◆ Public Hearing ◆

20. Notice of Proposed Regulation Public Hearing Pursuant to NRS 233B.061(2)
(FOR POSSIBLE ACTION)

- D. Amendment of Nevada Administrative Code (NAC) 639.XXX: Assembly Bill No. 156 (2023) – An Act Relating to Substance Use Disorders. This law requires the Board to adopt regulations related to: (a) The requirements to register with the Board to engage in the activity authorized by this section; and (b) Establishing a protocol for the actions authorized by the bill. (LCB File R059-23)

Dave Wuest presented background on the public hearing item which includes an amendment to NAC 639.408(1).

President Park opened the floor to public comment.

Assemblymen David Orentlicher appreciates the Board in considering this regulation as it will help Nevadans by allowing registered pharmacists to prescribe medications to treat opioid use disorders.

Lea Case from the Nevada Psychiatric Association commented that a letter was submitted with recommendations in regard to this regulation. She suggested the following changes to the proposed regulation: 1) a collaborative practice agreement between a pharmacist and practitioner when the pharmacist is prescribing medications to treat opioid use disorders; 2) continuing education credits for pharmacist; and 3) mirroring similar prescribing authority of pharmacists in other states.

Ken Kunke from the Nevada Pharmacy Alliance thanks the Board for answering the questions on whether Registered Pharmacist can do this practice outside of a licensed pharmacy. He commented that the Nevada Psychiatric Association recommending collaborative practice agreements is not the intentions of the statute. The intention was to remove barriers and open the service to more people. Ken Kunke also commented that continuing education of 30 hours is already required for a pharmacist every two years in Nevada. In addition, this service requires pharmacists to get a DEA number which requires 8 hours of training; therefore, the Nevada Pharmacy Alliance feels that additional continuing education requirements will create barriers to this service.

Krystal Riccio stated that the regulation is a move in the right direction and answers concerns regarding current access to patient care barriers in Nevada. She stated that Roseman University's current curriculum addresses several concerns of the Nevada Psychiatric Association. Ms. Riccio expressed concern that the proposed regulation does not allow the pharmacist to administer long-acting injectables used in the treatment for OUD outside of a pharmacy.

Liz McMenamin from the Retail Association of Nevada is in favor of the proposed language.

Kelly Morgan, Emergency Physician & EMS Medical Director and oversees Las Vegas Fire & Rescue and Las Vegas Fire, stated that she supports the proposed regulation. She requested that the Board consider when patients receive buprenorphine treatment from a pharmacist, and how documentation of treatment including patient follow-up services are documented in the patient's medical record.

Motion: Jade Jacobo moved to adopt the proposed regulation LCB File R059-23 as presented by Mr. Wuest.

Second: Wayne Mitchell

Second: Rolf Zakariassen

- B. Amendment of Nevada Administrative Code (NAC) 639. Administrative Fine in Lieu of Disciplinary Action.

The proposed amendment clarifies the circumstances when the Board may assess an administrative fine pursuant to NRS 639.2895 in lieu of taking formal disciplinary action against a holder of a certificate, certification, license, or permit issued by the Board. With respect to minor violations, the proposed amendment further limits the amount of the fine that could otherwise be imposed pursuant to NRS 639.2895. (LCB File No. R057-23)

Gregory Zunino presented background on the public hearing item.

President Park opened the floor to public comment.

Liz McMenamin from the Retail Association of Nevada commented that the Board should consider a matrix for the fines. If there is no harm, a letter would be better as opposed to being fined. She thinks helping pharmacists learn from their mistakes rather than going after them with a fine would help them become better pharmacists. She is in favor of the proposed regulation but hopes the Board will consider other alternatives than a fine.

Board discussion ensued.

Board Action:

Motion: Jade Jacobo moved to adopt the proposed regulation LCB File No. R057-23 as presented by Mr. Zunino.

Second: President Park

Action: Passed unanimously.

CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION

OF

I.

The name of this corporation is Civica, Inc. (the "Corporation").

II.

The address of the registered office of the Corporation in the State of Delaware is 251 Little Falls Drive, in the City of Wilmington, County of New Castle, Delaware 19808. The name of the registered agent of the Corporation at such address is Corporation Service Company.

III.

A. The Corporation is a nonprofit nonstock corporation and is not organized for the private gain of any person. The Corporation is organized and operated exclusively to promote social welfare within the meaning of section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, or the corresponding provision of any future United States internal revenue law (the "Code"), and in particular to ensure that essential generic drugs are available and affordable to everyone, with the vision to be a model generic drug company by providing high-quality Food and Drug Administration-approved products at affordable prices.

B. In furtherance of its purposes, the Corporation shall have all the general powers and privileges of a corporation granted by the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware, as now in effect or as may hereafter be amended (the "DGCL").

IV.

The Corporation shall not have any capital stock. The membership of the Corporation and the directors of the Corporation shall be determined in the manner provided in the Corporation's bylaws, provided that no member shall have a "membership interest" in the Corporation within the meaning of section 114(d)(2) of the DGCL.

V.

The name and mailing address of the incorporator of the Corporation are Douglas Hammer, 36 South State Street, 22nd Floor, Salt Lake City, Utah 84111.

VI.

The property of the Corporation is irrevocably dedicated to social welfare purposes, and no part of the net income or assets of the Corporation shall ever inure to the benefit of any director or officer thereof or to the benefit of any private person. Upon the dissolution or winding up of the Corporation, its assets remaining after payment, or provision for payment, of all debts and liabilities of the Corporation shall be distributed to a nonprofit fund, foundation or corporation which is organized, operated and recognized as tax-exempt under section 501(a) of the Code as an organization described in section 501(c)(3) of the Code, subject to any further restrictions set forth in the bylaws of the Corporation.

VII.

A director of the Corporation shall not be liable to the Corporation or its members for monetary damages for breach of fiduciary duty as a director, except for liability: (a) for any breach of the director's duty of loyalty to the Corporation or its members, (b) for acts or omissions not in good faith or which involve intentional misconduct or a knowing violation of the law, or (c) for any transaction from which the director derived any improper personal benefit. If the DGCL is amended after adoption of this Article VIII to authorize Corporation action further eliminating or limiting the personal liability of directors, then the liability of a director of the Corporation shall be eliminated or limited to the fullest extent permitted by the DGCL, as so amended. Any repeal or modification of the foregoing provisions of this Article VII by the Board of Directors and the Governing Members of the Corporation pursuant to Article IX of this Certificate of Incorporation shall not adversely affect any right or protection of a director of the Corporation existing at the time, or increase the liability of any director of the Corporation with respect to any acts or omissions of such director occurring prior to such repeal or modification.

VIII.

The Corporation shall, to the maximum extent permitted from time to time under the law of the State of Delaware, indemnify and upon request shall advance expenses to any person who is or was a party or is threatened to be made a party to any threatened, pending or completed action, suit, proceeding or claim, whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative, by reason of the fact that such person is or was or has agreed to be a director or officer of the Corporation, or while the person is or was serving at the request of the Corporation as a director, officer, partner, trustee, employee or agent of any corporation, limited liability company, partnership, joint venture, trust or other entity, against expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses), judgments, fines, penalties and amounts paid in settlement incurred in connection with the investigation, preparation to defend, or defense of such action, suit, proceeding or claim; provided however that: (a) the foregoing shall not require the Corporation to indemnify, or advance expenses to, any director or officer in connection with any action, suit, proceeding or claim initiated by or on behalf of such director or officer, or any against the Corporation initiated by or on behalf of such director or officer; and (b) a director or officer seeking indemnification under this Article VIII shall execute a written undertaking (reasonably acceptable to the Corporation) to repay the Corporation any expense or other amounts advanced and/or paid to such director or officer under this Article VIII in the event that it is ultimately determined that such director or officer is not entitled to be indemnified by the Corporation. Such indemnification shall not be exclusive of other indemnification rights arising under any bylaw, agreement, vote of directors or Governing Members or otherwise and shall inure to the benefit of the heirs and legal representatives of such person. Any person seeking such indemnification under this Article VIII shall be deemed to have met the standard of conduct required for such indemnification unless the contrary shall be established. Any repeal or modification of the foregoing provisions of this Article VIII shall not adversely affect any right or protection of a director or officer of the Corporation with respect to any acts or omissions of such director or officer occurring prior to such repeal or modification.

IX.

This Certificate of Incorporation shall not be amended, restated or repealed without the approval of two-thirds (2/3) of all of the members of the Board of Directors of the Corporation, and the approval of two-thirds (2/3) of all of the Governing Members; provided, however, that any (1) amendment or restatement that materially and adversely affects the rights of any Governing Member in a manner that is different from the other Governing Members, or (2) change Article VII (limited liability) or VIII (indemnification), will require the consent of the affected Governing Member. This letter serves as written notice that the following company is not required to hold a Wholesale Drug Distributor (WDD) license in the State of Indiana in order to distribute legend drugs to licensed entities in the state as the company is an FDA approved manufacturer and therefore exempt from licensure requirements in Indiana:

Exelead, Inc.
Guion Road
Indianapolis, Indiana 46268

It is the Indiana Board of Pharmacy's (Board) understanding that the aforementioned company manufactures and distributes legend drugs within or into Indiana and that the company only distributes legend drugs that it manufactures, i.e. the company does not distribute legend drugs manufactured by a company other than itself.

Indiana Code 25-26-14-1 states, "(a) This chapter applies to any individual, partnership, limited liability company, corporation, or business firm: (1) located in or outside Indiana; and (2) engaging in the wholesale distribution of legend drugs in Indiana... (b) Except as required by federal law or regulation, the requirements of this chapter do not apply to a manufacturer that is approved by the federal Food and Drug Administration." [emphasis added].

The Board therefore does not require licensure for entities that are FDA approved manufacturers who only distribute legend drugs the company itself manufactures.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact the Board of Pharmacy.

13. Violations. Time is of the essence in this Final Agency Order. It is the responsibility of Respondent Outlet to take all appropriate steps to comply fully with this Final Agency Order. Respondent Outlet acknowledges and agrees that any violation of this Final Agency Order shall constitute a willful violation of a lawful Board order, may be sanctioned as provided under §12-42.5-124(4), C.R.S., and may be sufficient grounds for additional discipline, including but not limited to revocation of Respondent Outlet's registration. The pendency of any suspension or disciplinary action arising out of an alleged violation of this Final Agency Order shall not affect the obligation of Respondent Outlet to comply with all terms and conditions of this Final Agency Order.

IN RE:	)
MEDTRONIC LOGISTICS LLC	)	CONSENT AGREEMENT

PARTIES

This document is a Consent Agreement regarding the pending application of Medtronic Logistics LLC, for the renewal of its pharmaceutical wholesaler license. The parties to this Consent Agreement are: Medtronic Logistics LLC ("Medtronic"), the Maine Board of Pharmacy ("the Board"), and the Office of the Maine Attorney General ("the Attorney General"). This Consent Agreement is entered into pursuant to 10 M.R.S. § 8003(5-A).

STATEMENT OF FACTS

1. Since February 27, 2013, Medtronic has been licensed in Maine as a pharmaceutical wholesaler with a registered location of 18501 Plaza Drive, Parker, Colorado (license number WH70002083).
2. On April 3, 2018, the Colorado State Board of Pharmacy imposed discipline against Medtronic's Colorado registration (WHI 6007) pursuant to a Stipulation and Final Agency Order in Case No. 2017-3679.
3. Medtronic failed to report the Colorado discipline to the Board within 10 days as required by 10 M.R.S. § 8003-G(2)(C).
4. On December 12, 2018, the Board received Medtronic's renewal application.

5. On that application, Medtronic responded “No” to the following question: “Since your last renewal, has any jurisdiction taken disciplinary action against any professional license you hold (except this license) or have held or denied your application for licensure?”

6. The Board accordingly renewed Medtronic’s pharmaceutical wholesaler license.

7. On June 19, 2019, the Alabama State Board of Pharmacy imposed discipline against Medtronic’s Alabama permit (194466) pursuant to a Consent Order in Case No.19-L-0013.

8. Medtronic failed to report the Alabama discipline to the Board within 10 days as required by 10 M.R.S. § 8003-G(2)(C).

9. On July 18, 2019, Medtronic reported to the Board for the first time that the Alabama State Board of Pharmacy had disciplined its permit.

10. On February 3, 2020, Medtronic reported to the Board for the first time that the Colorado State Board of Pharmacy had disciplined its registration.

11. Pursuant to 10 M.R.S. § 8003(5-A)(A)(11) and 10 M.R.S. § 8003-G(2)(C), the Board may deny, refuse to renew, suspend, or revoke a license and impose other discipline for failing to report a license disciplinary action to the Board within 10 days of that action.

12. At its meeting on January 7, 2021, the Board reviewed the above information and voted to preliminarily deny Medtronic’s application for renewal of its license to be a pharmaceutical wholesaler. In lieu of the denial, the Board also voted to offer Medtronic this Consent Agreement. Unless Medtronic either requests, in writing, a hearing regarding the appeal of the preliminary denial within thirty (30) days of receipt of the Notice of Preliminary Denial, or accepts this Consent Agreement by signing and dating it and returning it to Maine Board of Pharmacy, Compliance Division, Office of Professional and Occupational Regulation, 35 State House Station, Augusta, ME

04333-0035, by July 12, 2021, the preliminary denial of Medtronic's application for licensure as a pharmaceutical wholesaler will become final.

COVENANTS

13. Medtronic admits to the facts above and admits that such conduct constitutes grounds for denial of or refusal to renew its license and for the imposition of discipline as follows:

- a. Pursuant to 10 M.R.S. § 8003(5-A)(A)(11) and 10 M.R.S. § 8003-G(2)(C) for failing to report disciplinary action taken against a license in another jurisdiction within 10 days after the action was taken; and
- b. Pursuant to 10 M.R.S. § 8003(5-A)(A)(1), for making a misrepresentation to the Board on its December 12, 2018 application for renewal of licensure.

14. As discipline for the violation admitted to in paragraph 13 above, Medtronic agrees to accept the following DISCIPLINARY ACTION:

- a) A REPRIMAND; and
- b) A CIVIL PENALTY in the amount of two thousand dollars ($2,000.00), which penalty is comprised of $1,500.00 for misrepresentation on its application and $500.00 for failing to report discipline within 10 days, payment of which shall be made payable to the "Treasurer, State of Maine" and delivered to Maine Board of Pharmacy, Compliance Division, Office of Professional and Occupational Regulation, 35 State House Station, Augusta, Maine 04333-0035, and must be submitted with the signed Consent Agreement.

15. Upon receipt of this signed Consent Agreement with the enclosed payment of the civil penalty from Medtronic, the Board will renew Medtronic's license contingent upon it meeting all other eligibility criteria.

16. Violation of any of the terms or conditions of this Consent Agreement by Medtronic shall constitute grounds for discipline, including but not limited to modification, suspension, or revocation of licensure or the denial of licensure or re-licensure.

17. The Board and Medtronic agree that no further agency action will be initiated against its license by the Board based upon the specific violations admitted to herein, except or unless Medtronic fails to comply with the terms and conditions of this Consent Agreement. The Board may however consider the conduct described above as evidence of a pattern of misconduct if other allegations are brought against Medtronic, and this Consent Agreement will be admitted into evidence in any future adjudicatory hearing involving Medtronic. The Board may also consider the fact that discipline was imposed by this Consent Agreement in determining appropriate discipline in any further complaints against Medtronic.

18. This Consent Agreement is not appealable and is effective until modified or terminated by the parties hereto.

19. The Board and the Attorney General may communicate and cooperate regarding any matter related to this Consent Agreement.

20. This Consent Agreement is a public record within the meaning of 1 M.R.S. § 402 and will be available for inspection and copying by the public pursuant to 1 M.R.S. § 408-A.

21. Nothing in this Consent Agreement shall be construed to affect any right or interest of any person not a party hereto.

22. Medtronic acknowledges by its duly authorized representative's signature hereto that it has had an opportunity to consult with an attorney before executing this Consent Agreement, that it executes this Consent Agreement voluntarily, and that it agrees to abide by all terms and conditions set forth herein.

Halma

Introduction to governance continued

Board changes

We announced in June 2022, that Andrew Williams would be retiring as Group Chief Executive on 31 March 2023. Prior to Andrew's formal decision to retire, the Board, supported by the Nomination Committee, had conducted a thorough selection process to identify Andrew's successor as Group Chief Executive. The Board were delighted to announce Marc Ronchetti's appointment as CEO Designate and from 1 April 2023, as Group Chief Executive. I would like to thank Andrew for his tremendous contribution to Halma's growth during his 18-year tenure and congratulate Marc on his appointment.

As part of the fulfilment of the executive succession plans, and following a robust selection process led by the Nomination Committee, Steve Gunning was appointed as Chief Financial Officer on 16 January 2023. On behalf of the Board, I am delighted to welcome Steve to Halma.

The planning and execution of these succession plans have provided a smooth transition and continuity in a year of change. As at 31 March 2023 the Board comprised seven non-executive Directors and four Executive Directors.

Shareholder engagement

Following the below 80% vote received on our Remuneration Report and the below 80% vote received on the reappointment of our Remuneration Committee Chair, Jo Harlow, we engaged with our major shareholders and the proxy agencies to better understand the reasons for their votes (if it was against) and any comments or concerns that they held on these two resolutions. Further details on the Remuneration Report vote can be found on page 138 of the Remuneration Report but, from my engagement with shareholders and proxy agencies on the specific objection to the re-election of Jo, the reason that a number of investors voted against her re-election was simply as a result of her position as Chair of the Remuneration Committee, which linked directly to their concerns on the Remuneration Report for the year ended 31 March 2022. I am confident that our engagement – and in particular, an explanation of the rationale for the remuneration decisions made in 2022 which could not refer to the imminent succession plans that were to be executed – has addressed these concerns. The Board is most appreciative of Jo's leadership of the Committee and engagement with shareholders, and unanimously supported all decisions that were made. I, along with my fellow Directors, have absolutely no concerns on Jo's performance as a Director of the Company or in her role as Chair of the Remuneration Committee.

Corporate governance statement

The Company reports against the Financial Reporting Council's (FRC) UK Corporate Governance Code 2018 (the Code), which is available at www.frc.org.uk.

The Board considers that it has applied all Principles, and complied with all Provisions of the Code for the year ended 31 March 2023, with the exception of Provision 38, which requires that pension contribution rates for Executive Directors, or payments in lieu, are aligned to those available to the wider workforce. As reported last year, the Company undertook a review of its UK pension provision in 2021 and consulted with employees. As a result, the pension offering moved from a trust-based plan to a Master Trust arrangement which offered members more competitive management charges, more options at retirement and improved member communications and retirement planning tools. We also took this opportunity to improve the employee and employer contribution structure which meant that all UK employees could receive more for lower employee contributions and all employees could receive up to 10.5% of their salary as an employer contribution. To align with the Code, the Executive Directors voluntarily agreed for their cash-in-lieu of pension to be reduced to 10.5% of salary from 1 January 2023, which equalises the pension offering across all employees in the UK. Therefore, whilst we were not fully compliant for the full financial year, we have been compliant for the three month period to 31 March 2023 and will be fully compliant for the year to 31 March 2024.

Conclusion

I hope that you will find the information in this Report helpful in understanding our approach to governance and how we have applied the Principles of the Code.

We believe that our organisational structure and governance framework enables our companies to operate effectively and with agility – which means we can continue to deliver value through our sustainable growth, returns and positive impact for the benefit of all of our stakeholders.

Dame Louise Makin

Chair

Dear Analyst Yee,

I am writing to formally acknowledge the receipt of your Letter of Admonishment issued pursuant to Business and Professions Code section 4315 for failure to comply with the laws and regulations that govern the practice of pharmacy in California, dated June 23, 2023.

Pfizer takes this matter very seriously and strives to maintain a high level of compliance with the California Board of Pharmacy regulations going forward.

It is our understanding that I am currently the Designated Representative in Charge for the license in question and that the firm is now in compliance with Business and Professions Code § 4315; 4161(j).

A Designated Representative in Charge application for Nelson Zamora-Ramos was mailed to your office on March 9, 2023. Once his application has been approved, we will submit a request to add him as a Designated Representative in Charge for this license in addition to myself. Any assistance in processing the March 9th application will be most appreciated.

Should you have any further guidance, please do not hesitate to contact me at 901-380-6368.

Sincerely yours,

ATTN: ALBERT BOURLA, CEO

MEMPHIS, TN 38134

RE: CI 2022 99946
PFIZER INC
OSD 4069

This LETTER OF ADMONISHMENT is being issued pursuant to Business and Professions Code section 4315 for failure to comply with the laws and regulations that govern the practice of pharmacy in California. (For exact language refer to the California Pharmacy Law and Index, located on the board's website at www.pharmacy.ca.gov, under Forms and Publications.)

The Board of Pharmacy has completed its investigation in the above referenced matter. All documentation and/or statements relating to the investigation have been accepted and included in an Investigation Report on file in this office. Facts contained in this report lead to the conclusion that the following violations of pharmacy laws or regulations have occurred:

JURISDICTION: Bus. & Prof. Code § 4315; 4161(j) - A nonresident wholesaler or non resident third-party logistics provider shall identify and notify the board of a new designated representative in charge ceases to be the designated representative in charge

Failure to Notify within 30 Days – Business and Professions Code section 4161(j) requires a nonresident wholesaler or nonresident third-party logistics provider to identify and notify the Board of a new designated representative-in-charge (DRIC) or responsible manager (RMG) within 30 days of the date that the prior DRIC or RMG ceases to be the DRIC or RMG. Specifically, on March 3, 2022 the Board received an Application for Change of Designated Representative-In-Charge from Pfizer Inc., which had been signed under penalty of perjury by a corporate officer and the new designated representative-in-charge (DRIC). The form indicated that the prior DRIC, Cynthia Jones (EXC 19073), dissociated on February 1, 2022 and that Nelson Zamora-Ramos (DRL 40641) took over as the new DRIC the following day. However, DRL Zamora-Ramos was unable to be named as DRIC because he did not hold an EXC license. Pfizer Inc.'s Application for Change of Designated Representative-In-Charge was subsequently rejected. On March 14, 2023, the Board received an Application for Change of Designated Representative-In-Charge from Pfizer Inc., which had been signed under penalty of perjury by a corporate officer and the new designated representative-in-charge (DRIC). The form indicated that the prior DRIC, Nelson Zamora-Ramos (DRL 40641), dissociated on March 1, 2023 and that Darren Nathan (EXC 23723) took over as the new DRIC the same day. Pfizer Inc. operated without a licensed DRIC for 392 days (February 2, 2022 – March 1, 2023).

Re: Change of Ownership Notification.
Conversion of Returns 'R' Us, Incorporated to Returns 'R' Us LLC

Greetings,

I am providing notification that Returns 'R' Us, Inc. (the "Company") has undergone an internal reorganization and converted from an Illinois corporation to an Illinois limited liability company. The internal reorganization and conversion was completed on August 31st, 2023 (the "Reorganization").

As a result of the Reorganization, the following changes have occurred:

1. The Company has converted its organization structure from a corporation to a limited liability company, which resulted in the legal entity and DBA name changing to Returns 'R' Us, LLC d/b/a Pharma Logistics LLC. The sole purpose of the Conversion is to effect a change in the legal form of the Company from a corporation to a limited liability company under state law. There has been no change to the business, assets or liabilities of the Company as a result of the Conversion and will continue to operate its business in the same manner as immediately prior to the Conversion—the Company will continue to provide the same scope of services utilizing the same staff at the current facility location. Additionally, there will be no change to the Company's tax ID as a result of the Conversion.
2. As a result of the internal reorganization, the Company's organizational chart has undergone upstream changes. In pertinent part, Ritorno Midco, LLC is the Company's new 100% direct parent entity and Ritorno Holdings, Inc. is the Company's new 100% direct grandparent entity. Enclosed is a copy of the Company's pre- and post- Reorganization organizational charts for your reference.

We have submitted the necessary Illinois (home-state) applications to the Illinois Dept. of Financial Regulation (IDFPR). As a result, the following Illinois permits have been replaced:

- 004.000865 Wholesale Drug Distributor
- 304.006159 Controlled Substance Drug Distributor

The new home-state permits are:

- 004.005363 Wholesale Drug Distributor
- 304.008005 Controlled Substance Drug Distributor

The DEA did not require a new DEA Registration as a result of the Reorganization. Therefore, the Company will continue to operate under its current DEA registration (RP0225107).

Enclosed is a completed WDD application, required attachments and payment.

Should you have any questions or require any additional information or documentation, please reach out to me directly at 224-424-4469 or jcapelli@pharmalogistics.com.

Best Regards,
John Capelli

Table of ContentsPART I*CAUTIONARY NOTE REGARDING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This Annual Report on Form 10-K contains "forward-looking statements" that involve risks and uncertainties, as well as assumptions that, if they never materialize or prove incorrect, could cause our results to differ materially from those expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements. The statements contained in this Annual Report on Form 10-K that are not purely historical are forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or Securities Act, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, or Exchange Act. Such forward-looking statements include our estimates regarding expenses, future revenue, capital requirements and our need for additional financing and other financial items; any statements of the plans, strategies and objectives of management for future operations; any statements about the advantages of our product candidates and platform technology; estimates regarding the potential market opportunity for our product candidates and platform technology; statements regarding our clinical trials; factors that may affect our operating results; statements about our ability to establish and maintain intellectual property rights; statements about our ability to retain key personnel and hire necessary employees and appropriately staff our operations; statements related to future capital expenditures; statements related to future economic conditions or performance; and other matters that do not relate strictly to historical facts or statements of assumptions underlying any of the foregoing. Forward-looking statements are often identified by the use of words such as, but not limited to, "anticipate," "believe," "can," "continue," "could," "estimate," "expect," "intend," "may," "might," "will," "plan," "project," "seek," "should," "target," "would," and similar expressions or variations intended to identify forward-looking statements. These statements are based on the beliefs and assumptions of our management based on information currently available to management. Such forward-looking statements are subject to risks, uncertainties and other important factors that could cause actual results and the timing of certain events to differ materially from future results expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements. Factors that could cause or contribute to such differences include, but are not limited to, those discussed in the section titled "Summary Risk Factors" described below and "Risk Factors" included in Item 1A of Part I of this Annual Report on Form 10-K, and the risks discussed in our other U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, or SEC, filings. Furthermore, such forward-looking statements speak only as of the date of this report. Except as required by law, we undertake no obligation to update any forward-looking statements to reflect events or circumstances after the date of such statements.

Table of Contents

Summary Risk Factors

Some of the factors that could materially and adversely affect our financial condition, results of operations, cash flow, the market price of shares of our common stock or our prospects include, but are not limited to, the following. You should read this summary together with the more detailed description of each risk factor contained in Item 1A "Risk Factors" in this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Risks Related to Our Financial Position and Need for Additional Capital

- We might not be able to continue as a going concern, which would likely cause our stockholders to lose most or all of their investment.
- Adverse developments affecting the financial services industry could adversely affect our current and projected business operations and its financial condition and results of operations.
- We will need to raise additional capital in order to continue developing our product candidates and to manufacture and commercialize them.
- We have incurred operating losses since our inception. We expect to continue to incur losses for the foreseeable future and might never achieve or maintain profitability.
- Our relatively short operating history may make it difficult for investors to evaluate the success of our business to date and to assess our future viability.

Risks Related to Development and Commercialization of Our Product Candidates

- We are dependent on the success of our Mydcomb1, MicroPine, and MicroLine product candidates and our and our licensees ability to develop, obtain marketing approval for and successfully commercialize these product candidates.
- Delays in the commencement or completion of clinical testing of product candidates we are developing or may develop in the future may occur and could result in significantly increased costs and longer timelines and could impact our ability to ever become profitable.
- Our product candidates may cause undesirable side effects or have other properties that could delay or prevent their regulatory approval and limit the commercial profile of an approved label, and such side effects or other properties could result in significant negative consequences following any marketing approval of any of our product candidates.
- We might not be able to develop marketable products utilizing our technology and we might not be able to identify and successfully implement an alternative product development strategy.
- If the market opportunities for our product candidates are smaller than we believe they are, our product revenues may be adversely affected and our business may suffer.
- The commercial success of our product candidates will depend in large part on the degree of market acceptance among ophthalmologists and optometrists, patients, patient advocacy groups, third-party payors and the medical community.

Risks Related to Regulatory Approval of Our Product Candidates and Other Legal Compliance Matters

- The regulatory approval processes of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, or FDA, and comparable foreign authorities are lengthy, time-consuming and inherently unpredictable. If we are not able to obtain required regulatory approval for any of our current or future product candidates, our business may be materially and adversely affected.
- Even if we receive regulatory approval for any of our product candidates, we will be subject to ongoing regulatory obligations and continued regulatory review, which may result in significant additional expense. Additionally, our product candidates, if approved, could be subject to post-market study requirements, marketing and labeling restrictions, and even recall or market withdrawal if unanticipated safety issues are discovered following approval. In addition, we may be subject to penalties or other enforcement action if we fail to comply with regulatory requirements.

Risks Related to Our Business Operations and Managing Growth

- We are highly dependent on the services of our senior management team, including our Chief Executive Officer, and if we are not able to retain these members of our management team or recruit and retain additional management, clinical, scientific and sales personnel, our business will be harmed.
- We have limited corporate infrastructure and may experience difficulties in managing growth.

Risks Related to Our Dependence on Third Parties

- We rely on third parties to conduct, supervise, and monitor our clinical trials and perform some of our research and preclinical studies. If these third parties do not satisfactorily carry out their contractual duties or fail to meet expected deadlines, our development programs may be delayed or subject to increased costs, each of which may have an adverse effect on our business and prospects.
- We are contracting with third parties for the manufacture of components of our product candidates, particularly for commercialization, just as we do to provide materials required for the production of the Optejet and for some of our current research and development activities. This reliance on third parties increases the risk that we will not have sufficient quantities of our product candidates or such quantities at an acceptable cost, which could delay, prevent or impair our development and commercialization efforts.
- If we, our service providers or our third-party manufacturers fail to comply with environmental, health and safety laws and regulations, we could become subject to fines or penalties or incur costs that could harm our business.

Risks Related to Our Intellectual Property and Potential Litigation

- Our success depends on our ability to protect our intellectual property and proprietary technology.
- Our patents covering our proprietary technology may be subject to challenge, narrowing, circumvention and invalidation by third parties.
- We cannot be sure that we were the first to make the technologies claimed in our patents or patent applications or that we were the first to file for patent protection.
- The patent application process is subject to numerous risks and there can be no assurance that we will be successful in obtaining patents for which we have applied.
- Obtaining and maintaining patent protection of our technologies depends on compliance with various procedural, document submission, fee payment and other requirements imposed by governmental patent agencies, and our patent protection could be reduced or eliminated for non-compliance with these requirements.
- We may become involved in lawsuits to protect or enforce our patents or other intellectual property, which could be expensive, time consuming and unsuccessful.
- If we fail to comply with our obligations under our existing and any future intellectual property licenses with third parties, we could lose license rights that are important to our business.

Table of ContentsRisks Related to Ownership of Our Common Stock

- A significant portion of our total outstanding shares may be sold into the market in the near future, which could cause the market price of our common stock to drop significantly, even if our business is performing well.
- The price of our common stock has been, and may continue to be, volatile and may fluctuate substantially, which could result in substantial losses for purchasers of our common stock.
- We have broad discretion in the use of our cash, including the net proceeds from our financings, and might not use them effectively.

Corporate Information

On October 6, 2014, we reincorporated in the State of Delaware by merging into Eyenovia, Inc., a Delaware corporation. Our principal executive office is located at 295 Madison Avenue, Suite 2400, New York, NY 10017, and our phone number is (833) 393-6684. Our website is www.eyenovia.com. Overview

We are a pre-commercial ophthalmic technology company developing the Optejet® delivery system both for use in combination with our own drug-device therapeutics and for out-licensing for use in combination with therapeutics for additional indications. Our aim is to improve the delivery of topical ophthalmic medication through the ergonomic design of the Optejet which facilitates ease-of-use and delivery of more physiologically appropriate medication volume, with the goal to reduce side effects and improve tolerability, and introduce digital health technology to improve therapy compliance and ultimately medical outcomes.

The ergonomic and functional design of the Optejet® allows for horizontal drug delivery and eliminates the need to tilt the head back or the manual dexterity to squeeze a bottle, in order to administer medications. Drug is delivered in a microscopic array of droplets faster than the blink reflex to help ensure instillation success. The precise delivery of a low-volume columnar spray by the Optejet® minimizes contamination with a non-protruding nozzle and self-closing shutter. In clinical trials, the Optejet® has demonstrated that its targeted delivery achieves a high rate of successful administration, with 98% of sprays being accurately delivered upon first attempt compared to the established rate reported with traditional eye drops of ~ 50%.

A more physiologically appropriate volume of medication in the range of seven to nine microliters is delivered by the Optejet, which is approximately one fifth of the 35 to 50 microliter dose typically delivered in a single eye drop. A lower volume of medication exposes the ocular surface to less active ingredient and preservatives, potentially reducing ocular stress and surface damage and improving tolerability. The lower volume also minimizes the potential for drugs to enter systemic circulation, with the goal of avoiding some common side effects that are related to overdosing of the eye.

We are developing versions of the Optejet with on-board digital technology to provide reminders via Bluetooth to smart devices and date and time stamp device use. This information can then be used by practitioners and health care systems to measure treatment compliance and improve medical decision making. In this way, the Optejet could serve as an extension of the physician's office by providing information that is not currently possible to collect except through the use of diaries.

Our drug-device therapeutic programs include MicroPine, MicroLine and Mydcombi™. MicroPine is our first-in-class topical therapy for the treatment of progressive myopia, a back-of-the-eye ocular disease associated with pathologic axial elongation and sclero-retinal stretching. In the United States, myopia is estimated to affect approximately 25 million children, with up to five million considered to be at high risk for progressive myopia. In February 2019, the FDA accepted our investigational new drug application, or IND, to initiate a Phase III registration trial of MicroPine, or the CHAPERONE study, to reduce the progression of myopia in children. The first patient was enrolled in the CHAPERONE study in June 2019. On October 9, 2020, we entered into a license agreement, or the Bausch License Agreement, with Bausch + Lomb, pursuant to which Bausch + Lomb may develop and commercialize MicroPine in the United States and Canada. Under the terms of the Bausch License Agreement, we received an upfront payment of $10.0 million and we may receive up to a total of $35.0 million in additional payments, based on the achievement of certain regulatory and launch-based milestones. Bausch + Lomb also will pay royalties to Eyenovia on a tiered basis (ranging from mid-single digit to mid-teen percentages) on gross profits from sales of MicroPine in the United States and Canada, subject to certain adjustments. Under the terms of the Bausch License Agreement, Bausch + Lomb assumed sponsorship of the IND as well as ownership and the costs related to the ongoing CHAPERONE study.

We have also successfully expanded our manufacturing capabilities through a partnership with Coastline International, Inc. located in Tijuana, Mexico, and the construction of our own fill and finish facility in Redwood City, California. As of the date of filing, we are up-to-date supplying clinical product for this study.

MicroLine is our investigational pharmacologic treatment for presbyopia. Presbyopia is a non-preventable, age-related hardening of the lens, which causes the gradual loss of the eye's ability to focus on near objects and impairs near visual acuity. Allergan recently launched Vuity™, a pilocarpine drug product for the treatment of presbyopia. Our second Phase III study, VISION-2, used the same drug, delivered with the advantages of the Optejet®. We released positive top-line results from VISION-2 in the fourth quarter of 2022.

Mydcombi™ is our fixed combination formulation of tropicamide-phenylephrine for mydriasis and a novel approach for the over 100 million office-based comprehensive and diabetic eye exams estimated to be performed every year in the United States. We completed two Phase III trials for Mydcombi and announced positive results from these studies, known as MIST-1 and MIST-2, and have submitted a New Drug Application, or NDA, to the FDA seeking approval to market the product in the U.S. In October 2021, we received a complete response letter, or CRL, in response to our NDA, which in part informed us that pre-filled or co-packaged ophthalmic drug dispenser products like Mydcombi have been reclassified as drug-device combination products. This reclassification was based upon the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit's decision in Genus Medical Technologies v. FDA, not involving Eyenovia, which ordered that products meeting the statutory definition of a device, but were previously classified by the FDA as drugs must be regulated as devices. Before this ruling, the FDA regulated pre-filled or co-packaged ophthalmic dispensers as part of the approved ophthalmic drug distributed and sold with the dispenser. After the ruling, however, the dispenser must be considered as a distinct device constituent part of a drug-device combination product. We resubmitted the NDA on November 8, 2022, and the FDA is currently reviewing our application with a Prescription Drug User Fee Act (PDUFA) target action date of May 8, 2023.

On August 10, 2020, we entered into a license agreement, or the Arctic Vision License Agreement, with Arctic Vision (Hong Kong) Limited, or Arctic Vision, which was amended on September 14, 2021, pursuant to which Arctic Vision may develop and commercialize MicroPine, MicroLine and Mydcombi in Greater China (mainland China, Hong Kong, Macau and Taiwan) and South Korea. Under the terms of the Arctic Vision License Agreement, as amended, we received an upfront payment of $4.25 million before any payments to Senju Pharmaceutical Co., Ltd., or Senju. In addition, we may receive up to a total of $39.7 million in additional payments, based on various development and regulatory milestones, including the initiation of clinical research and approvals in Greater China and South Korea, and development costs. Arctic Vision also will purchase its supply of MicroPine, MicroLine and Mydcombi from Eyenovia or, for such products not supplied by Eyenovia, pay a mid-single digit percentage royalty on net sales of such products, subject to certain adjustments. We will pay between 30 and 40 percent of such payments, royalties, or net proceeds of such supply to Senju pursuant to an exclusive license agreement with Senju dated March 8, 2015, as amended.

We are in active discussions with manufacturers of existing and late-stage ophthalmic medications to explore whether development with the Optejet technology can solve unmet medical and business needs. Some of those business needs could include extension of exclusivity under the Optejet patents, improvement in a drug's tolerability profile, or potential improvement in treatment compliance.

The following summarizes our product pipeline and anticipated milestones:

Product Candidate	Indication	Next Expected Milestones
MicroLine	Improvement in Near Vision (Presbyopia)	Pre-NDA meeting April 2023
MicroPine	Pediatric Myopia Progression (Near-Sightedness)	Phase III CHAPERONE IND transferred to Bausch + Lomb
Mydcombi	Pharmaceutical Mydriasis (Pupil Dilation)	Potential FDA approval date May 8, 2023

Our Strategy

Our goal is to become a leading developer and provider of advanced ophthalmic therapies based upon our microdose array print (MAP) platform technology and digital health platform for interactive patient care. These unique products would be commercialized by us and/or our partners globally. The key elements of our strategy to achieve this goal are:

Establish a portfolio of first-in-class piezo-print micro-therapeutic products for multiple eye treatments through the 505(b)(2) pathway with the FDA. We are focused on integrating our next-generation technology with therapeutic compounds already well established in the topical treatment of ophthalmic indications. We believe that the 505(b)(2) registration pathway, which reduces development risk compared to new molecular entity programs by working with known compounds with well-established safety and efficacy profiles, will be available for our development pipeline. We believe our pipeline of patented micro-therapeutic product candidates is highly differentiated by our improved tolerability and enhanced compliance profile and that our late-stage development programs could lead to additional NDA submissions in novel indications where the products can have unique dosing and therapeutic profiles. We believe that this could lead to favorable pricing and a reduced risk of generic competition.

Improve clinical outcomes and patient experiences while providing an improved tolerability profile with our microdose therapeutics. We believe the Optejet will allow for high precision targeted microdosing for multiple eye treatments, while eliminating ophthalmic over-dosing and reducing ocular exposure to toxic preservatives and pharmacologic ingredients compared to conventional eye drop delivery mechanisms. Our clinical trials have demonstrated similar efficacy to eye drops, improved side effect profile and enhanced patient experience with the Optejet as compared to conventional eye drops.

Leverage our electronic, smartphone-enabled "e-health" technology to introduce and develop patient-specific compliance monitoring program. The Optejet's mobile e-health technology is designed to track when a patient administers treatments, allowing physicians to monitor patient compliance more accurately. We believe this could enhance patient compliance and improve compliance monitoring by empowering patients and physicians with access to dynamic, real-time monitoring and compliance data for a more intelligent, informed and personalized therapeutic paradigm.

Develop next-generation targeted microdose treatments for other ophthalmic diseases independently or in collaboration with third parties. The Optejet also may be suitable for new molecular entities and applications. Leveraging our existing platform technology, we plan to continue developing, either independently or through strategic relationships with third parties, other product candidates for various eye diseases that can be administered using the Optejet and additional applications for the Optejet.

Develop therapeutic solutions for ophthalmic conditions with high unmet needs and no approved therapy. We plan to target chronic ophthalmic conditions with a high unmet medical need. By leveraging our piezo-print microdosing technology, we aim to reach conditions where there are no approved drug therapies. For example, our MicroPine program involves a proprietary formulation of low-dose atropine intended to slow myopia progression in the pediatric population. There are currently no commercially-available medical therapies in the United States to treat this indication.

Limitations of Conventional Eye Therapies

Our microdosing platform technology aims to address the following issues associated with conventional eye drop-based therapies:

Dosing and ease of administration

Multiple third-party studies have confirmed challenges with administering conventional eye drops, which include overdosing, poor compliance, imprecise dosing, variability in drop size, and difficulty with self-administration. One study in patients who were experienced in using eye drops and undergoing treatment for glaucoma for at least six months documented that nine out of ten patients were unable to administer treatment correctly at the end of the six-month study. Patients on average administered almost twice the necessary number of drops with a mean number of drops instilled at 1.8 (± 1.2) and one patient administered up to eight drops at one time. In addition, approximately 75% of patients risked bottle contamination or potential ocular trauma by having the eye drop container touch their eyes. Another larger study in 139 patients demonstrated that the proportion of patients able to correctly administer their eye drops was only 22%–30%. Similarly, other studies have demonstrated that the vast majority of patients either overdose or do not administer the required therapy to the eye correctly, which may lead to additional side effects or lack of efficacy.

Side effects associated with conventional eye drop therapies

Topical eye therapies are administered using traditional eye drop pipette approaches. While average tear volume of the eye is 6–8 μL , current eye drop therapies can involve administration of 30–50 μL of liquid containing preservatives and pharmaceutical ingredients. Thus, traditional drops can severely overdose the eye, which, depending on the ingredients, can be associated with ocular side effects including hyperemia, or increased blood flow to the eye, redness, discomfort, stinging, blurred vision, burning, itching, excessive tearing, eye pain, iris pigment changes, foreign body sensation, pigment discoloration, periorbital dermatitis and sunken eye. For some topical medications, there also can be cardiovascular side effects such as changes in heart rate and arrhythmia that are caused when medications are absorbed into the circulation system from overdosing both through conjunctiva absorption and when drugs flow into the nose through the naso-lacrimal duct and are absorbed into the systemic circulation or swallowed. For example, phenylephrine can cause cardiovascular adverse reactions including an increase in blood pressure, syncope, myocardial infarction, tachycardia, arrhythmia and subarachnoid hemorrhage. Severe respiratory reactions and cardiac reactions, including death due to bronchospasm in patients with asthma, and rarely death in association with cardiac failure, have been reported following systemic or ophthalmic administration of timolol maleate.

Mydcombi contains tropicamide and phenylephrine. However, as demonstrated in our two Phase III studies for this product candidate, patients administering Mydcombi reported few ocular adverse events and no systemic adverse events when they administered our microdosed product candidate. Compared with historical data for traditional eye drops, Mydcombi appeared to be much better tolerated, with low systemic absorption of phenylephrine alone.

With the Optejet platform technology, we believe that the known adverse event profile of pilocarpine, including headaches, also may be moderated to make MicroLine the preferred choice for presbyopia over other potential pilocarpine drop options. The same is true with MicroPine, where we believe that microdosing may result in a better tolerated product for children using topical ophthalmic atropine.

Our Solution: The Optejet

The Optejet dispenser delivers doses of approximately 7-9 μL , directly coating the corneal surface where 80% of intraocular drug penetration occurs. We believe that microdosing may reduce drug and toxic preservative exposure by more than 75%, thus reducing ocular irritation, and resulting in potentially gentler treatments without compromising the desired clinical effect.

We believe that we are one of the only companies with clinical stage technology for targeted microdosing of ophthalmic investigational therapies having fully completed the Phase III clinical studies needed and made an NDA submission. The Optejet is based on MAP, which is also used for pixel-sharp high-precision inkjet printing. The technology is optimized for and applied in ophthalmic delivery to achieve microdosing that can be many times more precise than conventional eye droppers. In addition, our smart, electronic system provides the capability to track when patients administer their medications and deliver this information to patients and physicians via Bluetooth connectivity. Thus, physicians can make decisions regarding therapeutic regimens with knowledge of patient compliance.

The FDA has determined that our products will be treated as combination drug/device products, with CDER as the lead reviewing center. As such, we do not anticipate needing separate FDA approval for the Optejet dispenser alone.

Microdose administration of topical ophthalmic drugs with the Optejet has been tested in preclinical models and clinical trials and shown to provide many advantages over administrations of eye drops. Key advantages of the Optejet include:

Dose reduction: Our microdose delivery technology is designed to achieve precise volumetric control at the microliter level to deliver approximately 8 μL , which is the physiologic capacity of the tear film. This compares favorably to the volume of an eye drop (30–50 μL), which can result in overdosing, ocular toxicity and systemic leaching into the plasma.

Targeted dose instillation: The Optejet allows for targeted delivery to the ocular surface and cornea, avoiding the conjunctival cul-de-sac. The micro-jet spray created by the piezo-electric vibrations is columnated and focused to provide accurate delivery to the corneal surface where the majority of ocular penetration occurs. Additionally, the Optejet is designed with an LED targeting mechanism to facilitate proper positioning and objective alignment, thus increasing the likelihood of successful dose delivery.

Speed of delivery: Our piezo-print technology is similar to high-precision ink-jet printing. Unlike a simple aerosolized mechanism, the Optejet is designed with ejection control that creates a fast and targeted micro-jet delivery. Solution is dispensed to the ocular surface in less than 100 milliseconds between the time the first droplet hits the corneal surface to the completion of dose delivery, which is faster than the average involuntary blink response time.

Smart electronics: A key feature of the Optejet is the embedded electronic, Bluetooth enabled “e-health” system, which we believe is the first intelligent electronic delivery system for ophthalmic therapies. Our electronic functions are designed to enable patients and physicians to track when doses are administered. We believe this technology will improve compliance and chronic disease management by empowering patients and physicians with access to dynamic, real time monitoring and compliance data for a more intelligent and personalized therapeutic paradigm. Recent changes in payment codes now provide a way for healthcare providers to bill for this important service.

Clinical Trial Results

We have an established platform for microdose administration of ophthalmic solutions. Our preclinical and clinical studies suggest that a microdose of approximately 8 μ L of medication results in clinical efficacy comparable to that of traditional eye drops, with the advantages of fewer ocular side effects and less systemic exposure. We can use our platform technology with either new or existing molecular entities. We have chosen the latter path for our initial pipeline product candidates.

Prior to initiation of our Phase III clinical studies, we conducted multiple preclinical and early phase studies to validate our piezo-print microdose delivery platform. Data from a canine model of glaucoma demonstrated more than 40% IOP lowering effect at microdose of 8–9 μ L latanoprost. Another independent microdose study published in the Journal of Investigative Ophthalmology and Visual Science in 2014 further demonstrated that 3 μ L microdose with timolol 0.5% can reduce systemic plasma levels of the drug by a factor of 17.

The Phase II EYN-1601 clinical trial compared the mydriatic effect of phenylephrine 10% microdosed (~7 μ L in volume) with the Optejet (EYN) to phenylephrine 10% (PE 10%) and phenylephrine 2.5% (PE 2.5%) eye drops (each ~32 μ L in volume) in 24 eyes. At 75-minute peak dilation, our microdose provided similar mydriatic results (at approximately 1/4 of the dose exposure) to the 10% phenylephrine drops, and superior activity compared to 2.5% phenylephrine drops.

Shown below is mean pupil diameter change from baseline for the 24 eyes studied. The asterisk at t=75 min indicates EYN is statistically better than PE 2.5% ($p=0.009$).

This study was also informative with regard to systemic drug exposure of these topical treatments. As shown below, microdosed phenylephrine 10% (EYN1) demonstrated 35–40% lower plasma levels as compared with phenylephrine 10% eye drops (PE 10%).

As shown in the table below, there were also fewer ocular adverse events in the microdosed group (EYN) suggesting an improvement in tolerability as compared to 10% phenylephrine eye drops (PE 10%).

The EYE-103 study investigated a combination of phenylephrine and tropicamide microdose treatment administered using the Optejet compared to conventional eye drops in 102 subjects (204 eyes). In this study, microdosing produced equivalent pupil dilation to eye drops and 91% of participants preferred medication administration with the Optejet versus eye drops (6% preferred eye drops, while 3% expressed no preference [$p < 0.0001$]). On a scale of 1 to 10, with 10 being most favorable, general satisfaction scores were higher with Optejet administration versus eye drops (9.8 ± 0.6 for Optejet vs 5.8 ± 3.0 for eye drops). Ocular comfort scores were nearly two times better with the Optejet than with eye drops.

In 2018, Eyenovia completed a third early phase trial (EYN-POC-PG-21) to extend the findings of the two previous trials evaluating Optejet administration of mydriatic agents. This study was a single-center, open-label, prospective, crossover design evaluating the usability, patient tolerability, and proof-of-concept of microdose administration of commercial latanoprost 0.005% using the Optejet. Thirty healthy volunteer subjects (60 eyes) were evaluated for eligibility and consented to study participation. Subsequently, at each of three treatment visits, IOP was measured in the morning. Afterwards, on Treatment Days 1 and 2, a single 8- μ L microdose of latanoprost 0.005% ophthalmic solution was administered to each eye using the Optejet. On the morning of Treatment Day 3, each subject received 2 $\times$ 8- μ L Optejet microdoses (administered approximately 5 minutes apart) in one eye and the other eye received a single eye drop of latanoprost 0.005% ophthalmic solution. For each treatment day, IOP was measured 1, 7, 12, and 24 hours after receiving medication and a mean diurnal IOP was calculated from the four readings. As shown below, mean IOP after medication administration on Days 1 and 2 was lowered by 25.0% and 28.7%, respectively.

Mean Bilateral IOP at Baseline, Days 1 & 2

Mean bilateral IOP and percent change in IOP in eyes dosed using the Optejet through Treatment Day 2 (N = 29 pairs of eyes from 29 evaluable subjects)

As shown below, on Day 3, mean IOP was 35.5% lower than baseline for eyes receiving microdose latanoprost 0.005% using the Optejet, and 35.0% lower than baseline for eyes receiving a single drop of latanoprost 0.005%.

IOP AT DAY 3 (N=29 EYES OF 29 SUBJECTS PER TREATMENT)

No clinically significant changes were noted in slit lamp observations (including hyperemia) for any subjects who received study treatment and no adverse events were reported. Subjects reported no-to-negligible ocular discomfort after medication administration using the Optejet.

Investigator-administered medication using the Optejet was evaluated in 60 eyes (1 spray/cyc) on Days 1 and 2, and in 30 eyes (2 sprays/cyc) on Day 3. Optejet administration was successful on the first attempt in 172 of the 180 cases (96%). Subject head movement and/or blinking and investigator proficiency with Optejet use resulted in the need for additional administration in the remaining 4% of cases, the majority of which (6/8) occurred on Day 1. Administration success was achieved on the first attempt on all Day 3 cases. There were no reports of unintentional overdosing, tear fluid overflow, or the dispenser nozzle touching the eye.

In a separate evaluation, subjects were trained on Optejet self-administration with sterile water and then asked to demonstrate Optejet use in each eye during the afternoon of each treatment day. By the afternoon of Day 3, qualified Eyenovia representatives judged that almost 90% of subjects were able to demonstrate accurate self-administration using the Optejet.

Table of Contents

This study demonstrated Optejet medication administration to be easy to perform, safe, and comfortable to study subjects. Additionally, Optejet microdose administration of 0.005% latanoprost resulted in mean IOP reduction similar to reported literature for use of latanoprost 0.005% ophthalmic solution administered as traditional eye drops.

Based on the results of these studies further validating microdose delivery of ophthalmic medication, we initiated Phase III programs in mydriasis in late 2018, progressive myopia in 2019, and presbyopia in 2020.

Our Product Candidates

Eyenovia is currently focused on three programs: MicroLine (for presbyopia), MicroPine (for progressive myopia) and Mydcombi (for mydriasis).

MicroLine

MicroLine is our proprietary microdosed version of pilocarpine, a well-understood ophthalmic medication that can dose-dependently induce miosis, or a contraction of the pupil. It is a direct acting cholinergic parasympathomimetic agent that stimulates muscarinic acetylcholine receptors present on smooth muscles, including those in the iris and ciliary body. As a result, pilocarpine causes contraction of the iris sphincter muscle, which causes miosis.

Reducing pupil size with pilocarpine has been shown to improve near visual acuity in individuals who have presbyopia. In Benozzi et al, 2012, subjects aged 45–50 years who bilaterally self-administered both pilocarpine 1% and diclofenac 0.1% eyedrops every six hours during the day for up to five years reported good improvement in near vision without compromising distance vision. Thus, pilocarpine's miotic effect may be useful in treating the increasingly compromised near vision that parallels the development of presbyopia.

Background of Presbyopia and Market Opportunity

Presbyopia is the gradual decrease in the ability of the eye's natural lens to accommodate in near vision, resulting in a loss of focus on near objects. In general, onset is around age 40 and is almost universal in adults over the age of 60. In the United States, there are approximately 113 million people with presbyopia; 53 million of them are between the ages of 40 and 55.

For many people, presbyopia is among the first overt signs of aging. There are psychological factors accompanying the use of spectacles and bifocals for the first time, as well as situational inconvenience for either not being able to see well or having to use a vision aiding device. With MicroLine, we plan to introduce a pharmaceutical option for improving near vision that can work as a companion to spectacles, for when patients wish not to use their reading glasses. Our market research indicates the highest interest in the product concept among people aged 40 to 55 years who otherwise have normal vision and household income in the top half of the country, representing a potential market of approximately 18 million people.

Phase III Clinical Development Programs

We are evaluating whether topical ocular microdosing of pilocarpine using the Optejet dispenser in presbyopic individuals can effectively improve near vision without compromising distance vision and without causing the undesirable side effects of traditionally administered pilocarpine. Our initial Phase III Study, VISION-1, showed that pilocarpine 2% provided a statistically superior improvement in functional near vision and an acceptable safety profile in presbyopic subjects with baseline distance-corrected near visual acuity better than 20/80. Our second Phase III study, VISION-2 evaluated the safety, tolerability, and efficacy of Optejet-administered microdosing of pilocarpine 2% as an ophthalmic spray versus placebo. The results of VISION-1 and VISION-2 are being presented to the FDA in a pre-NDA meeting scheduled for April 2023.

MicroPine

A key therapeutic program for Eyenovia is our first-in-class topical treatment for progressive myopia, a back-of-the-eye disease.

Background of Progressive Myopia and Market Opportunity

Myopia is an ocular disorder that results in blurry vision when looking at distant objects. This happens when the eyeball is too long or corneal curvature is too steep causing light entering the eye to be incorrectly focused. Myopia is one of the most common refractive errors seen in children. Myopia that is present in young children tends to increase through the school years. As myopia progresses, so does the risk of retinal detachment, cataracts, myopia maculopathy and even blindness. It is estimated that over 25 million children in the United States suffer from progressive myopia, with approximately 5 million children being at high risk.

Examples of Retinal Changes Due to Myopia

Progressive Myopia with Retinal Atrophy Changes

While currently there are no FDA-approved therapies for myopia progression, there is growing evidence of the therapeutic benefit of topical atropine ophthalmic solution, an anticholinergic agent used for pupil dilation and treatment of lazy eye, as a treatment to slow progression. Academic groups have demonstrated that low dose atropine solution reduces myopia progression 60-70%, with sustained effect through three years. A recent therapeutic evidence assessment and review by the American Academy of Ophthalmology, indicates Level 1 (highest) evidence of efficacy for low dose atropine for reduction of progressive myopia (Ophthalmology 2017;124:1857-1866; Ophthalmology 2016; 123(2) 391:399). While atropine 1% ophthalmic solution is FDA-approved and commercially available in the United States for pupil dilation and treatment of lazy eye, commonly reported side effects such as burning and stinging during drop administration, and blurred vision and light sensitivity associated with its use make it undesirable for the

Summary Risk Factors

The principal risks we face are as follows:

- We are a clinical-stage biopharmaceutical company and we have incurred significant losses since our inception. We anticipate that we will continue to incur significant losses for the foreseeable future.
- Our business substantially depends upon the successful development of KarXT. If we are unable to obtain regulatory approval for or successfully commercialize KarXT, our business may be materially harmed.
- Our operations in foreign jurisdictions, and those of our collaborators, may be impacted by economic, political and social conditions in such jurisdictions, as well as government policies, any of which could impact our ability to operate in such jurisdictions.
- The regulatory approval processes of the FDA and comparable foreign authorities are lengthy, time-consuming and inherently unpredictable, and if we are ultimately unable to obtain regulatory approval for our product candidates, our business will be substantially harmed.
- The results of early-stage clinical trials and preclinical studies may not be predictive of future results. Initial data in our clinical trials may not be indicative of results obtained when these trials are completed or in later stage trials.
- Our product candidates may cause undesirable side effects or have other properties that could delay or prevent their regulatory approval, limit the commercial profile of an approved label, or result in significant negative consequences following regulatory approval, if obtained.
- We may seek to establish collaborations and, if we are not able to establish them on commercially reasonable terms, we may have to alter our development and commercialization plans.
- Our commercial success depends on our ability to protect our intellectual property and proprietary technology.
- If we fail to comply with our obligations in our current and future intellectual property licenses with third parties, we could lose rights that are important to our business.

ITEM 1. BUSINESS

Overview

We are a clinical-stage biopharmaceutical company driven to create and deliver transformative medicines for people living with psychiatric and neurological conditions. Our pipeline is built on the broad therapeutic potential of our proprietary lead product candidate, KarXT (xanomeline-trospium), an oral modulator of muscarinic receptors that are located both in the central nervous system, or CNS, and various peripheral tissues. KarXT combines xanomeline, a novel muscarinic agonist, with trospium, an approved muscarinic antagonist, to preferentially stimulate muscarinic receptors in the CNS. We are initially developing KarXT for the treatment of psychosis in adults with schizophrenia as well as for the treatment of psychosis in Alzheimer's disease, or AD, which is the most prevalent subtype of dementia related psychosis, or DRP.

Psychosis is a prominent and debilitating symptom that occurs in many neuropsychiatric disorders, including schizophrenia, dementia, bipolar disorder, major depressive disorder and inflammatory neurological diseases, such as multiple sclerosis. Schizophrenia is a chronic disabling disorder that is typically diagnosed in the late teenage years or early adulthood and is characterized by recurring episodes of psychosis requiring long-term treatment with antipsychotic drugs in most patients. The World Health Organization ranks psychosis as the third-most disabling medical condition in the world. It is estimated that more than 21 million people are living with schizophrenia worldwide, with approximately 2.7 million in the United States, or approximately 0.5% to 1.0% of the United States population. Patients with schizophrenia experience psychotic symptoms, also known as positive symptoms, such as hallucinations and delusions. As a result of the disease, patients with schizophrenia also experience negative symptoms, such as amotivation, flat affect and social withdrawal as well as cognitive impairment.

Dementia affects an estimated 8.4 million people in the United States and includes subtypes of patients living with AD dementia, dementia with Lewy Body, vascular dementia, frontotemporal dementia and Parkinson's disease dementia. Patients with DRP share many characteristics and often exhibit similar psychiatric symptoms irrespective of their underlying neurodegenerative disease. Our evaluation of KarXT for the treatment of dementia-related psychosis will initially focus on psychosis in AD, which is the most prevalent cause of dementia, accounting for an estimated 60% to 80% of all cases. Up to 50% of AD patients exhibit psychiatric symptoms, which often leads to institutional care in a hospital or nursing home. Our initial focus on the AD dementia subtype reflects various strategic development, regulatory and commercial considerations, and we remain interested in exploring KarXT in other dementia subtypes in future development programs. We plan to share details of our Phase 3 program evaluating KarXT for the treatment of psychosis in AD in the first half of 2022 prior to the program's initiation in mid-2022.

Worldwide sales of antipsychotic drugs exceeded $11 billion in 2019 and are expected to exceed $20 billion by 2026, despite a highly generic market. Several branded market-leading antipsychotic medicines have each achieved worldwide annual sales in excess of $5 billion. Despite the large number of antipsychotic drugs developed over the last 20 years, current medicines have undergone only modest innovation relative to first generation drugs developed in the 1950s. In many patients, current antipsychotics are hampered by modest efficacy, significant side effects and safety concerns. At least half of patients fail to adequately respond to antipsychotic drugs. Additionally, in many patients, these treatments are associated with severe side effects including sedation, extrapyramidal side effects, such as motor rigidity, tremors and slurred speech, and significant weight gain resulting in the complications of diabetes, hyperlipidemia, hypertension and cardiovascular disease. The clinical benefit of current antipsychotics is further limited by poor adherence. In a 1,493-patient clinical trial funded by the National Institutes of Health, approximately 75% of patients reported discontinuing their antipsychotic medication within 18 months of starting treatment.

Current antipsychotic treatments work primarily by inhibiting D2 dopamine receptors and frequently 5HT-2A serotonin receptors and are often used by physicians to address a wide range of psychiatric conditions, including schizophrenia, bipolar disorder and psychotic depression, as well as psychosis and agitation in elderly patients with dementia. Muscarinic receptor agonists emerged in the 1990s as a potential alternative approach for treating psychosis. There are five distinct muscarinic receptors, M1 through M5, which are found in the CNS as well as various peripheral tissues. The link between muscarinic receptor stimulation in the CNS, particularly the stimulation of M1 and M4 receptors, and the reduction of symptoms of psychosis and improvement in cognition, has been well studied and is supported by data from preclinical studies and two third-party clinical trials published in peer reviewed journals. However, the successful development of a therapeutic agent targeting muscarinic receptors has been limited by undesirable side effects that are believed to arise primarily as a result of stimulation of muscarinic receptors in peripheral tissues. We believe a therapeutic agent that can preferentially target and stimulate muscarinic receptors in the CNS, but not in peripheral tissues, has the potential to treat psychosis in schizophrenia and DRP, including the associated agitation in patients with DRP. We also believe the preferential stimulation of M1 and M4 muscarinic receptors in the CNS may address the negative symptoms of schizophrenia, such as apathy, reduced social drive and loss of motivation, as well as cognitive symptoms, such as deficits in working memory and attention, all of which currently lack any approved treatments. This approach has the potential to produce a differentiated therapy relative to current D2 dopamine and 5HT-2A serotonin receptor-based antipsychotic drugs and to beneficially impact the lives of millions of patients with psychiatric conditions and cognitive disorders.

We are initially developing KarXT for the treatment of acute psychosis in adults with schizophrenia. KarXT combines xanomeline, a muscarinic receptor agonist that preferentially stimulates M1 and M4 muscarinic receptors, and trospium, an approved muscarinic receptor antagonist that does not measurably cross the blood-brain barrier, confining its effects to peripheral tissues. M1 and M4 muscarinic receptors are the receptor subtypes believed to mediate the antipsychotic and procognitive effects of xanomeline and other muscarinic agonists. Results from preclinical studies and clinical trials conducted by third parties support the hypothesis that xanomeline can reduce psychosis and improve cognition. To our knowledge, xanomeline is the only muscarinic orthosteric agonist that has demonstrated therapeutic benefit in schizophrenia and AD. Like all muscarinic orthosteric agonists studied to date, however, xanomeline's tolerability has been limited by side effects arising from muscarinic receptor stimulation in peripheral tissues, leading to nausea, vomiting, diarrhea and increased salivation and sweating, collectively referred to as cholinergic adverse events. Trospium is a muscarinic receptor antagonist approved in the United States and Europe for the treatment of overactive bladder that inhibits all five muscarinic receptor subtypes in peripheral tissues. We believe that the combination xanomeline and trospium in KarXT has the potential to preferentially stimulate M1 and M4 muscarinic receptors in the brain without stimulating muscarinic receptors in peripheral tissues in order to achieve meaningful therapeutic benefit in patients with psychotic and cognitive disorders.

The EMERGENT program is our clinical program evaluating KarXT for the treatment of schizophrenia, and includes the completed positive Phase 2 EMERGENT-1 trial and four ongoing Phase 3 trials. In November 2019, we announced positive results from our EMERGENT-1 trial, a Phase 2 clinical trial evaluating KarXT for the treatment of acute psychosis in adults with schizophrenia. In this trial, KarXT met the trial's primary endpoint with a statistically significant ($p < 0.0001$) and clinically meaningful 11.6 point mean reduction in Positive and Negative Syndrome Scale, or PANSS, total scores over placebo at week 5 (-17.4 KarXT vs. -5.9 placebo). We also observed a statistically significant 3.2 point mean reduction from baseline in the PANSS-positive subscale (-5.6 KarXT v. -2.4 placebo) and a statistically significant 2.3 point mean reduction from baseline in the PANSS-negative subscale (-3.2 KarXT v. -0.9 placebo) at week five ($p < 0.0001$ and $p < 0.001$, respectively). The PANSS total score, PANSS-positive subscale, and the PANSS-negative subscale had statistically significant separation at every assessment throughout the trial. Following the positive results of our Phase 2 EMERGENT-1 trial, we had an End-of-Phase 2 meeting with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, or FDA, in which the FDA confirmed that our completed Phase 2 EMERGENT-1 trial, along with one successful Phase 3 efficacy and safety trial, and additional safety data to meet regulatory requirements, would be acceptable to support a New Drug Application, or NDA, filing in schizophrenia.

In addition to our completed positive Phase 2 EMERGENT-1 trial, our EMERGENT program includes two Phase 3 trials evaluating the efficacy and safety of KarXT compared to placebo (EMERGENT-2 and EMERGENT-3, which are similar in design to EMERGENT-1), and two Phase 3 trials evaluating the long-term safety of KarXT (EMERGENT-4 and EMERGENT-5). All Phase 3 trials within our EMERGENT program are currently enrolling, with details as follows:

- EMERGENT-2: A five-week inpatient trial evaluating the efficacy and safety of KarXT compared to placebo in 246 adults with schizophrenia in the U.S. Enrollment for this trial began in December 2020 and we anticipate reporting topline data in mid-2022.
- EMERGENT-3: A five-week inpatient trial evaluating the efficacy and safety of KarXT compared to placebo in 246 adults with schizophrenia in the U.S. and Ukraine. Enrollment for this trial began in the second quarter of 2021 and we anticipate reporting topline data in the second half of 2022.
- EMERGENT-4: A 52-week outpatient, open-label extension trial evaluating the long-term safety and tolerability of KarXT in 350 adults with schizophrenia who completed EMERGENT-2 or EMERGENT-3. Enrollment for this trial began in the first quarter of 2021.
- EMERGENT-5: A 52-week outpatient, open-label trial evaluating the long-term safety and tolerability of KarXT in up to 600 adults with schizophrenia in the U.S. and Puerto Rico who were not enrolled in EMERGENT-2 or EMERGENT-3. Enrollment for this trial began in the second quarter of 2021.

We plan to utilize the data from the EMERGENT clinical program to help guide future development plans for KarXT in negative and cognitive symptoms of schizophrenia, for which there are currently no approved treatments.

Given the unique mechanism of action of KarXT in comparison to existing standard of care therapies, we believe there is the potential for therapeutic benefit as both a monotherapy and as an adjunctive therapy for the treatment of schizophrenia. In November 2021, we initiated our Phase 3 ARISE trial evaluating the safety and efficacy of KarXT compared to placebo as an adjunctive treatment in adults with schizophrenia who have an inadequate response to their current antipsychotic therapy. This six-week, 1:1 randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled Phase 3 trial will enroll approximately 400 adults with schizophrenia who have not achieved an adequate response to their current atypical antipsychotic treatment. Upon completion of the trial at week 6, participants will have the opportunity to enroll in a 52-week outpatient, open-label extension trial evaluating the long-term safety and tolerability of KarXT when dosed with atypical antipsychotic treatment.

We are also developing KarXT as a potential treatment for DRP, with an initial focus on psychosis in AD. In June 2021 we announced results from our multi-cohort, placebo-controlled Phase 1b trial evaluating the safety and tolerability of KarXT in healthy elderly volunteers. Results from the trial suggest that potentially therapeutic doses of KarXT can be administered to elderly adults while maintaining a favorable tolerability profile, and support the advancement of KarXT into a Phase 3 program. Our initial focus on the AD dementia subtype reflects various strategic development, regulatory and commercial considerations, and we remain interested in exploring KarXT in other dementia subtypes in future development programs. We plan to share details of our Phase 3 program evaluating KarXT for the treatment of AD psychosis in the first half of 2022 prior to the program's initiation in mid-2022.

We have assembled a team whose members have extensive expertise in the research, development and commercialization of numerous CNS agents, as well as deep familiarity with the biology of neuropsychiatric disorders, such as schizophrenia and DRP, including the role of muscarinic receptors in potential treatment of these diseases. We plan to leverage this expertise to develop a pipeline of product candidates targeting a broad range of psychiatric and neurological conditions.

Our co-founder and Chief Operating Officer, Andrew Miller, Ph.D., was responsible for identifying, developing and testing the initial hypothesis supporting a combination of xanomeline and trospium. We have since assembled a team of employees and advisors who have expertise and extensive experience in developing psychiatric and neurological drugs, including several former scientists at Eli Lilly and Company, or Eli Lilly, who were actively involved in xanomeline's initial development. Steven Paul, M.D., our Chief Executive Officer, President and Chairman, was formerly the Executive Vice President for Science and Technology and President of the Lilly Research Laboratories at Eli Lilly, where he helped develop the antipsychotic drug Zyprexa and the antidepressant Cymbalta. Dr. Paul was the senior author of the initial publication evaluating xanomeline's effects in treating psychosis and agitation in patients with AD. Stephen Brannan, M.D., our Chief Medical Officer, was previously the Therapeutic Head of Neuroscience at Takeda Pharmaceutical Company Ltd. Alan Breier, M.D., our Chief Clinical Advisor and Chair of our Scientific Advisory Board, was previously Chief Medical Officer at Eli Lilly.

Pipeline

We are advancing a pipeline of therapeutic programs to address the positive, negative and cognitive symptoms associated with schizophrenia and DRP. We are leveraging our expertise and experience to explore the development of KarXT for additional CNS disorders, as well as advance our other muscarinic-targeted drug candidates and a target-agnostic drug discovery program through our collaboration with PsychoGenics, Inc.

Muscarinic Receptor Biology in the Nervous System

Neurotransmitters are chemical messengers secreted by neurons, or nerve cells, to facilitate information flow and communication with other cells, such as muscle or similar nerve cells, in both the central and peripheral nervous systems. As a result, stimulating or inhibiting neurotransmission can have a profound effect on the overall function of an organism. There are many identified neurotransmitters with a variety of structures and functions. One of the key neurotransmitters in the brain is acetylcholine, for which there are two different receptor classes: ion channel-gated nicotinic receptors, and G protein-coupled muscarinic receptors. Within the muscarinic receptor family, there are five subtypes, M1 through M5, all of which are expressed in the brain and in peripheral tissues.

Muscarinic receptors serve a number of key physiological roles including in cognitive, behavioral, sensory, motor and autonomic processes. Disruption of muscarinic receptor signaling is believed to contribute to psychosis and cognitive impairment in a wide variety of diseases, including schizophrenia and AD. Conversely, third-party preclinical and clinical data suggest that the enhancement of muscarinic receptor signaling leads to improvement in these same symptoms. M1 and M4 muscarinic receptors in particular have been reported to be under-expressed in the brains of patients with schizophrenia. In animal behavioral models, drug candidates that selectively stimulated M1 and M4 muscarinic receptors have demonstrated improvements in psychosis and cognition. Third-party clinical data suggest that stimulation of M1 and M4 muscarinic receptors may similarly be therapeutically beneficial for the treatment of patients with these symptoms. Conversely, inhibition of these receptors has been observed to disrupt memory and cognition, as well as to exacerbate psychosis in patients with schizophrenia.

The stimulation of muscarinic receptors in peripheral tissues can have significant physiological consequences. In peripheral tissues, such as the gastrointestinal and genitourinary tracts, and salivary and sweat glands, M2 and M3 muscarinic receptors are prominently expressed and have specialized functions. In the gastrointestinal tract, muscarinic receptors play a significant role in regulating gastrointestinal motility. Dosing with agonists that stimulate these muscarinic receptors can lead to diarrhea and increased motility, while dosing with muscarinic antagonists can lead to constipation and decreased motility. In the bladder, stimulation or inhibition of muscarinic receptors modulates bladder contraction leading to increases or decreases in urinary frequency, respectively. Similarly, stimulation of muscarinic receptors in salivary glands and sweat glands can lead to increased salivation and sweating, respectively.

Background and Rationale for KarXT

We have designed our lead product candidate, KarXT, to preferentially stimulate M1 and M4 receptors in the brain, without stimulating muscarinic receptors in peripheral tissues outside the CNS. We assessed the potential of over 7,000 possible combinations of muscarinic receptor agonists and antagonists to find an optimized combination that could preferentially stimulate muscarinic receptors in the CNS to improve the symptoms of psychosis, while avoiding stimulation of muscarinic receptors in the peripheral tissues and the associated side effects. As a result of our research, we identified xanomeline and trospium as the most promising pairing for development. Trospium is a potent and effective muscarinic receptor antagonist that does not measurably cross the blood-brain barrier, confining its effects to peripheral tissues. We believe that the combination of xanomeline, a centrally-acting muscarinic agonist, and trospium, a peripherally-acting muscarinic antagonist, will have the therapeutic benefits of xanomeline but with markedly reduced side effects. Based on our clinical data with KarXT, either co-administered or co-formulated, and clinical data of xanomeline published by third parties, we believe that KarXT has potential therapeutic benefit in multiple CNS disorders, including the treatment of the positive, negative and cognitive symptoms of schizophrenia, psychosis and agitation associated with dementia, including AD.

Xanomeline Background

Xanomeline as a treatment for psychosis and related neuropsychiatric disorders has been examined in clinical trials enrolling over 1,000 subjects or patients conducted by us and third parties, with 68 patients being dosed for at least one year and a maximum treatment duration of almost four years. We believe that the results from these clinical trials, as well as results from numerous preclinical studies, supports the further development of xanomeline, in the form of KarXT, as an antipsychotic and procognitive therapeutic agent.

Xanomeline for the Treatment of Psychotic Symptoms and Agitation in AD

Eli Lilly conducted a 343-patient, randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled Phase 2 clinical trial of xanomeline in patients with mild to moderate AD, administering up to 225 mg of xanomeline daily (75 mg three times a day, or TID), for 24 weeks. In this clinical trial, 87 patients received placebo, while 85, 83 and 87 patients received 75-150-225 mg of xanomeline, respectively. One patient who entered the trial was assigned to a group but never received study drug or placebo. As shown in the figure below, patients on xanomeline were observed to have dose-dependent decreases in multiple psychotic symptoms and related behaviors, including hallucinations, delusions and agitation, as compared to patients on placebo. For instance, one of the 17 patients (6%) in the placebo arm who presented with hallucinations at baseline had a remission of symptoms while receiving treatment, compared to nine of the 17 patients (53%) in the high-dose xanomeline arm ($p=0.003$). These responses were seen as early as two to three weeks after commencement of dosing with xanomeline. Xanomeline was also observed to reduce the emergence of psychotic symptoms over the course of the six-month trial in patients who did not have psychotic symptoms at the initiation of the trial. For example, 32% of patients in the placebo arm developed delusions during the trial compared to only 7% in the high-dose xanomeline treatment arm ($p=0.001$). A dose-response analysis across the 75-150-225 mg xanomeline dose levels reported increasing effects of xanomeline for several symptoms ($P<0.05$), suggesting that exploration of xanomeline doses above 75 mg TID has the potential for additional therapeutic benefits.

In this same trial, cognitive symptoms of patients with AD treated with xanomeline also showed improvements compared to placebo as measured by both the ADAS-Cog and the CIBIC+, suggesting that xanomeline may also improve cognition. The Alzheimer's Disease Assessment Scale-Cognitive Subscale, or ADAS-Cog, is one of the most frequently used tests to measure cognition while the Clinician Interview-Based Impression of Change plus caregiver interview, or CIBIC+, examines disease severity and changes in behavior, cognition and overall function on a scale of 1 to 7, where 1 means markedly improved and 7 means markedly worse. There were high rates of patient discontinuation in the mid-dose (48%) and high-dose (59%) xanomeline cohorts driven in part by side effects, compared to discontinuation rates of 35% and 19% for the placebo and low-dose xanomeline groups, respectively. This high discontinuation rate led to a substantial reduction of statistical power in this trial. Despite this reduction in statistical power, patients in the mid-dose cohort showed a statistically significant benefit on the CIBIC+ as compared to placebo ($p=0.02$, 4.11 vs. 4.34, respectively). An analysis of patients who completed the trial identified a mean benefit of 2.84 units on the ADAS-Cog for the 225 mg xanomeline arm over placebo ($p<0.05$), which is similar to the effect seen with donepezil, an approved treatment for the cognitive impairment associated with AD.

Xanomeline for the Treatment of Psychotic Symptoms in Schizophrenia

A randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled, Phase 2 trial of xanomeline was conducted in 20 patients with schizophrenia with acute psychosis, as a collaboration between Eli Lilly and the Indiana University School of Medicine. This monotherapy trial used the PANSS as a primary endpoint. The PANSS is a set of measurements used for evaluating symptom severity in patients with schizophrenia and the change in PANSS score has been used as the primary endpoint in many registrational trials of antipsychotic medicines. As depicted in the figure below, a clinically meaningful and statistically significant 24-point PANSS score difference was observed between xanomeline and placebo after 18 days of treatment, which was the pre-specified analysis time point. By comparison, meta-analyses of published clinical trials of currently approved antipsychotic medicines report an average difference of nine to ten points in PANSS score versus placebo. Historically, changes as small as five points have supported the approval of current antipsychotics. While this xanomeline trial was designed primarily to evaluate changes in positive symptoms, a six-point improvement in negative symptoms, as measured by the PANSS-negative subscale, was also observed in patients treated with xanomeline as compared to placebo. Improvements in cognitive symptoms, including list learning ($p<0.05$), story recall ($p<0.01$), delayed memory ($p<0.05$) and digit span tests were also observed in patients treated with xanomeline as compared to placebo.

Effects of Xanomeline on Cognition in Patients with Schizophrenia

Limitations of Xanomeline

Despite xanomeline's promising therapeutic benefit in treating psychosis and related behavioral symptoms in patients with schizophrenia and AD, its potential has been limited by cholinergic side effects, which are believed to result from the stimulation of muscarinic receptors in peripheral tissues. These side effects led to a 59% dropout rate in the high-dose xanomeline group compared to 35% on placebo in Eli Lilly's six-month AD trial. Syncope, which is a temporary loss of consciousness, was observed in the AD trial (12.6% on high dose xanomeline versus 4.6% on placebo), but not in the schizophrenia trial, in which patients are generally much younger than patients in the AD trial and therefore less prone to syncope. Xanomeline treatment was also associated with transient increases in heart rate and liver function tests, both of which returned to baseline with continued treatment. Electrocardiograms showed no meaningful changes in cardiac conductivity, including QTc interval.

Our KarXT Programs

We specifically designed KarXT, a proprietary combination of xanomeline and trospium, to unlock the therapeutic potential of xanomeline by overcoming its limiting side effects resulting from the stimulation of muscarinic receptors in peripheral tissues. We initially selected xanomeline based on the results of the two third-party, randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled clinical trials, as well as the results of a wide variety of preclinical studies conducted by third parties, which supported the further development of xanomeline, in the form of KarXT, as an antipsychotic and procognitive therapeutic agent. We selected trospium to counteract xanomeline's undesirable peripheral side effects for a number of reasons, but importantly because trospium does not measurably cross the blood-brain barrier and therefore would not be expected to negate the therapeutic benefits of xanomeline in the CNS. Trospium is generically available in the United States and European Union for the treatment of overactive bladder and is well-tolerated with limited side effects, that include dry mouth and constipation. Since xanomeline and trospium compete for the same muscarinic receptors in peripheral tissues, but with opposing effects, we believe their combination has the potential to reduce the cholinergic side effects of xanomeline. We believe that there are no overlaps in the drug metabolism pathways of xanomeline and trospium and therefore we do not anticipate any significant adverse drug-drug interactions with the combination. Our Phase 1 and Phase 2 clinical trial data suggests that each of xanomeline and trospium do not affect the other's pharmacokinetics or systemic exposure.

We believe that the novel mechanism of KarXT has the potential to provide meaningfully better outcomes for patients suffering from schizophrenia and other neuropsychiatric conditions without the debilitating side effects of current D2 dopamine receptor-based therapies, including sedation, extrapyramidal side effects, such as motor rigidity, tremors and slurred speech, and significant weight gain resulting in the complications of diabetes, hyperlipidemia, hypertension and cardiovascular disease. We obtained an exclusive license to xanomeline from Eli Lilly along with a large database of preclinical and clinical data generated by Eli Lilly supporting xanomeline's development. Our team of employees and advisors includes several former scientists at Eli Lilly who were actively involved in xanomeline's preclinical and clinical development to help us advance the development of KarXT.

Proof of Concept of KarXT

Phase 1 Clinical Trials

We observed KarXT's ability to ameliorate the side effects of xanomeline in our randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled, Phase 1 clinical trial in 70 healthy volunteers conducted under our investigational NDA. In this trial, we compared the tolerability profile and pharmacokinetics of xanomeline administered with placebo against KarXT co-administered as xanomeline in combination with trospium. Volunteers in this trial first received 40 mg (20 mg twice a day, or BID) of either trospium or placebo for two days, and then received 225 mg of xanomeline (75 mg TID) in addition to their existing regimen of trospium or placebo for seven days. We selected the 225-mg (75 mg TID) dose for evaluation in our trial due to the results of this dose in Eli Lilly's schizophrenia and AD trials of xanomeline. As depicted in the table below, we observed that the addition of trospium to xanomeline was associated with clinically meaningful reductions in the rate of the most common treatment-emergent cholinergic adverse events, or ChAEs, than reported with xanomeline plus placebo, including nausea, vomiting, diarrhea and excess sweating and salivation. The overall ChAE rate was 64% on xanomeline plus placebo compared to 34% on KarXT ($p=0.016$). The rate of ChAEs for volunteers receiving KarXT (34%) was similar to the rate observed in volunteers receiving placebo during the lead-in period (32%), suggesting that the tolerability of KarXT was more similar to the placebo lead-in period than to treatment with xanomeline plus placebo.

ChAE Incidence Rates	Xanomeline+ placebo N=33	KarXT N=35	% Reduction in Incidence Rates
Any Cholinergic AE ($p=0.016$)	64%	34%	46%
Nausea	24%	17%	29%
Vomiting	15%	6%	62%
Diarrhea	21%	6%	73%
Sweating	49%	20%	59%
Salivation	36%	26%	29%

We observed no meaningful differences between the KarXT and xanomeline plus placebo treatment groups in heart rate, blood pressure or any electrocardiogram parameters. Only one volunteer discontinued treatment due to treatment emergent adverse events in the KarXT arm, and this discontinuation was voluntary, not at the discretion of the investigator. Two episodes of syncope were observed on xanomeline plus placebo while none were observed with KarXT. We did not observe syncope in the KarXT arm of this trial (or in any other subject treated with KarXT in any of our trials, representing over 140 patients). Rates of postural dizziness were reduced by approximately 57% in patients treated with KarXT as compared to patients treated with xanomeline plus placebo. Overall, we considered treatment with xanomeline 225 mg combined with trospium 40 mg administered over seven days to be well-tolerated.

Phase 1 Multiple Ascending Dose Clinical Trial

We have also completed a randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled multiple ascending dose Phase 1 clinical trial of KarXT. This trial evaluated BID dosing of our proprietary KarXT co-formulation containing fixed ratios of xanomeline and trospium, rather than the TID dosing previously used with xanomeline. We designed our Phase 1 clinical trial based on the improved tolerability of KarXT over xanomeline plus placebo observed in our prior Phase 1 clinical trial and the dose-dependent clinical activity observed in the Eli Lilly AD trial of xanomeline. In particular, Eli Lilly observed that the antipsychotic effect of xanomeline improved when the dose was increased from 25 mg to 50 mg to 75 mg, all administered TID, suggesting that the dose response may extend beyond 75 mg TID and that doses of xanomeline higher than 75 mg TID may lead to additional therapeutic benefit. Based on these observations, we set out to (i) test our co-formulation using BID dosing, (ii) explore higher doses of xanomeline and (iii) optimize the ratio of xanomeline and trospium. Healthy volunteers enrolled in this trial received 50 mg of xanomeline plus 20 mg of trospium (50/20 mg) both BID, on days one and two. From days three to seven, volunteers received BID doses of xanomeline and trospium in ratios of either 100/20 mg, 125/40 mg, 150/20 mg or 150/40 mg (xanomeline/trospium) in different dosing cohorts. The trial was designed to randomize up to 24 volunteers in each of the four cohorts, with a 3:1 randomization of KarXT to placebo.

In this trial, administration of KarXT co-formulation provided robust xanomeline and trospium exposures as measured by plasma levels. In particular, KarXT containing xanomeline 100 mg BID provided drug exposures equivalent to, or higher than, 75 mg of xanomeline TID when administered alone. KarXT was also well-tolerated in volunteers at dose levels of 100 mg and 125 mg of xanomeline BID when paired with 20 mg and 40 mg of trospium, respectively.

Eighteen volunteers received KarXT in the 100/20 mg cohort. In this group, 16 volunteers experienced either no ChAEs (n=11; 61%) or mild, transient ChAEs (n=5; 28%). The majority of ChAEs were reported for less than one hour over the seven days of treatment and the longest duration reported was a total of 15 hours over the course of treatment. Two volunteers (11%) experienced transient ChAEs that were rated as moderate, with the longest ChAE lasting a total of approximately 11 hours over the course of treatment. Given the transient and generally mild nature of the ChAEs, we considered the 100/20 mg dose level of KarXT well tolerated. Eighteen volunteers were given the 125/40 mg dose level of KarXT, of which 11 volunteers (61%) reported no ChAEs and seven volunteers (39%) reported mild, transient ChAEs. These mild ChAEs lasted less than three hours over the course of the seven-day treatment period. The increased dose of trospium (40 mg BID) was associated with reports of mild anticholinergic adverse events, including dry mouth, constipation, blurred vision and urinary hesitancy, suggesting a decreased trospium dose level may be more appropriate to pair with 125 mg BID of xanomeline. Xanomeline doses of 150 mg in KarXT led to increased reporting of moderate ChAEs and were therefore less well-tolerated than either the 100 or 125 mg xanomeline doses.

In this Phase 1 clinical trial, we observed that KarXT doses containing either 100 mg or 125 mg of xanomeline administered BID were well-tolerated when paired with trospium. Importantly, the 100 mg BID dose level administered in our co-formulation provided blood exposures equal to or greater than those observed by us and Eli Lilly with 75 mg TID xanomeline, which was observed to have beneficial effects on psychosis and cognition in both schizophrenia and AD. While a minority of patients still experienced ChAEs, these were predominately mild and transient in nature. We believe this tolerability profile has the potential to provide a substantial improvement over current antipsychotic medicines, which are often not tested at therapeutic doses in healthy volunteers due to their poor tolerability. Based on the results of this trial, we identified 100/20 mg and 125/30 mg BID as the doses and ratios of xanomeline to trospium to evaluate in our Phase 2 clinical trial of KarXT for acute psychosis in patients with schizophrenia.

We submitted an Investigational New Drug, or IND, application to the FDA for KarXT for the treatment of schizophrenia which went into effect in August 2016.

RE: Corrected Application History
Apostrophe Pharmacy, LLC – Gilbert, AZ
Nevada Pharmacy License No.: PH04071

Dear Mr. Wuest:

Please be advised that this letter provides notice of a recently discovered application denial for Apostrophe Pharmacy, LLC (“Apostrophe”).

Apostrophe is in the process of completing a parent-level ownership change and updating its officers. Effective October 10, 2023, the new owner of Apostrophe will be Apostrophe Pharmacy Holdings, Inc. The transaction has revealed a previously undisclosed application denial.

In 2019, Apostrophe began the process of seeking a nonresident pharmacy license in Utah. Apostrophe Pharmacy received notice from the Utah Board of Pharmacy on March 01, 2019, that the initial application was incomplete, due to missing business registration paperwork. Utah requires applications to be created on an online portal, so the application was paused, and the draft was saved while the pharmacy worked on obtaining the required additional information. When the pharmacy staff returned to complete the application, too much time had elapsed and the application draft expired. Though this was simply administrative in nature and not based on any adverse findings or adverse actions, Utah classified the application as “denied” because Utah does not differentiate between abandoned or incomplete applications in the portal and applications that have been completed and denied for a substantive reason.

Unfortunately, the pharmacy did not realize the incomplete application would be labeled a "denial." This was recently discovered when preparing ownership change materials for Utah. The denial classification is being reported out of an abundance of caution.

Please do not hesitate to contact me via email at luke@apostrophe.com or via telephone at (480) 466-6718 if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Luke Wright

Recommendations / Comments
The minimum required equipment for a retail pharmacy is located in the new pharmacy with the exception of a sink with hot and cold running water is not in the prescription department. The PIC states the sink will be installed in approximately 2 weeks. PIC to send proof of sink installed before inspection can be processed. The new pharmacy provides sufficient space and meets minimum floor space requirements. The new pharmacy meets the minimum security requirements allowing it to be closed and locked to prevent unauthorized entry. Discussed upcoming USP 795 and USP 800 revisions and compliance requirements and BOP Rule 480-48 Delivery by Mail requirements. *Recommend approval once sink installed and proof in working order. Email to: richard.white@gdna.ga.gov This inspection report has been read and explained to the pharmacist whose name appears below. Explanations include any observed violations, deficiencies, or comments, and such are based on state/federal laws and rules pertaining to the practice of pharmacy in the State of Georgia. I do affirm the information I have given pursuant to this inspection is true and correct to the best of my knowledge. This inspection report is not intended to be all inclusive, and there may be deficiencies, non-compliance, or violations of the laws and rules not detected and noted in this report.

To Whom it may concern –

I, Kenneth J. Bressers, have completed my requirements to obtain a high school diploma as May 1st 2003. Due to the fact I was incarcerated in 2001 shortly after my senior year of high school, I was not able to complete my high school education credit requirements in a timely manner. While incarcerated I did not have access to the adequate educational material to obtain a traditional high school diploma. My only option at that time was to complete my HSED requirements while incarcerated or wait until my sentence was complete and earn my traditional high school diploma via mail in classes (long before virtual options were available). I was able to do so and received a full high school diploma from Omro High School on May 1st 2003.

I hope this answers any questions that may arise from the fact my last year of high school was in 2001 but my diploma date is 2003. I am happy to discuss any aspects of this time in my life and am available to answers any questions you may have.

Sincerely,

Personal Statement

Shortly after Christmas, when I was 18 years old, I was pulled over by a police officer while driving to Omro to visit my father and some friends in the area. At this time in my life, I had made the poor decision to experiment with occasional social marijuana use, especially with high school friends at the time when this was unfortunately the "thing to do." The officer spotted my bag of marijuana in the car. I was arrested and pled guilty to two misdemeanor charges of THC possession.

I was sentenced to drug and alcohol rehab, which I successfully completed. I also completed five months of Huber Work Release. I was then released after two and a half years of a three-year probation sentence for good behavior.

I am now 41 years old and have had no further incidents. I do drink alcohol socially but do not use any illegal drugs.

It is important to me for you to know that I am extremely remorseful for my past actions and although I have been determined to not be defined by these mistakes, I still experience much personal regret and embarrassment.

I am currently the 100% shareholder of Schultz Pharmacy, Inc DBA Advanced Care Pharmacy of Omro, a closed-door, long term care pharmacy in Omro, WI (WI Pharmacy License 9509-42).

RE: BRESSERS, KENNETH

DOB: [REDACTED]

Dear Mr. Jackelen:

This letter is intended to serve as verification that Mr. Kenneth Bressers is currently receiving AODA treatment at Cedar Creek Counseling Center, Hales Corners, Wisconsin. I conducted Mr. Kenneth Bressers's initial assessment on January 16, 2001. As a result of my assessment, Mr. Kenneth Bressers received a diagnosis of cannabis abuse. He was referred into our primary treatment program, which consists of both individual and group therapy sessions, as well as random urinalysis. A comprehensive and individualized treatment plan will be established. He may also be referred to our medical director/addictionologist, Dr. Michael Deeken for an additional evaluation.

I would like to add at this point that Mr. Kenneth Bressers has been very cooperative and appears to have a good attitude towards his treatment. He does appear to recognize the need to deal with his cannabis abuse and other related issues. Although a prognosis at this point would be premature, I do expect a positive outcome in this case. If I can be of any further assistance in this matter, please feel free to call me at 427-4884.

Sincerely,

Dennis K. Shirk, CADC III

DOB: [REDACTED]

Defendant,

Criminal Complaint

Steve Braun, of the Slinger Police Department, being first duly sworn, states that:

Count 1: POSSESSION WITH INTENT TO DELIVER TETRAHYDROCANNABINOLS (THC)

The above-named defendant on January 05, 2001, in the Village of Slinger, Washington County, Wisconsin, did possess with intent to deliver a controlled substance, to-wit: Tetrahydrocannabinols (THC), in an amount of not more than 500 grams or 10 plants, contrary to sec. 961.41(1m)(h)1 Wis. Stats., a Felony, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than Five Hundred Dollars ($500) nor more than Twenty Five Thousand Dollars ($25,000) and may be imprisoned for not more than four and a half (4.5) years.

PROBABLE CAUSE:

Complainant prays that said defendant be dealt with according to law. The basis for the complainant's charge of such offense is he is Chief of the Village of Slinger Department and bases his information upon review of the official police report of Officer Richard Cohn of the Village of Slinger Police Department who states that on January 5, 2001, he stopped a vehicle being driven by Kenneth J. Bressers, the defendant herein, on USH 41 in the area of CTH K in the Village of Slinger, Washington County, Wisconsin. Said officer states further that in defendant's vehicle said officer found 96 grams of a green leafy vegetable material which in said officer's training and experience he believed to be marijuana, that subsequently said officer had the opportunity to test said substance using the kit and procedures as prescribed by the State of Wisconsin Crime Laboratory, that the results of the test administered to said substance were positive for the presence of tetrahydrocannabinols, a controlled substance under Sec. 961.14(4)(t), Wis. Stats., and that in said officer's training and experience 96 grams of marijuana, approximately one quarter pound, is not an amount which is consistent with personal use.

Based on the foregoing, the complainant believes this complaint to be true and correct.

Provide explanation below:

This situation happened during 2022 which was one of the hardest years of my life I was going through a break off engagement of a very toxic and abusive relationship and mourning the loss of a grandparent while being all the way across the country away from my family my support circle was very small at the time so I went into a depression and was struggling everyday being in the state I wasn't fully myself and aware of everything I was doing. I was apart of a council through the base called Airmen's Council. I was elected as president and was on the council for 2 years. The council is supposed to be for all the airmen on base where we would hold events for them to bring everyone together and give them a good resource to be able to go to. For the council we had a bank associated with the council. Since I was the president my name was on the card and was exactly identical to the other personal checking bank card I had for myself. They were from the bank Navy Federal and ~~where~~ was the color red with my name imprinted on it just like my 2 other cards. In total I had 3 of the cards / 2 personal of mine I cancelled. I'm constantly making different transactions, at the time I was also a landlord and owned my house. I had many bill I was paying and different transactions from rent from my tenants. I had accidentally used that card on a couple of instances due to negligence, I had caught my mistake and make sure I informed everyone that I would be fixing everything and taking care of the situation. Someone then decided to escalate it up to higher authorities where it started a whole case I went through this for a couple of months and had a really great lawyer who helped me so much. Through the months I kept writing statements with my lawyer about what had happened. It got to a point my leadership didn't believe me and my lawyer gave me the option to get out and I would just have to be demoted and get other than honorable discharge. I did not get dishonorable or bad conduct based off my history and how well I did in the military. I got the help I needed and turned my whole life around and finished school with high honors and passed my national exam.

NOTICE OF INTENDED ACTION
AND ACCUSATION

J. David Wuest, in his official capacity as Executive Secretary of the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy files the following document that will serve as both a notice of intended action under NRS 233B.127(3) and an accusation under NRS 622A.300(1) and NRS 639.241.

JURISDICTION

1. The Nevada State Board of Pharmacy (“Board”) has personal jurisdiction over Respondent Thuytrang Huynh (“Respondent Huynh”), because Respondent Huynh holds a certificate of registration issued by the Board pursuant to NRS 639.127, authorizing her to engage in the practice of pharmacy in the state of Nevada.

2. The Board has personal jurisdiction over Respondent Michael Willson (“Respondent Willson”), because Respondent Willson holds a certificate of registration issued by the Board pursuant to NRS 639.127, authorizing him to engage in the practice of pharmacy in the state of Nevada.

3. The Board has personal jurisdiction over Respondent CVS Pharmacy #8819 (“Respondent CVS”), because Respondent CVS holds a license issued by the Board pursuant to NRS

639.230, authorizing the operation of a pharmacy located at 4800 W. Charleston Blvd., Las Vegas Nevada.

4. The Board has jurisdiction over the subject matter of this accusation because, at the time of the violations alleged herein, Respondents Huynh and Willson were Nevada-registered pharmacists engaged in the practice of pharmacy at a business location operated by Respondent CVS in Las Vegas, Nevada.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

5. In February 2019, Respondents Huynh and Willson were registered pharmacists employed by Respondent CVS at its pharmacy on West Charleston Boulevard in Las Vegas, Nevada.

6. On February 19, 2019, while on duty at the pharmacy location on West Charleston Boulevard, Respondent Huynh filled prescriptions for patient J.Z. ("J.Z."). Following abdominal surgery, J.Z.'s physician, Dr. Mustafa Ahmed, M.D., had written three prescriptions for J.Z.: one for hydrocodone-acetaminophen, another for ondansetron ODT, and a third for metoprolol tartrate.

7. Pharmacy Technician Raul Duarte (PT Duarte) transferred the prescription information for J.Z. into Respondent CVS's drug utilization review (DUR) system. J.Z.'s prescriptions were assigned prescription nos. 827096 (hydrocodone-acetaminophen), 827097 (ondansetron ODT), and 827098 (metoprolol tartrate).

8. In performing the data entry, PT Duarte mistakenly attributed a fourth prescription to J.Z. This fourth prescription for "magic mouthwash" was written by Dr. Joseph Lasky, M.D., for patient J.C., not J.Z. The fourth prescription instructed J.C., an oncology patient, to rinse his mouth with an oral solution consisting of lidocaine, diphenhydramine, and antacid (hereinafter "magic mouthwash"). This fourth prescription was assigned prescription no. 827099.

9. As Respondent Huynh attempted to fill prescription nos. 827096, 827097, 827098, and 827099, the DUR system signaled an alert for prescription 827099, indicating that the magic mouthwash would interact negatively with the other medications that J.Z. was taking. Respondent Huynh instructed PT Duarte to perform the data entry again.

10. In performing data entry for the second time, PT Duarte once again attributed prescription no. 827099 for magic mouthwash to J.Z., as opposed to J.C. The DUR system once again signaled the drug-interaction alert for prescription 827099. This time, Respondent Huynh overrode the alert and filled prescription no. 827099, along with prescription nos. 827096, 827097, and 827098. Each was labeled with instructions for use by J.Z.

11. On the afternoon of February 19, 2019, J.Z.'s mother left the pharmacy with each of the four drugs that corresponded to prescription nos. 827096, 827097, and 827098 and 827099. According to J.Z.'s mother, J.Z. used each of the drugs, including the magic mouthwash, according to the instructions on the labels. J.Z.'s mother stated that J.Z. used the magic mouthwash for 3 days before realizing that it had not been prescribed for him.

12. On the afternoon of February 19, 2019, Respondent Willson was the pharmacist in charge of the pharmacy when J.Z.'s mother picked up J.Z.'s prescriptions. Respondent Willson was responsible for counseling J.Z.'s mother and/or for insuring that she was properly counseled. J.Z.'s mother stated that nobody offered her counseling or asked her whether she had questions about J.Z.'s prescriptions.

13. Prescription nos. 827097 (ondansetron ODT) and 827098 (metoprolol tartrate) were new prescriptions for J.Z. As noted above, prescription no. 827099 (magic mouthwash) was mistakenly dispensed to J.Z.'s mother with instructions for use by J.Z. Respondent CVS's records indicate that counseling was provided for prescription no. 827098. Respondent CVS was unable to produce records of counseling for prescription nos. 827097 and 827099. Respondent Willson stated that he had no recollection of the transactions in question.

14. On February 28, 2019, J.Z.'s attorney, Dan Laird, filed a complaint with the Board stating that J.Z.'s use of the magic mouthwash caused J.Z. to "experience severe spasm of his stomach against fresh suture lines causing severe pain." Mr. Laird also stated that J.Z. had suffered from nausea and extensive gagging.

APPLICABLE LAW

15. The Board may revoke or suspend the registration of any pharmacist who has been guilty of unprofessional conduct or conduct contrary to the public interest. NRS 639.210(4). Likewise, the Board may revoke or suspend the registration of any pharmacist who has violated any provision of Nevada law relating to prescription drugs. NRS 639.210(12). In lieu of revoking or suspending a pharmacist's registration, the Board may impose fines as a disciplinary measure. NRS 639.255; NAC 639.955.

16. A pharmacist's conduct is deemed unprofessional if the pharmacist fails to strictly follow the instructions of the person writing, making, or ordering a prescription as to its filling or refilling. NAC 639.945(1)(d). Additionally, a pharmacist's conduct is deemed unprofessional if the pharmacist fails to confer with the person writing, making, or ordering a prescription if there is an error or omission in it which should be questioned. NAC 639.945(1)(e). Finally, a pharmacist's conduct is deemed unprofessional if the pharmacist performs his or her duties in an incompetent, unskillful or negligent manner. NAC 639.945(1)(i).

17. Unless otherwise provided by law, a pharmacist must verbally provide a patient or a person caring for the patient with information about each prescription drug or device dispensed to the patient. Failure to provide appropriate counseling to the patient constitutes a violation of NRS 639.707(1). Pursuant to NRS 639.210(12), the Board may discipline a pharmacist who violates NRS 639.707(1).

18. Pursuant to NAC 639.707(6), a pharmacist or intern pharmacist shall, at the time that counseling is provided or refused, initial a written document that is maintained at the pharmacy to record whether counseling was provided to or refused by a patient or the person caring for the patient. Pursuant to NRS 639.210(12), the Board may discipline a pharmacist who violates NAC 639.707(6).

19. Pursuant to NAC 639.708, a pharmacy must maintain any record made by the pharmacist regarding counseling. Pursuant to NRS 639.210(12), the Board may discipline a pharmacy that violates NAC 639.708.

20. Pursuant to NRS 639.230(5), NAC 639.702 and NAC 639.945(2), pharmacies, pharmacy managers, and/or pharmacists are responsible for the acts and omissions of the pharmacy workers under their supervision and/or in their employ.

COUNT ONE

Unprofessional Conduct by a Pharmacist

21. On or about February 19, 2019, Respondent Huynh caused magic mouthwash to be dispensed to J.Z. even though she knew or should have known that J.Z.'s physician had not prescribed magic mouthwash for J.Z.

22. Respondent Huynh's conduct as alleged above was unprofessional because she failed to strictly follow the instructions of J.Z.'s physician regarding the three drugs that were prescribed for J.Z., allowing a fourth drug to be added to the order even though that drug did not appear on the physician's prescription. NAC 639.945(1)(d).

23. Respondent Huynh's conduct as alleged above was unprofessional because she failed to confer with J.Z.'s physician after having been alerted to potentially dangerous drug interactions between magic mouthwash and the other drugs that J.Z. was taking. NAC 639.945(1)(e).

24. Respondent Huynh's conduct as alleged above was unprofessional because she performed her duties in an incompetent, unskillful or negligent manner by failing to compare J.Z.'s physical prescription, as written by his physician, with the prescription information that PT Duarte incorrectly entered into the pharmacy's prescription management system. NAC 639.945(1)(i).

25. Respondent Huynh's unprofessional conduct caused harm to J.Z.

26. For any of the instances of unprofessional conduct as alleged above, the Board may discipline Respondent Huynh pursuant to NRS 639.210(4), NRS 639.255(1), NAC 639.945, and NAC 639.955.

27. As the owner/operator of the pharmacy at which Respondent Huynh worked, Respondent CVS is liable for Respondent Huynh's unprofessional conduct. Accordingly, the Board may discipline Respondent CVS pursuant to NRS 639.210(4), NRS 639.230(5), NRS 639.255(1), NAC 639.945, and NAC 639.955.

COUNT TWO

Failure by Pharmacist to Comply with Applicable Law

28. On or about February 19, 2019, Respondent Willson was the pharmacist on duty responsible for counseling J.Z.'s mother when she arrived at CVS Pharmacy to pick up J.Z.'s prescriptions. By neglecting to counsel J.Z.'s mother before she left the pharmacy with an incorrectly dispensed prescription for magic mouthwash, Respondent Willson violated the provisions NRS 639.707(1).

29. Had Respondent Willson properly counseled J.Z.'s mother, the counseling would potentially have alerted J.Z.'s mother that she had been given the wrong drug.

30. Based on the foregoing, the Board may discipline Respondent Willson pursuant to NRS 639.210(12), NRS 639.255(1), and NAC 639.955.

31. As the owner/operator of the pharmacy at which Respondent Willson worked, Respondent CVS is liable for Respondent Willson's conduct as described above. Accordingly, the Board may discipline Respondent CVS pursuant to NRS 639.210(12), NRS 639.230(5), NRS 639.255(1), and NAC 639.955.

COUNT THREE

Violation by a Pharmacist of Applicable Law

32. On or about February 19, 2019, Respondent Willson was the pharmacist on duty responsible for counseling J.Z.'s mother when she arrived at CVS Pharmacy to pick up J.Z.'s prescriptions.

33. Respondent did not make a record as to whether counseling was provided to or refused by J.Z.'s mother.

34. By failing to make a record of counseling as alleged above, Respondent Willson violated NAC 639.707(6).

35. Based on the foregoing, Respondent Willson may be disciplined pursuant to NRS 639.210(12), NRS 639.255(1), and NAC 639.955.

COUNT FOUR
Violation by a Pharmacy of Applicable Law

36. On or about February 19, 2019, Respondent Willson was the pharmacist on duty responsible for counseling J.Z.'s mother when she arrived at CVS Pharmacy to pick up J.Z.'s prescriptions.

37. As an alternative to the allegations stated in Count Three above, assuming Respondent Willson made a record as to whether counseling was provided to or refused by J.Z.'s mother, Respondent CVS did not maintain that record as required by NAC 639.708.

38. By failing to maintain a record of counseling as alleged above, Respondent CVS violated NAC 639.708.

39. Based on the foregoing, Respondent CVS may be disciplined pursuant to NRS 639.230(5), NRS 639.210(12), NRS 639.255(1), and NAC 639.955.

WHEREFORE it is requested that the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy take appropriate disciplinary action with respect to the certificates of registration of Respondents Huynh and Willson and the pharmacy license of Respondent CVS.

DATED this 17th day of NOVEMBER 2023.

NOTICE OF INTENDED ACTION
AND ACCUSATION

J. David Wuest, in his official capacity as Executive Secretary of the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy files the following document that will serve as both a notice of intended action under NRS 233B.127(3) and an accusation under NRS 622A.300(1) and NRS 639.241.

JURISDICTION

1. The Nevada State Board of Pharmacy ("Board") has personal jurisdiction over Respondent Thuytrang Huynh ("Respondent Huynh"), because Respondent Huynh holds a certificate of registration issued by the Board pursuant to NRS 639.127, authorizing her to engage in the practice of pharmacy in the state of Nevada.

2. The Board has personal jurisdiction over Respondent Michael Willson ("Respondent Willson"), because Respondent Willson holds a certificate of registration issued by the Board pursuant to NRS 639.127, authorizing him to engage in the practice of pharmacy in the state of Nevada.

3. The Board has personal jurisdiction over Respondent CVS Pharmacy #8819 ("Respondent CVS"), because Respondent CVS holds a license issued by the Board pursuant to NRS

639.230, authorizing the operation of a pharmacy located at 4800 W. Charleston Blvd., Las Vegas Nevada.

4. The Board has jurisdiction over the subject matter of this accusation because, at the time of the violations alleged herein, Respondents Huynh and Willson were Nevada-registered pharmacists engaged in the practice of pharmacy at a business location operated by Respondent CVS in Las Vegas, Nevada.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

5. In February 2019, Respondents Huynh and Willson were registered pharmacists employed by Respondent CVS at its pharmacy on West Charleston Boulevard in Las Vegas, Nevada.

6. On February 19, 2019, while on duty at the pharmacy location on West Charleston Boulevard, Respondent Huynh filled prescriptions for patient J.Z. ("J.Z."). Following abdominal surgery, J.Z.'s physician, Dr. Mustafa Ahmed, M.D., had written three prescriptions for J.Z.: one for hydrocodone-acetaminophen, another for ondansetron ODT, and a third for metoprolol tartrate.

7. Pharmacy Technician Raul Duarte (PT Duarte) transferred the prescription information for J.Z. into Respondent CVS's drug utilization review (DUR) system. J.Z.'s prescriptions were assigned prescription nos. 827096 (hydrocodone-acetaminophen), 827097 (ondansetron ODT), and 827098 (metoprolol tartrate).

8. In performing the data entry, PT Duarte mistakenly attributed a fourth prescription to J.Z. This fourth prescription for "magic mouthwash" was written by Dr. Joseph Lasky, M.D., for patient J.C., not J.Z. The fourth prescription instructed J.C., an oncology patient, to rinse his mouth with an oral solution consisting of lidocaine, diphenhydramine, and antacid (hereinafter "magic mouthwash"). This fourth prescription was assigned prescription no. 827099.

9. As Respondent Huynh attempted to fill prescription nos. 827096, 827097, 827098, and 827099, the DUR system signaled an alert for prescription 827099, indicating that the magic mouthwash would interact negatively with the other medications that J.Z. was taking. Respondent Huynh instructed PT Duarte to perform the data entry again.

10. In performing data entry for the second time, PT Duarte once again attributed prescription no. 827099 for magic mouthwash to J.Z., as opposed to J.C. The DUR system once again signaled the drug-interaction alert for prescription 827099. This time, Respondent Huynh overrode the alert and filled prescription no. 827099, along with prescription nos. 827096, 827097, and 827098. Each was labeled with instructions for use by J.Z.

11. On the afternoon of February 19, 2019, J.Z.'s mother left the pharmacy with each of the four drugs that corresponded to prescription nos. 827096, 827097, and 827098 and 827099. According to J.Z.'s mother, J.Z. used each of the drugs, including the magic mouthwash, according to the instructions on the labels. J.Z.'s mother stated that J.Z. used the magic mouthwash for 3 days before realizing that it had not been prescribed for him.

12. On the afternoon of February 19, 2019, Respondent Willson was the pharmacist in charge of the pharmacy when J.Z.'s mother picked up J.Z.'s prescriptions. Respondent Willson was responsible for counseling J.Z.'s mother and/or for insuring that she was properly counseled. J.Z.'s mother stated that nobody offered her counseling or asked her whether she had questions about J.Z.'s prescriptions.

13. Prescription nos. 827097 (ondansetron ODT) and 827098 (metoprolol tartrate) were new prescriptions for J.Z. As noted above, prescription no. 827099 (magic mouthwash) was mistakenly dispensed to J.Z.'s mother with instructions for use by J.Z. Respondent CVS's records indicate that counseling was provided for prescription no. 827098. Respondent CVS was unable to produce records of counseling for prescription nos. 827097 and 827099. Respondent Willson stated that he had no recollection of the transactions in question.

14. On February 28, 2019, J.Z.'s attorney, Dan Laird, filed a complaint with the Board stating that J.Z.'s use of the magic mouthwash caused J.Z. to "experience severe spasm of his stomach against fresh suture lines causing severe pain." Mr. Laird also stated that J.Z. had suffered from nausea and extensive gagging.

APPLICABLE LAW

15. The Board may revoke or suspend the registration of any pharmacist who has been guilty of unprofessional conduct or conduct contrary to the public interest. NRS 639.210(4). Likewise, the Board may revoke or suspend the registration of any pharmacist who has violated any provision of Nevada law relating to prescription drugs. NRS 639.210(12). In lieu of revoking or suspending a pharmacist's registration, the Board may impose fines as a disciplinary measure. NRS 639.255; NAC 639.955.

16. A pharmacist's conduct is deemed unprofessional if the pharmacist fails to strictly follow the instructions of the person writing, making, or ordering a prescription as to its filling or refilling. NAC 639.945(1)(d). Additionally, a pharmacist's conduct is deemed unprofessional if the pharmacist fails to confer with the person writing, making, or ordering a prescription if there is an error or omission in it which should be questioned. NAC 639.945(1)(e). Finally, a pharmacist's conduct is deemed unprofessional if the pharmacist performs his or her duties in an incompetent, unskillful or negligent manner. NAC 639.945(1)(i).

17. Unless otherwise provided by law, a pharmacist must verbally provide a patient or a person caring for the patient with information about each prescription drug or device dispensed to the patient. Failure to provide appropriate counseling to the patient constitutes a violation of NRS 639.707(1). Pursuant to NRS 639.210(12), the Board may discipline a pharmacist who violates NRS 639.707(1).

18. Pursuant to NAC 639.707(6), a pharmacist or intern pharmacist shall, at the time that counseling is provided or refused, initial a written document that is maintained at the pharmacy to record whether counseling was provided to or refused by a patient or the person caring for the patient. Pursuant to NRS 639.210(12), the Board may discipline a pharmacist who violates NAC 639.707(6).

19. Pursuant to NAC 639.708, a pharmacy must maintain any record made by the pharmacist regarding counseling. Pursuant to NRS 639.210(12), the Board may discipline a pharmacy that violates NAC 639.708.

20. Pursuant to NRS 639.230(5), NAC 639.702 and NAC 639.945(2), pharmacies, pharmacy managers, and/or pharmacists are responsible for the acts and omissions of the pharmacy workers under their supervision and/or in their employ.

COUNT ONE

Unprofessional Conduct by a Pharmacist

21. On or about February 19, 2019, Respondent Huynh caused magic mouthwash to be dispensed to J.Z. even though she knew or should have known that J.Z.'s physician had not prescribed magic mouthwash for J.Z.

22. Respondent Huynh's conduct as alleged above was unprofessional because she failed to strictly follow the instructions of J.Z.'s physician regarding the three drugs that were prescribed for J.Z., allowing a fourth drug to be added to the order even though that drug did not appear on the physician's prescription. NAC 639.945(1)(d).

23. Respondent Huynh's conduct as alleged above was unprofessional because she failed to confer with J.Z.'s physician after having been alerted to potentially dangerous drug interactions between magic mouthwash and the other drugs that J.Z. was taking. NAC 639.945(1)(e).

24. Respondent Huynh's conduct as alleged above was unprofessional because she performed her duties in an incompetent, unskillful or negligent manner by failing to compare J.Z.'s physical prescription, as written by his physician, with the prescription information that PT Duarte incorrectly entered into the pharmacy's prescription management system. NAC 639.945(1)(i).

25. Respondent Huynh's unprofessional conduct caused harm to J.Z.

26. For any of the instances of unprofessional conduct as alleged above, the Board may discipline Respondent Huynh pursuant to NRS 639.210(4), NRS 639.255(1), NAC 639.945, and NAC 639.955.

27. As the owner/operator of the pharmacy at which Respondent Huynh worked, Respondent CVS is liable for Respondent Huynh's unprofessional conduct. Accordingly, the Board may discipline Respondent CVS pursuant to NRS 639.210(4), NRS 639.230(5), NRS 639.255(1), NAC 639.945, and NAC 639.955.

COUNT TWO

Failure by Pharmacist to Comply with Applicable Law

28. On or about February 19, 2019, Respondent Willson was the pharmacist on duty responsible for counseling J.Z.'s mother when she arrived at CVS Pharmacy to pick up J.Z.'s prescriptions. By neglecting to counsel J.Z.'s mother before she left the pharmacy with an incorrectly dispensed prescription for magic mouthwash, Respondent Willson violated the provisions NRS 639.707(1).

29. Had Respondent Willson properly counseled J.Z.'s mother, the counseling would potentially have alerted J.Z.'s mother that she had been given the wrong drug.

30. Based on the foregoing, the Board may discipline Respondent Willson pursuant to NRS 639.210(12), NRS 639.255(1), and NAC 639.955.

31. As the owner/operator of the pharmacy at which Respondent Willson worked, Respondent CVS is liable for Respondent Willson's conduct as described above. Accordingly, the Board may discipline Respondent CVS pursuant to NRS 639.210(12), NRS 639.230(5), NRS 639.255(1), and NAC 639.955.

COUNT THREE

Violation by a Pharmacist of Applicable Law

32. On or about February 19, 2019, Respondent Willson was the pharmacist on duty responsible for counseling J.Z.'s mother when she arrived at CVS Pharmacy to pick up J.Z.'s prescriptions.

33. Respondent did not make a record as to whether counseling was provided to or refused by J.Z.'s mother.

34. By failing to make a record of counseling as alleged above, Respondent Willson violated NAC 639.707(6).

35. Based on the foregoing, Respondent Willson may be disciplined pursuant to NRS 639.210(12), NRS 639.255(1), and NAC 639.955.

COUNT FOUR
Violation by a Pharmacy of Applicable Law

36. On or about February 19, 2019, Respondent Willson was the pharmacist on duty responsible for counseling J.Z.'s mother when she arrived at CVS Pharmacy to pick up J.Z.'s prescriptions.

37. As an alternative to the allegations stated in Count Three above, assuming Respondent Willson made a record as to whether counseling was provided to or refused by J.Z.'s mother, Respondent CVS did not maintain that record as required by NAC 639.708.

38. By failing to maintain a record of counseling as alleged above, Respondent CVS violated NAC 639.708.

39. Based on the foregoing, Respondent CVS may be disciplined pursuant to NRS 639.230(5), NRS 639.210(12), NRS 639.255(1), and NAC 639.955.

WHEREFORE it is requested that the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy take appropriate disciplinary action with respect to the certificates of registration of Respondents Huynh and Willson and the pharmacy license of Respondent CVS.

NOTICE OF INTENDED ACTION
AND ACCUSATION

J. David Wuest, in his official capacity as Executive Secretary of the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy files the following document that will serve as both a notice of intended action under NRS 233B.127(3) and an accusation under NRS 622A.300(1) and NRS 639.241.

JURISDICTION

1. The Nevada State Board of Pharmacy ("Board") has personal jurisdiction over Respondent Thuytrang Huynh ("Respondent Huynh"), because Respondent Huynh holds a certificate of registration issued by the Board pursuant to NRS 639.127, authorizing her to engage in the practice of pharmacy in the state of Nevada.

2. The Board has personal jurisdiction over Respondent Michael Willson ("Respondent Willson"), because Respondent Willson holds a certificate of registration issued by the Board pursuant to NRS 639.127, authorizing him to engage in the practice of pharmacy in the state of Nevada.

3. The Board has personal jurisdiction over Respondent CVS Pharmacy #8819 ("Respondent CVS"), because Respondent CVS holds a license issued by the Board pursuant to NRS

639.230, authorizing the operation of a pharmacy located at 4800 W. Charleston Blvd., Las Vegas Nevada.

4. The Board has jurisdiction over the subject matter of this accusation because, at the time of the violations alleged herein, Respondents Huynh and Willson were Nevada-registered pharmacists engaged in the practice of pharmacy at a business location operated by Respondent CVS in Las Vegas, Nevada.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

5. In February 2019, Respondents Huynh and Willson were registered pharmacists employed by Respondent CVS at its pharmacy on West Charleston Boulevard in Las Vegas, Nevada.

6. On February 19, 2019, while on duty at the pharmacy location on West Charleston Boulevard, Respondent Huynh filled prescriptions for patient J.Z. ("J.Z."). Following abdominal surgery, J.Z.'s physician, Dr. Mustafa Ahmed, M.D., had written three prescriptions for J.Z.: one for hydrocodone-acetaminophen, another for ondansetron ODT, and a third for metoprolol tartrate.

7. Pharmacy Technician Raul Duarte (PT Duarte) transferred the prescription information for J.Z. into Respondent CVS's drug utilization review (DUR) system. J.Z.'s prescriptions were assigned prescription nos. 827096 (hydrocodone-acetaminophen), 827097 (ondansetron ODT), and 827098 (metoprolol tartrate).

8. In performing the data entry, PT Duarte mistakenly attributed a fourth prescription to J.Z. This fourth prescription for "magic mouthwash" was written by Dr. Joseph Lasky, M.D., for patient J.C., not J.Z. The fourth prescription instructed J.C., an oncology patient, to rinse his mouth with an oral solution consisting of lidocaine, diphenhydramine, and antacid (hereinafter "magic mouthwash"). This fourth prescription was assigned prescription no. 827099.

9. As Respondent Huynh attempted to fill prescription nos. 827096, 827097, 827098, and 827099, the DUR system signaled an alert for prescription 827099, indicating that the magic mouthwash would interact negatively with the other medications that J.Z. was taking. Respondent Huynh instructed PT Duarte to perform the data entry again.

10. In performing data entry for the second time, PT Duarte once again attributed prescription no. 827099 for magic mouthwash to J.Z., as opposed to J.C. The DUR system once again signaled the drug-interaction alert for prescription 827099. This time, Respondent Huynh overrode the alert and filled prescription no. 827099, along with prescription nos. 827096, 827097, and 827098. Each was labeled with instructions for use by J.Z.

11. On the afternoon of February 19, 2019, J.Z.'s mother left the pharmacy with each of the four drugs that corresponded to prescription nos. 827096, 827097, and 827098 and 827099. According to J.Z.'s mother, J.Z. used each of the drugs, including the magic mouthwash, according to the instructions on the labels. J.Z.'s mother stated that J.Z. used the magic mouthwash for 3 days before realizing that it had not been prescribed for him.

12. On the afternoon of February 19, 2019, Respondent Willson was the pharmacist in charge of the pharmacy when J.Z.'s mother picked up J.Z.'s prescriptions. Respondent Willson was responsible for counseling J.Z.'s mother and/or for insuring that she was properly counseled. J.Z.'s mother stated that nobody offered her counseling or asked her whether she had questions about J.Z.'s prescriptions.

13. Prescription nos. 827097 (ondansetron ODT) and 827098 (metoprolol tartrate) were new prescriptions for J.Z. As noted above, prescription no. 827099 (magic mouthwash) was mistakenly dispensed to J.Z.'s mother with instructions for use by J.Z. Respondent CVS's records indicate that counseling was provided for prescription no. 827098. Respondent CVS was unable to produce records of counseling for prescription nos. 827097 and 827099. Respondent Willson stated that he had no recollection of the transactions in question.

14. On February 28, 2019, J.Z.'s attorney, Dan Laird, filed a complaint with the Board stating that J.Z.'s use of the magic mouthwash caused J.Z. to "experience severe spasm of his stomach against fresh suture lines causing severe pain." Mr. Laird also stated that J.Z. had suffered from nausea and extensive gagging.

APPLICABLE LAW

15. The Board may revoke or suspend the registration of any pharmacist who has been guilty of unprofessional conduct or conduct contrary to the public interest. NRS 639.210(4). Likewise, the Board may revoke or suspend the registration of any pharmacist who has violated any provision of Nevada law relating to prescription drugs. NRS 639.210(12). In lieu of revoking or suspending a pharmacist's registration, the Board may impose fines as a disciplinary measure. NRS 639.255; NAC 639.955.

16. A pharmacist's conduct is deemed unprofessional if the pharmacist fails to strictly follow the instructions of the person writing, making, or ordering a prescription as to its filling or refilling. NAC 639.945(1)(d). Additionally, a pharmacist's conduct is deemed unprofessional if the pharmacist fails to confer with the person writing, making, or ordering a prescription if there is an error or omission in it which should be questioned. NAC 639.945(1)(e). Finally, a pharmacist's conduct is deemed unprofessional if the pharmacist performs his or her duties in an incompetent, unskillful or negligent manner. NAC 639.945(1)(i).

17. Unless otherwise provided by law, a pharmacist must verbally provide a patient or a person caring for the patient with information about each prescription drug or device dispensed to the patient. Failure to provide appropriate counseling to the patient constitutes a violation of NRS 639.707(1). Pursuant to NRS 639.210(12), the Board may discipline a pharmacist who violates NRS 639.707(1).

18. Pursuant to NAC 639.707(6), a pharmacist or intern pharmacist shall, at the time that counseling is provided or refused, initial a written document that is maintained at the pharmacy to record whether counseling was provided to or refused by a patient or the person caring for the patient. Pursuant to NRS 639.210(12), the Board may discipline a pharmacist who violates NAC 639.707(6).

19. Pursuant to NAC 639.708, a pharmacy must maintain any record made by the pharmacist regarding counseling. Pursuant to NRS 639.210(12), the Board may discipline a pharmacy that violates NAC 639.708.

20. Pursuant to NRS 639.230(5), NAC 639.702 and NAC 639.945(2), pharmacies, pharmacy managers, and/or pharmacists are responsible for the acts and omissions of the pharmacy workers under their supervision and/or in their employ.

COUNT ONE

Unprofessional Conduct by a Pharmacist

21. On or about February 19, 2019, Respondent Huynh caused magic mouthwash to be dispensed to J.Z. even though she knew or should have known that J.Z.'s physician had not prescribed magic mouthwash for J.Z.

22. Respondent Huynh's conduct as alleged above was unprofessional because she failed to strictly follow the instructions of J.Z.'s physician regarding the three drugs that were prescribed for J.Z., allowing a fourth drug to be added to the order even though that drug did not appear on the physician's prescription. NAC 639.945(1)(d).

23. Respondent Huynh's conduct as alleged above was unprofessional because she failed to confer with J.Z.'s physician after having been alerted to potentially dangerous drug interactions between magic mouthwash and the other drugs that J.Z. was taking. NAC 639.945(1)(e).

24. Respondent Huynh's conduct as alleged above was unprofessional because she performed her duties in an incompetent, unskillful or negligent manner by failing to compare J.Z.'s physical prescription, as written by his physician, with the prescription information that PT Duarte incorrectly entered into the pharmacy's prescription management system. NAC 639.945(1)(i).

25. Respondent Huynh's unprofessional conduct caused harm to J.Z.

26. For any of the instances of unprofessional conduct as alleged above, the Board may discipline Respondent Huynh pursuant to NRS 639.210(4), NRS 639.255(1), NAC 639.945, and NAC 639.955.

27. As the owner/operator of the pharmacy at which Respondent Huynh worked, Respondent CVS is liable for Respondent Huynh's unprofessional conduct. Accordingly, the Board may discipline Respondent CVS pursuant to NRS 639.210(4), NRS 639.230(5), NRS 639.255(1), NAC 639.945, and NAC 639.955.

COUNT TWO

Failure by Pharmacist to Comply with Applicable Law

28. On or about February 19, 2019, Respondent Willson was the pharmacist on duty responsible for counseling J.Z.'s mother when she arrived at CVS Pharmacy to pick up J.Z.'s prescriptions. By neglecting to counsel J.Z.'s mother before she left the pharmacy with an incorrectly dispensed prescription for magic mouthwash, Respondent Willson violated the provisions NRS 639.707(1).

29. Had Respondent Willson properly counseled J.Z.'s mother, the counseling would potentially have alerted J.Z.'s mother that she had been given the wrong drug.

30. Based on the foregoing, the Board may discipline Respondent Willson pursuant to NRS 639.210(12), NRS 639.255(1), and NAC 639.955.

31. As the owner/operator of the pharmacy at which Respondent Willson worked, Respondent CVS is liable for Respondent Willson's conduct as described above. Accordingly, the Board may discipline Respondent CVS pursuant to NRS 639.210(12), NRS 639.230(5), NRS 639.255(1), and NAC 639.955.

COUNT THREE

Violation by a Pharmacist of Applicable Law

32. On or about February 19, 2019, Respondent Willson was the pharmacist on duty responsible for counseling J.Z.'s mother when she arrived at CVS Pharmacy to pick up J.Z.'s prescriptions.

33. Respondent did not make a record as to whether counseling was provided to or refused by J.Z.'s mother.

34. By failing to make a record of counseling as alleged above, Respondent Willson violated NAC 639.707(6).

35. Based on the foregoing, Respondent Willson may be disciplined pursuant to NRS 639.210(12), NRS 639.255(1), and NAC 639.955.

COUNT FOUR
Violation by a Pharmacy of Applicable Law

36. On or about February 19, 2019, Respondent Willson was the pharmacist on duty responsible for counseling J.Z.'s mother when she arrived at CVS Pharmacy to pick up J.Z.'s prescriptions.

37. As an alternative to the allegations stated in Count Three above, assuming Respondent Willson made a record as to whether counseling was provided to or refused by J.Z.'s mother, Respondent CVS did not maintain that record as required by NAC 639.708.

38. By failing to maintain a record of counseling as alleged above, Respondent CVS violated NAC 639.708.

39. Based on the foregoing, Respondent CVS may be disciplined pursuant to NRS 639.230(5), NRS 639.210(12), NRS 639.255(1), and NAC 639.955.

WHEREFORE it is requested that the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy take appropriate disciplinary action with respect to the certificates of registration of Respondents Huynh and Willson and the pharmacy license of Respondent CVS.

DATED this 17th day of November 2023.

Nevada State Board of Pharmacy
