◆ WORKSHOP ◆

Wednesday, May 29, 2024 – 9:00 am

5. Notice of Proposed Regulation Workshop Pursuant to NRS 233B.061(2) (FOR POSSIBLE ACTION):

- A. Amendment to Nevada Administrative Code (NAC). The proposed amendments establish the minimum staffing standards in a pharmacy and modify the number of pharmaceutical technicians and pharmaceutical technicians in training a pharmacist may supervise. (FOR POSSIBLE ACTION)

David Wuest, Executive Secretary for the Nevada Board of Pharmacy, presented background on the workshop item.

Yenh Long, Deputy Secretary for the Nevada Board of Pharmacy, gave an overview of the components of the regulation based off of the survey and read the proposed regulation language into record.

President Park opened the floor for public comment.

Mark Johnston from CVS Health reiterated previous comments he made at prior meetings on this workshop item. He does not believe that pharmacy is a one-size-fits-all profession that can be regulated by numbers produced by this survey. He stated that the gist of this workshop language has been tried in other states and failed, and there are not enough incoming pharmacists to satisfy the Board's approach. He believed that it would be easy to hypothesize multiple negative effects from this effort.

Liz McMenamin from the Retail Association of Nevada commented that community pharmacies need flexibility in determining staff levels for a multitude of reasons and believes that regulators should avoid limiting the number of prescriptions filled per pharmacist, per day. She recommends this conversation needs to be held in a broader area with elected officials.

Joe Kellogg from the Nevada Pharmacist Association commented that we should stay away from the numbers and look at what we want pharmacies to be part of moving forward. He submitted a written comment for the Board to review.

Khanh Pham, Nevada Pharmacist Association member, strongly opposed the increased ratio of pharmacy technicians to pharmacists. She stated that having more people to supervise would not give her enough time to counsel patients and can affect patient safety. Also, she believes this could end up limiting the choice of pharmacies for patients.

Kerry Otero, a community pharmacist, believes that this proposal would need a large amount of predictability in order for it to work. She provided multiple examples of limitations which could cause pharmacists to compromise both patient and employee safety.

Paul Howse, Pharmacy Practice Coordinator for Smith's, thinks this proposal has flaws which will limit healthcare accessibility. He believes it would be in both the patients and pharmacies' best interest to increase the pharmaceutical tech ratio but to avoid commanding how many pharmacists would be working strictly based on prescriptions per hour and non-dispensing activities.

Lisa Barnard, a Smith's Pharmacist, stated that she doesn't feel as if this proposal is an answer to the pharmacy's problems. There are more issues with PBM's, and she is worried that this proposed regulation could close pharmacies in our state.

Lorri Walmsley, Walgreens Pharmacist, stated that the proposed language is not common sense based on the feedback from the survey and believes that the questions were problematic and leading. She stated that the proposed solution does not consider many details that must be explored. The utilization of technology in community pharmacies is also a factor to consider. She requested a stakeholder meeting to discuss more reasonable solutions.

Catherine Leanna Oswald, Nevada Pharmacist, thanked the Board for addressing this issue. She agrees with the requirement for a pharmaceutical technician to be present at all times, but she asked if there would be waivers or opportunities where this could be modified for patient care needs. She encourages the Board to seek out how we are identifying the process of counseling for patient safety.

Holly Prievo, Walgreens Healthcare Supervisor, shared that Roseman University played a huge role in staffing Southern Nevada pharmacies and improved healthcare, and she is worried how she will staff her pharmacies moving forward with lower graduation numbers. She encourages the Board to consider technologically friendly solutions and expand the roles of pharmaceutical technicians.

Scott Young, a representative of a closed door, internet-based pharmacy, is not in favor of these regulations and encourages the Board to bring it back to discussion. He is in support of increased pharmaceutical tech ratio but if they move forward with the metric-based proposals which he hopes for an exemption or waiver option for a closed door, internet-based pharmacy

Kasia Kujawski from Albertson's believes that the proposed regulation will have consequences that will impair pharmacies and echoes the comments made prior. She states that this will limit non-dispensing services and will delay getting prescriptions to patients. She asks the Board to have a stakeholder meeting to discuss further.

Jeffrey Bazard fully supports the goal of assisting pharmacist burnout but believes this proposal will unintentionally cause more harm than good. He would like to see more flexible solutions that protect pharmacists without compromising patient care or the operational viability of Nevada pharmacies.

Andrea Adams, community supervising pharmacist, believes that adding laws around mandatory staffing is the wrong way to help our state's pharmacists and patients. She would like to see the Board reduce the regulatory burden on pharmacists, increase their ability to use new technology, and increase the scope of practice for pharmacists and pharmaceutical technicians. She is in support of increasing the pharmacist tech ratios.

Ken Kunke, Director of Experiential, made a clarifying comment on the number of graduating pharmacists going into residency.

President Park closed the period for public comment.

Board discussion ensued.

Yenh Long read a Zoom Direct Message into the record.

Liz McMenamin from the Retail Association of Nevada returned for a brief public comment regarding a Board member's comments. She asked for more conversations, and for the Board to set up a coalition with all involved.

Board discussion ensued.

Board Action:

Motion: Wayne Mitchell moved to approve the proposed regulation workshop item.

Second: Richard Tomasso

Aye: Park, Freitas, Tejero, Mitchell, Tomasso, Porath

Nay: Jacobo

Disciplinary Action

This attachment serves to explain the affirmative answer to Question 8 of Theodore Walker's Administrator Application for Quality Assured Services, Inc., d.b.a. Acelis Connected Health Supplies' ("QAS").

Theodore Walker is currently an employee of QAS.

Alere Home Monitoring, Inc, ("AHM") an affiliated entity (subsidiary of Abbott Laboratories) operated as a licensed wholesaler in California and previously held a California Wholesale Permit. Prior to May 1, 2015, AHM applied for the renewal of its Wholesale Permit. However, AHM's renewal application could not be processed because it's then designated representative, Theodore Walker, no longer held an active Designated-Representative License. As a result, AHM's Wholesale Permit expired on May 1, 2015. AHM's Wholesale Permit was publicly reproved by the California Board of Pharmacy on March 8, 2017 after settling accusations over AHM's failure to comply with the regulatory requirements of a wholesaler, including engaging in wholesaler activity without an actively licensed designated representative present.

Prior to this settlement, AHM had never been the subject of any disciplinary action and AHM accepted responsibility at an early stage in the proceedings.

Respectfully,

23 PARTIES

24 1. Virginia Herold ("Complainant") brings this Accusation solely in her official capacity
25 as the Executive Officer of the Board of Pharmacy, Department of Consumer Affairs.

JURISDICTION

4. This Accusation is brought before the Board of Pharmacy ("Board"), Department of Consumer Affairs, under the authority of the following laws. All section references are to the Business and Professions Code unless otherwise indicated.

1 at least one designated representative, in the case of a wholesaler, or designated representative-
2 3PL in the case of a third-party logistics provider, shall be present.

3 "(d) Every wholesaler shall be supervised or managed by a designated representative-in-
4 charge. The designated representative-in-charge shall be responsible for the wholesaler's
5 compliance with state and federal laws governing wholesalers. As part of its initial application for 6 a license, and for each renewal, each wholesaler shall, on a form designed by the board, provide 7 identifying information and the California license number for a designated representative or 8 pharmacist proposed to serve as the designated representative-in-charge. The proposed designated 9 representative-in-charge shall be subject to approval by the board. The board shall not issue or 10 renew a wholesaler license without identification of an approved designated representative-in-
11 charge for the wholesaler. The designated representative-in-charge shall maintain an active license 12 as a designated representative with the board at all times during which he or she is designated as 13 the designated representative-in-charge.

14 ...

15 "(f) A wholesaler shall notify the board in writing, on a form designed by the board, within 16 30 days of the date when a designated representative-in-charge ceases to act as the designated 17 representative-in-charge, and shall on the same form propose another designated representative or 18 pharmacist to take over as the designated representative-in-charge. The proposed replacement
19 designated representative-in-charge shall be subject to approval by the board. If disapproved, the 20 wholesaler shall propose another replacement within 15 days of the date of disapproval, and shall
21 continue to name proposed replacements until a designated representative-in-charge is approved
22 by the board."

23 13. Code section 4101, subdivision (b), states:

24 "A designated representative or a pharmacist may take charge of, and act as, the designated
25 representative-in-charge of a wholesaler or veterinary food-animal drug retailer upon application
26 by the wholesaler or veterinary food-animal drug retailer and approval by the board. A designated 27 representative-in-charge who ceases to act as the designated representative-in-charge at that entity
28 shall notify the board in writing within 30 days of the date of that change in status."

1 14. California Code of Regulations, title 16, section 1784 states, in pertinent part:

2 "(a) The designated representative-in-charge of each wholesaler as defined under section
3 4160 of the Business and Professions Code shall complete a self-assessment of the wholesaler's
4 compliance with federal and state pharmacy law. The assessment shall be performed before July 1
5 of every odd-numbered year. The primary purpose of the self-assessment is to promote 6 compliance through self-examination and education.

7 ...

8 "(d) Each self-assessment shall be kept on file in the licensed wholesale premises for three 9 years after it is completed.

10 "(e) The wholesaler is jointly responsible with the designated representative-in-charge for 11 compliance with this section."

12 COST RECOVERY

13 15. Section 125.3 of the Code provides, in pertinent part, that the Registrar may request
14 the administrative law judge to direct a licensee found to have committed a violation or 15 violations of the licensing act to pay a sum not to exceed the reasonable costs of the investigation
16 and enforcement of the case.

17 FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

18 16. Prior to May 1, 2015, the Board received a permit renewal application and fee
19 payment from Respondent Alere for the renewal of their Wholesale Permit. The Board flagged 20 the renewal application and determined that the renewal could not be processed because the 21 designated representative license of Respondent Alere's designated representative, Respondent
22 Walker, was expired. Respondent Walker's license expired on November 1, 2014, and after 23 failing to respond to communication from the Board, Respondent Walker's license was cancelled
24 on April 8, 2015. The Board did not receive any communication from Respondent Alere
25 requesting approval of a new designated representative. The Board could not process Respondent
26 Alere's renewal application because it lacked a valid designated representative, and, therefore, its 27 Wholesale Permit expired on May 1, 2015.

28 ///

1 17. On or about August 10, 2015, the Board received a "Change of Representative In
2 Charge" form from Respondent Alere. The form identified a new designated representative,
3 effective August 5, 2015. The Board processed Respondent Alere's Wholesale Permit renewal
4 and approved its new designated representative.

5 18. On or about September 18, 2015, a Board Inspector conducted a complaint-related
6 inspection at Respondent Alere's place of business. The inspector requested and received
7 documentation related to Respondent Alere's sales activity for prescription items sold between 8 November 1, 2014, and September 18, 2015. The report showed 85 sales transactions for items
9 requiring a wholesale permit between November 1, 2014, through May 15, 2015. There was no
10 sales activity for the prescription items requiring a wholesale permit after May 15, 2015.

Subject: Nevada Out-of-State Wholesaler Application-ZOLL Medical Corporation

This message originated from the Internet. Please be careful when opening any attachments.

The Nevada State Board of Pharmacy received 3 Out-of-State Wholesaler applications from ZOLL Medical Corporation. The applications are incomplete due to the following missing item(s).

- All 3 applications have the same Home State License? Please provide the Home state license for each location
 - I took a look at my paperwork and it looks like you did receive the license for the 269 Mill Road, Chelmsford, MA location. I have re-attached the registration certificate.
 - Please find attached the 500 Burdick Parkway, Deerfield, WI certificate.
 - There is no specific license for 31 High Street, North Billerica, MA since this is a warehouse location and not a manufacturing location. As a result, we are not required to carry a pharmacy license or have an FDA registration for this site.
- The location for 31 High Street does not have an FDA registration? One was provided but it has the 269 Mill Road address, please clarify. 31 High Street, North Billerica, MA is a warehouse location where we store finished goods. There is no manufacturing at this location. Single manufacturer

All items must be received to move forward with processing your application.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thank you,

Maria Herrera

[NOTICE] This message comes from a system outside of DBPR. Please exercise caution when clicking on links and/or providing sensitive information. If you have concerns, please contact your Knowledge Champion or the DBPR Helpdesk.

Hi Walter, good to chat with you today!

As we discussed, my client 3B Medical, Inc. d/b/a React Health is requesting confirmation from DBPR that it is exempt in Florida from the requirements to obtain a device manufacturer permit since all of its products are approved for marketing by or registered with the Federal Drug Administration. As I mentioned, the State of Arizona is requiring React Health to show proof of permit in its home state (which is Florida) as a condition of permitting in Arizona. However, Arizona is indicating it will waive the requirement if React Health can provide written confirmation from Florida DBPR of the statutory exemption and that, if React Health meets the requirements of the statutory exemption by having all of its products approved by or registered with the FDA, then React Health is de facto permitted in Florida and need not obtain permit from DBPR.

I have attached a letter from Adam Cooper, counsel to React Health, which explains further. We would greatly appreciate written confirmation from you to Adam Cooper. You can feel free to email me the written confirmation and I will pass along to Adam.

Thank you so much!

Re: Florida Medical Device Manufacturer Permit

To Whom It May Concern:

K&L Gates LLP represents 3B Medical, Inc. d/b/a React Health ("React") in this request for clarity from the Florida Department of Business & Professional Regulation ("DBPR") regarding Florida regulations relating to the Device Manufacturer Permit. React is a Florida based medical device manufacturer that engages in the manufacture of medical devices that are approved for marketing by, and are registered with, the federal Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") in accordance with federal law for commercial distribution.

Florida statutes exempt a device manufacturer whose products are approved for marketing by or registered with the FDA from the requirement that the device manufacturer obtain a permit. See Fla. Stat. Ann. § 499.01(2)(o)(1)(b) (citing to Fla. Stat. Ann. § 499.015(8)).

React requests DBPR to confirm that the above interpretation is accurate – that a Florida based medical device manufacturer is exempt from the requirement that it obtain a Device Manufacturer Permit if all devices are approved by or registered with the FDA.

Please let us know if you have any questions, or need any additional information on our end. Thanks for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Adam Cooper

James,

In response to your email below and the communication attached from K&L Gates, LLP; I am writing this email to confirm that a medical device manufacturer is not required to be permitted in Florida if all products manufactured are exempt from registration pursuant to s. 499.015(8), F.S. as provided below:

499.015 Registration of drugs and devices; issuance of certificates of free sale.—

(8) Notwithstanding any requirements set forth in this part, a manufacturer of medical devices that is registered with the federal Food and Drug Administration is exempt from this section and s. 499.041(6) if:

- (a) The manufacturer's medical devices are approved for marketing by, or listed with the federal Food and Drug Administration in accordance with federal law for commercial distribution; or
- (b) The manufacturer subcontracts with a manufacturer of medical devices to manufacture components of such devices.

Based on the communication provided from R&L Gates, LLP (attached), React Health is not required to be permitted as a medical device manufacturer in Florida as the devices they manufacture are approved for marketing by, and are registered with, the federal Food and Drug Administration in accordance with federal law for commercial distribution.

Please feel free to contact me directly at either number below if we can assist further or if we can provide additional clarification.

Sincerely,

WC

 Please note this is non-binding, informal direction and is subject to change. A Declaratory Statement is the sole means for obtaining a binding interpretation or opinion from the Division of Drugs, Devices and Cosmetics concerning the applicability of statutory provisions, rule or orders over which the Division has authority (Chapters 499, Florida Statutes and Chapter 61N-1, Florida Administrative Code). Refer to Section 120.565, Florida Statutes and Chapter 28-105, Florida Administrative Code, which sets out the requirements for a Petition for Declaratory Statement. ******

1.7 "Investors" means the persons named on Schedule A hereto, each person to whom the rights of an Investor are assigned pursuant to Subsection 6.9, each person who hereafter becomes a signatory to this Agreement pursuant to Subsection 6.11 and any one of them, as the context may require.

1.8 "Key Holders" means the persons named on Schedule B hereto, each person to whom the rights of a Key Holder are assigned pursuant to Subsection 3.1, each person who hereafter becomes a signatory to this Agreement pursuant to Subsection 6.9 or 6.17 and any one of them, as the context may require.

1.9 "Proposed Holder Transfer" means any assignment, sale, offer to sell, pledge, mortgage, hypothecation, encumbrance, disposition of or any other like transfer or encumbering of any Transfer Stock (or any interest therein) proposed by any of the Holders.

1.10 "Proposed Transfer Notice" means written notice from a Holder setting forth the terms and conditions of a Proposed Holder Transfer.

1.11 "Prospective Transferee" means any person to whom a Holder proposes to make a Proposed Holder Transfer.

1.13 "Right of Co-Sale" means the right, but not an obligation, of a Holder to participate in a Proposed Holder Transfer on the terms and conditions specified in the Proposed Transfer Notice.

1.14 "Right of First Refusal" means the right, but not an obligation, of each Holder to purchase up to its pro rata portion (based upon the total number of shares of Capital Stock then held by all Holders) of any Transfer Stock with respect to a Proposed Holder Transfer, on the terms and conditions specified in the Proposed Transfer Notice.

1.16 “Secondary Refusal Right” means the right, but not an obligation, of the Company, or its permitted transferees or assigns, to purchase some or all of the Transfer Stock not purchased pursuant to the Right of First Refusal or pursuant to Section 2.1(c), on the terms and conditions specified in the Proposed Transfer Notice.

1.17 “Transfer Stock” means shares of Capital Stock owned by a Holder, or issued to a Holder after the date hereof (including, without limitation, in connection with any stock split, stock dividend, recapitalization, reorganization, or the like).

1.18 “Undersubscription Notice” means written notice from a Holder notifying the Company and the selling Holder that such Holder intends to exercise its option to purchase all or any portion of the Transfer Stock not purchased pursuant to the Right of First Refusal or the Secondary Refusal Right.

2. Agreement Among the Company, the Investors and the Key Holders.

2.1 Right of First Refusal.

(a) Grant. Subject to the terms of Section 3 below, each Holder hereby unconditionally and irrevocably grants to the other Holders (except for such proposed Holder transferor), a Right of First Refusal to purchase such Holder's portion of the Transfer Stock that such Holder may propose to transfer in a Proposed Holder Transfer, at the same price and on the same terms and conditions as those offered to the Prospective Transferee.

(b) Notice. Each Holder proposing to make a Proposed Holder Transfer must deliver a Proposed Transfer Notice to the Company and each other Holder not later than forty-five (45) days prior to the consummation of such Proposed Holder Transfer. Such Proposed Transfer Notice shall contain the material terms and conditions (including price and form of consideration) of the Proposed Holder Transfer, the identity of the Prospective Transferee and the intended date of the Proposed Holder Transfer. To exercise its Right of First Refusal under this Section 2, each Holder must deliver a Holder Notice to the selling Holder within fifteen (15) days after delivery of the Proposed Transfer Notice (the “Holder Notice Period”). If a Holder does not intend to exercise its Right of First Refusal with respect to all of such Holder's portion of the Transfer Stock subject to a Proposed Holder Transfer, the Holder must deliver a Secondary Notice to the selling Holder and the Company to that effect no later than fifteen (15) days after the selling Holder delivers the Proposed Transfer Notice to the Holders. In the event of a conflict between this Agreement and any other agreement that may have been entered into by a Holder with the Company that contains a preexisting right of first refusal, the Company and the Holder acknowledge and agree that the terms of this Agreement shall control and the preexisting right of first refusal shall be deemed satisfied by compliance with Subsection 2.1(a) and this Subsection 2.1(b). In the event of a conflict between this Agreement and the Company's Bylaws containing a preexisting right of first refusal, the terms of this Agreement will control and compliance with this Agreement shall be deemed compliance with the Bylaws in full.

(c) Undersubscription of Transfer Stock. If options to purchase have been exercised by the Holders with respect to some but not all of the Transfer Stock by the end of the Holder Notice Period, then the Company shall, immediately after the expiration of the Holder Notice Period, send written notice (the "Company Undersubscription Notice") to those Holders who fully exercised their Right of First Refusal within the Holder Notice Period (the "Exercising Holders"). Each Exercising Holder shall, subject to the provisions of this Subsection 2.1(b), have an additional option to purchase all or any part of the balance of any such remaining unsubscribed shares of Transfer Stock on the terms and conditions set forth in the Proposed Transfer Notice. To exercise such option, an Exercising Holder must deliver an Undersubscription Notice to the selling Holder and the Company within ten (10) days after the expiration of the Holder Notice Period. In the event there are two (2) or more such Exercising Holders that choose to exercise the last-mentioned option for a total number of remaining shares in excess of the number available, the remaining shares available for purchase under this Subsection 2.1(b) shall be allocated to such Exercising Holders pro rata based on the number of shares of Transfer Stock such Exercising Holders have elected to purchase pursuant to the Right of First Refusal (without giving effect to any shares of Transfer Stock that any such Exercising Holder has elected to purchase pursuant to the Company Undersubscription Notice). If the options to purchase the remaining shares are exercised in full by the Exercising Holders, the Company shall immediately notify all of the Exercising Holders and the selling Holder of that fact.

(d) Grant of Secondary Refusal Right to Company. Subject to the terms of Section 3 below, each Holder hereby unconditionally and irrevocably grants to the Company a Secondary Refusal Right to purchase all or any portion of the Transfer Stock not purchased by the Holders pursuant to the Right of First Refusal or pursuant to Subsection 2.1(c), as provided in this Subsection 2.1(d). To exercise its Secondary Refusal Right, the Company must deliver the Company Notice to the selling Holder within ten (10) days after the Holders' deadline for its delivery of the Secondary Notice as provided in the preceding sentence.

(e) Forfeiture of Rights. Notwithstanding the foregoing, if the total number of shares of Transfer Stock that the Company and the Holders have agreed to purchase in the Company Notice, Holder Notices and Undersubscription Notices is less than the total number of shares of Transfer Stock, then the Company and the Holders shall be deemed to have forfeited any right to purchase such Transfer Stock, and the selling Holder shall be free to sell all, but not less than all, of the Transfer Stock to the Prospective Transferee on terms and conditions substantially similar to (and in no event more favorable than) the terms and conditions set forth in the Proposed Transfer Notice, it being understood and agreed that (i) any such sale or transfer shall be subject to the other terms and restrictions of this Agreement, including, without limitation, the terms and restrictions set forth in Subsections 2.2 and 6.9(b); (ii) any future Proposed Holder Transfer shall remain subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement, including this Section 2; and (iii) such sale shall be consummated within forty-five (45) days after receipt of the Proposed Transfer Notice by the Company and the Holders and, if such sale is not consummated within such forty-five (45) day period, such sale shall again become subject to the Right of First Refusal and Secondary Refusal Right on the terms set forth herein.

(f) Consideration; Closing. If the consideration proposed to be paid for the Transfer Stock is in property, services or other non-cash consideration, the fair market value of the consideration shall be as determined in good faith by the Company's Board of Directors and as set forth in the Company Notice or any other notice that is sent by the Company with this information. If the Company or any Holder cannot for any reason pay for the Transfer Stock in the same form of non-cash consideration, the Company or such Holder may pay the cash value equivalent thereof, as determined in good faith by the Board of Directors and as set forth in the Company Notice or any other notice that is sent by the Company with this information. The closing of the purchase of Transfer Stock by the Company and the Holders shall take place, and all payments from the Company and the Holders shall have been delivered to the selling Holder, by the later of (i) the date specified in the Proposed Transfer Notice as the intended date of the Proposed Holder Transfer; and (ii) forty-five (45) days after delivery of the Proposed Transfer Notice.

2.2 Right of Co-Sale.

(a) Exercise of Right. If any Transfer Stock subject to a Proposed Holder Transfer is not purchased pursuant to Subsection 2.1 above and thereafter is to be sold to a Prospective Transferee, each respective Holder that is not an Exercising Holder may elect to exercise its Right of Co-Sale and participate on a pro rata basis in the Proposed Holder Transfer as set forth in Subsection 2.2(b) below and, subject to Subsection 2.2(d), otherwise on the same terms and conditions specified in the Proposed Transfer Notice. Each eligible Holder who desires to exercise its Right of Co-Sale (each, a "Participating Holder") must give the selling Holder written notice to that effect within fifteen (15) days after the deadline for delivery of the Secondary Notice described above, and upon giving such notice such Participating Holder shall be deemed to have effectively exercised the Right of Co-Sale.

(b) Shares Includable. Each Participating Holder may include in the Proposed Holder Transfer all or any part of such Participating Holder's Capital Stock equal to the product obtained by multiplying (i) the aggregate number of shares of Transfer Stock subject to the Proposed Holder Transfer (excluding shares purchased by the Holders and the Company pursuant to the Right of First Refusal or the Secondary Refusal Right) by (ii) a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of shares of Capital Stock owned by such Participating Holder immediately before consummation of the Proposed Holder Transfer and the denominator of which is the total number of shares of Capital Stock owned, in the aggregate, by all Participating Holders immediately prior to the consummation of the Proposed Holder Transfer, plus the number of shares of Transfer Stock held by the selling Holder. To the extent one (1) or more of the Participating Holders exercise such right of participation in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth herein, the number of shares of Transfer Stock that the selling Holder may sell in the Proposed Holder Transfer shall be correspondingly reduced.

(c) Purchase and Sale Agreement. The Participating Holders and the selling Holder agree that the terms and conditions of any Proposed Holder Transfer in accordance with Subsection 2.2 will be memorialized in, and governed by, a written purchase and sale agreement with the Prospective Transferee (the "Purchase and Sale Agreement") with customary terms and provisions for such a transaction, and the Participating Holders and the selling Holder further covenant and agree to enter into such Purchase and Sale Agreement as a condition precedent to any sale or other transfer in accordance with this Subsection 2.2.

(d) Allocation of Consideration. The aggregate consideration payable to the Participating Holders and the selling Holder shall be allocated based on the number of shares of Capital Stock sold to the Prospective Transferee by each Participating Holder and the selling Holder as provided in Subsection 2.2(b).

(e) Purchase by Selling Holder; Deliveries. Notwithstanding Subsection 2.2(c) above, if any Prospective Transferee or Transferees refuse(s) to purchase securities subject to the Right of Co-Sale from any Participating Holder or Holders or upon the failure to negotiate in good faith a Purchase and Sale Agreement reasonably satisfactory to the Participating Holders, no Holder may sell any Transfer Stock to such Prospective Transferee or Transferees unless and until, simultaneously with such sale, such Holder purchases all securities subject to the Right of Co-Sale from such Participating Holder or Holders on the same terms and conditions (including the proposed purchase price) as set forth in the Proposed Transfer Notice and as provided in Subsection 2.2(d). In connection with such purchase by the selling Holder, such Participating Holder or Holders shall deliver to the selling Holder any stock certificate or certificates, properly endorsed for transfer, representing the Capital Stock being purchased by the selling Holder (or request that the Company effect such transfer in the name of the selling Holder). Any such shares transferred to the selling Holder will be transferred to the Prospective Transferee against payment therefor in consummation of the sale of the Transfer Stock pursuant to the terms and conditions specified in the Proposed Transfer Notice, and the selling Holder shall concurrently therewith remit or direct payment to each such Participating Holder the portion of the aggregate consideration to which each such Participating Holder is entitled by reason of its participation in such sale as provided in this Subsection 2.2(e).

(f) Additional Compliance. If any Proposed Holder Transfer is not consummated within forty-five (45) days after receipt of the Proposed Transfer Notice by the Company and the Holders, the Holders proposing the Proposed Holder Transfer may not sell any Transfer Stock unless they first comply in full with each provision of this Section 2. The exercise or election not to exercise any right by any Holder hereunder shall not adversely affect its right to participate in any other sales of Transfer Stock subject to this Subsection 2.2.

2.3 Effect of Failure to Comply.

(a) Transfer Void; Equitable Relief. Any Proposed Holder Transfer not made in compliance with the requirements of this Agreement shall be null and void ab initio, shall not be recorded on the books of the Company or its transfer agent and shall not be recognized by the Company. Each party hereto acknowledges and agrees that any breach of this Agreement would result in substantial harm to the other parties hereto for which monetary damages alone could not adequately compensate. Therefore, the parties hereto unconditionally and irrevocably agree that any non-breaching party hereto shall be entitled to seek protective orders, injunctive relief and other remedies available at law or in equity (including, without limitation, seeking specific performance or the rescission of purchases, sales and other transfers of Transfer Stock not made in strict compliance with this Agreement).

(b) Violation of First Refusal Right. If any Holder becomes obligated to sell any Transfer Stock to the Company or any Holder under this Agreement and fails to deliver such Transfer Stock in accordance with the terms of this Agreement, the Company and/or such Holder may, at its option, in addition to all other remedies it may have, send to such Holder the purchase price for such Transfer Stock as is herein specified and transfer to the name of the Company or such Holder (or request that the Company effect such transfer in the name of a Holder) on the Company's books any certificates, instruments, or book entry representing the Transfer Stock to be sold.

(c) Violation of Co-Sale Right. If any Holder purports to sell any Transfer Stock in contravention of the Right of Co-Sale (a "Prohibited Transfer"), each of the other Holders who desires to exercise its Right of Co-Sale under Subsection 2.2 may, in addition to such remedies as may be available by law, in equity or hereunder, require such Holder to purchase from such Holder the type and number of shares of Capital Stock that such Holder would have been entitled to sell to the Prospective Transferee had the Prohibited Transfer been effected in compliance with the terms of Subsection 2.2. The sale will be made on the same terms, including, without limitation, as provided in Subsection 2.2(d) and subject to the same conditions as would have applied had the Holder not made the Prohibited Transfer, except that the sale (including, without limitation, the delivery of the purchase price) must be made within ninety (90) days after the Holder learns of the Prohibited Transfer, as opposed to the timeframe proscribed in Subsection 2.2. Such Holder shall also reimburse each other Holder for any and all reasonable and documented out-of-pocket fees and expenses, including reasonable legal fees and expenses, incurred pursuant to the exercise or the attempted exercise of the Holder's rights under Subsection 2.2.

3. Exempt Transfers.

3.1 Exempted Transfers. Notwithstanding the foregoing or anything to the contrary herein, the provisions of Subsections 2.1 and 2.2 shall not apply (a) in the case of a Holder that is an entity, upon a transfer by such Holder to its stockholders, members, partners or other equity holders or transfers by and among such stockholders, members, partners or other equity holders to each other, (b) to a repurchase of Transfer Stock from a Holder by the Company at a price no greater than that originally paid by such Holder for such Transfer Stock and pursuant to an agreement containing vesting and/or repurchase provisions approved by a majority of the Board of Directors, or (c) in the case of a Holder that is a natural person, upon a transfer of Transfer Stock by such Holder made for bona fide estate planning purposes, either during his or her lifetime or on death by will or intestacy to his or her spouse, child (natural or adopted), or any other direct lineal descendant of such Holder (or his or her spouse) (all of the foregoing collectively referred to as "family members"), or any other relative/person approved by the Board of Directors of the Company, or any custodian or trustee of any trust, partnership or limited liability company for the benefit of, or the ownership interests of which are owned wholly by such Holder or any such family members; provided that in the case of clause(s) (a) or (c), the Holder shall deliver prior written notice to the other Holders of such gift or transfer and such shares of Transfer Stock shall at all times remain subject to the terms and restrictions set forth in this Agreement and such transferee shall, as a condition to such issuance, deliver a counterpart signature page to this Agreement as confirmation that such transferee shall be bound by all the terms and conditions of this Agreement as a Holder (but only with respect to the securities so transferred to the transferee), including the obligations of a Holder with respect to Proposed Holder Transfers of such Transfer Stock pursuant to Section 2; and provided further in the case of any transfer pursuant to clause (a) or (c) above, that such transfer is made pursuant to a transaction in which there is no consideration actually paid for such transfer.

3.2 Exempted Offerings. Notwithstanding the foregoing or anything to the contrary herein, the provisions of Section 2 shall not apply to the sale of any Transfer Stock to the public in an offering pursuant to an effective registration statement under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended.

3.3 Prohibited Transferees. Notwithstanding the foregoing, no Holder shall transfer any Transfer Stock to (a) any entity which, in the determination of the Company's Board of Directors, directly or indirectly competes with the Company; or (b) any customer, distributor or supplier of the Company, if the Company's Board of Directors should determine that such transfer would result in such customer, distributor or supplier receiving information that would place the Company at a competitive disadvantage with respect to such customer, distributor or supplier.

4. Legend. Each certificate, instrument, or book entry representing shares of Transfer Stock held by the Holders or issued to any permitted transferee in connection with a transfer permitted by Subsection 3.1 hereof shall be notated with the following legend:

THE SALE, PLEDGE, HYPOTHECATION, OR TRANSFER OF THE SECURITIES REPRESENTED HEREBY IS SUBJECT TO, AND IN CERTAIN CASES PROHIBITED BY, THE TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF A CERTAIN RIGHT OF FIRST REFUSAL AND CO-SALE AGREEMENT BY AND AMONG THE STOCKHOLDER, THE CORPORATION AND CERTAIN OTHER HOLDERS OF STOCK OF THE CORPORATION. COPIES OF SUCH AGREEMENT MAY BE OBTAINED UPON WRITTEN REQUEST TO THE SECRETARY OF THE CORPORATION.

Each Holder agrees that the Company may instruct its transfer agent to impose transfer restrictions on the shares notated with the legend referred to in this Section 4 above to enforce the provisions of this Agreement, and the Company agrees to promptly do so. The legend shall be removed upon termination of this Agreement at the request of the holder.

5. Lock-Up.

5.1 Agreement to Lock-Up. Each Key Holder hereby agrees that it will not, without the prior written consent of the managing underwriter, during the period commencing on the date of the final prospectus relating to the Company's initial public offering (the "IPO") and ending on the date specified by the Company and the managing underwriter (such period not to exceed one hundred eighty (180) days), or such other period as may be requested by the Company or an underwriter to accommodate regulatory restrictions on (1) the publication or other distribution of research reports; and (2) analyst recommendations and opinions, including, but not limited to, the restrictions contained in FINRA Rule 2711(f)(4) or NYSE Rule 472(f)(4), or any successor provisions or amendments thereto), (a) lend, offer, pledge, sell, contract to sell, sell any option or contract to purchase, purchase any option or contract to sell, grant any option, right or warrant to purchase, or otherwise transfer or dispose of, directly or indirectly, any shares of Capital Stock held immediately prior to the effectiveness of the registration statement for the IPO; or (b) enter into any swap or other arrangement that transfers to another, in whole or in part, any of the economic consequences of ownership of the Capital Stock, whether any such transaction described in clause (a) or (b) above is to be settled by delivery of Capital Stock or other securities, in cash or otherwise. The foregoing provisions of this Section 5 shall not apply to the sale of any shares to an underwriter pursuant to an underwriting agreement, and shall only be applicable to the Key Holders if all officers, directors and holders of more than one percent (1%) of the outstanding Common Stock enter into similar agreements. The underwriters in connection with the IPO are intended third-party beneficiaries of this Section 5 and shall have the right, power and authority to enforce the provisions hereof as though they were a party hereto. Each Key Holder further agrees to execute such agreements as may be reasonably requested by the underwriters in the IPO that are consistent with this Section 5 or that are necessary to give further effect thereto.

5.2 Stop Transfer Instructions. In order to enforce the foregoing covenant, the Company may impose stop-transfer instructions with respect to the shares of Capital Stock of each Key Holder (and transferees and assignees thereof) until the end of such restricted period.

6. Miscellaneous.

6.1 Term. This Agreement shall automatically terminate upon the consummation of a Qualified IPO.

6.2 Stock Split. All references to numbers of shares in this Agreement shall be appropriately adjusted to reflect any stock dividend, split, combination or other recapitalization affecting the Capital Stock occurring after the date of this Agreement.

6.3 Ownership. Each Holder represents and warrants that such Holder is the sole legal and beneficial owner of the shares of Transfer Stock subject to this Agreement and that no other person or entity has any interest in such shares (other than a community property interest as to which the holder thereof has acknowledged and agreed in writing to the restrictions and obligations hereunder).

6.4 Dispute Resolution. The parties (a) hereby irrevocably and unconditionally submit to the jurisdiction of the state courts of Delaware and to the jurisdiction of the United States District Court for the Delaware Court of Chancery for the purpose of any suit, action or other proceeding arising out of or based upon this Agreement, (b) agree not to commence any suit, action or other proceeding arising out of or based upon this Agreement except in the state courts of Delaware or United States District Court for the Delaware Court of Chancery, and (c) hereby waive, and agree not to assert, by way of motion, as a defense, or otherwise, in any such suit, action or proceeding, any claim that it is not subject personally to the jurisdiction of the above-named courts, that its property is exempt or immune from attachment or execution, that the suit, action or proceeding is brought in an inconvenient forum, that the venue of the suit, action or proceeding is improper or that this Agreement or the subject matter hereof may not be enforced in or by such court.

WAIVER OF JURY TRIAL: EACH PARTY HEREBY WAIVES ITS RIGHTS TO A JURY TRIAL OF ANY CLAIM OR CAUSE OF ACTION BASED UPON OR ARISING OUT OF THIS AGREEMENT, THE OTHER TRANSACTION DOCUMENTS, THE SECURITIES OR THE SUBJECT MATTER HEREOF OR THEREOF. THE SCOPE OF THIS WAIVER IS INTENDED TO BE ALL-ENCOMPASSING OF ANY AND ALL DISPUTES THAT MAY BE FILED IN ANY COURT AND THAT RELATE TO THE SUBJECT MATTER OF THIS TRANSACTION, INCLUDING, WITHOUT LIMITATION, CONTRACT CLAIMS, TORT CLAIMS (INCLUDING NEGLIGENCE), BREACH OF DUTY CLAIMS, AND ALL OTHER COMMON LAW AND STATUTORY CLAIMS. THIS SECTION HAS BEEN FULLY DISCUSSED BY EACH OF THE PARTIES HERETO AND THESE PROVISIONS WILL NOT BE SUBJECT TO ANY EXCEPTIONS. EACH PARTY HERETO HEREBY FURTHER WARRANTS AND REPRESENTS THAT SUCH PARTY HAS REVIEWED THIS WAIVER WITH ITS LEGAL COUNSEL, AND THAT SUCH PARTY KNOWINGLY AND VOLUNTARILY WAIVES ITS JURY TRIAL RIGHTS FOLLOWING CONSULTATION WITH LEGAL COUNSEL.

6.5 Notices. All notices and other communications given or made pursuant to this Agreement shall be in writing and shall be deemed effectively given upon the earlier of actual receipt or (a) personal delivery to the party to be notified, (b) when sent, if sent by electronic mail or facsimile during normal business hours of the recipient, and if not sent during normal business hours, then on the recipient's next business day, (c) five (5) days after having been sent by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, postage prepaid, or (d) one (1) business day after deposit with a nationally recognized overnight courier, freight prepaid, specifying next business day delivery, with written verification of receipt. All communications shall be sent to the respective parties at their address as set forth on Schedule A or Schedule B hereof, as the case may be, or to such email address, facsimile number or address as subsequently modified by written notice given in accordance with this Section 6.5. If notice is given to the Company, it shall be sent to 600 Alexander Road, Suite 2-4B, Princeton, NJ 08540; and a copy (which shall not constitute notice) shall also be sent to Sheppard, Mullin, Richter & Hampton LLP, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, NY 10112-0015, Attention: Shon E. Glusky, Esq.

6.6 Entire Agreement. This Agreement (including, the Exhibits and Schedules hereto) constitutes the full and entire understanding and agreement between the parties with respect to the subject matter hereof, and any other written or oral agreement relating to the subject matter hereof existing between the parties are expressly canceled.

6.7 Delays or Omissions. No delay or omission to exercise any right, power or remedy accruing to any party under this Agreement, upon any breach or default of any other party under this Agreement, shall impair any such right, power or remedy of such non-breaching or non-defaulting party nor shall it be construed to be a waiver of any such breach or default, or an acquiescence therein, or of or in any similar breach or default thereafter occurring; nor shall any waiver of any single breach or default be deemed a waiver of any other breach or default theretofore or thereafter occurring. Any waiver, permit, consent or approval of any kind or character on the part of any party of any breach or default under this Agreement, or any waiver on the part of any party of any provisions or conditions of this Agreement, must be in writing and shall be effective only to the extent specifically set forth in such writing. All remedies, either under this Agreement or by law or otherwise afforded to any party, shall be cumulative and not alternative.

6.8 Amendment, Waiver and Termination. This Agreement may be amended, modified or terminated (other than pursuant to Section 6.1 above) and the observance of any term hereof may be waived (either generally or in a particular instance and either retroactively or prospectively) only by a written instrument executed by (a) the Company and (b) the Holders who are the holders of at least two-thirds (2/3rds) of the shares of Common Stock then held by all the Holders, which shall include LOF Bion Partnership, LP (for so long as such Investor and its Affiliates continue to own beneficially at least five hundred thousand (500,000) shares of Common Stock of the Company, which number is subject to appropriate adjustment for all stock splits, dividends, combinations, recapitalizations and the like) and Pharmascience Inc. (for so long as such Investor and its Affiliates continue to own beneficially at least five hundred thousand (500,000) shares of Common Stock of the Company, which number is subject to appropriate adjustment for all stock splits, dividends, combinations, recapitalizations and the like). Any amendment, modification, termination or waiver so effected shall be binding upon the Company, the Investors, the Key Holders and all of their respective successors and permitted assigns whether or not such party, assignee or other stockholder entered into or approved such amendment, modification, termination or waiver. Notwithstanding the foregoing, (i) this Agreement may not be amended, modified or terminated and the observance of any term hereunder may not be waived with respect to any Investor or Key Holder without the written consent of such Investor or Key Holder unless such amendment, modification, termination or waiver applies to all Investors and Key Holders, respectively, in the same fashion, and (ii) the consent of the Key Holders shall not be required to be included in the calculation of 6.8(b) for any amendment, modification, termination or waiver if such amendment, modification, termination or waiver does not apply to the Key Holders, and (iii) Schedule A hereto may be amended by the Company from time to time in accordance with the Purchase Agreement to add information regarding Additional Purchasers (as defined in the Purchase Agreement) without the consent of the other parties hereto. The Company shall give prompt written notice of any amendment, modification or termination hereof or waiver hereunder to any party hereto that did not consent in writing to such amendment, modification, termination or waiver. No waivers of or exceptions to any term, condition or provision of this Agreement, in any one or more instances, shall be deemed to be, or construed as, a further or continuing waiver of any such term, condition or provision.

6.9 Assignment of Rights.

(a) The terms and conditions of this Agreement shall inure to the benefit of and be binding upon the respective successors and permitted assigns of the parties. Nothing in this Agreement, express or implied, is intended to confer upon any party other than the parties hereto or their respective successors and permitted assigns any rights, remedies, obligations, or liabilities under or by reason of this Agreement, except as expressly provided in this Agreement.

(b) Any successor or permitted assignee of any Holder, including any Prospective Transferee who purchases shares of Transfer Stock in accordance with the terms hereof, shall deliver to the Company and the Investors, as a condition to any transfer or assignment, a counterpart signature page hereto pursuant to which such successor or permitted assignee shall confirm their agreement to be subject to and bound by all of the provisions set forth in this Agreement that were applicable to the predecessor or assignor of such successor or permitted assignee.

(c) The rights of the Investors hereunder are not assignable without the Company's written consent (which shall not be unreasonably withheld, delayed or conditioned), except (i) by an Investor to any Affiliate, (ii) LOF Bion Partnership, LP to its limited partners and such limited partners transfer of their rights between and among themselves or (iii) to an assignee or transferee who acquires at least 20,000 shares of Capital Stock (as adjusted for any stock combination, stock split, stock dividend, recapitalization or other similar transaction), it being acknowledged and agreed that any such assignment, including an assignment contemplated by the preceding clauses (i) or (ii) shall be subject to and conditioned upon any such assignee's delivery to the Company and the other Investors of a counterpart signature page hereto pursuant to which such assignee shall confirm their agreement to be subject to and bound by all of the provisions set forth in this Agreement that were applicable to the assignor of such assignee.

(d) Except in connection with an assignment by the Company by operation of law to the acquirer of the Company, the rights and obligations of the Company hereunder may not be assigned under any circumstances.

6.10 Severability. The invalidity or unenforceability of any provision hereof shall in no way affect the validity or enforceability of any other provision.

6.11 Additional Investors. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, if the Company issues additional shares of the Company's Common Stock after the date hereof pursuant to the terms of Purchase Agreement, any purchaser of such shares of Common Stock may become a party to this Agreement by executing and delivering an additional counterpart signature page to this Agreement and thereafter shall be deemed an "Investor" for all purposes hereunder.

6.14 Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in two (2) or more counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original, but all of which together shall constitute one and the same instrument. Counterparts may be delivered via facsimile, electronic mail (including pdf or any electronic signature complying with the U.S. federal ESIGN Act of 2000, e.g., www.docusign.com) or other transmission method and any counterpart so delivered shall be deemed to have been duly and validly delivered and be valid and effective for all purposes.

6.15 Aggregation of Stock. All shares of Capital Stock held or acquired by Affiliated entities or persons shall be aggregated together for the purpose of determining the availability of any rights under this Agreement and such Affiliated persons may apportion such rights as among themselves in any manner they deem appropriate.

6.16 Specific Performance. In addition to any and all other remedies that may be available at law in the event of any breach of this Agreement, each Investor shall be entitled to specific performance of the agreements and obligations of the Company and the Holders hereunder and to such other injunction or other equitable relief as may be granted by a court of competent jurisdiction.

6.17 Additional Key Holders. In the event that after the date of this Agreement, the Company issues shares of Common Stock, or options to purchase Common Stock, to any employee or consultant, the Company shall, as a condition to such issuance, cause such employee or consultant to execute a counterpart signature page hereto as a Key Holder, and such person shall thereby be bound by, and subject to, all the terms and provisions of this Agreement applicable to a Key Holder.

6.18 Consent of Spouse. If any Holder is married on the date of this Agreement, such Holder's spouse shall execute and deliver to the Company a Consent of Spouse in the form of Exhibit A hereto ("Consent of Spouse"), effective on the date hereof. Notwithstanding the execution and delivery thereof, such consent shall not be deemed to confer or convey to the spouse any rights in such Holder's shares of Transfer Stock that do not otherwise exist by operation of law or the agreement of the parties. If any Holder should marry or remarry subsequent to the date of this Agreement, such Holder shall within thirty (30) days thereafter obtain his/her new spouse's acknowledgement of and consent to the existence and binding effect of all restrictions contained in this Agreement by causing such spouse to execute and deliver a Consent of Spouse acknowledging the restrictions and obligations contained in this Agreement and agreeing and consenting to the same.

Subject: FW: [External] medical device manufacturer/distributor

Good Morning,

Shannon Redd forwarded your inquiry below to me. Our present interpretation of our General Statutes does not require a license for the distribution of medical devices, unless that device contains an approved human prescription drug and does not have 510K FDA clearance. A medical device with an OTC drug would not require a license, and a device with a prescription drug would only require a license if it does not have the 510K FDA clearance.

If your product qualifies as Durable Medical Equipment (DME), then you will need to inquire about a DME permit with the NC Board of Pharmacy.

Regards,
Jeremy

CEASE-AND-DESIST and CITATION-AND-FINE: Case No. 24-098-O – Unlicensed Wholesaling of Medical Devices in Nevada

Greetings:

The Nevada State Board of Pharmacy (Board) has determined that ResMed has shipped prescription only medical devices into the state of Nevada without the proper licensure. Particularly, the Board has found evidence that ResMed shipped AirSense AutoSet 11 devices (CPAP Machines) into the state. Your company's AirSense 11 user guide states that the product is prescription only in the United States. Accordingly, the device at issue is a "prescription device" within the meaning of 21 CFR § 801.109. It appears that, while the facilities you use to ship your products into the state are licensed as Medical Products Providers, they are not licensed as wholesalers.

Under Nevada law, the term "drug" is defined to include "[a]rticles and devices intended for use in the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment or prevention of disease in humans." See NRS 639.007. The terms "manufacturer" and "wholesaler" are defined at NRS 639.009 and NRS 639.016, respectively. The term "medical products provider" is defined at Nevada Administrative Code (NAC) 639.6936. Nevada licensure is required of any person, including a manufacturer, wholesaler, or medical products provider, who sells or ships drugs or medical devices "that are restricted by federal law to sale by or on the order of a physician to any person located within this State." See NRS 639.233(1) and (2); NAC 639.6942. The product(s) mentioned above are restricted by federal law to sale by or on the order of a physician and are sold to someone other than a patient or ultimate end user, therefore, ResMed needs to obtain a Nevada Wholesale license before shipping these products into the state. See NRS 639.016 and NRS 639.233.

Accordingly, the Board hereby orders ResMed to immediately CEASE and DESIST the wholesaling of prescription medical devices that are restricted by federal law to sale by or on the order of a physician, NRS 639.233. Additionally, this letter shall serve as a CITATION pursuant to NRS 639.2895(2) for unlicensed wholesaling. Based on the above evidentiary summary, the Board has assessed an administrative fine against you in the amount of Five Thousand and 00/100 Dollars ($5,000.00).

If you do not intend to contest the above fine, please pay the fine within 30 days of receipt of this citation, or otherwise contact Board staff to request an extension for good cause shown. Payment must be made by certified check, cashier's check, or money order payable to "State of Nevada, Office of the Treasurer," and it must be received at the Board's Reno office, located at 985 Damonte Ranch Parkway – Suite 206, Reno, NV 89521.

You may appeal this citation by submitting a notice of appeal requesting a public hearing before the Board. You must submit any such notice of appeal not later than 30 days after receipt of this citation. NRS 639.2895(2). Please mail or personally deliver any notice of appeal to the Reno address listed on the letterhead.

Pursuant to the Nevada Public Records Act, this citation constitutes a public record that must be released to anyone who makes a proper request for it. However, unless this citation is affirmed by the Board on an appeal, this matter will not be reported to the National Practitioner Data Bank. If you have any questions, please contact the Board's Assistant General Counsel, Gustaf Vanderdonck, at [REDACTED] or via email at [REDACTED]

Sincerely,

Nevada State Board of Pharmacy

Designated Representative Application

Rev (05/12/2022)

An application for a license, or a licensee with a license, to conduct a pharmacy or to operate as a wholesaler shall designate at least one natural person to serve as the representative of the pharmacy or wholesaler. The Board will not issue or renew a license of an applicant or licensee that is required to designate a representative of a pharmacy or wholesaler unless the Board determines that the designated natural person meets the following qualifications per NAC 639.5005 (Pharmacy) or NAC 639.5935 (Wholesaler):

1. Is at least 21 years of age;
2. Has been employed for at least 6,000 hours in a pharmacy or with a wholesaler in a capacity related to the dispensing and distribution of, and recordkeeping related to, prescription drugs.

The designated representative of a pharmacy or a wholesaler:

1. Must be actively involved in and aware of the actual daily operations of the pharmacy or wholesaler;
2. Must be employed full-time in a managerial level position with the pharmacy or wholesaler;
3. Must be physically present at site of the pharmacy or at the facility of the wholesaler during regular business hours, except when the absence of the representative is authorized, including sick leaves, vacation leaves and other authorized absences; and
4. May serve in this representative capacity for only one pharmacy or wholesaler at a time

A pharmacy or wholesaler that is required to designate a natural person as its representative shall not open or operate the pharmacy or wholesaler unless that representative is actually employed full-time in the operation of the pharmacy or wholesaler and is physically present at the site of the pharmacy or wholesaler during regular working hours, not including sick leave, vacation leave and other authorized absences from work. If the natural person designated as the representative of a pharmacy leaves the employ of the pharmacy or wholesaler, thus leaving the pharmacy or wholesaler without a representative in violation of this section, the pharmacy or wholesaler shall:

1. Immediately cease conducting business until another qualified natural person is approved by the Board to serve as the representative of the pharmacy or wholesaler; and
2. Not later than 48 hours after that person leaves its employ, notify the Board that the person designated as the representative of the pharmacy or wholesaler has left the employ of the pharmacy or wholesaler.

Before a pharmacy or wholesaler, that is in violation of NAC 639.5005 (Pharmacy) or NAC 639.5935 (Wholesaler) because the natural person designated as the representative of the pharmacy or wholesaler left the employ of the pharmacy or wholesaler, may continue conducting business:

1. The pharmacy or wholesaler must designate, on a form provided by the Board, a new natural person to serve as the representative of the pharmacy; and
2. The Board must approve the natural person so designated.

CEASE-AND-DESIST and CITATION-AND-FINE: Case No. 24-098-O – Unlicensed Wholesaling of Medical Devices in Nevada

Greetings:

The Nevada State Board of Pharmacy (Board) has determined that ResMed has shipped prescription only medical devices into the state of Nevada without the proper licensure. Particularly, the Board has found evidence that ResMed shipped AirSense AutoSet 11 devices (CPAP Machines) into the state. Your company's AirSense 11 user guide states that the product is prescription only in the United States. Accordingly, the device at issue is a "prescription device" within the meaning of 21 CFR § 801.109. It appears that, while the facilities you use to ship your products into the state are licensed as Medical Products Providers, they are not licensed as wholesalers.

Under Nevada law, the term "drug" is defined to include "[a]rticles and devices intended for use in the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment or prevention of disease in humans." See NRS 639.007. The terms "manufacturer" and "wholesaler" are defined at NRS 639.009 and NRS 639.016, respectively. The term "medical products provider" is defined at Nevada Administrative Code (NAC) 639.6936. Nevada licensure is required of any person, including a manufacturer, wholesaler, or medical products provider, who sells or ships drugs or medical devices "that are restricted by federal law to sale by or on the order of a physician to any person located within this State." See NRS 639.233(1) and (2); NAC 639.6942. The product(s) mentioned above are restricted by federal law to sale by or on the order of a physician and are sold to someone other than a patient or ultimate end user, therefore, ResMed needs to obtain a Nevada Wholesale license before shipping these products into the state. See NRS 639.016 and NRS 639.233.

Accordingly, the Board hereby orders ResMed to immediately CEASE and DESIST the wholesaling of prescription medical devices that are restricted by federal law to sale by or on the order of a physician. NRS 639.233. Additionally, this letter shall serve as a CITATION pursuant to NRS 639.2895(2) for unlicensed wholesaling. Based on the above evidentiary summary, the Board has assessed an administrative fine against you in the amount of Five Thousand and 00/100 Dollars ($5,000.00).

If you do not intend to contest the above fine, please pay the fine within 30 days of receipt of this citation, or otherwise contact Board staff to request an extension for good cause shown. Payment must be made by certified check, cashier's check, or money order payable to "State of Nevada, Office of the Treasurer," and it must be received at the Board's Reno office, located at 985 Damonte Ranch Parkway – Suite 206, Reno, NV 89521.

You may appeal this citation by submitting a notice of appeal requesting a public hearing before the Board. You must submit any such notice of appeal not later than 30 days after receipt of this citation. NRS 639.2895(2). Please mail or personally deliver any notice of appeal to the Reno address listed on the letterhead.

Pursuant to the Nevada Public Records Act, this citation constitutes a public record that must be released to anyone who makes a proper request for it. However, unless this citation is affirmed by the Board on an appeal, this matter will not be reported to the National Practitioner Data Bank. If you have any questions, please contact the Board's Assistant General Counsel, Gustaf Vanderdonck, at [REDACTED] or via email at [REDACTED]

Sincerely,

Nevada State Board of Pharmacy

Regarding the Resident State License

Please note that the resident state licensing agency, the Colorado Board of Pharmacy (Board), does not license prescription device manufacturers and distributors. Enclosed please find correspondence from the Board confirming that a license is not required.

From: Gassen - DORA, Chris
To: Przyhocki, Heather M.
Subject: Re: Medical Device Licensure Question
Date: Thursday, January 05, 2017 6:21:51 PM

Hi Heather -

The Pharmacy Board does not currently register medical device distributors. Please however check with the Colorado Secretary of State's Office to be sure that your products fall (or do not fall) within the possible category that requires a registration with that office. Information can be found at the link below.

<https://www.sos.state.co.us/dme/pages/home.xhtml>

Hope this helps.

Dear Chris:

Can you kindly advise if your office requires in-state wholesale distributors of prescription devices only to obtain a license? Note that no prescription drugs will be distributed/handled. If a license is required, please provide me with the application name.

Thank you in advance for your clarification.

Labeler code 65145 is already assigned to your firm. Please note that the same labeler code can be used for multiple sites if they are under one company (parent, subsidiary, and/or affiliate). The labeler is usually the company that owns the brand, and the company most likely associated with the Labeler Code. If the company has multiple sites, each site must have its own DUNS and FEI number, but may operate under the same Labeler Code (65145). Just to clarify, DUNS and FEI are site-specific and labeler codes are company-specific.

Pursuant to Iowa Code §§ 17A.10 and 272C.3(4) (2011), the Iowa Board of Pharmacy (hereinafter, the "Board") and Henry Schein, Inc. (hereinafter, "Respondent"), have agreed to settle a contested case currently on file with the Board. The Statement of Charges filed against Respondent on November 10, 2011 and the licensee disciplinary proceeding shall be resolved without a hearing, as the Board and Respondent stipulate to the following:

1. Respondent's license to operate as a wholesale distributor of drugs in Iowa is evidenced by Wholesale Drug License Number 5328, recorded in the permanent records of the Board.
2. Wholesale Drug License Number 5328 was renewed November 21, 2010, for the year 2011.
3. The Board has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter herein.
4. A Statement of Charges was filed against Respondent on March 8, 2011. The Statement of Charges contained two charges: Count I, "Unauthorized Delivery," and Count II, "Violations of Controlled Substance Laws."
5. Respondent denies the allegations contained in the Statement of Charges and hereby enters into this Citation and Warning to resolve the charges without making any admission against its interests. Respondent acknowledges, however, that the allegations, if proven in a contested case proceeding, would constitute grounds for the discipline described herein.

All civil penalty payments shall be deposited into the State of Iowa general fund. Upon the Board's receipt of the civil penalty, this disciplinary proceeding shall be concluded without further order of the Board.

7. Respondent represents that it shall, in the future, comply with all provisions of Iowa law, including the administrative rule prohibiting shipment of controlled substances to persons not authorized to possess the controlled substances.

8. Should Respondent violate or fail to comply with any of the terms or conditions of this Citation and Warning, the Board may initiate further action to impose licensee discipline as authorized by Iowa Code chapters 272C and 155A (2011), and 657 Iowa Administrative Code § 36.1.

9. This Citation and Warning is the resolution of a contested case. By entering into this Citation and Warning, Respondent waives all rights to a contested case hearing on the allegations contained in the Statement of Charges, and waives any objections to this Citation and Warning.

10. This proposed settlement is subject to approval by a majority of the full Board. If the Board fails to approve this settlement, it shall be of no force or effect to either party. If the Board approves this Citation and Warning, it shall be the full and final resolution of this matter.
11. The State's counsel may present this Citation and Warning to the Board.
12. The Board's approval of this Citation and Warning shall constitute a FINAL ORDER of the Board in a disciplinary action.

Business Search

The California Business Search provides access to available information for corporations, limited liability companies and limited partnerships of record with the California Secretary of State, with free PDF copies of over 17 million imaged business entity documents, including the most recent imaged Statements of Information filed for Corporations and Limited Liability Companies.

Currently, information for Limited Liability Partnerships (e.g. law firms, architecture firms, engineering firms, public accountancy firms, and land survey firms), General Partnerships, and other entity types are not contained in the California Business Search. If you wish to obtain information about LLPs and GPs, submit a Business Entities Order paper form to request copies of filings for these entity types. Note: This search is not intended to serve as a name reservation search. To reserve an entity name, select Forms on the left panel and select Entity Name Reservation ? Corporation, LLC, LP.

Basic Search

A Basic search can be performed using an entity name or entity number. When conducting a search by an entity number, where applicable, remove "C" from the entity number. Note, a basic search will search only ACTIVE entities (Corporations, Limited Liability Companies, Limited Partnerships, Cooperatives, Name Reservations, Foreign Name Reservations, Unincorporated Common Interest Developments, and Out of State Associations). The basic search performs a contains ?keyword? search. The Advanced search allows for a ?starts with? filter. To search entities that have a status other than active or to refine search criteria, use the Advanced search feature.

Advanced Search

An Advanced search is required when searching for publicly traded disclosure information or a status other than active.

An Advanced search allows for searching by specific entity types (e.g., Nonprofit Mutual Benefit Corporation) or by entity groups (e.g., All Corporations) as well as searching by ?begins with? specific search criteria.

Disclaimer: Search results are limited to the 500 entities closest matching the entered search criteria. If your desired search result is not found within the 500 entities provided, please refine the search criteria using the Advanced search function for additional results/entities. The California Business Search is updated as documents are approved. The data provided is not a complete or certified record.

Although every attempt has been made to ensure that the information contained in the database is accurate, the Secretary of State's office is not responsible for any loss, consequence, or damage resulting directly or indirectly from reliance on the accuracy, reliability, or timeliness of the information that is provided. All such information is provided "as is." To order certified copies or certificates of status, (1) locate an entity using the search; (2) select Request Certificate in the right-hand detail drawer; and (3) complete your request online.

ITEM 1. Business

General

Henry Schein, Inc. is a solutions company for health care professionals powered by a network of people and technology. We believe we are the world's largest provider of health care products and services primarily to office-based dental and medical practitioners, as well as alternate sites of care. Our philosophy is grounded in our commitment to help customers operate a more efficient and successful business so the practitioner can provide better clinical care.

With more than 89 years of experience distributing health care products, we have built a vast set of small, mid-sized and large customers in the dental and medical markets, serving more than one million customers worldwide across dental practices, laboratories, physician practices, and ambulatory surgery centers, as well as government, institutional health care clinics and other alternate care clinics.

We are headquartered in Melville, New York, employ more than 21,600 people (of which approximately 10,700 are based outside the United States) and have operations or affiliates in 32 countries and territories. Our broad global footprint has evolved over time through our organic success as well as through contribution from strategic acquisitions.

We offer a comprehensive selection of more than 120,000 branded products and Henry Schein private brand products in stock, as well as more than 180,000 additional products available as special-order items. Our infrastructure, including over 3.8 million square feet of space in 27 strategically located distribution centers around the world, enables us to historically provide rapid and accurate order fulfillment, better serve our customers and increase our operating efficiency. This infrastructure, together with broad product and service offerings at competitive prices, and a strong commitment to customer service, enables us to be a single source of supply for our customers' needs.

We conduct our business through two reportable segments: (i) health care distribution and (ii) technology and value-added services. These segments offer different products and services to the same customer base. Our dental businesses serve office-based dental practitioners, dental laboratories, schools, government and other institutions. Our medical businesses serve physician offices, urgent care centers, ambulatory care sites, emergency medical technicians, dialysis centers, home health, federal and state governments and large enterprises, such as group practices and integrated delivery networks, among other providers across a wide range of specialties.

The health care distribution reportable segment, combining our global dental and medical businesses, distributes consumable products, dental specialty products, small equipment, laboratory products, large equipment, equipment repair services, branded and generic pharmaceuticals, vaccines, surgical products, diagnostic tests, infection-control products and vitamins. While our primary go-to-market strategy is in our capacity as a distributor, we also market and sell under our own private label portfolio of cost-effective, high-quality consumable merchandise products, and manufacture certain dental specialty products in the areas of implants, orthodontics and endodontics.

The technology and value-added services reportable segment provides software, technology and other value-added services to health care practitioners. Henry Schein One, the largest contributor of sales to this category, offers dental practice management solutions for dental and medical practitioners. In addition, we offer dentists and physicians a broad suite of electronic health records, integrated revenue cycle management, patient communication services including electronic marketing and web-site design, analytics and patient demand generation. Finally, our value-added practice solutions include practice consultancy, education, and the facilitation of financial service offerings (on a non-recourse basis) to help dentists and physicians operate and expand their business operations. We believe our hands-on consultative approach to provide solutions to support practice decision-making is a key differentiator for our business.

Recent Developments

See "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations – Recent Developments" herein for a discussion related to the COVID-19 pandemic and recent corporate transactions.

Industry

The global health care distribution industry, as it relates to office-based health care practitioners, is fragmented and diverse. The industry ranges from sole practitioners working out of relatively small offices to mid-sized and large group practices ranging in size from a few practitioners to several hundred practices owned or operated by dental support organizations (DSOs), medical group purchasing organizations (GPOs), hospital systems or integrated delivery networks (IDNs).

Due in part to the inability of office-based health care practitioners to store and manage large quantities of supplies in their offices, the distribution of health care supplies and small equipment to office-based health care practitioners has been characterized by frequent, small quantity orders, and a need for rapid, reliable and substantially complete order fulfillment. The purchasing decisions within an office-based health care practice are typically made by the practitioner, hygienist or office manager. Supplies and small equipment are generally purchased from more than one distributor, with one generally serving as the primary supplier.

The health care distribution industry continues to experience growth due to demand driven by the aging population, increased health care awareness and the importance of preventative care, an increasing understanding of the connection between good oral health and overall health, improved access to care globally, the proliferation of medical technology and testing, new pharmacology treatments and expanded third-party insurance coverage, partially offset by the effects of unemployment on insurance coverage and technological improvements, including the advancement of software and services, prosthetic solutions and telemedicine. In addition, the non-acute market continues to benefit from the shift of procedures and diagnostic testing from acute care settings to alternate-care sites, particularly physicians' offices and ambulatory surgery centers.

We believe that consolidation within the industry will continue to result in a number of distributors, particularly those with limited financial, operating and marketing resources, seeking to combine with larger companies that can provide growth opportunities. This consolidation also may continue to result in distributors seeking to acquire companies that can enhance their current product and service offerings or provide opportunities to serve a broader customer base.

In addition, customer consolidation will likely lead to multiple locations under common management and the movement of more procedures from the hospital setting to the physician or alternate care setting as the health care industry is increasingly focused on efficiency and cost containment. This trend has benefited distributors capable of providing a broad array of products and services at low prices. It also has accelerated the growth of health maintenance organizations ("HMOs"), group practices, other managed care accounts and collective buying groups, which, in addition to their emphasis on obtaining products at competitive prices, tend to favor distributors capable of providing specialized management information support. We believe that the trend towards cost containment has the potential to favorably affect demand for technology solutions, including software, which can enhance the efficiency and facilitation of practice management.

Competition

The distribution and manufacture of health care supplies and equipment is highly competitive. Many of the health care products we sell are available to our customers from a number of suppliers. In addition, our competitors could obtain exclusive rights from manufacturers to market particular products. Manufacturers also could seek to sell directly to end-users, and thereby eliminate or reduce our role and that of other distributors. In certain parts of the dental end market, such as those related to dental specialty products, and medical end market manufacturers already sell directly to end customers.

In North America, we compete with other distributors, as well as several manufacturers, of dental and medical products, primarily on the basis of price, breadth of product line, e-commerce capabilities, customer service and value-added products and services. In the dental market, our primary competitors in the U.S. are the Patterson Dental division of Patterson Companies, Inc. and Benco Dental Supply Company. In addition, we compete against a number of other distributors that operate on a national, regional and local level. Our primary competitors in the U.S. medical market, which accounts for the large majority of our global medical sales, are McKesson Corporation and Medline Industries, Inc., which are national distributors. We also compete with a number of regional and local medical distributors, as well as a number of manufacturers that sell directly to physicians. With regard to our dental software, we compete against numerous companies, including the Patterson Dental division of Patterson Companies, Inc., Carestream Health, Inc., Open Dental Software, Inc., PlanetDDS LLC, Good Methods Global Inc. (d.b.a. CareStack) and Curve Dental, LLC. In other software end markets, including revenue cycle management, patient relationship management and patient demand generation, we compete with companies such as Vyne Therapeutics Inc., EDI-Health Group, Inc. (d.b.a. Dental X Change, Inc.), Weave Communications, Inc., Solutionreach, Inc., ZocDoc, Inc., LocalMed Inc. and Prosites Inc. The medical practice management and electronic medical records market is fragmented and we compete with numerous companies such as the NextGen division of Quality Systems, Inc., eClinicalWorks, Allscripts Healthcare Solutions, Inc. and Epic Systems Corporation.

Outside of the U.S., we believe we are the only global distributor of supplies and equipment to dental practices and our competitors are primarily local and regional companies. We also face significant competition internationally, where we compete on the basis of price and customer service against several large competitors, including the GACD Group, Proclinc SA, Lifco AB, Planmeca Oy and Billerica Dental Supply Co. Ltd., as well as a large number of other dental and medical product distributors and manufacturers in international countries and territories we serve.

We also provide staffing services, dental practice valuation and brokerage services.

Commitment to superior customer service. We maintain a strong commitment to providing superior customer service. We frequently monitor our customer service through customer surveys, focus groups and statistical reports. Our customer service policy primarily focuses on:

• Exceptional order fulfillment. We ship an average of approximately 156,000 cartons daily. Historically, approximately 99% of items have been shipped without back ordering and were shipped on the same business day the order is received. Due to the significant increase in demand for personal protective equipment ("PPE"), as a result of COVID-19, during the year ended December 25, 2021, approximately 96% of items ordered were shipped without back ordering. As the demand for PPE stabilizes, we expect our percentage of items shipped without back-ordering and shipped on the same day to return to historical levels.

• Comprehensive ordering process. Customers may place orders 24 hours a day, 7 days a week via e-commerce solutions, telephone, fax, e-mail and mail.

Integrated management information systems. Our information systems generally allow for centralized management of key functions, including accounts receivable, inventory, accounts payable, payroll, purchasing, sales, order fulfillment and financial and operational reporting. These systems allow us to manage our growth, deliver superior customer service, properly target customers, manage financial performance and monitor daily operational statistics.

Cost-effective purchasing. We believe that cost-effective purchasing is a key element to maintaining and enhancing our position as a competitively priced provider of health care products. We continuously evaluate our purchase requirements and suppliers' offerings and prices in order to obtain products at the lowest possible cost. In 2021, our top 10 health care distribution suppliers and our single largest supplier accounted for approximately 30% and 4%, respectively, of our aggregate purchases.

Efficient distribution. We distribute our products from our strategically located distribution centers. We strive to maintain optimal inventory levels in order to satisfy customer demand for prompt delivery and complete order fulfillment. These inventory levels are managed on a daily basis with the aid of our management information systems. Once an order is entered, it is electronically transmitted to the distribution center nearest the customer's location for order fulfillment.

Business Strategy

Our objective is to continue to expand as a global value-added provider of health care products and services to office-based dental and medical practitioners by increasing their efficiency and success. To accomplish this, we apply our competitive strengths in executing the following strategies:

- Increase penetration of our existing customer base. We have over 1 million customers worldwide and we intend to increase sales to our existing customer base and enhance our position as their primary supplier. We believe our offering of a broad range of products, services and support, including software solutions that can help drive improved workflow efficiency and patient communications for practices, coupled with our full-service value proposition, helps us to retain and grow our customer base.
- Increase the number of customers we serve. This strategy includes increasing the productivity of our field sales consultants and telesales team, as well as using our customer database to focus our marketing efforts in all of our operating segments. In the dental business, we provide products and services to independent practices, mid-market groups, and large DSOs as well as community health centers and government sites of care. Leveraging our broad array of assets and capabilities, we offer solutions to address these new markets. In the medical business, we have expanded to serve customers located in settings outside of the traditional office, such as urgent care clinics, retail, occupational health and home health settings. As settings of health care shift, we remain committed to serving these practitioners and providing them with the products and services they need.
- Leverage our value-added products and services. We continue to increase cross-selling efforts for key product lines utilizing a consultative selling process. In the dental business, we have significant cross-selling opportunities between our dental software users and our dental distribution customers. In the medical business, we have opportunities to expand our vaccine, injectables and other pharmaceuticals sales to health care practitioners, as well as cross-selling EHR systems and software when we sell our core products. Our strategy extends to providing health systems, integrated delivery networks and other large group and multi-site health care organizations, including physician clinics, these same value added products and services. As physicians and health systems closely align, we have increased access to opportunities for cross-marketing and selling our product and service portfolios.
- Pursue strategic acquisitions and joint ventures. Our acquisition strategy is focused on investments in companies that add new customers and sales teams, increase our geographic footprint (whether entering a new country, such as emerging markets, or building scale where we have already invested in businesses), and finally, those that enable us to access new products and technologies.

Markets Served

Demographic trends indicate that our markets are growing, as an aging U.S. population is increasingly using health care services. According to the U.S. Census Bureau's International Database, between 2021 and 2031, the 45 and older population is expected to grow by approximately 11%. Between 2021 and 2041, this age group is expected to grow by approximately 22%. This compares with expected total U.S. population growth rates of approximately 7% between 2021 and 2031 and approximately 12% between 2021 and 2041.

In the dental industry, there is predicted to be a rise in oral health care expenditures as the 45-and-older segment of the population increases. There is increasing demand for new technologies that allow dentists to increase productivity, and this is being driven in the U.S. by lower insurance reimbursement rates. At the same time, there is an expected increase in dental insurance coverage.

In the medical market, there continues to be a migration of procedures from acute-care settings to physicians' offices and home health settings, a trend that we believe provides additional opportunities for us. There also is the continuing use of vaccines, injectables and other pharmaceuticals in alternate-care settings. We believe we have established a leading position as a vaccine supplier to the office-based physician practitioner.

Table of Contents

We support our dental and medical professionals through the many SKUs that we offer, as well as through important value-added services, including practice management software, electronic claims processing, financial services and continuing education, all designed to help maximize a practitioner's efficiency.

Additionally, we seek to expand our dental full-service model and medical offerings in countries where opportunities exist. We do this through both direct sales and by partnering with local distribution companies.

For information on revenues and long-lived assets by geographic area, see Note 3 – Segment and Geographic Data of “Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements.”

Seasonality and Other Factors Affecting Our Business and Quarterly Results

We experience fluctuations in quarterly earnings. As a result, we may fail to meet or exceed the expectations of securities analysts and investors, which could cause our stock price to decline.

Our business is subject to seasonal and other quarterly fluctuations. Sales and profitability generally have been higher in the third and fourth quarters due to the timing of sales of seasonal products (including influenza vaccine) purchasing patterns of office-based health care practitioners for certain products (including equipment and software) and year-end promotions. Sales and profitability may also be impacted by the timing of certain annual and biennial dental tradeshow where equipment promotions are offered. In addition, some dental practices delay equipment purchases in the U.S. until year-end due to tax incentives. We expect our historical seasonality of sales to continue in the foreseeable future.

Governmental Regulations

We strive to be compliant with the applicable laws, regulations and guidance described below, and believe we have effective compliance programs and other controls in place to ensure substantial compliance. However, compliance is not guaranteed either now or in the future, as certain laws, regulations and guidance may be subject to varying and evolving interpretations that could affect our ability to comply, as well as future changes, additions and enforcement approaches, including political changes. President Biden's administration (the “Biden Administration”) has indicated that it will be more aggressive in its pursuit of alleged violations of law, and it has revoked certain guidance that would have limited governmental use of informal agency guidance to pursue potential violations, as well as that it was more prepared to pursue individuals for corporate law violations, including an aggressive approach to anti-corruption activities. Changes to applicable laws, regulations and guidance described below, as well as related administrative or judicial interpretations, may require us to update or revise our operations, services, marketing practices and compliance programs and controls, and may impose additional and unforeseen costs on us, pose new or previously immaterial risks to us, or may otherwise have a material adverse effect on our business.

Government

Certain of our businesses involve the distribution, importation, exportation, marketing and sale of, and third party payment for, pharmaceuticals and medical devices, and in this regard, we are subject to extensive local, state, federal and foreign governmental laws and regulations, including as applicable to our wholesale distribution of pharmaceuticals and medical devices, and as part of our specialty home medical supply business that distributes and sells medical equipment and supplies directly to patients. The federal government and state governments have also increased enforcement activity in the health care sector, particularly in areas of fraud and abuse, anti-bribery and corruption, controlled substances handling, medical device regulations and data privacy and security standards.

Government and private insurance programs fund a large portion of the total cost of medical care, and there have been efforts to limit such private and government insurance programs, including efforts, thus far unsuccessful, to seek repeal of the entire United States Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, as amended by the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act, each enacted in March 2010, (as amended, the “ACA”). In addition, activities to control medical costs, including laws and regulations lowering reimbursement rates for pharmaceuticals, medical devices and/or medical treatments or services, are ongoing. Many of these laws and regulations are subject to change and their evolving implementation may impact our operations and our financial performance.

Our businesses are also generally subject to numerous other laws and regulations that could impact our financial performance, including securities, antitrust, consumer protection, anti-bribery and anti-kickback, customer interaction transparency, data privacy, data security, government contracting, price gouging and other laws and regulations.

Failure to comply with laws, rules or regulations could have a material adverse effect on our business.

Operating, Security and Licensure Standards

Certain of our businesses are subject to local, state and federal governmental laws and regulations relating to the distribution of pharmaceuticals and medical devices and supplies. Among the United States federal laws applicable to us are the Controlled Substances Act, the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, as amended ("FDC Act"), and Section 361 of the Public Health Service Act, as well as laws regulating the billing of and reimbursement from government programs, such as Medicare and Medicaid, and from commercial payers. We are also subject to comparable foreign regulations.

The FDC Act, the Controlled Substances Act, their implementing regulations, and similar foreign laws generally regulate the introduction, manufacture, advertising, marketing and promotion, sampling, pricing and reimbursement, labeling, packaging, storage, handling, returning or recalling, reporting, and distribution of, and record keeping for, pharmaceuticals and medical devices shipped in interstate commerce, and states may similarly regulate such activities within the state. Furthermore, Section 361 of the Public Health Service Act, which provides authority to prevent the introduction, transmission or spread of communicable diseases, serves as the legal basis for the United States Food and Drug Administration's ("FDA") regulation of human cells, tissues and cellular and tissue-based products, also known as "HCT/P products."

The Federal Drug Quality and Security Act of 2013 brought about significant changes with respect to pharmaceutical supply chain requirements. Title II of this measure, known as the Drug Supply Chain Security Act ("DSCSA"), is being phased in over a period of ten years, and is intended to build a national electronic, interoperable system by November 27, 2023, that will identify and trace certain prescription drugs as they are distributed in the United States. The law's track and trace requirements applicable to manufacturers, wholesalers, repackagers and dispensers (e.g., pharmacies) of prescription drugs took effect in January 2015, and continues to be implemented. The DSCSA product tracing requirements replace the former FDA drug pedigree requirements and pre-empt certain state requirements that are inconsistent with, more stringent than, or in addition to, the DSCSA requirements.

The DSCSA also establishes certain requirements for the licensing and operation of prescription drug wholesalers and third-party logistics providers ("3PLs"), and includes the eventual creation of national wholesaler and 3PL licenses in cases where states do not license such entities. The DSCSA requires that wholesalers and 3PLs distribute drugs in accordance with certain standards regarding the recordkeeping, storage and handling of prescription drugs. The DSCSA requires wholesalers and 3PLs to submit annual reports to the FDA, which include information regarding each state where the wholesaler or 3PL is licensed, the name and address of each facility and contact information. According to FDA guidance, states are pre-empted from imposing any licensing requirements that are inconsistent with, less stringent than, directly related to, or covered by the standards established by federal law in this area. Current state licensing requirements concerning wholesalers will remain in effect until the FDA issues new regulations as directed by the DSCSA. In addition, with respect to our specialty home medical supply business, we are subject to certain state licensure laws (including state pharmacy laws), and also certain accreditation standards, including to qualify for reimbursement from Medicare and other third-party payers.

The Food and Drug Administration Amendments Act of 2007 and the Food and Drug Administration Safety and Innovation Act of 2012 amended the FDC Act to require the FDA to promulgate regulations to implement a unique device identification ("UDI") system. The UDI rule phased in the implementation of the UDI regulations, generally beginning with the highest-risk devices (i.e., Class III medical devices) and ending with the lowest-risk devices. Most compliance dates were reached as of September 24, 2018, with a final set of requirements for low risk devices being reached on September 24, 2022, which will complete the phase in. However, in May 2021, the FDA issued an enforcement policy stating that it does not intend to object to the use of legacy identification numbers on device labels and packages for finished devices manufactured and labeled prior to September 24, 2023. The UDI regulations require "labelers" to include unique device identifiers ("UDIs"), with a content and format prescribed by the FDA and issued under a system operated by an FDA-accredited issuing agency, on the labels and packages of medical devices (including, but not limited to, certain software that qualifies as a medical device under FDA rules), and to directly mark certain devices with UDIs. The UDI regulations also require labelers to submit certain information concerning UDI-labeled devices to the FDA, much of which information is publicly available on an FDA database, the Global Unique Device Identification Database. The UDI regulations and subsequent FDA guidance regarding the UDI requirements provide for certain exceptions, alternatives and time extensions. For example, the UDI regulations include a general exception for Class I devices exempt from the Quality System Regulation (other than record-keeping requirements and complaint files). Regulated labelers include entities such as device manufacturers, repackagers, reproducers and relabelers that cause a device's label to be applied or modified, with the intent that the device will be commercially distributed without any subsequent replacement or modification of the label and include certain of our businesses.

Under the Controlled Substances Act, as a distributor of controlled substances, we are required to obtain and renew annually registrations for our facilities from the United States Drug Enforcement Administration ("DEA") permitting us to handle controlled substances. We are also subject to other statutory and regulatory requirements relating to the storage, sale, marketing, handling, reporting, record-keeping and distribution of such drugs, in accordance with the Controlled Substances Act and its implementing regulations, and these requirements have been subject to heightened enforcement activity in recent times. We are subject to inspection by the DEA. Certain of our businesses are also required to register for permits and/or licenses with, and comply with operating and security standards of, the DEA, the FDA, the United States Department of Health and Human Services ("HHS"), and various state boards of pharmacy, state health departments and/or comparable state agencies as well as comparable foreign agencies, and certain accrediting bodies, depending on the type of operations and location of product distribution, manufacturing or sale. These businesses include those that distribute, manufacture and/or repackage prescription pharmaceuticals and/or medical devices and/or HCT/P products, or own pharmacy operations, or install, maintain or repair equipment.

In addition, Section 301 of the National Organ Transplant Act, and a number of comparable state laws, impose civil and/or criminal penalties for the transfer of certain human tissue (for example, human bone products) for valuable consideration, while generally permitting payments for the reasonable costs incurred in procuring, processing, storing and distributing that tissue. We are also subject to foreign government regulation of such products. The DEA, the FDA and state regulatory authorities have broad inspection and enforcement powers, including the ability to suspend or limit the distribution of products by our distribution centers, seize or order the recall of products and impose significant criminal, civil and administrative sanctions for violations of these laws and regulations. Foreign regulations subject us to similar foreign enforcement powers.

EU Regulation of Medicinal and Dental Products

European Union ("EU") member states regulate their own healthcare systems, as does EU law. The latter regulates certain matters, most notably medicinal products and medical devices. Medicinal products are defined, broadly, as substances or combinations of substances having certain functionalities and may not include medical devices. EU "regulations" apply in all Member States, whereas "directives" are implemented by the individual laws of member states.

On medicines for humans, we are regulated under Directive No. 2001/83/EC of 6 November 2001, as amended by Directive 2003/63/EC of 25 June 2003, and EU Regulation (EC) No. 726/2004 of 31 March 2004. These rules provide for the authorization of products, and regulate their manufacture, importation, marketing and distribution. It implements requirements which may be implemented without warning, as well as a national pharmacovigilance system under which marketing authorizations may be withdrawn, and includes potential sanctions for breaches of the rules, and on other bases such as harmfulness or inefficiency.

EU Regulation No. 1223/2009 of 30 November 2009 on cosmetic products requires that cosmetic products (which includes dental products) be safe for human health when used under normal or reasonably foreseeable conditions of use and comply with certain obligations which apply to manufacturer, importer and distributor. It includes market surveillance, and non-compliance may result in the recall or withdrawal of products, along with other sanctions.

Table of Contents

In the EU, the EU Medical Device Regulation No. 2017/745 of 5 April 2017 ("EU MDR") covers a wide scope of our activities, from dental material to X-ray machines, and certain software. It was meant to become applicable three years after publication (i.e., May 26, 2020). However, on April 23, 2020, to allow European Economic Area ("EEA") national authorities, notified bodies, manufacturers and other actors to focus fully on urgent priorities related to the COVID-19 pandemic, the European Council and Parliament adopted Regulation 2020/561, postponing the date of application of the EU MDR by one year (to May 26, 2021).

The EU MDR significantly modifies and intensifies the regulatory compliance requirements for the medical device industry as a whole. Among other things, the EU MDR:

- strengthens the rules on placing devices on the market and reinforces surveillance once they are available;
- establishes explicit provisions on manufacturers' responsibilities for the follow-up of the quality, performance and safety of devices placed on the market;
- improves the traceability of medical devices throughout the supply chain to the end-user or patient through a unique identification number;
- sets up a central database to provide patients, healthcare professionals and the public with comprehensive information on products available in the EU;
- strengthens rules for the assessment of certain high-risk devices, such as implants, which may have to undergo an additional check by experts before they are placed on the market; and
- identifies importers and distributors and medical device products through registration in a database (EUDAMED not due until May 26, 2022 and after).

In particular, the EU MDR imposes stricter requirements for the confirmation that a product meets the regulatory requirements, including regarding a product's clinical evaluation and a company's quality systems, and for the distribution, marketing and sale of medical devices, including post-market surveillance. Medical devices that have been assessed and/or certified under the EU Medical Device Directive may continue to be placed on the market until 2024 (or until the expiry of their certificates, if applicable and earlier); however, requirements regarding the distribution, marketing and sale including quality systems and post-market surveillance have to be observed by manufacturers, importers and distributors as of the application date.

Other EU regulations that may apply under appropriate circumstances include EU Regulation No. 1907/2006 of 18 December 2006 concerning the Registration, Evaluation, Authorisation and Restriction of Chemicals, which requires importers to register substances or mixtures that they import in the EU beyond certain quantities, and the EU Regulation No. 1272/2008 of 16 December 2008 on classification, labelling and packaging of substances and mixtures, which sets various obligations with respect to the labelling and packaging of concerned substances and mixtures.

Furthermore, compliance with legal requirements has required and may in the future require us to delay product release, sale or distribution, or institute voluntary recalls of, or other corrective action with respect, to products we sell, each of which could result in regulatory and enforcement actions, financial losses and potential reputational harm. Our customers are also subject to significant federal, state, local and foreign governmental regulation, which may affect our interactions with customers, including the design and functionality of our products.

Certain of our businesses are subject to various additional federal, state, local and foreign laws and regulations, including with respect to the sale, transportation, storage, handling and disposal of hazardous or potentially hazardous substances, and safe working conditions. In addition, certain of our businesses must operate in compliance with a variety of burdensome and complex billing and record-keeping requirements in order to substantiate claims for payment under federal, state and commercial healthcare reimbursement programs. One of these businesses was recently suspended by CMS from receiving payments from Medicare, although it is permitted to continue to perform and bill for Medicare services. The amounts billed are being deposited in an escrow account pending resolution of an audit. The Company has not recognized revenue for these services and has currently deferred slightly over $4 million in revenue.

Certain of our businesses also maintain contracts with governmental agencies and are subject to certain regulatory requirements specific to government contractors.

Antitrust and Consumer Protection

The federal government of the United States, most U.S. states and many foreign countries have antitrust laws that prohibit certain types of conduct deemed to be anti-competitive, as well as consumer protection laws that seek to protect consumers from improper business practices. At the U.S. federal level, the Federal Trade Commission oversees enforcement of these types of laws, and states have similar government agencies. Violations of antitrust or consumer protection laws may result in various sanctions, including criminal and civil penalties. Private plaintiffs may also bring civil lawsuits against us in the United States for alleged antitrust law violations, including claims for treble damages. EU law also regulates competition and provides for detailed rules protecting consumers. The Biden Administration has indicated increased antitrust enforcement and has been more aggressive in enforcement activities.

Health Care Fraud

Certain of our businesses are subject to federal and state (and similar foreign) health care fraud and abuse, referral and reimbursement laws and regulations with respect to their operations. Some of these laws, referred to as "false claims laws," prohibit the submission or causing the submission of false or fraudulent claims for reimbursement to federal, state and other health care payers and programs. Other laws, referred to as "anti-kickback laws," prohibit soliciting, offering, receiving or paying remuneration in order to induce the referral of a patient or ordering, purchasing, leasing or arranging for, or recommending ordering, purchasing or leasing of, items or services that are paid for by federal, state and other health care payers and programs. Certain additional state and federal laws, such as the federal Physician Self-Referral Law, commonly known as the "Stark Law," prohibit physicians and other health professionals from referring a patient to an entity with which the physician (or family member) has a financial relationship, for the furnishing of certain designated health services (for example, durable medical equipment and medical supplies), unless an exception applies. Violations of Anti-Kickback Statutes or the Stark Law may be enforced as violations of the federal False Claims Act.

The fraud and abuse laws and regulations have been subject to heightened enforcement activity over the past few years, and significant enforcement activity has been the result of "relators" who serve as whistleblowers by filing complaints in the name of the United States (and if applicable, particular states) under applicable false claims laws, and who may receive up to 30% of total government recoveries. Penalties under fraud and abuse laws may be severe, including treble damages and substantial civil penalties under the federal False Claims Act, as well as potential loss of licenses and the ability to participate in federal and state health care programs, criminal penalties, or imposition of a corporate compliance monitor which could have a material adverse effect on our business. Also, these measures may be interpreted or applied by a prosecutorial, regulatory or judicial authority in a manner that could require us to make changes in our operations or incur substantial defense and settlement expenses. Even unsuccessful challenges by regulatory authorities or private relators could result in reputational harm and the incurring of substantial costs. Most states have adopted similar state false claims laws, and these state laws have their own penalties, which may be in addition to federal False Claims Act penalties, as well as other fraud and abuse laws.

With respect to measures of this type, the United States government (among others) has expressed concerns about financial relationships between suppliers on the one hand and physicians and dentists on the other. As a result, we regularly review and revise our marketing practices as necessary to facilitate compliance.

We also are subject to certain United States and foreign laws and regulations concerning the conduct of our foreign operations, including the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, the U.K. Bribery Act, German anti-corruption laws and other anti-bribery laws and laws pertaining to the accuracy of our internal books and records, which have been the focus of increasing enforcement activity globally in recent years.

While we believe that we are substantially compliant with applicable fraud and abuse laws and regulations, and have adequate compliance programs and controls in place to ensure substantial compliance, we cannot predict whether changes in applicable law, or interpretation of laws, or changes in our services or marketing practices in response to changes in applicable law or interpretation of laws, or failure to comply with applicable law, could have a material adverse effect on our business.

Provide explanation below:

Neogen's 1847 Mercer Road, Lexington, KY 40511 location (a facility which is not the subject of this application but is held under common ownership) holds a permit with the Kentucky Board of Pharmacy. The permit's requirements include designation of a consultant pharmacist as the pharmacist in charge, or "PIC," of the licensed facility. On June 30, 2016, the previous PIC resigned. The Kentucky Board of Pharmacy allows thirty days to secure a new pharmacist in a case such as this.

Due to the limited availability of qualified consultant pharmacists and the associated administrative process for placing a designee in this role, a new PIC was officially instated on August 29, 2016. The Kentucky Board of Pharmacy issued a fine of $1,000 and upon payment of said fine, this case was resolved informally through an Agreed Order. The final Agreed Order has been provided as an attachment to this application. The Kentucky Board of Pharmacy permit remains current and in good standing.

PART I
(Dollar amounts in thousands)

ITEM 1. BUSINESS

Neogen Corporation and its subsidiaries develop, manufacture, and market a diverse line of products and services dedicated to food and animal safety. Our Food Safety segment consists primarily of diagnostic test kits and complementary products (e.g., culture media) sold to food producers and processors to detect dangerous and/or unintended substances in human food and animal feed, such as foodborne pathogens, spoilage organisms, natural toxins, food allergens, genetic modifications, ruminant by-products, meat speciation, drug residues, pesticide residues and general sanitation concerns. Our diagnostic test kits are generally easier to use and provide greater accuracy and speed than conventional diagnostic methods. The majority of these test kits are disposable, single-use, immunoassay and DNA detection products that rely on proprietary antibodies and RNA and DNA testing methodologies to produce rapid and accurate test results. Our expanding line of food safety products also includes genomics-based diagnostic technology and advanced software systems that help testers to objectively analyze and store their results and perform analysis on the results from multiple locations over extended periods.

On September 1, 2022, Neogen, 3M Company ("3M") and Neogen Food Safety Corporation ("Neogen Food Safety Corporation"), a subsidiary created to carve out 3M's Food Safety Division ("3M FSD", "FSD"), closed on a transaction combining 3M's FSD with Neogen in a Reverse Morris Trust transaction and Neogen Food Safety Corporation became a wholly owned subsidiary of Neogen ("FSD transaction", the "Transaction"). Following the FSD transaction, pre-merger Neogen Food Safety Corporation stockholders own, in the aggregate, approximately 50.1% of the issued and outstanding shares of Neogen common stock, and pre-merger Neogen shareholders own, in the aggregate, approximately 49.9% of the issued and outstanding shares of Neogen common stock. See Note 3 "Business Combinations" to the consolidated financial statements for further discussion. FSD products are reported in the Food Safety segment.

Neogen's Animal Safety segment is engaged in the development, manufacture, marketing, and distribution of veterinary instruments, pharmaceuticals, vaccines, topicals, parasiticides, diagnostic products, rodent control products, cleaners, disinfectants, insect control products and genomics testing services for the worldwide animal safety market. The majority of these consumable products are marketed through veterinarians, retailers, livestock producers, and animal health product distributors. Our line of drug detection products is sold worldwide for the detection of abused and therapeutic drugs in animals and animal products, and has expanded into the workplace and human forensic markets.

Neogen's products are marketed by our sales personnel and distributors throughout the world. Our mission is to be the leading company in the development and marketing of solutions for food and animal safety. To meet this mission, a growth strategy consisting of the following elements has been developed: (i) increasing sales of existing products; (ii) introducing innovative products and services; (iii) growing international sales; and (iv) acquiring businesses and forming strategic alliances. We have been historically successful at increasing product sales organically, including international growth, and maintain an active acquisition program to identify and capitalize on opportunities to acquire new products, businesses or technology.

Neogen operates in two business areas: the Food Safety and Animal Safety segments. See the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" section of this Form 10-K for financial information about our business segments and international operations.

FOOD SAFETY SEGMENT

Neogen's Food Safety segment primarily is engaged in the production and marketing of diagnostic test kits and complementary products marketed to food and feed producers and processors to detect dangerous and/or unintended substances in food and animal feed, such as foodborne pathogens, spoilage organisms, natural toxins, food allergens, genetic modifications and general sanitation concerns. Our test kits are used to detect potential hazards or unintended substances in food and animal feed by testers ranging from small local grain elevators to the largest, best-known food and feed processors in the world, and numerous regulatory agencies. Along with detection of contaminants in foods, we also detect beneficial components in foods such as dietary fiber and carbohydrates.

Neogen's products include tests for:

Mycotoxins. Grain producers and processors of all types and sizes use our Veratox, Agri-Screen, Reveal, Reveal Q+ and Reveal Q+ MAX tests to detect the presence of mycotoxins, including aflatoxin, aflatoxin M1, deoxynivalenol, fumonisin, ochratoxin, zearalenone, T-2/HT-2 toxin and ergot alkaloid, to help ensure product safety and quality in food and animal feed.

Food allergens. The world's largest producers of cookies, crackers, candy, ice cream and many other betaprocessed foods use our Veratox, Alert, Reveal, Reveal 3-D and BioKits testing products to help protect their food-allergic customers from the inadvertent contamination of products with food allergens, including but not limited to peanut, milk, egg, almond, gliadin (gluten), soy, hazelnut and coconut residues. Also included in our food allergen testing portfolio are Allergen Protein Rapid Kits and Allergen Protein ELISA Kits, acquired as part of the FSD transaction in September of 2022.

Foodborne pathogens. Meat and poultry processors, seafood processors, fruit and vegetable producers and many other market segments are the primary users of Neogen's ANSR and Reveal tests for foodborne bacteria, including E. coli O157:H7, Salmonella, Listeria and Campylobacter. Neogen's ANSR pathogen detection system is an isothermal amplification reaction test method that exponentially amplifies the DNA of any bacteria present in food and environmental samples to detectable levels in 10 minutes. Combined with ANSR's single enrichment step, Neogen's pathogen detection method provides DNA-definitive results in a fraction of the time of other molecular detection methods. The Molecular Detection System, an isothermal DNA detection and bioluminescence device, and unique Molecular Detection Assays provide a total solution for fast and accurate pathogen detection, acquired as part of the FSD transaction in September 2022. Our Listeria Right Now test detects the pathogen in less than 60 minutes without sample enrichment. Reveal's lateral flow device combines an immunoassay with chromatography for a rapid and accurate one-step result.

Spoilage microorganisms. Neogen's Soleris products are used by food processors to identify the presence of spoilage organisms (e.g., yeast and mold) and other microbiological contamination in food. The systems measure microbial growth by monitoring biochemical reactions that generate a color change in the media as microorganisms grow. The sensitivity of the system allows detection in a fraction of the time needed for traditional methods, with less labor and handling time. Our NeoSeek genomics services utilize a novel application of metagenomics to determine all bacteria in a sample, without introducing biases from culture media, and without the need to generate a bacterial isolate for each possible microbe in a sample. The Microbial Luminescence System (MLS II), acquired in the September 2022 FSD transaction, is designed for the rapid detection of microbial contamination in dairy and dairy-related products, utilizing adenosine triphosphate ("ATP") bioluminescence technology.

Sanitation monitoring. Neogen manufactures and markets our AccuPoint Advanced rapid sanitation test to detect the presence of ATP, a chemical found in all living cells. Also included in our ATP sanitation monitoring portfolio is the Clean-Trace™ hygiene monitoring system, acquired as part of the FSD transaction in September 2022. These easy-to-use and inexpensive tests use bioluminescence to quickly determine if a contact surface has been completely sanitized. When ATP comes into contact with reagents contained in the test device, a reaction takes place that produces light. More light is indicative of higher levels of ATP and a need for more thorough sanitation. Our worldwide customer base for ATP sanitation testing products includes food and beverage processors, the food service and healthcare industries, as well as many other users.

Seafood contaminants. Neogen's specialty products for the seafood market include tests for histamine, a highly allergenic substance that occurs when certain species of fish begin to decay; and sulfite, an effective but potentially allergenic shrimp preservative.

Waterborne microorganisms. Neogen offers the food and beverage industries, including water companies, several platforms for performing the microbial analysis of water. This includes Neogen's filter tests, which are a combination of Neogen Filter membrane filtration and Neogen Culture Media ampouled media, and an easy-to-use Colitag product. With Colitag, after an incubation period, the sample changes color in the presence of coliforms and fluoresces in the presence of E. coli.

Culture media. Neogen Culture Media, formerly Neogen's Acumedia and Lab M products, offers culture media and prepared media for varied purposes, including traditional bacterial testing and the growth of beneficial bacteria, such as cultures for sausages and beer. Also included under Neogen Culture Media is the Petrifilm solution, acquired as part of the FSD transaction in September 2022. Petrifilm standard and rapid plates are all-in-one plating systems that serve as an efficient method for the detection and enumeration of various microorganisms. Our customers for culture media also include commercial and research laboratories and producers of pharmaceuticals, cosmetics and veterinary vaccines.

Food quality diagnostics. Through the Ireland-based Megazyme, Ltd., Neogen supplies diagnostic kits and specialty enzymes used worldwide by quality control laboratories in the food, animal feed and beverage industries. Megazyme's validated assays and reagents are used across various food industries such as the grain, wine and dairy markets, to measure dietary fibers, complex carbohydrates, simple sugars and organic acids, such as lactose.

Sample handling. Neogen offers a range of sample handling products, acquired through the September 2022 FSD transaction. These innovative solutions are designed to make environmental and carcass sample collection and preparation more reliable and convenient than traditional methods. These products are manufactured to meet the highest quality standards and government regulations, maximizing accuracy, consistency and efficiency, while remaining cost efficient.

Digital services. Our food safety and risk management software-as-a-service, Neogen Analytics, delivers a comprehensive Environmental Monitoring Program (EMP) automation solution for food companies. The software reduces risk by increasing the visibility of food safety testing results, elevating the ability to comply with and improve food safety standards. With the Corvium acquisition in February 2023, Neogen's capabilities expanded with additional services and modules to include data aggregation and digitalized workflow services for product testing and sanitation programs.

Laboratory services. Neogen offers food safety analysis services in the United States ("U.S."), United Kingdom ("U.K.") and India. These ISO-accredited laboratories offer a variety of fee-for-service tests for the food and feed industries.

The majority of Neogen's food safety test kits use immunoassay technology to rapidly detect target substances. Our ability to produce high-quality antibodies sets our products apart from immunoassay test kits produced and sold by other companies. Our kits are available in microwell formats, which allow for automated and rapid processing of a large number of samples, as well as lateral flow and other similar devices that provide distinct visual results. Typically, test kits use antibody-coated test devices and chemical reagents to indicate a positive or negative result for the presence of a target substance in a test sample. The simplicity of the tests makes them accessible to all levels of food producers, processors and handlers. Neogen also offers other testing methods and products to complement its immunoassay tests.

Our test kits are generally based on internally developed technology, licensed technology, or technology that is acquired as a result of acquisitions. In fiscal 2023, the Food Safety segment incurred expense totaling $3,118 for royalties for licensed technology used in our products, including expense of $838 for allergen products and $489 for the pathogen product line. Generally, royalty rates are in the range of 2% to 10% of revenues on products containing the licensed technology. Some licenses involve technology that is exclusive to Neogen's use, while others are non-exclusive and involve technology licensed to multiple licensees.

Neogen's international operations in the U.K., Europe, Mexico, Guatemala, Brazil, Argentina, Uruguay, Chile, China and India originally focused on food safety products, and each of these units reports through the Food Safety segment. In recent years, these operations have expanded to offer our complete line of products and services, including those usually associated with the Animal Safety segment, such as cleaners, disinfectants, rodent control, insect control, veterinary instruments and genomics services. These additional products and services are managed and directed by existing management at our international operations and report through the Food Safety segment.

Revenues from Neogen's Food Safety segment accounted for 66.5%, 49.3%, and 50.0% of our total revenues for fiscal years ended May 31, 2023, 2022 and 2021, respectively.

ANIMAL SAFETY SEGMENT

Neogen's Animal Safety segment is primarily engaged in the development, manufacture, marketing, and distribution of veterinary instruments, pharmaceuticals, vaccines, topicals, parasiticides, diagnostic products, a full suite of agricultural biosecurity products such as rodent control, cleaners, disinfectants and insect control, and genomics services.

Veterinary instruments. Neogen markets a broad line of veterinary instruments and animal health delivery systems primarily under the Ideal brand name. Approximately 250 different products are offered, many of which are used to deliver animal health products, such as antibiotics and vaccines. Ideal's D3 and D3X Needles are stronger than conventional veterinary needles and are detectable by metal detectors at meat processing facilities — a potential market advantage in the safety-conscious beef and swine industries. Neogen's Prima product line consists of highly accurate devices used by farmers, ranchers and veterinarians to inject animals, provide topical applications and use for oral administration. The Prima line also includes products used in artificial insemination in the swine industry, animal identification products and handling equipment.

Veterinary pharmaceuticals. Animal Safety's NeogenVet product line provides innovative, value-added, high quality products to the veterinary market. Top NeogenVet products include PanaKare, a digestive aid that serves as a replacement therapy where digestion of protein, carbohydrate and fat is inadequate due to exocrine pancreatic insufficiency; Natural Vitamin E-AD, which aids in the prevention and treatment of vitamin deficiencies in swine, cattle and sheep; RenaKare, a supplement for potassium deficiency in cats and dogs; and ThyroKare, a supplement used as replacement therapy for dogs with diminished thyroid function. Neogen also markets Uniprim, a veterinary antibiotic, and several companion animal parasiticides.

Veterinary biologics. Neogen's BotVax B vaccine has successfully protected thousands of horses and foals against Type B botulism, commonly known as Shaker Foal Syndrome. Our product is the only USDA-approved vaccine for the prevention of Type B botulism in horses. Years of research and many thousands of doses have proven Neogen's EqStim immunostimulant to be safe and effective as a veterinarian-administered adjunct to conventional treatment of equine bacterial and viral respiratory infections. The Company's ImmunoRegulin product uses similar immunostimulant technology to aid in the treatment of pyoderma (a bacterial skin inflammation) in dogs.

Veterinary OTC products. Animal Safety products offered by Neogen to the retail over-the-counter (OTC) market include Ideal brand veterinary instruments packaged for the retail market. OTC products also include Stress-Dex, an oral electrolyte replacer for performance horses, and Fura-Zone, for the prevention and treatment of surface bacterial infections in wounds, burns and cutaneous ulcers. Hoof care, disposables and artificial insemination supplies are marketed to the dairy and veterinary industries.

Rodent control products. Neogen's comprehensive line of proven rodent control products, sold under brand names such as Ramik, CyKill and Havoc, effectively address rodent problems of any size and serve as a critical component of an overall biosecurity plan for animal protein production operations. Neogen offers several active ingredients, including diphacinone, bromethalin, brodifacoum and zinc phosphide, formulated with food-grade ingredients to generate the highest acceptance and most palatable bait possible.

Cleaners and disinfectants. Used in animal and food production facilities, Neogen's cleaners and disinfectants, including Synergize, 904 Disinfectant, Acid-A-Foam, BioPhene, Neogen Viroxide Super, and Companion, can prevent disease outbreaks. The products are also used in the veterinary clinic market to maintain sanitary conditions and limit the potential hazards of bacteria, fungi and viruses. Neogen's water line cleaner and disinfectant products, including Peraside, NeoKlor, AquaPrime and Siloxycide, are used to clean water lines and provide continuous disinfection of a livestock facility's water supply.

Insect control products. Neogen's highly effective insect control products utilize environmentally friendly technical formulas, and several are approved for use in food establishments and by pest control professionals in a wide range of environments. The Company's Prozap insect control brand is used in the large animal production industry, particularly with dairy and equine producers. Neogen's SureKill line of products is used by professionals to control a variety of insects, and the Company's StandGuard Pour-on solution is used for horn fly and lice control in beef cattle.

Animal genomics services. Neogen Genomics provides value-added services to leading agricultural genetics providers, large national cattle associations, companion animal breed registries and direct-to-consumer canine genetic test providers, university researchers, and numerous commercial beef and dairy cattle, swine, sheep and poultry producers. With state-of-the-art genomics laboratories and comprehensive bioinformatics to interpret genomics test results, Neogen Genomics offers identity and trait determination and analysis. Our technology employs high-density DNA genotyping and genomic sequencing for identity and trait analysis in a variety of important animal and agricultural plant species. Our extensive bioinformatics database identifies and predicts an animal's positive or negative traits based on DNA test results. This information has helped livestock producers increase the speed of genetic improvement in their herds and the overall performance and quality of their animals. Neogen's December 2021 acquisition of Genetic Veterinary Sciences, Inc. expanded the Company's portfolio through the addition of a number of genetic tests for companion animals, including dogs, cats and birds.

Life sciences. Neogen's Life Science/Toxicology line of products include reagents and test kits for immunoassay production, life science research, and forensic and animal toxicology. Product offering includes a wide range of tests to provide solutions for drugs of abuse, including designer drugs and emerging drugs. The drug detection assays include over 100 test kits used to screen more than 300 drugs and their metabolites in various forensic matrices, including oral fluid, whole blood, urine, serum, plasma, meconium, and others. Our portfolio for life science research includes assays for detecting levels of hormones, steroids, lipoxins, and histamine in a wide range of samples and species types. Additionally, we offer reagents and unique colorimetric and chemiluminescent substrates for immunoassay production and research applications.

Many of the products and services in the Animal Safety segment use licensed technology. In fiscal 2023, the Animal Safety segment incurred expense totaling $274 for royalties for licensed technology used in our products and services, including expense of $152 related to genomics services.

Neogen's operation in Australia originally focused on providing genomics services and sales of animal safety products and reports through the Animal Safety segment. It has expanded to offer our complete line of products and services, including those usually associated with the Food Safety segment. These additional products are managed and directed by existing management at Neogen Australasia and report through the Animal Safety segment.

Revenues from Neogen's Animal Safety segment accounted for 33.5%, 50.7%, and 50.0% of our total revenues for fiscal years ended May 31, 2023, 2022 and 2021, respectively.

GENERAL SALES AND MARKETING

Neogen is organized under two segments — Food Safety and Animal Safety. Within these segments, our sales efforts are generally organized by specific markets, and/or geography. During the fiscal year that ended May 31, 2023, we had approximately 41,000 customers for our products. As many of our customers are distributors and certain animal safety products are offered to the general retail market, the total number of end users of our products is considerably greater than 41,000. As of May 31, 2023, a total of 904 employees were assigned to sales and marketing functions, compared to 573 at the end of May 2022. During the fiscal years ended May 31, 2023, 2022 and 2021, no single customer or distributor accounted for 10% or more of our revenues.

Other distributor partners. Outside of our physical locations, Neogen uses our own sales managers in both the Food Safety and Animal Safety segments to work closely with and coordinate the efforts of a network of approximately 800 distributors in more than 100 countries. The distributors provide local training and technical support, perform market research and promote Company products within designated countries around the world.

Sales to customers outside the United States accounted for 48.4%, 39.7%, and 39.1% of our total revenues for fiscal years ended May 31, 2023, 2022 and 2021, respectively. No individual foreign country contributed 10% or more of our revenues for those same periods.

RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

Neogen has a strong commitment to its research and development activities. Our product development efforts are focused on the enhancement of existing products and on the development of new products that advance our business strategy. As of May 31, 2023, we employed 136 scientists and support staff in our worldwide research and development group, including immunologists, chemists and microbiologists. Research and development costs were approximately $26,039, $17,049, and $16,247 representing 3.2%, 3.2%, and 3.5% of total revenues in fiscal years 2023, 2022 and 2021, respectively. Management currently expects our future research and development expenditures to approximate 3% to 4% of total revenues annually.

Neogen has ongoing development projects for several new and improved diagnostic tests and other complementary products for both the Food Safety and Animal Safety markets. Management expects that a number of these products will be commercially available at various times during fiscal years 2024 and 2025.

Certain technologies used in some products manufactured and marketed by Neogen were acquired from or developed in collaboration with partners, independent scientists, governmental agencies, universities and other third parties. We have entered into agreements with these parties that provide for the payment of royalties based on sales of products that use the pertinent licensed technology. Royalties, expensed to sales and marketing, under these agreements amounted to $3,392, $1,999, and $2,129 in fiscal years 2023, 2022, and 2021, respectively.

PROPRIETARY PROTECTION AND APPROVALS

Neogen uses a variety of intellectual property approaches to protect the competitive position of its offerings, including the use of patents, trademarks, trade secrets, proprietary and confidential know-how, as well as branding and trademarks. Patent and trademark registration applications are submitted whenever appropriate. From its inception, Neogen has acquired and been granted numerous patents and trademark registrations and has numerous pending patents and trademark applications. Neogen's patent portfolio includes at least 48 U.S. patents, 404 patents in countries outside of the U.S., and 209 pending patent applications globally. Neogen's trademark estate includes 119 trademark registrations within the U.S., and 548 trademark registrations in countries outside of the U.S., and 24 trademark registration applications globally.

We do not expect the near-term expiration of any single patent to have a significant effect on future results of operations. Our offerings also are protected by trade secrets and proprietary know-how when appropriate. For example, many of our products employ unique antibodies capable of detecting microorganisms and other substances at minute levels. In some instances, we have chosen to keep confidential the methods and techniques used to manufacture and use those antibodies when trade secret and/or proprietary know-how protections are more appropriate.

Management believes that Neogen has adequate rights to commercialize our products. However, we are aware that substantial research is conducted at universities, governmental agencies and other companies throughout the world, and that it always is possible that patents have been applied for and could be granted that are relevant to technologies that may be used in our products. To the extent some of our products may now, or in the future, embody technologies protected by patents of others, we may need to obtain licenses to use such technologies to continue to sell the products. These licenses may not be available on commercially reasonable terms. Failure to obtain any such licenses could delay or prevent the sale of certain new or existing products. In addition, patent litigation is not uncommon. Accordingly, there can be no assurance that we will continue to have adequate rights to commercialize our new products or that we will avoid litigation.

One of the major areas affecting the success of biotechnology and pharmaceutical development involves the time, cost and uncertainty surrounding regulatory approvals. Neogen products requiring regulatory approval, which we currently have in place, include BotVax B, EqStim, ImmunoRegulin and Uniprim. Neogen's rodenticide, disinfectant, parasiticide and insecticide products are subject to registration in the United States and internationally.

Neogen utilizes third-party validations and certifications on many of our products and associated methods to provide our customers with confidence that our products perform to specified levels. These include validation by, among others, the AOAC International, independently administered third-party, multi-laboratory collaborative studies, and approvals by the USDA Food Safety Inspection Service.

PRODUCTION AND SUPPLY

Neogen manufactures products in the U.S., the U.K., Ireland and Brazil and provides genomics services in the U.S., Scotland, Brazil, Australia, China and Canada. As of May 31, 2023, there were approximately 1,168 full-time employees assigned to manufacturing operations and providing services in these locations, operating on multiple shift schedules, with occasional 24/7 production during high-demand periods. Future demand increases could be accommodated by adding shifts. Management believes we could increase the current output of our primary product lines by using the current space available. However, to do so would require investment in additional equipment.

Food safety diagnostics. Manufacturing of diagnostic tests for the detection of natural toxins, pathogens, food allergens and spoilage organisms, final kit assembly, quality assurance and shipping takes place at our facilities in Lansing, Michigan. Proprietary monoclonal and polyclonal antibodies for Neogen's diagnostic kits are produced on a regular schedule in our immunology laboratories in Lansing. Generally, the final assembly and shipment of diagnostic test kits to customers in Europe is performed in our Ayr, Scotland facility. Many of the Company's food safety diagnostic instruments and readers are produced by third-party vendors to our specifications, quality tested in Lansing, and then shipped to customers. Culture media products are manufactured in an ISO-approved facility in Lansing and in Heywood and Liverpool, England. Products are blended following strict formulations or custom blended to customer specifications and shipped directly to customers from Lansing and the U.K. The Heywood location produces prepared media plates, sterile liquid media, and other related products in ready-to-use format for food testing laboratories across the U.K. and Western Europe. Enzyme substrates are manufactured at Megazyme in Bray, Ireland. Our Clean-Trace product line is manufactured in Wales. Other FSD products are currently manufactured within 3M plants in the U.S. and Poland.

Animal health products. Manufacturing of animal health products, pharmacological diagnostic test kits, and test kits for drug residues takes place in our FDA-registered facilities in Lexington, Kentucky. In general, manufacturing operations including reagent manufacturing, quality assurance, final kit assembly and packaging are performed by Neogen personnel. Certain animal health products and veterinary instruments that are purchased finished or that are toll manufactured by third-party vendors are warehoused and shipped from our Kentucky facilities. Some veterinary instruments are produced in our facilities in Lansing and are then shipped to Kentucky for distribution to customers. Manufacturing of devices used for animal injections, topical applications and oral administration occurs in Kenansville, North Carolina.

Veterinary biologics. Neogen maintains a Lansing-based USDA-approved manufacturing facility devoted to the production of the biologic products EqStim and ImmunoRegulin. P.acnes seed cultures are added to media and then subjected to several stages of further processing resulting in a finished product that is filled and packaged within the facility. Our BotVax B vaccine also is produced in the Lansing facility using Type B botulism seed cultures and a traditional fermentation process. All completed biologic products are then shipped to Neogen's Lexington facilities, where they are inventoried prior to distribution to customers.

Agricultural genomics services. Neogen offers agricultural genomics laboratory services and bioinformatics at our locations in the U.S., Scotland, Brazil, Australia, China and Canada. Through our laboratory services and bioinformatics (primarily in beef and dairy cattle, pigs, sheep, poultry, horses and dogs), Neogen Genomics allows our customers to speed genetic improvement efforts, as well as identify economically important diseases.

Cleaners, disinfectants and rodent control products. Manufacturing of rodent control products and/or cleaners and disinfectants takes place in the following locations: Wisconsin, Tennessee, California, England and Brazil. Manufacturing of rodent control products consists of blending technical material (active ingredient) with bait consisting principally of various grains. Certain cleaners and disinfectants are manufactured in Neogen facilities, while others are purchased from other manufacturers for resale or toll manufactured by third parties.

Insect control products. Neogen manufactures insect control products at its facilities in Iowa and Brazil.

Neogen purchases component parts and raw materials from more than 1,000 suppliers. Though many of these items are purchased from a single source to achieve the greatest volume discounts, we believe we have identified acceptable alternative suppliers for most of our key components and raw materials where it is economically feasible to do so. There can be no assurance that we would avoid a disruption of supply in the event a supplier discontinues shipment of product. Shipments of higher volume products are generally accomplished within a 48-hour turnaround time. Our backlog of unshipped orders at any given time has historically not been significant.

COMPETITION

Although competitors vary in individual markets, management knows of no single competitor that is pursuing Neogen's fundamental strategy of developing and marketing a broad line of products, ranging from disposable tests and culture media to veterinary pharmaceuticals and instruments for a large number of food safety and animal safety concerns. For each of our individual products or product lines, we face intense competition from companies ranging from small businesses to divisions of large multinational companies. Some of these organizations have substantially greater financial resources than Neogen. We compete primarily on the basis of ease of use, speed, accuracy and other performance characteristics of our products. The breadth of our product line, the effectiveness of our sales and customer service organizations, and pricing also are components in management's competitive strategy.

Future competition may become even more intense and could result from the development of new technologies, which could affect the marketability and profitability of Neogen's products. Our competitive position also depends on our ability to continue to develop proprietary products, attract and retain qualified scientific and other personnel, develop and implement production and marketing plans and protect the intellectual property for new products. Additionally, we must continue to generate or have access to adequate capital resources to execute our strategy.

FOOD SAFETY:

With a large professional sales organization offering a comprehensive catalog of food safety solutions, management believes we maintain a general advantage over competitors offering only limited product lines. In most cases, Neogen sales and technical service personnel can offer unique insight into a customer's numerous safety and quality challenges, and offer testing and other solutions to help the customer overcome those challenges.

Competition for pathogen detection products includes traditional methods and antibody and genetic-based platforms; competition for natural toxins and allergen detection products includes instrumentation and antibody-based tests. While our offerings will not always compete on all platforms in all markets, the products we offer provide tests that can be utilized by most customers to meet their testing needs.

In addition to our extensive product offerings and robust distribution network, we focus our competitive advantage in the areas of customer service, product performance, speed, and ease of use of our products. Additionally, by aggressively maintaining Neogen's ability to produce at low cost, we believe that we can be competitive with new market entrants that may choose a low pricing strategy in an attempt to gain market share.

ANIMAL SAFETY:

Neogen's Animal Safety segment faces no single competitor across the products and markets we serve. In the life sciences and toxicology markets, we compete against several other diagnostic and reagent companies with similar product offerings.

In the veterinary market, Neogen markets BotVax B, the only USDA-approved vaccine for the prevention of botulism Type B in horses. We compete on other key products through differentiated product performance and superior customer and technical support. With some of our products, we provide solutions as a lower cost alternative and also offer a private label option for our customers.

Competition in the rodent control market includes several companies of comparable size that offer products into similar market segments. The retail rodent control market is not dominated by a single brand. While the technical materials used by competing companies are similar, Neogen uses manufacturing and bait formula techniques, which we believe may better attract rodents to the product and thereby improves overall product performance.

Within the insect control market, Chem-Tech products specifically focus on the area of insect control for food and animal safety applications. There are several competitors offering similar products, however, we have a proprietary formulation chemistry that optimizes the delivery and safe application of insect control products at the customer's location. These products currently are only sold in the U.S. through a combination of direct sales and distributors.

Numerous companies, including a number of large multinationals, compete for sales in the cleaner and disinfectant product segment. Neogen's broad line of products is sold around the world, primarily to assist in the cleaning and disinfecting of animal production facilities.

In addition to our extensive portfolio of animal safety products, Neogen also competes in the retail market by providing solutions to common retail problems, such as stock outs, wasted floor space, and inconsistent brand identity. We differentiate ourselves by offering planograms and convenient reordering systems to maximize turns and profitability for our retail customers.

Neogen Genomics, a leading worldwide commercial animal genomics laboratory, employs cutting-edge technology in the area of genomics. The result of this technology allows the acceleration of natural selection through parentage testing and selective breeding of traits such as disease resistance, yield improvement and meat quality. Competition comes mainly from a number of service providers, some significantly larger than us as well as several smaller companies offering genomics services. Neogen Genomics is not involved in cloning or the development of transgenic animals.

GOVERNMENT REGULATION

A significant portion of Neogen's products and revenues are affected by the regulations of various domestic and foreign government agencies, including the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), and the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA). Changes in these regulations could affect revenues and/or costs of production and distribution.

Neogen's development and manufacturing processes involve the use of certain hazardous materials, chemicals, and compounds. Management believes that our safety procedures for handling and disposing of such commodities comply with the standards prescribed by federal, state and local regulations. However, changes in such regulations or rules could involve significant costs to us and could be materially adverse to our business.

The rodent control products, insect control products, cleaners, disinfectants and sanitizers manufactured and distributed by Neogen are subject to EPA and various U.S. state regulations as well as other analogous agencies in the markets where we sell such products. In general, any international sale of our products also must comply with similar regulatory requirements in the country of destination. Each country has its own individual regulatory construct with specific requirements. To the best of our knowledge, Neogen products are compliant with applicable regulations in the countries where such products are sold.

Many food safety diagnostic products do not require direct government approval. However, we have pursued voluntary approvals and certifications for a number of these products to enhance their marketability.

Neogen's veterinary vaccine products and some pharmaceutical products require government approval to allow for lawful sales. The vaccine products are approved by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Center for Veterinary Biologics (USDA-CVB) and analogous agencies in jurisdictions where sold. The pharmaceutical products are approved by the FDA and analogous agencies in jurisdictions where sold. The products, and the facilities in which they are manufactured, are in a position of good standing with all agencies. We have no warning letters based on any review of these products or facility inspections and are not aware of any reason why we could not manufacture and market such products in the future.

Other animal safety and food safety products generally do not require additional registrations or approvals. However, Neogen's regulatory staff routinely monitors amendments to current regulatory requirements to ensure compliance.

Health Coalition was unaware at the time of the violation that a permit was needed for each storage facility, but has now instituted this as part of our Standard Operating Procedures (see attached excerpt).

Also attached is a copy of NABI's Prescription Drug Wholesaler license (expired 3/31/97) and their completed application for renewal. As requested, we have also enclosed the original signed "Notice of Violation." If you have any additional questions, please call me at (800)456-7283.

Ms. Terri Shikany, President
Health Coalition, Inc.
4906 S.W. 72nd Avenue
Miami, Florida 33155

Dear Ms. Shikany:

Investigators of the Department of Health detected the following violations of Chapter 499, Florida Statutes (F.S.) and Florida Administrative Code Rule 10D-45, Regulation for Drugs, Devices and Cosmetics during an inspection of your facility located at the above address and Jacob Fleishman & Sons, Inc., at 1177 N.W. 81 Street, Miami, on December 30, 1996.

Health Coalition, Inc., was wholesaling prescription drugs in an unpermitted establishment. Health Coalition, Inc., was storing its prescription drugs at Jacob Fleishman & Sons. Each establishment in which prescription drugs are held must be permitted. (See s. 499.01(1)(d), F.S.) This is a violation of s. 499.005(22), F.S. (Fine $750)

Health Coalition, Inc., purchased prescription drugs from a person not permitted by the department to engage in the wholesale distribution of prescription drugs. In 1995, Health Coalition, Inc., purchased prescription drugs from Univax Biologics, Inc., (a company that is no longer in business). However, at the time, Univax Biologics, Inc., was not permitted by the department as an out-of-state prescription drug wholesaler. This is a violation of ss. 499.012(2)(c) and (3)(a), F.S., and s. 499.005(14), F.S. (Fine $250)

The above referenced violations should not be regarded as an all-inclusive list of deficiencies which may be or may have been in existence at your facility, and violations may not be limited to the above cited products. It is your responsibility to ensure that your facility is in compliance with all requirements of the Florida Drug and Cosmetic Act and the rules adopted thereunder.

In order to resolve this matter, the department proposes the following alternatives, either of which must be accomplished by your firm within thirty (30) days of its receipt of this letter:

- A. If your firm agrees with the findings in this letter and further agrees to waive its right to an administrative hearing pursuant to Florida law (s. 120.57, Florida Statutes and Rule 10-2.036, Florida Administrative Code), the department and Health Coalition, Inc., can resolve this matter by your execution of the attached Agreement, which includes payment of an administrative fine. You are also required to send the department supporting documentation describing the actions taken and the policies and procedures put into place to prevent the recurrence of these violations.

If you agree to this resolution, please sign and date the Agreement. Return the original signed Agreement and the original NOTICE OF VIOLATION, an attached cashier's check, certified check, or money order for One Thousand Dollars ($1,000) made payable to the Florida Drug, Device and Cosmetic Trust Fund, and your plan of corrective action to:

B. However, if you believe circumstances exist that the department should consider before concluding this investigation, you may provide the department, within fifteen (15) days of receipt of this letter, your rationale and evidence to support your position. If the department does not agree with the rationale and evidence submitted by your firm, or we cannot reach a satisfactory resolution of this matter, the department may, thirty (30) days after your firm's receipt of this letter, initiate appropriate legal action, including:

1. Filing and serving of an administrative complaint for a hearing pursuant to Chapter 120, F.S., which can result in the imposition of an administrative fine not to exceed Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00) per violation per day. Each day the violation continues constitutes a separate violation. Each such separate violation is subject to a separate fine.
2. Revocation or suspension of the firm's permit.
3. Seizure for destruction of adulterated or misbranded products.
4. Seeking an injunction in Circuit Court to obtain compliance.
5. Initiating any other remedy authorized by law.

If you have any questions, or need further assistance in this matter, please contact me at the address identified above or by telephone at (904) 487-1257.

Health Coalition Standard Operating Procedures: Compliance

Health Coalition maintains and adheres to the laws and guidelines set forth for wholesale drug distributors by the State of Florida. The following descriptions highlight specific policies and procedures that Health Coalition implements with respect to licenses and permits, inventory management, recall/withdrawal procedures, crisis management, and the disposition of outdated and/or expired product.

Hello Debbie,

The initial review of the ownership change information has been completed and it is now with our legal department for their review. Should we have any further questions or need anything else, we will let you know. We do not have a timeframe to provide to you unfortunately.

You may want to inquire with the states requesting a copy of the certificate if there is an alternative that would suffice. I have not heard of other facilities having ownership or name changes running into issues getting their licenses updated or issued due to not having an updated certificate. We would be happy to confirm the facility is currently accredited and that NABP is aware of and reviewing the name and ownership change.

Good Morning Danielle –

Attached please find the change of ownership application, support, and cover letter sent for Health Coalition sent UPS overnight on March 12th. As per the application, this also includes a name change from Health Coalition, Inc. to Health Coalition, LLC though our EIN remained the same.

As we submit change of ownership applications with the various states we hold a wholesale drug distributor license, several of the regulatory boards are requesting a copy of our NABP DDA certificate reflecting the name change.

Please let me know when this will be available so I can respond to their questions.

PART I

ITEM 1. BUSINESS

Overview

Glaukos is an ophthalmic medical technology and pharmaceutical company focused on developing novel therapies for the treatment of glaucoma, corneal disorders, and retinal disease. We first developed Micro-Invasive Glaucoma Surgery (MIGS) as an alternative to the traditional glaucoma treatment paradigm, launching our first MIGS device commercially in 2012, and have since developed a portfolio of technologically distinct and leverageable platforms to support ongoing pharmaceutical and medical device innovations. Products or product candidates for each of these platforms are designed to advance the standard of care through better treatment options across the areas of glaucoma, corneal disorders such as keratoconus, dry eye and refractive vision correction, and retinal diseases such as neovascular age-related macular degeneration (AMD), diabetic macular edema (DME), and retinal vein occlusion (RVO).

Ophthalmic diseases and disorders are a national and global health concern and, as the population ages, the number of individuals with vision impairment and blindness is increasing. Moreover, improving access to cost-effective tools is increasing the diagnosis of sight-threatening ocular diseases globally and driving demand for innovative products, technologies, and therapies that improve clinical outcomes, and provide ease of use and reliability. In response to the significant unmet needs that exist within ophthalmology we have designed commercial and development-stage solutions to provide ophthalmologists with various treatment options.

Our commercial solutions and development-stage product candidates include:

- MIGS products that primarily involve the insertion of a micro-scale device or drug delivery system designed to reduce intraocular pressure (IOP) by restoring the natural aqueous humor outflow pathways for patients suffering from glaucoma and MIGS biosensors to measure pressure within the eye;
- bio-activated pharmaceuticals that are intended to strengthen, stabilize, and reshape the cornea for patients impacted by corneal ectatic disorders such as keratoconus or refractive disorders;
- transdermal pharmaceuticals that are applied to the eyelid and designed to treat dry eye, presbyopia, glaucoma and other ocular surface diseases and disorders; and
- proprietary micro-invasive, bio-erodible sustained release drug delivery implants that are designed to elute pharmaceuticals over time to improve the vision of patients impacted by retinal diseases such as AMD, DME, and RVO;

Impact of COVID-19 Pandemic and Current Economic Environment

While the COVID-19 pandemic and subsequent economic slowdown materially impacted the global demand for our products starting March 2020, we began to see an early recovery toward more normalized levels for cataract and keratoconus procedures as early as May 2020, a trend that generally continued, with periodic volatility in certain geographies in which we operate, through December 31, 2021. Most recently the Omicron variant has led to a material increase in diagnosed cases worldwide, creating new government restrictions in select geographies and impacting elective procedures in hospital and ambulatory surgery center sites. Additionally, the COVID-19 pandemic has led to widespread staffing shortages, including in ambulatory surgery centers, which may also impact elective procedures. These trends accelerated at the end of December 2021 and continued through the date herein.

We continue to actively assess the impact of COVID-19 on our clinical trials and other pipeline products. The closure of ophthalmic practices and deferral of elective procedures beginning in the first quarter of 2020 in response to COVID-19 disrupted new patient enrollment in our ongoing clinical trials. While we cannot predict the full impact of COVID-19 on the timing of completion of our clinical trials and the expected regulatory approvals for our pipeline products, our disclosed targeted approval dates anticipate, to our best estimate, such impact.

Additionally, some of our vendors are continuing to experience supply challenges, both in the acquisition of raw materials as well as due to limited headcount resources, and we have experienced higher costs for certain raw materials. These challenges have led to delays and partial or unfulfilled deliveries of certain components needed for the manufacture of our products, in some cases requiring us to find second sources for materials. If these delays and partial or unfulfilled deliveries persist, they could impact our ability to ship some of our products to our customers, or bring some of our pipeline products to market, in a timely manner. We believe that much of these supply challenges and higher costs stem from the ongoing obstacles presented by COVID-19.

The ultimate impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on our operations going forward is unknown and will depend on future developments which are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted with confidence, including the duration and severity of the COVID-19 outbreak, the status of health and safety actions taken to contain its spread, the severity and transmission rates of new variants of COVID-19 such as the Omicron strain, the availability, distribution, and efficacy of vaccines for COVID-19, any additional preventative and protective actions that governments, or we, may take, any future surges of COVID-19 that may occur, the dynamics associated with the rollout of the COVID-19 vaccines, and how quickly and to what extent economic and operating conditions normalize within the markets in which we operate. For additional information, see the section titled Risks Related to Our Business within Item 1A. Risk Factors of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Recent Developments

2022 U.S. reimbursement rates

On November 2, 2021, the United States (U.S.) Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) published its final rules for 2022 Medicare physician fee payment rates and 2022 Medicare facility fee payment rates for services furnished in both the ambulatory surgery center and hospital outpatient settings (Final Rules). These Final Rules superseded the proposed rates that were issued by CMS in July 2021 which were much lower than the rates issued in the Final Rules. Compared to the 2021 reimbursement rates, the Final Rules contained a new, significantly lower physician fee related to the implantation of trabecular bypass stents, such as our iStent family of products, in conjunction with cataract surgery. Conversely, the facility fee schedule related to surgeries that include implantation of trabecular bypass stents, such as our iStent family of products, in conjunction with cataract surgery, slightly decreases reimbursements to an ambulatory surgery center and increases reimbursements to a hospital. We estimate that approximately 80% of procedures utilizing our trabecular micro-bypass technologies in the U.S. are performed in the ambulatory surgery center setting and the remaining estimated 20% of procedures are performed in the hospital. Additionally, the Final Rules established facility fee payment rates that were lower than anticipated for standalone insertion of an aqueous drainage device in the ambulatory surgery center and hospital settings, which would be the procedure that such facilities would use with our iStent infinite product, which is not yet approved by the U.S. Food & Drug Administration. These CMS reimbursement rates contained in the Final Rules took effect January 1, 2022.

U.S. Glaucoma volumes were negatively impacted during our third and fourth quarter of 2021 as typical customer ordering patterns were disrupted and trialing of competitive products increased in anticipation of the potential 2022 CMS physician and facility fee reimbursement rate decreases becoming effective as originally proposed in July 2021. The physician fee reimbursement rate as issued in the Final Rules may have an adverse impact on 2022 procedural iStent family product volumes, in conjunction with cataract surgery as well as on our 2022 U.S. combo-cataract Glaucoma revenues, gross profit, and net income, the full extent of which is not known at this time.

Attillaps License Agreement

On September 20, 2021, we announced that we had entered into a licensing agreement (Attillaps License Agreement) with Attillaps Holdings, Inc. (Attillaps) under which Attillaps granted us a global exclusive license to Attillaps' proprietary library of investigational pharmaceutical compounds that target the eradication of Demodex mites, which are the root cause of Demodex blepharitis and often associated with meibomian gland dysfunction and related ophthalmic diseases. Under the Attillaps Licensing Agreement, we have the exclusive global right to research, develop, manufacture and commercialize products using certain acetylcholinesterase inhibitors for the treatment of ophthalmic diseases caused by Demodex mites. We paid $5.0 million upon the signing of the Attilaps License Agreement and will have ongoing milestone and royalty payment obligations depending on the success of the development, approval and commercialization of the compounds.

Settlement of Patent Litigation

On September 14, 2021, we entered into a settlement agreement (Settlement Agreement) with Ivantis, Inc. (Ivantis), pursuant to which we and Ivantis agreed to terminate the patent infringement lawsuit we had filed against Ivantis on April 14, 2018 in the U.S. District Court for the Central District of California, Southern Division (the Lawsuit). In the Lawsuit, we alleged that Ivantis' Hydrus® Microstent device infringes our U.S. Patent Nos. 6,626,858 and 9,827,143. Pursuant to the terms of the Settlement Agreement, Ivantis has made cash payments totaling $60.0 million, $30.0 million of which was paid to us during the year ended December 31, 2021, and $30.0 million of which was paid to us in January 2022.

Additionally, Ivantis will make quarterly royalty payments to us in the amount of 10% of Ivantis' Hydrus Microstent U.S. sales and any international sales supplied out of the U.S. beginning in the fourth quarter of 2021 through April 26, 2025, subject to a per-unit minimum payment. We and Ivantis have dismissed with prejudice all of our claims against each other in the Lawsuit, which was scheduled for trial beginning on or around September 28, 2021, and in related lawsuits in other forums and jurisdictions. The parties also have agreed to mutual licenses and covenants not to sue the other party for patent infringement relating to Ivantis' Hydrus Microstent or our micro-stent devices.

Santen License Agreement

On May 18, 2021, we announced that we entered into a new development and commercialization license agreement with Santen Pharmaceutical Co., Ltd. (Santen) for the PreserFlo MicroShunt, superseding the previous collaboration and distribution agreements between the two parties. Under the new agreement, we obtain exclusive commercialization rights for the MicroShunt in the United States, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Brazil, Mexico and the remainder of Latin America. The new agreement also provides us with control over development activities for the MicroShunt in these same territories, including clinical development and regulatory affairs activities in the United States following a transition period. We did not make any payment in connection with the execution of the license agreement; however, should we be successful in obtaining regulatory approval for the PreserFlo MicroShunt, we would be required to pay Santen a milestone payment, followed by royalties and other potential future milestones depending on the success of the commercialization of the product.

Intratus License Amendment

On April 14, 2021, we announced that we had entered into an amended licensing agreement with Intratus, Inc. (Intratus) under which Intratus granted us a global exclusive license to research, develop, manufacture and commercialize Intratus' patented, non-invasive drug delivery platform for application in the treatment of presbyopia. The addition of presbyopia expands upon the existing agreement between us and Intratus announced on July 22, 2019. The amendment includes a mechanism to further expand the existing agreement to other indications, applying the active pharmaceutical ingredients being advanced by us in glaucoma, corneal disorders and presbyopia to new ophthalmic fields.

Products and Pipeline

We operate in one operating segment and our primary business activity is the development and commercialization of therapies across several end markets within ophthalmology. In an effort to provide greater visibility into our business, the following discussion is presented based on our three principal end markets within ophthalmology: glaucoma, corneal disorders and retinal diseases.

Glaucoma

Glaucoma is a group of eye diseases characterized by progressive, irreversible and largely asymptomatic vision loss in which elevated levels of IOP are often associated with optic nerve damage that can cause blindness. While some glaucoma patients do not experience an increase in IOP, it is widely considered a major risk factor in glaucoma's progression, and reduction in IOP is the only clinically proven treatment for the disease. Elevated IOP occurs when aqueous humor is not circulating normally or properly draining from the front part of the eye.

We have three primary commercialized products designed to treat mild-to-moderate open-angle glaucoma: the iStent, the iStent inject, and the iStent inject W. The iStent, the iStent inject, and the iStent inject W are FDA-approved micro-bypass stents that improve aqueous humor outflow and are inserted through the small corneal incision made during cataract surgery. Our iStent, a single stent device which reduces IOP by restoring the natural physiologic pathways for aqueous humor, was the first commercially available MIGS treatment solution. Our next generation iStent inject and iStent inject W devices include two stents pre-loaded in an auto-injection system designed to allow the surgeon to inject stents through a single corneal entry. The iStent, iStent inject, and iStent inject W procedures are currently reimbursed in the U.S. by Medicare and all major national private payors. The iStent technologies are commercially available in numerous countries, including Australia, Brazil, Canada and Japan and certain European Union (EU) and other countries, even though reimbursement may not always be available for all such procedures.

We are also developing several pipeline products for glaucoma, including the iStent infinite and iDose TR, neither of which have yet been approved for commercialization. The iStent infinite consists of three stents that are designed for use as a standalone procedure in glaucoma patients. In 2021, we submitted our 510(k) clearance application for the iStent infinite for the treatment of glaucoma patients who have failed prior surgical therapy and estimate that we will receive clearance in the first half of 2022.

The iDose drug delivery system is a targeted injectable implant based on our micro-scale device-platform that is designed to continuously deliver therapeutic levels of medication from within the eye for extended periods of time. We completed patient enrollment and randomization in our Phase 3 clinical trials in 2021 for iDose TR and now anticipate submitting a new drug application (NDA) in 2022 with potential FDA approval of this product in 2023. Additionally, our glaucoma pipeline includes the next-generation extended release iDose (TRES); iDose (ROCK) which would include proprietary Rho Kinase inhibitor compounds from a research and development collaboration agreement with D. Western Therapeutics Institute; programs for our iLution platform; and the IOP Sensor which are still in a research and development (R&D) stage.

In addition to our organic R&D efforts, we have licensed from Santen the PreserFlo MicroShunt. The MicroShunt is an ab-exerno device being developed for treatment of glaucoma where IOP is uncontrolled with maximum tolerated medical therapy or where progression of the disease warrants surgery. Santen submitted a PMA application to the FDA in June 2020, and the FDA currently is reviewing additional input obtained from glaucoma surgeons to ensure a complete evaluation of the clinical data submitted in the PMA, and as such the timing of a potential approval, and U.S. commercial launch is currently unknown. We did commence initial commercial launch activity in Australia and Canada during the fourth quarter of 2021.

Corneal Disorders

The cornea, the eye's outermost layer, is a clear, dome-shaped surface that functions best as a lens when the cornea is strong and shaped properly. The cornea is responsible for the majority of the eye's total focusing power and corneal disorders, including ectasia, refractive vision errors and dry eye, among others, can cause vision impairment. Corneal ectatic disorders are comprised of a class of diseases characterized by an ectatic, or misshaped, cornea. Corneal ectasia is typically caused by a weakening of the cornea, which can be due to a number of factors, including genetic causes, adverse side effects from ophthalmic refractive procedures such as LASIK, or excessive eye rubbing. We are currently targeting corneal disorders with our bio-activated pharmaceuticals including keratoconus, and corneal ectasia following refractive surgery. Keratoconus is mostly a hereditary, degenerative ectatic disease that is often first seen in older children or young adults in which the typically round, dome-shaped cornea progressively thins and weakens, causing a cone-like corneal bulge due to normal internal pressure of the eye. Corneal ectasia following refractive surgery is a serious complication that involves the cornea becoming weakened following a refractive procedure, such as LASIK, with symptoms similar to naturally occurring keratoconus. Refractive vision errors, or the inability of the cornea to properly focus light, are prevalent in the U.S. and abroad and include disorders such as presbyopia and myopia. Presbyopia is a natural part of aging due to the hardening of the eye's crystalline lens over time, resulting in a loss of lens elasticity or the ability of the lens to change shape in order to focus incoming light on the retina. Myopia, or nearsightedness, is a vision condition in which close objects are seen clearly, but objects farther away appear blurred, and is usually caused by an elongation of the eyeball or a cornea having too much curvature. Presbyopia affects nearly everyone over the age of 40 while myopia first occurs in school-age children and typically progresses until about age 20.

Our pharmaceutical iLink platform uses a suite of novel single-use drug formulations that are bio-activated by our proprietary systems to address these corneal diseases. The iLink therapies, bioactivated upon the delivery of ultraviolet A (UVA) light to the cornea, induce a biochemical reaction called corneal collagen cross-linking, or corneal cross-linking (CXL). CXL strengthens, stabilizes and reshapes the cornea to treat corneal ectatic disorders. Our KXL System, which delivers UVA light to a large portion of the cornea, and Photrexa therapy, is approved by the FDA for use in the U.S. following removal of the epithelium (often referred to as “iLink epi-off”), a procedure familiar to ophthalmologists. In May 2019, patient enrollment in a pivotal Phase 3 clinical trial was completed to evaluate the safety and efficacy of our next generation pharmaceutical iLink therapeutic system for the treatment of keratoconus without the removal of the epithelium (often referred to as “iLink epi-on”). We expect a U.S. NDA submission during 2022 and potential approval of the iLink epi-on product in 2023. We also expect to advance a third generation iLink therapeutic system into clinical trials during 2022. Internationally, our pharmaceutical therapies can also be administered with the KXL System to address corneal weakening caused by refractive surgery such as LASIK. Our bio-activated pharmaceutical products may also offer a means of improving the vision of patients with presbyopia, myopia or other corneal diseases.

We have also developed our iLution platform of cream-based drug formulations that are applied to the outer surface of the eyelid for dropless transdermal delivery of pharmaceutically active compounds for the treatment of eye disorders. Several iLution platform products leverage an exclusive global licensing arrangement with Intratus to research, develop, manufacture and commercialize a patented, non-invasive, transdermal drug delivery formulation designed for application on the eyelid in the treatment of dry eye disease, presbyopia, glaucoma, and other ocular surface diseases and disorders. In January 2022, we commenced patient enrollment in Phase 2 clinical trials of two investigational drug candidates for the treatment of signs and symptoms of dry eye disease (GLK-301) and presbyopia (GLK-302).

Lastly, in September 2021, we entered into a licensing agreement with Attilaps Holdings, Inc. (Attilaps) to research, develop, manufacture and commercialize Attilaps’ proprietary library of investigational pharmaceutical compounds that target the eradication of Demodex mites, which are the root cause of Demodex blepharitis and often associated with meibomian gland dysfunction and related ophthalmic diseases.

Retinal Diseases

Retinal diseases vary widely but universally affect the retina, a thin layer of tissue inside the back wall of the eye containing light-sensitive cells that convert light into neural signals. Most retinal diseases cause visual impairment, including blurred or distorted vision and vision loss. Our R&D efforts in our retinal franchise are focused on treating AMD, DME, RVO, and other retinal diseases. AMD is a progressive disease that occurs when the macula, the central portion of the retina, is impaired, which can result in severe vision problems. DME is highly prevalent among individuals with type 2 diabetes and is associated with DR, the impairment of small blood vessels in the retina caused by increased glucose levels. Advanced DR can lead to fluid leaking into the macula, which causes DME and severe vision impairment. RVO occurs when the flow of blood from the retina is blocked, often due to a blood clot blocking the retinal vein, which can result in severe vision problems.

We are developing sustained release pharmaceutical retinal platforms leveraging our expanded pharmaceutical and sustained drug delivery R&D capabilities, including Triamcinolone Acetonide SR, Multi-Kinase Inhibitor SR and Anti-VEGF SR. If commercialized, these platforms would be designed to treat AMD, DME, RVO, and other retinal diseases. The focus of our retinal research and development efforts is to develop potential treatment options with a longer duration-of-effect than current standards of care products.

Research & Development

We devote significant resources to our R&D efforts, which are focused on developing new products, and enhancing the effectiveness, ease of use, safety, and reliability of our commercialized products. Our R&D objectives are:

- to advance glaucoma patient care through continuous improvement of our MIGS technologies through our iStent platform;

- to further enhance treatment options for keratoconus, while expanding iLink and CXL indications to include treatment for certain refractive and other corneal conditions;
- to develop dropless, transdermal pharmaceutical therapies for dry eye disease, presbyopia, glaucoma and other corneal disorders; and
- to leverage our expertise in sustained release pharmaceutical retinal platforms to identify and develop viable treatment options for retinal diseases such as AMD, DME and RVO.

A considerable portion of our R&D investment includes clinical trials and the collection of evidence that provide data for use in regulatory submissions and required post-market approval studies involving applications of our products. We expect our R&D and clinical expenditures to increase as we continue to devote significant resources to clinical trials and regulatory approvals of our pipeline products. We currently conduct R&D activities primarily in the U.S. but are expanding our clinical capabilities to sites internationally.

Sales and Marketing

Our global sales efforts and promotional activities are currently aimed at ophthalmic surgeons and other eye care professionals. Our primary customers include ambulatory surgery centers, hospitals and physician private practices. In the U.S., we sell the majority of our products through a direct sales organization. Internationally, we sell our products through direct sales organizations in seventeen countries and a network of distribution partners in other markets where we do not have a direct commercial presence or maintain a modest commercial presence. In 2021, sales to customers inside U.S. and internationally accounted for 76% and 24% of our net sales, respectively. No single customer or distributor accounted for more than 10% of our total net sales in 2021. For the year ended December 31, 2021, our iStent technologies, the iStent, the iStent inject, and the iStent inject W and related accessories, which comprise our key iStent platform, accounted for approximately 79% of our net sales, while our iLink therapies accounted for approximately 21% of our net sales.

Competition

The medical technology and pharmaceutical industries are highly competitive. We may compete with many companies, including divisions of companies much larger than us that may have greater resources and name recognition, and smaller companies that compete against specific products or in certain geographies. Furthermore, new product development, discoveries, and technological change characterize the areas in which we compete. Our present or future products could be rendered obsolete as a result of advances by one or more of our present or future competitors or by other surgical or pharmaceutical therapy development. We must continue to develop and commercialize new products, technologies and therapies to remain competitive in the ophthalmology industry. We believe that we compete primarily on the basis of clinical superiority supported by extensive data and innovative features that enhance patient benefit, product performance, and safety.

The ophthalmic segment of the medical technology and pharmaceutical industries is dynamic and subject to significant change due to cost-of-care considerations, regulatory reform, industry and customer consolidation and evolving patient needs. The ability to provide products, technologies and therapies that demonstrate value, are reimbursed through government or third-party payors, improve clinical outcomes and provide ease of use and reliability is becoming increasingly important for companies within ophthalmology.

In glaucoma, our MIGS offerings primarily compete against Ivantis (which was acquired by Alcon in January 2022), however there are a considerable number of large and small companies providing more invasive surgical glaucoma technologies, laser-based therapies, and pharmaceuticals that may provide indirect competition or with whom we may compete should our broad clinical development pipeline be approved and commercialized. In corneal disorders, we have, under an orphan drug designation, the only FDA approved bio-activated pharmaceutical therapy for the treatment of keratoconus but globally we compete against numerous providers of corneal crosslinking therapies such as PeschkeTrade GmbH. Our corneal disorder pipeline, if approved, would vastly expand our competition to numerous large companies such as AbbVie Inc., Alcon and Johnson & Johnson, as well as some small companies that provide medical technology and pharmaceutical therapies for several areas including dry eye and refractive conditions. Our retinal health pipeline, if approved, may face substantial competition from large pharmaceutical companies such as AbbVie Inc., Novartis AG, Genentech/Roche, Regeneron and Bayer, and there are also a considerable number of large and small companies with development efforts in the field.

Facilities, Manufacturing and Distribution

Our corporate headquarters and our manufacturing operations for the iStent, iStent inject and iStent inject W are located in an approximately 98,000 square foot campus in San Clemente, California which is comprised of two main buildings. Our pharmaceutical therapies for keratoconus are primarily manufactured and supplied by third parties in the U.S. and Germany. We lease approximately 27,000 square feet of office and laboratory space in Waltham, Massachusetts, pursuant to a lease that expires in 2023, and our manufacturing operations for the majority of our proprietary systems are located in approximately 60,000 square feet of space located in Burlington, Massachusetts under a lease that expires on July 31, 2033 and contains one option to extend for a five-year period at market rates. In the first quarter of 2022, we relocated certain administrative, laboratory, R&D and warehouse space to three office buildings, comprising approximately 160,000 rentable square feet of space, located in Aliso Viejo, California (Aliso Facility). The term of the Aliso Facility lease commenced on May 1, 2019 and will continue for thirteen years, with an option to extend the lease for two additional five-year periods at market rates. We currently intend to maintain manufacturing facilities for the iStent, iStent inject, and iStent inject W at our San Clemente location for the foreseeable future. Our international subsidiaries also lease facilities in Australia, Brazil, Canada, Germany, Japan and the United Kingdom.

Intellectual Property

The strength of our competitive position depends substantially upon our ability to obtain and enforce intellectual property rights protecting our technology both domestically and internationally. We rely on a combination of intellectual property rights, including patents, trademarks, service marks, copyrights, trade secrets and other similar intellectual property, as well as customary contractual protections and security measures used to protect our proprietary, trade secret information.

In the aggregate, our intellectual property assets are of material importance to our business. We are significantly dependent on our patent and other intellectual property rights and the failure to protect such rights could negatively impact our ability to sell current or future products or prohibit us from enforcing our patents or other intellectual property rights against others. For additional information see the section titled Risks Related to Our Intellectual Property within Item 1A. Risk Factors of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

As of December 31, 2021, we owned or exclusively licensed in certain fields of use over 300 issued patents, pending U.S. patent applications, issued foreign patents and pending foreign patent applications. We may, from time to time, choose to acquire or license additional patents and patent applications, or we may choose to abandon, sell, or license certain Company patents and patent applications, depending on our needs. The issued patents that protect our commercial products and current product pipeline expire between 2022 and 2038.

Government Regulation

Our products and operations are subject to extensive and rigorous regulation by federal, state, and local authorities, as well as foreign regulatory authorities. These governmental agencies regulate, among other things, the research, development, testing, manufacturing, approval, labeling, storage, recordkeeping, advertising, promotion and marketing, distribution, post approval monitoring and reporting, and import and export of medical devices and drugs (including drug/device combination products) in their respective jurisdictions to assure the safety and effectiveness of medical products and pharmaceuticals for their intended use. In general, there has been a trend of increased regulation of medical device and drug products, which has resulted in, and will likely continue to result in, increased prices to bring new products to market.

U.S. Regulation & Reimbursement

The FDA has broad regulatory authority over medical devices and drugs in the U.S. The FDA regulates, among other things, product safety, efficacy, manufacturing, advertising, labeling and safety reporting.

Cautionary note regarding forward-looking statements

This Annual Report on Form 10-K and Johnson & Johnson's other publicly available documents contain "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of the safe harbor provisions of the United States Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Management and representatives of Johnson & Johnson and its subsidiaries (the Company) also may from time to time make forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements do not relate strictly to historical or current facts and reflect management's assumptions, views, plans, objectives and projections about the future. Forward-looking statements may be identified by the use of words such as "plans," "expects," "will," "anticipates," "estimates" and other words of similar meaning in conjunction with, among other things: discussions of future operations; expected operating results and financial performance; impact of planned acquisitions and dispositions; impact and timing of restructuring initiatives, including associated cost savings and other benefits; the Company's strategy for growth; product development activities; regulatory approvals; market position and expenditures.

Because forward-looking statements are based on current beliefs, expectations and assumptions regarding future events, they are subject to uncertainties, risks and changes that are difficult to predict and many of which are outside of the Company's control. Investors should realize that if underlying assumptions prove inaccurate, or known or unknown risks or uncertainties materialize, the Company's actual results and financial condition could vary materially from expectations and projections expressed or implied in its forward-looking statements. Investors are therefore cautioned not to rely on these forward-looking statements. Risks and uncertainties include, but are not limited to:

Risks related to product development, market success and competition

- Challenges and uncertainties inherent in innovation and development of new and improved products and technologies on which the Company's continued growth and success depend, including uncertainty of clinical outcomes, additional analysis of existing clinical data, obtaining regulatory approvals, health plan coverage and customer access, and initial and continued commercial success;
- Challenges to the Company's ability to obtain and protect adequate patent and other intellectual property rights for new and existing products and technologies in the United States and other important markets;
- The impact of patent expirations, typically followed by the introduction of competing generic, biosimilar or other products and resulting revenue and market share losses;
- Increasingly aggressive and frequent challenges to the Company's patents by competitors and others seeking to launch competing generic, biosimilar or other products and increased receptivity of courts, the United States Patent and Trademark Office and other decision makers to such challenges, potentially resulting in loss of market exclusivity and rapid decline in sales for the relevant product sooner than expected;
- Competition in research and development of new and improved products, processes and technologies, which can result in product and process obsolescence;
- Competition to reach agreement with third parties for collaboration, licensing, development and marketing agreements for products and technologies;
- Competition based on cost-effectiveness, product performance, technological advances and patents attained by competitors; and
- Allegations that the Company's products infringe the patents and other intellectual property rights of third parties, which could adversely affect the Company's ability to sell the products in question and require the payment of money damages and future royalties.

Risks related to product liability, litigation and regulatory activity

- Product efficacy or safety concerns, whether or not based on scientific evidence, potentially resulting in product withdrawals, recalls, regulatory action on the part of the United States Food and Drug Administration (U.S. FDA) (or international counterparts), declining sales, reputational damage, increased litigation expense and share price impact;
- The impact, including declining sales and reputational damage, of significant litigation or government action adverse to the Company, including product liability claims and allegations related to pharmaceutical marketing practices and contracting strategies;
- The impact of an adverse judgment or settlement and the adequacy of reserves related to legal proceedings, including patent litigation, product liability, personal injury claims, securities class actions, government investigations, employment and other legal proceedings;

- Increased scrutiny of the healthcare industry by government agencies and state attorneys general resulting in investigations and prosecutions, which carry the risk of significant civil and criminal penalties, including, but not limited to, debarment from government business;
- Failure to meet compliance obligations in compliance agreements with governments or government agencies, which could result in significant sanctions;
- Potential changes to applicable laws and regulations affecting United States and international operations, including relating to: approval of new products; licensing and patent rights; sales and promotion of healthcare products; access to, and reimbursement and pricing for, healthcare products and services; environmental protection; and sourcing of raw materials;
- Compliance with local regulations and laws that may restrict the Company's ability to manufacture or sell its products in relevant markets, including requirements to comply with medical device reporting regulations and other requirements such as the European Union's Medical Devices Regulation;
- Changes in domestic and international tax laws and regulations, increasing audit scrutiny by tax authorities around the world and exposures to additional tax liabilities potentially in excess of existing reserves; and
- The issuance of new or revised accounting standards by the Financial Accounting Standards Board and regulations by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Risks related to the Company's strategic initiatives, healthcare market trends and the realization of benefits from the separation of the Company's Consumer Health Business

- Pricing pressures resulting from trends toward healthcare cost containment, including the continued consolidation among healthcare providers and other market participants, trends toward managed care, the shift toward governments increasingly becoming the primary payors of healthcare expenses, significant new entrants to the healthcare markets seeking to reduce costs and government pressure on companies to voluntarily reduce costs and price increases;
- Restricted spending patterns of individual, institutional and governmental purchasers of healthcare products and services due to economic hardship and budgetary constraints;
- Challenges to the Company's ability to realize its strategy for growth including through externally sourced innovations, such as development collaborations, strategic acquisitions, licensing and marketing agreements, and the potential heightened costs of any such external arrangements due to competitive pressures;
- The potential that the expected strategic benefits and opportunities from any planned or completed acquisition or divestiture by the Company may not be realized or may take longer to realize than expected;
- The potential that the expected benefits and opportunities related to past and ongoing restructuring actions may not be realized or may take longer to realize than expected;
- The Company's ability to divest the Company's remaining ownership interest in Kenvue Inc. (Kenvue) and realize the anticipated benefits from the separation; and
- Kenvue's ability to succeed as a standalone publicly traded company.

Risks related to economic conditions, financial markets and operating internationally

- The risks associated with global operations on the Company and its customers and suppliers, including foreign governments in countries in which the Company operates;
- The impact of inflation and fluctuations in interest rates and currency exchange rates and the potential effect of such fluctuations on revenues, expenses and resulting margins;
- Potential changes in export/import and trade laws, regulations and policies of the United States and other countries, including any increased trade restrictions or tariffs and potential drug reimportation legislation;
- The impact on international operations from financial instability in international economies, sovereign risk, possible imposition of governmental controls and restrictive economic policies, and unstable international governments and legal systems;
- The impact of global public health crises and pandemics;

- Changes to global climate, extreme weather and natural disasters that could affect demand for the Company's products and services, cause disruptions in manufacturing and distribution networks, alter the availability of goods and services within the supply chain, and affect the overall design and integrity of the Company's products and operations;
- The impact of global or economic changes or events, including global tensions and war; and
- The impact of armed conflicts and terrorist attacks in the United States and other parts of the world, including social and economic disruptions and instability of financial and other markets.

Risks related to supply chain and operations

- Difficulties and delays in manufacturing, internally, through third-party providers or otherwise within the supply chain, that may lead to voluntary or involuntary business interruptions or shutdowns, product shortages, withdrawals or suspensions of products from the market, and potential regulatory action;
- Interruptions and breaches of the Company's information technology systems or those of the Company's vendors, which could result in reputational, competitive, operational or other business harm as well as financial costs and regulatory action;
- Reliance on global supply chains and production and distribution processes that are complex and subject to increasing regulatory requirements that may adversely affect supply, sourcing and pricing of materials used in the Company's products; and
- The potential that the expected benefits and opportunities related to restructuring actions may not be realized or may take longer to realize than expected, including due to any required approvals from applicable regulatory authorities.

Investors also should carefully read the risk factors described in Item 1A of this Annual Report on Form 10-K for a description of certain risks that could, among other things, cause the Company's actual results to differ materially from those expressed in its forward-looking statements. Investors should understand that it is not possible to predict or identify all such factors and should not consider the risks described above and in Item 1A to be a complete statement of all potential risks and uncertainties. The Company does not undertake to publicly update any forward-looking statement that may be made from time to time, whether as a result of new information or future events or developments.
