regard Respondent shall avoid such items as "hemp oil" and "coca tea" and Respondent shall not consume poppy seeds (which can be found hidden in curry sauces, breads, salad dressings, and in or on other foods). After two years, inspections shall be conducted on a semi-annual basis. Costs shall be determined as time, travel costs, and mileage charges of the inspector(s);

To whom it may concern,

I am writing to inform you of Dr. James Arnett's successful discharge from Kentucky Professionals Recovery Network (KYPRN). James was ordered by the Kentucky Board of Pharmacy to participate with KYPRN for a period of 5 years, which he has completed as of this letter. During the course of his time with KYPRN, James attended 12 step meetings regularly, and submitted to regular drug screens as required by his KYPRN agreement. James provided KYPRN with monthly self reports. KYPRN had no issues with James' compliance for the duration of his contract.

Please feel free to reach out if you have any questions on Dr. Arnett's participation with KYPRN.

Sincerely,

Emily Caporal, PharmD
Director-KYPRN

Relating to Question 1, Question 2, and Question 3.

After surrender of my pharmacist license around March 24, 2014, an Agreed Order of Suspension was entered on November 7, 2014.

Upon completion of relicensure requirements, an Agreed Order of Reinstatement was entered, and my license reinstated effective August 11, 2015.

I have completed all the requirements of my Agreed Order, as well as all stipulations of my contract with KYPRN. As such, I was released from KYPRN on August 11, 2021, and my license is now "clear and active," albeit with the prior Board action viewable on the Kentucky Board of Pharmacy website.

IN RE: James Arnett
[redacted] Cherokee RD APT [redacted]
Louisville KY 40205
Pharmacist License No. 010401

Agreed Order of Suspension

The Kentucky Board of Pharmacy ("Board") based upon the information presented to it and being sufficiently advised, and James Arnett ("Arnett") hereby agree to the entry of this Agreed Order of Suspension in an effort to provide a framework for the reinstatement of Arnett's license to practice the profession of pharmacy after meeting conditions designed to provide circumstantial guarantees that Arnett is able to practice the profession with reasonable skill, safety and competence to patients.

Stipulations of Fact

The parties stipulate to the following factual statements that serve as the factual basis for this Agreed Order of Suspension:

1. Arnett at all times material hereto is and has been licensed in the Commonwealth as a pharmacist having been issued license number 010401.

2. On or about March 19, 2014, Arnett was observed on video diverting hydrocodone/acetaminophen tablets.

3. On or about March 21, 2014, Arnett admitted, in a written statement, to diverting hydrocodone/acetaminophen, Klonopin, and Effexor XR.

4. On or before April 1, 2014, Arnett surrendered his pharmacist license to the Board by mail.

Stipulated Conclusions of Law

The parties stipulate to the following Conclusions of Law, which serve as the legal basis for this Agreed Order of Suspension:

1. Arnett's license to practice pharmacy in the Commonwealth is subject to regulation and discipline by the Kentucky Board of Pharmacy;

2. There is probable cause to believe that Arnett has a mental or physical incapacity that prevents Arnett from engaging in the practice of pharmacy with reasonable skill, competence, and safety to the public; and

3. The Board may discipline Arnett pursuant to KRS 315.121(1)(b).

Order of Suspension

Based upon the foregoing stipulated facts and conclusions of law, the Board and Arnett agree to resolve this matter without further administrative proceedings. Accordingly:

1. Arnett agrees he will not attempt to reinstate his Kentucky pharmacist license until he is able to document through KYPRN completion of an approved 28 day in-house treatment program and a minimum of six (6) months continued sobriety from the date of signing his KYPRN.

2. Arnett agrees to provide, with his petition for reinstatement of his Kentucky pharmacist license, documentation from a certified addictionologist and an approved treatment provider that he has documented not less than six (6) months of continued sobriety, the attendance of ninety (90) AA or NA meetings in ninety (90) days and that in the professional opinion of the addictionologist and the treatment provider that Arnett is then currently able to practice the profession of pharmacy with reasonable skill, care, and safety to patients.

3. Arnett agrees to appear before the Board when he requests reinstatement and acknowledges that the Board may grant or deny such a petition for reinstatement, with appropriate conditions.

Provide explanation below:

Regarding Question 1: I have been diagnosed with both stimulant use disorder and alcohol use disorder, both in remission. I have a 5 year monitoring agreement with the state of North Carolina that runs through June of 2025. I have been in successful compliance and sober since February of 2020.

Regarding question 2: Was working in an opiate treatment clinic, Detoxification Solutions. The clinic was under investigation starting in Sept of 2018. I began work there in late Feb, 2019. The owner was an unlicensed practitioner, writing scripts for buprenorphine under the medical director's license (Dr. Chad Hall) and improperly obtaining and storing buprenorphine for the clinic. I was indicted initially under several felony charges that included assisting in obtaining the buprenorphine for the clinic, but those were dismissed prior to my plea agreement. The case was settled with a plea agreement that included the final charges of misdemeanor possession of a controlled substance as noted above. At the time of my arrest, I voluntarily surrendered my NV DEA license and my supervised release conditions required that I not prescribe controlled substances. There were stipulations made allowing my use of controlled substances on an inpatient basis however. I had licenses in three other states that expired while the case was pending. I voluntarily relinquished one (South Dakota) and the other two simply expired.

Regarding Questions 3 and 4: I have been subject to a consent agreement in the state of North Carolina that was related to both the case noted in questions 2 and a relapse of my alcohol use disorder. Initially, the agreement restricted me from prescribing controlled substances as this was a part of my supervised release with the federal court as of June 2019. Subsequent to the finalizing of my plea agreement, the restriction on controlled substance prescribing has been lifted and the decree only requires that I maintain compliance with my monitoring agreement. Subsequent to this agreement with NC enacted in November of 2020, the state of Ohio suspended my license (although it was inactive at the time) and conditioned reinstatement on having an unrestricted license in the state of North Carolina and the resolution of my federal case. Discussion with the Ohio board regarding reinstatement are ongoing.

BEFORE THE NEVADA STATE BOARD OF PHARMACY
NEVADA STATE BOARD OF PHARMACY, Petitioner,
v.
RONALD SMITH, MD,
Certificate of Registration No. CS13980, Respondent.
CASE NO. 20-212-CS-S

Jeffrey J. Whitehead, General Counsel for Ronald Smith, MD., hereby petitions the Board for a temporary license and for reinstatement to be heard on the next Board hearing on September 6-7, 2023, based on the following:

1. Dr. Smith has paid for his indiscretion and has had all judicial impediments removed from reinstatement of all restrictions to his prescribing privileges.

Attached is the proof that the judicial requirements have been satisfied. The court specifically noted that it will not restrict his returning to addiction treatment or to pain management if he so desires. Although Dr. Smith has never practiced pain management and has no desire to return to the medication assisted treatment of addiction, this shows that the court has confidence in Dr. Smith's ability to return the practice of medicine with controlled substance prescribing privileges.

Subsequently, the state of North Carolina has also removed the restriction on his controlled substance prescribing that was put in place in a consent decree in November of 2020. This modification was granted in March of 2023 and is included herewith.

2. Dr. Smith needs a temporary prescribing license in order to obtain employment.

A temporary license would allow Dr. Smith to be able to gain employment and earn a living. Being able to prescribe controlled substances is a necessity for most employers to consider hiring and it is a condition for obtaining staff privileges at most if not all hospitals in the state of Nevada. Being that his primary practice has always been hospital-based, obtaining staff privileges is essential for him. Having a controlled substance license is also a condition of being able to apply for employment with locum tenans and telemedicine practices. Because Dr. Smith must have a state-controlled substance license as the first step in being able to apply for a DEA license for the state of Nevada, his ability to move forward is severely limited without it as this renders him effectively unemployable. Although the one-year restriction on his applying for formal reinstatement does not expire until July 13. 2023, we respectfully request that the Board also consider that by that time, Dr. Smith will have been without controlled substance prescribing privileges from the Nevada Board of Pharmacy since September of 2019, an effective suspension of nearly four years

3. Dr. Smith presents the following statement of contrition

"I sincerely regret the mistakes I made while working for Detoxification Solutions from March 2019 through June 2019. I would like to note that prior to this event, I had worked and prescribed in the state of Nevada for 14 years without incident or concern. The nearly four years I have spent with my privileges and practice restricted has brought significant and severe consequences. I have had ample time to reflect on how circumstances came to this point and can assure the Board that these errors will not recur and that I will never be in this situation again. I am grateful for your time and consideration." Ronald D. Smith, M.D.

Signed this 14th day of July 2023.

6. Respondent admits that evidence exists, and that Board staff prosecuting this case could present such evidence at an administrative hearing, to establish a factual basis for the violations alleged in the Accusation, to wit:

8. Any failure by Respondent to comply with the terms of this Order may result in issuance by the Executive Secretary of an order to show cause pursuant to NAC 639.965 directing Respondent to appear before the Board at the next regularly scheduled meeting for a show cause hearing. If such a hearing results in a finding of a violation of this Order by Respondent, the Board may impose additional discipline upon Respondent not inconsistent with the provisions of NRS Chapters 453 and 639.

9. General Counsel will present this Stipulation to the Board for approval pursuant to NRS 622.330 at the Board's regularly scheduled public meeting on July 13, 2022. Provide explanation below:

In 2004 I entered the inpatient professionals program at the Betty Ford Center a period of forty days. While I maintained sobriety for periods of time, I returned to inpatient care through the Las Vegas Recovery Center for twenty-eight days in September of 2019 and have continued to participate in aftercare since leaving that facility and continue to actively work on my recovery. I currently attend two to three AA meetings every week, work with a sponsor, and work the 12 steps of recovery. I also sponsor other men in the program and volunteer my time at meetings with various commitments. Additionally, I have been working with an excellent therapist for over three years now who specializes in drug and alcohol counseling, EMDR, and cognitive behavioral therapy.

In addition to the recovery activities discussed above, in November 2021 I began participating with the Professional Recovery Network (PRN) Program, oversee by Mark Chase, Program Director. I have signed a five year contract with PRN and am in full compliance with all the requirements of the contract. I attend weekly meetings with other medical practitioners and submit to random drug testing every month; all of which have been negative. The Nevada State Board of Medical Examiners is aware of my PRN contract and updates are regularly sent to that Board by Mr. Chase. Should you need any supporting documentation related to my participation with PRN please let me know and please feel free to contact Mr. Chase, his contact information is provided below.

Provide explanation below:

I was arrested on June 21, 2019, in Palm Springs, CA for resisting or deterring a police officer. I was pulled over by Palm Springs Police Department officers after speeding through a yellow light at an intersection. There was a long wait for the police to come to my car, so I decided to get out of my vehicle and ask what was going on. The officers were very upset that I got out of the car and confronted me. We exchanged some words, and then I asked them to not touch me, but the police officer grabbed my arm and I tried to pull away from him. I was arrested and taken to Riverside County Jail for resisting or deterring a police officer. After my initial appearance in Riverside Superior Court (case no. INM1904850) my case was transferred to Military Diversion Court, because of my military service, and having served overseas. Upon my completion of all requirements of the Military Diversion Court the charges were ultimately dismissed in December 2020 and the matter closed.

Provide explanation below:

In March 2003, I entered into a Stipulated Settlement with the Physician Assistant Committee (Committee) of the Medical Board of California which was effective May 16, 2003. The Stipulated Settlement resolved a disciplinary Accusation filed by the Committee in July 2002 which alleged I had stolen controlled substances (Soma and Vicodin) from my employer' s office supply; treating patients while impaired, and dishonest acts.

Pursuant to the terms of the Stipulated Settlement and Disciplinary Order, my physician assistant license was revoked; however the revocation was stayed and I was placed on seven years of probation. The terms of probation included a ninety-day suspension of my license, restrictions on my ability to prescribed controlled substances, a requirement that I enter into the California Diversion Program and submit to random drug and alcohol screens as requested and was required to abstain from alcohol and controlled substances or dangerous drugs for personal use, other than those prescribed by a practitioner. Additionally, I was subject to provisions related to required supervision by a physician and requirements related to my practice and was required to complete an ethics course.

I complied with the terms of my probation, including completion of the ethics course before relocating to Nevada prior to the completion of my probation and did not renew my license in 2004. As it has been more than five years since I last renewed my California license, my license I automatically cancelled and I would be required to reapply for licensure if I chose to return to the state of California to practice.

OPINION NO. 93-21 PHARMACY, BOARD OF; HOMEOPATHIC MEDICAL EXAMINERS, BOARD OF; DRUGS; CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES: Amendment of NRS 0.040 in 1985 allowed homeopathic physicians to be considered to be "physicians," but exclusively homeopathic practitioners may only possess, prescribe, dispense or administer those dangerous drugs and controlled substances in such manner and quantity as allowed by NRS 630A.040.

Carson City, September 20, 1993

Mr. Keith W. Macdonald, Executive Secretary, Nevada State Board of Pharmacy, 1201 Terminal Way, Suite 212, Reno, Nevada 89502

Dear Mr. Macdonald:

You have asked whether the amendment to NRS 0.040 made by the 1985 Legislature changes the letter opinion issued on January 7, 1985, such that an exclusively homeopathic physician may not prescribe, possess, dispense, and administer controlled substances and dangerous drugs. The brief answer to your question is that an exclusively homeopathic physician may prescribe a limited group of dangerous drugs (those that are "sarcodes") to patients and may possess and administer a limited group of dangerous drugs and controlled substances, all in compliance with the statutory criteria provided in NRS 630A.040.

QUESTION

Did the amendment to NRS 0.040 enacted by the 1985 Legislature affect the letter opinion issued January 7, 1985, such that homeopathic physicians who are not also licensed as allopathic or osteopathic physicians may obtain a controlled substance registration or may prescribe, possess, or administer controlled substances and dangerous drugs?

ANALYSIS

Prior to the 1985 legislative session, NRS 0.040 provided as follows:

> 1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2, as used in Nevada Revised Statutes, "physician" means a person who engages in the practice of medicine, including osteopathy.
> 2. The terms "physician," "osteopathic physician," "homeopathic physician" and "chiropractic physician" are used in chapters 630, 630A, 633, and 634 of NRS in the limited senses prescribed by those chapters respectively.

The 1985 Legislature left NRS 0.040(2) unchanged, but amended NRS 0.040(1) so that it now reads:

> Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2, "physician" means a person who engages in the practice of medicine, including osteopathy and homeopathy. [Emphasis added.]

This office rendered a letter opinion on January 7, 1985, regarding whether a homeopathic practitioner was a "physician" under NRS 0.040(1). The letter opinion was rendered prior to the amendment to NRS 0.040(1) and, in fact, precipitated the amendment. In the letter opinion, this office drew two conclusions: (1) that a homeopathic physician was not a "physician" for the purposes of NRS chapters 453, 454, and 639; and (2) that a homeopathic physician who was also licensed in Nevada as an allopathic or osteopathic physician could write prescriptions for controlled substances and dangerous drugs, provided that the homeopathic physician did so only for legitimate allopathic or osteopathic treatment and not for homeopathic purposes.

The amendment of NRS 0.040(1) had the far-reaching effect of bringing homeopathic practitioners within the coverage of all the sections throughout the NRS in which reference is made to "physicians." The amendment of NRS 0.040(1) also changed the analysis of the January 7, 1985, letter opinion in the limited way that the question presented at that time, namely whether a homeopathic physician was a "physician" under NRS 0.040, must now be answered affirmatively. The amended and present version of NRS 0.040(1) clearly indicates that homeopathic physicians are "physicians" as that term may be used throughout the NRS. The inquiry does not end here, though.

Subsection (2) of NRS 0.040 refers inquiries regarding each of the specific practitioner groups in subsection (1) to each's specific practice act. As such, the answer to the specific question addressed in this opinion regarding the prescribing, possessing, and administering powers of exclusively homeopathic practitioners must be made by reference to various portions of the pharmacy laws and NRS chapter 630A, the practice act for homeopathic practitioners.

NRS 453.226(1) provides the general definition of those persons who must be registered with the board of pharmacy to distribute or dispense controlled substances:

> Every practitioner or other person who manufactures, distributes or dispenses any controlled substance within this state or who proposes to engage in the manufacture, distribution or dispensing of any controlled substance within this state shall obtain biennially a registration issued by the board in accordance with its regulations. [Emphasis added.]

A "practitioner" may administer controlled substances pursuant to NRS 453.375(1). A "practitioner," as defined in NRS 453.126, includes a "physician." Any person who manufactures, distributes or dispenses a controlled substance without prior registration may be punished by imprisonment of one to six years, may be fined not more than $2,000. NRS 453.232.

Similarly, NRS 454.213(1) allows a "practitioner" to possess and administer dangerous drugs, and NRS 454.215(3) allows a "practitioner" to dispense dangerous drugs. NRS 454.00958(1) defines a "practitioner" to include a "physician." Any person who furnishes dangerous drugs without the valid prescription of a practitioner may be imprisoned for one to six years, may be fined not more than $5,000, or both. NRS 454.221(1).

NRS 630A.040 specifically defines the pharmacopoeia of medicines available for use by homeopathic physicians as follows:

> "Homeopathic medicine" or "homeopathy" means a system of medicine employing substances of animal, vegetable, chemical or mineral origin, including nosodes and sarcodes, which are:
> 1. Given in micro-dosage, except that sarcodes may be given in macro-dosage;
> 2. Prepared according to homeopathic pharmacology by which the formulation of homeopathic preparations is accomplished by the methods of Hahnemannian dilution and succussion, magnetically energized geometric patterns, applicable in potencies above 30X as defined in the official Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States, or Korsakoffian; and
> 3. Prescribed by homeopathic physicians according to the medicines and dosages in the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States, in accordance with the principle that a substance which produces symptoms in a healthy person can eliminate those symptoms in an ill person, resulting in the elimination and prevention of illness utilizing classical methodology and noninvasive electrodiagnosis.

NRS 630A.090(4) clearly distinguishes homeopathic medicine from allopathic medicine and prohibits homeopathic physicians from practicing allopathic medicine: "This chapter does not authorize a homeopathic physician to practice medicine, including allopathic medicine, except as provided in NRS 630A.040." Additionally, pursuant to NRS 630A.230(2)(c), all homeopathic physicians must be licensed as allopathic or osteopathic physicians "in any state or country, the District of Columbia or a territory or possession of the United States." Thus homeopathic practitioners can be licensed exclusively as homeopathic physicians under NRS chapter 630A or can have dual licenses as homeopathic physicians and allopathic or osteopathic physicians.

In contrast to the narrow statutory scope of the practice of homeopathy, the definition of "practice of medicine" in NRS 630.020 is as follows:

1. To diagnose, treat, correct, prevent or prescribe for any human disease, ailment, injury, infirmity, deformity or other condition, physical or mental, by any means or instrumentality.
2. To apply principles or techniques of medical science in the diagnosis or the prevention of any such conditions.
3. To offer, undertake, attempt to do or hold oneself out as able to do any of the acts described in subsections 1 and 2.
4. To use in connection with a person's name the words or letters "M.D.," or any other title, word, letter or other designation intended to imply or designate him as a practitioner of medicine in any of its branches, except in the manner authorized by NRS 630A.220. [Emphasis added.]

The definition of "osteopathic medicine" is found in NRS 633.081 and provides:

"Osteopathic medicine" or "osteopathy" means the school of medicine which:
1. Utilizes full methods of diagnosis and treatment in physical and mental health and disease, including the prescribing and administering of drugs and biologicals of all kinds, operative surgery, obstetrics, radiological and other electromagnetic emission; and
2. Places emphasis on the interrelationship of the musculoskeletal system to all other body systems. [Emphasis added.]

The legislative intent from the above definitions is clear: homeopathy is a limited practice whereas allopathy and osteopathy are general. Allopaths may use "any means or instrumentality" in their practices. Osteopaths may use "full methods of diagnosis and treatment" in their practices. Homeopaths, on the other hand, are limited to using only those medications that satisfy NRS 630A.040 "in accordance with the principle that a substance which produces symptoms in a healthy person can eliminate those symptoms in an ill person, resulting in the elimination and prevention of illness utilizing classical methodology and noninvasive electrodiagnosis." Furthermore, an allopathic physician may not call himself a homeopathic physician. NRS 630.020(4). It is clear that the legislature intended homeopathy to be a distinct style of medicine with a specifically defined pharmacopoeia suited to the homeopathic practice of medicine.

The question of which drugs a homeopathic practitioner can prescribe, possess, or administer is answered by the three-part test in NRS 630A.040, namely that the drug must be (1) given in micro-dosage (except that sarcodes may be given in macro-dosage); (2) prepared according to homeopathic pharmacology; and (3) prescribed by homeopathic physicians according to the medicines and dosages in the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States. Generally, the dosages and forms of drugs maintained by Nevada pharmacies would not be in "micro-dosages," and would instead be in forms that would be deemed "macro-dosages" under NRS 630A.040. Thus NRS 630A.040 makes it clear that a homeopathic physician practicing homeopathically could not prescribe or administer the regular "macro-dosage" of any controlled substance or dangerous drug unless that drug were a "sarcode." No known allopathic drugs regularly stocked by Nevada pharmacists would be "sarcodes."[52]

A second question arises, though, as to whether a homeopathic practitioner may obtain and possess controlled substances and dangerous drugs for preparation of a homeopathic remedy therefrom. First, it seems unlikely that most of the regular stock of a Nevada pharmacy would qualify as the raw materials for the preparation of homeopathic remedies. Homeopathic remedies generally use organic materials and would not include the highly refined modern pharmaceuticals stocked by Nevada pharmacies.[53] Nonetheless, it may be that some pharmaceuticals, especially

> Sarcodes are homeopathic attenuations of wholesome organs, tissues, or metabolic factors obtained from healthy specimens.
>
> Sarcodes are prepared according to homeopathic specifications, provided the basic substance is not altered and the FINAL PRODUCT is not adulterated by any pathogen or other deleterious substance.
>
> Collection and preparation: refer to individual monograph.
>
> ATTENUATION PROCEDURE
> The freeze-dried organs, glands, or tissues are attenuated according to the specifications of Class F, and converted into liquid attenuations according to the specifications of Class H.

[53] Homeopathic remedies are identified by class. Following are the classes identified, taken from the Homeopathic Pharmacopeia of the United States (June 1991 updated):

> CLASS A - LIQUID ATTENUATIONS OF SOLUBLE SUBSTANCES
>
> Class A attenuations are prepared by dissolving one (1) part by weight of the soluble basic substance in a sufficient quantity of purified water or other appropriate menstruum, specified in the drug monograph, to produce ten (10) parts by volume of liquid attenuation which is designated 1X.
>
> CLASS B - LIQUID ATTENUATIONS OF SOLUBLE SUBSTANCES
> Class B liquid attenuations are prepared by dissolving one (1) part by weight of the soluble basic substance in a sufficient quantity of purified water or other appropriate menstruum, specified in the drug monograph, to produce 100 parts by volume of liquid attenuation which is designated 2X or 1CH.

> Class E Tinctures are made to represent one (1) part by weight of the crude material in 20 parts by weight of completed solution.
> CLASS F - TRITURATIONS OF SOLID SUBSTANCES
> Class F triturations of solid substances are prepared by triturating one (1) part by weight of the dry crude substance with nine (9) parts of some controlled substances, may be stocked or available through Nevada pharmacies. For example, the monographs for homeopathic remedies include the following remedies that would be made from controlled substances: anhalonium lewinii (peyote), cannabis indica/cannibis sativa (marijuana), cocainum (cocaine), cocainum muriaticum (cocaine hydrochloride), codeinum (codeine), datura arborea/datura metel (datura), morphinum (morphine), morphinum muriaticum (morphine hydrochloride), and opium (opium). Additionally, it may be that some homeopathic remedies are fashioned from currently available dangerous drugs.

It is clear, therefore, that a homeopathic physician practicing homeopathically could legally obtain, possess, and administer some dangerous drugs and controlled substances for the manufacture of homeopathic remedies. Additionally, a homeopathic physician may also prescribe those dangerous drugs and controlled substances allowed by NRS 630A.040, but as a practical matter it is unlikely that any Nevada pharmacies stock dangerous drugs or controlled substances in homeopathic dosages or know how to prepare homeopathic remedies according to homeopathic methodology. To possess controlled substances, the homeopathic practitioner would be required to obtain a registration with the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) and a registration with the Nevada Board of Pharmacy pursuant to NRS 453.226. Additionally, any order for a controlled substance in Schedules I and II would need to be via a DEA Form 222; any order for other controlled substances would need to be via a valid order form, and all record-keeping, storage, and security statutes and regulations would also be applicable.

Of course, possession and administration of the controlled substances and dangerous drugs obtained by a homeopathic practitioner must also comply with the terms of NRS 630A.040. Administration of a controlled substance or dangerous drug in contravention to the dictates of NRS

Lactose, U.S.P., to make a 10% (1/10) trituration, which is designated 1X.

CLASS G - TRITURATION OF INSOLUBLE LIQUID SUBSTANCES

Class G triturations are prepared by triturating one (1) part by weight of insoluble liquid substance with sufficient Lactose, U.S.P., to produce a 10% (1/10) mixture by weight, which is designated the 1X trituration.

CLASS H - CONVERSION OF TRITURATIONS OF INSOLUBLE BASIC SUBSTANCES INTO LIQUID ATTENUATIONS

Class H conversions of triturations of insoluble basic substances into liquid attenuations are prepared by succussine on (1) part of the lowest soluble trituration of the substance (usually 6X) with sufficient distilled water or other appropriate menstruum to produce the next higher attenuation.

CLASS I - NOSODES

Nosodes are homeopathic attenuations of: pathological organs or tissues; causative agents such as bacteria, fungi, ova, parasites, virus particles, and yeast; disease products; excretions or secretions.

CLASS J - ALLERSODES

Allersodes are homeopathic attenuations of antigens, i.e., substances which, under suitable conditions, can induce the formation of antibodies. Antigens include toxins, ferments, percipitinogens, agglutinogens, opsonogens, lysogens, venins, agglutinins, complements, opsonins, amboceptors, precipitins, and most native proteins.

CLASS K - ISODES

Isodes, sometimes called Detoxodes, are homeopathic attenuations of botanical, zoological, or chemical substances, including drugs, excipients, or binders, which have been ingested or otherwise absorbed by the body and are believed to have produced a disease or disorder which interferes with homeostasis.

CLASS L - SARCODES

Sarcodes are homeopathic attenuations of wholesome organs, tissues, or metabolic factors obtained from healthy specimens.

630A.040 would subject a homeopathic practitioner to discipline by the Board of Homeopathic Examiners pursuant to NRS 630A.370(3) and (5), and to discipline by the Board of Pharmacy pursuant to NRS 453.241.

We suggest that representatives from the Boards of Pharmacy and Homeopathy meet to develop a comprehensive pharmacopoeia of drugs that Nevada pharmacists could provide to homeopathic practitioners or their patients that could be circulated among the members of the two professions. The pharmacopoeia should include at least the following categories: (1) those dangerous drugs that are "sarcodes" and could be prescribed by the homeopathic practitioner to be filled at a Nevada pharmacy; (2) those controlled substances that are in Schedules I and II that could be ordered by homeopathic practitioners from Nevada pharmacies for the manufacture of homeopathic remedies; (3) those controlled substances in Schedules III, IV, and V that could be ordered by homeopathic practitioners from Nevada pharmacies for the manufacture of homeopathic remedies; and (4) those dangerous drugs that could be ordered by homeopathic practitioners from Nevada pharmacies for the manufacture of homeopathic remedies.

The second conclusion contained in the letter opinion of January 7, 1985, remains essentially unchanged; namely that a homeopathic physician who is also licensed in Nevada as an allopathic or osteopathic physician may write prescriptions for controlled substances for allopathic or osteopathic, not homeopathic, purposes. NRS 453.381(1), the statute that is the basis of this part of the letter opinion, has not been changed in the interim since 1985. Similarly, a dangerous drug cannot legally be prescribed by a homeopathic physician except for allopathic or osteopathic, not homeopathic, purposes. See NRS 454.211, NRS 454.221.

Of course, the dually-licensed practitioner could also prescribe, obtain, possess, and administer those dangerous drugs and controlled substances for homeopathic purposes according to the homeopathic method as has already been discussed. In other words, when a dually-licensed practitioner is practicing allopathically or osteopathically, he could prescribe any dangerous drug or controlled substance, but when he is practicing homeopathically, he can only avail himself of the more narrow homeopathic pharmacopoeia of dangerous drugs and controlled substances.

CONCLUSION

The 1985 amendment to NRS 0.040 authorizes exclusively homeopathic physicians to possess, dispense, or administer those controlled substances and dangerous drugs that are recognized by the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States and otherwise comply with NRS 630A.040. To possess, dispense, or administer any controlled substances, a homeopathic physician must obtain a federal DEA registration and a Nevada controlled substances registration. Homeopathic physicians who are also licensed in Nevada as allopathic or osteopathic physicians, in addition to the limited abilities to possess, dispense, administer, and prescribe certain dangerous drugs and controlled substances according to homeopathic practice, may also possess, dispense, prescribe, or administer controlled substances and dangerous drugs as appropriate and necessary to their allopathic or osteopathic practices.

Dear Senator O'Connell:

You have asked this office to address three questions relating to the practice of homeopathy in this state. Your questions arise from the interaction between Assembly Bill No. 286 of the 1997 Legislature, which amended the scope of homeopathic practice, the regulation adopted pursuant to that bill by the Board of Homeopathic Medical Examiners, and the February 11, 1999, opinion of the Attorney General which declared that regulation invalid. Specifically, you have asked (1) whether the Attorney General's opinion invalidating the regulation is correct; (2) whether the regulation is effective and valid, and if so, what authority homeopathic physicians possess to prescribe medications, including drugs, controlled substances and dangerous drugs; and (3) whether the authority to write prescriptions granted by this regulation is in conformity with the intent of the Legislature in enacting A.B. 286. The complexity of these issues makes it necessary to provide a significant amount of background information. After providing this information, we will answer each of your questions separately.

I. Background

A. Homeopathy in Nevada: 1983 to 1997

The licensed practice of homeopathy in this state began in 1983 when the Legislature authorized the practice and established the Board of Homeopathic Medical Examiners (Homeopathic Board) to regulate and license the practice. At that time, the Legislature defined homeopathy as a:

> [S]ystem of medicine employing substances of animal, vegetable, chemical or mineral origin [most of which are g]iven in micro-dosage ... and [p]repared according to homeopathic pharmacology by which the formulation of homeopathic preparations is accomplished by ... dilution ... and which is] in accordance with the principle that a substance which produces symptoms in a healthy person can eliminate those symptoms in an ill person, resulting in the elimination and prevention of illness utilizing classical methodology ...

(Section 5 of chapter 524, Statutes of Nevada 1983, at page 1479.)[1] To obtain a license as a homeopathic physician, an applicant must have graduated from either a conventional, that is, "allopathic," medical school or a school osteopathy and must have been licensed to practice allopathic or osteopathic medicine in some state, district, territory or possession of the United States or in a foreign country. (NRS 630A.230.) In 1983, as at present, it was possible, although not necessary, for a licensed homeopathic physician also to be licensed to practice conventional allopathic or osteopathic medicine.[2] Thus, while every homeopathic physician must have received training in allopathic or osteopathic medicine, each homeopathic physician may choose whether to continue to practice both forms of medicine, in which case he must be "dually-licensed," or to choose to practice homeopathy exclusively, in which case he need only be "singly-licensed." The 1983 statute did not clearly establish the scope of the authority to write prescriptions that a license to practice homeopathic medicine conferred on its holder. On the one hand, the statutory definition had authorized homeopathic physicians to use "chemical" substances. On the other hand, however, the existing statutory scheme applicable to prescription medicines suggested that homeopathic physicians lacked the authority to write prescriptions. It authorized "physicians" to prescribe drugs, but defined that term in a manner that excluded homeopathic physicians. (NRS 0.040 (1983.)) On January 7, 1985, the Attorney General issued an "informal opinion" advising that a singly-licensed homeopathic physician could not "prescribe, possess, dispense, [or] administer controlled substances and dangerous drugs." (1993 Nev. Op. Att'y Gen. 131, September 20, 1993 (A.G.O. 93-21).) Apparently, this informal opinion precipitated an amendment of NRS 0.040 at the next session of the Legislature. (Id.) The Legislature expanded the definition of "physician" expressly to include homeopathic physicians wherever "physician" was used in the NRS. (Section 5 of chapter 82, Statutes of Nevada 1985, at page 221.) This included those laws that conferred the authority to write prescriptions for pharmaceutical medicines or drugs generally, as well as for controlled substances and dangerous drugs. (Chapters 639, 453 and 454 of NRS.) It is not clear whether homeopathic physicians, or others, regarding this statute as conferring carte blanche authority on homeopathic physicians to prescribe allopathic drugs, but, at the next session in 1987, the Legislature imposed an explicit limitation on the authority of homeopathic physicians to write prescriptions. The Legislature amended the definition of homeopathy to make it plain that homeopathic physicians could only prescribe substances "according to the medicines and dosages in the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States." (Section 10 of chapter 775, Statutes of Nevada 1987, at page 2056.)

In the fall of 1993, the Attorney General was asked to provide an opinion on the then present scope of homeopathic practice. Te Attorney General concluded that part of the 1985 informal opinion had been overtaken by circumstances and was no longer valid. She stated that "[i]t is clear . . . that a homeopathic physician practicing homeopathically [can] legally obtain, possess, and administer some dangerous drugs and controlled substances for the manufacture of homeopathic remedies." (1993 Nev. Op. Att'y Gen. 131, September 20, 1993.) (Emphasis added) In other words, a physician, practicing under his homeopathic license, could prescribe any medication, including allopathic medicines, controlled substances, and dangerous drugs, so long as it was found in the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia and providing that he prescribed it in the dosages also

[2] Both osteopathic and allopathic physicians are licensed and regulated by the State Board of Medical examiners (Medical Board). Moreover, doctors osteopathy have the same authority to prescribe allopathic prescription drugs, controlled substances and dangerous drugs as do doctors of medicine. For the remainder of this memo, therefore, when speaking of the authority to write prescriptions, we will use "allopathic" as inclusive of "osteopathic," except when it is necessary to distinguish between the two practices.

found there. This might include the authority to prescribe many allopathic drugs, but it almost certainly did not include the authority to prescribe such drugs in allopathic doses. Rather, the Attorney Gene3ral concluded that a homeopathic physician might write a prescription for one pill of an allopathic drug if he did so for the purpose of obtaining it to use in preparing a homeopathic medicine in which the dose of the controlled substance actually administered to the patient would be so diluted that it would conform to homeopathic standards. This interpretation seems to have been accepted by the homeopathic, allopathic and pharmaceutical communities. It is sometimes referred to as the "one-pill rule" and it covers the "micro-dosage" portion of the authority of a homeopathic physician to write prescriptions. The Attorney General also concluded that homeopathic physicians possessed a limited power to prescribe administer certain substances in "macro-dosages," but that these substances, called "sarcodes," were unlikely to be a part of the stock of conventional or allopathic drugs regularly stocked by pharmacists in this state.[3]

In the same 1993 opinion, however, the Attorney General formally adopted one of the conclusions endorsed by the earlier (1985) informal opinion. This was the conclusion that a physician who is dually licensed as both a homeopathic physician and as an allopathic (or osteopathic) physician could not use the authority to write prescriptions granted by his allopathic license to practice homeopathy. In other words, "when a dually-licensed practitioner is practicing allopathically or osteopathically, he can prescribe any dangerous drug or controlled substance, but when he is practicing homeopathically, he can only avail himself of the more narrow homeopathic pharmacopoeia . . . "(1993 Nev. Op. Att'y Gen. 131.) This restriction on the scope of practice, in conjunction with the "one-pill rule" (as modified by the exception for sarcodes), represents the status quo ante. Together, they constitute the background against which the subsequent legislation and regulation must be viewed.

B. Assembly Bill No. 286 of the 1997 Legislature

In 1997, the Nevada Association of Homeopathic Physicians offered a bill to expand the scope of the licensed practice of homeopathy and to repeal the "one-pill rule." The homeopathic community believed that since all licensed homeopathic physicians had received allopathic (or osteopathic) training and had satisfied, in some state or country, the requirements to prescribe allopathic drugs in allopathic doses, they should be allowed to do so in Nevada as well. Assembly Bill No. 286 of the 1997 Legislature (A.B. 286), as introduced, employed three statutory mechanisms to bring this about. First, it eliminated the language in NRS 630A.040 that limited the authority of homeopathic physicians to write prescriptions to the substances and dosages found in the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia. Second, it increased the Homeopathic Board's power over licensing to

[3] According to the 1991 edition of the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States, sarcodes are "homeopathic attenuations of wholesome organs, tissues, or metabolic factors obtained from healthy specimens . . . prepared according to homeopathic specifications [in which] the basic substance is not altered and the FINAL PRODUCT is not adulterated by any pathogen or other deleterious substance." The Attorney General concluded, "No known allopathic drugs regularly stocked by Nevada pharmacists would be 'sarcodes.'" (1993 Nev. Op. Att'y Gen. 131, September 20, 1993.)

permit the Board to determine on a case-by-case basis, "which allopathic pharmaceuticals and controlled substances, if any, the homeopathic physician or advanced practitioner of homeopathy may prescribe in conventional allopathic dosages." (Subsection 4 of section 1 of A.B. 286, as introduced). The Board was to base its decisions on an evaluation of each licensee's pharmacological expertise. Thus, if the Board was satisfied that an applicant for homeopathic licensure was as qualified to prescribe allopathic medicines in allopathic dosages as medical doctors licensed by the Medical Board, the Homeopathic Board would confer on him a license with equivalent authority. If it evaluated his pharmaceutical knowledge less favorably, it would issue a license that specified the particular allopathic drugs he was authorized to prescribe, or it could grant him a license that expressly disqualified him from prescribing conventional doses of any allopathic drug. Third, A.B. 286 expanded the definition of homeopathy to include the practice of "pharmaceutical medicine." Although this term was never defined with precision, it appears plain that it was intended to encompass the routine prescription of allopathic drugs in allopathic doses. (See Testimony of Robert F. Martin, Testimony of Michael J. Fischer, Hearing, Assembly Committee on Commerce, March 31, 1997.) One of the witnesses at the hearing before the Assembly Committee on Commerce provided the following example of what the supporters of A.B. 286 hoped to accomplish. Because relatively few states license homeopathic medicine, the practice of homeopathic physicians in this state includes the treatment of nonresidents who have traveled here for the express purpose of taking a course of homeopathic treatment. If, while undergoing this treatment, the patient manifested a disease that was easily treatable with simple antibiotics, for example, a strept throat, the supporters of A.B. 286 wished singly-licensed homeopathic physicians to have sufficient authority to write a prescription for the patient without having to refer him to an allopathically-licensed physician to obtain the antibiotic. (See Testimony of F. Fuller Royal, Testimony of Robert F. Martin, Hearing, Assembly Committee on Commerce, March 31, 1997.)

Besides this expansion in the authority to prescribe conventional allopathic medicines, the supporters of A.B. 286 hoped to expand the scope of homeopathic practice beyond its traditional or classical limits and to include what one witness called "complex homeopathy," but which might more accurately be described as a license for the practice of specific forms of alternative medicine. (Testimony of Robert F. Martin, Hearing, Assembly Committee on Commerce, March 31, 1997.) To accomplish this, the sponsors of A.B. 286 proposed amending the definition of homeopathy to include, in addition to the "non-invasive electrodiagnosis" that had formed part of the 1983 definition, the following alternative practice areas:

> [C]ell therapy, neural therapy, herbal therapy, neuromuscular integration, orthomolecular therapy, nutrition, intravenous infusion, [and] chelation therapy . . .[4]

[4] This clause also contained the expansion of homeopathy to include the practice of "pharmaceutical medicine," discussed above.

"classical," non-statutory definition of homeopathy. The president of the Homeopathic Board testified that "when [A.B. 286] talks about neural therapy, you are not talking about homeopathy. When it talks about orthomolecular therapy and herbalist medications, you're not talking about homeopathy." (Testimony of F. Fuller Royal, Minutes, Legislative Commission, December 18, 1998.) He also stated that there was "no such thing" as homeopathic neuromuscular integration and that the purpose of enumerating those additional therapies had been to "expand the practice of homeopathy." (Testimony of F. Fuller Royal, Minutes, Legislative Commission Meeting, June 26, 1998.) Consequently, because none of these alternative therapies constituted part of homeopathy as traditionally or classically conceived, A.B. 286 deliberately did not subject those therapies to the earlier limitations imposed on classical homeopathy. Thus, the medications that a homeopathic physician might prescribe under the therapies need not be selected in conformity with the fundamental homeopathic principle that a substance that would make a healthy person ill would, if diluted correctly, make an ill person healthy. Similarly, the authority of a homeopathic physician to write a prescription, when practicing one of these alternative therapies, was not limited to the substances or dosages that were found in the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia.

At the hearing on the bill before the Assembly Committee on Commerce, both supporters and opponents agreed that the net effect of all these provisions would be to significantly expand the ability of singly-licensed homeopathic physicians to practice allopathic medicine. Opponents of A.B. 286 objected to this expansion with an intensity that, apparently, would have been sufficient to prevent the entire bill from emerging from the Assembly Commerce Committee. Both the Chairman of that committee and another member recall informing the lobbyist for the homeopathic physicians that A.B. 286 would not pass unless certain objectionable elements were removed. Both legislators also recall that the lobbyist agreed to an amendment removing them. (See Comments of Assemblyman Richard Perkins, Comments of Assemblywoman Barbara E. Buckley, Minutes, Legislative Commission, June 28 and December 18, 1998.)

A.B. 286, as amended, considerably enhanced the power of the Homeopathic Board to regulate its own practitioners, but did not contain the language that would have authorized that board to "determine which allopathic pharmaceuticals and controlled substances, if any, the homeopathic physician . . . may prescribe in conventional allopathic dosages." Similarly, while the Assembly Committee on Commerce had accepted the Homeopathic Board's draft language establishing its right to discipline its own members, the committee amended that provision by adding an explicit declaration that if the conduct of a homeopathic physician concerned a practice that was within the jurisdiction of another licensing board, the Homeopathic Board was required to forward the complaint to the appropriate board for action. (See A.B. 286, First Reprint). Finally, the Committee edited the list of proposed alternative therapies. As previously mentioned, the Committee eliminated the general power to prescribe allopathic drugs in allopathic doses by removing the phrase "pharmaceutical medicine" from the list of alternative therapies. In its initial consideration of amendments to the bill, the committee retained the terms "intravenous infusion and chelation therapy." (See Exhibit C, Attachment B, Minutes, Assembly Committee on Commerce, May 5, 1997.) These two terms, however, were also subsequently removed.[5] (See Floor Minutes of the Assembly Committee on Commerce, June 29, 1997, Assembly Journal, June 29, 1997, pp. 1777-78.)

With these changes in place, the Medical Board and State Board of Pharmacy (Pharmacy Board) withdrew their opposition to the legislation. The hearing on the amended bill before the Senate Committee on Commerce and Labor was relatively brief as there was no substantive opposition. One erstwhile opponent testified that in its present form the bill was "innocuous." (Testimony of Robert Barengo, Hearing, Senate Committee on Commerce and Labor, July 3, 1997.) However, the chairman of that committee recalls being informed that the terms "chelation therapy," "intravenous infusion," and pharmaceutical medicine" had been removed solely to eliminate redundancy or surplus language. He understood that it was agreed by all parties that those therapies were authorized by virtue of the remaining terms. For that reason alone, he recalls, the Senate committee did not conduct full hearings on the bill. (See Comments of Senator Randolph J. Townsend, Minutes, Legislative Commission, June 26, 1998; see also Comments of Senator Mark James, Minutes, Legislative Commission, December 18, 1998.)

Despite what now appears as an obvious difference in understanding between certain members of the Senate with some of their colleagues in the Assembly, there is nothing to suggest that members of either house were aware of these differences when they voted unanimously in favor of the amended bill. Although the new alternative therapies were each listed in the bill, they were not defined. Consequently, the Homeopathic Board attempted to supply these definitions by regulation.

C. The Regulation and the Legislative Commission

The Homeopathic Board adopted its first set of proposed definitions on May 5, 1998, after conducting the required workshop0s and public hearings. The Legal Division of the Legislative Counsel Bureau assigned the proposed regulation the file number R213-97. The Medical and Pharmacy Boards participated in the hearings and, therefore, had early notice of the proposed definitions. The bulk of the definitions excited no controversy, but the representatives of the allopathic community insisted that in its definitions of two of the alternative therapies---orthomolecular medicine and neural therapy---the Homeopathic Board had exceeded its statutory authority. As originally submitted, the regulation defined "orthomolecular medicine" to include "[t]he prescription of . . . pharmaceutical medicines, [and] the intravenous infusion of various substances, including . . . pharmaceutical medications [and] chelating agents . . ." The regulation also defined "neural medicine" to mean the "injection of local anesthetics . . . medicinal or pharmaceutical substances . . ." The allopathic physicians objected that the definitions purported to permit homeopathic physicians to prescribe pharmaceutical "medicines," "medications," and "substances" when the authorization to practice

[5] These two terms will be discussed in greater detail in our response to your third question.

"pharmaceutical medicine" had been expressly removed by the Assembly Committee on Commerce. The same objection applied to the term "intravenous infusion" and the practice of chelation.

The Legal Division of the Legislative Counsel Bureau notified the Homeopathic Board of these objections, but the Homeopathic Board chose not to revise its regulation at that time. Consequently, when R213-97 was submitted to the Legislative Commission for approval at its June 26, 1998, meeting, representatives of the Homeopathic and Medical boards were on hand to present their arguments to the Commission. Under NRS 233B.067, the Commission has the authority to object to a regulation on two bases:

1. The regulation does not conform to statutory authority; or
2. The regulation does not carry out legislative intent.

The Commission heard extensive testimony and considered the matter at length. The majority of the testimony turned on the enhanced authority of homeopathic physicians to write prescriptions that were perceived to be found in the references to "pharmaceutical medicines," "pharmaceutical medications" and "pharmaceutical substances" in light of the Assembly amendment's removal of the term "pharmaceutical medicine" from A.B. 286. In particular, opponents objected---as they had at the hearing before the Assembly Committee on Commerce---to any expansion in the power of singly-licensed homeopathic physicians to prescribe allopathic dosages of controlled substances, including narcotics, and dangerous drugs. The Commission concluded that, assuming that the definitions selected by the Homeopathic Board and incorporated into the regulation were in accordance with authoritative sources in the field of alternative medicine, the regulation was within that board's statutory grant of authority. Nevertheless, the Commission voted to object to the regulation on the ground that the increased authority it conferred on homeopathic physicians to prescribe allopathic drugs in allopathic doses violated the legislative intent behind A.B. 286. (See Minutes, Legislative Commission Meeting, June 26, 1998.) Accordingly, the Director of the Legislative Counsel Bureau returned the regulation to the Homeopathic Board with a note of the Commission's objections. (See letter from Lorne J. Malkiewich to F. Fuller Royal, June 30, 1998.)

In accordance with the procedures set forth in NRS 233B.0675, the Homeopathic Board revised R213-97. The revised regulation replaced the terms "pharmaceutical medicines," "pharmaceutical medications," and "pharmaceutical substances," with a single term, "pharmaceutical preparations."[6] This term was then expressly limited to make plain that it did "not include narcotic drugs or opiates that are listed as schedule II controlled substances pursuant to chapter 453 of NRS, except as those substances may be described for use in the official Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States."

The revised regulation was resubmitted to the Legislative Commission for review

[6] The revised regulation also eliminated the term "local anesthetics" from the definition of neural therapy on the ground that such substances were included in the broader category of "pharmaceutical preparations."

at its December 18, 1998, meeting. Once again, the Commission heard extended testimony both for and against the regulation. The witness for the Homeopathic Board contended that inasmuch as the primary objection to the earlier regulation had been the expansion in the authority of homeopathic physicians to prescribe narcotics or other controlled substances in allopathic doses, the revised regulation eliminated that objection. In effect, it restated the "one-pill rule" as it applied to the substances. The Medical and Pharmacy Boards, however, continued to object to the regulation. While conceding that the revised version limited prescriptions by homeopathic physicians of certain schedule II controlled substances (opiates and other narcotics), the Boards contended that it conferred carte blanche authority on homeopathic physicians to prescribe, in allopathic doses, all other allopathic drugs, all controlled substances except the narcotics and opiates listed in schedule II, and all dangerous drugs. In particular, they objected that the revised regulation authorized homeopathic physicians to prescribe allopathic doses, certain enumerated chelating agents and to administer them by means of "intravenous infusion."

Operating on the assumption that these substances would be prescribed in the course of administering chelation therapy, a practice expressly authorized by the regulation's definition of orthomolecular therapy, the revised R213-07 permitted, by regulation, two practices---chelation and intravenous infusion---that had been expressly denied to homeopathic physicians by the Assembly amendments to A.B. 286.

Following this evidence and after full discussion, the Legislative Commission by a close vote failed to object to the revised regulation and it therefore became effective. Under NRS 233B.067 and 233B.0675, unless a majority of the Commission objects to a regulation, the Director of the Legislative Counsel Bureau is obliged to file the regulation with the Secretary of State and it becomes effective as of the date of filing. This was, accordingly, done and the regulation became effective on December 18, 1998. (See letter from Lorne J. Malkiewich to Dean Heller, December 18, 1998.)

D. The Attorney General Declares the Regulation Invalid

The 1999 session of the Legislature convened on February 2. Although numerous members of the Legislative Commission had indicated that the scope of the practice of homeopathy would be addressed at the session, in fact, no such legislation was passed or even requested. The Pharmacy Board, however, solicited the opinion of the Attorney General on the question of whether a singly-licensed homeopathic physician administering the alternative or non-traditional therapies described in the adopted regulation could prescribe controlled substances or dangerous drugs. The Attorney General responded on February 11, 1999. (See Nev. Op. Att'y Gen. 99-06 (A.G.O. 99-06).)

After a brief recapitulation of the amendment and passage of A.B. 286 of the 1997 Legislature and evolution of R213-97, the Attorney General concluded that the regulation was invalid. The Attorney General reached this conclusion because, during a Legislative Commission hearing, members of the Homeopathic Board had, in her opinion, expressed "an intent to interpret the phrase 'pharmaceutical preparations' as permitting a singly licensed homeopathic physician to prescribe some controlled substances and dangerous drugs . . . We believe this interpretation renders the regulation invalid . . ." The Attorney General also concluded that:

> When the Legislature specifically deleted the term 'pharmaceutical medicine' from the definition of homeopathy, its clear intent in enacting the remainder of A.B. 286 was to prohibit singly licensed homeopathic physicians from having the ability to prescribe controlled substances and dangerous drugs in the same manner as an allopathic physician ... We believe that our conclusion in Op. Nev. Att'y Gen. No. 93-21 (September 20, 1993), continues to accurately describe the limited ability of singly > licensed homeopathic physicians to posses, dispense, and administer controlled substances and dangerous drugs.

Unlike the 1985 "informal" opinion, this opinion was issued publicly and was made public during the course of the Legislative session. Nevertheless, the Legislature took no further action and no further inquiries were made until you requested this opinion following the conclusion of the session.

II. Analysis

With the preceding background in place, we will now analyze each of your questions separately. Your first question is whether the Attorney General's opinion is correct. It is the opinion of this office that it is not.

A. The Attorney General's Opinion No. 99-06

As a preliminary matter, we note that the "opinions of the attorney general do not constitute binding legal authority or precedent." Goldman v. Bryan, 106 Nev. 30, 42 (1990). "The opinion of the state attorney general is advisory and not a binding interpretation of state law." Nevada Highway Patrol Ass'n v. State, F.2d 1549, 1554, n.6 (1990). See also Tahoe Regional Planning Agency v. McKay, 769 F.2d 534, 539 (9th Cir. 1985); Weston v. County of Lincoln, 98 Nev. 183 (1982); and Cannon v. Taylor, 88 Nev. 89 (1972). Consequently, even if A.G.O. 99-06 were correct, it would not be binding. In any event, however, the Attorney General possesses neither the statutory nor the constitutional power to invalidate regulations. Therefore, it is the opinion of this office the A.G.O. 99-06 is necessarily incorrect to the extent that it purports to claim that the Attorney General has the authority to invalidate a regulation after the regulation has been adopted in compliance with all the procedures required under chapter 233B of NRS and has been filed with the Secretary of State.

Section 2 of Article 3 of the Nevada Commission expressly provides for legislative review and nullification of administrative regulations. It states that:

> If the legislature authorizes the adoption of regulations by an executive agency which bind persons outside the agency, the legislature may provide by law for:
>
> (a) The review of these regulations by a legislative agency before their effective date to determine initially whether each is within the statutory authority for its adoption;
>
> (b) The suspension by a legislative agency of any such regulation which appears to exceed that authority, until it is reviewed by a legislative body composed of members of the Senate and Assembly which is authorized to act on behalf of both houses of the legislature; and
> (c) The nullification of any such regulation by a majority vote of that legislative body, whether or not the regulation was suspended.

Acting pursuant to this constitutional grant of authority, the Legislature has amended chapter 233B of NRS, the Nevada Administrative Procedure Act. In chapter 233B of NRS, the Legislature provided, inter alia, the exclusive avenues for determining the pre-enforcement validity of a regulation.[7] Under NRS 233B.110, "[t]he validity or applicability of any regulation may be determined in a proceeding for a declaratory judgment in the district court" by any plaintiff who alleges that "the regulation, or its proposed application, interferes with or impairs, or threatens to interfere with or impair [his] legal rights or privileges . . " Alternatively, "[a]n agency may institute an action for declaratory judgment to establish the validity of any one or more of its own regulations." In this proceeding, "[t]he court shall declare the regulation invalid if it finds that it violates constitutional or statutory provisions or exceeds the statutory authority of the agency." A.G.O. 99-06 concluded that a regulation is invalid if it "exceeds the statutory authority delegated by the Legislature to an administrative agency." This is clearly correct, but as NRS 233B.110 makes clear, when the regulation exceeds its authority, it is the court, not the Attorney General, that is required to "declare the regulation invalid."[8] Chapter 233B of NRS expressly provides a role for the Attorney General in all actions to determine the validity of a regulation. The plaintiff in any such action is required to serve a copy of the complaint upon the Attorney General, who is "entitled to be heard." (Subsection 3 of NRS 233B.110.)[9] [7] Any person who is actually harmed by the enforcement of a regulation or by a state officer acting pursuant to the regulation may bring an action for damages against the state or the officer, during the course of which the validity of the regulation may be brought into issue and resolved by the court. The Legislature's intent in enacting NRS 233B.110 was to permit the validity of regulations to be determined even before they are enforced.

[8] It could be argued that the Attorney General is not asserting a power to declare a regulation invalid, but is merely expressing that which is evident—a regulation that exceeds its authorizing statute is void. Without disputing the accuracy of this conclusion, it is the opinion of this office that because chapter 233B of NRS provides detailed procedures for establishing the validity of regulations, it cannot reasonably be suggested that the Legislature intended chapter 233B of NRS to be self-executing.

[9] Although chapter 233B of NRS gives the sole means for declaring a regulation invalid, NRS 233B.100 provides that "[a]ny regulation of any agency is subject to amendment or suspension by the governor

The statutory scheme embodied in chapter 233B of NRS assigns distinct functions to the judicial branch of government and to the Attorney General. It limits the Attorney General's role to "being heard" by the court. This assignment and limitation points up another objection to the Attorney General's assertion of the authority to declare administrative regulations invalid, which is the constitutional objection inherent in the doctrine of the separation of powers. Section 1 of Article 3 of the Nevada Constitution states that:

> The powers of the Government of the State of Nevada Shall be divided into three separate departments,---the Legislative,---the Executive and the Judicial; and no persons charged with the exercise of powers properly belonging to one of these departments shall exercise any functions, appertaining to either of the others, except in the cases expressly directed or permitted in this constitution.

The remainder of Article 3 confers on the Legislature the authority to nullify administrative regulations before they become effective. Similarly, the power to interpret statutes and regulations and to declare them invalid is entrusted to the courts in implicit reliance on the constitutional principle that "[i]t is emphatically the province and duty of the judicial department to say what the law is." Marbury v. Madison, 5 U.S. (1 Cranch) 137, 177 (1803) (Marshall, C.J.). For the Attorney General to assert a power to invalidate regulations clearly violates the doctrine of the separation of powers by exercising functions appertaining to both of the other branches of government.

The Attorney General is obviously aware of her constitutional role and it is unlikely that she intended to exceed it. Rather, it is probable that her declaration of the invalidity of R213-97 contained in A.G.O. 99-06 merely represents her prediction of what a court of competent jurisdiction would be likely to declare if the question were posed to the court. Alternatively, the opinion could be meant to communicate the legal argument against the regulation's validity that the Attorney General would make in an action at law brought to determine that question. However, even regarded in this light, A.G.O. 99-06 is flawed in several particulars that make it unlikely to be a fully reliable guide to future judicial conduct on this issue.[10]

First, A.G.O. 99-06 states that a "regulation cannot restore a power that the pursuant to the provisions of NRS 416.060." This latter section, however, becomes effective only "[u]pon the proclamation of a water or energy emergency," and limits the amendment or suspension power to the extent necessary to lessen the adverse impact of that emergency.

[10] To the extent that A.G.O. 99-06 is intended as a prediction of judicial behavior, rather than an advocate's brief, it commits additional errors of omission in that it fails to consider fundamental principles and rules of statutory construction that a court would be bound to apply. We discuss these principles and rules in response to your third question.

Legislature specifically took out of a piece of legislation." This principle is sound, but it does not apply to this case in the manner suggested by the Attorney General. The power specifically taken out of A.B. 286 by the Legislature---expansion of the definition of homeopathy to include the unlimited practice of "pharmaceutical medicine," i.e., complete authority to prescribe allopathic drugs in allopathic doses---is not the same as the authority granted by the regulation. This latter authority consists only of a limited power to prescribe or use certain "pharmaceutical preparations" in certain alternative therapies. Because these two grants of power are not identical, the regulation does not "restore" a power specifically removed from the legislation.[11]

Moreover, A.G.O. 99-06 is internally inconsistent. The opinion declares that the regulation is invalid because it could be interpreted "as permitting a singly licensed homeopathic physician to prescribe some controlled substances and dangerous drugs." Nevertheless, A.G.O. 99-06 concludes by reaffirming A.G.O. 93-21 which declared that "[I]t is clear . . . that a homeopathic physician practicing homeopathically could legally obtain, possess, and administer some dangerous drugs and controlled substances for the manufacture of homeopathic remedies. Additionally, a homeopathic physician may also prescribe those dangerous drugs and controlled substances allowed by NRS 630A.040." Besides this obvious contradiction, A.G.O. 99-06 commits the non sequitur of concluding that an interpretation of the regulation that would permit singly-licensed homeopathic physicians to prescribe "some" controlled substances and dangerous drugs renders the regulation invalid because the Legislature clearly intended to prohibit singly-licensed homeopathic physicians from having the unlimited ability to prescribe any and all controlled substances and dangerous drugs "in the same manner as an allopathic physician."

In addition, A.G.O. 99-06 is, simultaneously, underinclusive as well as overbroad. It limits its consideration to the effect of the legislative deletion of the power to practice "pharmaceutical medicine" from A.B. 286. However, as previously noted, the Assembly Committee on Commerce also eliminated "chelation therapy" and "intravenous infusion" from A.B. 286. Moreover, A.B. 286 expanded the regulatory power of the Homeopathic Board over its licensees, but specifically rejected language that would have given that board the power to grant licenses to prescribe allopathic drugs. Finally, the bill expanded the scope of the practice of homeopathy to encompass seven alternative therapies, some of which require the administration of medicinal substances of one kind or another. The authority of licensed homeopathic physicians to write prescriptions under A.B. 286 and R213-97 cannot be adequately evaluated if all the powers granted and refused are not taken into consideration. On the other hand, A.G.O. 99-06 declares R213-97 invalid in its entirety, eliminating the authority of homeopathic physicians to practice noninvasive

[11] This regulation does, however, present a field for the application of the Attorney General's principle. The alternative practices of "chelation therapy" and "intravenous infusion" were deliberately amended out of the statute by the Assembly Committee on Commerce, but are restored by regulation as constituent parts of the practice of orthomolecular therapy. We will discuss this aspect of the regulation's validity subsequently.

electrodiagnosis, cell therapy, herbal therapy, neuromuscular integration and nutrition, when these practices are expressly authorized by A.B. 286, and no opposition of any kind has been raised with respect to these therapies.

Finally, the Attorney General's invalidation of the regulation is premature A.G.O. 99-06 is not premised on a claim that the language of the regulation necessarily conflicts with its authorizing statute. Instead, A.G.O. 99-06 concludes that a particular "interpretation makes the regulation invalid." However, the Homeopathic Board has not in fact, issued any such interpretation. A.G.O. 99-06 rests on the Attorney General's perception that "Board members [of the Homeopathic Board] clarified in the Legislative Commission an intention to interpret the phrase 'pharmaceutical preparations' as permitting a singly licensed homeopathic physician to prescribe some controlled substances and dangerous drugs . . ." Even if that were a valid basis for invalidating the regulation, which, as previously discussed, it is not, there were never more than two of the Homeopathic Board's five members present at either meeting of the Legislative Commission. * Assuming that the Attorney General correctly perceived the intended interpretation of those two members, only one of them spoke, they do not constitute a majority of the Board. Consequently, this seems a slender basis on which to invalidate even the portion of the regulation that could be subject to that hypothetical interpretation. When employed to invalidate all the other aspects of the regulation, even this tenuous basis of rationality is lost. Therefore, the Attorney General cannot declare the regulation invalid on the basis of a belief that the Homeopathic Board might at some future time choose to interpret its regulation in an offensive manner.

A.G.O. 99-06, does, however, achieve one valuable insight. It concludes that in enacting A.B. 286, the Legislature evidenced the clear intent that homeopathic physicians were not to enjoy the same unlimited authority to prescribe allopathic drugs in allopathic doses that is possessed by allopathic or osteopathic physicians. This insight, however, requires further evaluation. A.G.O. 99-06 states that "[w]hen the Legislature specifically deleted the term 'pharmaceutical medicine' from the definition of homeopathy, its clear intent in enacting the remainder of A.B. 286 was to prohibit the singly licensed homeopathic physician from having the ability to prescribe controlled substances and dangerous drugs in the same manner as an allopathic physician." As previously pointed out, the correct from of reference for determining legislative intent should be the act taken as a whole, including parts adopted, as well as all of the powers eliminated, during the amendment process. It is the opinion of this office that a more accurate way of characterizing the legislative intent behind A.B. 286 is that the Legislature, even while significantly expanding the authority of homeopathic physicians to practice alternative medicine and while enlarging the autonomy of the profession to regulate itself, ultimately refused to alter the status quo that declares that a license to practice homeopathic medicine does not confer the authority to prescribe allopathic drugs in allopathic doses in the same manner as an allopathic physician. We will return to this discussion of the correct determination of legislative intent in our response to your third question. Before doing so, however, we turn to your second question. Is the regulation effective, is it valid, and if so, what authority at present do homeopathic physicians have to prescribe allopathic medications, including controlled substances and dangerous drugs?

B. Effectiveness, validity and resulting authority of R213-97

1. Effectiveness

It is the opinion of this office that the regulation R213-97 is currently effective. The statutory scheme of chapter 233B of NRS is unambiguous in this regard. A permanent regulation becomes effective as of the date the Legislative Counsel files it with the Secretary of State, unless a later date is specified in the regulation. (NRS 233B.070.) The Legislative Counsel has a non-discretionary duty to file such regulations once certain procedural requirements were fulfilled.[12] In this instance, all the statutory procedural requirements were satisfied. The Legislative Commission failed to object to the regulation before it was filed with the Secretary of State and it may not do so now. By the same token, the 1999 Legislature could only have nullified the regulation if the Legislative Commission had voted to suspend the filing of the regulation. (NRS 233B.0675.) The Legislative Commission's failure to object deprived the full Legislature of its opportunity to nullify the regulation directly. In the absence of a constitutional amendment or new legislation, the regulation is beyond the reach of the legislative branch.[13] Accordingly, it is the opinion of this office that, pursuant to NRS 233B.0675, the regulation became effective on December 18, 1998, and until a court of competent jurisdiction enjoins its enforcement or declares it invalid or the Homeopathic Board adopts an amendment, it remains in effect and has the force of law. (See NRS 233B.040.) This brings us to the second part of your question, is the regulation valid?

2. Validity

Like a statute, an effective regulation must be presumed to be valid until a court of competent jurisdiction determines that it is not. (1A Sutherland Statutory Construction, §31.02 (5th ed. 1993 & Supp. 1999); see also Immigration and Naturalization Service v. Chada, 103 S. Ct. 2764, 2784 (1983).) Therefore, presuming, as we must, that R213-97 is valid, this brings us to the third part of your question. Under the statutes and regulations currently in effect, what authority does a homeopathic physician have to possess, administer, dispense or prescribe allopathic drugs, controlled substances and dangerous drugs?

[12] Before July 1, 1999, the Legislative Counsel's responsibilities concerning the regulatory process were vested in the Director of the Legislative Counsel Bureau. (See sections 43 to 49, inclusive, of chapter 463, Statutes of Nevada 1999, at pages 2203-07.)

[13] In any event, NRS 233B.0675 required the Legislature to nullify the regulation before the 30th day of the Legislative session. Even if the extension of this deadline to the final day of the session that was enacted in 1999 (section 1 of chapter 182, Statutes of Nevada 1999, at page 903, effective May 20, 1999) could be made to apply to apply to R213-97, that date has also long since passed.

3. The authority to write prescriptions

As a preliminary matter, we note that a dually-licensed homeopathic physician has the authority to write prescriptions, including prescriptions for allopathic drugs in allopathic doses, that he enjoys under his allopathic (or osteopathic) license. However, it remains the opinion of this office, as we advised you in 1998, that the powers and accountability of dually-licensed homeopathic physicians can only be determined with reference to the capacity in which they are practicing at any given time. (See letter from Brenda J. Erdoes and Eileen O'Grady to Senator Ann O'Connell, March 19, 1998.) A licensed homeopathic physician, when practicing homeopathically, is not accountable to the Medical Board because he is not exercising any of the rights or privileges conferred by virtue of an allopathic license issued by that Board. This conclusion, although in conflict with Attorney General's Opinion No. 98-01, is in complete accord with her earlier A.G.O. 93-21.[14] So, we do not believe that there is any difference between the authority of singly- and dually-licensed homeopathic physicians to write prescriptions when they are practicing homeopathically. The definitions of R213-97 concern only the nontraditional, alternative therapies recently incorporated into homeopathic medicine by virtue of A.B. 286. Nothing in that regulation changes, or purports to change, any aspect of traditional practice. Consequently, it is the opinion of this office that a homeopathic physician, practicing traditionally, does so with the same authority and under the same [14] It may be helpful to remind you of the circumstances surrounding the Attorney General's Opinion No. 98-01. In August, 1997, the Medical Board asserted that A.B. 286 had granted it exclusive disciplinary power over all licensed homeopaths who were also licensed by the Medical Board. This drew a formal protest from Senator Townsend as a misinterpretation of A.B. 286. (See letter from Senator Randolph J. Townsend to Attorney General Frankie Sue Del Papa, November 4, 1997.) Shortly thereafter, the Homeopathic Board requested an opinion from the Attorney General as to the proper relationship between the two boards, which was issued on January 13, 1998. (See Nev. Op. Att'y Gen. 98-01 A.G.O. 98-01).) The primary focus of that opinion concerned the obligations of a dually-licensed physician when one board forbade a medical procedure that was condoned by the other. The Attorney General concluded that the Legislature had intended the Medical Board's disciplinary jurisdiction to be exclusive. Thereafter, Senator O'Connell, you requested the opinion of this office as to the soundness of A.G.O. 98-01. We concluded that the Attorney General had overstated the powers of the Medical Board and suggested, instead, that "the Medical Board may not regulate the practices of a person who is licensed to practice both allopathic and homeopathic medicine while that person is actually practicing homeopathy within the scope of chapter 630A of NRS." (Letter from Brenda J. Erdoes and Eileen O'Grady to Senator Ann O'Connell, March 19, 1998.) More generally, we suggested that the clear intent of the legislative scheme had been to require that questions regarding dually-licensed physicians could only be answered after establishing in which capacity —allopathic or homeopathic—the physician was practicing. Note that this conclusion is consistent with the Attorney General's earlier opinion that each license confers its own separate set of powers and limitations, and that at any given moment a dually-licensed physician is practicing one form of medicine or the other, and not some hybrid or intermediate form. (See A.G.O. 93-21.) Thus, both the Attorney General and the Legislative Counsel have endorsed the proposition that a dually-licensed homeopathic physician cannot use his allopathic license to prescribe allopathic drugs in allopathic doses if his intention is to effect a homeopathic treatment. The factual context for A.G.O. 93-21 concerned the practice of chelation therapy, a form of medicine that we will examine in more detail in response to your third question.

limitations that he has since 1987. The limits of this practice are fully and competently set out in the Attorney General's Opinion No. 93-21. Having said this, it must be remembered that A.B. 286 bifurcated the practice of homeopathy into what we have called "traditional" or "classical" homeopathy and "complex homeopathy" or, more accurately, certain "alternative therapies." These practices consist of "[n]oninvasive electrodiagnosis, cell therapy, neural therapy, herbal therapy, neuromuscular integration, orthomolecular therapy and nutrition" as these practices have been defined in R213-97. As with the earlier distinction between allopathic and homeopathic licenses, we believe that it is possible to determine the authority of a homeopathic physician to write prescriptions only after determining which homeopathic therapies---"tradition" or "alternative"---he is engaged in.

(a) Traditional

Little additional needs to be said about the authority of a homeopathic physician to write prescriptions when practicing traditional or classical homeopathy. The limits of this power are contained in NRS 0.040 and chapters 453, 454, and 639 of NRS, as well as in NRS 630A.040. As we previously indicated, it is the opinion of this office that A.G.O. 93-21 accurately interpreted the statute, the operative portion of which has not been amended in a way that significantly alters this conclusion. Thus, homeopathic physicians may prescribe, dispense and administer traditional homeopathic remedies as medically appropriate according to the standards applicable to the homeopathic tradition. With respect to allopathic medications, including controlled substances or dangerous drugs, homeopathic physicians may write prescriptions for a single pill of such substances, but only for the purpose of diluting it and compounding it into a homeopathic preparation, only if the allopathic drug is found in the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia and only if the resulting diluted dosage is in accordance with dosages found in that pharmacopoeia.

(b) Alternative therapies

Homeopathic physicians, when practicing one of the alternative therapies authorized by A.B. 286 and defined in R213-97, have some additional authority to write prescriptions for allopathic drugs. It should be re-emphasized, however, that we believe this power to be practice-specific. For example, in the hearing on A.B. 286, the representatives of the homeopathic physicians expressed a desire to be able to prescribe antibiotics to patients suffering from strept throat. A homeopathic physician who desires to prescribe antibiotics, that is, allopathic drugs in allopathic doses according to allopathic principles, is not practicing classical homeopathy. Neither, as far as we can tell from the definitions contained in R213-97, is he practicing one of the alternative therapies. Consequently, nothing in the statute or regulation confers any increased authority to prescribe antibiotics. A homeopathic physician with an allopathic or osteopathic license may prescribe antibiotics under these circumstances, but when he does so, he is practicing under his medical license, his authority to write prescriptions is determined by that license, and he is accountable to the Medical, not the Homeopathic Board for any complaints arising from that treatment. A singly-licensed homeopathic physician did not have the authority to prescribe antibiotics in these circumstances before the passage of A.B. 286 and the adoption of R213-97. Such a physician has not gained any power to do so under either measure. Therefore, a homeopathic physician, by virtue of his homeopathic license, does not have a general or unlimited power to practice allopathic medicine, including the prescription of allopathic drugs in allopathic doses. However, when practicing a legislatively sanctioned alternative therapy, it is the opinion of this office that a homeopathic physician, so long as he complies with all state and federal laws and regulations applicable to prescription drugs, may prescribe in allopathic doses:

1. Any Controlled substance listed in schedule I, II, III, IV or V as set forth in chapter 453 or NRS, so long as both administration and dosage are medically appropriate according to the standards applicable to that alternative therapy, except that a homeopathic physician may not prescribe "narcotic drugs and opiates that are listed as schedule II controlled substances pursuant to chapter 453 of NRS, except as those substances may be described for use in the official Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States." (R213-97.)

2. Any dangerous drug that is defined in chapter 454 of NRS so long as both administration and dosage are medically appropriate according to the standards applicable to that alternative therapy.

3. Any other allopathic drug available by prescription so long as both administration and dosage are medically appropriate according to the standards applicable to that alternative therapy.

Finally, this brings us to your third question, is the authority to write prescriptions granted by R213-97 in conformity with the intent of the Legislature in enacting A.B. 286?

C. Legislative intent

We believe that the best way of addressing the question of whether R213-97 conforms to legislative intent is to examine how a court would be likely to rule if this regulation were challenged in a legal action, whether brought as an action for a declaratory judgment, a suit for a writ of mandamus or an action for damages. According to NRS 233B.110, a court in such a position "shall declare the regulation invalid if it finds that [the regulation] violates constitutional or statutory provisions or exceeds the statutory authority of the agency."

Courts determining whether a particular regulation is beyond the power granted to an administrative agency, "must not only interpret the statute to determine the powers conferred but also the regulation to determine whether its provisions comply with the statute." 1A Sutherland Statutory Construction, §31.06. In doing so, judges apply standard principles and rules of statutory construction, as well as special rules applicable to regulations only. 1A Sutherland Statutory Construction, §31.06. These rules, however, are not absolutes and do not permit us to predict with certainty what outcome any particular judge might reach. Consequently, we will present first the considerations that militate in favor of the regulation's validity. We will then present the countervailing considerations and, finally, our opinion as to which outcome is the more likely.

1. Arguments in favor of validity

The first applicable principle on rule of statutory construction accords to regulations the same presumption in favor of their validity that applies to statutes. 1A Sutherland Statutory Construction, §31.02. A corollary of this presumption is that the party challenging the validity of the regulation bears the burden of proving its invalidity.[15] Any interpretation of the regulation must take place against the backdrop of these presumptions favoring the validity of the regulation.

In addition, the rules of statutory construction provide that "[w]hen presented with a question of statutory interpretation, the intent of the legislature is the controlling factor and, if the statute under consideration is clear on its face, a court cannot go beyond the statute in determining legislative intent. If, however, the statute is ambiguous, it can be construed "in line with what reason and public policy would indicate the legislature intended . . ." Robert E. v. Justice Court of Reno Township, 99 Nev. 443, 445, 664 P.2d 957, 959 (1983) (internal citation omitted). Moreover, the court may also examine the legislative history of a provision if doing so would be "useful" in determining legislative intent. Del Papa v. Board of Regents of the University and Community College System of Nevada, 114 Nev. Adv. Op. 50, at p. 5, 956 P.2d 770 (1998). "A statute or portion thereof is ambiguous when it is capable of being understood by reasonably well-informed persons in either of two or more senses." Robert E. v. Justice Court, 99 Nev. at 445, 664 P.2d at 959 (internal citation omitted); see also McKay v. Board of Supervisors, 102 Nev. 644, 649, 730 P.2d 438, 442 (1987).

It can be argued that A.B. 286 is ambiguous as many of the terms used in the bill are capable of being understood in two or more senses. For example, as previously mentioned, none of the alternative therapies added to the definition of homeopathy would be considered "homeopathic" as that term has been traditionally used. Thus, the chief witness in favor of expanding the definition of homeopathy to include these alternative therapies testified that "when [A.B. 286 talks about neural therapy, you are not talking about homeopathy. When it talks about orthomolecular therapy and herbalist medications, you're not talking about homeopathy." He also stated that there was "no such thing" as homeopathic neuromuscular integration. (Testimony of F. Fuller Royal, Minutes, Legislative Commission, December 18, and June 26, 1998.) Besides this inherent ambiguity, a particular ambiguity attaches to the most controversial of the contested terms, "orthomolecular therapy." This term has a definition in conventional medical dictionaries that does not correspond in every particular with the manner in which that therapy is conducted by the alternative medical community. (See Testimony of Robert Barengo, Minutes, Legislative Commission, June 28, 1998.) However, Dr. Royal testified, and it was conceded, that the definitions of these alternative therapies adopted in the regulations employed correctly the meaning of these practices bear in the sources regarded as authoritative by the alternative medicine community. (See Testimony of F. Fuller Royal, Minutes, Legislative Commission, June 28 and December 18, 1998; Testimony of Robert Barengo, Minutes, Legislative Commission, June 28, 1998.) In light of these ambiguities, a court would not be able to rely solely on the language of the statute to determine the Legislative intent behind A.B. 286 as a predicate to determining whether R213-97 conforms with that intent. Instead, the court would be fully justified in examining all the extrinsic sources available, including the legislative history of A.B. 286, to attempt to discern the intent of the Legislature.

Moreover, when doubt arises as to the proper interpretation of a statute affecting an administrative agency, the Nevada Supreme Court has found that the interpretation of the agency that is charged with the administration and enforcement of the statute is persuasive evidence of its meaning. Nev. Power Co. v. Public Serv. Comm'n, 102 Nev. 1, 4 (1986); see also Dep't of Human Resources v. UHS of the Colony Inc., 103 Nev. 208, 211 (1987) (stating that an administrative construction that is within the language of the statute will not readily be disturbed by the courts); Roberts v. State, 104 Nev. 33, 39, 752 P.2d 221, 225, (1988). The theory behind this interpretation is that the Legislature is charged with having knowledge of the manner in which the statutes it enacts are carried out. Where the legislature "has had ample time to amend an administrative agency's reasonable interpretation of a statute, but fails to do so, such acquiescence indicates the interpretation is consistent with legislative intent." Hughes Properties v. State of Nevada, 100 Nev. 295, 298, 680 P.2d 970, 972 (1984) (citation omitted). "[N]early contemporaneous constructions of state statutes by administrative agencies charged with their implementation are entitled to great weight, especially when, as in the present case, the legislature fails to repudiate the agency's construction." Roberts v. State, 104 Nev. at 39, 752 P.2d at 225 (citations omitted). This citation is particularly applicable inasmuch as the final decision of the Legislative Commission failing to object to the regulation took place less than 6 weeks before the opening of the next session of the legislature. Numerous members of the Legislative Commission had suggested during their discussions that the matter be referred to the Legislature. However, the fact that the Legislature not only did not pass, but did not even request, a bill to modify the scope of the practice of homeopathy may well justify a conclusion that the Legislature did not believe that the regulation violated its intent in amending chapter 630A of NRS. And "[a]lthough not controlling, the legislature's construction of its own act is persuasive in ascertaining the act's meaning." Roberts, 104 Nev. at 40, 752 P.2d at 225.

Standard rules of statutory construction direct that statutes should be read and interpreted as a whole. 2A Sutherland Statutory Construction § 46.05; K.J.B., Inc. v. Second Judicial Dist. Court, 103 Nev. 473, 476 (1987). "'Courts must construe statutes . . . to give meaning to all of their parts and language . . . The court should read each sentence, phrase, and word to render it meaningful within the context of the purpose of the legislation.'" Del Papa v. Reagents, 114 Nev. Adv. Op. 50, at p. 3, quoting Board of County Comm'rs v. CMC of Nevada, 99 Nev. 739, 744, 670 P.2d 102, 105 (1983) (citations omitted). Taken as a whole, it seems clear that the intent of the Legislature was to expand the scope of homeopathic practice, but not to increase it so far that it became an independent license to engage in the unlimited practice of allopathic medicine. It is evident that the alternative therapies defined by R213-97 are limited in scope and do not constitute the unlimited practice of allopathic medicine. Consequently, it can be argued that the regulation is consistent with legislative intent and is, therefore, valid.

2. Arguments against validity

The strongest arguments against the validity of R213-97 originate in the legislative history of A.B. 286. Standard rules of statutory construction permit the use of legislative history to establish legislative intent when a statute is ambiguous. The legislative history of A.B. 286 reveals that the Assembly Committee on Commerce deliberately removed the terms "intravenous infusion, chelation therapy, and pharmaceutical medicines" from the bill. This is consistent with the notion that it was the intent of the Legislature that homeopathic physicians were not to be authorized to engage in these practices. It is well settled that "[a]dminstrative regulations cannot contradict or conflict with the statute they are intended to implement." Roberts v. State, 104 Nev. at 37, 752 P.2d at 223. As the Attorney General argued, a regulation "cannot restore a power that the Legislature specifically took out of a piece of legislation." (A.G.O. 99-06.) Thus, to the extent that R213-97 authorizes homeopathic physicians to practice intravenous infusion and chelation, and to prescribe some pharmaceutical preparations, it can be argued that it violates legislative intent and is, necessarily, invalid.

It must be noted, however, that some problems occur with this argument. First, the Nevada Supreme Court has expressly proscribed the use of legislators' statements of opinion as a means of determining legislative intent. "'[I]n construing a statute we do not consider the motives or understands of individuals who cast their votes in favor of it. . . . [Even if] the legislator whose motives are proffered actually authored the bill in controversy; no guarantee can issue that those who supported this proposal shared his view of its compass.'" A-NLV Cab Co. v. State Taxicab Authority, 108 Nev. 92, 95 (1992), quoting Cal. Teachers Ass'n v. San Diego Com. College, 621 P.2d 856, 860 (Cal. 1981) (citations and internal quotations omitted). "A legislator's statement is entitled to consideration, however, when it is a reiteration of legislative discussion and events leading to adoption of proposed amendments, rather than merely an expression of personal opinion." See also Khoury v. Maryland Casualty Co., 108 Nev. 1037, 1040 (1992). In this instance, however, even assuming that the Legislators' recollections were entitled to consideration, they appear to be offsetting. Members of the Assembly recall that the three therapies were removed by amendment for the deliberate purpose of excluding them from the scope of homeopathic practice. Members of the Senate recall that the intent behind their removal was merely to eliminate redundancy and that the eliminated terms were available therapies already included within the other approved therapies.

A second difficulty was referred to earlier. It is not readily apparent that the authority to engage in the unlimited practice of allopathic medicine that may have been removed by elimination of the term "pharmaceutical medicine" from the statute is the same as the limited authority to prescribe some chemical substances that is granted by virtue of the regulation's use of the term "pharmaceutical preparation." This is especially so because the authority to prescribe these latter substances is constrained by the requirement of medical appropriateness in the context of a specific authorized alternative therapy. In any event, it is undeniable that the two other statutory terms eliminated by the Assembly Committee on Commerce---"intravenous infusion" and "chelation therapy"---are the same as the two terms restored by the regulation. The two terms are related. Chelation therapy is recognized in conventional medical circles as a technique for treating victims of heavy metal poisoning. The most common example, apparently, involves miners whose blood and bones show unusually high concentrations of lead. Certain drugs (chelating agents) with the chemical property of binding to heavy metals at the molecular level are introduced, commonly by means of intravenous infusion, into the body of the miner. The heavy metals abandon their chemical bonds with the body's tissues and fluids in favor of combining with the chelating agents. When these chelating agents are subsequently eliminated from the body, the heavy metals are eliminated as well. Practitioners of alternative medicine contend that chelation can be used to remove other harmful substances from the bodies of patients. Apparently, the most common example of this alternative practice is the treatment of arteriosclerosis by chelating the harmful plaque build-up in arterial walls. The efficiency of this treatment for its alternative purpose has not been demonstrated to the satisfaction of the allopathic medical community. Nevertheless, in 1998, the Medical Board refused to adopt a regulation that would have prohibited any allopathically licensed physician, including any dually-licensed homeopathic physician, from using chelation therapy except to remove heavy metals from a patient's body. (See "Nevada doctors battling," Las Vegas Review Journal, December 3, 1997; "Continued use of alternative medicine to treat hear bypass surgery OK'd," Las Vegas Review Journal, January 30, 1998.) In any event, chelation therapy, even when practiced alternatively, requires the use of allopathic dosages of allopathic substances. Moreover, any allopathic physician, including a dually-licensed homeopathic physician, may perform chelation in its conventional or alternative mode. For this reason, it would not be unreasonable for a court to find R213-97 invalid to the extent that it authorized a singly-licensed homeopathic physician to perform chelation, especially by means of intravenous infusion.

3. On balance

It is the opinion of this office that when A.B. 286 and its legislative history are examined as a whole, the legislative intent behind the bill was to extend the scope of the licensed practice of homeopathic medicine and to increase the power of the Homeopathic Board to regulate that practice, but that it was not the intent to authorize singly-licensed homeopathic physicians the unlimited right to practice allopathic medicine in the same manner as allopathic physicians. More particularly, the Legislature intended homeopathic physicians to enjoy expanded authority to write prescriptions with regard to certain allopathic medicines, but only to the extent required in practicing certain enumerated alternative therapies. In general, the definitions contained in the regulation of the Homeopathic Board, R213-97, do not exceed the Board's statutory authority and are consistent with legislative intent. We think it highly likely that a court of competent jurisdiction, if asked, would agree. We believe, however, that with respect to the definition of one alternative therapy, orthomolecular medicine, particularly that branch of it that concerns chelation or other forms of detoxification by means of intravenous infusion, there is a significant question whether that portion of the regulation is consistent with legislative intent. Nevertheless, assuming that a court would grant the regulation its presumption of validity, would take into consideration: (1) that the Legislative Commission did not object to the regulation on the grounds that it violated legislative intent; and (2) that the Legislature as a whole, with knowledge of the existence of the controversy over this provision, took no corrective action during the 1999 session, we are inclined to believe that the court would be more likely than not to uphold the validity of this element of the regulation as well. In any event, we conclude that such a court would not invalidate the regulation in its entirety.

III. Conclusions

It is the opinion of this office that the declaration of the invalidity of R213-97 contained in Attorney General Opinion No. 99-06 is legally null. Only a court of competent jurisdiction may invalidate a regulation and until such a court does so, R213-97, having satisfied all the procedural requirements of the Nevada Administrative Procedure Act, remains in effect and must be presumed to be a valid regulation.

It is the further opinion of this office that licensed homeopathic physicians may practice all of the therapies defined in R213-97, including chelation therapy and other forms of detoxification by means of intravenous infusion. A reasonable interpretation of the statutes and regulations, currently in effect, including R213-97, establishes that homeopathic physicians possess the following authority to write prescriptions by virtue of their homeopathic licenses:

1. When practicing traditional or classical homeopathy, they may prescribe, dispense and administer traditional homeopathic remedies as medically appropriate according to the standards applicable to the homeopathic tradition. With respect to allopathic medications, including controlled substances or dangerous drugs, homeopathic physicians may write prescriptions for a single pill of such substances, but only for the purpose of diluting it and compounding it into a homeopathic preparation, only if the allopathic drug is found in the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia and only if the resulting diluted dosage is in accordance with dosages found in that pharmacopoeia.

2. When practicing one of the alternative therapies expressly authorized by A.B. 286 and defined in R213-97, homeopathic physicians may prescribe:

(a) Any controlled substance listed in schedule I, II, III, IV or V as set forth in chapter 453 of NRS, so long as both administration and dosage are medically appropriate according to the standards applicable to that alternative therapy, except that a homeopathic physician may not prescribe "narcotic drugs and opiates that are listed as schedule II controlled substances pursuant to chapter 453 of NRS, except as those substances may be described for use in the official Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States." (R213-97.)

(b) Any dangerous drug that is defined in chapter 454 of NRS so long as both administration and dosage are medically appropriate according to the standards applicable to that alternative therapy.

(c) Any other allopathic drug available by prescription so long as both administration and dosage are medically appropriate according to the standards applicable to that alternative therapy.

Finally, it is the opinion of this office that, in general, the definitions contained in the regulation of the Homeopathic Board, R213-97, do not exceed the Board's statutory authority and are consistent with legislative intent. However, with respect to the definition of one alternative therapy, orthomolecular medicine, particularly that branch of it that concerns chelation or other forms of detoxification by means of intravenous infusion, there is a significant question whether the regulation is consistent with legislative intent. Nevertheless, in light of the presumption of validity that accompanies every regulation and taking into consideration that the Legislative Commission did not object to the regulation and that the Legislature took no corrective action during the 1999 session, we are inclined to believe that a court of competent jurisdiction would be more likely than not to find the portion of the regulation consistent with legislative intent. In any event. we conclude that such a court would not invalidate the regulation in its entirety.

The Division has implicit authority to collect delinquent supervision fees and restitution regardless of whether the offender is discharged from supervision. Unless already deemed a judgment by statute, the delinquency must be reduced to a judgment. Then, collection procedures under NRS 176.064 should be followed. If the Division uses a collection agency, that agency would have to be paid pursuant to subsection 1 of NRS 176.064. AGO 99-06 HOMEOPATHIC MEDICINE; PHARMACY BOARD; CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES: The Homeopathic Medicine Board's regulation allowing for the prescription of pharmaceutical preparations is invalid. The regulation exceeds the grant of statutory authority delegated to the Homeopathic Medicine Board in light of the Legislature's 1997 action on A.B. 286 deleting pharmaceutical medicine from the definition of homeopathy.

Carson City, February 11, 1999

Mr. Keith W. Macdonald, Executive Secretary, Nevada State Board of Pharmacy, 1201 Terminal Way, #212, Reno, Nevada 89502-3257

Dear Mr. Macdonald:

You have posed the following question.

QUESTION

May a singly licensed homeopathic physician prescribe controlled substances as defined in NRS chapter 453 or dangerous drugs as defined in NRS chapter 454 as "pharmaceutical preparations" within the nontraditional therapies described in revised Homeopathic Board regulation LCB File No. R213-97?

ANALYSIS

In the 1997 Legislative Session, the Homeopathic Board (Board) proposed a bill expanding the definition of homeopathic medicine and homeopathy. A portion of the first draft of A.B. 286 set forth:

> "Homeopathic medicine" or "homeopathy" means a system of medicine employing substances of animal, vegetable, chemical or mineral origin, including, without limitation:
> 2. Noninvasive electrodiagnosis, cell therapy, neural therapy, herbal therapy, neuromuscular integration, orthomolecular therapy, nutrition, intravenous infusion, chelation therapy and pharmaceutical medicine. (Emphasis added.)

While testifying in legislative committee in support of this proposed language, Board member, Dr. Fuller Royal, stated his belief that the Board was competent to decide whether licensees or applicants who came before the Board were qualified to write prescriptions for anti-inflammatory or antibiotic medications. Dr. Royal stated the practice of homeopathic medicine did not call for the use of the above mentioned medications. Nevertheless, if a physician was singularly licensed under the Board, a patient needing a prescription would have to go to another physician in order to obtain the prescription. Dr. Royal thought this procedure was unnecessary. See Hearing on A.B. 286 Before the Assembly Committee on Commerce, 1997 Legislative Session, (March 31, 1997).

After the Assembly Committee on Commerce heard strong objections from the Nevada Medical Association and other allopathic physicians on the subject of singly licensed homeopathic physicians prescribing controlled substances and dangerous drugs, the Legislature deleted all of the language highlighted above in the first draft of A.B. 286. After the amended version of A.B. 286 was enacted in 1997, the definition of "homeopathic medicine" and "homeopathy" set forth in NRS 630A.040 read as follows:

> "Homeopathic medicine" or "homeopathy" means a system of medicine employing substances of animal, vegetable, chemical or mineral origin, including:
> 1. Nosodes and sarcodes, which are:
> (a) Given in micro-dosage, except that sarcodes may be given in macro-dosage;
> (b) Prepared according to homeopathic pharmacology by which the formulation of homeopathic preparations is accomplished by the methods of Hahnemannian dilution and succussion or magnetically energized geometric patterns applicable in potencies above 30X, as defined in the official Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States; and > (c) Prescribed by homeopathic physicians or advanced practitioners of homeopathy according to the medicines and dosages in the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States, > in accordance with the principle that a substance which produces symptoms in a healthy person can eliminate those symptoms in an ill person.
> 2. Noninvasive electrodiagnosis, cell therapy, neural therapy, herbal therapy, neuromuscular integration, orthomolecular therapy and nutrition.

The amended version of NRS 630A.040 did not include the terms intravenous infusion, chelation therapy, and pharmaceutical medicine within the definition of "homeopathic medicine" and "homeopathy."

In December 1997, the Board adopted regulations within the Nevada Administrative Code (NAC) describing the nontraditional therapies set forth within NRS 630A.040(2). The descriptions of neural therapy and orthomolecular therapy both included the ability for homeopathic physicians to use pharmaceutical medicines. The descriptions of these nontraditional therapies set forth in part:

> Neural therapy. 1. Neural therapy is the use of any or all local anesthetics, vitamins, minerals, homeopathic medications, herbal extracts or any other medicinal or pharmaceutical substance for intravenous injection, for injection into acupuncture, acupressure, or trigger points, or into nerve ganglia. . . .
> Orthomolecular therapy. Orthomolecular therapy is the treatment and prevention of disease by the expert adjustment of the body's natural chemical constituents on the molecular level, and includes:
> 1. The prescription of topical and oral supplements, pharmaceutical medicines, the intravenous infusion of various substances, including vitamins, amino acids, peptides, polypeptides, pharmaceutical medications, homeopathic medications, ozone and other bio-oxidative substances, chelating agents such as . . . (EDTA), . . . (DMSO), . . . .

This regulation, LCB File No. R213-97 was considered by the Legislative Commission on June 26, 1998. After hearing from various medical professionals, the Legislative Commission voted to object to the regulation as exceeding the grant of statutory authority delegated to the Board. Commission members expressed concerns that allowing a singly licensed homeopathic physician to prescribe and dispense pharmaceutical medicine would improperly expand the jurisdiction of the Board beyond the 1997 Legislature's definition of homeopathic medicine. See Minutes of the Legislative Commission (June 26, 1998).

The Board thereafter revised the regulations and adopted them in their present form. Revised LCB File No. R213-97 contained language allowing homeopathic physicians to use "pharmaceutical preparations," instead of "pharmaceutical medicines," in conjunction with neural therapy and orthomolecular therapy. The revised regulation set forth in part:

> (b) "Neural therapy" to mean the injection of vitamins, minerals, homeopathic medications, herbal extracts or other medicinal or pharmaceutical preparations into the:
> (1) Acupuncture, acupressure or trigger points; or > (2) Ganglia, > of a patient to control pain or produce other beneficial effects.
> . . . .
> (d) "Orthomolecular therapy" to mean the treatment and prevention of disease, including, without limitation, infection, malignancy and degenerative illness, by adjusting the natural chemical constituents of the body on the molecular level. the term includes, without limitation:
> (1) The prescription of topical and oral supplements and pharmaceutical preparations; and
> (2) The intravenous infusion of vitamins, amino acids, peptides, polypeptides, pharmaceutical preparations, homeopathic medications, ozone, bio-oxidative substances or chelating agents, . . . .
> (c) "Pharmaceutical Preparations" does not include narcotic drugs or opiates that are listed as schedule II controlled substances pursuant to chapter 453 of NRS, except as those substances may be described for use in the official Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States.

The Legislative Commission reviewed the revised Board regulation on December 18, 1998. Much of the discussion in this Legislative Commission hearing centered on the phrase "pharmaceutical preparations" and what was meant by the use of that phrase within the regulation. From this discussion, it appeared that there was an intent within the revised regulation to allow a singly licensed homeopathic physician to, at least in some limited fashion, prescribe some controlled substances as listed in NRS chapter 453 and dangerous drugs as listed in NRS chapter 454. The Legislative Commission neither approved nor objected to the revised regulation due to the divided nature of the votes within the Commission.

You have requested the present legal opinion because the term "pharmaceutical preparations" is not typical of the terms used within NRS chapters 453 and 454. Board members clarified in the Legislative Commission hearing an intent to interpret the phrase "pharmaceutical preparations" as permitting a singly licensed homeopathic physician to prescribe some controlled substances and dangerous drugs as listed within NRS chapters 453 and 454. We believe this interpretation renders the regulation invalid because the Legislature specifically denied the power for singly licensed homeopathic physicians to prescribe such controlled substances and dangerous drugs through the 1997 legislation on A.B. 286. The regulation cannot restore a power that the Legislature specifically took out of a piece of legislation.

A regulation is invalid if it exceeds the statutory authority delegated by the Legislature to an administrative agency. NRS 233B.110. When the Legislature specifically deleted the term "pharmaceutical medicine" from the definition of homeopathy, its clear intent in enacting the remainder of A.B. 286 was to prohibit the singly licensed homeopathic physician from having the ability to prescribe controlled substances and dangerous drugs in the same manner as an allopathic physician. The Board could not, under the guise of interpreting nontraditional therapies, extend the prescription power back into NRS chapter 630A and thereby give the statutes expanded effect beyond the grant of the Legislature's delegated authority. Boulware v. State, Dept. Human Resources, 103 Nev. 218, 737 P.2d 502 (1987); Hager v. Nevada Medical Legal Screening Panel, 105 Nev. 1, 767 P.2d 1346 (1989).

CONCLUSION

If singly licensed homeopathic physicians find the need to prescribe controlled substances or dangerous drugs as listed within NRS chapters 453 and 454, they should obtain a clear grant of such power through statutory amendments made by the Legislature. To date, the Legislature has specifically denied such power to singly licensed homeopathic physicians. Revised NAC regulation LCB File No. R213-97 exceeds the scope of delegated statutory authority and is therefore invalid. We believe that our conclusion in Op. Nev. Att'y Gen. No. 93-21 (September 20, 1993), continues to accurately describe the limited ability of singly licensed homeopathic physicians to possess, dispense, and administer controlled substances and dangerous drugs.

AGO 99-07 DRIVING UNDER THE INFLUENCE; JUVENILES: A prior DUI, adjudicated by a juvenile court, is not a conviction under Nevada Statutes. Prior offenses for the purposes of enhancement of the penalty for a DUI must be evidenced by a conviction.

Carson City, February 24, 1999

Marla Zlotek, Deputy District Attorney, Nye County District Attorney's Office, Post Office Box 593, Tonopah, Nevada 89049

Dear Ms. Zlotek:

You have asked the Attorney General for an opinion regarding the following question:

QUESTION ONE

If a juvenile is adjudicated delinquent for the offense of driving under the influence (DUI), is that adjudication considered a prior conviction for purposes of subsequent DUI prosecution and sentencing enhancement?

ANALYSIS

The following example is given to illustrate the question:

Pursuant to Title 21, Code of Federal Regulations, Section 1300.01(b28), the term mid-level practitioner means an individual practitioner, other than a physician, dentist, veterinarian, or podiatrist, who is licensed, registered, or otherwise permitted by the United States or the jurisdiction in which he/she practices, to dispense a controlled substance in the course of professional practice. Examples of mid-level practitioners include, but are not limited to, health care providers such as nurse practitioners, nurse midwives, nurse anesthetists, clinical nurse specialists and physician assistants who are authorized to dispense controlled substances by the state in which they practice.

Table Description

The table represents the controlled substances authority for Mid-level Practitioner's by discipline within the state of which they practice. It indicates the categories of Mid-Level Practitioners by State and the licensing authority granted to each category within that particular State through the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA). If authority is granted, specific schedules are listed along with any special instructions like administer only, dispense only or order only. It may also indicate if the DEA is reviewing a new law to see if it is in fact consistent with the issuance of a DEA registration for controlled substances. If authority is NOT granted for a particular category, a "NO" will be indicated. The Drugs and drug products that come under the Controlled Substances Act are divided into five schedules. Some examples in each schedule are outlined below.

Schedule I substances (1)

The substances in this schedule are those that have no accepted medical use in the United States and have a high abuse potential. Some examples are heroin, marihuana, LSD, MDMA, peyote.

Schedule II/IIN substances (2/2N)

The substances in this schedule have a high abuse potential with severe psychic or physical dependence liability. Schedule II controlled substances consist of certain narcotic, stimulant and depressant drugs. Examples of Schedule II narcotic controlled substances are: opium, morphine, codeine, hydromorphone (Dilaudid), methadone, pantopon, meperidine (Demerol), and hydrocodone (Vicodin®). Examples of Schedule IIN non-narcotic would be Amphetamine, Methamphetamine, Nabilone.

Schedule III/IIIN substances (3/3N)

The substances listed in this schedule have an abuse potential less than those in Schedules I and II, and include compounds containing limited quantities of certain narcotic drugs (Schedule 3) and non-narcotic drugs (Schedule 3N) such as: codeine (Tylenol with Codeine), derivatives of babituric acid except those listed in another schedule, nalorphine, benzphetamine, chlorphentermine, clortemine, phendimetrazine, paregoric and any compound, mixture, preparation or suppository dosage form containing amobarbital, secobarbital or pentobarbital. Examples of Schedule III narcotics include: products containing not more than 90 milligrams of codeine per dosage unit (Tylenol with Codeine®), and buprenorphine (Suboxone®). Examples of Schedule IIIN non-narcotics include: benzphetamine (Didrex®), phendimetrazine, ketamine, and anabolic steroids such as Depo®-Testosterone.

Schedule IV substances (4)

The substances in this schedule have an abuse potential less than those listed in Schedule III and include such drugs as: barbital, phenobarbital, chloral hydtrate, clorazepate (Tranxene), alprazolam (Xanax), Quazepam (Dormalin).

Schedule V substances (5)

The substances in this schedule have an abuse potential less than those listed in Schedule IV and consist primarily of preparations containing limited quantities of certain narcotic and stimulant drugs generally for antitussive, antidiarrheal and analgesic purposes. Some examples are buprenorphine and propylhexedrine.

PROPOSED REGULATION OF THE

LCB File No. R196-22

June 30, 2023

EXPLANATION – Matter in italics is new; matter in brackets [~~omitted material~~] is material to be omitted.

AUTHORITY: §§ 1, 2 and 4, NRS 453.221, 639.070 and 639.2177; § 3, NRS 639.070 and 639.170.

A REGULATION relating to pharmacy; requiring a facility for treatment with narcotics to obtain a license to administer opioid agonist treatment medication; requiring a dispensing practitioner at such a facility to obtain informed consent before reporting certain information; prescribing certain fees; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law authorizes the State Board of Pharmacy to adopt regulations relating to the registration and control of the dispensing of controlled substances in Nevada. (NRS 453.221) Existing law further authorizes the Board to adopt regulations that: (1) are necessary for the protection of the public relating to the practice of pharmacy; (2) authorize the Executive Secretary of the Board to issue certificates, licenses and permits required for the practice of pharmacy or for the dispensing of controlled substances; and (3) govern the dispensing of poisons, drugs, chemicals and medicines. (NRS 639.070) Existing regulations require a facility for treatment with narcotics, which is a facility certified by the federal government to treat addiction to narcotics using other narcotics, to be licensed by the Division of Public and Behavioral Health of the Department of Health and Human Services. (NAC 449.15445) Section 1 of this regulation additionally requires a facility for treatment with narcotics to obtain a license from the Board to administer opioid agonist treatment medication and sets forth the requirements to obtain such a license. Section 1 also requires dispensing practitioners at a facility for treatment with narcotics to obtain informed consent for the reporting of information to a program that tracks prescriptions of certain controlled substances. Section 2 of this regulation defines certain terms.

Existing regulations prescribe fees for the issuance and biennial renewal of authorization of a facility for treatment with narcotics to prescribe or possess controlled substances. (NAC 639.220) Section 3 of this regulation clarifies that such fees apply to the investigation or issuance and biennial renewal of a license to administer opioid agonist treatment medication. Section 4 of this regulation authorizes a facility for treatment with narcotics that is operating on the effective date of this regulation to continue to do so without obtaining such a license until 6 months after that date.

Section 1. Chapter 639 of NAC is hereby amended by adding thereto to a new section to read as follows:

1. A person or public or private facility shall not operate or provide the services of a facility for treatment with narcotics unless the person or facility holds a license to administer opioid agonist treatment medication issued by the Board pursuant to this section.

2. A person or public or private facility may apply to the Board for a license to administer opioid agonist treatment medication by submitting an application to the Board on a form prescribed by the Board. The Board shall issue such a license if the applicant meets the requirements sets forth in subsection 3 and pays the fee required by NAC 639.220.

3. An applicant for a license pursuant to subsection 2 must:

(a) Be certified by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration of the United States Department of Health and Human Services pursuant to 42 C.F.R. § 8.11;

(b) Hold a license issued by the Division of Public and Behavioral Health of the Department of Health and Human Services pursuant to NAC 449.154 to 449.15485, inclusive, to operate a facility for treatment with narcotics;

(c) Be certified by the Division of Public and Behavioral Health of the Department of Health and Human Services pursuant to NRS 458.025; and

(d) Ensure that each practitioner who dispenses opioid agonist treatment medication at the facility is registered with the Board pursuant to NRS 453.231 and the Drug Enforcement Administration of the United States Department of Justice to dispense controlled substances.

4. Any license issued pursuant to this section is a revocable privilege and a holder of such a license does not acquire any vested right in such a license.

5. Each dispensing practitioner practicing at a facility for treatment with narcotics shall, to the extent required by 42 C.F.R. § 2.36, obtain informed consent for the reporting of information to the computerized program to track prescriptions for controlled substances established pursuant to NRS 453.162.
