Re: Returned MDEG application

Dear Nevada Pharmacy Board:

We are in receipt of the correspondence dated January 31, 2025 (attached).

We are requesting that the Board take notice that Dr. Sundaram Ravikumar, the only practicing health professional with ownership in Gramatan Health Supplies LLC, is not licensed in the state of Nevada. Dr. Ravikumar's sole medical licensure is with the state of New York, with his license number, 151069, indicated on page 3 of the original application (also attached).

The Code cited in the letter, NAC 639.6943, defines a practicioner as a health professional who "...Is licensed, certified, or registered to practice his or her professon in this State..." We understand "this State" to mean Nevada, where Dr. Ravikumar does not hold a medical license and is not a practicioner.

Based on these points, Gramatan Health Supplies is requesting re-consideration of our original application, attached.

Thank you,

Sincerely,

Vikram Ravikumar, COO

Subject: licensing question

Good morning,

A DME Supplier that is located within New York State, would also be retailing the following DMEPOS categories within New York State:

DM08, heat and cold applications
OR02, orthoses, prefabricated (non custom-fabricated)
OR03, orthoses, off-the-shelf
DM18 pneumatic compression devices, including HCPCS codes E0650 pneumatic compressor non-segmental home model and E0673 Segmental gradient pressure pneumatic appliance, half leg.
S01, surgical dressing

Could you please confirm, is any specific New York State license required for the supplier located in New York State, in order to send/sell to consumers (patients) in New York State?

Thank you,

Steve

2024-Virginia Board of Pharmacy

Location Involved: Cardinal Health 414, LLC, radiopharmacy in Charlottesville, VA

Violation that Occurred-During an October 4, 2023, inspection conducted by the Virginia Board of Pharmacy ("Board"), the Board noted that the pharmacy removed a 360-degree motion sensor in the anteroom and replaced the same with up a 180-degree motion sensor, without submitting a remodel application to obtain Board approval. In addition, the Board noted certain walls contained areas with cracks that were not sealed, while some wall repairs were not painted so they were not smooth and impervious.

Final Disposition: Agreed to Consent Order, paid fine, submitted remodel application, and fixed walls according to Board requirements.

Effective Date: 02/09/2024

2020-Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs

Location Involved: Cardinal Health 414, LLC, radiopharmacy in Southfield, MI

Final Disposition: This settlement concerns a divergence of opinion concerning the application of a recently enacted statute to the operation of nuclear pharmacy. While a nuclear pharmacy prepares sterile radiopharmaceuticals, it does not do so by the statutory definition of compounding and therefore not subject to the external certification required by the statutory language for pharmacies that compound. The consent order represents an agreement to disagree on the application of the statute to nuclear pharmacy, but to agree to the external certification of the pharmacy.

Fine: $500

Provide explanation below:

During an October 4, 2023, inspection conducted by the Virginia Board of Pharmacy (" Board "), the Board noted that the pharmacy removed a 360-degree motion sensor in the anteroom and replaced the same with up a 180-degree motion sensor, without submitting a remodel application to obtain Board approval. In addition, the Board noted certain walls contained areas with cracks that were not sealed, while some wall repairs were not painted so they were not smooth and impervious. Agreed to Consent Order, paid fine $ 2,250.00, submitted remodel application, and fixed walls according to Board requirements.

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

In this report, we use financial measures that are derived from consolidated financial data but are not presented in our financial statements that are prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP"). These measures are considered "non-GAAP financial measures" under the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") rules. Management's Discussion and Analysis ("MD&A") of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Our MD&A within this Form 10-K generally discusses fiscal 2024 and fiscal 2023 items and year-over-year comparisons between fiscal 2024 and fiscal 2023. This Form 10-K also includes fiscal 2022 items and discussions of year-over-year comparisons between fiscal 2023 and fiscal 2022. The periods discussed in this Form 10-K have been revised herein to correct an error identified during the preparation of this Form 10-K, as well as to correct other unrelated immaterial errors. The revisions ensure comparability across all periods reflected herein. Please refer to Note 1 of the "Notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional information about these corrections.

Important Information Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

This report (including information incorporated by reference) includes forward-looking statements addressing expectations, prospects, estimates and other matters that are dependent upon future events or developments. These matters are subject to risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those projected, anticipated or implied. The most significant of these risks and uncertainties are described in "Risk Factors" in this report and in Exhibit 99.1 to the Form 10-K included in this report. Forward-looking statements in this report speak only as of the date of this document. Except to the extent required by applicable law, we undertake no obligation to update or revise any forward-looking statement.

About Cardinal Health

Cardinal Health, Inc., an Ohio corporation formed in 1979, is a global healthcare services and products company providing customized solutions for hospitals, healthcare systems, pharmacies, ambulatory surgery centers, clinical laboratories, physician offices and patients in the home. We provide pharmaceuticals and medical products and cost-effective solutions that enhance supply chain efficiency. We connect patients, providers, payers, pharmacists and manufacturers for integrated care coordination.

Effective January 1, 2024, we began operating under an updated organizational structure and re-aligned our financial reporting structure under two reportable segments: Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions ("Pharma") segment and Global Medical Products and Distribution ("GMPD") segment. All remaining operating segments that are not significant enough to require separate reportable segment disclosures are included in Other, which is comprised of Nuclear and Precision Health Solutions, at-Home Solutions and OptiFreight® Logistics.

Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions Segment

Our Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions segment distributes branded and generic pharmaceutical, specialty pharmaceutical and over-the-counter healthcare and consumer products in the United States. This segment also provides services to pharmaceutical manufacturers and healthcare providers for specialty pharmaceutical products; provides pharmacy management services to hospitals and operates a limited number of pharmacies, including pharmacies in community health centers; and repackages generic pharmaceuticals and over-the-counter healthcare products.

Global Medical Products and Distribution Segment

Our GMPD segment manufactures, sources and distributes Cardinal Health brand medical, surgical and laboratory products, which are sold in the United States, Canada, Europe, Asia and other markets. In addition to distributing Cardinal Health brand products, this segment also distributes a broad range of medical, surgical and laboratory products known as national brand products to hospitals, ambulatory surgery centers, clinical laboratories and other healthcare providers in the United States and Canada.

Consolidated Results

In connection with the preparation of our Consolidated Financial Statements for fiscal 2024, we identified an accounting error related to revenue recognition from third party payors within the at-Home Solutions operating segment. We evaluated the materiality of the error and determined that the impacts were not material, individually or in the aggregate, to our previously issued Consolidated Financial Statements for any of the prior quarters or annual periods in which they occurred. In this report, we present revised prior period financial statements to correct this error, as well as other unrelated immaterial errors, including an adjustment to an uncertain tax position. These other immaterial errors were previously corrected in the periods they were identified; however, they are now reflected in the periods they originated. The revisions ensure comparability across all periods reflected herein. Refer to Note 1 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional information regarding the immaterial corrections to our results of prior periods.

Overview

Revenue

Revenue increased 11 percent to $226.8 billion for fiscal 2024 and 13 percent to $205.0 billion for fiscal 2023 compared to their respective prior-year periods, primarily due to branded and specialty pharmaceutical sales growth from existing customers.

We had GAAP operating earnings of $1.2 billion and $752 million during fiscal 2024 and 2023, respectively, which included $675 million and $1.2 billion pre-tax non-cash goodwill impairment charges related to the GMPD segment. See the "Critical Accounting Policies and Sensitive Accounting Estimates" section of this MD&A and Note 5 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional detail.

GAAP operating earnings during fiscal 2023 were favorably impacted by litigation recoveries as described further in the "Results of Operations" section of this MD&A and Note 8 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements."

We had a GAAP operating loss of $607 million during fiscal 2022, which included $2.1 billion pre-tax non-cash goodwill impairment charges related to the GMPD segment. See the "Critical Accounting Policies and Sensitive Accounting Estimates" section of this MD&A and Note 5 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional detail.

GAAP and Non-GAAP operating earnings increased during fiscal 2024, driven by increases in GMPD and Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions segment profit as described further in the "Results of Operations" section of this MD&A.

Non-GAAP operating earnings increased during fiscal 2023, driven by an increase in Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions segment profit, partially offset by a decrease in GMPD segment profit as described further in the "Results of Operations" section of this MD&A.

The sum of the components and certain computations may reflect rounding adjustments.

(1) Diluted earnings/(loss) per share attributable to Cardinal Health, Inc. ("diluted EPS" or "diluted loss per share").

(2) The reconciling items are presented within this table net of tax. See quantification of tax effect of each reconciling item in our GAAP to Non-GAAP Reconciliations in the section titled "Explanation and Reconciliation of Non-GAAP Financial Measures."

(3) For fiscal 2022, GAAP diluted loss per share attributable to Cardinal Health, Inc. and the EPS impact from the GAAP to non-GAAP per share reconciling items are calculated using a weighted average of 279 million common shares, which excludes potentially dilutive securities from the denominator due to their anti-dilutive effects resulting from our GAAP net loss for the period. Fiscal 2022 non-GAAP diluted EPS is calculated using a weighted average of 280 million common shares, which includes potentially dilutive shares.

(4) For fiscal 2024, 2023 and 2022, impairments and (gain)/loss on disposals of assets, net includes pre-tax goodwill impairment charges of $675 million, $1.2 billion and $2.1 billion related to the GMPD segment, respectively. For fiscal 2024, 2023 and 2022, the net tax benefit related to these charges was $58 million, $92 million and $140 million, respectively, and were included in the annual effective tax rate.

The increases in fiscal 2024 and 2023 GAAP diluted EPS were primarily due to the factors impacting GAAP operating earnings. During fiscal 2024, 2023 and 2022, GAAP diluted EPS was adversely impacted by the goodwill impairment charges related to the GMPD segment, which had $(2.50), $(4.33) and $(6.97) per share after-tax impacts, respectively. See the "Critical Accounting Policies and Sensitive Accounting Estimates" section of this MD&A and Note 5 and Note 9 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional detail.

During fiscal 2024, non-GAAP diluted EPS increased 29 percent to $7.53 due to the factors impacting non-GAAP operating earnings described above and a lower share count.

During fiscal 2023, non-GAAP diluted EPS increased 15 percent to $5.85 due to a lower share count, the factors impacting non-GAAP operating earnings described above and lower interest expense, net.

Cash and Equivalents

Our cash and equivalents balance was $5.1 billion at June 30, 2024 compared to $4.1 billion at June 30, 2023. During fiscal 2024, net cash provided by operating activities was $3.8 billion, which includes the impact of our annual payment of $378 million and prepayments of $239 million primarily related to the agreement to settle the vast majority of the opioid lawsuits filed by states and local governmental entities (the "National Opioid Settlement Agreement"). During fiscal 2024, we issued additional long-term debt and received net proceeds of $1.14 billion, of which $200 million is invested in short-term time deposits with initial effective maturities of more than three months and classified as prepaid expenses and other in our consolidated balance sheet as of June 30, 2024. In addition, during fiscal 2024 we deployed $1.2 billion for the Specialty Networks acquisition, $783 million for debt repayments, $750 million for share repurchases, $511 million for capital expenditures and $499 million for cash dividends.

Our cash and equivalents balance was $4.1 billion at June 30, 2023 compared to $4.7 billion at June 30, 2022. During fiscal 2023, net cash provided by operating activities was $2.8 billion, which was offset by $2.0 billion for share repurchases, $579 million for debt repayments, $525 million for cash dividends and $481 million for capital expenditures.

Significant Developments in Fiscal 2024 and Trends

Operating and Segment Reporting Structure Changes

Effective January 1, 2024, we began operating under an updated organizational structure and re-aligned our financial reporting structure under two reportable segments: Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions segment and GMPD segment. All remaining operating segments that are not significant enough to require separate reportable segment disclosures are included in Other. The following indicates the changes from the second quarter of fiscal 2024 to the new reporting structure:

- Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions segment: This reportable segment is comprised of all businesses formerly within our Pharmaceutical segment except Nuclear and Precision Health Solutions.
- GMPD segment: This reportable segment is comprised of all businesses formerly within our Medical segment except at-Home Solutions and OptiFreight® Logistics.
- Other: This is comprised of the remaining operating segments, Nuclear and Precision Health Solutions, at-Home Solutions and OptiFreight® Logistics.

Our previously reported segment results have been recast to conform to our new reporting structure and reflect changes in the elimination of inter-segment revenue and allocated corporate technology and shared function expenses, which are driven by the reporting structure change.

OptumRx Contracts

On April 22, 2024, we announced that our pharmaceutical distribution contracts with OptumRx would expire at the end of June 2024. Sales to OptumRx generated 17 percent of our consolidated revenue in fiscal 2024; however, due to the class of trade, sales to OptumRx generated a meaningfully lower operating margin than the overall Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions segment. We expect the expiration of the OptumRx contracts to adversely impact our results of operations, including segment profit, financial condition and cash flows in fiscal 2025. In particular, we expect the unwinding of the negative net working capital associated with the contract to negatively impact operating cash flow in fiscal 2025.

Specialty Networks Acquisition

On March 18, 2024, we completed the acquisition of Specialty Networks for a purchase price of $1.2 billion in cash, subject to certain adjustments. Specialty Networks creates clinical and economic value for independent specialty providers and partners across multiple specialty group purchasing organizations ("GPOs"): UroGPO, Gastrologix and GastroGPO, and United Rheumatology. Specialty Networks' PPS Analytics platform analyzes data from electronic medical records, practice management, imaging, and dispensing systems and transforms it into meaningful and actionable insights for providers and other stakeholders by using artificial intelligence and modern data analytics capabilities. The acquisition further expands our offerings in key therapeutic areas, accelerates our upstream data and research opportunities with biopharma manufacturers, and creates a platform for our expansion across therapeutic areas. We expect the Specialty Networks acquisition to positively impact Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions segment revenue and profit while increasing amortization and other acquisition-related costs during fiscal 2025 and beyond.

Branded Pharmaceuticals

During fiscal 2024, we saw increased demand for GLP-1 pharmaceuticals, and our sales increased significantly, despite periodic supply shortages. These increased sales positively impacted our Pharmaceutical segment and consolidated revenue for the year; however, GLP-1 sales did not meaningfully contribute to segment profit. Future demand for these medications is unpredictable and our ability to meet demand may be impacted by additional supply constraints.

During fiscal 2024, we began distributing commercially available COVID-19 vaccines following U.S. Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") approval. Distribution of these vaccines had a greater than anticipated benefit to Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions segment profit in fiscal year 2024. Updated COVID-19 vaccines for 2025 also require FDA approval. We expect COVID-19 vaccine distribution to favorably impact Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions segment profit in fiscal 2025, but to a lesser extent.

Generics Program

The performance of our Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions segment generics program positively impacted the year-over-year comparison of Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions segment profit. The Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions segment generics program includes, among other things, the impact of generic pharmaceutical product launches, customer volumes, pricing changes, the Red Oak Sourcing, LLC venture ("Red Oak Sourcing") with CVS Health Corporation ("CVS Health") and generic pharmaceutical contract manufacturing and sourcing costs.

The frequency, timing, magnitude and profit impact of generic pharmaceutical customer volumes, pricing changes, customer contract renewals, generic pharmaceutical manufacturer pricing changes and generic pharmaceutical contract manufacturing and sourcing costs all impact Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions segment profit and are subject to risks and uncertainties. These risks and uncertainties may impact Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions segment profit and consolidated operating earnings during fiscal 2025 and beyond.

Global Medical Products and Distribution Segment

Inflationary Impacts

Beginning in fiscal 2022, GMPD segment profit was negatively affected by incremental inflationary impacts, primarily related to transportation (including ocean and domestic freight), commodities and labor, and global supply chain constraints. Since that time, we have taken actions to partially mitigate these impacts, including implementing certain price increases and evolving our pricing and commercial contracting processes to provide us with greater pricing flexibility. In addition, decreases in some product-related costs have been recognized as the higher-cost inventory moved through our supply chain and was replaced by lower-cost inventory. These net inflationary impacts negatively affected GMPD segment profit during fiscal 2023. The net inflationary impacts were less significant during fiscal 2024 and had a favorable impact on GMPD segment profit on a year-over-year basis.

We expect these inflationary impacts to continue to affect GMPD segment profit in fiscal 2025 and beyond, but we expect that they will be substantially offset due to our mitigation actions. However, these inflationary costs are difficult to predict and may be greater than we expect or continue longer than our current expectations. Our actions to increase prices and evolve our contracting strategies are subject to contingencies and uncertainties and it is possible that our results of operations will be adversely impacted to a greater extent than we currently anticipate or that we may not be able to mitigate the negative impact to the extent or on the timeline we anticipate.

Volumes

GMPD segment profit was adversely impacted during fiscal 2023 in part due to lower volumes, which included our Cardinal Health brand medical products. We experienced Cardinal Health brand medical products sales growth during fiscal 2024 and expect further growth in fiscal 2025 and beyond. The timing, magnitude and profit impact of this anticipated sales growth is subject to risks and uncertainties, which may impact GMPD segment profit.

Goodwill

The change in segment structure as discussed above resulted in changes to the composition of our reporting units. Accordingly, we were required to reallocate the goodwill in reporting units affected by the change using a relative fair value approach and assess goodwill for impairment both before and after the reallocation. During the three months ended March 31, 2024, we allocated $90 million and $48 million of goodwill from the former Medical segment excluding our at-Home Solutions division (the "Medical Unit") to the GMPD reporting unit and the OptiFreight® Logistics reporting unit, respectively. We also assessed GMPD's goodwill for impairment and determined there was an impairment of GMPD's remaining goodwill balance of $90 million, resulting in GMPD goodwill being fully impaired. See the "Critical Accounting Policies and Sensitive Accounting Estimates" section of this MD&A and Note 5 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional detail.

Shareholder Cooperation Agreement

In September 2022, we entered into a Cooperation Agreement (the "Cooperation Agreement") with Elliott Associates, L.P. and Elliott International, L.P. (together, "Elliott") under which our Board of Directors (the "Board"), among other things, (1) appointed four new independent directors, including a representative from Elliott, and (2) formed an advisory Business Review Committee of the Board tasked with undertaking a comprehensive review of our strategy, portfolio, capital-allocation framework and operations. In May 2023, we extended the term of the Cooperation Agreement until the later of July 15, 2024 or until Elliott's representative ceases to serve on, or resigns from, the Board. In connection with this extension, the Board extended the term of the Business Review Committee until July 15, 2024. On that date, the Business Review Committee disbanded in accordance with its charter. The Cooperation Agreement remains in effect.

The evaluation and implementation of actions recommended by the Business Review Committee and the Board have impacted and may continue to impact our business, financial position and results of operations during fiscal 2025 and beyond. During fiscal 2024 and 2023, we incurred $1 million and $8 million of expenses related to the negotiation and finalization of the Cooperation Agreement and other consulting expenses, respectively. We have incurred, and may incur additional legal, consulting and other expenses related to the Cooperation Agreement.

Fiscal 2024 Compared to Fiscal 2023

Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions

Fiscal 2024 Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions segment revenue grew by 11 percent primarily due to branded and specialty pharmaceutical sales growth largely from existing customers, which increased revenue by $20.1 billion.

Global Medical Products and Distribution

Fiscal 2024 GMPD segment revenue increased primarily due to higher volumes from existing customers, which increased revenue by $275 million. The increase was partially offset by the adverse impact of personal protective equipment ("PPE") pricing.

Other

Fiscal 2024 Other revenue increased due to growth across the at-Home Solutions, Nuclear and Precision Health Solutions and OptiFreight® Logistics operating segments.

Fiscal 2023 Compared to Fiscal 2022

Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions

Fiscal 2023 Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions segment revenue grew by 15 percent primarily due to branded and specialty pharmaceutical sales growth from existing and net new customers, which increased revenue by $24.2 billion.

Global Medical Products and Distribution

Fiscal 2023 GMPD segment revenue decreased primarily due to lower sales, largely due to an adverse impact of PPE pricing and volumes.

Other

Fiscal 2023 Other revenue increased due to growth across the Nuclear and Precision Health Solutions, at-Home Solutions and OptiFreight® Logistics operating segments.

Cost of Products Sold

Cost of products sold for fiscal 2024 and 2023 increased $21.3 billion (11 percent) and $23.3 billion (13 percent) compared to their respective prior-year periods as a result of the same factors affecting the changes in revenue and gross margin.

Gross Margin

Gross margin	$ 7,414	$ 6,874	$ 6,484	8 %	6 %

Fiscal 2024 Compared to Fiscal 2023

Fiscal 2024 consolidated gross margin increased primarily due to the beneficial comparison of the prior-year net inflationary impacts in the GMPD segment and the positive performance of our generics program in the Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions segment.

Gross margin rate declined 8 basis points during fiscal 2024 mainly due to changes in overall product mix, primarily driven by increased pharmaceutical distribution branded sales, which have a dilutive impact on our overall gross margin rate. This decline in gross margin rate was partially offset by the beneficial comparison to the prior-year net inflationary impacts in the GMPD segment.

Fiscal 2023 Compared to Fiscal 2022

Fiscal 2023 consolidated gross margin increased primarily due to the Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions segment, which reflected the positive performance of our generics program and a higher contribution from branded and specialty pharmaceutical products. This increase was partially offset by the GMPD segment, primarily driven by lower volumes and unfavorable product sales mix, partially offset by a net positive contribution from PPE.

Gross margin rate declined 23 basis points during fiscal 2023 mainly due to changes in overall product mix, primarily driven by increased pharmaceutical distribution branded sales, which have a dilutive impact on our overall gross margin rate. This decline in gross margin rate was partially offset by a net positive contribution from PPE.

Distribution, Selling, General and Administrative ("SG&A") Expenses

(in millions)	SG&A Expenses			Change
	2024	2023	2022	2024	2023
SG&A expenses	$ 5,000	$ 4,800	$ 4,512	4 %	6 %

Fiscal 2024 Compared to Fiscal 2023

Fiscal 2024 SG&A expenses increased primarily due to compensation related costs, investment projects and higher costs to support sales growth. These increases were partially offset by the beneficial impact of enterprise-wide cost-savings measures.

Fiscal 2023 Compared to Fiscal 2022

Fiscal 2023 SG&A expenses increased primarily due to higher costs to support sales growth, compensation related costs and inflationary impacts. These increases were partially offset by the beneficial impact of enterprise-wide cost-savings measures.

Other

Fiscal 2024 Other segment profit increased primarily due to the performance of OptiFreight® Logistics.

Corporate

The changes in Corporate during fiscal 2024 are due to the factors discussed in the "Other Components of Consolidated Operating Earnings/(Loss)" section that follows.

Fiscal 2023 Compared to Fiscal 2022

Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions

Fiscal 2023 Pharmaceutical and Specialty Solutions segment profit increased primarily due to the positive performance of our generics program and an increased contribution from branded and specialty pharmaceutical products, partially offset by inflationary impacts, primarily related to increased transportation and labor costs.

Global Medical Products and Distribution

Fiscal 2023 GMPD segment profit decreased primarily due to net inflationary impacts, lower volumes and unfavorable product sales mix, partially offset by a net positive contribution from PPE.

Other

Fiscal 2023 Other segment profit increased primarily due to the performance of OptiFreight® Logistics.

Corporate

The changes in Corporate during fiscal 2023 are due to the factors discussed in the "Other Components of Consolidated Operating Earnings/(Loss)" section that follows.

Other Components of Consolidated Operating Earnings/(Loss)

In addition to revenue, gross margin and SG&A expenses discussed previously, consolidated operating earnings/(loss) were impacted by the following:

(in millions)	2024	2023	2022
Restructuring and employee severance	$ 175	$ 95	$ 101
Amortization and other acquisition-related costs	284	285	324
Impairments and (gain)/loss on disposal of assets, net	634	1,246	2,060
Litigation (recoveries)/charges, net	78	(304)	94

Restructuring and Employee Severance

Restructuring and employee severance costs in fiscal 2024, 2023 and 2022 include costs related to the implementation of certain enterprise-wide cost-savings measures, which include certain initiatives to rationalize our manufacturing operations. The increase in fiscal 2024 restructuring costs are primarily due to estimated severance costs related to these cost-savings measures and costs related to certain projects resulting from the reviews of our strategy, portfolio, capital-allocation framework and operations. During fiscal 2023 and 2022, restructuring and employee severance included costs related to the divestiture of the Cordis business. During fiscal 2022, restructuring also included facility-exit costs related to decreasing our overall office space.

Amortization and Other Acquisition-Related Costs

Amortization of acquisition-related intangible assets was $264 million, $281 million and $311 million for fiscal 2024, 2023 and 2022, respectively.

Impairments and (Gain)/Loss on Disposal of Assets, Net

During fiscal 2024, 2023 and 2022, we recognized $675 million, $1.2 billion and $2.1 billion of pre-tax non-cash goodwill impairment charges, respectively, related to our GMPD segment, as discussed further in the "Critical Accounting Policies and Sensitive Accounting Estimates" section of this MD&A and Note 5 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements."

Litigation (Recoveries)/Charges, Net

During fiscal 2024, we recognized expense of $340 million in connection with opioid-related matters, including agreements in principle with counsel representing classes of third-party payors and acute care hospitals, the case brought by the City of Baltimore, and a settlement with the State of Alabama. This expense was partially offset by a benefit of $105 million related to certain prepayments and $34 million in insurance recoveries. We also recognized income of $117 million for net recoveries in class action lawsuits in which we were a class member or plaintiff.

During fiscal 2023, we recognized income of $130 million for net recoveries in class action lawsuits in which we were a class member or plaintiff. We recognized income of $103 million primarily related to a reduction of the reserve for the estimated settlement and defense costs for the Cordis OptEase and TrapEase inferior vena cava ("IVC") product liability due to the execution of certain settlement agreements. We also recognized income of $93 million due to net proceeds from the settlement of a shareholder derivative litigation matter.

During fiscal 2022, we recognized estimated losses and legal defense costs associated with the IVC filter product liability claims of $70 million. We also recognized income of $18 million for net recoveries in class action antitrust lawsuits in which we were a class member or plaintiff.

See Note 8 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional information.

Other Components of Earnings/(Loss) Before Income Taxes

In addition to the items discussed above, earnings/(loss) before income taxes was impacted by the following:

(in millions)	Earnings/(loss) Before Income Taxes			Change
	2024	2023	2022	2024	2023
Other (income)/expense, net	$ (9)	$ 5	$ 22	N.M.	N.M.
Interest expense, net	51	84	147	(39)%	(43)%
Loss on early extinguishment of debt	—	—	10	N.M.	N.M.
(Gain)/Loss on sale of equity interest in naviHealth	—	—	(2)	N.M.	N.M.

Interest Expense, Net

Fiscal 2024 and 2023 interest expense, net decreased primarily due to increased interest income from cash and equivalents. The decrease in Fiscal 2024 interest expense, net was partially offset by lower interest income from financial instruments.

Loss On Early Extinguishment of Debt

During fiscal 2022, we recognized a loss of $10 million in connection with the debt redemption as described further in Note 7 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements."

Provision for Income Taxes

Fluctuations in the effective tax rates are primarily due to the impact of the goodwill impairment charges recognized in fiscal 2024, 2023 and 2022 related to the GMPD segment.

A reconciliation of the provision based on the federal statutory income tax rate to our effective income tax rate from continuing operations is as follows (see Note 9 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional information):

Provision at Federal statutory rate	21.0 %	21.0 %	21.0 %
State and local income taxes, net of federal benefit	3.1	6.5	2.0

Goodwill Impairment	8.7	33.8	(49.9)
Other	(1.4)	0.2	0.9
Effective income tax rate	28.9 %	50.0 %	(19.5)%

(1) This table reflects fiscal 2024 and 2023 pretax income with tax expense and fiscal 2022 pretax loss with tax expense.

(2) Includes the tax impact of Global Intangible Low-Taxed Income ("GILTI") tax, the Foreign-Derived Intangible Income deduction and other foreign income that is taxable under the U.S. tax code.

During fiscal 2024, 2023, and 2022, the effective tax rate was 28.9 percent, 50.0 percent and (19.5) percent, respectively. Included in the effective tax rate for fiscal 2024, 2023, and 2022, was $58 million, $92 million and $140 million, respectively, of benefit related to the goodwill impairment charges related to GMPD.

Ongoing Audits

We file income tax returns in the U.S. federal jurisdiction, various U.S. state jurisdictions and various foreign jurisdictions. With few exceptions, we are subject to audit by taxing authorities for fiscal 2015 through the current fiscal year. Tax laws are complex and subject to varying interpretations. New challenges related to future audits may adversely affect our effective tax rate or tax payments.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

We currently believe that, based on available capital resources and projected operating cash flow, we have adequate capital resources to fund our operations and expected future cash needs as described below. If we decide to engage in one or more acquisitions, depending on the size and timing of such transactions, we may need to access capital markets for additional financing.

Cash and Equivalents

Our cash and equivalents balance was $5.1 billion at June 30, 2024 compared to $4.1 billion at June 30, 2023.

During fiscal 2024, net cash provided by operating activities was $3.8 billion, which includes the impact of our annual payment of $378 million and prepayments of $239 million primarily related to the National Opioid Settlement Agreement. During fiscal 2024, we issued additional long-term debt and received net proceeds of $1.14 billion, of which $200 million is invested in short-term time deposits with initial effective maturities of more than three months and classified as prepaid expenses and other in our consolidated balance sheet as of June 30, 2024. In addition, we deployed cash of $783 million for debt repayments, $750 million for share repurchases, $511 million for capital expenditures and $499 million for cash dividends. At June 30, 2024, our cash and equivalents were held in cash depository accounts with major banks or invested in high quality, short-term liquid investments.

On March 18, 2024, we completed the acquisition of Specialty Networks for a purchase price of $1.2 billion in cash, subject to certain adjustments. See Note 2 of the "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements" for additional information.

At June 30, 2023, our cash and equivalents were $4.1 billion. During fiscal 2023, net cash provided by operating activities was $2.8 billion, which includes the impact of our second annual payment of $372 million related to the National Opioid Settlement Agreement. In addition, we deployed $2.0 billion for share repurchases, $579 million for debt repayments, $525 million for cash dividends and $481 million for capital expenditures.

Changes in working capital, which impact operating cash flow, can vary significantly depending on factors such as the timing of customer payments, inventory purchases, payments to vendors and tax payments in the regular course of business, as well as fluctuating working capital needs driven by customer and product mix. We expect the unwinding of the negative net working capital associated with the OptumRx contract to negatively impact operating cash flow in fiscal 2025.

The cash and equivalents balance at June 30, 2024 includes $497 million of cash and equivalents held by subsidiaries outside of the United States.

In fiscal 2024, we returned $384 million of cash held by foreign subsidiaries to the United States.

At June 30, 2024, foreign earnings of approximately $1.0 billion are considered indefinitely reinvested for working capital and other offshore investment needs. The computation of tax required if those earnings are repatriated is not practicable. For amounts not considered indefinitely reinvested, we have recorded an immaterial amount of income tax expense in our consolidated financial statements in fiscal 2024.

Other Financing Arrangements and Financial Instruments

Credit Facilities and Commercial Paper

In addition to cash and equivalents and operating cash flow, other sources of liquidity at June 30, 2024 include a $2.0 billion commercial paper program, backed by a $2.0 billion revolving credit facility. We also have a $1.0 billion committed receivables sales facility. At June 30, 2024, we had no amounts outstanding under our commercial paper program, revolving credit facility or our committed receivables sales facility. During fiscal 2024, under our commercial paper program and our committed receivables program, we had maximum combined total daily amounts outstanding of $1.3 billion.

In February 2023, we extended our revolving credit facility through February 25, 2028. In September 2022, we renewed our committed receivables sales facility program through Cardinal Health Funding, LLC ("CHF") through September 30, 2025. In September 2023, Cardinal Health 23 Funding, LLC was added as a seller under our committed receivables sales facility.

Our revolving credit and committed receivables sales facilities require us to maintain a consolidated net leverage ratio of no more than 3.75-to-1. As of June 30, 2024, we were in compliance with this financial covenant.

Long-Term Obligations

At June 30, 2024, we had total long-term obligations, including the current portion and other short-term borrowings of $5.1 billion.

In February 2024, we issued additional debt with the aggregate principal amount of $1.15 billion to fund the repayment of all of the aggregate principal amount outstanding of our 3.5% Notes due 2024 and 3.079% Notes due 2024, at their respective maturities, and for general corporate purposes. In June 2024, we repaid the full principal of $750 million of the 3.079% Notes due 2024. The notes issued are $650 million aggregate principal amount of 5.125% Notes that mature on February 15, 2029 and $500 million aggregate principal amount of 5.45% Notes that mature on February 15, 2034. The proceeds of the notes issued, net of discounts, premiums, and debt issuance costs were $1.14 billion. A portion of the proceeds was invested in short-term time deposits of $550 million with initial effective maturities of more than three months. At June 30, 2024, we had $200 million remaining in those

PART I

Item 1. Business.

Background

The Company is a Delaware corporation, formed in 2005. It operates through operating subsidiaries, including InfuSystem Holdings USA, Inc., a Delaware corporation ("Holdings"), InfuSystem, Inc., a California corporation ("ISI"), First Biomedical, Inc., a Kansas corporation ("First Biomedical"), and IFC, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company ("IFC").

Business Concept and Strategy

We are a leading national health care service provider, facilitating outpatient care for Durable Medical Equipment manufacturers and health care providers. We provide our products and services to hospitals, oncology practices, ambulatory surgery centers, and other alternate site health care providers. Our headquarters is in Rochester Hills, Michigan, and we operate our business from a total of seven locations in the United States ("U.S.") and Canada.

Our services are provided under a two-platform model. Our lead platform, Integrated Therapy Services ("ITS"), provides the last-mile solution for clinic-to-home healthcare where the continuing treatment involves complex Durable Medical Equipment and services. Our second platform, Durable Medical Equipment Services ("DME Services"), supports our ITS platform and leverages the Company's strong service orientation to win incremental business from our direct payer clients.

We believe InfuSystem has a lot to offer the healthcare community. Over the last 30 plus years, we have developed a unique expertise and service offering that Durable Medical Equipment manufacturers and health care providers are using to reduce costs, improve service, and most importantly, provide welcome options for patients who want to continue their healthcare treatments from home. We perfected our ITS model in oncology and have proven that we can extend this model into other Durable Medical Equipment therapies. Key is the ability to leverage our existing platforms – the new therapies do not require building a new infrastructure; we simply add incrementally to the systems already in place (e.g., sales, clinical, logistics, revenue cycle management, and biomedical services).

ITS is presented as a "turnkey" solution allowing our health care provider customers to focus on the practice of medicine. InfuSystem provides the Durable Medical Equipment and treatment consumables, handles the logistics around orders and deliveries, provides 24x7 nursing support relating to the provided equipment, assumes responsibility for third-party payer Durable Medical Equipment billing, and handles biomedical services (inspection, repair, certification and replacement) for the Durable Medical Equipment. DME Services are provided as a "concierge" offering, whereby InfuSystem leverages its strong service orientation to provide incremental services to our health care provider customers on a direct payer model. DME Services include equipment rental and sales, consumable sales, and biomedical support services.

InfuSystem competes for and retains its business primarily on the basis of its long participation and strong reputation in the Durable Medical Equipment space, its long-standing relationships with Durable Medical Equipment manufacturers and its health care provider customers, and the high levels of service it provides. Current barriers to entry for potential competitors are created by our: (i) growing number of third-party payer networks under contract, which included nearly 800 third-party payer networks as of December 31, 2022, an increase of 4% over the prior year period; (ii) economies of scale, which allow for predictable reimbursement and less costly purchase and management of the pumps, respectively; (iii) established, long-standing relationships as a provider of pumps to outpatient oncology practices in the U.S. and Canada; (iv) our large pump fleet of ambulatory and large volume infusion pumps for rent and for sale, which may allow us to be more responsive to the needs of physicians, outpatient oncology practices, hospitals, outpatient surgery centers, homecare practices, patient rehabilitation centers and patients than a new market entrant; (v) seven geographic locations in the U.S. and Canada that allow for same-day or next-day delivery of pumps; (vi) our growing team of field-based and traveling biomedical technicians; and (vii) a wide array of pump repair and service capabilities. We do not perform any research and development on pumps, but we have made, and continue to make, investments in our information technology.

ITS Segment

The ITS segment's core purpose is to seek opportunities to grow our business by leveraging our unique know-how in clinic-to-home health care involving Durable Medical Equipment, our logistics and billing capabilities, our growing network of third-party payers under contract, and our clinical and biomedical capabilities. This leverage may take the form of new products and/or services, strategic alliances, joint ventures and/or acquisitions. The leading service within our ITS segment is to supply electronic ambulatory infusion pumps and associated disposable supply kits to private oncology clinics, infusion clinics and hospital outpatient oncology clinics to be utilized in the treatment of a variety of cancers, including colorectal cancer and other disease states ("Oncology Business"). Colorectal cancer is the fourth most prevalent form of cancer in the U.S., according to the American Cancer Society, and the standard of care for the treatment of colorectal cancer relies upon continuous chemotherapy infusions delivered via ambulatory infusion pumps. One of the goals for the ITS segment is to expand into treatment of other types of cancers. In 2022, our Oncology Business approximated 91% of our total ITS segment net revenues. In 2022, we generated approximately 47% of our total ITS segment net revenues from treatments for colorectal cancer and 44% of our ITS segment net revenues from treatments for non-colorectal disease states. There are a number of approved treatment protocols for pancreatic, head and neck, esophageal and other types of cancers, as well as other disease states which present opportunities for growth. There are also a number of other drugs currently approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (the "FDA"), as well as agents in the pharmaceutical development pipeline, which we believe could potentially be used with continuous infusion protocols for the treatment of diseases other than colorectal cancer. Additional drugs or protocols currently in clinical trials may also obtain regulatory approval over the next several years. If these new drugs or protocols obtain regulatory approval for use with continuous infusion protocols, we expect the pharmaceutical companies to focus their sales and marketing efforts on promoting the new drugs and protocols to physicians.

Furthermore, our Oncology Business focuses mainly on the continuous infusion of chemotherapy. Continuous infusion of chemotherapy can be described as the gradual administration of a drug via a small, lightweight, portable infusion pump over a prolonged period of time. A cancer patient can receive his or her medicine anywhere from one to 30 days per month depending on the chemotherapy regimen that is most appropriate to that individual's health status and disease state. This may be followed by periods of rest and then repeated cycles with treatment goals of progression-free disease survival. This drug administration method has replaced intravenous push or bolus administration in specific circumstances. The advantages of slow continuous low doses of certain drugs are well documented. Clinical studies support the use of continuous infusion chemotherapy for decreased toxicity without loss of anti-tumor efficacy. The 2015 National Comprehensive Cancer Network ("NCCN") Guidelines recommend the use of continuous infusion for treatment of numerous cancer diagnoses. We believe that the growth of continuous infusion therapy is driven by three factors: evidence of improved clinical outcomes; lower toxicity and side effects; and a favorable reimbursement environment.

The use of continuous infusion has been demonstrated to decrease or alter the toxicity of a number of cytotoxic, or cell killing, agents. Higher doses of drugs can be infused over longer periods of time, leading to improved tolerance and decreased toxicity. For example, the cardiotoxicity (heart muscle damage) of the chemotherapy drug Doxorubicin is decreased by schedules of administration according to The Chemotherapy Source Book by Michael C. Perry. Nausea, vomiting, diarrhea and decreased white blood cell and platelet counts are all affected by duration of delivery. Continuous infusion can lead to improved tolerance and patient comfort while enhancing the patient's ability to remain on the chemotherapy regimen. Additionally, the lower toxicity profile and resulting reduction in side effects enables patients undergoing continuous infusion therapy to continue a relatively normal lifestyle, which may include continuing to work, going shopping, and caring for family members. We believe that the partnering of physician management and patient autonomy provide for the highest quality of care with the greatest patient satisfaction.

We believe that oncology practitioners have a heightened sensitivity to providing quality service and to their ability to obtain reimbursement for services they provide. Simultaneously, CMS and private insurers are increasingly focused on evidence-based medicine to inform their reimbursement decisions — that is, aligning reimbursement with clinical outcomes and adherence to standards of care. Continuous infusion therapy is a main component of the standard of care for certain types of cancer because clinical evidence demonstrates superior outcomes. Payers' recognition of this benefit is reflected in their relative reimbursement policies for clinical services related to the delivery of this care.

Additional areas of focus for our ITS segment are as follows:

- Pain Management - providing our ambulatory pumps, products, and services for pain management in the area of post-surgical continuous peripheral nerve block.
- Wound Care - launched in November 2022, the Company established a partnership, SI Wound Care, LLC ("SI Wound Care"), with Sanara MedTech Inc. ("Sanara"). The partnership will focus on delivering a complete wound care solution targeted at improving patient outcomes, lowering the cost of care, and increasing patient and provider satisfaction. The partnership is expected to enable InfuSystem to offer innovative products including Cork Medical LLC's ("Cork") negative pressure wound therapy ("NPWT") devices and supplies and Sanara's advanced wound care product line to new customers through the jointly controlled entity.
- Acquisitions - we believe there are opportunities to acquire smaller, regional health care service providers, in whole or in part that perform similar services to us but do not have the national market access, network of third-party payer contracts or operating economies of scale that we currently enjoy. We may also pursue acquisition opportunities of companies that perform similar services, but offer different therapies or utilize different devices.

- Lymphedema Therapy – Lymphedema therapy includes providing patient care and customer service, pneumatic compression devices and associated garments through our partnership with Bio Compression Systems, Inc. to outpatients, initially targeting our existing acute care and oncology customers, estimated to be 20% of the multi-billion-dollar Lymphedema market.
- Information technology-based services - we also plan to continue to capitalize on key new information technology-based services such as EXPRESS, InfuBus or InfuConnect, Pump Portal, DeviceHub and BlockPain Dashboard®.

The payer environment within our ITS segment is in a constant state of change. We continue to extend our considerable breadth of payer networks under contract as patients move into different insurance coverage plans, including Medicaid and Insurance Marketplace products. In some cases, this may slightly reduce our aggregate billed revenues payment rate but result in an overall increase in collected revenues, due to a reduction in concessions. Consequently, we are increasingly focused on revenues net of concessions.

DME Services Segment

Our DME Services segment's core service is to: (i) sell or rent new and pre-owned pole-mounted and ambulatory infusion pumps and other Durable Medical Equipment; (ii) sell treatment-related consumables; and (iii) provide biomedical recertification, maintenance and repair services for oncology practices as well as other healthcare site settings, including hospitals, home care and home infusion providers, skilled nursing and acute care facilities, pain centers and others. We purchase new and pre-owned pole-mounted and ambulatory infusion pumps from a variety of sources on a non-exclusive basis. We repair, refurbish and provide biomedical certification for the devices as needed. The pumps are then available for sale, rental or to be used within our ambulatory infusion pump management service. Our acquisition of FilAMed, a privately-held biomedical services company, on January 31, 2021 has supplemented the Company's existing biomedical recertification, maintenance and repair services for acute care facilities and other alternate site settings including home care and home infusion providers, skilled nursing facilities, pain centers and others. Our acquisition of OB Healthcare Corporation ("OB Healthcare"), a privately-held biomedical services company, on April 18, 2021 further develops and expands InfuSystem's DME Services segment by adding field service capabilities and complements the Company's purchase of FilAMed.

Services

ITS Segment

Our core service within our ITS segment is our Oncology Business. After delivering our ambulatory pumps to oncology offices, infusion clinics, and hospital and outpatient chemotherapy clinics, we then directly bill and collect payment from payers and patients for the use of these pumps. At any given time, our pumps are in the possession of these facilities, on a patient, in transit, or in our facilities for cleaning, calibration and storage as reserves for increased demand.

After a physician determines that a patient is eligible for ambulatory infusion pump therapy, the physician arranges for the patient to receive an infusion pump and provides the necessary chemotherapy drugs. The physician and nursing staff train the patient in the use of the pump and initiate service. The physician bills the payers, which may include Medicare, Medicaid, third-party payer companies or patients for the physician's professional services associated with initiating and supervising the infusion pump administration, as well as the supply of drugs. We directly bill (i) payers, (ii) facilities of our Medicare patients, and (iii) patients for the use of the pump and related disposable supplies. Billing to payers requires coordination with patients and physicians who initiate the service, as physicians' offices must provide us with appropriate documentation (patient's insurance information, physician's order, an acknowledgement of benefits that shows receipt of equipment by the patient, and, in some cases, physician's progress notes) in order for us to submit a bill to the payers. We provide assistance to uninsured patients that cannot afford our pumps via our financial hardship program – a program that usually matches what our physician practices provide as long as the uninsured patients meet certain criteria. This billing process is handled from our Rochester Hills, Michigan location.

In addition to providing high quality and convenient care, we believe that our business offers significant economic benefits for patients, providers and payers.

- Our clinical support team employs oncology, pain, Intravenous Certified, and Oncology Certified registered nurses trained on ambulatory infusion pump equipment who staff our 24x7 customer service hotline to address questions that patients may have about their pump treatment, the infusion pumps or other medical or technical questions related to the pumps.

- Physicians use our services to outsource the capital commitment, pump service, maintenance and billing and administrative burdens associated with pump ownership. Our services also allow the doctor to continue a direct relationship with the patient and to receive professional service fees for setting up the treatment and administering the drugs.

- We provide methods for the physician offices to deliver the appropriate paperwork for billing through a number of electronic means including EXPRESS and InfuConnect reducing the required effort on the employees of the physician offices.

- We believe our services are attractive to payers because such services are generally less expensive than hospitalization or standalone home health care.

Also, within ITS, we offer pain management services via electronic ambulatory infusion pumps for post-operative pain management using our pumps along with a numbing agent and a continuous nerve block catheter – continuous peripheral nerve block ("CPNB"). Using CPNB for the management of post-operative pain, which usually lasts two to three days after surgery, can result in reduced pain for the patient, increased satisfaction scores for the surgical center or hospital, and reduced need for post-operative opioid pain medication. These services include our patient care call center interaction offering support to patients and the review and collection of pain score patient outcome data for outpatient surgery centers using our proprietary BlockPain Dashboard®.

DME Services Segment

Other services we offer are classified under our DME Services segment and include the rental, sale or leasing and servicing of pole-mounted and ambulatory infusion pumps to oncology practices, hospitals and other clinical settings. These pumps are available for daily, weekly, monthly or annual rental periods. We also sell treatment consumables that can be used in conjunction with the pumps we sell and rent.

In addition to sales, rental and leasing services, we also provide biomedical maintenance, repair and certification services for the devices we offer as well as for devices owned by customers but not acquired from us. We operate pump service and repair "Centers of Excellence" from all of our locations across the U.S. and Canada and employ a staff of highly-trained technicians to provide these services. Our main Center of Excellence for service is our Lenexa, Kansas facility. In addition to the maintenance and repair services we perform at these facilities, we offer similar services that can be performed directly at our customer locations nation-wide through our team of field-based and traveling biomedical technicians.

As of December 31, 2022, our rental fleet of pole-mounted pumps, ambulatory pumps and NPWT medical equipment for both our ITS and DME Services segments had a historical cost of $99.2 million, up from $91.9 million at the end of 2021, and included approximately 125 makes and models of equipment dedicated to our rental services. Additionally, as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, we had a fleet of new and used pole-mounted pumps, ambulatory pumps and NPWT medical equipment with a historical cost of $2.8 million and $1.8 million, respectively, for sale or rental.

Information Technology

Our Information Technology ("IT") department is focused on not only supporting our internal IT infrastructure needs, but also supporting our revenue cycle management infrastructure including our electronic medical record technology ("EMR") that allows medical facilities to use our infusion pumps and services via our solutions such as EXPRESS and InfuConnect. This focus has enabled current billing information to be transferred to us from participating facilities electronically and automatically. Our focus on IT solutions resulted in the development of EXPRESS, a product powered by our InfuBus data integration platform, and provides for paperless delivery of the appropriate information for InfuSystem to bill payers that:

- eliminates all paper;
- provides an enhanced visibility as a result of real time status and reporting;
- reduces risk of error;
- automates treatment logs, pump assignments, tracking and physician's orders;
- provides a secure scanner for easy pump assignment to patients; and
- removes interruptions from physician practices' daily schedules, and standardizes data flow for clinics and hospitals with multiple locations.

Relationships with Physician Offices

As of December 31, 2022, we had business relationships with clinical oncologists in over 2,150 outpatient oncology clinics. Although this represents a substantial number of the oncologists in the U.S., we believe that we can continue to expand our network to further penetrate the oncology market. Based on our retention rates and the positive results of our professional customer satisfaction research, we believe our relationships with physician offices are strong.

We believe that, in general, we do not compete directly with hospitals and physician offices to treat patients. Rather, by providing products and services to hospitals and physician offices and other care facilities and providers, we believe that we assist other providers in meeting increasing patient demand and managing institutional constraints on capital and manpower due to the nature of limited resources in hospitals and physician offices.

Physician practices in the oncology field are following the overall healthcare practices trend to consolidate. However, as of December 31, 2022, we had gained more facilities than we had lost. We expect this trend to continue for the foreseeable future.

Employees

As of December 31, 2022, we had 438 employees, including 420 full-time employees and 18 part-time or contract employees. None of our employees are unionized.

Material Suppliers

We supply a wide variety of pumps and associated equipment, as well as disposables and ancillary supplies. The majority of our pumps are electronic infusion pumps. Smiths Medical, Inc. and Moog Medical Devices Group each supplied more than 10% of the ambulatory pumps purchased by us in 2022. The Company has a supply agreement in place with each of these suppliers. Certain "spot" purchases are made on the open market subject to individual negotiation. We also supply NPWT medical equipment, as well as related disposables and ancillary supplies.

Seasonality

Revenues may be seasonal due to the impact of co-pays and deductibles for patients' insurance that traditionally reset each January. This has been further impacted by changes in the insurance industry as it responds to increased government regulation. Also, rental customers tend to make buy versus rent decisions late in the year as customer capital budgets are being finalized, impacting sales revenue in the second half of the year, predominantly in the fourth quarter. Furthermore, as the Company's liquidity has improved, opportunistic pump purchases are made from time to time. These opportunistic pump purchases also allow for opportunistic pump sales, which could be material. The timing of such purchases and sales vary within the course of a year.

Environmental Laws

We are required to comply with applicable federal, state and local environmental laws regulating the disposal of cleaning agents used in the process of cleaning medical equipment, as well as the disposal of sharps and blood products used in connection with the pumps and medical equipment. We do not believe that compliance with such laws has a material effect on our business.

Significant Customers

We have sought to establish contracts with as many third-party payer organizations as commercially practicable, in an effort to ensure that reimbursement is not a significant obstacle for providers who recommend continuous infusion therapy and wish to utilize our services. A third-party payer organization is a health care payer or a group of medical services payers that contracts to provide a wide variety of health care services to enrolled members through participating providers such as us. A payer is any entity that pays on behalf of a member patient.

As of December 31, 2022, we had contracts with nearly 800 third-party payer networks, an increase of 4% over the prior year period. Material terms of contracts with third-party payer organizations are typically a pre-negotiated fee schedule rate or a then-current proprietary fee schedule rate for equipment and supplies provided. The majority of these contracts generally provide for a term of one year, with automatic one-year renewals, unless we or the contracted payer elect not to renew. We also contract with various other third-party payer organizations, Medicaid, commercial Medicare replacement plans, self-insured plans, facilities of our Medicare patients and numerous other insurance carriers. No single payer or customer represented more than 10% of net revenue in 2022, 2021 or 2020.

Competitors

We believe that our competition primarily consists of national, regional, and hospital-owned Durable Medical Equipment providers and service companies, physician providers and home care infusion providers and the competitive products and services they offer. An estimate of the number of competitors is not known or reasonably available, due to the wide variety in type and size of the market participants described below. We are not aware of any industry reports with respect to the competitive market described below. The description of market segments and business activities within those market segments is based on our experiences in the industry.

- National Durable Medical Equipment Providers and Service Companies: Other national providers and service companies have offerings similar to us. These products and service offerings include, but are not limited to, third-party reimbursement, direct rental and sale of infusion electronic and disposal pumps and related products and services for patients in the home, oncology clinics, ambulatory surgery centers, hospitals and other sites of care.

- Regional Durable Medical Equipment Providers: Regional Durable Medical Equipment providers act as distributors for a variety of medical products. We believe regional Durable Medical Equipment provider sales forces generally consist of a relatively small number of salespeople, usually covering several states. Regional Durable Medical Equipment providers tend to carry a limited selection of infusion pumps and their salespeople generally have limited resources. Regional Durable Medical Equipment providers usually do not have 24x7 nursing services. We believe that Regional Durable Medical Equipment providers have relatively few third-party payer contracts, which may prevent these providers from being paid at acceptable levels and may also result in higher out-of-pocket costs for patients.

- Hospital-Owned Durable Medical Equipment Providers: Many hospitals have in-house Durable Medical Equipment providers to supply basic equipment. In general, however, these providers have limited capital and tend to stock a small inventory of infusion pumps. We believe that hospital-owned providers have limited ability to grow because of limited patient populations. Growth from outside of the hospital may pose a challenge because hospitals typically will not provide referrals to competitors, instead preferring to offer patients a choice of non-hospital-affiliated Durable Medical Equipment providers.

- Physician Providers: A limited number of physicians maintain an inventory of their own infusion pumps and provide them to patients for a fee. However, we believe that pump utilization in this area tends to be low and the costs associated with ongoing supplies, preventative maintenance and repairs can be relatively high. Moreover, we believe that a high percentage of Durable Medical Equipment claims by doctors are rejected by payers upon first submission, requiring a physician's staff to spend significant time and effort to resubmit claims and receive payment for treatment. The numerous service and technical questions from patients may present another significant cost to a physician provider's staff.

- Home Care Infusion Providers: Home care infusion providers provide chemotherapy drugs and services to allow for in-home patient treatment. We believe that home care infusion treatment can be very costly and that many patients do not carry insurance coverage that pay for home-based infusion services, resulting in larger out-of-pocket costs. Because home care treatments may take as long as six months, these costs can be high and can result in higher patient co-payments. We believe that home care providers may also be reluctant to offer 24x7 coverage or additional patient visits, due to capped fees.

Regulation of Our Business

Our business is subject to various regulations. Specifically, as a registered Medicare supplier of Durable Medical Equipment and related supplies, we must comply with supplier standards established by CMS regulating Medicare suppliers of Durable Medical Equipment, Prosthetics, Orthotics and Supplies ("DMEPOS Supplier Standards"). The DMEPOS Supplier Standards consist of 30 requirements that must be met in order for a DMEPOS supplier to be eligible to receive payment for a Medicare-covered item. Some of the more significant DMEPOS Supplier Standards require us to (i) advise Medicare beneficiaries of their option to purchase certain equipment, (ii) honor all warranties under state law and not charge Medicare beneficiaries for the repair or replacement of equipment or for services covered under warranty, (iii) permit CMS agents to conduct on-site inspections to ascertain compliance with the DMEPOS Supplier Standards, (iv) maintain liability insurance in prescribed amounts, (v) refrain from contacting Medicare beneficiaries by telephone, except in certain limited circumstances, (vi) answer questions and respond to complaints of beneficiaries regarding the supplied equipment, (vii) disclose the DMEPOS Supplier Standards to each Medicare beneficiary to whom we supply equipment, (viii) maintain a complaint resolution procedure and record certain information regarding each complaint, (ix) maintain accreditation from a CMS approved accreditation organization, and (x) meet certain specified surety bond requirements.

We are also subject to the provisions of the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 ("HIPAA"), which are designed to protect the security and confidentiality of certain protected health information. Under HIPAA, we must provide patients access to certain records and must notify patients of our use of protected health information and patient privacy rights. Moreover, HIPAA sets limits on how we may use individually identifiable health information and prohibits the use of patient information for marketing purposes. The adoption of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 ("ARRA") includes a new breach notification requirement that applies to breaches of unsecured health information occurring on or after September 23, 2009. We are subject to regulations in the various states in which we operate. We believe we are in material compliance with all such regulations.

Item 1A. Risk Factors.

An investment in our securities involves a high degree of risk. You should consider carefully all of the material risks described below, together with the other information contained in this Form 10-K. If any of the following events occur, our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows may be materially adversely affected.

RISK FACTORS RELATING TO OUR BUSINESS AND THE INDUSTRY IN WHICH WE OPERATE

Our business is substantially dependent on third-party reimbursement. Any change in the overall health care reimbursement system may adversely impact our business.

Our revenues are substantially dependent on third-party reimbursement. We are paid directly by private insurers and, in some cases, governmental agencies, often on a fixed fee basis, for the use of continuous infusion equipment and related disposable supplies provided to patients. If the average fees allowable by private insurers or governmental agencies were reduced, the negative impact on revenues could have a material effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows. Also, if amounts owed to us by patients and insurers are reduced or not paid on a timely basis, we may be required to increase our concessions and/or decrease our revenues.

Changes in the health care reimbursement system often create financial incentives and disincentives that encourage or discourage the use of a particular type of product, therapy or clinical procedure. Such changes may be impacted by the growth in ACOs, reduction of providers by payers, the use of lower cost rental networks and other factors. Market acceptance of continuous infusion therapy may be adversely affected by changes or trends within the health care reimbursement system. Changes to the health care reimbursement system that favor other technologies or treatment regimens that reduce reimbursements to providers or treatment facilities, including increasing competitive pressures from home health care and other companies that use our services, may adversely affect our ability to market our services profitably. Overall, such dependency and potential changes could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

Our business is substantially dependent on estimates of collectible revenue from third-party reimbursement.

Our revenues are substantially dependent on estimates of collectible revenue from third-party reimbursement. Due to the complex nature of third-party reimbursement for the use of continuous infusion equipment and related disposable supplies provided to patients, we must estimate, based upon historical averages, the amount of collectible revenue that may be derived from each patient treatment. If average reimbursement rates diverge from historical levels, the estimates of such revenue may diverge from actual collections.

We utilize statistical methods to account for such changes, but there can be no assurance that the revenue reported in any period will ultimately be collected. Any recognized revenue related to third-party reimbursement from prior periods, which remains uncollected until written off from accounts receivable, will negatively impact revenues in the period in which it is written off. Thus, over time, recognized revenue net of concessions will approximate total collections.

The loss of a relationship with one or more third-party payers could negatively impact our business.

Our contracts for reimbursement with third-party payers are often for a term of one year, with automatic one-year renewals, unless we or the contracted payer elect not to renew. These evergreen contracts are subject to termination upon written notice. One or more terminations could have a material and adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

Any federal government shutdown may adversely impact our business.

Our revenues are dependent on private insurers and governmental agencies. In the absence of any bipartisan agreement in the federal government with respect to payments from governmental agencies, our revenues could be reduced. In addition, any federal government shutdown could also have a material and adverse impact on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

Payer concentration may adversely impact our business.

As of December 31, 2022, we had contracts with nearly 800 third-party payer networks, an increase of 4% over the prior year period. Material terms of contracts with third-party payer organizations are typically a pre-negotiated fee schedule rate or a then-current proprietary fee schedule rate for equipment and supplies provided. The majority of these contracts generally provide for a term of one year, with automatic one-year renewals, unless we or the contracted payer elect not to renew. We also contract with various other third-party payer organizations, Medicaid, commercial Medicare replacement plans, self-insured plans, facilities of our Medicare patients and numerous other insurance carriers. No single payer represented more than 10% of net revenue in 2022, 2021 or 2020. To the extent such dependency was to occur, significant fluctuations in revenues, results of operations and liquidity could arise if any significant contracted payer reduces its reimbursement for the services we provide.

Our billing process is dependent on meeting payer claims processing guidelines which are subject to change at the discretion of the payers. Such changes would materially impact our ability to bill and the timing of such billings, which could materially and adversely impact our net revenues and cash flows, which impact would be even greater if such changes are made by one of our larger payers.

The continued consolidation of physician practices, outpatient infusion clinics, oncology clinics, homecare providers and hospitals, increases the concentration of decision makers whom either choose to use our ambulatory electronic pumps within our Oncology Business or directly rent, lease or purchase pumps or supplies from us.

While we make every effort to benefit from such concentration, it could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

Increased focus on early detection and diagnostics may adversely affect our business.

An increased focus on lowering health care spending via improved diagnostic testing (i.e., defensive medicine) and patient monitoring could materially and negatively affect our business. A large portion of our ambulatory infusion pumps are dedicated to a specific form of cancer (i.e., colorectal). As a result of rising health care costs, there may be a demand for more cost-effective approaches to disease management, specifically for colorectal cancer, as well as for emphasis on screening and accurate diagnostic testing to facilitate early detection of potentially costly, severe afflictions. Any change in the approach to treatment of colorectal cancer could have a material and adverse impact on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

If future clinical studies demonstrate that oral medications or other therapies that do not use our electronic ambulatory pumps are at least as effective as continuous infusion therapy, our business could be adversely affected.

Ongoing clinical trials are currently evaluating and comparing the therapeutic benefits of current continuous infusion-based regimens with various oral medication regimens. If these clinical trials demonstrate that oral medications provide equal or greater therapeutic benefits and/or demonstrate reduced side effects compared to prior oral medication regimens, our revenues and overall business could be materially and adversely affected. Additionally, if new oral medications or other therapies that do not utilize our ambulatory electronic pumps are introduced to the market that are superior to existing oral therapies, physicians' willingness to prescribe continuous infusion-based regimens could decline, which would materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

Our success is impacted by the availability of the chemotherapy drugs that are used in our continuous infusion pump systems.

We primarily derive our revenues from the rental of ambulatory infusion pumps to oncology patients through physicians' offices and chemotherapy clinics. A shortage in the availability of chemotherapy drugs that are used in the continuous infusion pump system, which has occurred in the past, could have a material and adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

We are dependent on our Medicare Supplier Number.

We are required to have a Medicare Supplier Number in order to have the ability to bill Medicare for services provided to Medicare patients. Furthermore, all third-party and Medicaid contracts require us to have a Medicare Supplier Number. We are required to comply with Medicare DMEPOS Supplier Standards in order to maintain such number. If we are unable to comply with the relevant standards, we could lose our Medicare Supplier Number. Without such number, we would be unable to continue our various third-party and Medicaid contracts. A significant portion of our revenues are dependent upon our Medicare Supplier Number, the loss of which would materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

The CMS requires that all Durable Medical Equipment providers must be accredited by a CMS-approved accreditation organization. On February 17, 2009, we initially received accreditation from CHAP, and we have remained accredited to date. If we lost our accredited status, our business, financial condition, revenues and results of operations would be materially and adversely affected.

The impact of U.S. health care reform legislation on us remains uncertain.

The ACA has perpetuated the development of alternative provider payment models by CMS and the major national commercial payers. These payment models do not replace the current fee-for-service models nor replace current payer contracts, but rather provide additional financial incentives to certain "accountable" providers to improve quality and lower cost. The implications for the Company will come from the provider networks that are forming in order to integrate and coordinate care under these alternative models with CMS and the commercial payers. These provider networks include ACOs, patient-centered primary care medical homes, specialty medical homes, networks accepting bundled payment programs, and other "performance" networks that contract with CMS and commercial payers under alternative payment models that financially reward improved quality and lower medical cost. The relationship between us and our provider practices and facilities that are participating in these provider networks under alternative payment models will depend on (i) the extent to which these provider networks give priority to the medical cost associated with our Durable Medical Equipment services and (ii) whether our services are seen as part of a care delivery model that delivers higher value – higher quality at a lower cost.

Our failure to perform under these alternative payment models, or under similar models or conditions introduced by future legislation, could have a material adverse impact on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

We rely on independent suppliers for our products. Any delay or disruption in the supply of products, particularly our supply of electronic ambulatory pumps, may negatively impact our operations.

Our infusion pumps and related consumables are obtained from outside vendors. The majority of our new pumps are electronic infusion pumps which are supplied to us by two major suppliers: Smiths Medical, Inc. and Moog Medical Devices Group. The loss or disruption of our relationships with outside vendors, including pumps, parts, or supply recall or pump end-of-life announcements or availability of related proprietary consumable supplies, could subject us to substantial delays in the delivery of pumps or services provided to customers. From time to time, we or our suppliers may experience supply chain disruptions due to circumstances beyond our or our suppliers' control, such as the 2020 outbreak of COVID-19. Significant delays in the delivery or service of pumps or related proprietary consumable supplies could result in possible cancellation of orders and the loss of customers. Our inability to provide pumps to meet delivery schedules could have a material adverse effect on our reputation in the industry, as well as on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

We face periodic reviews and billing audits from governmental and private payers and these audits could have adverse results that may negatively impact our business.

As a result of our participation in the Medicaid program and our registration in the Medicare program, we are subject to various governmental reviews and audits to verify our compliance with these programs and applicable laws and regulations. We also are subject to audits under various government programs in which third-party firms engaged by CMS conduct extensive reviews of claims data and medical and other records to identify potential improper payments under the Medicare program. Private pay sources also reserve the right to conduct audits. If billing errors are identified in the sample of reviewed claims, the billing error can be extrapolated to all claims filed which could result in a larger overpayment than originally identified in the sample of reviewed claims. Our costs to respond to and defend reviews and audits may be significant and could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows. Moreover, an adverse review or audit could result in:

- required refunding or retroactive adjustment of amounts we have been paid by governmental or private payers;
- state or Federal agencies imposing fines, penalties and other sanctions on us;
- loss of our right to participate in the Medicare program, state programs, or one or more private payer networks; or
- damage to our business and reputation in various markets.

Any one of these results could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

Our failure to maintain controls and processes over billing and collecting could have a significant negative impact on our Consolidated Financial Statements.

The collection of accounts receivable is a significant challenge and requires constant focus and involvement by management and ongoing enhancements to information systems, billing center operating procedures and proper staffing levels. If we are unable to properly bill and collect our accounts receivable, our results could be materially and adversely affected. While management believes that our staffing, controls and processes are satisfactory, there can be no assurance that accounts receivable collectability will remain at current levels.

State licensure laws for Durable Medical Equipment suppliers are subject to change. If we fail to comply with any state laws, we will be unable to operate as a Durable Medical Equipment supplier in such state and our business operations will be adversely affected.

As a Durable Medical Equipment supplier operating in all 50 states, we are subject to each state's licensure laws regulating Durable Medical Equipment suppliers. State licensure laws for Durable Medical Equipment suppliers are subject to change and we must ensure that we are continually in compliance with the laws of all 50 states. In the event that we fail to comply with any state's laws governing the licensing of Durable Medical Equipment suppliers, we will be unable to operate as a Durable Medical Equipment supplier in such state until we regain compliance. We may also be subject to certain fines and/or penalties and our business operations could be materially and adversely affected.

Our customer concessions may not be adequate to cover actual losses.

Our third-party payer contracts do not guarantee annual inflationary increases, typical of the Durable Medical Equipment payer contracting environment. Contracted reimbursement rates are either subject to increases or decreases in CMS program rates or, if not indexed to government rates, are frozen until those payer contracts are reopened and renegotiated. While we monitor reimbursement levels to identify specific payer reimbursement rates that have eroded and renegotiate such rates, we may not be able to maintain or improve overall reimbursement levels, thereby compromising the adequacy of the predicted customer concessions.

We may also face reduced reimbursements from private third-party payers. In addition, our customers may be unable to make timely payments to us. Although we maintain allowances for estimated losses resulting from the inability of our customers to make required payments, we cannot guarantee that we will continue to experience the same loss rates that we have in the past. If we begin to experience an increase in our loss rates in excess of our allowances, it could materially and adversely impact our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

Our growth strategy includes expanding into treatment for cancers other than colorectal cancer. There can be no assurance that continuous infusion-based regimens for these other cancers will become standards of care for large numbers of patients or that we will be successful in penetrating these different markets.

An aspect of our growth strategy is to expand into the treatment of other cancers, such as head, neck and gastric cancers. This population of patients will expand only if clinical trial results for new drugs and new combinations of drugs demonstrate superior outcomes for regimens that include continuous infusion therapy relative to alternatives. No assurances can be given that these new drugs and drug combinations will be approved or will prove superior to oral medication or other treatment alternatives. In addition, no assurances can be given that we will be able to penetrate successfully any new markets that may develop in the future or manage the growth in additional resources that would be required.

The industry in which we operate is intensely competitive and ever-changing. If we are unable to successfully compete with our competitors, our business operations may suffer.

The drug infusion industry is highly competitive. Some of our competitors and potential competitors, including some of the practices that we service, have significantly greater resources than we do for information technology, marketing and sales. As a result, they may be better able to compete for market share, even in areas in which our services may be superior. The industry is subject to technological changes and such changes may put our current fleet of pumps, smart pump licensing, our information technology solutions or our other technological-based solutions at a competitive disadvantage. Furthermore, the healthcare industry, in general, is experiencing market consolidation, reducing the number of decision makers. If we are unable to effectively compete in our market, our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows may be materially and adversely affected.

Our industry is dependent on regulatory guidelines that affect our billing practices. If our competitors do not comply with these regulatory guidelines, our business could be adversely affected.

Aggressive competitors may not fully comply with rules regarding CMS and other payers' billing and documentation requirements. Competitors, who do not meet the same standards of compliance that we do with respect to billing regulations, may put us at a potential competitive disadvantage. We are a participating provider with Medicare and as of December 31, 2022, we were under contract with nearly 800 third-party payer networks, all of which have very stringent guidelines. If our competitors do not comply with these regulatory guidelines, we could be put at a potential competitive disadvantage and our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows could be material and adversely affected.

Although we do not manufacture the products we distribute, if one of the products distributed by us proves to be defective or is misused by a health care practitioner or patient, we may be subject to liability that could adversely affect our financial condition and results of operations.

Although we do not manufacture the pumps that we distribute, a defect in the design or manufacture of a pump distributed or serviced by us, or a failure of pumps distributed by us to perform for the use specified, could have a material and adverse effect on our reputation in the industry and subject us to claims of liability for injuries and otherwise. Misuse of the pumps distributed by us by a practitioner or patient that results in injury could similarly subject us to liability. Any substantial underinsured loss could have a material and adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows. Furthermore, any impairment of our reputation could have a material and adverse effect on our revenues and prospects for future business.

We intend to continue to pursue opportunities for the further expansion of our business through strategic alliances and/or joint ventures. Future strategic alliances and/or joint ventures may require significant resources and/or result in significant unanticipated costs or liabilities to us.

We intend to continue to pursue opportunities for the further expansion of our business through strategic alliances and/or joint ventures. Any future strategic alliances or joint ventures will depend on our ability to identify suitable partners, negotiate acceptable terms for such transactions and obtain financing, if necessary. These investments require significant managerial attention, which may be diverted from our other operations.

If we engage in strategic acquisitions, we may experience significant costs and difficulty in assimilating operations or personnel, which could threaten our future growth.

If we make any acquisitions, we could have difficulty assimilating operations, technologies and products and services. In addition, we could have difficulty integrating or retaining personnel and maintaining employee morale as we take steps to combine the personnel and business cultures of separate organizations into one and to eliminate duplicate positions and functions. It may also be difficult for us to preserve important relationships with others, such as strategic partners, customers, and suppliers, who may delay or defer decisions on agreements with us, or seek to change existing agreements with us, because of the acquisition. In addition, acquisitions may involve entering markets in which we have no or limited direct prior experience. The occurrence of any one or more of these factors could disrupt our ongoing business, distract our management's and employees' attention from our ongoing business operations, result in decreased operating performance and increase our expenses. Moreover, our profitability may suffer because of acquisition-related costs or amortization of intangible assets. Furthermore, we may have to incur debt or issue equity securities in future acquisitions. The issuance of equity securities would dilute our existing stockholders.

We may be unable to maintain adequate working relationships with health care professionals.

We seek to maintain close working relationships with respected physicians and medical personnel in hospitals and universities. We rely on these professionals to assist us in the development of proprietary service and improvements to complement and expand our existing service and product lines. If we are unable to maintain these relationships, our ability to market and sell new and improved products and services could decrease and future operating results could be unfavorably affected.

If we fail to comply with applicable governmental or accrediting bodies' regulations, we could face substantial penalties and our business, operations and financial condition could be adversely affected.

Certain federal, state health care, and accreditation bodies' laws and regulations, including those pertaining to fraud and abuse and patients' rights, are applicable to our business. The laws that are applicable to our business include:

- the federal health care program Anti-Kickback Statute, which prohibits, among other things, soliciting, receiving or providing remuneration, directly or indirectly, to induce (i) the referral of an individual, for an item or service or (ii) the purchasing or ordering of a good or service, for which payment may be made under federal health care programs such as the Medicare and Medicaid programs;
- federal false claims laws which prohibit, among other things, knowingly presenting, or causing to be presented, claims for payment from Medicare, Medicaid, or other third-party payers that are false or fraudulent, and which may apply to entities like us that promote medical devices, provide medical device management services and may provide coding and billing advice to customers;
- HIPAA, which prohibits executing a scheme to defraud any health care benefit program or making false statements relating to health care matters and which also imposes certain requirements relating to the privacy, security and transmission of individually identifiable health information; and
- state law equivalents of each of the above federal laws, such as anti-kickback and false claims laws that may apply to items or services reimbursed by any third-party payer, including commercial insurers, and state laws governing the privacy and security of health information in certain circumstances, many of which differ in significant ways from state to state and often are not preempted by HIPAA, thus complicating compliance efforts.

If our operations are found to be in violation of any of the laws described above or any other regulations that apply to us, we may be subject to penalties, including civil and criminal penalties, damages, fines and the curtailment or restructuring of our operations. Any penalties, damages, fines, curtailment or restructuring of our operations could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows. Any action against us for violation of these laws, even if we successfully defend against it, could cause us to incur significant legal expenses and divert our management's attention from the operation of our business. Moreover, achieving and sustaining compliance with applicable federal and state privacy, security and fraud laws may prove costly.

Failure to protect our intellectual property could substantially harm our business and operating results.

In order to protect our trade secrets and other confidential information, we rely in part on confidentiality agreements with our employees, consultants and third parties with whom we have relationships. These agreements may not effectively prevent disclosure of trade secrets and other confidential information and may not provide an adequate remedy in the event of misappropriation of trade secrets or any unauthorized disclosure of trade secrets and other confidential information. In addition, others may independently discover our trade secrets and confidential information and, in such cases, we could not assert any trade secret rights against such parties. Costly and time-consuming litigation could be necessary to enforce or determine the scope of our trade secret rights and related confidentiality and nondisclosure provisions. Failure to obtain or maintain trade secret protection, or our competitors' acquisition of our trade secrets, could materially and adversely affect our competitive business position.

Covenants in our current and any future debt agreements restrict our business.

Our 2021 Credit Agreement contains and the agreements that govern our future indebtedness may contain, covenants that restrict our ability to and the ability of our subsidiaries to, among other things:

- engage in a transaction that results in a change of control, as defined by the 2021 Credit Agreement;
- create, incur, assume or suffer to exist any lien upon any of our property, assets or revenues;
- make certain investments or acquisitions;

- create, incur, assume or suffer to exist certain indebtedness;
- merge, dissolve, liquidate, consolidate or sell all or substantially all of our assets;
- make any disposition or enter into any agreement to make any disposition;
- repurchase outstanding stock from the open market; and
- declare or make, directly or indirectly, any dividend or other restricted payment, or incur any obligation (contingent or otherwise) to do so.

These covenants may restrict our ability to operate our business. Our failure to comply with these covenants could result in an event of default that, if not cured or waived, could result in reduced liquidity for the Company and could have a material and adverse effect on our ability to operate our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows. Additionally, our ability to pay interest and repay the principal for our indebtedness is dependent upon our ability to manage our business operations, generate sufficient cash flows to service such debt and the other factors discussed in this section. Our 2021 Credit Agreement also contains certain financial covenants. As of December 31, 2022, we were in compliance with all the covenants contained in the 2021 Credit Agreement, however, there can be no assurance that we will be able to manage any of the risks associated with debt agreements successfully.

Economic uncertainty or economic deterioration could adversely affect us.

There continues to be global economic uncertainty, as well as increased inflation, heightened interest rates and a recessionary environment. Ongoing political changes and conflicts in the U.S. and abroad continue to contribute to global economic uncertainty and volatility in the global financial markets. In February 2022, Russian forces launched significant military actions against Ukraine, which has caused significant international conflict, including sanctions, tensions and military actions. In addition, the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic have contributed to economic uncertainty. Continued economic uncertainty may continue to drive stock market and interest rate volatility, increased inflation and adversely impact consumer confidence, product demand, and our ability to refinance our debt. Economic conditions, along with our operating performance, may also materially and adversely impact our ability to access the financial markets. Accordingly, our future business and financial results are subject to uncertainty. If economic conditions deteriorate in the future, our future revenues and financial results could be materially and adversely affected.

Changes in tax laws or challenges to our tax positions could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

We are subject to income taxes as well as non-income based taxes in federal and various state jurisdictions. Changes in tax laws, including, for example, those resulting from the U.S. federal tax legislation commonly referred to as the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act, as well as other factors, could cause us to experience fluctuations in our tax obligations and effective tax rates in future periods and otherwise adversely affect our tax positions and/or our tax liabilities. The full impact of the CARES Act on us may change significantly as regulations, interpretations and rulings relating to the CARES Act are issued and additional changes in U.S. federal and state tax laws are made in the future. There can be no assurance that our effective tax rates, tax payments, tax credits or incentives will not be adversely affected by these or other initiatives.

We are subject to audits by tax authorities from time to time in federal and state jurisdictions. Tax authorities may disagree with certain positions we have taken and assess additional taxes and penalties. We regularly assess the likely outcomes of these audits in order to determine the appropriateness of our tax provision. However, there can be no assurance that we will accurately predict the outcomes of these audits, and the actual outcomes of these audits could have a material impact on our results of operations.

The value of our net operating loss carryforwards may become impaired if we do not generate sufficient future taxable income required to utilize all or a portion of our net operating loss carryforwards prior to their expiration.

The Company's U.S. federal net operating loss carryforward for tax purposes was $35.7 million at December 31, 2022, resulting in a federal deferred tax asset of $7.5 million. Approximately $29.1 million of the Company's U.S. federal net operating loss carryforwards will begin to expire in various years beginning in 2031. The Company's realization of its deferred tax assets including the loss carryforwards is dependent upon many factors, including, but not limited to, the Company's ability to generate sufficient taxable income in sufficient amounts. There can be no assurance that we will generate the required amounts of taxable income before the expiration dates are reached.

On July 8, 2024, the Catalent Pharma Solutions, LLC facility located at 3031 Red Lion Road in Philadelphia, PA ("Catalent Philadelphia Site") received a Notice of Hearing from the Alabama Board of Pharmacy. The Notice requires Catalent to appear before the Alabama Board on September 17, 2024 (or otherwise come to a resolution with the Board prior to that date) to provide evidence and testimony in response to the Board's allegation that the Catalent Philadelphia Site did not timely notify the Alabama Board about a change in the Designated Representative for the Catalent Philadelphia Site. The Board's rules require notification to be made within ten (10) days of a change in the Designated Representative. The Catalent Philadelphia Site, through its legal counsel, filed a Motion to Continue the hearing in order to obtain additional discovery from the Alabama Board. The Alabama Board did not object to the Motion; thus, on August 8, 2024, The Alabama Board granted Catalent's Motion to Continue and rescheduled the hearing for October 29, 2024. A "Joint Motion to Continue" has been granted and reset for March 18, 2025.

Explanations of Disciplinary Actions

Catalent Pharma Solutions, LLC, 3031 Red Lion Road, Philadelphia, PA 19114

1. South Carolina Board of Pharmacy – PHILADELPHIA

On April 25, 2017, the Catalent Pharma Solutions, LLC site located in Philadelphia, PA (Red Lion Road) paid a $5,000 fine to the South Carolina Board of Pharmacy in settlement of a matter involving the shipment of clinical trial product into South Carolina without a license.

2. Alabama Board of Pharmacy - PHILADELPHIA

On July 25, 2017, the Catalent Pharma Solutions, LLC site located in Philadelphia, PA (Red Lion Road) paid a $1,500 fine to the Alabama Board of Pharmacy in settlement of a matter involving the discipline from the South Carolina BOP regarding the shipment of clinical trial product into South Carolina without a license. According to the Alabama Board, a violation of any other state's licensing regulations (in this case, South Carolina's regulations) constitutes a violation of Alabama's regulations.

SOUTH CAROLINA DEPARTMENT OF LABOR, LICENSING AND REGULATION
BEFORE THE STATE BOARD OF PHARMACY

In the Matter of: Catalent Pharma Solutions, LLC, Applicant.	ORDER

This matter first came before the Nonresident Permit Subcommittee ("Committee"), appointed by the State Board of Pharmacy ("Board"), on April 25, 2017, for a hearing on the application of the above-named applicant ("Applicant") for a nonresident wholesaler/distributor/manufacturer permit. The Applicant appeared before the Committee through its designated representative, Terry Jackson, as well as its Associate General Counsel for Regulatory Matters, Robert Ciolek, Esquire. Applicant was represented by Jon Wallace, Esquire. At its June 14, 2017, meeting with a quorum present, the Board considered the Committee's recommendation and the transcript of the Committee's hearing. The Board adopted the Committee's recommendation that the application be approved, and the permit shall issued subject to the prior payment of a civil penalty in the amount of Five Thousand and 00/100 ($5,000.00) Dollars for shipping into South Carolina without a permit. Since the hearing, Applicant has tendered the fine to the Board.

Applications of this type are governed by S.C. Code §§ 40-43-83, 40-43-86, 40-43-89 (2011, as amended), and/or Reg. 99-43, as amended.

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. Applicant applied for a permit for its facility located in Philadelphia, PA.

2. Applicant manufactures clinical supply materials.

3. Applicant's representative admitted that Applicant has previously shipped prescription drugs to South Carolina without first obtaining a permit from this Board.

4. Applicant otherwise meets the requirements for the Permit for which it applied.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

In an application hearing, "(t)he applicant shall demonstrate to the satisfaction of the board that the applicant meets all requirements for the issuance of a license." S.C. Code Ann. § 40-1-130 (2011, as amended). Thus, the burden of proof in an application for licensure or certification is on the Applicant to provide full, complete, and accurate responses to all questions on the application and to demonstrate that it is qualified for the license sought.

S.C. Code Ann. §40-43-83(I)(2011) requires a permit for the sale or distribution of legend (prescription) drugs in this state, and expressly includes manufacturers within or without the state. S.C. Code Ann. § 40-43-89 (2011) requires a facility located outside of this State that distributes prescription drugs or devices in this State to have a permit issued by the Board prior to distribution. S.C. Code Ann. § 40-43-140(A)(3) states that facilities requiring permits may not operate unless a permit has been issued by the board. Pursuant to S.C. Code Ann. § 40-43-140(A)(1)(2011), the Board may suspend, revoke, deny, or refuse to renew the permit or impose disciplinary action authorized for violations of the Pharmacy Act. Pursuant to S.C. Code Ann. §§ 40-43-140(A)(2), a person who distributes or delivers drugs or devices in this State without a required permit is subject to a fine imposed by the Board not to exceed one thousand dollars for each offense, in addition to such other disciplinary action the Board may take.

Applicant has met the qualifications for the permit, but violated the Pharmacy Practice Act by regularly distributing prescription drugs or devices into this State without a permit. Therefore, the Board concludes that it is appropriate to issue the permit subject to the prior payment of a civil penalty in the amount of Five Thousand and 00/100 ($5,000.00) Dollars.

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

The Application is approved, and the permit shall be issued subject to the payment of a civil penalty in the amount of Five Thousand and 00/100 ($5,000.00) Dollars, receipt of which is hereby acknowledged by the Board.

AND IT IS SO ORDERED.

Pursuant to Code of Alabama (1975) § 41-22-12(f) the parties, through counsel, have agreed to informally resolve this matter by the entry of this Consent Order, the terms of which are as follows:

1. The Board finds that Catalent has violated the provisions of the applicable Board Rule based upon the conduct set out above; however, the Board grants the application of Catalent for a Manufacturer/Wholesaler/Distributor permit for the location at 3031 Red Lion Road, Philadelphia, PA 19114 expressly contingent upon the payment of a fine in the amount of One Thousand Five Hundred and NO/100 Dollars ($1,500.00) within thirty (30) days from the effective date of the Consent Order, which is the date it is signed on behalf of the Board. 2. That Catalent expressly waives its rights pursuant to the Alabama Pharmacy Practice Act, the Alabama Administrative Procedures Act and the Alabama Uniform Controlled Substances Act, including but not limited to the Code of Alabama

(1975), §34-23-34 and §34-23-92(12), Code of Alabama (1975), §41-22-12 and §40-22-20 and Code of Alabama (1975), § 20-2-50 et seq., and including but not limited to a statement or notice of charges, the opportunity for a hearing before the Board in connection with any charges against it and any judicial review. Catalent further waives any objection to the attorney for the Board preparing, drafting or making this Order, including the waiver of any objection or right pursuant to Code of Alabama (1975), §41-22-18.

4. By execution of this Consent Order, Catalent hereby releases the Board, its members, agents, representatives, servants and employees from any and all liability, claims, damages, fees or expenses arising out of or made in connection with the matters relating to this Consent Order and complaint.

5. That Catalent agrees that any further violation of the Alabama Pharmacy Practice Act, the rules and regulations of the Alabama State Board of Pharmacy or any other applicable laws may, upon proof and hearing thereof, result in further disciplinary sanctions against its license.

6. That Catalent acknowledges, stipulates and agrees that it has read this Consent Order and that it fully understands the terms, conditions and contents of the same. Catalent acknowledges, stipulates and agrees that it voluntarily and of its own free will accepts the terms and conditions set out in this Consent Order and is executing this Consent Order freely and voluntarily without coercion, duress, or threats or pursuant to any promises and on the advice of its attorney.

In such circumstances, Gallagher will be entitled to terminate its Services with immediate effect. In the event that Gallagher exercises its right to terminate its Services with immediate effect, Gallagher will not be responsible or liable to you for any direct or indirect loss which you or any other party may suffer as a result.

Please be aware that Gallagher is generally restricted from providing broking, claims handling or other services that relate to Cuba and Iran, including due to significant difficulties in processing payments and other commercial and reputational considerations.

Compensation Disclosure

1. Gallagher Companies are primarily compensated from the usual and customary commissions, fees or, where permitted, a combination of both, for brokerage and servicing of insurance policies, annuity contracts, guarantee contracts and surety bonds (collectively "insurance coverages") handled for a client's account, which may vary based on market conditions and the insurance product placed for the client.

2. In placing, renewing, consulting on or servicing your insurance coverages, Gallagher companies may participate in contingent and supplemental commission arrangements with intermediaries and insurance companies that provide for additional compensation if certain underwriting, profitability, volume or retention goals are achieved. Such goals are typically based on the total amount of certain insurance coverages placed by Gallagher with the insurance company, not on an individual policy basis. As a result, Gallagher may be considered to have an incentive to place your insurance coverages with a particular insurance company. If you do not wish to have your commercial insurance placement included in consideration for additional compensation, contact your producer or service team for an Opt-out form.

3. Gallagher Companies may receive investment income on fiduciary funds temporarily held by them, or from obtaining or generating premium finance quotes, unless prohibited by law.

4. Gallagher Companies may also access or have an ownership interest in other facilities, including wholesalers, reinsurance intermediaries, captive managers, underwriting managers and others that act as intermediaries for both Gallagher and other brokers in the insurance marketplace some of which may earn and retain customary brokerage commission and fees for their work.

If you have specific questions about any compensation received by Gallagher and its affiliates in relation to your insurance placements, please contact your Gallagher representative for more details.

In the event you wish to register a formal complaint regarding compensation Gallagher receives from insurers or third-parties, please contact Gallagher via e-mail at Compensation_Complaints@ajg.com or by regular mail at:

SPECIAL NOTE REGARDING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This Annual Report on Form 10-K contains forward-looking statements. All statements other than statements of historical fact are "forward-looking statements" for purposes of this Annual Report on Form 10-K. These forward-looking statements may include, but are not limited to, statements regarding our current and future nonclinical, preclinical and clinical development activities, macroeconomic conditions, including rising inflation and interest rates, labor shortages, supply chain issues, and global conflicts such as the war in Ukraine, our future results of operations and financial position, business strategy, market size, potential growth opportunities, the efficacy and safety profile of our product candidates, expected timing and results of our clinical trials, and receipt and timing of potential regulatory designations, approval and commercialization of product candidates. In some cases, forward-looking statements may be identified by terminology such as "believe," "may," "will," "should," "predict," "goal," "strategy," "potentially," "estimate," "continue," "anticipate," "intend," "could," "would," "project," "plan," "expect," "seek" and similar expressions and variations thereof. We have based these forward-looking statements largely on our current expectations and projections about future events and trends that we believe may affect our financial condition, results of operations, business strategy, short-term and long-term business operations and objectives and financial needs. These forward-looking statements are subject to a number of risks, uncertainties and assumptions, including those described in the "Risk Factors" section and elsewhere in this Annual Report on Form 10-K. Moreover, we operate in a very competitive and rapidly changing environment, and new risks emerge from time to time. It is not possible for our management to predict all risks, nor can we assess the impact of all factors on our business or the extent to which any factor, or combination of factors, may cause actual results to differ materially from those contained in any forward-looking statements we may make. In light of these risks, uncertainties and assumptions, the forward-looking events and circumstances discussed in this report may not occur and actual results could differ materially and adversely from those anticipated or implied in the forward-looking statements.

You should not rely upon forward-looking statements as predictions of future events. Although we believe that the expectations reflected in the forward-looking statements are reasonable, we cannot guarantee that the future results, levels of activity, performance or events and circumstances reflected in the forward-looking statements will be achieved or occur. We undertake no obligation to update publicly any forward-looking statements for any reason after the date of this report to conform these statements to actual results or to changes in our expectations, except as required by law.

As used in this Annual Report on Form 10-K, the terms "KalVista," the "Company," "we," "us," and "our" refer to KalVista Pharmaceuticals, Inc. and, where appropriate, its consolidated subsidiaries, unless the context indicates otherwise.

Item 1. Business.

Overview

We are a clinical stage pharmaceutical company focused on the discovery, development and commercialization of small molecule protease inhibitors for diseases with significant unmet need. We apply our insights into the chemistry and biology of proteases to develop orally delivered therapeutics with high selectivity, potency and bioavailability that we believe will make them successful treatmeots for diseases. We have used these capabilities to develop novel, small molecule plasma kallikrein inhibitors targeting the disease hereditary angioedema ("HAE"). We also are conducting preclinical development on a novel, oral Factor XIIa ("Factor XIIa") inhibitor program, which we are initially advancing to provide a next generation of HAE therapeutics and which also offers the opportunity for expansion into other high unmet need indications in the future.

HAE is a rare and potentially life-threatening, genetically-driven disease that features episodes of debilitating and often painful swelling in the skin, gastrointestinal tract or airways. Although multiple therapies have been approved for the disease, we believe people living with HAE are in need of alternatives that better meet their objectives for quality of life and ease of disease control. Other than one oral therapy approved for prophylaxis, currently marketed therapies are all administered by injection, which patients find challenging despite their efficacy because they are painful, time consuming to prepare and administer, and difficult to transfer and store. As a result, many attacks are treated too late to prevent significant symptoms, and a large percentage aren't treated at all, leading to needless suffering. We anticipate that there will be strong interest in safe and effective, orally delivered treatments, and our strategy is to develop oral drug candidates for both on-demand and prophylactic use with the goal of providing patients with a complete set of oral options to treat their disease.

Our belief that our therapies could fundamentally transform the manner in which HAE is managed is based upon extensive and continuing research we conduct with patients, physicians and payers. Recently we have conducted research to further understand the process that people living with HAE follow when determining what therapy to use, how they treat their attacks and how often they do so. In our research, which we refer to as the HAE Attack Journey, we have discovered that people living with HAE carry their on-demand treatment only approximately 33% of the time and, for this reason and others, treat only about 50% of attacks. When patients do treat, we believe they tend to delay that treatment excessively for reasons including not having their treatment with them, injection-associated pain, and lack of a private area for treatment. As a result, our data indicate that a significant majority of patients experience attacks that are more severe and last longer than if they treated earlier. Patient surveys have indicated to us, in contrast, that if provided with an oral on-demand therapy, they would expect to carry it 95% of the time, would expect to treat 94% of attacks, and 93% of patients would expect to treat their attacks earlier. This is the reason we believe that an oral on-demand therapy could represent such a significant advance.

We have advanced our candidate sebetralstat into Phase 3 clinical development as a potential oral, on-demand therapy for HAE attacks. In February 2021 we announced data from a Phase 2 efficacy trial in which sebetralstat demonstrated statistically and clinically significant responses across all primary and secondary endpoints. Based upon these data, we completed an end-of-Phase 2 meeting with the United States ("U.S.") Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") in the fall of 2021 and initiated the Phase 3 KONFIDENT clinical trial in early 2022 that is intended to support submission of a New Drug Application ("NDA"). KONFIDENT is a double-blind, placebo-controlled, event-driven crossover trial in which approximately 84 patients will treat a total of three attacks: one each with 300 mg sebetralstat, 600 mg sebetralstat, and placebo, given in a randomized sequence. The study includes both adults and adolescents ages 12 and up, and allows patients to be on approved prophylactic regimens as well as on-demand only. All attack locations are eligible for treatment, including laryngeal attacks. The primary endpoint of the study is time to beginning of symptom relief assessed using the PGI-C scale. KONFIDENT is being conducted in approximately 60 sites in 20 countries. In July 2023, we announced that we reached our enrollment target of 114 patients in the study and as a result we expect data from KONFIDENT in the fourth quarter of 2023. If the trial is successful, we anticipate submitting an NDA to the FDA in the first half of 2024.

In August 2022, we initiated KONFIDENT-S, a two-year open-label extension trial assessing the long-term safety and tolerability profile of sebetralstat. In addition, this study is examining the potential use of sebetralstat as short-term prophylaxis in the setting of medical and dental procedures, where HAE attacks are known to be triggered. We also are developing an oral disintegrating tablet ("ODT") formulation of sebetralstat and have received FDA feedback on our proposed development program to support a supplemental NDA submission, which did not include a recommendation to conduct efficacy trials. We anticipate that the ODT formulation will follow the expected initial launch formulation in the U.S. and European Union ("E.U."), although it may become the initial launch formulation in other geographies.

Sebetralstat has received Fast Track and Orphan Drug designation from the FDA, and Orphan Drug designation in the E.U. A Pediatric Investigational Plan ("PIP") has also been approved by the European Medicines Agency ("EMA") for sebetralstat.

In October 2022, we announced the termination of the Phase 2 KOMPLETE study for our potential HAE prophylactic treatment KVD824, dne to elevations in liver enzymes observed in several patients during the trial. We remain uncertain as to the cause and the potential contribution of KVD824 to these elevations, but we do not anticipate further development of KVD824.

Our oral Factor XIIa inhibitor program targets an enzyme that plays a key role in HAE, as the most upstream mechanism in the biochemical pathway that initiates HAE attacks. For this reason, we believe that inhibition of Factor XIIa will block the underlying causes of HAE attacks, including the uncontrolled generation of both plasma kallikrein and bradykinin which lead to swelling and pain. Clinical studies of an injectable Factor XIIa-inhibitory antibody have demonstrated a high degree of efficacy in preventing HAE attacks, and there are no known safety implications of long-term inhibition of this enzyme. We believe that our program has the potential to be the first orally delivered Factor XIIa inhibitor to enter clinical development, initially for HAE and over time for additional indications that are supported by scientific evidence. Our internal research team has discovered multiple series of low nanomolar potency Factor XIIa inhibitors that are both selective and orally bioavailable, and we continue to progress multiple compounds in IND-enabling studies. Concurrently, we have recently presented preclinical data supporting potential development in HAE as well as diabetic macular edema ("DME") and thrombosis.

Strategy

Key elements of our strategy include:

- Apply our deep scientific expertise in the area of serine proteases to develop novel oral therapies for indications with high unmet need. Our core scientific team has decades of experience working on protease inhibitors and developing compounds with high potency, selectivity and bioavailability. We have assembled a team of chemists and biologists who have demonstrated the ability to design and formulate multiple drug candidate programs from a broad variety of chemical classes, as indicated by our extensive intellectual property portfolio. Our initial focus is specifically on development of oral plasma kallikrein inhibitors for HAE and Factor XIIa inhibitors for HAE and other indications; however, we believe our scientific capabilities also can be applied to other proteases to develop therapies for diseases with high unmet need.

- Develop multiple HAE product candidates to provide a full set of therapeutic options for patients. We intend to develop drug candidates for both on-demand and prophylactic use to provide people living with HAE with a complete set of oral options to treat their disease. Our most advanced program for HAE is sebetralstat, for which we are currently conducting the Phase 3 KONFIDENT clinical trial to evaluate the safety and efficacy of sebetralstat as a potential oral, on-demand therapy for treatment of HAE attacks. We are also in the preclinical development stage with Factor XIIa inhibitor candidates as a potential next generation of oral prophylactic treatments that may further enhance treatment options for people living with HAE.

- Grow our capabilities internally as well as through strategic partnerships. We intend to retain ownership and control of our pipeline programs to key milestones and in certain markets. For certain indications, such as HAE, that can be addressed by a focused organization, we intend to keep all program rights and develop internal sales and marketing capabilities to commercialize the products in major markets. For programs that address larger markets or require greater infrastructure or resources, or for markets outside the U.S. and major E.U. countries, we may seek partners that can provide those capabilities. Decisions on whether, and when, to engage in partnerships or collaborations will be based upon our evaluations of the relative risks and rewards of those collaborations at each point in the development and commercialization cycle.

Plasma Kallikrein in HAE

Plasma kallikrein is a serine protease enzyme that is a key mediator of inflammation and edema. The body modulates the downstream inflammatory effects of plasma kallikrein through a circulating inhibitor protein called C1-esterase inhibitor ("C1-INH"). Most patients with HAE have a genetic mutation that leads to C1-INH deficiency, which results in an inability to control activated plasma kallikrein in affected tissues. This excessive activation leads to inflammation, edema, and pain.

Hereditary Angioedema

Disease Overview

HAE is a rare and potentially life-threatening genetic condition that occurs in about 1 in 10,000 to 1 in 50,000 people, according to published information from an HAE patient advocacy group. Excessive plasma kallikrein activation that is not sufficiently controlled by C1-INH leads to HAE attacks, which can vary with regard to the affected tissue or organ and severity. HAE attacks include episodes of intense swelling usually in the skin, gastrointestinal tract or airways. They often lead to temporary disfiguration of various body parts including the hands, feet, face, body trunk, and genitals. In addition, patients often have bouts of excruciating abdominal pain, nausea and vomiting that is caused by swelling in the intestinal wall. Airway swelling is particularly dangerous and can lead to death by aspbyxiation. Untreated attacks can be functionally disabling and commonly take days to fully resolve.

Attacks can occur spontaneously although they often are associated with triggers such as anxiety, stress, minor trauma, surgery, or illnesses. Trauma to the oral cavity caused by dental procedures makes HAE patients particularly vulnerable to airway attacks. The frequency of HAE attacks is highly variable, with some patients having attacks several times per week and others very infrequently. Population studies have shown that the mean number of attacks per month for patients is approximately two. Although life-threatening airway swelling is rare, published research suggests at least half of HAE patients have experienced at least one such attack and airway attacks remain a major cause of mortality in HAE patients. The severity of attacks is unpredictable and not related to their underlying frequency, and even most patients on long-term propbylaxis continue to experience breakthrough attacks on some basis.

HAE is an autosomal dominant disease, meaning that a defect in only one copy of the gene leads to symptoms and that it occurs at similar rates in both males and females. The most common cause of HAE is a defect or mutation in the gene responsible for the production of C1-INH. C1-INH is a natural plasma-borne protein that is an inhibitor of multiple serine proteases in both the complement and kallikrein kinin systems. C1-INH is the predominant physiological inhibitor of plasma kallikrein, and thereby suppresses the generation of bradykinin, a potent hormone produced by plasma kallikrein, that activates its receptors on blood vessels to increase vascular leakage. Uncontrolled plasma kallikrein activity leads to the edema that is the hallmark of HAE.

While HAE most often results from the inheritance of a defective gene from a parent, it is estimated that up to 25% of cases also arise from spontaneous mutations. Patients with C1-INH-related disease are classified as Type 1 or Type 2; Type 1 is the most common form and results in low levels of circulating C1-INH and Type 2 results in production of a low function protein. An additional form of HAE, currently referred to as normal C1-INH HAE, can occur in patients with normal levels of C1-INH for a variety of reasons including mutations in genes for Factor XII, plasminogen or angiopoetin, although in most cases a specific genetic abnormality isn't found. Selective plasma kallikrein inhibitors and a bradykinin receptor antagonist are approved therapies for HAE. As such, plasma kallikrein is a clinically validated target for HAE and previous studies have demoustrated that plasma kallikrein inhibition can both treat and prevent HAE attacks. There are currently no therapies specifically approved for normal C1-INH HAE.

Current Treatments and Market Opportunities

There are a number of marketed and development stage therapeutics for HAE, both for prophylaxis as well as on-demand use. Lanadelumab (Takhzyro®) is a monoclonal antibody against plasma kallikrein indicated for prophylaxis to prevent attacks of HAE. The prescribing information recommends subcutaneous administration every two weeks, though dosing at more extended intervals may be considered in some patients. Ecallantide (Kalbitor®) is a small protein inhibitor of plasma kallikrein that is approved for treatment of acute attacks of HAE. While effective, ecallantide has been associated with cases of anaphylaxis and its labeling approval by the FDA includes a boxed warning limiting its administration to healthcare professionals with appropriate medical support to manage anaphylaxis and HAE, and requiring close monitoring of patients. Other therapies provide C1-INH replacement to control plasma kallikrein levels. Marketed C1-INH replacement therapies include Cinryze® and Haegarda® for propbylaxis, and Berinert® for treatment of acute attacks, all of which are purified from human plasma, and Ruconest® which is a recombinant product also for treatment of acute attacks. Icatibant (Firazyr®) is a synthetic peptide-based antagonist that blocks the activity of bradykinin and is indicated for treatment of acute attacks. All of these products are administered by injection, which is typically less convenient for patients and has the potential to reduce compliance. Berotralstat (ORLADEYO®) is an oral prophylactic treatment which was launched in 2021. As a result of the lifelong nature of HAE and the challenges related to taking many of the injected therapies, patient surveys consistently indicate an overwbelming desire of patients for an oral therapy. We believe that a safe and effective oral on-demand agent has the potential to transform treatment for this disease.

We believe a further future market opportunity may exist in treatment of normal C1-INH HAE. Estimates of the size of this patient population vary widely, but we believe that the nature of normal C1-INH HAE disease may make prophylaxis less attractive for these patients than a safe and rapidiy effective, oral on-demand plasma kallikrein inhibitor therapy. There are no therapies currently approved specifically for normal C1-INH HAE.

Our Portfolio of HAE Programs

Our strategy is to evaluate and develop multiple oral molecules in pursuit of best-in-class therapies for HAE patients. The first of these product candidates being evaluated in late stage clinical trials is sebetralstat. A positive Phase 2 clinical trial for sebetralstat as a potential on-demand treatment for HAE attacks was completed in February 2021, and we are currently conducting the Phase 3 KONFIDENT clinical trial.

Sebetralstat

Evidence from studies using therapies approved for the treatment of acute HAE attacks shows that earlier treatment has a powerful impact on the efficacy outcomes, and treatment guidelines strongly recommend early treatment of attacks. Despite clear evidence that early treatment markedly reduces attack severity and duration, treatment is often delayed. In one outcome study of 207 HAE attacks, attack duration was 2.75-fold shorter when treatment was administered within 1 hour of attack onset (6.1 hours versus 16.8 hours ($p<0.001$)), yet treatment was administered more than 1 hour after attack onset in nearly 60% of attacks, and for 30% of attacks treatment was administered more than five hours after attack onset. We believe this delay in administration is due to many factors including the inconvenience of preparation and administration as well as the discomfort of injectable therapies. An oral therapy has the potential to overcome these limitations and lower the barrier for treatment for patients. The combination of the rapid uptake of sebetralstat to very high blood levels and the likelihood of earlier dosing by patients, could lead to much better disease management and prevention of attacks reaching the critical stage of significant swelling and discomfort. We therefore believe that a safe, oral on-demand treatment has the potential to become a preferred alternative for patients currently using injectable treatments, including both acute and propbylactic therapies.

In February 2021 we announced data from a Phase 2 efficacy trial in which sebestralstat demonstrated statistical and clinically significant responses across all primary and secondary endpoints. KVD900-201 was a double-blind, placebo-controlled, crossover trial investigating the safety and efficacy of a single dose of 600 mg sebetralstat as an on-demand treatment for HAE attacks in patients with Type 1 or Type 2 HAE. The trial met its primary endpoint comparing the time to use of rescue treatment within 12 hours on sebetralstat versus placebo ($p=0.001$) with rates of use at 12 hours of 15.1% following treatment with sebetralstat versus 30.2% after placebo. The trial also met all secondary endpoints: reduced worsening of attacks ($p<0.0001$; PGI-S or use of rescue) and reduced time to onset of symptom relief measured using both PGI-C ($p<0.0001$) and VAS ($p<0.0001$).

Based upon these data, we completed an end-of-Phase 2 meeting with the FDA in the fall of 2021 and initiated the Phase 3 KONFIDENT clinical trial in early 2022 that is intended to support an NDA submission. KONFIDENT is a double-blind, placebo-controlled, event-driven crossover trial in which approximately 84 patients will treat a total of three attacks: one each with 300 mg sebetralstat, 600 mg sebetralstat, and placebo, given in a randomized sequence. The primary endpoint of the study is time to onset of symptom relief using the PGI-C scale. We agreed with the FDA that this is an appropriate primary endpoint for a registration-directed trial, and in the Phase 2 study, sebetralstat achieved this endpoint in a highly statistically significant manner. KONFIDENT is being conducted in approximately 60 sites in 20 countries. We have reached our target enrollment of 114 patients in the study, and expect data from KONFIDENT in the fourth quarter of 2023. If the trial is successful, we anticipate submitting an NDA in the first half of 2024.

Sebetralstat has received Fast Track and Orphan Drug designation from the FDA and has been granted Orphan Drug designation in the E.U. A PIP has also been approved by the EMA for sebetralstat.

Factor XIIa

Factor XIIa ("FXIIa") is an enzyme that plays a key role in HAE as the most upstream mediator in the biochemical pathway that initiates HAE attacks. For this reason, we believe that inhibition of Factor XIIa will block the underlying mechanism of HAE attacks, including the uncontrolled generation of both plasma kallikrein and bradykinin which cause swelling and pain. Clinical studies of an injectable Factor XIIa-inhibitory antibody have demonstrated efficacy in preventing HAE attacks, and there are no published safety concerns of long-term inhibition of this enzyme. We believe that our program has the potential to be the first orally delivered Factor XIIa inhibitor to enter clinical development, initially for HAE and over time for additional indications that are supported by scientific evidence.

Our goal is to develop an oral FXIIa inhibitor suitable for once-daily dosing and sustained suppression of kallikrein kinin system activation. Using X-ray structure-enabled drug design, we have identified multiple series of oral FXIIa inhibitors from structurally distinct discovery lineages. These series are designed to interact with different substrate pockets of the active catalytic domain of the FXIIa enzyme, thereby providing a high level of structural diversity in our portfolio of compounds.

We have presented pharmacology data for a FXIIa compound that demonstrates our ability to achieve plasma half-life consistent with once daily dosing to provide near complete inhibition of FXIIa-mediated plasma kallikrein generation and block high molecular weight kininogen cleavage that results in generation of bradykinin. We have also shown that orally administered FXIIa compounds can protect mice from angioedema. These findings that demonstrated the oral pharmacodynamic effects of a Factor XIIa inhibitor were reported at the European Academy of Allergy & Clinical Immunology in 2022. Additional studies have demonstrated that oral administration of Factor XIIa inhibitors can protect mice from arterial thrombosis induced by iron chloride, which further demonstrates target engagement. These results have been presented at the International Society of Thrombosis and Hemostasis in June 2023.

It is our expectation that this portfolio of compounds will provide multiple opportunities for the clinical development of a once-daily administered oral FXIIa inhibitor with efficacy comparable to leading injectable therapies for HAE prophylaxis. In addition, the diversity within our portfolio creates opportunities to identify oral FXIIa inhibitors that fulfill the target profile needed for the treatment of other FXIIa-mediated diseases, including thrombosis and other diseases associated with edema and inflammation.

Competition

In treating HAE, we expect to face competition from several FDA-approved therapeutics for both prophylactic and on-demand usage. These include Takhzyro®, marketed by Takeda Pharmaceuticals Company Limited ("Takeda") in the U.S. and Europe for the prevention of angioedema attacks in adults and adolescents; Firazyr, marketed by Takeda in the U.S., Europe and certain other geographic territories for the treatment of acute angioedema attacks in adult patients; Kalbitor, an injectable plasma kallikrein inhibitor marketed by Takeda for the resolution of acute attacks in adolescent and adult HAE patients; Berinert, marketed by CSL Behring for treatment of acute abdominal, facial or laryngeal attacks of HAE in adults and adolescents, and Haegarda, also marketed by CSL Behring, for prophylaxis; Ruconest, marketed by Pharming Group for the treatment of acute angioedema attacks in adult patients; and Orladeyo, an oral prophylactic treatment marketed by BioCryst Pharmaceuticals, Inc. Firazyr became available as a generic drug in 2019 and is sold by multiple companies as generic icatibant for acute usage. We are also aware of other companies that are engaged in the clinical development of potential HAE treatments, including Pharvaris GmbH, Intellia Therapeutics, Inc., BioMarin Pharmaceutical Inc., and Ionis Pharmaceuticals, Inc.

Intellectual Property

Our success substantially depends on our ability to obtain and maintain patents and other forms of intellectual property rights for our product candidates, methods used to manufacture our product candidates and methods for treating patients using our product candidates, as well as our ability to preserve our trade secrets, to prevent third parties from infringing upon our proprietary rights and to operate without infringing upon the proprietary rights of others. Our patent portfolio includes patents and patent applications covering plasma kallikrein inhibitors (the "plasma kallikrein portfolio"), and patent applications covering FXIIa inhibitors (the "FXIIa portfolio").

Patents extend for varying periods according to the date of patent filing or grant and the legal term of patents in various countries where patent protection is obtained. The actual protection afforded by a patent, which can vary from country to country, depends on the type of patent, the scope of its coverage and the availability of legal remedies in the country.

We market or intend to market our products and services under various trademarks, and have obtained or are in the process of obtaining registered trademark protection for those trademarks in the U.S. and certain countries outside the U.S. We consider these trademarks to be valuable because of their contribution to the brand identification of our current and future products and services and for protection against counterfeits.

As of April 30, 2023, we are the owner of, and intend to maintain, trademark registrations for "KALVISTA" in six foreign countries as well as all E.U. member states via an E.U. Trade Mark (a unitary right covering all twenty-seven member states of the E.U.). We also own pending trademark applications and registrations for "KALVISTA" and the K Design in the U.S. and multiple foreign countries.

We also use other forms of protection, such as copyright and trade secret protection for our intellectual property, particularly where we do not believe patent protection is appropriate or obtainable. We require our employees, consultants, contractors and other advisors to execute nondisclosure and assignment of invention agreements upon commencement of their respective employment or engagement. In addition, we also require confidentiality or service agreements from third parties that receive confidential information or materials.

Government Regulation and Product Approval

Government authorities in the U.S., at the federal, state and local level, and in other countries and jurisdictions, extensively regulate, among other things, the research, development, testing, manufacture, quality control, approval, packaging, storage, recordkeeping, labeling, advertising, promotion, distribution, marketing, post-approval monitoring and reporting, and import and export of pharmaceutical products. The processes for obtaining regulatory approvals in the U.S. and in foreign countries and jurisdictions, along with subsequent compliance with applicable statutes and regulations and other regulatory authorities, require the expenditure of substantial time and financial resources.

FDA Approval Process

In the U.S., pharmaceutical products are subject to extensive regulation by the FDA. The Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (the "FDC Act") and other federal and state statutes and regulations, govern, among other things, the research, development, testing, manufacture, storage, recordkeeping, approval, labeling, promotion and marketing, distribution, post-approval monitoring and reporting, sampling, and import and export of pharmaceutical products. Pharmaceutical products such as small molecule drugs and biological products, or biologics used for the prevention, treatment, or cure of a disease or condition of a human being are subject to regulation under the FDC Act. Failure to comply with applicable U.S. requirements may subject a company to a variety of administrative or judicial sanctions, such as clinical bold, FDA refusal to approve pending NDAs, warning or untitled letters, product recalls, product seizures, total or partial suspension of production or distribution, injunctions, fines, civil penalties, and criminal prosecution.

Pharmaceutical product development for a new product or certain changes to an approved product in the U.S. typically involves nonclinical laboratory and animal tests, the submission to the FDA of an IND, which must become effective before clinical testing may commence, and adequate and well-controlled clinical trials to establish the safety and effectiveness of the drug for each indication for which FDA approval is sought. Satisfaction of FDA pre-market approval requirements typically take many years and the actual time required may vary substantially based upon the type, complexity, and novelty of the product or disease.

A 30-day waiting period after the submission of each IND is required prior to the commencement of clinical testing in humans. If the FDA has neither commented on nor questioned the IND within this 30-day period, the clinical trial proposed in the IND may begin. Clinical trials involve the administration of the investigational drug to healthy volunteers or patients under the supervision of a qualified investigator. Clinical trials mnst be conducted: (i) in compliance with federal regulations; (ii) in compliance with Good Clinical Practice ("GCP") an international standard meant to protect the rights and health of patients and to define the roles of clinical trial sponsors, administrators, and monitors; and (iii) under protocols detailing the objectives of the trial and the criteria to be evaluated. Each protocol involving testing on U.S. patients and subsequent protocol amendments must be submitted to the FDA as part of the IND.

The FDA may order the temporary or permanent discontinuation of a clinical trial at any time, or impose other sanctions if it believes that the clinical trial either is not being conducted in accordance with FDA regulations or presents an unacceptable risk to the clinical trial patients. Imposition of a clinical bold may be full or partial. The study protocol and informed consent information for patients in clinical trials must also be submitted to an institutional review board ("IRB") for approval. The IRB will also monitor the clinical trial until completed. An IRB may also require the clinical trial at the site to be halted, either temporarily or permanently, for failure to comply with the IRB's requirements, or may impose other conditions.

Clinical trials to support NDAs for marketing approval are typically conducted in three sequential phases, but the phases may overlap. In Phase 1, the initial introduction of the drug into patients, the product is tested to assess safety, dosage tolerance, metabolism, pharmacokinetics, pharmacological actions, side effects associated with drug exposure, and to obtain early evidence of a treatment effect if possible. Phase 2 usually involves trials in a limited patient population to determine the effectiveness of the drug for a particular indication, determine optimal dose and regimen, and to identify common adverse effects and safety risks. If a drug demonstrates evidence of effectiveness and an acceptable safety profile in Pbase 2 evaluations, Phase 3 trials are undertaken to obtain additional information about clinical effects and confirm efficacy and safety in a larger number of patients, typically at geographically dispersed clinical trial sites, to permit the FDA to evaluate the overall benefit -risk relationship of the drug and to provide adequate information for the labeling of the product. In most cases, the FDA requires two adequate and well-controlled Phase 3 clinical trials to demonstrate the safety and efficacy of the drug. In rare instances, a single Phase 3 trial may be sufficient wben either (1) the trial is a large, multicenter trial demonstrating internal consistency and a statistically very persuasive finding of a clinlcally meaningful effect on mortality, irreversible morbidity or prevention of a disease with a potentially serious outcome and confirmation of the result in a second trial would be practically or ethically impossible or (2) the single trial is supported by other confirmatory evidence.

In addition, the manufacturer of an investigational drug in a Phase 2 or Phase 3 clinical trial for a serious or life-threatening disease is required to make available, such as by posting on its website, its policy on evaluating and responding to requests for expanded access to such investigational drug.

After completion of the required clinical testing, an NDA is prepared and submitted to the FDA. FDA approval of the NDA is required before marketing and distribution of the product may begin in the U.S. The NDA must include the results of all nonclinical, clinical, and other testing and a compilation of data relating to the product's pharmacology, chemistry, manufacture, and controls. The cost of preparing and submitting an NDA is substantial. The submission of most NDAs is additionally subject to a substantial application user fee. Under an approved NDA, the applicant is also subject to an annual program fee. These fees typically increase annually. An NDA for a drug that has been designated as an orphan drug is not subject to an application fee, unless the NDA includes an indication for other than a rare disease or condition. The FDA has 60 days from its receipt of an NDA to determine whether the application will be filed based on the FDA's determination that it is sufficiently complete to permit substantive review. Once the submission is filed, the FDA begins an in-depth review. The FDA has agreed to certain performance goals to complete the review of NDAs. Most applications are classified as Standard Review products that are reviewed within ten months of the date the FDA files the NDA; most applications classified as Priority Review are reviewed within six months of the date the FDA files the NDA. An NDA can be classified for Priority Review when the FDA determines the drug or biologic has the potential to treat a serious or life-threatening condition and, if approved, would be a significant improvement in safety or effectiveness compared to available therapies. The review process for both standard and priority reviews may be extended by the FDA for three or more additional months to consider certain late-submitted information or information intended to clarify information already provided in the NDA submission.

The FDA may also refer applications for novel drugs, as well as drugs that present difficult questions of safety or efficacy, to be reviewed hy an advisory committee—typically a panel that includes clinicians, statisticians and other experts—for review, evaluation and a recommendation as to whether the NDA should be approved. The FDA is not bound by the recommendation of an advisory committee, but generally follows such recommendations.

Before approving an NDA, the FDA will typically inspect one or more clinical sites to assure compliance with GCP. Additionally, the FDA will inspect the facility or the facilities at which the drug is manufactured. The FDA will not approve the product unless compliance with cGMP is satisfactory.

After the FDA evaluates the NDA and completes any clinical and manufacturing site inspections, it issues either an approval letter or a complete response letter. A complete response letter generally outlines the deficiencies in the NDA submission and may require substantial additional testing, or information, in order for the FDA to reconsider the application for approval. If, or when, those deficiencies have been addressed to the FDA's satisfaction in a resubmission of the NDA, the FDA will issue an approval letter. The FDA has committed to reviewing such resubmissions in two or six months depending on the type of information included. An approval letter authorizes commercial marketing and distribution of the drug with specific prescribing information for specific indications. As a condition of NDA approval, the FDA may require a risk evaluation and mitigation strategy ("REMS") to help ensure that the benefits of the drug outweigh the potential risks to patients. A REMS can include medication guides, communication plans for healthcare professionals, and elements to assure a product's safe use ("ETASU"). An ETASU can include, but is not limited to, special training or certification for prescribing or dispensing the product, dispensing the product only under certain circumstances, special monitoring, and the use of patient-specific registries. The requirement for a REMS can materially affect the potential market and profitability of the product. Moreover, the FDA may require substantial post-approval testing and surveillance to monitor the product's safety or efficacy.

Once granted, product approvals may be withdrawn if compliance with regulatory standards is not maintained or problems are identified following initial marketing. Changes to some of the conditions establisbed in an approved NDA, including changes in indications, product labeling, or manufacturing processes or facilities, require submission and FDA approval of a new NDA or supplement to an approved NDA, before the change can be implemented. An NDA supplement for a new indication typically requires clinical data similar to that in the original application, and the FDA uses the same procedures and actions in reviewing NDA supplements as it does in reviewing original NDAs.

Orphan Drug Designation

Under the Orphan Drug Act, the FDA may grant orphan drug designation to drugs or biologics intended to treat a rare disease or condition — generally a disease or condition that affects fewer than 200,000 individuals in the U.S., or if it affects more than 200,000 individuals in the U.S., there is no reasonable expectation that the cost of developing, and making a product available in the U.S. for such disease or condition will be recovered from sales of the product.

Orphan drug designation must be requested before submitting an NDA. After the FDA grants orphan drug designation, the identity of the drug and its potential orphan disease use are disclosed publicly by the FDA. Orphan drug designation does not convey any advantage in, or shorten the duration of, the regulatory review and approval process. The first NDA applicant to receive FDA approval for a particular active moiety to treat a particular disease with FDA orphan drug designation is entitled to a seven-year exclusive marketing period in the U.S. for that product in the approved indication. For large molecule drugs, sameness is determined based on the principal molecular structural features of a product.

During the seven-year marketing exclusivity period, the FDA may not approve any other applications to market the same drug for the same disease, except in limited circumstances, such as a showing of clinical superiority to the product with orphan drug exclusivity. A product can be considered clinically superior if it is safer, more effective or makes a major contribution to patient care. Orphan drug exclusivity does not prevent the FDA from approving a different drug for the same disease or condition, or the same drug for a different disease or condition. Among the other benefits of orphan drug designation are tax credits for certain research and a waiver of the NDA user fee.

Fast Track Designation and Priority Review

FDA is required to facilitate the development, and expedite the review, of drugs that are intended for the treatment of a serious or life-threatening disease or condition for which there is no effective treatment and which demonstrate the potential to address unmet medical needs for the condition. Fast track designation may be granted for products that are intended to treat a serious or life-threatening disease or condition for which there is no effective treatment and preclinical or clinical data demonstrate the potential to address unmet medical needs for the condition. Fast track designation applies to both the product and the specific indication for which it is being studied. Any product submitted to FDA for marketing, including under a fast track program, may be eligible for other types of FDA programs intended to expedite development and review, such as priority review.

Priority review may be granted for products that are intended to treat a serious or life-threatening condition and, if approved, would provide a significant improvement in safety and effectiveness compared to available therapies. FDA will attempt to direct additional resources to the evaluation of an application designated for priority review in an effort to facilitate the review.

Disclosure of Clinical Trial Information

Sponsors of clinical trials of FDA-regulated products, including drugs, are required to register and disclose certain clinical trial information on the website www.clinicaltrials.gov. Information related to the product, patient population, phase of investigation, trial sites and investigators, and other aspects of a clinical trial are then made public as part of the registration. Sponsors are also obligated to disclose the results of their clinical trials after completion. Disclosure of the results of clinical trials can be delayed in certain circumstances for up to two years after the date of completion of the trial. Competitors may use this publicly available information to gain knowledge regarding the progress of clinical development programs as well as clinical trial design.

Pediatric Information

Under the Pediatric Research Equity Act ("PREA"), NDAs, or supplements to NDAs must contain data to assess the safety and effectiveness of the drug for the claimed indications in all relevant pediatric subpopulations and to support dosing and administration for each pediatric subpopulation for which the drug is safe and effective. The FDA may grant full or partial waivers, or deferrals, for submission of data. Unless otherwise required by regulation, PREA does not apply to any drug with orphan product designation except a product with a new active ingredient that is a molecularly targeted cancer product intended for the treatment of an adult cancer and directed at a molecular target determined by FDA to be substantially relevant to the growth or progression of a pediatric cancer that is subject to an NDA submitted on or after August 18, 2020.

The Best Pharmaceuticals for Children Act ("BPCA"), provides a six-month extension of any patent or non-patent exclusivity for a drug if certain conditions are met. Conditions for exclusivity include the FDA's determination that information relating to the use of a new drug in the pediatric population may produce health benefits in that population, FDA making a written request for pediatric studies, and the applicant agreeing to perform, and reporting on, the requested studies within the statutory timeframe. Applications under the BPCA are treated as priority applications.

Post-Approval Requirements

Once an NDA is approved, a product will be subject to certain post-approval requirements. For instance, the FDA closely regulates the post-approval marketing and promotion of drugs, including direct-to-consumer advertising, off-label promotion, industry-sponsored scientific and educational activities and promotional activities involving the Internet. Drugs may be marketed only for the approved indications and in accordance with the provisions of the approved labeling.

Adverse event reporting and submission of periodic safety summary reports is required following FDA approval of an NDA. The FDA also may require post-marketing testing, known as Phase 4 testing, REMS, and surveillance to monitor the effects of an approved product, or the FDA may place conditions on an approval that could restrict the distribution or use of the product. In addition, quality control, drug manufacture, packaging, and labeling procedures must continue to conform to cGMPs after approval. Drug manufacturers and certain of their subcontractors are required to register their establishments with the FDA and certain state agencies. Registration with the FDA subjects entities to periodic unannounced inspections by the FDA, during which the agency inspects a drug's manufacturing facilities to assess compliance with cGMPs. Accordingly, manufacturers must continue to expend time, money, and effort in the areas of production and quality-control to maintain compliance with cGMPs. Regulatory authorities may withdraw product approvals or request product recalls if a company fails to comply with required regulatory standards, if it encounters problems following initial marketing, or if previously unrecognized problems are subsequently discovered.

The Hatch-Waxman Amendments

Orange Book Listing

Under the Drug Price Competition and Patent Term Restoration Act of 1984, commonly referred to as the Hatch Waxman Amendments, NDA applicants are required to identify to FDA each patent whose claims cover the applicant's drug or approved method of using the drug. Upon approval of a drug, the applicant must update its listing of patents to the NDA in timely fashion and each of the patents listed in the application for the drug is then published in the FDA's Approved Drug Products with Therapeutic Equivalence Evaluations, commonly known as the Orange Book.

Drugs listed in the Orange Book can, in turn, be cited by potential generic competitors in support of approval of an abbreviated new drug application ("ANDA"). An ANDA provides for marketing of a drug product that has the same active ingredient(s), strength, route of administration, and dosage form as the listed drug and has been shown through bioequivalence testing to be therapeutically equivalent to the listed drug. An approved ANDA product is considered to be therapeutically equivalent to the listed drug. Other than the requirement for bioequivalence testing, ANDA applicants are not required to conduct, or submit results of, preclinical nr clinical tests to prove the safety or effectiveness of their drug product. Drugs approved under the ANDA pathway are commonly referred to as "generic equivalents" to the listed drug and can often be substituted by pharmacists under prescriptions written for the original listed drug pursuant to each state's laws on drug substitution.

The ANDA applicant is required to certify to the FDA concerning any patents identified for the reference listed drug in the Orange Book. Specifically, the applicant must certify to each patent in one of the following ways: (i) the required patent information has not been filed; (ii) the listed patent has expired; (iii) the listed patent has not expired but will expire on a particular date and approval is sought after patent expiration; or (iv) the listed patent is invalid or will not be infringed by the new product. A certification that the new product will not infringe the already approved product's listed patents, or that such patents are invalid, is called a Paragraph IV certification. For patents listed that claim an approved method of use, under certain circumstances the ANDA applicant may also elect to submit a section viii statement certifying that its proposed ANDA label does not contain (or carves out) any language regarding the patented method-of-use rather than certify to a listed method-of-use patent. If the applicant does not challenge the listed patents through a Paragrapb IV certification, the ANDA application will not be approved until all the listed patents claiming the referenced product have expired. If the ANDA applicant has provided a Paragraph IV certification to the FDA, the applicant must also send notice of the Paragraph IV certification to the NDA-holder and patentee(s) once the ANDA has been accepted for filing by the FDA (referred to as the "notice letter"). The NDA and patent holders may then initiate a patent infringement lawsuit in response to the notice letter. The filing of a patent infringement lawsuit within 45 days of the receipt of a Paragraph IV certification automatically prevents the FDA from approving the ANDA until the earlier of 30 months from the date the notice letter is received, expiration of the patent, the date of a settlement order or consent decree signed and entered by the court stating that the patent that is the subject of the certification is invalid or not infringed, or a decision in the patent case that is favorable to the ANDA applicant.

The ANDA application also will not be approved until any applicable non-patent exclusivity listed in the Orange Book for the referenced product has expired. In some instances, an ANDA applicant may receive approval prior to expiration of certain non-patent exclusivity if the applicant seeks, and FDA permits, the omission of such exclusivity-protected information from the ANDA prescribing information.

Exclusivity

Upon NDA approval of a new chemical entity ("NCE") which is a drug that contains no active moiety that bas been approved by FDA in any other NDA, that drug receives five years of marketing exclusivity during which FDA cannot receive any ANDA seeking approval of a generic version of that drug unless the application contains a Paragraph IV certification, in which case the application may be submitted one year prior to expiration of the NCE exclusivity. If there is no listed patent in the Orange Book, there may not be a Paragrapb IV certification, and, thus, no ANDA for a generic version of the drug may be filed before the expiration of the exclusivity period.

Certain changes to an approved drug, such as the approval of a new indication, the approval of a new strength, and the approval of a new condition of use, are associated with a three-year period of exclusivity from the date of approval during which FDA cannot approve an ANDA for a generic drug that includes the change. In some instances, an ANDA applicant may receive approval prior to expiration of the three-year exclusivity if the applicant seeks, and FDA permits, the omission of such exclusivity-protected information from the ANDA package insert.

Patent Term Extension

The Hatch Waxman Amendments permit a patent term extension as compensation for patent term lost during the FDA regulatory review process. Patent term exteusion, bowever, cannot extend the remaining term of a patent beyond a total of 14 years from the product's approval date. After NDA approval, owners of relevant drug patents may apply for the extension. The allowable patent term extension is calculated as half of the drug's testing phase (the time between IND application and NDA submission) and all of the review phase (the time between NDA submission and approval) up to a maximum of five years. The time can be reduced for any time FDA determines that the applicant did not pursue approval with due diligence.

The U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (the "USPTO") in consultation with the FDA, reviews and approves the application for any patent term extension or restoration. However, the USPTO may not grant an extension because of, for example, failing to exercise due diligence during the testing phase or regulatory review process, failing to apply within applicable deadlines, failing to apply prior to expiration of relevant patents or otherwise failing to satisfy applicable requirements. Moreover, the applicable time period or the scope of patent protection afforded could be less than requested.

The total patent term after the extension may not exceed 14 years, and only one patent can be extended. The application for the extension must be submitted prior to the expiration of the patent, and for patents that might expire during the application phase, the patent owner may request an interim patent extension. An interim patent extension increases the patent term by one year and may be renewed up to four times. For each interim patent extension granted, the post-approval patent extension is reduced by one year. The director of the USPTO must determine that approval of the drug covered by the patent for which a patent extension is being sought is likely. Interim patent extensions are not available for a drug for which an NDA has not been submitted.

Other U.S. Healthcare Laws and Compliance Requirements

In the U.S., pharmaceutical and biotechnology company activities are potentially subject to regulation by various federal, state and local authorities in addition to the FDA, including but not limited to, the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services ("CMS") other divisions of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (e.g., the Office of Inspector General and the Office for Civil Rights), the U.S. Department of Justice ("DOJ") and individual U.S. Attorney offices within the DOJ, and state and local governments. For example, sales, marketing and scientific/educational grant programs, may have to comply with the anti-fraud and abuse provisions of the Social Security Act, the federal false claims laws, the privacy and security provisions of the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act ("HIPAA") and similar state laws, each as amended, as applicable.

The federal Anti-Kickback Statute prohibits, among other things, any person or entity, from knowingly and willfully offering, paying, soliciting or receiving any remuneration, directly or indirectly, overtly or covertly, in cash or in kind, to induce or in return for purchasing, leasing, ordering, recommending or arranging for the purchase, lease or order of any item or service reimbursable under Medicare, Medicaid or other federal healthcare programs. The term remuneration has been interpreted broadly to include anything of value. The Anti-Kickback Statute has been interpreted to apply to arrangements between pharmaceutical manufacturers on one hand and prescribers, purchasers, and/or formulary managers on the other. There are a number of statutory exceptions and regulatory safe harbors protecting some common activities from prosecution. The exceptions and safe harbors are drawn narrowly and practices that involve remuneration that may be alleged to be intended to induce prescribing, purchasing or recommending may be subject to scrutiny if they do not qualify for an exception or safe harbor. Failure to meet all of the requirements of a particular applicable statutory exception or regulatory safe harbor does not make the conduct per se illegal under the Anti-Kickback Statute. Instead, the legality of the arrangement will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis based on a cumulative review of all of its facts and circumstances. Practices may not in all cases meet all of the criteria for protection under a statutory exception or regulatory safe harbor. In addition, the statutory exceptions and regulatory safe harbors are subject to change.

Additionally, the intent standard under the Anti-Kickback Statute was amended by the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, as amended by the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010 (collectively the "ACA") to a stricter standard such that a person or entity no longer needs to have actual knowledge of the statute or specific intent to violate it in order to have committed a violation. In addition, the ACA codified case law that a claim including items or services resulting from a violation of the federal Anti-Kickback Statute constitutes a false or fraudulent claim for purposes of the federal False Claims Act (discussed below).

The civil monetary penalties statute imposes penalties against any person or entity who, among other things, is determined to have presented or caused to be presented a claim to a federal health program that the person knows or should know is for an item or service that was not provided as claimed or is false or fraudulent.

Federal false claims laws, including the federal civil False Claims Act, prohibit, among other things, any person or entity from knowingly presenting, or causing to be presented, a false claim for payment to, or approval by, the federal government or knowingly making, using, or causing to be made or used a false record or statement material to a false or fraudulent claim to the federal government. As a result of a modification made by the Fraud Enforcement and Recovery Act of 2009, a claim includes "any request or demand" for money or property presented to the U.S. government. In addition, manufacturers can be held liable under the civil False Claims Act even when they do not submit claims directly to government payors if they are deemed to "cause" the submission of false or fraudulent claims. Pharmaceutical and other healthcare companies have been prosecuted under these laws for, among other things, allegedly providing free product to customers with the expectation that the customers would bill federal programs for the product. Other companies have been prosecuted for causing false claims to be submitted because of the companies' marketing of the product for unapproved, and thus generally non-reimbursable, uses and purportedly concealing price concessions in the pricing information submitted to the government for government price reporting purposes.

HIPAA created additional federal criminal statutes that prohibit knowingly and willfully executing, or attempting to execute, a scheme to defraud or to obtain, by means of false or fraudulent pretenses, representations or promises, any money or property owned by, or under the control or custody of, any healthcare benefit program, including private third-party payors and knowingly and willfully falsifying, concealing or covering up by trick, scheme or device, a material fact or making any materially false, fictitious or fraudulent statement in connection with the delivery of or payment for healthcare benefits, items or services. Similar to the Anti-Kickback Statute, a person or entity does not need to have actual knowledge of the statute or specific intent to violate it in order to have committed a violation.

Also, many states have similar fraud and abuse statutes or regulations that apply to items and services reimbursed under Medicaid and other state programs, or, in several states, apply regardless of the payor.

Risk Factor Summary

We face many risks and uncertainties, as more fully described in this section under the heading "Risk Factors." Some of these risks and uncertainties are summarized below. The summary below does not contain all of the information that may be important to you, and you should read this summary together with the more detailed discussion of these risks and uncertainties contained in "Risk Factors."

- We are highly dependent on the success of our lead product candidate, ziftomenib, which is still in clinical development, and we cannot give any assurance that ziftomenib or any of our other product candidates will receive regulatory approval, which is necessary before they can be commercialized.
- Our discovery, preclinical and clinical development is focused on the development of targeted therapeutics for patients with genetically defined cancers, which is a rapidly evolving area of science, and the approach we are taking to discover and develop drugs may never lead to marketable products.
- Clinical drug development involves a lengthy and expensive process with an uncertain outcome. The results of preclinical studies and early clinical trials of our product candidates may not be predictive of the results of subsequent clinical trials, and preliminary or interim results of a clinical trial do not necessarily predict final results. We may incur additional costs or experience delays in completing, or ultimately be unable to complete, the development and commercialization of our product candidates.
- We anticipate that our current product candidates and any future product candidates may be used in combination with third-party drugs or biologics, some of which may still be in development, and we have limited or no control over the supply, regulatory status, or regulatory approval of such drugs or biologics.
- Our product candidates may cause serious adverse events or have unacceptable side effects that could delay, limit or prevent their development.
- Failure by us or our third-party collaborators to develop, validate and obtain regulatory approval for a diagnostic testing platform could harm our drug development strategy and operational results.
- We expect to incur losses over the next several years and may never achieve or maintain profitability.
- We are a clinical-stage company with no approved products and no historical product revenue. Consequently, we expect that our financial and operating results will vary significantly from period to period.
- We will need to obtain substantial additional capital in connection with our continuing operations. Raising additional capital may cause dilution to our stockholders, restrict our operations or require us to relinquish certain rights to our technologies or product candidates.
- We rely on third-party contractors and organizations to conduct, and/or to supply materials to conduct, our clinical trials, and those third parties may not perform satisfactorily, including failing to meet deadlines for the supply of materials and/or the completion of such clinical trials.
- If we are not able to obtain, or if there are delays in obtaining, required regulatory approvals in some or all planned regions, we will not be able to commercialize, or may be delayed in commercializing, our product candidates, and our ability to generate revenue will be materially impaired.

- Any product candidate for which we obtain marketing approval will be subject to extensive post-approval regulatory requirements and could be subject to post-approval restrictions or withdrawal from the market, and we may be subject to penalties if we fail to comply with regulatory requirements or if we experience unanticipated problems with our products, when and if any of them are approved.
- If we are unable to, or if we do not, obtain and maintain intellectual property protection for our product candidates, or if the scope of the intellectual property protection obtained is not sufficiently broad, our competitors could develop and commercialize products similar or identical to ours, and our ability to successfully commercialize our product candidates may be impaired.
- We depend on our licensors to prosecute and maintain patents and patent applications that are material to our business. Any failure by our licensors to effectively protect these intellectual property rights could adversely impact our business and operations.
- Patent terms may be inadequate to protect our competitive position on our product candidates for a commercially meaningful length of time.
- We may not be successful in obtaining or maintaining necessary third-party intellectual property rights for our development pipeline through acquisitions and in-licenses.
- If we are unable to maintain the confidentiality of our trade secrets or other confidential information, our business and competitive position would be harmed.
- Even if any of our product candidates receives marketing approval, it may fail to achieve the degree of market acceptance by physicians, patients, third-party payors and others in the medical community necessary for commercial success.
- We currently have no sales personnel. If we are unable to establish effective sales capabilities or enter into agreements with third parties to sell or market our product candidates if they obtain regulatory approval, we may not be able to effectively sell or market our product candidates, if approved, or generate product revenues.
- We face substantial competition, which may result in others discovering, developing or commercializing competing products before or more successfully than we do.
- We are highly dependent on our Chief Executive Officer. Our future success depends on our ability to retain key executives and to attract, retain and motivate qualified personnel.
- Our stock price may fluctuate significantly and you may have difficulty selling your shares based on current trading volumes of our stock.
- The price of our common stock may be volatile and may be influenced by numerous factors, some of which are beyond our control.

Item 1. Business.

Overview

We are a clinical-stage biopharmaceutical company committed to realizing the promise of precision medicines for the treatment of cancer. Our pipeline consists of small molecule product candidates that target cancer signaling pathways where there is a strong scientific and clinical rationale to improve outcomes, and we intend to pair them with molecular or cellular diagnostics to identify those patients most likely to respond to treatment. We are conducting clinical trials of three product candidates: ziftomenib, tipifarnib and KO-2806. We also have additional programs that are at a discovery stage. We own global commercial rights to all of our programs and product candidates. We plan to advance our product candidates through a combination of internal development and strategic partnerships while maintaining significant development and commercial rights.

Ziftomenib. Our first product candidate, ziftomenib, is a potent, selective, reversible and oral small molecule inhibitor that blocks the interaction of two proteins, menin and the protein expressed by the Lysine K-specific Methyl Transferase 2A gene, or KMT2A gene (formerly referred to as the mixed-lineage leukemia 1 gene).

We received orphan drug designation for ziftomenib for the treatment of acute myeloid leukemia, or AML, from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, or the FDA, in July 2019. We initiated our global menin-KMT2A Phase 1/2 clinical trial of ziftomenib in relapsed or refractory AML, which we call the Kura Oncology MEnin-KMT2A Trial, or KOMET-001, in September 2019. In the Phase 1a dose-escalation portion of the KOMET-001 trial, ziftomenib demonstrated a wide therapeutic window and encouraging monotherapy activity in an all-comer population of 30 patients with relapsed or refractory AML. A total of 53 patients were treated in the Phase 1b dose-validation and dose-expansion portions of the trial, which consisted of two randomized expansion cohorts, each comprised of nucleophosmin 1-, or NPM1-, mutant and KMT2A-rearranged AML patients. Ziftomenib demonstrated optimal clinical benefit at 600 mg in the Phase 1b portion of the KOMET-001 trial and this dose was designated as the recommended Phase 2 dose, or RP2D.

On June 11, 2023, we presented updated clinical data from KOMET-001, including data from Phase 1b, during a late-breaking oral session at the 2023 European Hematology Association Annual Congress in Frankfurt, Germany, or EHA, including durable activity in patients with heavily pretreated and co-mutated relapsed or refractory NPM1-mutant AML.

As of the data cutoff on April 12, 2023, seven of the 20 patients (35%) with NPM1-mutant AML treated at the RP2D of 600 mg achieved a complete remission, or CR, with full count recovery. An eighth patient, who had a CR with partial count recovery after treatment with ziftomenib, subsequently evolved to a CR with full count recovery after hematopoietic cell transplantation, or HCT, and remained on study as of the date of the EHA presentation. In addition, a patient with NPM1-mutant AML treated at 200 mg remained on ziftomenib for 36 cycles as of the data cutoff.

Durable remissions were observed in patients with NPM1 mutations and other key co-mutations following treatment with ziftomenib. Notably, 33% (2/6) of patients with FLT3 co-mutations, 50% (4/8) of patients with isocitrate dehydrogenase, or IDH, co-mutations and 50% (2/4) of patients with both FLT3 and IDH co-mutations achieved a CR at the 600 mg dose of ziftomenib. Ziftomenib demonstrated an overall response rate, or ORR, of 45% in patients with NPM1-mutant AML treated at the 600 mg dose. The median duration of response, or DoR, for all NPM1-mutant patients treated at 200 mg or 600 mg in the Phase 1a/b portion of the study was 8.2 months (95% CI: 1.0 to NE), with a median follow-up of 8.8 months. The median DoR for such patients censored at stem cell transplant was 5.6 months (95% CI: 1.0 to NE).

As part of an ongoing analysis, the resistance mutation MEN1-M327I was detected in three patients treated with ziftomenib: in two of these three patients, the mutation was detected at study entry after the patients had progressed on a prior menin inhibitor, and in the third patient, the mutation was detected after four cycles of ziftomenib therapy and, despite the mutation, the patient was maintained in a condition of stable disease through cycle 7. These data show that MEN1 mutations developed in just 3% (1/29) of patients analyzed following treatment with ziftomenib and suggest that resistance mutations occur at a low frequency even after prolonged exposure to ziftomenib monotherapy. A key new biochemical finding, confirmed by crystal structure, demonstrates that ziftomenib retains binding affinity against the MEN1-T349M mutation, which was detected in two-thirds of patients who acquired menin resistance mutations on another recent menin inhibitor trial.

Continuous daily dosing of ziftomenib was well tolerated and the reported adverse event profile remained consistent with features of underlying disease. The on-target effect of differentiation syndrome, or DS, was manageable, with 15% of patients experiencing Grade 1 or 2 events and 5% experiencing a Grade 3 event.

On February 9, 2023, we announced the dosing of the first patients in the Phase 2 registration-directed portion of the KOMET-001 study of ziftomenib in patients with relapsed or refractory NPM1-mutant AML. Enrollment in the Phase 2 study continues to outperform our projections. The study is expected to enroll a total of 85 patients at approximately 60 U.S. and European sites. We anticipate completion of enrollment of all 85 patients by mid-2024. In May 2023, we amended the KOMET-001 protocol to include a sub-study of ziftomenib in patients with acute lymphoblastic leukemia, or ALL, and two sub-studies of ziftomenib in patients with non-NPM1-mutant and non-KMT2A-rearranged AML. We dosed the first patients in the ALL sub-study in the first quarter of 2024, and we expect to dose the first patients in non-NPM1-mutant and non-KMT2A-rearranged AML by mid-2024.

In addition to our monotherapy study of ziftomenib, we have initiated a series of studies to evaluate ziftomenib in combination with current standards of care in earlier lines of therapy and across multiple patient populations, including NPM1-mutant and KMT2A-rearranged AML. The first of these studies, which we call KOMET-007, is designed to evaluate ziftomenib in combination with venetoclax and azacitidine in patients with newly diagnosed or relapsed or refractory NPM1-mutant or KMT2A-rearranged AML, and ziftomenib in combination with cytarabine and daunorubicin, or 7+3, in patients with newly diagnosed NPM1-mutant or KMT2A-rearranged AML. We initiated dosing of patients in KOMET-007 in the third quarter of 2023.

On January 30, 2024, we announced preliminary data from the first 20 patients in the KOMET-007 study. The first 20 patients were enrolled in KOMET-007 between July 2023 and November 2023, including five newly diagnosed patients with adverse risk NPM1-mutant or KMT2A-rearranged AML and 15 patients with relapsed or refractory NPM1-mutant or KMT2A-rearranged AML. Patients are considered "adverse risk" if they are more than 60 years old and/or have treatment-related AML and/or adverse risk cytogenics per European LeukemiaNet.

Continuous daily dosing of ziftomenib at 200 mg was well tolerated and the safety profile was consistent with features of underlying disease and backbone therapies. No differentiation syndrome events of any grade were reported, and no dose-limiting toxicities, evidence of QTc prolongation, drug-drug interactions or additive myelosuppression were observed. As of the data cutoff on January 11, 2024, all newly diagnosed patients treated with ziftomenib and 7+3 achieved a CR with full count recovery, for a CR rate of 100% (5/5), including four patients with NPM1-mutant AML and one patient with KMT2A-rearranged AML. The ORR among relapsed or refractory patients treated with ziftomenib and venetoclax/azacitidine was 53% (8/15). Among all patients treated with ziftomenib and venetoclax/azacitidine, 40% (6/15) received prior treatment with a menin inhibitor. The rate of CRs or CRs with partial hematologic recovery, or CRh, in patients who were menin inhibitor naïve was 56% (5/9), including 60% (3/5) in patients with NPM1-mutant AML and 50% (2/4) in patients with KMT2A-rearranged AML. The ORR in patients who received prior venetoclax was 40% (4/10), including 60% (3/5) in patients with NPM1-mutant AML. As of the data cutoff, 80% (16/20) of patients remained on trial, including 100% (11/11) of all NPM1-mutant patients.

The 200 mg dose of ziftomenib cleared the safety threshold for dose escalation in the relapsed or refractory venetoclax/azacitidine cohorts and enrollment at the 400 mg dose is ongoing. We anticipate determining the RP2D of ziftomenib in combination with venetoclax and azacitidine by mid-2024, upon which we plan to initiate a Phase 1b dose validation/expansion of ziftomenib in combination with venetoclax and azacitidine in newly diagnosed patients with NPM1-mutant AML (without adverse risk) or KMT2A- rearranged AML. We also have escalated to the 400 mg dose of ziftomenib in the frontline NPM1-mutant 7 + 3 cohort, and we expect to determine the RP2D of ziftomenib in combination with 7 + 3 by mid-2024.

The second ziftomenib combination study, which we call KOMET-008, is designed to evaluate ziftomenib in combination with gilteritinib in patients with relapsed or refractory NPM1-mutant AML, and ziftomenib in combination with fludarabine, cytarabine, granulocyte-colony stimulating factor, or G-CSF, and idarubicin, or FLAG-IDA, or low-dose cytarabine, or LDAC, in patients with relapsed or refractory NPM1-mutant or KMT2A-rearranged AML. On February 26, 2024, we announced that we dosed the first patient in KOMET-008.

We also intend to evaluate the use of ziftomenib as a maintenance therapy in patients with NPM1-mutant or KMT2A-rearranged AML who have undergone HCT. HCT represents the only potentially curative treatment for AML, yet the most common reason for long-term failure after HCT is disease relapse. We are supporting an investigator-sponsored study, and plan to initiate a company-sponsored study, evaluating the ability of ziftomenib to improve outcomes when administered as a maintenance therapy following HCT. We expect to initiate the post-transplant maintenance program in the first quarter of 2024.

On December 8, 2023, we announced a clinical collaboration with The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society, or LLS, to evaluate ziftomenib in combination with chemotherapy in pediatric patients with relapsed or refractory KMT2A-rearranged, NUP98-rearranged or NPM1-mutant acute leukemia. Under the terms of the collaboration agreement, LLS will serve as the coordinating sponsor of a Phase 1 study of ziftomenib in pediatric patients with acute leukemias in North America, the Princess Máxima Center for Pediatric Oncology in Utrecht, the Netherlands will serve as the coordinating sponsor of the study in Europe, and Kura will supply LLS and the Princess Máxima Center with ziftomenib for the study.

Tipifarnib. Our second product candidate, tipifarnib, is a potent, selective and orally bioavailable farnesyl transferase inhibitor, or FTI, that has been previously studied in more than 5,000 cancer patients and demonstrated compelling and durable anti-cancer activity in certain patients with a manageable side effect profile.

In February 2021, tipifarnib was granted Breakthrough Therapy Designation from the FDA for the treatment of patients with recurrent or metastatic HRAS mutant head and neck squamous cell carcinoma, or HNSCC, with variant allele frequency $\geq$ 20% after disease progression on platinum-based chemotherapy, or high VAF.

In July 2021, we announced a clinical collaboration with Novartis Pharma AG, or Novartis, to evaluate the combination of tipifarnib and alpelisib, a PI3 kinase alpha inhibitor, in patients with HNSCC whose tumors have HRAS overexpression and/or PIK3CA mutation and/or amplification. In the fourth quarter of 2021, we commenced a Phase 1/2 open-label, biomarker-defined cohort study, which we call the KURRENT-HN trial, to evaluate the safety and tolerability of the combination, determine the recommended dose and schedule for the combination, and assess early antitumor activity of the combination for the treatment of such patients. Under the terms of our collaboration agreement with Novartis, we sponsor the KURRENT-HN trial and supply tipifarnib, and Novartis supplies alpelisib. In December 2021, we announced dose administration for the first patient in the PIK3CA cohort in KURRENT-HN. In October 2022, we reported the first demonstration of a durable clinical response with the combination of tipifarnib and alpelisib in a patient with PIK3CA-mutated squamous cell carcinoma of the tonsil. Since that time, we have continued dose escalation and have observed evidence of clinical activity, along with a manageable safety profile, at multiple doses. We continue to evaluate patients in the dose-escalation study to inform the selection of the optimal biologically active dose, or OBAD, for the combination, which we expect to determine by the end of 2024. Once we determine the OBAD, we will continue to evaluate whether the activity supports the development and commercialization of the combination in HNSCC.

KO-2806. Our newest product candidate, KO-2806, is a next-generation FTI that we believe demonstrates improved potency, pharmacokinetic and physicochemical properties relative to earlier FTI drug candidates. In January 2023, we announced the clearance by the FDA of our investigational new drug, or IND, application for KO-2806 for the treatment of advanced solid tumors.

We delivered multiple presentations of preclinical data in 2023 that we believe support the development of FTIs such as KO-2806 in combination with targeted therapies.

In April 2023, we presented preclinical data at the American Association for Cancer Research Annual Meeting highlighting the potential use of FTIs in combination with two distinct classes of targeted therapies. The first of two posters revealed robust synergy between tipifarnib and the standard-of-care antiangiogenic tyrosine kinase inhibitor, or TKI, axitinib in cell- and patient-derived xenograft, or PDX, models of clear cell renal cell carcinoma, or ccRCC. The second poster reported regression of multiple models of KRAS inhibitor-resistant non-small cell lung cancer, or NSCLC, by addition of tipifarnib to adagrasib or sotorasib.

On September 28, 2023, we presented preclinical data in an oral session at the 5th RAS-Targeted Drug Development Summit supporting the development of KO-2806 in combination with $KRAS^{G12C}$ inhibitors to drive tumor regressions and durable responses in $KRAS^{G12C}$-mutant NSCLC. $KRAS^{G12C}$ inhibitors have previously been shown to activate receptor tyrosine kinase signaling, leading to ERK-RSK and/or mTOR-S6 pathway reactivation. Our preclinical data show that co-treatment of preclinical models of $KRAS^{G12C}$-mutant NSCLC with KO-2806 and adagrasib deepens signaling inhibition at multiple nodes, including the mitogen-activated protein kinase and mTOR pathways, while decreasing cell proliferation. In both cell-derived xenograft, or CDX, and PDX models originating from NSCLC tumors, the combination of KO-2806 with adagrasib induced tumor regressions. In addition, the CDX and PDX models demonstrated enhanced duration and depth of antitumor response compared to adagrasib as a single-agent therapy.

On October 13, 2023, we presented preclinical data at the AACR-NCI-EORTC International Conference supporting the development of KO-2806 with targeted therapies, including TKIs, $KRAS^{G12C}$ inhibitors and $KRAS^{G12D}$ inhibitors. The first of three posters illustrated that KO-2806 potentiates the antitumor activity of cabozantinib in ccRCC models. The second poster illustrated that KO-2806 blocks oncogenetic signaling at multiple nodes to enhance the antitumor activity of $KRAS^{G12C}$ inhibitor adagrasib in $KRAS^{G12C}$ NSCLC. The third poster illustrated that KO-2806 constrains compensatory signaling reactivation to deepen responses to $KRAS^{G12D}$ inhibition.

We believe these data support our rationale to combine KO-2806 with TKIs in ccRCC and with $KRAS^{G12C}$ inhibitors in NSCLC.

We are evaluating the safety, tolerability, pharmacokinetics, pharmacodynamics and preliminary antitumor activity of KO-2806 as a monotherapy and in combination with other targeted therapies in a Phase 1 first-in-human study, which we call the FIT-001 trial. On October 19, 2023, we announced that we dosed the first patient in the monotherapy portion of the FIT-001 trial. We anticipate dosing the first patients with KO-2806 in combination with cabozantinib in ccRCC by mid-2024. On November 2, 2023, we announced a clinical collaboration with Mirati Therapeutics, Inc., or Mirati, to evaluate the combination of KO-2806 and adagrasib in patients with NSCLC whose tumors have a $KRAS^{G12C}$ mutation. Under the terms of the agreement, Mirati will supply us with adagrasib for the NSCLC combination cohort of the FIT-001 trial, and we sponsor the trial. We anticipate initiation of the $KRAS^{G12C}$-mutant NSCLC cohort by mid-2024.

Our Strategy

Our strategy is to discover, acquire, develop and commercialize innovative anti-cancer agents in oncology indications with significant unmet medical need and attractive commercial potential. The key components of our strategy include the following:

- Focus on developing novel, small molecule product candidates for the treatment of cancer;
- Identify molecular, genetic or other tumor-related characteristics of patients more likely to benefit from our product candidates;
- Leverage clinical and pathology trends towards comprehensive tumor profiling and the use of companion diagnostics;
- Pursue opportunities to enhance clinical activity, minimize toxicity and address innate and adaptive resistance to standard of care therapies through rational combinations;
- Build a sustainable product pipeline and advance our programs through a combination of internal discovery and development and external sources, including strategic partnerships, collaborations, in-licenses and acquisitions;
- Maintain significant development and commercial rights to our product candidates; and
- Invest in pre-commercial activities to maximize the value of our pipeline assets.

Precision Medicines in Cancer Treatment

Advancements in cancer genetics and new molecular diagnostic tools are helping define why some patients respond to a specific therapy while other patients receive little to no clinical benefit. This area of cancer drug discovery and development offers the potential for innovative treatments that are safer and more effective for patients with specific cancers. We aim to improve patient outcomes and contribute to the reduction in healthcare costs by matching targeted therapeutics to the patients who will derive the most benefit. We are developing a pipeline of small molecule product candidates designed to inhibit mutated or abnormally functioning cellular pathways that drive cancer growth or drug resistance and intend to pair them with molecular diagnostics to identify those patients with tumors most likely to respond to treatment. This approach to treatment is known as precision medicine.

A pioneering example of a precision medicine in cancer was the development of small molecule inhibitors against EGFR in patients with advanced lung cancer. Patients with EGFR mutations treated with EGFR inhibitors have a response rate in the 65% range, as opposed to a response rate of approximately 10% in unselected lung patients. Erlotinib (Tarceva®) was approved in the United States as a first-line treatment for patients with NSCLC characterized by EGFR mutations. Other examples of approved agents developed using precision medicine approaches include ALK, BCR-ABL, BRAF, ROS1, RET and TRK inhibitors.

Precision medicine has several advantages over traditional drug development. We believe evidence-based selection of patients who are more likely to respond to a targeted therapy based on tumor biology provides the potential for: higher translatability from preclinical to clinical studies; increased overall response rates, requiring fewer enrolled patients for clinical development; expedited clinical development in areas of high unmet need and improved safety relative to standard chemotherapy. We believe the precision medicine approach has the potential for more efficient drug development with reduced risks, costs and timelines. However, achieving success through a precision medicine approach is predicated on a thorough understanding of tumor biology and the mechanism of action of the product candidate. To develop this understanding, we have conducted extensive translational research on each of our programs.

Our Approach to Development of Precision Medicines in Oncology

Translational research is the practice of synthesizing our knowledge of basic research, preclinical and clinical data to develop a "bench-to-bedside" understanding of the potential of our product candidates, and it is the principal methodology we utilize to guide our precision medicine approach. We evaluate our product candidates through both in vitro and in vivo experiments to evaluate their potential as therapeutics using a number of tools, including PDX models. PDX models mostly retain the principal histologic and genetic characteristics of their donor tumor and have been shown in many instances to be predictive of clinical outcomes and are increasingly being used for preclinical drug evaluation, biomarker identification, biologic studies and personalized medicine strategies. We evaluate our product candidates in preclinical PDX studies seeking to corroborate clinical data and to identify and prioritize potential clinical indications.

Because we often target molecular and/or genetic alterations that are detectable, companion diagnostic tests can be developed to identify these alterations. Once we have identified a target, we will initially use existing diagnostic tools, such as molecular assays (next-generation sequencing, or NGS, and/or qualitative polymerase chain reaction of DNA and/or RNA), or tissue-based assays such as protein expression by immunohistochemistry to identify patient subsets that we believe will derive increased benefit from our product candidates. As we advance our product candidates clinically and determine the most important screening criteria, we intend to develop companion diagnostics as appropriate, with the help of technology partners, to seek to identify patients, and if our clinical development programs are successful, to support the potential registration and marketing of our product candidates.

Our clinical development strategy employs a disciplined approach designed to identify response signals early in development and reduce development risks. Based upon the data from our preclinical studies as well as clinical data, we seek to evaluate our product candidates in well-defined patient populations and believe this gives us a higher likelihood of demonstrating a clinical benefit. This approach is intended to allow for early insight into the therapeutic potential of a product candidate and the possibility for rapid clinical development and expedited regulatory strategies.

We are employing some or all of the steps above across our various programs as we advance our pipeline of targeted therapies. We believe the advantages of such an approach are the potential for higher translatability from preclinical to clinical studies, the ability to leverage clinical and pathology trends towards comprehensive tumor profiling and the potential for expedited clinical development.

Clinical Programs and Pipeline

Ziftomenib – A Selective Inhibitor of the Menin-KMT2A Interaction

Overview

We are developing ziftomenib, an orally bioavailable small molecule inhibitor of the menin-KMT2A interaction, for the treatment of genetically defined subsets of acute leukemias, including AML and ALL. The menin-KMT2A program was licensed from the Regents of the University of Michigan, or the University of Michigan.

Acute Leukemias and Genetic Alterations

Acute leukemias, including those with rearrangements or partial tandem duplications in the KMT2A gene as well as those with oncogenic driver mutations in genes such as NPM1, are characterized by chromosomal translocations of the KMT2A gene that are primarily found in patients with AML and ALL and affect both children and adults. These translocations form oncogenes encoding KMT2A fusion proteins, which play a causative role in the onset, development and progression of KMT2A-rearranged leukemias. KMT2A fusion proteins drive the upregulation of expression of a small set of target genes involved in the malignant transformation of blood cells, however, the fusion protein is critically dependent on binding the oncogenic co-factor menin to function. This implies that the menin-KMT2A interaction represents a valuable target for molecular therapy and supports the development of inhibitors of the menin-KMT2A protein-protein interaction.

The target genes of the KMT2A fusion proteins are also found to be overexpressed in a broader subset of AMLs characterized by mutations in NPM1, DNMT3A, IDH1, IDH2 and a different mutation in the KMT2A gene, known as an KMT2A-partial tandem duplication. These mutations also appear to be dependent on the interaction between menin and KMT2A, suggesting that the menin-KMT2A complex is a central node in epigenetic dysregulation driven by distinct oncogenic driver mutations known to be important in AML and other hematologic malignancies.

NPM1-mutations are among the most common genetic alterations, representing approximately 30% of AML. NPM1 mutations drive leukemogenesis in AML via cytoplasmic dislocation of NPM1 protein, resulting in transcription of disease-associated genes and inhibition of normal differentiation programs. NPM1-mutant AML is highly sensitive to disruption of the menin-KMT2A complex, which leads to decreased expression of essential leukemic genes, reduction of leukemic self-renewal capacity and promotion of differentiation. While patients with NPM1-mutant AML have high response rates to frontline therapy, relapse rates are high and survival outcomes are poor. Median overall survival is only six months following relapse for NPM1-mutant patients.

KMT2A-rearrangements represent approximately 5-10% of AML. Patients with KMT2A-rearranged AML have a poor prognosis with high rates of resistance and relapse following standard of care therapies. Currently, there are no approved therapies indicated for NPM1-mutant or KMT2A-rearranged leukemias. In the pediatric population, KMT2A-rearranged leukemias make up approximately 10% of acute leukemias. In the case of infant leukemias, the frequency of KMT2A rearrangements is 70–80%. These pediatric leukemia sub-types portend a poorer prognosis and five-year survival rate that is lower than other leukemia sub-types and therefore represent a significant unmet medical need given the lack of curative therapeutic options.

In adults, AML is the most common acute leukemia worldwide. Despite the many available treatments for AML, prognosis for patients remains poor. Approximately 50% of patients with AML who achieve a CR after induction therapy relapse, and 40% of patients relapse after undergoing HCT. By preventing the interaction of menin and KMT2A/MLL, we believe ziftomenib has the potential to address up to 50% of AML cases, including NPM1-mutant AML and KMT2A-rearranged AML.

Preclinical Data Supporting Ziftomenib as a Monotherapy and in Combination with Other Therapies

We have generated preclinical data that support the potential anti-tumor activity of ziftomenib in genetically defined subsets of acute leukemia, including those with rearrangements or partial tandem duplications in the KMT2A gene as well as those with oncogenic driver mutations in genes such as NPM1. Our preclinical data support the hypothesis that ziftomenib targets epigenetic dysregulation and removes a key block to cellular differentiation to drive anti-tumor activity.

In November 2017, we reported preclinical data at the AACR-NCI-EORTC International Conference on Molecular Targets and Cancer Therapeutics showing robust and durable activity in multiple in vivo models of AML characterized by KMT2A-rearrangements or mutations in NPM1, DNMT3A, IDH1 and IDH2. We have further demonstrated that the inhibition of the menin-KMT2A interaction results in the down-regulation of KMT2A fusion target genes and an upregulation of markers of differentiation.

In December 2021, we reported the presentation of preclinical data for ziftomenib and its potential for synergistic activity in combination with the BCL2 inhibitor venetoclax, a current standard of care in the treatment of patients with AML. These data confirm that treatment with ziftomenib drives dose-dependent induction of growth inhibition, differentiation and loss of viability of AML cells with KMT2A rearrangements or NPM1 mutations, while also reducing key protein levels such as MEIS1, FLT3 and BCL2 and menin itself. In addition, the findings demonstrated that co-treatment with ziftomenib and venetoclax induces synergistic activity in patient-derived AML cells expressing KMT2A rearrangements or NPM1 mutations, with or without mutant FLT3 expression, and prolongs survival in an aggressive disseminated model of KMT2A-rearranged, FLT3-mutant AML.

Clinical Development of Ziftomenib in AML

In September 2019, we initiated the KOMET-001 trial, a Phase 1/2 clinical trial of ziftomenib in patients with relapsed or refractory AML to investigate the safety and tolerability of ziftomenib in humans, determine a RP2D, characterize pharmacokinetics of ziftomenib and assess any early evidence of clinical activity.

In December 2020, we announced preliminary results from our KOMET-001 trial at an oral presentation at the 2020 American Society of Hematology Annual Meeting, or ASH. As of the data cutoff date for the ASH presentation, November 2, 2020, the trial had enrolled 12 patients with relapsed or refractory AML, of whom ten were evaluable for safety and tolerability and eight were evaluable for efficacy. Clinical or biological activity was reported in six of the eight efficacy-evaluable patients, including two patients achieving a CR, one patient achieving a morphological leukemia-free state, and one patient experiencing a marked decrease in hydroxyurea requirements and having attained peripheral blood count stabilization. As presented at ASH, ziftomenib was well tolerated with a manageable safety profile. As of the data cutoff date, no drug discontinuations due to treatment-related adverse events and no evidence of QTc prolongation were reported. Treatment related adverse effects (grade $\geq$ 3) were reported to include pancreatitis, increased lipase, decreased neutrophil count, tumor lysis syndrome and deep venous thrombosis.

In May 2021, we reported that we amended the KOMET-001 trial protocol to include two Phase 1b expansion cohorts at doses that cleared the safety threshold in dose escalation. The Phase 1b portion of the study was designed to determine the lowest dose of ziftomenib that provides maximum biologic and clinical effect, consistent with guidance from the FDA relating to targeted oncology therapies, known as Project Optimus.

In June 2021, we reported that we dosed our first patient in the Phase 1b expansion cohorts. Each cohort – a lower dose (200 mg) and a higher dose (600 mg) – was comprised of NPM1-mutant and KMT2A-rearranged relapsed or refractory AML patients. Both doses demonstrated preliminary evidence of activity and safety and were determined to be well tolerated in the Phase 1a portion of the study.

In November 2021, we reported that the FDA had placed the KOMET-001 trial on a partial clinical hold. The partial clinical hold was initiated following our report to the FDA of a Grade 5 serious adverse event potentially associated with DS, a known adverse event related to differentiating agents in the treatment of AML. Patients who were enrolled in the Phase 1b expansion cohort at the time of the partial clinical hold were permitted to continue to receive ziftomenib, although no additional patients were to be enrolled until the partial clinical hold was lifted. In January 2022, we announced that the FDA had lifted the partial clinical hold on the KOMET-001 trial following agreement on our mitigation strategy for DS, and that the study would resume screening and enrollment of new patients.

In August 2022, we announced that we completed enrollment in the Phase 1b expansion cohorts of the KOMET-001 trial.

In December 2022, we announced updated clinical data from Phase 1a of the KOMET-001 trial that were presented during an oral presentation session at ASH. In the Phase 1a portion of the KOMET-001 trial, ziftomenib demonstrated a wide therapeutic window and encouraging monotherapy activity in an all comer population of 30 patients with relapsed or refractory AML.

On June 11, 2023, we presented updated clinical data from KOMET-001, including data from Phase 1b, during a late-breaking oral session at EHA, including durable activity in patients with heavily pretreated and co-mutated relapsed or refractory NPM1-mutant AML. A total of 53 patients were treated in the Phase 1b dose-validation and dose-expansion portions of the study. Ziftomenib demonstrated optimal clinical benefit at 600 mg in the Phase 1b portion of the KOMET-001 trial and this dose was designated as the RP2D.

As of the data cutoff on April 12, 2023, seven of the 20 patients (35%) with NPM1-mutant AML treated at the RP2D of 600 mg achieved a CR with full count recovery. An eighth patient, who had a CR with partial count recovery after treatment with ziftomenib, subsequently evolved to a CR with full count recovery after HCT and remained on study as of the date of the EHA presentation. In addition, a patient with NPM1-mutant AML treated at 200 mg remained on ziftomenib for 36 cycles as of the data cutoff.

Durable remissions were observed in patients with NPM1 mutations and other key co-mutations following treatment with ziftomenib. Notably, 33% (2/6) of patients with FLT3 co-mutations, 50% (4/8) of patients with IDH co-mutations and 50% (2/4) of patients with both FLT3 and IDH co-mutations achieved a CR at the 600 mg dose of ziftomenib. Ziftomenib demonstrated an ORR of 45% in patients with NPM1-mutant AML treated at the 600 mg dose. The median DoR for all NPM1-mutant patients treated at 200 mg or 600 mg in the Phase 1a/b portion of the study was 8.2 months (95% CI: 1.0 to NE), with a median follow-up of 8.8 months. The median DoR for such patients censored at stem cell transplant was 5.6 months (95% CI: 1.0 to NE).

As part of an ongoing analysis, the resistance mutation MEN1-M327I was detected in three patients treated with ziftomenib: in two of these three patients, the mutation was detected at study entry after the patients had progressed on a prior menin inhibitor, and in the third patient, the mutation was detected after four cycles of ziftomenib therapy and, despite the mutation, the patient was maintained in a condition of stable disease through cycle 7. These data show that MEN1 mutations developed in just 3% (1/29) of patients analyzed following treatment with ziftomenib and suggest that resistance mutations occur at a low frequency even after prolonged exposure to ziftomenib monotherapy. A key new biochemical finding, confirmed by crystal structure, demonstrates that ziftomenib retains binding affinity against the MEN1-T349M mutation, which was detected in two-thirds of patients who acquired menin resistance mutations on another recent menin inhibitor trial.

Continuous daily dosing of ziftomenib was well tolerated and the reported adverse event profile remained consistent with features of underlying disease. The on-target effect of DS was manageable, with 15% of patients experiencing Grade 1 or 2 events and 5% experiencing a Grade 3 event.

On February 9, 2023, we announced the dosing of the first patients in the Phase 2 registration-directed portion of the KOMET-001 study of ziftomenib in patients with relapsed or refractory NPM1-mutant AML. Enrollment in the Phase 2 study continues to outperform our projections. The study is expected to enroll a total of 85 patients at approximately 60 U.S. and European sites. We anticipate completion of enrollment of all 85 patients by mid-2024. In May 2023, we amended the KOMET-001 protocol to include a sub-study of ziftomenib in patients with ALL, and two sub-studies of ziftomenib in patients with non-NPM1-mutant and non-KMT2A-rearranged AML. We dosed the first patients in the ALL sub-study in the first quarter of 2024, and we expect to dose the first patients in non-NPM1-mutant and non-KMT2A-rearranged AML by mid-2024.

In addition to our monotherapy study of ziftomenib, we have initiated a series of studies to evaluate ziftomenib in combination with current standards of care in earlier lines of therapy and across multiple patient populations, including NPM1-mutant and KMT2A-rearranged AML. The first of these studies, which we call KOMET-007, is designed to evaluate ziftomenib in combination with venetoclax and azacitidine in patients with newly diagnosed or relapsed or refractory NPM1-mutant or KMT2A-rearranged AML, and ziftomenib in combination with 7+3 in patients with newly diagnosed NPM1-mutant or KMT2A-rearranged AML. We initiated dosing of patients in KOMET-007 in the third quarter of 2023.

On January 30, 2024, we announced preliminary data from the first 20 patients in the KOMET-007 study. The first 20 patients were enrolled in KOMET-007 between July 2023 and November 2023, including five newly diagnosed patients with adverse risk NPM1-mutant or KMT2A-rearranged AML and 15 patients with relapsed or refractory NPM1-mutant or KMT2A-rearranged AML. Patients are considered "adverse risk" if they are more than 60 years old and/or have treatment-related AML and/or adverse risk cytogenics per European LeukemiaNet.

Continuous daily dosing of ziftomenib at 200 mg was well tolerated and the safety profile was consistent with features of underlying disease and backbone therapies. No differentiation syndrome events of any grade were reported, and no dose-limiting toxicities, evidence of QTc prolongation, drug-drug interactions or additive myelosuppression were observed. As of the data cutoff on January 11, 2024, all newly diagnosed patients treated with ziftomenib and 7+3 achieved a CR with full count recovery, for a CR rate of 100% (5/5), including four patients with NPM1-mutant AML and one patient with KMT2A-rearranged AML. The ORR among relapsed or refractory patients treated with ziftomenib and venetoclax/azacitidine was 53% (8/15). Among all patients treated with ziftomenib and venetoclax/azacitidine, 40% (6/15) received prior treatment with a menin inhibitor. The rate of CRs or CRhs in patients who were menin inhibitor naïve was 56% (5/9), including 60% (3/5) in patients with NPM1-mutant AML and 50% (2/4) in patients with KMT2A-rearranged AML. The ORR in patients who received prior venetoclax was 40% (4/10), including 60% (3/5) in patients with NPM1-mutant AML. As of the data cutoff, 80% (16/20) of patients remained on trial, including 100% (11/11) of all NPM1-mutant patients.

The 200 mg dose of ziftomenib cleared the safety threshold for dose escalation in the relapsed or refractory venetoclax/azacitidine cohorts and enrollment at the 400 mg dose is ongoing. We anticipate determining the RP2D of ziftomenib in combination with venetoclax and azacitidine by mid-2024, upon which we plan to initiate a Phase 1b dose validation/expansion of ziftomenib in combination with venetoclax and azacitidine in newly diagnosed patients with NPM1-mutant AML (without adverse risk) or KMT2A- rearranged AML. We also have escalated to the 400 mg dose of ziftomenib in the frontline NPM1-mutant 7 + 3 cohort, and we expect to determine the RP2D of ziftomenib in combination with 7 + 3 by mid-2024.

The second ziftomenib combination study, which we call KOMET-008, is designed to evaluate ziftomenib in combination with gilteritinib in patients with relapsed or refractory NPM1-mutant AML, and ziftomenib in combination with FLAG-IDA or LDAC in patients with relapsed or refractory NPM1-mutant or KMT2A-rearranged AML. On February 26, 2024, we announced that we dosed the first patient in KOMET-008.

Registration Strategy for Ziftomenib. Our immediate strategy for ziftomenib in AML is to generate a data package to support an application for marketing approval in relapsed or refractory NPM1-mutant AML. Our comprehensive clinical development plan for ziftomenib also includes the evaluation of ziftomenib in combination with standards of care for NPM1-mutant and KMT2A-rearranged AML in the frontline and relapsed or refractory settings, as described above. We also are evaluating ziftomenib in other indications, beginning with ALL, and plan to evaluate ziftomenib as a maintenance therapy.

We are supporting an investigator-sponsored study, and plan to initiate a company-sponsored study, evaluating the ability of ziftomenib to improve outcomes when administered as a maintenance therapy to patients with NPM1-mutant or KMT2A-rearranged AML following HCT.

Our clinical development plan also includes a pediatric development strategy. On December 8, 2023, we announced a clinical collaboration with LLS to evaluate ziftomenib in combination with chemotherapy in pediatric patients with relapsed or refractory KMT2A-rearranged, NUP98-rearranged or NPM1-mutant acute leukemia. Under the terms of the collaboration agreement, LLS will serve as the coordinating sponsor of a Phase 1 study of ziftomenib in pediatric patients with acute leukemias in North America, the Princess Máxima Center for Pediatric Oncology in Utrecht, the Netherlands will serve as the coordinating sponsor of the study in Europe, and Kura will supply LLS and the Princess Máxima Center with ziftomenib for the study.

Finally, several investigator-sponsored clinical trials of ziftomenib are either open for enrollment or in development, in addition to the clinical trials described above.

Farnesyl Transferase Inhibitors

Protein Farnesylation

Certain cellular proteins must associate with the intracellular membrane to function. One of the mechanisms by which proteins are associated with the inner cell membrane is farnesylation, which modifies the protein by attaching a farnesyl group. Another, related mechanism of attachment of proteins to the membrane is protein geranylgeranylation, which is attachment of a geranylgeranyl group to the protein. Protein farnesylation and protein geranylgeranylation, collectively called protein prenylation, cause intracellular proteins to become anchored to the inside of the cell membrane due to the hydrophobic nature of the farnesyl and geranylgeranyl groups.

The enzyme that catalyzes the attachment of the farnesyl groups to proteins is called farnesyl transferase. Small molecule inhibitors of the farnesyl transferase enzyme have been discovered, and several inhibitors including tipifarnib have been evaluated in human clinical trials. The small molecule inhibitors are commonly referred to as FTIs. Many proteins involved in cellular signaling undergo prenylation because they must be associated with other proteins at the inner cellular membrane of the tumor cell to function properly. Treatment of tumors with FTIs results in the reversal of several hallmarks of cancer, including mitotic arrest, induction of apoptosis, growth inhibition, tissue invasion, sustained angiogenesis and tumor growth, as well as induction of tumor regression in animal models.

Among the hundreds of proteins estimated to be prenylated, some are either exclusively farnesylated or exclusively geranylgeranylated; some are both farnesylated and geranylgeranylated, and others are naturally farnesylated but become geranylgeranylated, when the farnesyl transferase enzyme is inhibited. HRAS is an example of a protein that is exclusively farnesylated while KRAS and NRAS are two proteins that are naturally farnesylated but may become geranylgeranylated upon treatment with FTIs.

Solid Tumors with HRAS Mutations

Rat sarcoma virus, or RAS, oncogenes are translated into a family of membrane-associated proteins that are involved in regulating cell division in response to growth factor stimulation. The RAS gene family is comprised of three oncogenes: HRAS, KRAS and NRAS. Collectively, the three RAS genes constitute one of the most frequently mutated families of oncogenes in human cancers. Although HRAS mutations are less common overall relative to KRAS and NRAS mutations, they have a higher prevalence in cancers of the thyroid and urinary bladder and in head and neck squamous cell carcinomas.

The HRAS protein is involved in regulating cell division in response to growth factor stimulation. Growth factors act by binding cell surface receptors that span the cell's plasma membrane. Once activated, receptors stimulate signal transduction events in the cytoplasm, a process by which proteins and second messengers relay signals from outside the cell to the cell nucleus and instruct the cell to grow or divide. HRAS is localized in the plasma membrane, and it is an early player in many signal transduction pathways. HRAS acts as a molecular on/off switch – once HRAS is turned "on" it recruits and activates proteins necessary for the propagation of the receptor's signal. In certain solid tumors, mutations in HRAS or its upstream regulators cause HRAS to be permanently "on," resulting in persistent activation of downstream growth and proliferation signals that drive tumor cell growth. FTIs work to prevent the aberrant growth and proliferation of cells that are dependent on these signaling pathways by inhibiting protein farnesylation and subsequent membrane localization of HRAS, thereby switching HRAS "off." HRAS membrane localization is solely dependent on protein farnesylation, and therefore we believe that our FTI product candidates have the potential for the treatment of HRAS mutant solid tumors.

HNSCC is one of a number of different types of cancer that arises from squamous cells. Squamous cells are found in the outer layer of skin and in the mucous membranes, which are the moist tissues that line body cavities such as the airways and intestines. HNSCC develops in the mucous membranes of the mouth, nose, and throat and is classified by its location. HNSCC is caused by a variety of factors that can alter the DNA in cells. The strongest risk factors for developing this form of cancer are tobacco use, including smoking or using chewing tobacco, and heavy alcohol consumption. In addition, infection with certain strains of human papillomavirus is linked to the development of HNSCC.

HNSCC is a disease of high unmet need. Response rates for the three approved second-line agents, cetuximab (Erbitux®), nivolumab (Opdivo®) and pembrolizumab (Keytruda®), are in the range of 13-16% in unselected populations, with a median progression-free survival of approximately two months and a median overall survival of less than eight months. Data in the literature along with our own clinical data suggest response rates to these second-line agents in patients with HRAS mutations may be even lower.

Other types of cancer that can result from squamous cells include vulvar, penile, cutaneous and lung squamous cell carcinoma. Our preclinical and clinical data suggest that, among solid tumors with HRAS mutations, squamous cell tumors are sensitive tumors to treatment with tipifarnib, and treatment with tipifarnib can, in some patients, produce durable responses.

Tipifarnib – An Oral Farnesyl Transferase Inhibitor

Overview

Tipifarnib is a potent, selective and orally bioavailable FTI. We in-licensed tipifarnib from Janssen Pharmaceutica NV, or Janssen, an affiliate of Johnson & Johnson, in December 2014. Previously, tipifarnib was studied in more than 5,000 oncology patients in more than 70 clinical trials and was observed to be generally well tolerated with a manageable side effect

At its April 15, 2020 Meeting, the New Hampshire Board of Pharmacy ("Board") reviewed the change of ownership application submitted by Crown Laboratories, Inc. on March 31, 2020. While reviewing the application, the Board noted that the application included documentation of disciplinary action in Alabama and Arizona from 2019 and 2020. This discipline had not been previously reported to the New Hampshire Board of Pharmacy. Per RSA 318:51-a, V and Ph I 002.12, the Board must be notified within 30-days of any changes, including disciplinary action in other states. Accordingly, the Board sees fit to assess an administrative fine of $150.00. This fine shall be a non- disciplinary, administrative fine.

EXHIBIT A

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF TENNESSEE

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, Plaintiff, v. CROWN LABORATORIES, INC., a corporation and JEFFERY BEDARD, an individual, Defendants.	Civil Action No.: _____ COMPLAINT FOR PERMANENT INJUNCTION

Plaintiff, the United States of America, by its undersigned attorneys, respectfully represents to this Court as follows:

1. This statutory injunction proceeding is brought under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (the "Act"), 21 U.S.C. § 332(a), to permanently enjoin and restrain Crown Laboratories, Inc., a corporation, and Jeffery Bedard, an individual (collectively, "Defendants") from:

A. violating 21 U.S.C. § 331(d) by introducing or delivering, or causing to be introduced or delivered, into interstate commerce new drugs that are neither approved pursuant to 21 U.S.C. § 355(b) or (j), nor exempt from approval pursuant to 21 U.S.C. § 355(i);

B. violating 21 U.S.C. § 331(a) by introducing or delivering, or causing to be introduced or delivered, into interstate commerce drugs that are misbranded within the meaning of 21 U.S.C. § 352(f)(1); and

C. violating 21 U.S.C. § 331(k) by causing drugs that Defendants hold for sale after shipment of one or more of their components in interstate commerce to become misbranded within the meaning of 21 U.S.C. § 352(f)(1).

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

2. This Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter and all parties to this action pursuant to 21 U.S.C. § 332(a) and 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 and 1345.

3. Venue in this District is proper under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391(b) and (c).

DEFENDANTS

4. Defendant Crown Laboratories, Inc. ("Crown" or "the firm") is a corporation incorporated and registered to do business in Tennessee. Crown operates at its principal place of business and drug manufacturing facility, which is located at 349 Lafe Cox Drive, Johnson City, Tennessee (the "Facility"), within the jurisdiction of this Court.

5. Crown manufactures, processes, packs, labels, holds, and distributes a variety of prescription and over-the-counter ("OTC") drugs including, but not limited to, prescription urea cream and lotion, and prescription Sodium Sulfacetamide 10% & Sulfur 5% (hereafter, "Sodium Sulfacetamide"), which are the subject of this action. Specifically, Crown manufactures, processes, packs, labels, holds, and distributes in interstate commerce Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Cream, Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Lotion, Rea Lo 39 (Urea 39%) Cream, and Dermasorb XM Complete Kit (Urea 39% Cream and Moisturizer) under its own labels. Crown also manufactures, processes, packs, labels, holds, and distributes in interstate commerce Sodium Sulfacetamide as a contract manufacturer for another pharmaceutical firm.

6. Defendant Jeffery Bedard is Crown's Chief Executive Officer. He is responsible for, and has authority over, all operations at the firm. He has the authority and duty to prevent, detect, and correct objectionable conditions. He performs his duties at the Facility, within the jurisdiction of this Court.

DEFENDANTS' VIOLATIONS OF THE ACT

Unapproved New Drugs

7. A product is a drug within the meaning of the Act, inter alia, if it is "intended for use in the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease in man," 21 U.S.C. § 321(g)(1)(B), or if it is "intended to affect the structure or any function of the body of man," 21 U.S.C. § 321(g)(1)(C).

8. The intended use of a product may be determined from any relevant source, including the product's labeling. See 21 C.F.R. § 201.128. The Act defines labeling as "all labels and other written, printed, or graphic matter (1) upon any article or any of its containers or wrappers, or (2) accompanying such article." 21 U.S.C. § 321(m).

9. The products Defendants introduce or deliver for introduction into interstate commerce are drugs within the meaning of the Act because they are intended for use in the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease in man and/or intended to affect the structure or any function of the body of man. Specifically, according to the products' labels, Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Cream, Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Lotion, Rea Lo 39 (Urea 39%) Cream, and Dermasorb XM Complete Kit (Urea 39% Cream and Moisturizer) are intended to treat hyperkeratotic conditions such as dry, rough skin, xerosis, ichthyosis, skin cracks and fissures, dermatitis, eczema, psoriasis, keratosis, and calluses, and Sodium Sulfacetamide is intended to treat acne vulgaris, acne rosacea, and seborrheic dermatitis.

10. A "new drug" is defined as any drug "the composition of which is such that such drug is not generally recognized, among experts qualified by scientific training and experience to evaluate the safety and effectiveness of drugs, as safe and effective for use under the conditions prescribed, recommended, or suggested in the labeling thereof . . . ; or any drug . . the composition of which is such that such drug, as a result of investigations to determine its safety and effectiveness for use under such conditions, has become so recognized, but which has not, otherwise than in such investigations, been used to a material extent or for a material time under such conditions." 21 U.S.C. § 321(p).

11. A "new drug" may not be introduced or delivered for introduction into interstate commerce unless FDA has approved a new drug application ("NDA") or an abbreviated new drug application ("ANDA") with respect to such drug, or such drug is exempt from approval under an investigational new drug application ("IND"). 21 U.S.C. §§ 331(d) and 355(a), (b), (i), and (j). It is a violation of the Act to introduce or deliver, or cause to be introduced or delivered, into interstate commerce a new drug that is neither approved nor exempt from approval. 21 U.S.C. § 331(d).

12. Defendants' Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Cream, Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Lotion, Rea Lo 39 (Urea 39%) Cream, Dermasorb XM Complete Kit (Urea 39% Cream and Moisturizer), and Sodium Sulfacetamide are "new drugs" within the meaning of the Act, inter alia, because they are not generally recognized among experts qualified by scientific training and experience to evaluate the safety and effectiveness of drugs, as safe and effective for use under the conditions prescribed, recommended, or suggested in their labeling. 21 U.S.C. § 321(p)(1).

13. There is no application under 21 U.S.C. § 355 on file with FDA for Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Cream, Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Lotion, Rea Lo 39 (Urea 39%) Cream, Dermasorb XM Complete Kit (Urea 39% Cream and Moisturizer), or Sodium Sulfacetamide that would allow Crown to introduce or deliver these products, or cause them to be introduced or delivered, into interstate commerce to the public.

14. Defendants' introduction or delivery for introduction of these drug products into interstate commerce therefore violates 21 U.S.C. § 331(d).

Misbranded Drugs

15. The introduction or delivery for introduction into interstate commerce of any drug that is misbranded violates the Act. 21 U.S.C. § 331(a).

16. A drug is misbranded if its labeling fails to bear "adequate directions for use," and does not fall within a regulatory exemption from this requirement. 21 U.S.C. § 352(f)(1); 21 C.F.R. Part 201, Subpart D.

17. Defendants' Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Cream, Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Lotion, Rea Lo 39 (Urea 39%) Cream, Dermasorb XM Complete Kit (Urea 39% Cream and Moisturizer), and Sodium Sulfacetamide are prescription drugs within the meaning of 21 U.S.C. § 353(b)(1)(B). The labeling of these products state that they are intended for "Rx Only" use.

18. Defendants' Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Cream, Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Lotion, Rea Lo 39 (Urea 39%) Cream, Dermasorb XM Complete Kit (Urea 39% Cream and Moisturizer), and Sodium Sulfacetamide are misbranded because they do not bear adequate directions for use as required by 21 U.S.C. § 352(f)(1), and they are not exempt from this requirement pursuant to 21 C.F.R. §§ 201.100 or 201.115. A new drug is exempt from the adequate directions for use requirement only if it bears the precise labeling approved in its approved application. See 21 C.F.R. § 201.115. Moreover, a prescription drug that is a new drug can qualify for the exemption from the adequate directions for use requirement if its labeling bears the information authorized by an approved new drug application. See 21 C.F.R. § 201.100(c)(2). New drugs that lack an approved NDA, such as Defendants' prescription drugs, cannot qualify for either of these exemptions and therefore are misbranded as a matter of law.

19. Defendants violate the Act, 21 U.S.C. § 331(a), by introducing or delivering for introduction into interstate commerce articles of drug, as defined by 21 U.S.C. § 321(g)(1), that are misbranded within the meaning of 21 U.S.C. § 352(f)(1), as set forth above.

20. Defendants violate the Act, 21 U.S.C. § 331(k), by causing articles of drug, as defined by 21 U.S.C. § 321(g)(1), to become misbranded, within the meaning of 21 U.S.C. § 352(f)(1), while such drugs are held for sale after shipment of one or more of their components in interstate commerce.

Interstate Commerce

21. During the most recent inspection of the Facility between February 22 and 25, 2016, FDA documented Defendants' shipment of Rea Lo (40% Urea) Cream and Rea Lo (40% Urea) Lotion to Georgia and Utah, and of Dermasorb XM Trade Kit (Urea 39% Cream and Moisturizer) to California. FDA also documented Defendants' shipment of Sodium Sulfacetamide to Ohio. These shipments constitute the introduction or delivery for introduction of unapproved new drugs and misbranded drugs into interstate commerce under 21 U.S.C. §§ 331(a) and (d).

22. Defendants receive raw materials from outside of Tennessee, which they use to manufacture their drug products. For example, Defendants receive the active pharmaceutical ingredients Urea USP from Ohio and Sodium Sulfacetamide Monohydrate from Mississippi. Therefore, the interstate commerce element under 21 U.S.C. § 331(k) is met.

HISTORY

23. Defendants are well aware that their conduct violates the law and that continued violations could lead to regulatory action.

24. During a meeting with Defendants on December 2, 2015, FDA notified

Defendants that unapproved, marketed drugs are not listed in the FDA Orange Book, Approved Drug Products with Therapeutic Equivalence Evaluations, (35th ed. 2015), which is a compilation of drugs approved by FDA on the basis of safety and effectiveness whose applications have not been withdrawn or suspended for safety or effectiveness reasons and FDA's evaluations on the therapeutic equivalence of drugs, and that the marketing of these products absent an approved application may violate the Act and subject them compliance action.

25. During an inspection of the Facility between March 2 and 3, 2015, FDA documented Defendants' distribution in interstate commerce of Rea Lo (40% Urea) Cream and Rea Lo (40% Urea) Lotion. By letter dated May 13, 2015, FDA explained to then counsel for Defendant Crown that 40% Urea Cream, 40% Urea Lotion, 39% Urea Lotion, and Sodium Sulfacetamide are new drugs that are subject to the Act's premarket approval requirement.

26. During an inspection of the Facility between February 10 and 14, 2014, FDA documented, among other things, Defendants' manufacturing and distribution in interstate commerce of prescription urea drugs privately labeled for Ascend Laboratories, LLC (hereafter, "Ascend"), specifically products labeled as Ascend Urea Cream 40% and Ascend Urea 40% Lotion. FDA also documented Defendants' manufacturing and distribution in interstate commerce of Dermasorb XM Complete Kit (Urea 39% Cream and Moisturizer) and Sodium Sulfacetamide during the inspection. The FDA investigator discussed the potential unapproved status of these drugs with firm management, including Defendant Bedard, and made them aware of FDA's Compliance Policy Guide Section 440.100, Marketed New Drugs Without Approved NDAs or ANDAs, amended September 19, 2011 ("CPG Section 440.100"); see also 76 Fed. Reg. 58398-01 (Sept. 21, 2011). In CPG Section 440.100, FDA notified manufacturers and distributors that any product that is being illegally marketed is subject to enforcement at any time and that all unapproved drugs introduced onto the market after September 19, 2011, are subject to immediate enforcement action without prior notice and without respect to the enforcement priorities listed therein. See also 76 Fed. Reg. at 58399.

27. In May 2014, the United States conducted a seizure of certain unapproved and misbranded drugs that were being distributed by Ascend, including but not limited to the urea drug products that Defendants had manufactured for Ascend (Ascend Cream Urea 40% Cream, Ascend Urea Lotion 40%, and Ascend Urea Cream 39%). The United States notified Defendants of the seizure by letter dated May 15, 2014.

28. Defendant Bedard stated, by letter dated March 5, 2014 to FDA, that Crown "does not currently plan to file an NDA for any of these products . . . ." During FDA's February 2016 inspection, the firm's Vice President of Quality Assurance and Quality Control, stated that he believes that the products at issue are legal drug products and that they will continue to be manufactured and shipped in the future.

29. Accordingly, unless restrained by this Court, Defendants will continue to violate the Act, 21 U.S.C. §§ 331(a), (d), and (k).

WHEREFORE, the United States respectfully requests that the Court:

I. Permanently restrain and enjoin, under 21 U.S.C. § 332(a), Defendants, and each and all of their directors, officers, agents, representatives, employees, attorneys, successors, and assigns, and any and all persons in active concert or participation with any of them, from doing or causing to be done any of the following acts:

A. violating 21 U.S.C. § 331(d) by introducing or delivering, or causing to be introduced or delivered, into interstate commerce unapproved new drugs;

B. violating 21 U.S.C. § 331(a) by introducing or delivering, or causing to be introduced or delivered, into interstate commerce drugs that are misbranded within the meaning of 21 U.S.C. § 352(f)(1); and

C. violating 21 U.S.C. § 331(k) by causing drugs that Defendants hold for sale after shipment of one or more of their components in interstate commerce to become misbranded within the meaning of 21 U.S.C. § 352(f)(1).

II. Permanently restrain and enjoin, under 21 U.S.C. § 332(a), Defendants, and each and all of their directors, officers, agents, representatives, employees, attorneys, successors, and assigns, and any and all persons in active concert or participation with any of them, from directly or indirectly introducing or delivering for introduction, or causing to be introduced or delivered for introduction, into interstate commerce any drug, including but not limited to Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Cream, Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Lotion, Rea Lo 39 (Urea 39%) Cream, Dermasorb XM Complete Kit (Urea 39% Cream and Moisturizer), and Sodium Sulfacetamide, and any product labeled similarly to such products and containing the same active ingredients, unless and until an approved new drug application, an abbreviated new drug application, or an investigational new drug application filed pursuant to 21 U.S.C. § 355(b), (j), or (i) is in effect for such drugs.

III. Order that Defendants destroy, under FDA's supervision and at Defendants' expense, all Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Cream, Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Lotion, Rea Lo 39 (Urea 39%) Cream, Dermasorb XM Complete Kit (Urea 39% Cream and Moisturizer), and Sodium Sulfacetamide, and any product labeled similarly to such products and containing the same active ingredient(s) in their custody, control, or possession, and that the costs of FDA's supervision be borne by Defendants at the rates prevailing at the time the destruction is accomplished.

IV. Order that FDA be authorized to inspect Defendants' place(s) of business and all records relating to the receipt, manufacture, processing, packing, labeling, holding, and distribution of any of Defendants' products to ensure continuing compliance with the terms of the injunction, the costs of such inspections to be borne by Defendants at the rates prevailing at the time the inspections are accomplished.

V. Order that Plaintiff be granted judgment for its costs herein, and that this Court grant such other and further relief as it deems just and proper.

Plaintiff, the United States of America, by and through its undersigned attorneys, having filed a Complaint for Permanent Injunction ("Complaint") against Crown Laboratories, Inc., a corporation, and Jeffery Bedard, an individual (hereinafter, collectively, "Defendants"), and Defendants having appeared and consented to entry of this Decree without admitting or denying the allegations in the Complaint, and before any testimony has been taken, and the United States of America, having consented to this Decree;

2. The Complaint states a cause of action against Defendants under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, 21 U.S.C. §§ 301 et seq. (the "Act").

4. The Complaint alleges that Defendants violate 21 U.S.C. § 331(a) by introducing or delivering for introduction, or causing to be introduced or delivered for introduction, into interstate commerce articles of drug that are misbranded within the meaning of 21 U.S.C. § 352(f)(1).

5. The Complaint alleges that Defendants violate 21 U.S.C. § 331(k) by causing articles of drug that they hold for sale after shipment in interstate commerce to become misbranded within the meaning of 21 U.S.C. § 352(f)(1).

6. Upon entry of this Decree, Defendants and each and all of their directors, officers, agents, representatives, employees, attorneys, successors, and assigns, and any and all persons or entities in active concert or participation with any of them, who have received actual notice of this Decree by personal service or otherwise, are permanently restrained and enjoined under 21 U.S.C. § 332(a) from:

A. Introducing or delivering for introduction, or directly or indirectly causing to be introduced or delivered for introduction, into interstate commerce, manufacturing, processing, packaging, labeling, holding, or selling any Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Cream, Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Lotion, Rea Lo 39 (Urea 39%) Cream, Dermasorb XM Complete Kit (Urea 39% Cream and Moisturizer), Sodium Sulfacetamide 10% & Sulfur 5% (hereafter, "Sodium Sulfacetamide"), or any drug labeled similarly to such drugs and containing the same active ingredient(s), unless and until an approved new drug application or an abbreviated new drug application or an investigational new drug application filed pursuant to 21 U.S.C. § 355(b), (j), or (i) is in effect for such drugs;

B. Violating 21 U.S.C. § 331(d) by introducing or delivering for introduction, or directly or indirectly causing to be introduced or delivered for introduction, into interstate commerce any drug that is a new drug within the meaning of 21 U.S.C. § 321(p) and that is neither approved under 21 U.S.C. § 355(b) or (j), nor exempt from approval under to 21 U.S.C. § 355(i);

C. Violating 21 U.S.C. § 331(a) by introducing or delivering for introduction, or directly or indirectly causing to be introduced or delivered for introduction, into interstate commerce any drug that is misbranded within the meaning of 21 U.S.C. § 352(f)(1);

D. Violating of 21 U.S.C. § 331(k) by, directly or indirectly, causing any drug that Defendants hold for sale after shipment of one or more of its components in interstate commerce to become misbranded within the meaning of 21 U.S.C. § 352(f)(1); and

E. Directly or indirectly causing to be done any act that results in the failure to implement and continuously maintain the requirements of this Decree.

Nothing in this paragraph or paragraph 7 or paragraph 9 shall preclude Defendants from marketing a drug subject to an ongoing Drug Efficacy Study Implementation (DESI) proceeding during the pendency of that proceeding. The preceding sentence does not apply when a DESI proceeding closes. No provision of this Decree shall affect the authority of the United States to bring an action against Defendants for a violation of the Act and/or its implementing regulations.

7. A. Within twenty (20) business days after entry of this Decree, Defendants shall give written notice to FDA that, at their own expense and under FDA's supervision, they are prepared to destroy all Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Cream, Rea Lo (Urea 40%) Lotion, Rea Lo 39 (Urea 39%) Cream, Dermasorb XM Complete Kit (Urea 39% Cream and Moisturizer), Sodium Sulfacetamide, any unapproved drug labeled similarly to such drugs and containing the same active ingredient(s), and any unapproved new drugs not expressly listed herein, in Defendants' custody, control, or possession (hereinafter, "Violative Drugs"). Defendants' notice shall specify the proposed time, place, and method of destruction ("Destruction Plan"). Defendants shall not commence or permit any other person to commence destruction until they have received written authorization from FDA to commence the destruction.

B. Defendants shall at all times, until all of the Violative Drugs have been destroyed in accordance with this Decree, retain the Violative Drugs intact for examination or inspection by FDA at their facility at 349 Lafe Cox Drive, Johnson City, Tennessee ("the Facility"), and shall maintain all records or other proof necessary to establish the identity of the Violative Drugs to FDA's satisfaction. Defendants shall not cause the Violative Drugs to be

C. Within fifteen (15) business days after receiving authorization from FDA to commence destroying the Violative Drugs, Defendants shall, under FDA supervision, complete the destruction in compliance with this Decree. Defendants shall reimburse FDA, at the rates set forth in Paragraph 13, for the supervision of the destruction within ten (10) business days after receiving notice of such costs from FDA.

8. FDA shall be permitted, without prior notice and as FDA deems necessary, to make inspections of Defendants' place(s) of business (including, but not limited to, the Facility) and, without prior notice, take any other measures necessary to monitor and ensure continuing compliance with the terms of this Decree, the Act, and FDA regulations. During inspections, FDA shall be permitted to have immediate access to buildings, equipment, raw ingredients, in-process materials, finished products, containers, packaging material, labeling, and other materials therein; to take photographs and make video recordings; to take samples of Defendants' raw ingredients, in-process materials, finished products, containers, packaging material, labeling, and other materials; and to examine and copy all records relating to the manufacture, processing, packing, labeling, holding, and distribution of any and all drugs and their respective components. The inspection authority granted by this Decree is separate from, and in addition to, the authority to make inspections under the Act, 21 U.S.C. § 374.

9. Upon entry of this Decree, if at any time FDA determines, based on the results of an inspection, the analysis of a sample, a report, or any other information, that Defendants have failed to comply with any provision of this Decree, have violated the Act or its implementing regulations, and/or that additional corrective actions are necessary to achieve compliance with this Decree, the Act, or its implementing regulations, FDA may, as and when it deems necessary, notify Defendants in writing of the noncompliance and order Defendants to take appropriate corrective action, including, but not limited to, ordering Defendants to immediately take one or more of the following actions:

A. Cease manufacturing, processing, preparing, packing, labeling, holding, selling, and/or distributing any or all unapproved or misbranded drugs;

B. Recall, at Defendants' expense, any drugs that are unapproved, misbranded, or otherwise in violation of this Decree, the Act, or its implementing regulations;

C. Revise, modify, expand, or continue to submit any reports or plans prepared pursuant to this Decree;

D. Submit additional reports or information to FDA as requested;

E. Issue a safety alert; or

F. Take any other corrective actions with respect to unapproved or misbranded drugs as FDA, in its discretion, deems necessary to bring Defendants into compliance with this Decree, the Act, and its implementing regulations.

The provisions of this paragraph shall be apart from, and in addition to, all other remedies available to FDA.

10. Any order issued by FDA pursuant to Paragraph 9 shall be issued by the appropriate FDA District Director, and shall specify the deficiencies or violations giving rise to the order. Unless a different time frame is specified by FDA in its order, within five (5) business days after receiving an order pursuant to Paragraph 9, Defendants shall notify FDA in writing either that: (1) Defendants are undertaking, or have undertaken, the specified corrective action, in which event Defendants shall describe the specific action taken or proposed to be taken and a proposed schedule for completing the action; or (2) Defendants do not agree with FDA's order. If Defendants notify FDA that they do not agree with FDA's order, Defendants shall explain in writing the basis for their disagreement; in so doing, Defendants may propose specific alternative actions and specific time frames for achieving FDA's objectives.

A. If Defendants notify FDA that they do not agree with FDA's order, FDA will review Defendants' notification and thereafter, in writing, affirm, modify, or withdraw its order, as FDA deems appropriate. If FDA affirms or modifies its order, it shall explain the basis for its decision in writing. The written notice of affirmation or modification shall constitute final agency action.

B. If FDA affirms or modifies its order, Defendants shall, upon receipt of FDA's order, immediately implement the order (as modified, if applicable) and, if they so choose, bring the matter before this Court on an expedited basis. While seeking Court review, Defendants shall continue to diligently implement FDA's order unless the Court stays, reverses, vacates, or modifies FDA's order. Any review of FDA's decision under this subparagraph shall be made in accordance with the terms set forth in Paragraph 19.

C. The process and procedures set forth in Paragraph 10.A-B shall not apply to any order issued under Paragraph 9 if such order states that, in FDA's judgment, the matter raises significant public health concerns. In such case, Defendants shall immediately and fully comply with the terms of that order. Should Defendants seek to challenge any such order, they may petition this Court for relief while implementing the order.

11. Any action ordered pursuant to Paragraph 9 shall continue until Defendants receive written notification from FDA that Defendants appear to be in compliance with this Decree, the Act, and its implementing regulations. The cost of FDA's inspections, sampling, testing, travel time, and subsistence expenses to implement the remedies set forth in Paragraph 9 shall be borne by Defendants at the rates specified in Paragraph 13.

12. The prohibitions set forth in Paragraphs 6 and 7 or in any order issued under Paragraph 9 shall not apply to any drug manufactured solely for export and/or exported from the United States, provided that all applicable requirements of the Act, including 21 U.S.C. §§ 381(e) and 382, and its implementing regulations have been satisfied with respect to such drug.

13. Defendants shall reimburse FDA for the costs of all FDA inspections, investigations, supervision, analyses, examinations, and reviews that FDA deems necessary to evaluate Defendants' compliance with any part of this Decree at the standard rates prevailing at the time the costs are incurred. As of the date of entry of this Decree, these rates are: $90.65 per hour or fraction thereof per representative for inspection and investigative work; $108.63 per hour or fraction thereof per representative for analytical or review work; $0.54 per mile for travel expenses by automobile; government rate or the equivalent for travel by air or other means; and the published government per diem rate for subsistence expenses where necessary. In the event that the standard rates applicable to FDA supervision of court-ordered compliance are modified, these rates shall be increased or decreased without further order of the Court.

14. Within ten (10) business days after entry of this Decree, Defendants shall post a copy of this Decree in a common area at the Facility, at any other location at which Defendants conduct business, and on Crown Laboratories, Inc.'s website, and shall ensure that the Decree remains posted for as long as the Decree remains in effect.

15. Within ten (10) business days after entry of this Decree, Defendants shall provide a copy of the Decree by personal service or certified mail (return receipt requested) to each and all of their directors, officers, agents, employees, representatives, successors, assigns, attorneys, and any and all persons in active concert or participation with any of them (hereafter collectively referred to as "Associated Persons"). Within twenty (20) business days after entry of this Decree, Defendants shall provide to FDA an affidavit stating the fact and manner of their compliance with this paragraph, identifying the names, addresses, and positions of all persons who have received a copy of this Decree.

16. In the event that any of the Defendants becomes associated with any additional Associated Person(s) at any time after entry of this Decree, Defendants immediately shall provide a copy of this Decree, by personal service or certified mail (restricted delivery, return receipt requested), to such Associated Person(s). Each time any Defendant becomes associated with an additional Associated Person(s), it shall, within ten (10) business days, provide to FDA an affidavit stating the fact and manner of its compliance with this paragraph, identifying the names, addresses, and positions of all Associated Person(s) who received a copy of this Decree pursuant to this paragraph. Within ten (10) business days of receiving a request from FDA for any information or documentation that FDA deems necessary to evaluate compliance with this paragraph, Defendants shall provide such information or documentation to FDA.

17. Defendants shall notify FDA in writing at least ten (10) business days before any change in ownership, name, or character of their business that occurs after entry of this Decree, including an incorporation, reorganization, creation of a subsidiary, relocation, dissolution, bankruptcy, assignment, sale, or any other change in the structure or identity of Crown Laboratories, Inc., or the sale or assignment of any business assets, such as buildings, equipment, or inventory, that may affect obligations arising out of this Decree. Defendants shall provide a copy of this Decree to any prospective successor or assign at least twenty (20) business days prior to any sale or assignment. Defendants shall furnish FDA with an affidavit of compliance with this paragraph no later than ten (10) business days prior to such assignment or change in ownership.

18. Defendants may at any time petition FDA in writing to extend any deadline provided for herein, and FDA may grant such extension without seeking leave of Court. However, any such petitions shall not become effective or stay the imposition of any payments under this Decree unless granted by FDA in writing.

19. All decisions specified in this Decree shall be vested in FDA's discretion and shall be final. If contested by Defendants, FDA's decisions under this Decree shall be reviewed by this Court pursuant to the arbitrary and capricious standard as set forth in 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(A). Review by the Court of any FDA decision rendered pursuant to this Decree shall be based exclusively on the written record before FDA at the time of the decision. No discovery shall be taken by either party.

20. All notifications, correspondence, and communications to FDA required by the terms of this Decree shall reference the case name and civil action number, be prominently marked "Decree Correspondence" and "Crown Laboratories, Inc." and be addressed to:

District Director
New Orleans District Office
U.S. Food and Drug Administration
404 BNA Drive, Building 200, Suite 500
Nashville, TN 37217-2565

21. Should Defendants fail to comply with any provision of this Decree, then they shall pay to the United States of America the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) in liquidated damages for each day such violation continues, an additional sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) in liquidated damages for each violation of this Decree, and an additional sum equal to three (3) times the retail value of each shipment of an unapproved new drug and/or a misbranded drug in liquidated damages for each such unlawful shipment. Defendants understand and agree that the liquidated damages specified in this paragraph are not punitive in nature and their imposition does not in any way limit the ability of the United States to seek, and the Court to impose, additional criminal or civil penalties based on conduct that may also be the basis for payment of the liquidated damages.

22. Should the United States bring and prevail in a contempt action to enforce the terms of this Decree, Defendants shall, in addition to other remedies, reimburse the United States for its attorneys' fees and overhead, investigational and analytical expenses, expert witness fees, travel expenses incurred by attorneys and witnesses, and court costs or any other fees relating to such contempt proceedings.

23. This Court retains jurisdiction over this action and the parties thereto for the purpose of enforcing and modifying this Decree and for the purpose of granting such additional relief as may be necessary or appropriate.

24. If Defendants have continuously complied with the terms of this Decree, the Act, and all applicable laws and regulations for a period of five years after entry of this Decree, Defendants may petition this Court for relief from this Decree. If, at the time of the petition, in FDA's judgment Defendants have met the foregoing criteria, Plaintiff will not oppose such petition.

SO ORDERED.

The Board has jurisdiction over Respondent Outlet, its registration as a non-resident wholesaler, and the subject matter of this Stipulation and Final Agency Order ("Final Agency Order") pursuant to the Pharmacists, Pharmacy Businesses, and Pharmaceuticals Act at Title 12, Article 280, C.R.S. (2019).

2. Respondent Outlet was originally registered in the State of Colorado on or about October 9, 2013, being issued registration number WHO.7991, and has been so registered at all times relevant to this disciplinary action.

3. Respondent Outlet's address of record with the Board and current location is 349 Lafe Cox Dr, Johnson City, TN 37604.

4. Respondent Outlet admits these findings and hereby waives any further proof in this proceeding before the Board regarding the following facts.

5. Respondent Outlet failed to timely submit an application to the Board detailing a transfer of ownership and fee. In this case, 1, 102 days transpired between October 13, 2017, the date the previous designated representative ceased the position, and October 19, 2020, the date the application and fee were received.

6. On or about February 18, 2021, the Board initiated a complaint against Respondent Outlet because of the delay of 1,102 days in submitting an application detailing a change of ownership and fee.

7. Respondent Outlet's conduct, as set forth above, constitutes violations of the following sections of the Colorado Revised Statutes and Board Regulations:

Colorado Revised Statutes

12-280-126. Unprofessional conduct - grounds for discipline. (1) The board may take disciplinary or other action as authorized in section 12-20-404, after a hearing held in accordance with the provisions of sections 12-20-403 and 12-280-127, upon proof that the licensee or registrant:

(c) Has violated:

(II) The lawful rules of the board; or

Pharmacy Board Rules and Regulations

15.01.14 Change of name, location, or ownership, or designated representative.
b. Any change in ownership shall be reported on an application provided by the Board within thirty (30) days prior to the change, with a final notice of the ownership change reported to the Board the day of such change. The new owner(s) shall pay the appropriate fee. A change of ownership shall be deemed to have occurred:

(1) In the event the owner is a corporation, upon sale or transfer of twenty percent or more of the shares of the corporation to a single individual or entity;

(2) In the event the outlet is owned by a partnership, upon sale or transfer of twenty percent or more of any ownership interest.

3) In the event the outlet is owned by a limited liability company (LLC), upon sale or transfer of twenty percent or more of the membership interests.

(4) Upon incorporation of an existing wholesaler.

8. The Board finds and concludes, and Respondent Outlet agrees, that based upon Respondent Outlet's above-described violations of the Pharmaceuticals and Pharmacists Act and relevant rules and regulations, the following discipline is just and appropriate under the circumstances.

TERMS OF DISCIPLINE

9. Fine with Surcharge. Pursuant to section 12-280-127(5)(a), C.R.S., Respondent Outlet shall pay a fine of One Thousand Dollars and No Cents ($1,000.00). Respondent Outlet understands and acknowledges that, pursuant to section 24-34-108, C.R.S., the Executive Director of the Department of Regulatory Agencies may impose an additional surcharge of 15% of this fine. Respondent Outlet shall therefore pay a total amount of One Thousand, One Hundred, and Fifty Dollars and No Cents ($1,150.00). The total amount shall be payable to the State of Colorado and shall be remitted in one lump sum to be included when Respondent Outlet submits this signed Final Agency Order to the Board.

10. Compliance. Respondent Outlet shall submit all future applications and appropriate fees to the Board detailing changes in its ownership within the required time frame specified by Board rule or statute in effect at the time of such designated ownership change.

11. Other Requirements. Respondent Outlet acknowledges and agrees that, as a condition of this Final Agency Order, Respondent Outlet shall:

12. Advisements and Waivers. Through its undersigned Authorized Representative, Respondent Outlet enters into this Final Agency Order freely and voluntarily, after having the opportunity to consult with legal counsel and/or choosing not to do so. Respondent Outlet acknowledges its understanding that it has the following rights:

    a. to have formal notice of hearing and charges served upon it;

    b. to respond to said formal notice of charges;

    c. to have a formal disciplinary hearing pursuant to sections 12-20-403, 12-280-126, and 12-280-127, C.R.S.; and

    d. to appeal this Final Agency Order.

Respondent Outlet freely waives these rights, and acknowledges that such waiver is made voluntarily in consideration for the Board's limiting the action taken against Respondent Outlet to the sanctions imposed herein.

13. Acknowledgments. The undersigned Authorized Representative of Respondent Outlet has read this Final Agency Order in its entirety and acknowledges, after having the opportunity to consult with legal counsel and/or choosing not to do so, that Respondent Outlet understands the legal consequences and agrees that none of the terms or conditions herein is unconscionable. Respondent Outlet is not relying on any statements, promises or representations from the Board other than as may be contained in this Final Agency Order. Respondent Outlet further acknowledges that it is not entering into this Final Agency Order under any duress.

14. Violations. Time is of the essence in this Final Agency Order. It is the responsibility of Respondent Outlet to take all appropriate steps to comply fully with this Final Agency Order. Respondent Outlet acknowledges and agrees that any violation of this Final Agency Order shall constitute a willful violation of a lawful Board order, may be sanctioned as provided under section 12-280-127(4), C.R.S., and may be sufficient grounds for additional discipline, including but not limited to revocation of Respondent Outlet's registration. The pendency of any suspension or disciplinary action arising out of an alleged violation of this Final Agency Order shall not affect the obligation of Respondent Outlet to comply with all terms and conditions of this Final Agency Order.

15. Integration and Severability. Upon execution by all parties, this Final Agency Order shall represent the entire and final agreement of and between the parties. In the event any provision of this Final Agency Order is deemed invalid or unenforceable by a court of law, it shall be severed and the remaining provisions of this Final Agency Order shall be given full force and effect.

16. Public Record. Upon execution by all parties, this Final Agency Order shall be a public record, maintained in the custody of the Board.

17. Effective Date. This Final Agency Order shall become effective upon signature by a Board representative.

PARTIES

This document is a Consent Agreement regarding the pending application of Crown Laboratories, Inc. for issuance of a prescription drug manufacturer license. The parties to this Consent Agreement are: Crown Laboratories, Inc. ("Crown"), the Maine Board of Pharmacy ("the Board"), and the Office of the Maine Attorney General ("the Attorney General"). This Consent Agreement is entered into pursuant to 10 M.R.S. § 8003(5-A).

STATEMENT OF FACTS

1. From March 10, 2015, to December 31, 2019, Crown was licensed in Maine as a prescription drug manufacturer with a registered location of 349 Lafe Cox Drive, Johnson City, Tennessee (license number MF30001403).

2. On December 12, 2017, Crown had a change of ownership.

3. Pursuant to Board Rules Chapter 12 § 5, upon change of ownership of a manufacturer, the manufacturer must file a new application with the Board no less than 7 days prior to the change.

4. Following its change of ownership of the pharmaceutical manufacturing operations, Crown did not file an application with the Board, yet continued to ship prescription drugs to Maine customers.

5. Pursuant to 32 M.R.S. § 13758(2), all manufacturers whose products are distributed in the State in any manner must be licensed by the Board.

6. On March 17, 2020, Crown first submitted an application to the Board to obtain a Maine license to operate as a pharmaceutical manufacturer under the new ownership (pending license number MF30001816).

7. At its meeting on January 7, 2021, the Board reviewed the above information and voted to preliminarily deny Crown's application to obtain a Maine license to operate as a prescription drug manufacturer. In lieu of the denial, the Board also voted to offer Crown this Consent Agreement. Unless Crown either requests, in writing, a hearing regarding the appeal of the preliminary denial within thirty (30) days of receipt of the Notice of Preliminary Denial, or accepts this Consent Agreement by signing and dating it and returning it to Maine Board of Pharmacy, Compliance Division, Office of Professional and Occupational Regulation, 35 State House Station, Augusta, Maine 04333-0035, by July 31, 2021, the preliminary denial of Crown's application for licensure as a prescription drug manufacturer will become final.

COVENANTS

8. Crown admits to the facts above and admits that such conduct constitutes grounds for denial of or refusal to renew its license and for the imposition of discipline as follows:

a. Pursuant to 10 M.R.S. § 8003(5-A)(A)(4) for violating a governing law of the Board, specifically 32 M.R.S. § 13758(2) by repeatedly making shipments of pharmaceutical drugs into Maine without being properly licensed as a prescription drug manufacturer.

9. As discipline for the violation admitted to in paragraph 8 above, Crown agrees to accept the following DISCIPLINARY ACTION:

a) A REPRIMAND; and

b) A CIVIL PENALTY in the amount of one thousand nine hundred dollars ($1,900.00), which consists $1,500 for engaging in unlicensed practice and $100.00 per shipment of drugs made while not validly licensed, payment of which shall be made payable to the "Treasurer, State of Maine" and delivered to Maine Board of Pharmacy, Compliance Division, Office of Professional and Occupational Regulation, 35 State House Station, Augusta, Maine 04333-0035, and must be submitted with the signed Consent Agreement;

10. Crown agrees to not ship prescription drugs to Maine unless and until it is licensed by the Board as a prescription drug manufacturer.

11. Violation of any of the terms or conditions of this Consent Agreement by Crown shall constitute grounds for discipline, including but not limited to modification, suspension, or revocation of licensure or the denial of licensure or re-licensure.

12. The Board and Crown agree that no further agency action will be initiated against its license by the Board based upon the specific violations admitted to herein, except or unless Crown fails to comply with the terms and conditions of this Consent Agreement. The Board may however consider the conduct described above as evidence of a pattern of misconduct if other allegations are brought against Crown, and this Consent Agreement will be admitted into evidence in any future adjudicatory hearing involving Crown. The Board may also consider the fact that discipline was imposed by this Consent Agreement in determining appropriate discipline in any further complaints against Crown.

13. This Consent Agreement is not appealable and is effective until modified or rescinded by the parties hereto.

14. The Board and the Attorney General may communicate and cooperate regarding any matter related to this Consent Agreement.

15. Upon receipt of the signed Consent Agreement and the civil penalty payment, the Board will issue Crown's license contingent upon it meeting all other eligibility criteria.

16. This Consent Agreement is a public record within the meaning of 1 M.R.S. § 402 and will be available for inspection and copying by the public pursuant to 1 M.R.S. § 408-A.

17. Nothing in this Consent Agreement shall be construed to affect any right or interest of any person not a party hereto.

18. Crown acknowledges by its duly authorized representative's signature hereto that it has had an opportunity to consult with an attorney before executing this Consent Agreement, that it executes this Consent Agreement voluntarily, and that it agrees to abide by all terms and conditions set forth herein.

This Consent Agreement is entered into pursuant to 10 M.R.S. § 8003(5-A).

STATEMENT OF FACTS

1. Since March 10, 2015, Crown has been licensed in Maine as a prescription drug manufacturer with a registered location of 349 Lafe Cox Drive, Johnson City, Tennessee, (license number MF30001403).

2. On December 12, 2017, Crown had a change of ownership.

3. Pursuant to Board Rules Chapter 12 § 5, upon change of ownership of a manufacturer, the manufacturer must file a new application with the Board no less than 7 days prior to the change.

5. On November 29, 2018, the Board received Crown's first renewal application since the change of ownership.

6. On that application, Crown responded "No" to the following question: "Has there been a change of ownership of this license since your last renewal?"

11. On November 6, 2019, the Board received Crown's second renewal application since the change of ownership.

12. On that application, Crown responded "No" to the following question: "Has there been a change of ownership of this license since your last renewal?"

13. Pursuant to 10 M.R.S. § 8003(5-A)(A)(11) and 10 M.R.S. § 8003-G(2)(C), the Board may deny, refuse to renew, suspend, or revoke a license and impose other discipline for failing to report a license disciplinary action to the Board within 10 days of that action.

14. Pursuant to 10 M.R.S. § 8003(5-A)(A)(1), the Board may deny, refuse to renew, suspend, or revoke a license and impose other discipline for making a misrepresentation in obtaining a license.

15. At its meeting on January 7, 2021, the Board reviewed the above information and voted to preliminarily deny Crown's application for renewal of its license to be a prescription drug manufacturer. In lieu of the denial, the Board also voted to offer Crown this Consent Agreement. Unless Crown either requests, in writing, a hearing regarding the appeal of the preliminary denial within thirty (30) days of receipt of the Notice of Preliminary Denial, or accepts this Consent Agreement by signing and dating it and returning it to Maine Board of Pharmacy, Compliance Division, Office of Professional and Occupational Regulation, 35 State House Station, Augusta, Maine 04333-0035, by March 12, 2021, the preliminary denial of Crown's application for licensure as a prescription drug manufacturer will become final.

COVENANTS

16. Crown admits to the facts above and admits that such conduct constitutes grounds for denial of or refusal to renew its license and for the imposition of discipline as follows:

a. Pursuant to 10 M.R.S. §§ 8003(5-A)(A)(11), and 10 M.R.S. § 8003-G(2)(C) for failing to report disciplinary action taken against a license in another jurisdiction within 10 days after the action was taken;

c. Pursuant to 10 M.R.S. § 8003(5-A)(A)(1), for making a misrepresentation to the Board on its November 6, 2019 application for renewal of licensure.

New Hampshire Administrative Disciplinary Action

At its April 15, 2020 Meeting, the New Hampshire Board of Pharmacy ("Board") reviewed the change of ownership application submitted by Crown Laboratories, Inc. on March 31, 2020. While reviewing the application, the Board noted that the application included documentation of disciplinary action in Alabama and Arizona from 2019 and 2020. This discipline had not been previously reported to the New Hampshire Board of Pharmacy. Per RSA 318:51-a, V and Ph I 002.12, the Board must be notified within 30-days of any changes, including disciplinary action in other states. Accordingly, the Board sees fit to assess an administrative fine of $150.00. This fine shall be a non-disciplinary, administrative fine.

SPECIAL NOTE REGARDING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

The following discussion and analysis should be read in conjunction with our audited consolidated financial statements and the related notes that appear elsewhere in this Annual Report on Form 10-K. This Annual Report on Form 10-K contains "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, or the Exchange Act, particularly in Part I, Item 1: "Business," Part I, Item 1A: "Risk Factors" and Part 2, Item 7: "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations." These statements are often identified by the use of words such as "may," "will," "expect," "believe," "anticipate," "intend," "could," "should," "estimate," "plan" or "continue," and similar expressions or variations. All statements other than statements of historical fact could be deemed forward-looking, including, but not limited to: any statements regarding the timing of any regulatory process or ultimate approvals and determining a path forward for DCCR (Diazoxide Choline) Extended-Release tablets for the treatment of Prader-Willi syndrome; any projections of financial information; any statements about historical results that may suggest trends for our business; any statements of the plans, strategies, and objectives of management for future operations; any statements of expectation or belief regarding future events, technology developments, our products, product sales, expenses, liquidity, cash flow, market growth rates or enforceability of our intellectual property rights and related litigation expenses; and any statements of assumptions underlying any of the foregoing. Such forward-looking statements are subject to risks, uncertainties and other factors that could cause actual results and the timing of certain events to differ materially from future results expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements. Accordingly, we caution you not to place undue reliance on these statements. Particular uncertainties that could affect future results include: our ability to achieve or maintain profitability; our ability to obtain substantial additional capital that may be necessary to maintain or expand our business; our ability to maintain internal control over financial reporting; our dependence on, and need to attract and retain, key management and other personnel; our ability to obtain, protect and enforce our intellectual property rights; potential advantages that our competitors and potential competitors may have in securing funding or developing products; business interruptions such as earthquakes and other natural disasters; our ability to comply with laws and regulations; potential product liability claims; and our ability to use our net operating loss carryforwards to offset future taxable income. For a discussion of some of the factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from our forward-looking statements, see the discussion on risk factors that appear in Part I, Item 1A: "Risk Factors" of this Annual Report on Form 10-K and other risks and uncertainties detailed in this and our other reports and filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, or SEC. The forward-looking statements in this Annual Report on Form 10-K represent our views as of the date of this Annual Report on Form 10-K. We anticipate that subsequent events and developments will cause our views to change. However, while we may elect to update these forward-looking statements at some point in the future, we have no current intention of doing so except to the extent required by applicable law. PART I

ITEM 1. BUSINESS

Company Overview

We are focused on the development and commercialization of novel therapeutics for the treatment of rare diseases. Our lead candidate, DCCR (Diazoxide Choline) Extended-Release tablets, is a potent ATP-sensitive potassium (K_{ATP}) channel activator. The K_{ATP} channel plays a central role in the regulation of a number of physiological processes which may otherwise be dysregulated, contributing to the pathophysiology of several diseases. In the context of the underlying genetic or structural defects in many forms of hyperphagic obesity, including Prader-Willi syndrome (PWS), these pathophysiological processes may cumulatively contribute to increases in appetite and aggressive food seeking, lack of satiety, accumulation of excess body fat and the establishment and perpetuation of the obese state.

DCCR's unique mode of action with targets in the brain, pancreas and fat tissue has the potential to broadly impact complex diseases like PWS to reduce appetite, reduce food seeking, improve satiety, improve insulin and leptin resistance and reduce body fat. It appears that many of the problematic behaviors in conditions like PWS may have hyperphagic drive as a root cause and may therefore be improved by addressing hyperphagia. We have a Fast-Track designation for DCCR in PWS and orphan designation for the drug in the United States (U.S.) and European Union (E.U.).

DCCR has been evaluated in a Phase 3 study (C601 or DESTINY PWS), a 13-week randomized, double-blind placebo-controlled study, which completed enrollment in January 2020, with 127 randomized participants at 29 sites in the U.S. and United Kingdom (U.K.). Participants who completed DESTINY PWS and sought continued treatment with DCCR were eligible to receive DCCR in a long-term open-label safety extension study (C602). Top line results from DESTINY PWS were announced in June 2020. Although the trial did not meet its primary endpoint of change from baseline in hyperphagia, significant improvements were observed in two of three key secondary endpoints.

In February 2021, we announced analysis limited to data collected before the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic. The analysis of the data through March 1, 2020 showed statistical significance in the primary, all key secondary and several other efficacy endpoints. In September 2021, we announced interim one-year data from C602 showing statistically significant reduction in hyperphagia and all other PWS behavioral parameters and statistically significant improvements compared to natural history of PWS from the PATH for PWS Study (PATH) over a one-year treatment period. The PATH study is an ongoing study sponsored by the Foundation for Prader-Willi Research (FPWR) to advance the understanding of the natural history in individuals with PWS.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) provided official meeting minutes from a Type C meeting in January 2022 that recommended additional controlled data be included in a New Drug Approval (NDA) submission.

In March 2022, we submitted an amended protocol that incorporated a randomized withdrawal (RW) period to Study C602 to obtain additional controlled data requested by the FDA and the FDA has acknowledged that data from the study has the potential to support an NDA submission for DCCR. The RW period of Study C602 was a multi-center, randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled study of DCCR in 77 patients with PWS at 17 sites in the U.S. and 5 sites in the U.K. This RW period consisted only of patients previously enrolled in Study C602 and did not enroll any new patients. We announced the initiation of the RW period for Study C602 in October 2022, and completed enrollment in May 2023.

On September 26, 2023, we announced positive statistically significant top-line results from the RW period of Study C602. Subsequently, we received preliminary comments from the FDA for our pre-NDA meeting, and as we decided not to proceed with the meeting, they are considered the official record of the meeting. The FDA stated that the potential for data from the DCCR clinical program to provide substantial evidence of effectiveness will be a matter of review following the submission of an NDA. We plan to submit our NDA for DCCR to the FDA in mid-2024.

Our current focus is the development of DCCR for PWS. However, other syndromes that may be similarly addressed include SH2B1 deficient obesity, Fragile X Prader-Willi Phenotype, KSR2 deficient obesity and other hyperphagic conditions. Another type of disease where DCCR may be efficacious is where hypoglycemia due to excess insulin secretion is a significant problem. Examples include hyperinsulinemic hypoglycemia and certain Glycogen Storage Diseases. We have orphan drug designation for the treatment of Glycogen Storage Disease Type 1a in the U.S.

Diazoxide Choline Extended-Release Tablets

DCCR tablets consist of the active ingredient diazoxide choline, a choline salt of diazoxide, which is a benzothiadiazine. Once solubilized from the formulation, diazoxide choline is rapidly converted to diazoxide prior to absorption. Diazoxide acts by stimulating ion flux through K_{ATP} channels and appears to act on signs and symptoms of PWS in a variety of ways. Activating the K_{ATP} channel in NPY/AgRP neurons in the hypothalamus may reduce secretion of neuropeptide Y (NPY), Agouti-related peptile (AgRP) and likely gamma-amino butyric acid (GABA) contributing to a reduction in hyperphagia. Activating the K_{ATP} channel in the dorsal motor nucleus of vagus may potentiate the effects of leptin, insulin and -melanocortin stimulating hormone to reduce hyperinsulinemia and impact appetite and satiety. Activating the K_{ATP} in pancreatic ß-cells can reduce the secretion of insulin, and further reduce the accumulation of excess body fat and the progression to insulin resistance. Activating the K_{ATP} channel in adipocytes has the potential to decrease de-novo triglyceride synthesis and increase ß-oxidation of fat, reducing fat mass.

In the U.S., diazoxide was first approved in 1973 as an intravenous formulation for the emergency treatment of malignant hypertension. In 1976, immediate-release oral formulations including Proglycem® Oral Suspension and Capsules, or Proglycem, were approved, and there has been nearly 40 years of use of the 2-3 times a day, orally-administered drug product in the approved ultra-rare indications related to hyperinsulinism. Both the capsule and IV formulations have been withdrawn from the U.S. market for reasons other than safety. There is extensive data on short term and chronic use of Proglycem in children with congenital hyperinsulinism, or CHI, and in adults with insulinoma. Insulinoma patients tend to be older, with 50% of them over 70 years old. Published data have reported that the average duration of use of Proglycem in certain CHI and insulinoma patients is 5 years and 7 years, respectively.

DCCR tablets were formulated with the goals of improving the safety and bioavailability of orally-administered diazoxide and reducing the frequency of dosing required by current diazoxide formulations. Diazoxide choline is formulated into an extended-release tablet that provides lower peak plasma concentration compared to diazoxide oral suspension and allows for the gradual release of diazoxide choline from DCCR, making it suitable for once-a-day dosing. The gradual release and absorption of diazoxide achieved using DCCR results in consistent intraday circulating drug levels potentially reducing the adverse events often associated with transiently high circulating drug levels and providing efficacy at lower diazoxide-equivalent doses.

Prader-Willi Syndrome (PWS)

PWS is a rare, complex neurobehavioral/metabolic disorder caused by the absence of normally active paternally expressed genes from the chromosome 15q11-q13 region. PWS is an imprinted condition with 60-65% of the cases due to a de novo deletion in the paternally inherited chromosome 15 11-q13 region, 30-35% from maternal uniparental disomy 15, or UPD, where the affected individual inherited 2 copies of the chromosome from their mother and no copy from their father, and the remaining 2-5% from either microdeletions or epimutations of the imprinting center (i.e., imprinting defects; IDs). The Committee on Genetics of the American Academy of Pediatrics states PWS affects both genders equally and occurs in people from all geographic regions; its estimated incidence is 1 in 15,000 live births. The mortality rate among PWS patients is 3% a year across all ages and 7% in those over 30 years of age. The mean age of death reported from a 40-year mortality study in the U.S. was 29.5 ± 15 years (range: 2 months—67 years).

In addition to hyperphagia, typical behavioral disturbances associated with PWS include skin picking, difficulty with change in routine, obsessive and compulsive behaviors, anxiety and mood fluctuations. The majority of older adolescent and adult PWS patients display some degree of aggressive or threatening behaviors including being verbally aggressive, seeking to intimidate others, being physically aggressive including attacking others, destroying property, throwing temper tantrums and directing rage or anger at others.

PWS is typically thought of as a genetic obesity. However, many PWS patients today may not be obese because of increasing awareness among families and caregivers leading to significant control of access to food and its intake. However, patients remain hyperphagic and will typically have a higher body fat and lower lean body mass content compared to similarly obese individuals. They are prone to cardiometabolic issues such as abnormal lipid profiles, diabetes and hypertension associated with obesity once it is established. Other complications in PWS patients include greater risk for autistic symptomatology, psychosis, sleep disorders, distress, food stealing, withdrawal, sulking, nail-biting, hoarding and overeating, and more pronounced attention-deficit hyperactivity disorder symptoms, insistence on sameness, and their association with maladaptive conduct problems. Cognitively, most individuals with PWS function in the mild intellectual disability range with a mean IQ in the 60s to low 70s. The combination of food-related preoccupations and numerous maladaptive behaviors make it difficult for individuals with PWS to perform to their IQ potential. Some older adolescents and many adults reach a stage at which they can no longer be effectively managed in the home and therefore transition to institutional care.

Unmet Medical Needs in PWS

The target indication for DCCR is the treatment of PWS. Currently, the only approved treatment related to PWS is growth hormone which addresses the short stature associated with PWS but has no effect on hyperphagia. A global patient survey conducted by the Foundation for Prader-Willi Research (n=779), found that 96.5% of respondents rated reducing hunger and 91.2% rated improving behavior around food as a very important or the most important symptom to be relieved by a new treatment - https://www.fpwr.org/pws-patient-voices. Physical function and body composition symptoms for which a high percentage of respondents indicated were very important or most important included: 92.9% indicated improving metabolic health (reduces fat / increases muscle) and 81.3% indicated the related symptom of improving activity and stamina. The behavioral and cognitive symptoms rated by respondents as very or most important were: 85.2% indicated reduction of obsessive/compulsive behavior, 84.6% indicated improvements to intellect/development, and 83.2% indicated reduction of temper outburst severity and frequency.

Therefore, there is a clear unmet need in the treatment of PWS to reduce hyperphagia and improve behaviors around food, and to reduce other behavioral and cognitive impacts of this complex disease. In addition, improving metabolic health is also an important unmet need.

Clinical Trials of DCCR for PWS

A Phase 2 clinical trial was conducted to evaluate the safety and preliminary efficacy of DCCR in the treatment of PWS subjects. This study, PC025, was a single-center, randomized withdrawal study and enrolled 13 overweight and obese subjects with genetically-confirmed PWS who were between the ages of 11 and 21. The first phase of the study was open-label during which subjects were initiated on a DCCR dose that was escalated every 14 days at the discretion of the investigator. Any subject who showed any increase in resting energy expenditure and/or a reduction in hyperphagia from baseline at certain study visits would be designated a responder, whereas all others would be designated non-responders. This 10-week open-label treatment phase was followed by randomized double-blind, placebo-controlled, withdrawal phase.

Responders were randomized in a 1:1 ratio either to continue on active treatment at the dose they were treated with, or to the placebo equivalent of that dose for an additional 4 weeks. Of the 13 subjects who enrolled, 11 completed the open-label phase and all were designated as responders; the remaining two subjects had discontinued prematurely.

Key efficacy results included a statistically significant reduction in hyperphagia from baseline to the end of the open-label treatment phase. In addition, greater improvement in hyperphagia from baseline was observed in those subjects with moderate to severe hyperphagia who received higher DCCR doses. There was a significant improvement in the number of subjects reporting one or more aggressive and destructive behaviors. During the open-label treatment phase, a mean decrease in body fat mass and increases in lean body mass and lean body mass / fat mass ratio were seen. These changes were associated with a statistically significant reduction in waist circumference, consistent with the loss of visceral fat. Statistically significant reductions from baseline in LDL cholesterol and non-HDL cholesterol were observed.

As described above in the Company Overview, a Phase 3 clinical trial, DESTINY PWS, was subsequently conducted to evaluate the efficacy and safety of DCCR in patients with genetically-confirmed PWS. Top-line results were reported in June 2020. Although the trial did not meet its primary endpoint of change from baseline in hyperphagia, significant improvements were observed in two of three key secondary endpoints. Subjects who complete the DESTINY PWS study were allowed to enroll in a long-term, safety extension study (C602). In September 2021, we announced top-line results from the analysis of one-year data from C602 showing statistically significant reduction in hyperphagia and all other PWS behavioral parameters and statistically significant improvements compared to the natural history of PWS from the PATH for PWS Study (PATH) over a one-year treatment period. PATH is an ongoing study sponsored by the Foundation for Prader Willi Research (FPWR) evaluating the natural history of subjects with PWS in more than 700 families. In October 2022 we announced the initiation of the RW period of Study C602, which was a multi-center, randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled study of DCCR in 77 patients with PWS at 17 sites in the U.S. and 5 sites in the U.K. This RW period consisted only of patients previously enrolled in Study C602 and did not enroll any new patients. In May 2023, we completed enrollment and we announced positive statistically significant top-line results from the RW period of Study C602 in September 2023.

Safety of DCCR in the Treatment of PWS

Across the combined C601 (DESTINY-PWS), and C602 long-term open-label extension (OLE) studies (which included DCCR treatment durations of up to ~4.5 years), 98.4% of participants reported treatment emergent adverse events (TEAEs). Most were grade 1 or 2 (75.2%), with no grade 4 or higher events. The most common TEAEs were hypertrichosis (68.8%), peripheral edema (34.4%), hirsutism (27.2%) and hyperglycemia (27.2%).

The majority of participants with hypertrichosis, hirsutism, or hyperglycemia experienced resolution or improvement of their symptoms with continued DCCR dosing through the end of the study. Infrequently, DCCR dose adjustments or glucose-lowering agents (for hyperglycemia) and diuretics (for peripheral edema) were prescribed to manage participants experiencing these TEAEs.

One participant with a known history of psychiatric illness reported a suspected unexpected serious adverse reaction (SUSAR) of aggression in the ongoing C614 open label extension study.

Overall, the safety profile of DCCR in the Phase 3 PWS clinical development program was generally consistent with the known safety profile of diazoxide and prior experience with DCCR.

Regulatory Status of DCCR for the Treatment of PWS

Diazoxide choline is being developed in the U.S. under a current Investigational New Drug Application (IND) and is designated as an Orphan Drug for the treatment of PWS in the U.S. and Europe and granted Fast Track designation in the U.S. If certain criteria are met, DCCR may be eligible for "Accelerated Approval" and "Priority Review" and also "Rolling Review", which would allow us to submit to the FDA sections of our NDA as they are finished instead of waiting for all sections to be completed before submitting the marketing application. The current status of our Phase 3 clinical trial is described above in the Company Overview.

Market opportunity

An estimated 300,000 to 400,000 individuals worldwide have PWS with a birth incidence ranging from 1:15,000 to 1:25,000. In addition, according to an abstract published in the Journal of Endocrine Society, a 2020 review of medical claims provided by IQVIA Health Plan and CMS Medicare fee-for-service claim data, demonstrated a U.S. diagnosed PWS prevalence of approximately 9,000 patients in the United States in 2018. The numbers of identified PWS patients is growing at a rate that is higher than the rate of general population because of improved rates of diagnosis. DCCR may be the first effective treatment for hyperphagia in PWS patients to reach the market both in the U.S. and Europe and may therefore be likely to be used in a large proportion of patients.

Sales and Marketing

Newly diagnosed PWS patients are typically treated by a multi-disciplinary team led by a pediatric endocrinologist. Many patients receive care at larger clinics devoted to PWS in university-associated hospitals or at children's hospitals. This concentration of care may allow us to market DCCR without a partner by assembling a small, dedicated salesforce to target the limited number of major PWS treatment centers in the U.S. We believe similar dynamics exist in Europe. In contrast, we will likely need to identify a marketing partner for DCCR in Japan, and the rest of the world. The final decision on sales and marketing strategy will be made at a later date.

Pricing

We have not conducted a formal pricing analysis of DCCR in PWS. We anticipate that pricing at launch may be influenced by the product label negotiated with the FDA, pharmacoeconomic data developed to support pricing and the potential for greater sales under negotiated government contracts.

Competition

Currently, the only approved products for PWS are Genotropin® (somatropin), and Omnitrope® (somatropin) which are approved only for growth failure due to PWS. There are no approved products to address PWS-associated hyperphagia and behaviors, or for any other abnormalities associated with the disease. However, to our knowledge, there are a number of therapeutic products at various stages of clinical development for the treatment of PWS, including for hyperphagia, by Acadia Pharmaceuticals, Aardvark Therapeutics, Gedeon Richter, and Consynance.

Manufacturing

Pharmaceuticals

Our manufacturing strategy is to contract with third parties to manufacture our clinical and commercial API and drug product supplies.

The formulation and processes used to manufacture our products are proprietary, being covered by multiple issued U.S. patents and counterparts in other regions of the world, and we have agreements with various third-party manufacturers that are intended to restrict these manufacturers from using or revealing any unpublished proprietary information.

Our third-party manufacturers and corporate partners are independent entities who are subject to their own operational and financial risks over which we have no control. If we or any of these third-party manufacturers fail to perform as required, this could cause delays in our clinical trials and regulatory applications and submission.

Regulation of Pharmaceutical Manufacturing Processes

The manufacturing process for pharmaceutical products is highly regulated and regulators may shut down manufacturing facilities that they believe do not comply with regulations, legislations, and/or guidelines. We and our third-party manufacturers are subject to current Good Manufacturing Practices, which are extensive regulations governing manufacturing processes, stability testing, record keeping, and quality standards as defined by the FDA and the EMA. Similar regulations and requirements are in effect in other countries.

DCCR Patent Portfolio

Our patent portfolio consists of issued U.S. patents and pending U.S. applications. The 20-year expiration dates of our issued U.S. patents are between 2025 to 2035. We also have issued patents in Europe, Canada, Japan, China, India, Israel, Hong Kong, Australia, Malaysia, Mexico, New Zealand, Singapore, Indonesia, Korea, and Eurasia. We are prosecuting numerous patent applications in major pharmaceutical markets around the world. The issued patents and pending patent applications include protection of compositions, methods of manufacturing, pharmaceutical formulations, and methods of treating aspects of PWS and Smith-Magenis syndrome (SMS).

Government Regulation - Pharmaceuticals

Our operations and activities are subject to extensive regulation by government authorities in the U.S. and in other countries in which we elect to develop and/or commercialize our products. Our developmental drug products are subject to rigorous regulation. Federal and state statutes and regulations govern the testing, manufacture, safety, efficacy, labeling, storage, record keeping, approval, advertising and promotion of our products. As a result of these regulations, product development and product approval processes are very expensive and time consuming.

A country's regulatory agency, such as the FDA in the U.S., or a region's agency, such as the EMA for the E.U., must approve a drug before it can be sold in the respective country or countries. The general process for drug approval in the U.S. is summarized below. Many other countries, including countries in the E.U., U.K. and Japan, have very similar regulatory approval processes.

Nonclinical Testing

Before a drug candidate can be tested in humans, it must be studied in laboratory experiments and in animals to generate data to support the drug candidate's potential benefits and/or safety. Additional nonclinical testing may be required during the clinical development process such as reproductive toxicology and juvenile toxicology studies. Carcinogenicity studies in two species are generally required for products intended for long-term use.

Investigational New Drug Exemption Application (IND)

The results of initial nonclinical tests, together with manufacturing information, analytical data and a proposed clinical trial protocol and other information, are submitted as part of an IND to the FDA. If the FDA does not identify significant issues during the initial 30-day IND review, the drug candidate can then be studied in human clinical trials to determine if the drug candidate is safe and effective. Each clinical trial protocol and/or amendment, new nonclinical data, and/or new or revised manufacturing information must be submitted to the IND, and the FDA has 30 days to complete its review of each submission.

Clinical Trials

These clinical trials involve three separate phases that often overlap, can take many years and are very expensive. These three phases, which are subject to considerable regulation, are as follows:

Phase 1 Studies. During Phase 1 studies, researchers test a new drug in healthy volunteers. In most cases, 20 to 80 healthy volunteers participate in Phase 1. Phase 1 studies are closely monitored and gather information about how a drug interacts with the human body. Researchers adjust dosing schemes based on animal data to find out how much of a drug the body can tolerate and what its acute side effects are. As a Phase 1 trial continues, researchers answer research questions related to how it works in the body, the side effects associated with increased dosage, and early information about how effective it is to determine how best to administer the drug to limit risks and maximize possible benefits. This is important to the design of Phase 2 studies.

Phase 2 Studies. In Phase 2 studies, researchers administer the drug to a group of people with the disease or condition for which the drug is being developed. Typically involving up to a few hundred patients, these studies are not large enough to show whether the drug will be beneficial. The use of new study designs, such as adaptive designs, can decrease the number of patients required. Instead, Phase 2 studies provide researchers with additional safety data. Researchers use these data to refine research questions, develop research methods, identify target doses, and design new Phase 3 research protocols.

Phase 3 Studies. Researchers design Phase 3 studies to demonstrate whether or not a product offers a treatment benefit to a specific population. Sometimes known as pivotal studies, these studies generally involve a larger number of participants than do Phase 2 studies. Phase 3 studies provide most of the safety data. In Phase 3 studies, it is possible that less common side effects might have gone undetected. Because these studies are larger and longer in duration, the results are more likely to show long-term or rare side effects.

For each clinical trial, an institutional review board (IRB) or independent ethics committee (IEC), covering each site proposing to conduct a clinical trial must review and approve the plan for any clinical trial and written informed consent or assent information for subjects before the trial commences at that site and it must monitor the study until completed. The FDA, other heath authority, the IRB/IEC, or the sponsor may suspend a clinical trial at any time on various grounds, including a finding that the subjects or patients are being exposed to an unacceptable health risk or for failure to comply with the IRB/IEC's requirements, or may impose other conditions.

Clinical trials involve the administration of an investigational drug to human subjects under the supervision of qualified investigators in accordance with good clinical practices (GCP) requirements, which include the requirement that all research subjects provide their informed consent in writing for their participation in any clinical trial. Sponsors of clinical trials generally must register and report, at the NIH-maintained website ClinicalTrials.gov, key parameters of certain clinical trials.

At any point in this process, the development of a drug candidate can be stopped for a number of reasons including safety concerns and lack of treatment benefit. We cannot be certain that any clinical trials that we are currently conducting or any that we conduct in the future will be completed successfully or within any specified time period. We may choose, or FDA may require us, to delay or suspend our clinical trials at any time if it appears that the patients are being exposed to an unacceptable health risk or if the drug candidate does not appear to have sufficient treatment benefit.

FDA Approval Process

When we believe that the data from our clinical trials show an adequate level of safety and efficacy, we would intend to submit an application to market the drug for a particular use, an NDA or BLA with the FDA. The FDA may hold a public hearing where an independent advisory committee of expert advisors asks additional questions and makes recommendations regarding the drug candidate. This committee makes recommendations to the FDA that are not binding but are generally followed by the FDA. If the FDA agrees that the compound has met the required level of safety and efficacy for a particular use, it will allow the drug product to be marketed in the U.S. and sold for that use. It is not unusual, however, for the FDA to reject an application because it believes that the risks of the drug candidate outweigh the purported benefit or because it does not believe that the data submitted are reliable or conclusive. The FDA may also issue a Complete Response Letter (CRL), to indicate that the review cycle for an application is complete and that the application is not ready for approval. CRLs generally outline the deficiencies in the submission and may require substantial additional testing or information in order for the FDA to reconsider the application. Even with submission of this additional information, the FDA ultimately may decide that the application does not satisfy the regulatory criteria for approval. If and when the deficiencies have been addressed to the FDA's satisfaction, the FDA will typically issue an approval letter. An approval letter authorizes commercial marketing of the drug with specific prescribing information for specific indications.

The FDA may also require Phase 4 non-registrational studies to explore scientific questions to further characterize safety and efficacy during commercial use of our drug. The FDA may also require us to provide additional data or information, improve our manufacturing processes, procedures or facilities or may require extensive surveillance to monitor the safety or benefits of our product candidates if it determines that our filing does not contain adequate evidence of the safety and benefits of the drug. In addition, even if the FDA approves a drug, it could limit the uses of the drug. The FDA can withdraw approvals if it does not believe that we are complying with regulatory standards or if problems are uncovered or occur after approval.

In addition to obtaining FDA approval for our drug, the manufacturing facilities of the companies who manufacture our drugs for us must also be approved. These facilities are subject to periodic inspections by the FDA. The FDA must also approve foreign establishments that manufacture products to be sold in the U.S. and these facilities are subject to periodic regulatory inspection.

Once issued, the FDA may withdraw product approval if ongoing regulatory requirements are not met or if safety problems are identified after the product reaches the market. In addition, the FDA may require post-approval testing, including Phase 4 studies, and surveillance programs to monitor the effect of approved products which have been commercialized, and the FDA has the authority to prevent or limit further marketing of a product based on the results of these post-marketing programs. Drugs may be marketed only for the approved indications and in accordance with the provisions of the approved label, and, even if the FDA approves a product, it may limit the approved indications for use for the product or impose other conditions, including labeling or distribution restrictions or other risk-management mechanisms. Further, if there are any modifications to the drug, including changes in indications, labeling, or manufacturing processes or facilities, the sponsor may be required to submit and obtain FDA approval of a new or supplemental NDA, which may require the development of additional data or conduct of additional pre-clinical studies and clinical trials.

Drugs that treat serious or life-threatening diseases and conditions that are not adequately addressed by existing drugs, and for which the development program is designed to address the unmet medical need, may be designated as fast track and/or breakthrough candidates by the FDA and may be eligible for accelerated and priority review.

Drugs that are developed for rare diseases (i.e., in the U.S., the disease or condition has a prevalence of less than 200,000 persons; in the E.U., the prevalence of the condition must be not more than 5 in 10,000) can be designated as "Orphan Drugs". In the U.S., orphan-designated drugs are granted up to 7-year market exclusivity. In response to the court decision in Catalyst Pharms., Inc. v. Becerra, 14 F.4th 1299 (11th Cir. 2021), in January 2023, the FDA published a notice in the Federal Register to clarify that while the agency complies with the court's order in Catalyst, the FDA intends to continue to apply its longstanding interpretation of the regulations to matters outside of the scope of the Catalyst order – that is, the agency will continue tying the scope of orphan-drug exclusivity to the uses or indications for which a drug is approved, which permits other sponsors to obtain approval of a drug for new uses or indications within the same orphan designated disease or condition that have not yet been approved. It is unclear how future litigation, legislation, agency decisions and administrative actions will impact the scope of the orphan drug exclusivity. In the E.U., products granted orphan designation are subject to reduced fees for protocol assistance, marketing authorization applications, inspections before authorization, applications for changes to marketing authorizations, and annual fees, access to the centralized authorization procedure, and 10 years of market exclusivity.

Ongoing Regulation

Once a pharmaceutical product is approved, a product will be subject to pervasive and continuing regulation by the FDA, EMA, and other health authorities, including, among other things, recordkeeping, periodic reporting, product sampling and distribution, advertising and promotion and reporting of adverse experiences with the product.

In addition, drug manufacturers and other entities involved in the manufacture and distribution of approved drugs are subject to periodic unannounced inspections by the FDA and state agencies for compliance with cGMP requirements. Changes to the manufacturing process are strictly regulated and generally require prior FDA approval before being implemented. FDA regulations also require investigation and correction of any deviations from cGMP or QSR and impose reporting and documentation requirements upon us and any third-party manufacturers that we may decide to use. Accordingly, manufacturers must continue to expend time, money, and effort in the area of production and quality control to maintain cGMP compliance.

Once an approval is granted, the FDA may withdraw the approval if compliance with regulatory requirements and standards is not maintained or if problems occur after the product reaches the market, though the FDA must provide an application holder with notice and an opportunity for a hearing in order to withdraw its approval of an application. Later discovery of previously unknown problems with a product, including adverse events of unanticipated severity or frequency, or with manufacturing processes, or failure to comply with regulatory requirements, may result in, among other things:

- restrictions on the marketing or manufacturing of the product, complete withdrawal of the product from the market or product recalls;
- fines, warning letters or holds on post-approval clinical trials;
- refusal of the FDA to approve pending applications or supplements to approved applications, or suspension or revocation of product approvals;
- product seizure or detention, or refusal to permit the import or export of products; and
- injunctions or the imposition of civil or criminal penalties.

The FDA strictly regulates the marketing, labeling, advertising and promotion of drug and device products that are placed on the market. The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) also regulates the promotion and advertising of consumer products. While physicians may prescribe drugs and devices for off label uses, manufacturers may only promote for the approved indications and in accordance with the provisions of the approved label. Manufacturers may not promote a drug that is still under development and has not been approved by the FDA. The FDA and other agencies actively enforce the laws and regulations prohibiting the promotion of off label uses, and a company that is found to have improperly promoted off label uses may be subject to significant liability.

Drugs are also subject to extensive regulation outside of the U.S. In the E.U., there is a centralized approval procedure that authorizes marketing of a product in all countries of the E.U. through a single application and review process. If this centralized approval procedure is not used, approval in one country of the E.U. can be used to obtain approval in another country of the E.U. under one of two simplified application processes: the mutual recognition procedure or the decentralized procedure, both of which rely on the principle of mutual recognition. After receiving regulatory approval through any of the E.U. registration procedures, separate pricing and reimbursement approvals are also required in most countries. The E.U. also has requirements for approval of manufacturing facilities for all products that are approved for sale by the European regulatory authorities.

Additional Government Regulations

HIPAA and Other Privacy Laws

HIPAA, established for the first-time comprehensive protection for the privacy and security of health information. The HIPAA standards apply to three types of organizations, or "Covered Entities": health plans, healthcare clearing houses, and healthcare providers which conduct certain healthcare transactions electronically. Covered Entities and their Business Associates must have in place administrative, physical, and technical standards to guard against the misuse of individually identifiable health information. Because we are a healthcare provider and we conduct certain healthcare transactions electronically, we are presently a Covered Entity, and we must have in place the administrative, physical, and technical safeguards required by HIPAA, HITECH and their implementing regulations. Additionally, some state laws impose privacy protections more stringent than HIPAA. Most of the institutions and physicians from which we obtain biological specimens that we use in our research and validation work are Covered Entities and must obtain proper authorization from their patients for the subsequent use of those samples and associated clinical information. We may perform future activities that may implicate HIPAA, such as providing clinical laboratory testing services or entering into specific kinds of relationships with a Covered Entity or a Business Associate of a Covered Entity.

If we or our operations are found to be in violation of HIPAA, HITECH or their implementing regulations, we may be subject to penalties, including civil and criminal penalties, fines, and exclusion from participation in U.S. federal or state health care programs, and the curtailment or restructuring of our operations. HITECH increased the civil and criminal penalties that may be imposed against Covered Entities, their Business Associates and possibly other persons, and gave state attorneys general new authority to file civil actions for damages or injunctions in federal courts to enforce the federal HIPAA laws and seek attorney's fees and costs associated with pursuing federal civil actions.

Our activities must also comply with other applicable privacy laws. For example, there are also international privacy laws that impose restrictions on the access, use, and disclosure of health information. All of these laws may impact our business. Our failure to comply with these privacy laws or significant changes in the laws restricting our ability to obtain tissue samples and associated patient information could significantly impact our business and our future business plans.

Federal and State Billing and Fraud and Abuse Laws

Antifraud Laws/Overpayments. As participants in federal and state healthcare programs, we are subject to numerous federal and state antifraud and abuse laws. Many of these antifraud laws are broad in scope, and neither the courts nor government agencies have extensively interpreted these laws. Prohibitions under some of these laws include:

- the submission, or causing the submission of, false claims or false information to government programs;
- deceptive or fraudulent conduct;
- performing medically unnecessary procedures; and
- prohibitions in defrauding private sector health insurers.

We could be subject to substantial penalties for violations of these laws, including denial of payment and refunds, suspension of payments from Medicare, Medicaid or other federal healthcare programs and exclusion from participation in the federal healthcare programs, as well as civil monetary and criminal penalties and imprisonment. One of these statutes, the False Claims Act, is a key enforcement tool used by the government to combat healthcare fraud. The False Claims Act imposes liability on any person who, among other things, knowingly presents, or causes to be presented, a false or fraudulent claim for payment by a federal healthcare program. In addition, violations of the federal physician self-referral laws, such as the Stark laws discussed below, may also violate false claims laws. Liability under the False Claims Act can result in treble damages and imposition of penalties. For example, we could be subject to penalties of $13,508 to $27,018 per false claim, adjusted each year for inflation, and each use of our product could potentially be part of a different claim submitted to the government. Separately, the HHS office of the Office of Inspector General, or OIG, can exclude providers found liable under the False Claims Act from participating in federally funded healthcare programs, including Medicare and Medicaid. The steep penalties that may be imposed on laboratories and other providers under this statute may be disproportionate to the relatively small dollar amounts of the claims made by these providers for reimbursement. In addition, even the threat of being excluded from participation in federal healthcare programs can have significant financial consequences on a provider.

Numerous federal and state agencies enforce the antifraud and abuse laws. In addition, private insurers may also bring private actions. In some circumstances, private whistleblowers are authorized to bring fraud suits on behalf of the government against providers and are entitled to receive a portion of any final recovery.

Federal and State "Self-Referral" and "Anti-Kickback" Restrictions

Self-Referral law. We are subject to a federal "self-referral" law, commonly referred to as the "Stark" law, which provides that physicians who, personally or through a family member, have ownership interests in or compensation arrangements with a laboratory are prohibited from making a referral to that laboratory for laboratory tests reimbursable by Medicare, and also prohibits laboratories from submitting a claim for Medicare payments for laboratory tests referred by physicians who, personally or through a family member, have ownership interests in or compensation arrangements with the testing laboratory. The Stark law contains a number of specific exceptions which, if met, permit physicians who have ownership or compensation arrangements with a testing laboratory to make referrals to that laboratory and permit the laboratory to submit claims for Medicare payments for laboratory tests performed pursuant to such referrals.

We are subject to comparable state laws, some of which apply to all payors regardless of source of payment, and do not contain identical exceptions to the Stark law. For example, we are subject to a North Carolina self-referral law that prohibits a physician investor from referring to us any patients covered by private, employer-funded or state and federal employee health plans. The North Carolina self-referral law contains few exceptions for physician investors in securities that have not been acquired through public trading but will generally permit us to accept referrals from physician investors who buy their shares in the public market.

We have several stockholders who are physicians in a position to make referrals to us. We have included within our compliance plan procedures to identify requests for testing services from physician investors and we do not bill Medicare, or any other federal program, or seek reimbursement from other third-party payors, for these tests.

Providers are subject to sanctions for claims submitted for each service that is furnished based on a referral prohibited under the federal self-referral laws. These sanctions include denial of payment and refunds, civil monetary payments and exclusion from participation in federal healthcare programs and civil monetary penalties, and they may also include penalties for applicable violations of the False Claims Act, which may require payment of up to three times the actual damages sustained by the government, plus civil penalties of $13,508 to $27,018 for each separate false claim. Similarly, sanctions for violations under the North Carolina self-referral laws include refunds and monetary penalties.

Anti-Kickback Statute. The federal Anti-Kickback Statute prohibits persons from knowingly and willfully soliciting, receiving, offering or paying remuneration, directly or indirectly, to induce either the referral of an individual, or the furnishing, recommending, or arranging for a good or service, for which payment may be made under a federal healthcare program, such as the Medicare and Medicaid programs. The term "remuneration" is not defined in the federal Anti-Kickback Statute and has been broadly interpreted to include anything of value, including for example, gifts, discounts, the furnishing of supplies or equipment, credit arrangements, payments of cash, waivers of payment, ownership interests and providing anything at less than its fair market value. The reach of the Anti-Kickback Statute was also broadened by the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act of 2010 (PPACA), which, among other things, amends the intent requirement of the federal Anti-Kickback Statute and certain criminal healthcare fraud statutes, effective March 23, 2010. Pursuant to the statutory amendment, a person or entity does not need to have actual knowledge of this statute or specific intent to violate it in order to have committed a violation. In addition, PPACA provides that a claim including items or services resulting from a violation of the federal Anti-Kickback Statute constitutes a false or fraudulent claim for purposes of the False Claims Act or the civil monetary penalties statute, which imposes penalties against any person who is determined to have presented or caused to be presented a claim to a federal health program that the person knows or should know is for an item or service that was not provided as claimed or is false or fraudulent. Sanctions for violations of the federal Anti-Kickback Statute may include imprisonment and other criminal penalties, civil monetary penalties and exclusion from participation in federal healthcare programs.

The OIG has criticized a number of the business practices in the clinical laboratory industry as potentially implicating the Anti-Kickback Statute, including compensation arrangements intended to induce referrals between laboratories and entities from which they receive, or to which they make, referrals. In addition, the OIG has indicated that "dual charge" billing practices that are intended to induce the referral of patients reimbursed by federal healthcare programs may violate the Anti-Kickback Statute.

Many states have also adopted laws similar to the federal Anti-Kickback Statute, some of which apply to the referral of patients for healthcare items or services reimbursed by any source, not only the Medicare and Medicaid programs, and do not contain identical safe harbors. For example, North Carolina has an anti-kickback statute that prohibits healthcare providers from paying any financial compensation for recommending or securing patient referrals. Penalties for violations of this statute include license suspension or revocation or other disciplinary action. Other states have similar anti-kickback prohibitions.

Both the federal Anti-Kickback Statute and the North Carolina anti-kickback law are broad in scope. The anti-kickback laws clearly prohibit payments for patient referrals. Under a broad interpretation, these laws could also prohibit a broad array of practices involving remuneration where one party is a potential source of referrals for the other.

If we or our operations are found to be in violation of any of the laws described above or any other governmental regulations that apply to us, we may be subject to penalties, including civil and criminal penalties, damages, fines, exclusion from participation in U.S. federal or state health care programs, and the curtailment or restructuring of our operations. To the extent that any product we make is sold in a foreign country in the future, we may be subject to similar foreign laws and regulations, which may include, for instance, applicable post-marketing requirements, including safety surveillance, anti-fraud and abuse laws, and implementation of corporate compliance programs and reporting of payments or transfers of value to healthcare professionals. To reduce the risks associated with these various laws and governmental regulations, we have implemented a compliance plan. Although compliance programs can mitigate the risk of investigation and prosecution for violations of these laws, the risks cannot be entirely eliminated. Any action against us for violation of these laws, even if we successfully defend against it, could cause us to incur significant legal expenses and divert our management's attention from the operation of our business. Moreover, achieving and sustaining compliance with applicable federal and state privacy, security and fraud laws may prove costly.

The Foreign Corrupt Practices Act

The Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, or FCPA, prohibits any U.S. individual or business from paying, offering or authorizing payment or offering of anything of value, directly or indirectly, to any foreign official, political party or candidate for the purpose of influencing any act or decision of the foreign entity in order to assist the individual or business in obtaining or retaining business. The FCPA also obligates companies whose securities are listed in the U.S. to comply with accounting provisions requiring us to maintain books and records that accurately and fairly reflect all transactions of the corporation, including international subsidiaries, and to devise and maintain an adequate system of internal accounting controls for international operations.

Other Corporate Transactions

Underwritten Public Offerings and Concurrent Private Placement

On March 31, 2022, we sold 2,666,666 shares of our common stock at a public offering price of $3.75 per share and, for certain investors, in lieu of common stock, pre-funded warrants to purchase 1,333,333 shares of our common stock at a public offering price of $3.60 per pre-funded warrant, which represents the per share public offering price for the common stock less the $0.15 per share exercise price for each pre-funded warrant. Each share of common stock or pre-funded warrant was sold together with one, immediately exercisable, common warrant with a five-year term to purchase one share of common stock at an exercise price of $4.50 per share. The net proceeds of the offering were $13.8 million, after deducting the underwriting discount and other offering expenses.

On October 2, 2023, we announced the closing of the underwritten public offering of 3,450,000 shares of our common stock at a public offering of $20.00 per share, which included the exercise in full by the underwriters of their option to purchase additional shares. The gross proceeds of the public offering were $69.0 million, before deducting the underwriting discount and other estimated offering expenses. We also announced the closing of approximately $60.0 million of shares of our common stock and pre-funded warrants in a concurrent private offering pursuant to a securities purchase agreement with certain investors, including entities affiliated with existing stockholders, at a price per share of common stock equal to the public offering price of $20.00 and a price per per-funded warrant of $19.99. In aggregate, we received $129.0 million of gross proceeds from the underwritten public offering and concurrent private placement.

Securities Purchase Agreement

In December 2022, we entered into a securities purchase agreement providing for the sale of up to $60.0 million in warrants (divided into two tranches, Tranche A and Tranche B) and the common stock issuable upon the exercise thereof. We issued both tranches of warrants in exchange for an aggregate purchase price of $10.0 million in May 2023. The announcement of positive top-line data from the randomized withdrawal period of Study C602 in September 2023 triggered the mandatory exercise of the Tranche A warrants, and we received $15.0 million in gross proceeds. Between October 2023 and the end of 2023, several investors exercised their Tranche B warrants and we received $18.1 million in gross proceeds. The remaining Tranche B warrants may be exercised for an additional $16.9 million in proceeds to us.

At the Market Offering

In 2022, we sold 104,773 shares of common stock and raised $0.3 million in net proceeds, and in 2023, we sold 1,772,397 shares of common stock and raised $7.1 million in net proceeds pursuant to a Controlled Equity Offering Sales Agreement under which we could sell shares of our common stock having an aggregate offering price of up to $25.0 million from time to time in any method permit by law deemed to be an "at the market" Rule 415 under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. The Controlled Equity Offering Sales Agreement was terminated in connection with the October 2, 2023 financing.

AGREEMENT

THIS AGREEMENT AND PLAN OF MERGER, dated as of November 11, 2024 (this "Plan of Merger"), is between Kuehne + Nagel Investment LLC, a New Jersey Limited Liability Company ("Merged LLC"), and Kuehne + Nagel Holdings, Inc., a Delaware corporation ("Surviving Corporation").

W I T N E S S E T H:

WHEREAS, Merged LLC has a single member to wit, the Surviving Corporation; and

WHEREAS, Surviving Corporation is authorized to issue a total of 100 shares of capital stock, consisting of 200 shares of common stock, par value $0.01 per share ("Surviving Corporation Common Stock"), of which, as of the date hereof, 100 shares of Common Stock are issued and outstanding; and

WHEREAS, the sole member and the Managers of the Merged LLC and the Board of Directors of the Surviving Corporation, respectively, approve and deem it advisable that Merged LLC and Surviving Corporation, respectively, consummate the Merger (as defined below).

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual agreements contained in this Plan of Merger, the parties to this Plan of Merger hereby agree that Merged LLC shall be merged (the "Merger") with and into Surviving Corporation in accordance with applicable laws and upon the terms and subject to the conditions set forth as follows:

1. The Merger. At such time agreed between Merged LLC and Surviving Corporation, a certificate of merger evidencing the Merger shall be filed with each of the Office of the Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey pursuant to the Title 42 of the New Jersey Revised Statutes and of the State of Delaware General Corporation Law. The Certificates of Merger shall specify that the Merger shall become effective on December 1, 2024 ("Effective Time"). At the Effective Time, Merged LLC shall be merged with and into Surviving Corporation, and Surviving Corporation shall continue as the surviving corporation. The Surviving Corporation's name shall remain Kuehne + Nagel Holdings, Inc.

2. Certificate of Incorporation and By-laws. The Certificate of Incorporation and By-laws of Surviving Corporation in effect immediately prior to the Effective Time shall be and remain the Certificate of Incorporation and By-laws, respectively, of Surviving Corporation, as the surviving corporation, after the Effective Time, until amended as provided by law.

3. Officers and Directors. From and after the Effective Time, and until they shall have resigned or shall have been legally removed or until their respective successors shall have been elected or appointed and qualified, those persons who are the officers and directors of Surviving Corporation immediately prior to the Effective Time shall be the officers and directors of Surviving Corporation.

4.1 All assets, rights, privileges, immunities, powers, franchises and interests of Merged LLC in and to every type of property (real, personal and mixed) and choses in action, as they exist as of the Effective Time, shall pass and be transferred to and vest in Surviving Corporation, as the surviving corporation, by virtue of the Merger at the Effective Time without any deed, conveyance or other transfer, and all such interests of Surviving Corporation as they exist as of the Effective Time shall remain with Surviving Corporation upon consummation of the Merger. The corporate existence of Surviving Corporation shall continue unaffected and unimpaired upon consummation of the Merger and the separate corporate existence of Merged LLC shall cease at and as of the Effective Time.

4.2 From and after the Effective Time, Surviving Corporation, as the surviving corporation, shall be responsible and liable for all of the liabilities and obligations of Surviving Corporation and Merged LLC existing as of the Effective Time. Any claim existing or action or proceeding pending by or against Surviving Corporation or Merged LLC at the Effective Time may, thereafter, be prosecuted by or against Surviving Corporation, as the surviving corporation, as if the Merger had not taken place or, in connection with any such action or proceeding to which Merged LLC is a party, Surviving Corporation, as the surviving corporation, may be substituted in place of Merged LLC. Neither the rights of creditors nor any liens upon the property of either Surviving Corporation or Merged LLC shall be impaired by reason of the Merger.

5. Effect of Merger on Outstanding Shares.

5.2 Closing of Transfer Books. At the Effective Time, the membership transfer books of Merged LLC shall be closed and no transfer of shares of Merged LLC membership shall thereafter be made. If, after the Effective Time, certificates representing member shares of Merged LLC are presented to the Surviving Corporation, they shall be canceled in accordance with the terms hereof. At and after the Effective Time, the holders of member shares of Merged LLC Stock shall cease to have any rights as members of Merged LLC.

6. Further Assurances. From time to time after the Effective Time, as and when requested by Surviving Corporation, and to the extent permitted by law, the former managers of Merged LLC and the officers and directors of Surviving Corporation shall execute and deliver such assignments, deeds and other instruments and shall take or cause to be taken such further or other action as shall be necessary in order to consummate the Merger, vest or perfect in or to confirm of record or otherwise to Surviving Corporation, as the surviving corporation, title to, and possession of, all of the assets, rights, privileges, immunities, powers, franchises and interests of Merged LLC and Surviving Corporation in and to every type of property (real, personal and mixed) and choses in action, and otherwise to carry out the purposes of this Plan of Merger, and the proper officers and directors of Surviving Corporation, as the surviving corporation, are fully authorized to take any and all such action in the name of Merged LLC or Surviving Corporation or otherwise.

7. Termination and Amendment. Prior to the Effective Time, this Plan of Merger may be terminated or amended by the mutual consent of the Managers of Merged LLC and the Board of Directors of Surviving Corporation.

8. Counterparts. This Plan of Merger may be signed in any number of counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original, and all of which shall be deemed but one and the same instrument.

9. Governing Law. This Plan of Merger shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey without giving effect to any choice of law or conflict of law provision or rule (whether of the State of New Jersey or any other jurisdiction) that would cause the application of the laws of any jurisdiction other than the State of New Jersey.

THIS AGREEMENT AND PLAN OF MERGER, dated as of November 11, 2024 (this "Plan of Merger"), is between Kuehne + Nagel Investment LLC, a New Jersey Limited Liability Company ("Merged LLC"), and Kuehne + Nagel Holdings, Inc., a Delaware corporation ("Surviving Corporation").

W I T N E S S E T H:

WHEREAS, Merged LLC has a single member to wit, the Surviving Corporation; and

WHEREAS, Surviving Corporation is authorized to issue a total of 100 shares of capital stock, consisting of 200 shares of common stock, par value $0.01 per share ("Surviving Corporation Common Stock"), of which, as of the date hereof, 100 shares of Common Stock are issued and outstanding; and

WHEREAS, the sole member and the Managers of the Merged LLC and the Board of Directors of the Surviving Corporation, respectively, approve and deem it advisable that Merged LLC and Surviving Corporation, respectively, consummate the Merger (as defined below).

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual agreements contained in this Plan of Merger, the parties to this Plan of Merger hereby agree that Merged LLC shall be merged (the "Merger") with and into Surviving Corporation in accordance with applicable laws and upon the terms and subject to the conditions set forth as follows:

1. The Merger. At such time agreed between Merged LLC and Surviving Corporation, a certificate of merger evidencing the Merger shall be filed with each of the Office of the Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey pursuant to the Title 42 of the New Jersey Revised Statutes and of the State of Delaware General Corporation Law. The Certificates of Merger shall specify that the Merger shall become effective on December 1, 2024 ("Effective Time"). At the Effective Time, Merged LLC shall be merged with and into Surviving Corporation, and Surviving Corporation shall continue as the surviving corporation. The Surviving Corporation's name shall remain Kuehne + Nagel Holdings, Inc.

2. Certificate of Incorporation and By-laws. The Certificate of Incorporation and By-laws of Surviving Corporation in effect immediately prior to the Effective Time shall be and remain the Certificate of Incorporation and By-laws, respectively, of Surviving Corporation, as the surviving corporation, after the Effective Time, until amended as provided by law.

3. Officers and Directors. From and after the Effective Time, and until they shall have resigned or shall have been legally removed or until their respective successors shall have been elected or appointed and qualified, those persons who are the officers and directors of Surviving Corporation immediately prior to the Effective Time shall be the officers and directors of Surviving Corporation.

4.1 All assets, rights, privileges, immunities, powers, franchises and interests of Merged LLC in and to every type of property (real, personal and mixed) and choses in action, as they exist as of the Effective Time, shall pass and be transferred to and vest in Surviving Corporation, as the surviving corporation, by virtue of the Merger at the Effective Time without any deed, conveyance or other transfer, and all such interests of Surviving Corporation as they exist as of the Effective Time shall remain with Surviving Corporation upon consummation of the Merger. The corporate existence of Surviving Corporation shall continue unaffected and unimpaired upon consummation of the Merger and the separate corporate existence of Merged LLC shall cease at and as of the Effective Time.

4.2 From and after the Effective Time, Surviving Corporation, as the surviving corporation, shall be responsible and liable for all of the liabilities and obligations of Surviving Corporation and Merged LLC existing as of the Effective Time. Any claim existing or action or proceeding pending by or against Surviving Corporation or Merged LLC at the Effective Time may, thereafter, be prosecuted by or against Surviving Corporation, as the surviving corporation, as if the Merger had not taken place or, in connection with any such action or proceeding to which Merged LLC is a party, Surviving Corporation, as the surviving corporation, may be substituted in place of Merged LLC. Neither the rights of creditors nor any liens upon the property of either Surviving Corporation or Merged LLC shall be impaired by reason of the Merger.

5. Effect of Merger on Outstanding Shares.

5.1 Exchange Ratio. At the Effective Time, by virtue of the Merger and without any action on the part of the holder thereof, all of the issued and outstanding member shares of the Merged LLC shall be cancelled.

5.2 Closing of Transfer Books. At the Effective Time, the membership transfer books of Merged LLC shall be closed and no transfer of shares of Merged LLC membership shall thereafter be made. If, after the Effective Time, certificates representing member shares of Merged LLC are presented to the Surviving Corporation, they shall be canceled in accordance with the terms hereof. At and after the Effective Time, the holders of member shares of Merged LLC Stock shall cease to have any rights as members of Merged LLC.

6. Further Assurances. From time to time after the Effective Time, as and when requested by Surviving Corporation, and to the extent permitted by law, the former managers of Merged LLC and the officers and directors of Surviving Corporation shall execute and deliver such assignments, deeds and other instruments and shall take or cause to be taken such further or other action as shall be necessary in order to consummate the Merger, vest or perfect in or to confirm of record or otherwise to Surviving Corporation, as the surviving corporation, title to, and possession of, all of the assets, rights, privileges, immunities, powers, franchises and interests of Merged LLC and Surviving Corporation in and to every type of property (real, personal and mixed) and choses in action, and otherwise to carry out the purposes of this Plan of Merger, and the proper officers and directors of Surviving Corporation, as the surviving corporation, are fully authorized to take any and all such action in the name of Merged LLC or Surviving Corporation or otherwise.

7. Termination and Amendment. Prior to the Effective Time, this Plan of Merger may be terminated or amended by the mutual consent of the Managers of Merged LLC and the Board of Directors of Surviving Corporation.

8. Counterparts. This Plan of Merger may be signed in any number of counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original, and all of which shall be deemed but one and the same instrument.

9. Governing Law. This Plan of Merger shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey without giving effect to any choice of law or conflict of law provision or rule (whether of the State of New Jersey or any other jurisdiction) that would cause the application of the laws of any jurisdiction other than the State of New Jersey.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have duly executed this Plan of Merger as of the date first written above.

This ASSIGNMENT AND ASSUMPTION AGREEMENT (this "Agreement"), effective as of January 10, 2025, is entered into by and between Banner Life Sciences Holding, Cooperatief U.A., a cooperative association with exclusion of liability organized under the Laws of the Kingdom of the Netherlands (the "Assignor"), and Cycle Pharmaceuticals, Inc., a Delaware corporation ("Assignee"). The Assignor and Assignee are referred to collectively in this Agreement as the "Parties" and each individually as a "Party." Capitalized terms used and not otherwise defined in this Agreement shall have the respective meanings ascribed to such terms in the Securities Purchase Agreement (as defined below).

RECITALS

WHEREAS, the Assignor is the sole member of Banner Life Sciences, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (the "Company");

WHEREAS, the Assignor owns all of the limited liability company interests of the Company (the "Shares"); and

WHEREAS, pursuant to that certain Securities Purchase Agreement, dated as of January 10, 2025, by and among Assignor, Assignee and the Company (the "Securities Purchase Agreement"), the Assignor has agreed to sell, convey, assign, transfer and deliver to Assignee, and Assignee has agreed to purchase, acquire, accept and assume from the Assignor, the Shares, subject to the terms and conditions and for the consideration set forth in the Securities Purchase Agreement.

AGREEMENT

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the premises and of the mutual promises, representations, warranties, covenants, conditions and agreements contained herein and in the Securities Purchase Agreement, and for other valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which are hereby acknowledged, the Parties, intending to be legally bound by the terms of this Agreement, hereby agree as follows:

1. Purchase and Assignment. Effective as of the Closing, and subject to and in accordance with the terms of the Securities Purchase Agreement, (a) Assignor does hereby sell, convey, assign, transfer and deliver to Assignee, and (b) Assignee does hereby purchase, acquire, accept and assume from Assignor, all of Assignor's right, title and interest in and to the Shares, and any and all income, distributions, value, rights, benefits and privileges associated therewith or deriving therefrom accruing on or after the date hereof, in each case, free and clear of all Liens, except for any restriction on transfer pursuant to applicable securities Laws and any Liens thereon created by any action by or on behalf of the Purchaser or any of its Affiliates.

Upon the Closing, Assignor shall cease to be a member of the Company and cease to have or exercise any right or power as a member of the Company. The assignment and transfer of the Shares, the admission of Assignee as a member of the Company and Assignor's ceasing to be a member of the Company will not dissolve the Company, and the Company will continue without dissolution after such assignment and transfer.

3. Further Assurances. The Parties agree at their own expense to execute and deliver such further instruments, documents and certificates of transfer and assignment as any other Party may reasonably request to effectively consummate the assignment contemplated herein.

4. Securities Purchase Agreement. This Agreement is made and accepted subject to all of the terms, provisions and conditions of the Securities Purchase Agreement. In the event of a conflict between the terms, provisions and conditions of this Agreement and the terms, provisions and conditions of the Securities Purchase Agreement (including as to any matter that is addressed in the Securities Purchase Agreement and not in this Agreement), the terms, provisions and conditions of the Securities Purchase Agreement shall take precedence.

5. Amendments. This Agreement may be amended, modified or supplemented only by a written instrument executed by all of the Parties.

6. Governing Law. This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the internal and substantive Laws of the State of Delaware and without regard to any conflicts of Laws concepts that would apply the substantive Law of some other jurisdiction.

7. Signatures and Counterparts. Facsimile or electronic transmission of any signed original document and/or retransmission of any signed facsimile or electronic transmission shall be the same as delivery of an original. AGREEMENT
PLAN OF MERGER

THIS AGREEMENT AND PLAN OF MERGER, dated as of November 11, 2024 (this "Plan of Merger"), is between Kuehne + Nagel Investment LLC, a New Jersey Limited Liability Company ("Merged LLC"), and Kuehne + Nagel Holdings, Inc., a Delaware corporation ("Surviving Corporation").

W I T N E S S E T H:

WHEREAS, Merged LLC has a single member to wit, the Surviving Corporation; and

WHEREAS, Surviving Corporation is authorized to issue a total of 100 shares of capital stock, consisting of 200 shares of common stock, par value $0.01 per share ("Surviving Corporation Common Stock"), of which, as of the date hereof, 100 shares of Common Stock are issued and outstanding; and

WHEREAS, the sole member and the Managers of the Merged LLC and the Board of Directors of the Surviving Corporation, respectively, approve and deem it advisable that Merged LLC and Surviving Corporation, respectively, consummate the Merger (as defined below).

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual agreements contained in this Plan of Merger, the parties to this Plan of Merger hereby agree that Merged LLC shall be merged (the "Merger") with and into Surviving Corporation in accordance with applicable laws and upon the terms and subject to the conditions set forth as follows:

1. The Merger. At such time agreed between Merged LLC and Surviving Corporation, a certificate of merger evidencing the Merger shall be filed with each of the Office of the Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey pursuant to the Title 42 of the New Jersey Revised Statutes and of the State of Delaware General Corporation Law. The Certificates of Merger shall specify that the Merger shall become effective on December 1, 2024 ("Effective Time"). At the Effective Time, Merged LLC shall be merged with and into Surviving Corporation, and Surviving Corporation shall continue as the surviving corporation. The Surviving Corporation's name shall remain Kuehne + Nagel Holdings, Inc.

2. Certificate of Incorporation and By-laws. The Certificate of Incorporation and By-laws of Surviving Corporation in effect immediately prior to the Effective Time shall be and remain the Certificate of Incorporation and By-laws, respectively, of Surviving Corporation, as the surviving corporation, after the Effective Time, until amended as provided by law.

3. Officers and Directors. From and after the Effective Time, and until they shall have resigned or shall have been legally removed or until their respective successors shall have been elected or appointed and qualified, those persons who are the officers and directors of Surviving Corporation immediately prior to the Effective Time shall be the officers and directors of Surviving Corporation.

4.1 All assets, rights, privileges, immunities, powers, franchises and interests of Merged LLC in and to every type of property (real, personal and mixed) and choses in action, as they exist as of the Effective Time, shall pass and be transferred to and vest in Surviving Corporation, as the surviving corporation, by virtue of the Merger at the Effective Time without any deed, conveyance or other transfer, and all such interests of Surviving Corporation as they exist as of the Effective Time shall remain with Surviving Corporation upon consummation of the Merger. The corporate existence of Surviving Corporation shall continue unaffected and unimpaired upon consummation of the Merger and the separate corporate existence of Merged LLC shall cease at and as of the Effective Time.

4.2 From and after the Effective Time, Surviving Corporation, as the surviving corporation, shall be responsible and liable for all of the liabilities and obligations of Surviving Corporation and Merged LLC existing as of the Effective Time. Any claim existing or action or proceeding pending by or against Surviving Corporation or Merged LLC at the Effective Time may, thereafter, be prosecuted by or against Surviving Corporation, as the surviving corporation, as if the Merger had not taken place or, in connection with any such action or proceeding to which Merged LLC is a party, Surviving Corporation, as the surviving corporation, may be substituted in place of Merged LLC. Neither the rights of creditors nor any liens upon the property of either Surviving Corporation or Merged LLC shall be impaired by reason of the Merger.

5. Effect of Merger on Outstanding Shares.

5.1 Exchange Ratio. At the Effective Time, by virtue of the Merger and without any action on the part of the holder thereof, all of the issued and outstanding member shares of the Merged LLC shall be cancelled.

5.2 Closing of Transfer Books. At the Effective Time, the membership transfer books of Merged LLC shall be closed and no transfer of shares of Merged LLC membership shall thereafter be made. If, after the Effective Time, certificates representing member shares of Merged LLC are presented to the Surviving Corporation, they shall be canceled in accordance with the terms hereof. At and after the Effective Time, the holders of member shares of Merged LLC Stock shall cease to have any rights as members of Merged LLC.

6. Further Assurances. 2. Most recent certification report for ISO classified areas. Documentation of corrective action taken by facility for any failures documented on the certification report.
3. Prior 12 months of aseptic manipulation competency evaluations. Documentation of corrective action taken by facility for any failures.
4. Prior 12 months of competency documentation for personnel.
5. Prior 12 months of garbing competency for compounding personnel.
6. Prior 12 months of Microbiological air and surface monitoring results.
7. Sterility testing data if applicable.
8. Endotoxin testing data if applicable.
9. Examples of Master Formulation Records.
10. Examples of compounding records.
11. Stability data obtained using a stability-indicating analytical method for Category 3 products.
12. Cleaning logs for ISO classified areas.
13. SOP's relevant to the sterile compounding process.

Compounding is defined as combining, admixing, diluting, pooling, reconstituting, repackaging, or otherwise altering a drug or bulk substance to create a sterile medication.

Specific Practices:

Allergenic Extracts are described in section 21 of the chapter.

When compounding activities require the manipulation of a patient's blood-derived or biological material, the manipulations must be clearly separated from other compounding activities to avoid any cross-contamination.

Repackaging of a sterile product or preparation from its original container into another container must be performed in accordance with the requirements of USP-797.

Compounding of sterile hazardous drugs must additionally comply with USP-800.

Compounding of radiopharmaceuticals is not required to meet the standards of this chapter as they are subject to the requirements of USP-825.

Administration is out of the scope of USP-797.

Compounding of CSPs for direct and immediate administration to a patient is not subject to the requirements for Category 1, Category 2, or Category 3 CSPs when all of the conditions listed in USP-797 are met.

Compounding does not include mixing, reconstituting, or other such acts that are performed in accordance with directions contained in approved labeling provided by the product's manufacturer.

Docking and activation of proprietary bag and vial systems in accordance with the manufacturer's labeling for immediate administration to an individual patient is not considered compounding and may be performed outside an ISO 5 environment.

Docking of the proprietary bag and vial systems for future activation and administration is considered compounding and must be performed in accordance with USP-797.

Beyond Use Dates for proprietary bag and vial systems must not be longer than those specified in the manufacturer's labeling.

Upon a C.E. audit in 2008, the Alaska Board of Pharmacy rejected several C.E. units, which included 13.5 units from the Oregon State Pharmacy Associations annual convention, which included members of the OR BOP in attendance. These C.E. units were deemed not approved by ACPE by the AK BOP.

As a result, I was fined $1,000.00 and placed on C.E. audits for 2 license renewal periods. I am currently not licensed in OR and AK and have not done so in several years.

Dear Mr. Simpson:

On May 29, 2009, the Alaska Board of Pharmacy adopted the Consent Agreement, Decision and Order in Case Number 2600-09-003. Enclosed is a fully signed copy of the agreement as adopted.

Payment in the amount of $1,000.00 must be received within 90 days of the board's signature, or no later than August 27, 2009. This payment will be applied to the unsuspended portion of the civil fine in accordance with the agreement. Failure to pay the fine on time will result in the reinstatement of the full fine.

Additionally, this agreement includes the requirement for mandatory audit of your continuing education documentation as a condition to renew your license for two future renewal periods. You will not receive any additional notice requesting documentation with renewal applications subject to this requirement. Satisfactory documentation must be received and approved before your renewal applications will be processed. So, upon receiving your renewal applications for the new two licensing periods, I encourage you to submit it to the Division with your documentation as quickly as possible in order to allow the necessary time for the approval process to occur.

All of the other terms and conditions of this agreement remain in effect until the mandatory audit requirement has been met. Any violation of this agreement will result in the consequences outlined in Section F, Violation of Agreement, on Page 6 of the Agreement.

Re: Alaska Pharmacist License No. 1436

Dear Mr. Simpson:

Your Pharmacist license file has been referred to me for review of the audit of your continuing education compliance following your recent license renewal.

To renew your license for the July 1, 2008 through June 30, 2010 (2008-2010) period, you were required by Alaska Statute (AS) 08.80.165 to satisfy the continuing education requirements established by the Alaska Board of Pharmacy (Board) before renewal.

Your Biennial Pharmacist License Renewal for July 1, 2008 – June 30, 2010 (renewal application) was received by the Division of Corporations, Business and Professional Licensing (Division) on May 19, 2008. As part of that application and as required under 12 AAC 52.320, you completed the Statement of Compliance indicating that you had successfully completed 30 hours of continuing education between July 1, 2006 and June 30, 2008. Your signature on that renewal application, dated May 15, 2008, certified that the information furnished in the application was true and correct, and confirmed your understanding that if audited you would be required to provide documentation to verify your compliance. Your license was renewed for the 2008-2010 license period in reliance on this information, effective May 30, 2008.

Your renewal application was among those randomly selected for audit to monitor compliance with continuing education in accordance with 12 AAC 52.350 and 12 AAC 02.960. On August 20, 2008, you were sent a letter instructing you to provide proof of your completion of 30 hours of approved continuing education as certified on your renewal application.

CE completed between July 1, 2006 and June 30, 2008

Date Complete	Activity/Program/Course	Sponsor/Provider/Instructor	Contact Hours Claimed

9/24/07	An Overview and Update of the Controlled Substances Act of 1970	ACPE	2.0
9/24/07	The Pharmacists Role in Breaking the Cycle of PMDD	ACPE	2.0

You also provided documentation of courses that are not approved by the ACPE, as follows: Washington State HIV/AIDS (7 Units) – June 6, 2008; Treating To Goal for Type 1 and 2 Diabetes – Overcoming Barriers to Insulin – 1.5 hours – June 13, 2007; 2007 Annual Convention – 13.5 hours – Oregon State Pharmacy Association; Advancing Pain Management in Oregon – 1/1/07 – Oregon Dept. of Human Svcs.

On October 21, 2008, licensing examiner Sher Zinn notified you that all continuing education must be approved by the ACPE in order to be accepted. This is required by 12 AAC52.340(a).

In response, you completed an additional 17 hours of ACPE accredited education as follows:

CE completed after June 30, 2008

Date Complete	Activity/Program/Course	Sponsor/Provider/Instructor	Contact Hours Claimed
10/31/08	Eradicating Lice: Myths and Facts	ACPE	1.5

11/1/08	Motion Sickness: Calming the Waves of Upset	ACPE	1.5

As discussed above, in order to comply with AS 08.80.165, the board-established continuing education requirements must have been completed by June 30, 2008. 12 AAC 52.320 requires completion of 30 contact hours of continuing education accepted by the board under 12 AAC 52.340(a) during the concluding licensing period. 12 AAC 52.340(a) is provided for you above, and does require ACPE approved courses.

Because you have taken courses that are not accepted under 12 AAC 52, you are not in compliance with the laws and regulations governing your license.

I certify under penalty of perjury that the information contained in this application is accurate, true and complete in all material respects. I understand that making any false representation in this application is a crime under NRS 639.281. I understand that, pursuant to NRS 239.010, this entire application and any portion thereof is a public record unless otherwise declared confidential by law, and will be considered by the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy at a public meeting pursuant to NRS 241.020. In the event this application is approved I agree to comply with all applicable federal and state statutes and regulations governing this license or registration and understand that any violation may result in discipline.

BACKGROUND

I am a dynamic, entrepreneurial leader with a proven track record of leading transformational growth across multiple businesses and complex multi-national operating environments in both private and publicly owned companies. I led the creation of a pharmaceutical start-up and then sold it to a global leader in the space for $70M between 2014-2018. Following the sale of our company, I achieved the earn-out period in full while simultaneously integrating with Fagron's existing business. After the earn-out was complete, I accepted a new role on the global executive leadership team at Fagron. In this capacity, as President of North America, I oversee all US Businesses and Subsidiaries, which include three key divisions. With full ownership and oversight for P&L, commercial, operational, quality, regulatory and financial functions, I have transformed Fagron's global business and the US segment over the past 3.5 years, positioning Fagron as a formidable market leader.

With focus on organic and non-organic strategic growth initiatives and culture, I was able to lead the rise in sales from $80M to $400M, accompanied by EBITDA growth from $12.5M to $85M. I've a proven track record of orchestrating successful strategic acquisitions, CapEx investments (including new factories & infrastructure), divestitures, and optimizing non-core business elements. 6.3 Proper aseptic technique is evaluated by direct visual observation by the training specialist or designee and through process simulation testing. Process Simulation Testing utilizes a microbiological growth medium as a substitute for the usual components of an aseptically prepared preparation.

6.4 Employee media-fill evaluates production process techniques involved in the preparation of sterile products and can be used to detect and identify technical flaws or procedural concerns that could potentially compromise end product integrity through microbial contamination.

6.5 Non-sterile Tryptic Soy Broth (TSB) with color indicator is the microbiological medium employed in this process. The supply of TSB must be certified by the manufacturer to support microbial growth as a result of growth promotion tests.

6.6 Initial media fill testing must successfully be completed by all sterile compounding personnel (both pharmacists and technicians) prior to compounding sterile preparations.

6.7 The competency of the compounding personnel will be evaluated by direct observation for each occurrence and type of media fill process testing.

6.8 A Surface sample of the DCA inside the PEC will be taken immediately after the media fill.

6.9 A GFT sample inside the PEC will be taken immediately after a media fill.

6.9.1 For WI-0043, an additional GFT sample is taken in the transfer device after transfer is complete.

6.10 The preparation of MFU's of media may be performed during normal production hours, but in a separate area away from the CSPs being compounded.

6.10.1 Compounding personnel MUST NOT prepare MFUs in the PEC while also compounding sterile preparations.

6.11 The appropriate media fill must be completed and logged in to the online program, Simplifi SoleSource® in the required month for employees to perform compounding or supervising duties inside the cleanroom.

6.12 Media Fill work instructions are to be opened through Master Control or the current revision available in another format during the media fill process.

7.0 Initial Personnel Media Fill

7.1 All compounding and supervisors of compounding personnel who have passed initial Garbing and GFT sampling must complete hands on training in the training hoods to practice aseptic techniques specific to each media fill. This will be performed by the Trainers and documented on the Training Acknowledgement Form (FORM-0011).

7.2 Then complete the applicable initial media fill- completed two times (consecutive days are preferred, but if not possible, then within 5 working days). See work instructions:

7.2.1 AHCT-WI-0041 Category 2 Media Fill

7.2.2 AHCT-WI-0042 Premix Bag Batch Media Fill

7.2.3 AHCT-WI-0043 Vial and Lyo Batch Media Fill

7.2.4 AHCT-WI-0082 Hazardous Drug Batch Media Fill

7.3 Initial media fill includes completing 1 GFT sample and a surface sample in the PEC immediately following the media fill (sample taken once within the 2 times of testing).

7.4 AHCT-FORM-0022 Media Fill and GFT Log will be used to document all Media Fill testing, GFT (1 day), surface sampling (1 day), and bubble point information for each day and type of media fill process completed.

7.5 Additionally, the competency of the compounding personnel will be evaluated by direct observation for each time and type of media fill process testing, using the Competency Assessment forms:

7.5.1 Aseptic Technique (AHCT-FORM-0028)

7.5.2 Media Fill Cleaning and Disinfecting (AHCT-FORM-0025)

Procedure #: AHCT-SOP-0033	Revision: 10 Effective Date: 25 Nov 2024

7.6 Only upon completion and successful incubation of all MFUs, is a compounding employee qualified to compound sterile preparations for human use.

8.0 Ongoing Media Fill

8.1 After passing the initial media fill, all compounding and supervisors of compounding personnel must successfully complete the applicable ongoing media fill at least every 3 months. Media fill testing must be performed and completed no later than the last day of the third month from the date the previous media fill was initiated. See work instructions:
- 8.1.1 AHCT-WI-41 Category 2 Media Fill
- 8.1.2 AHCT-WI-0042 Premix Bag Batch Media Fill
- 8.1.3 AHCT-WI-0043 Vial and Lyo Batch Media Fill
- 8.1.4 AHCT-WI-0082 Hazardous Drug Batch Media Fill

8.2 The media fill includes completing 1 GFT sample and a surface sample in the PEC immediately following the media fill.

8.3 AHCT-FORM-0022 Media Fill and GFT Log will be used to document all Media Fill testing, GFT, surface sampling and bubble point information for each type of media fill process completed.

8.4 Additionally, the competency of the compounding personnel will be evaluated by direct observation for each type of media testing occurrence, using the Competency Assessment forms:
- 8.4.1 Aseptic Technique (AHCT-FORM-0028)
- 8.4.2 Media Fill Cleaning and Disinfecting (AHCT-FORM-0025)

8.5 Media Fill Inspection Information
- 8.5.1 Each MFU will be visually inspected periodically and on Day 14 (final day of incubation). Any person, including the person who prepared the MFU may conduct MFU inspection, except on the last day of incubation (Day 14). Someone else must perform the Day 14 inspection other than the person who prepared the MFU's. The Microbiologist or designee will perform the final inspection for any signs of turbidity or color change prior to proper disposal of MFU's. Results are recorded on the appropriate Media Fill and GFT Log.
- 8.5.2 Any positive test results will immediately be brought to the attention of the Pharmacy Manager and Microbiology Supervisor or designee, and investigative action will be taken to determine the source of any contamination and appropriate corrective action will ensue (using AHCT-FORM-0017 Facility and Personnel EM Sampling Action Report).
- 8.5.3 The individual with the positive MFU will immediately be removed from compounding the preparations represented by the media fill.
- 8.5.4 The individual experiencing the positive MFU must repeat the media fill.
- 8.5.5 Once passing results are obtained, the individual can resume compounding those preparations.
  - 8.5.5.1 Note: A control that is positive for growth is considered a "Pass" on the Media Fill and GFT Log.
  - 8.5.5.2 When the non-sterile TSB Powder w/ Indicator is used, growth is present (positive) when the solution turns yellow or when turbidity is present.
- 8.5.6 All MFU's with growth must be carefully inspected for leaks (i.e., from defective seals, pinholes, cracked seams).

8.6 Documentation
- 8.6.1 All media fill results will be recorded on the Media Fill and GFT Log (AHCT-FORM-0022). These data sheets should be filed in chronological order in Document Control.

Section Name: Training	Procedure Name: Media Fill for Sterile Compounding
Procedure #: AHCT-SOP-0033	Revision: 10 Effective Date: 25 Nov 2024

8.6.2 The compounding employees will be evaluated via the Competency Assessment for Aseptic Technique (AHCT-FORM-0028) and Cleaning and Disinfecting (AHCT-FORM-0025) during a media fill testing occurrence.

8.6.3 Forms will be reviewed and signed by the Microbiology Supervisor or designee (Pharmacy Manager, Pharmacy Supervisor, or QA Manager)

8.7 Operational Review

8.7.1 It is the responsibility of the Pharmacy Manager to ensure that compliance to this media fill for sterile compounding occurs, and that all data is tracked as a part of a comprehensive facility quality assurance program.

6.1.8.1 All employees who may handle or compound HDs must read and sign the HD Risk Acknowledgement Form (AHCT-FORM-0030) since adverse effects of HD exposure are not limited to those of child-bearing age.

6.1.9 Alternate Duty

6.1.9.1 If requested by a physician in writing, it is recommended that workers be given the option of alternate duty under the following circumstances:

6.1.9.1.1 Females who are pregnant.

6.1.9.1.2 Females who are breastfeeding.

6.1.9.1.3 Males or Females actively trying to conceive a child.

6.1.9.2 In the case of an HD spill, notify a pharmacist and a member of the SRT immediately. Refer to AHCT-WI-0123 for Spill Management.

6.1.9.3 Department Supervisor will document on FORM-0098 if needed. Once completed, the Department Supervisor will submit to the Environmental Health and Safety Specialist.

6.2 Engineering Controls (equipment or facilities that are designed to contain hazardous substances thereby reducing the risk of employee exposure)

6.2.1 Sterile and Non-Sterile HD compounding will be performed in SECs that are externally vented and negative pressure between 0.01-0.03 inches of water column.

6.2.1.1 SECs used for sterile compounding must be in an ISO 7 buffer room with 30 ACPH adjacent to a positive pressure (minimum of 0.02" w.c.) ISO 7 anteroom.

6.2.1.2 SECs used for non-sterile compounding must have 12 ACPH.

6.3.2.2.7 Face mask or NIOSH approved respirator (if applicable per SDS)

6.3.2.2.7.1 OSHA certified fit tested respirators (N-95 or N-100) are used in the event that exposure to vapors is likely such as during spill cleanup.

6.3.2.2.7.2 See AHCT-WI-0028 for Respirator Fitting Instructions

6.3.2.3 No PPE is worn outside of the designated compounding area and is discarded appropriately.

6.3.2.4 Utensils, tools, beakers, etc. used for HD compounding are clearly marked so they are only used for HDs.

6.3.2.5 For sterile HDs - Use of negative pressure and other compounding techniques specifically designed to maintain sterility (protect the product from the environment) but additionally protect the worker from the HD product.

8.2.7 Select the appropriate settings on the SAS air sampler:
- 8.2.7.1 "Left and Right" heads must be selected.
- 8.2.7.2 The SAS is already set to 1000L.
  - 8.2.7.2.1 Sampling volume is not to be adjusted without approval of the Microbiologist.
  - 8.2.7.2.2 Approved adjustments need a reason and a calculation adjustment documented on the EM log.

8.2.8 Place one TSA and one SDA media plate on the holders, one for each head. Aseptically remove the plate lid, and immediately place the sampling head with attached protective cap, one plate at a time.
- 8.2.8.1 Media plate lids must be placed open side down on the sterile wipe.
- 8.2.8.2 White caps are required for placement into and removal from ISO 5 areas.

8.2.9 Move the SAS sampler to the designated location.
- 8.2.9.1 Place the sampler at the same height as the product or 12" above equipment.
- 8.2.9.2 In an ISO 5 LAFW, the sampler will be positioned in an upright position, in line with the workspace, just outside of the DCA, not directly in the DCA.
  - 8.2.9.2.1 The sampler should not be more than 6" from the back of the LAFW.
- 8.2.9.3 In an ISO 5 BSC, the sampler will be in an upright position, just outside of the DCA, and not near openings/critical sites.
  - 8.2.9.3.1 The vertical air flow of the BSC could cause contamination if the sampler is directly above or near these sites.
  - 8.2.9.3.2 The BSC sash should remain at least halfway closed during sampling.
- 8.2.9.4 For ISO 5 samples, the SAS sampler and caps must rest on a non-shedding sterile wipe obtained from the Hood where sampling will occur.
  - 8.2.9.4.1 The protective caps must be placed open side down on the sterile wipe.
- 8.2.9.5 Once the cycle is complete (approximately 5 minutes) replace the protective caps and remove air sampler from ISO 5 area.

8.2.10 Aseptically remove the sampler heads, replace the media plate lids, and remove the plates from the SAS sampler one at a time.

8.2.11 Aseptic processes must be followed throughout air sampler manipulations and sampling.

8.3 Viable Surface Samples (SM)

8.3.1 Surface samples will be taken from ISO class 5, 7, and 8 areas.

Section Name: Environmental Monitoring (EM)	Procedure Name: Environmental Monitoring Program for the Sterile Suite
Procedure #: AHCT-SOP-0093	Revision: 1 Effective Date: 05 Sep 2024

8.3.1.1 Samples will be taken of areas of perceived high usage or personnel contact.

8.3.2 Surface sampling in the ISO 5 space is completed towards the end of compounding, i.e., during the "check" stage or before the removal of a completed compound.

8.3.2.1 The DCA must be sampled, near where most of the manipulations occur.

8.3.2.2 Aseptic processes must be followed to minimize contamination to the DCA; refrain from touching anything other than the plates and wipes.

8.3.3 Carefully remove the lid from the plate with one hand. With the other hand, hold the base (agar portion of the plate) with thumb and middle finger. Use index finger to gently press the plate on the test surface. Make sure the entire agar surface touches the test surface. Do not move the plate laterally while sampling as it will spread contaminates making enumeration difficult. Immediately replace the lid on the plate.

8.3.3.1 In the ISO 5 area, at no point are the exterior of the plates or the sampling personnel's gloves to contact the deck of the PEC. Plates should be held during this process or placed on a sterile, non-shedding wipe (obtained from the Hood being sampled) outside of the DCA.

8.3.4 Saturate a wipe with 70% sIPA, wiping should be conducted in a unidirectional motion (cleanest to dirtiest) to remove any residual media.

8.3.4.1 Saturated wipes are to be used in the ISO 5 PECs to avoid damage to the HEPA filters and avoid contamination or disruption of compounding.

AnazaoHealth®

Section Name: Compounding	Procedure Name: Cleaning and Disinfection of the Sterile Suite
Procedure #: AHCT-SOP-0095	Revision: 2 Effective Date: 14 Nov 2024

1.0 Purpose

1.1 To describe, standardize, and define the process by which the controlled environments (ISO Class 5, 7, and 8) and the unclassified General Pharmacy Area are cleaned, disinfected, and maintained in a manner that ensures an environment suitable for compounding sterile preparations. Human and environmental contact are a major source of microbial contamination of CSPs, therefore scrupulous attention to cleaning and disinfecting of the areas used for sterile compounding is required to reduce and minimize this potential source of CSP contamination.

2.0 Scope

2.1 This applies to pharmacists, technicians, and any personnel involved in cleaning the compounding area at AnazaoHealth Tampa.

3.0 Responsibilities

3.1 Pharmacy Manager, or designee, is responsible for ensuring that all affected employees receive training and that procedures are adhered to.

7.0 Policy

7.1 The Microbiologist will designate appropriate cleaning agents based upon careful consideration of compatibility, effectiveness, and appropriateness of cleaning and compounding residues and surface materials.

7.1.1 Any new cleaning agents will be tested for disinfection efficacy prior to being used in the clean room.

7.2 There is no scientific basis at the time of this policy writing to suggest that alternation of cleaning agents is necessary. The possibility of producing germicidal resistant microorganisms does not apply to cleaning of controlled pharmacy environments.

7.3 All personnel who perform cleaning and disinfecting functions must successfully complete the following:

7.3.1.1 Personnel, Hand Hygiene, Garbing and GFT

7.3.1.2 Overview of Cleaning and Disinfection of Pharmacy Controlled Environments

7.3.1.3 Cleaning and Disinfection of PECs

7.3.1.4 Cleaning and Disinfection of SECs and Segregated Compounding Areas

7.3.1.5 Aseptic Technique and Conduct of Controlled Environments

7.3.2 AHCT-WI-0026 Gloved Fingertip Sampling

7.3.3 AHCT-FORM-0027 Gowning Competency and GFT Log

7.3.4 AHCT-FORM-0029 Cleaning and Disinfecting Competency

This copy expires on 06 Jan 2025 at 08:28:17 am. Document Effective Date: 14 Nov 2024

7.4 In general, cleaning must occur from the cleanest areas to the dirtiest areas. The lowest ISO 5 classified areas, including PECs, must be cleaned before the ISO 7 classified buffer areas, followed by the ISO Class 8 anteroom (clean side)/de-gowning rooms, and lastly the ISO 8 classified anteroom (dirty side).

7.4.1 Perform necessary restocking or other in room activities prior to cleaning and floor cleaning so that buffer area/cleanroom may be exited and allowed to dry and remain at rest until the next shift.

7.4.2 NOTE: Custodial/housekeeping personnel may NOT clean any ISO classified areas.

7.5 Any compounding equipment (i.e., automated compounders, devices, or pumps) placed into ISO Class 5 PECs are subject to the same cleaning requirements as the LAFW and BSC itself.

7.5.1 If any sterile compounding equipment is removed from the ISO Class 5 area or the ISO 7 buffer area/cleanroom, it must be cleaned and disinfected according to AHCT-SOP-0037 prior to being placed back into service within that environment.

7.6 An "easily cleanable work surface" means easily cleanable horizontal surfaces including, but not limited to, tabletops, work surfaces, cart and table shelves, tops of microwaves, tops of trash cans, and bottom cross bars of tables.

7.7 Though the General Pharmacy Area is not an ISO classified environment it must be kept clean and orderly and is included in Section 13.0.

7.8 Ideally, cleaning of the PECs, buffer area, and ante-areas should occur at the end of compounding day to prevent any component residue from sitting overnight and promoting bacterial growth.

7.8.1 If cleaning occurs at the start of the compounding day, adequate time must be given to allow all cleaned surfaces to dry prior to starting any compounding activity.

7.8.2 If any compounding occurs during after-hours conditions (on-call situation), additional cleaning must occur after compounding and the tasks initiated and documented in Simplifi797®.

7.9 Cleaning and disinfection of the controlled environments will NOT be performed while compounding is taking place.

7.10 The gown and gloves worn during any cleaning activity must be discarded and replaced by a new sterile gown and sterile gloves prior to any compounding preparation.

7.11 The gloves worn during cleaning activities in any ISO 7 or ISO 8 areas must be discarded and replaced by new sterile gloves prior to cleaning any ISO 5 area.

7.12.1 Shall be stored in a designated area to ensure segregation from compounding supplies.

7.12.1.1 All buckets or sprayers used must be stored in the Sterile suite.

7.12.2 Materials used (wipers, sponges, mops, etc.) must be non-shedding and preferably composed of synthetic microfibers.

7.12.2.1 No high particle shedding materials may enter the ISO classified areas during cleaning. This includes corrugated cardboard or other non-compounding-related items.

This copy expires on 06 Jan 2025 at 08:28:17 am. Document Effective Date: 14 Nov 2024

7.12.3 Sterile wipes must be used to clean inside any ISO 5 Classified area, including PECs.

7.12.4 Materials used must be dedicated to a particular area (buffer area/cleanroom, ante-area/room, segregated compounding area, etc.) and will not be moved from these areas except for disposal.

7.12.5 Ideally all cleaning tools are to be discarded after one use.

7.12.6 Cleaning and disinfecting supplies used in the PEC must be sterile with the exception of tool handles and holders which must be cleaned and disinfected before and after use in a PEC.

7.12.7 Floor mops may be used in the ISO 5 room, followed by the ISO 7 buffer area/cleanroom, then the ISO 8 anteroom (clean side)/de-gowning, and lastly in the ISO 8 anteroom (dirty side) as long as they are used in that order.

7.12.7.1 Sterile bucket liners must be used to ensure the disinfectants remain sterile.

7.12.7.1.1 A sterile liner must be placed inside the portion of the bucket where the sterile disinfectant will be used.

7.12.8 If using a sterile-lined mop bucket to perform cleaning, allow mop heads to soak in their solution for approximately 5 minutes prior to the start of cleaning.

7.12.9 A new disposable mop head will be used each day in the ISO 5/ISO 7/ISO 8 areas.

7.12.10 The same bucket may be used for the Walls/Ceiling cleaning and floor cleaning as long as the sterile bucket liner used for Walls/Ceiling is discarded and is replaced with a new sterile bucket liner for the floor cleaning.

7.12.11 For any reusable cleaning equipment:

7.12.11.1 Used mop heads will be removed from the pole immediately after use.

7.12.11.2 Buckets must be inverted and allowed to dry. Make sure the inverted buckets are propped up on one side to allow air to circulate.

7.12.11.3 Manufacturer's instructions for the equipment must be followed to ensure that the effectiveness of the device is maintained, and that repeated use does not add bioburden to the areas cleaned.

7.13.2 Inspect for cleaning product expiration dates.

7.13.2.1 Agents will be labeled with initials, date of opening, and expiration date.

7.13.2.2 Once opened, sterile cleaning agents can be used for up to 10 days before discarding if used only in the controlled environment.

7.13.2.3 Note: Some agents have a Julian code printed by the manufacturer on the bottle which indicates the day the product was manufactured. Refer to the manufacturer's information for the recommended expiration date in relation to the Julian code.

This copy expires on 06 Jan 2025 at 08:28:17 am. Document Effective Date: 14 Nov 2024

7.13.3 Some agents must be diluted. Follow manufacturer's recommendations regarding appropriate dilutions. Proper dilutions are stated within each cleaning task in Simplifi797®.

7.13.3.1 Appropriate amounts of the designated agents are measured using a graduated cylinder.

7.13.3.2 Sterile water (sterile water for injection or irrigation) must be used to dilute cleaning/disinfectant solutions according to manufacturers' directions.

7.13.4 Insert the sterile liner in the buckets, fill the B-7 bucket or stainless-steel bucket or sprayer bottle (if bucket-less system is used) with the appropriate amount of water then add the correct amount of sterile agent to the water to reduce the likelihood of splashing.

7.13.5 Document the preparation of the cleaning solution in Simplifi797® immediately after preparing the solution.

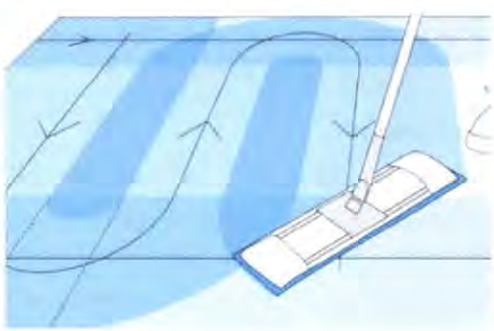
7.14 General considerations when cleaning floors:

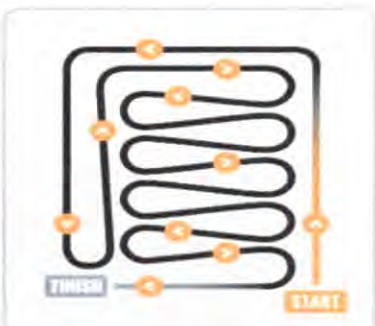
7.14.1 Clean floors after the ISO Class 5 areas and ISO 7 tabletops and other easily cleanable work surfaces have been cleaned and disinfected.

7.14.2 Begin at the location farthest from the buffer area/cleanroom entrance working toward the exit to avoid walking over cleaned areas.

7.14.2.1 If an item needs to be removed from an area already mopped, the employee must wait until the floor dries or re-mop the area after changing their shoe covers.

7.14.3 Thoroughly wet all surfaces completely and allow for the appropriate dwell time for the disinfecting solution. Using an "S" pattern to clean or apply solution, move side to side using overlapping strokes. Mopping in one direction creates an effective cleaning technique. Follow the pattern as indicated below, saturate the mop and repeat the pattern every 25 sq/ft (or 5 ft x 5 ft) section





7.14.4 Move any roll-able carts, shelving, and chairs as cleaning is completed.

7.14.4.1 NOTE: At no time is an ISO 5 LAFW or BSC to be moved. Prior to certification, they are placed away from the walls to allow cleaning to be done around the hood. If at any time they are moved, it will require recertification of the LAFW or BSC.

This copy expires on 06 Jan 2025 at 08:28:17 am. Document Effective Date: 14 Nov 2024

7.15 Safety Considerations:

7.15.1 Safety goggles must be worn during cleaning of ceiling and walls when there is an increased likelihood of splashing or dripping of solution.

7.15.2 Safety Data Sheets must be readily available for reference in the pharmacy for all disinfectants used in the cleaning and disinfecting process.

7.15.3 AHCT-FORM-0031 Hazardous Drug Spill Report Form is to be completed if a spill occurs with a hazardous drug.

8.0 Cleaning LAFW / BSCs:

8.1 Gown and glove, in accordance with AHCT-SOP-0094 Sterile Gowning Procedure.

8.2 If the LAFW / BSC has been turned off, restart and allow to run a minimum of 30 minutes prior to cleaning. Ideally, PECs should never be turned off.

8.3 Inspect the inside of the hood/bench for any spills or puddles of crystallized compounding components. Clean the spills with sterile water prior to proceeding with the cleaning procedure.

8.4 At the start of each new workday, the LAFWs / BSCs must be wiped down with a sterile non-shedding wipe saturated with 70% sIPA as part of the Morning Sanitization.

8.4.1 NOTE: Do not splash or spray the HEPA filter with solution. Carefully clean the HEPA grills.

8.5 Begin cleaning within the LAFW / BSC environment by moving outward, working from inner to outer surface.

8.5.1 NOTE: The wipe should be used in a side to side, back to front motion to allow cleaning from the cleanest to "dirtiest" area. DO NOT wipe in a large circular motion across the work surface, as it is likely contaminants and particulate matter will be introduced into the rear portion of the hood as they are captured, carried, and deposited from the front edge of the PEC.

8.5.2 Place used wipers onto sterile wipe on hood deck, or discard while cleaning. Remove all used wipers after cleaning of the BSC/LAFW has been completed.

8.6 Additionally, ISO Class 5 PECs will be disinfected with 70% sIPA:

8.6.1 After cleaning to remove any residue,

8.6.2 Immediately before initiating compounding,

8.6.3 And to the horizontal work surface of a PEC at least every 30 minutes, or if compounding takes >30 minutes, disinfect immediately after compounding.

8.7 Any use of 70% sIPA is to remain in contact with surfaces for a minimum of 10 seconds.

8.8 BSCs used for hazardous compounding must first be decontaminated (using Peridox RTU, sodium hypochlorite, etc.) prior to cleaning.

9.0 Daily Cleaning and Disinfection (ISO 5, ISO 7 and ISO 8)

9.1 Each compounding day, all ISO 5, ISO 7, and ISO 8 areas will be cleaned and disinfected using the following agents:

9.1.1 Sporicidal disinfectant Peridox RTU

Printed on: 07 Jan 2025, 08:28:30 am; Printed by: KIMBERLY.YOST.

This copy expires on 06 Jan 2025 at 08:28:17 am. Document Effective Date: 14 Nov 2024

9.5 Floors will be mopped with either sterile LpH or sterile Vesphene.

9.6 Cleaning is performed in this order:

9.6.1 Inside surfaces of ISO Class 5 PECs

9.6.2 Tabletops and easily cleanable horizontal surfaces in the ISO 7 buffer area/clean room and pass-thrus.

9.6.3 Floors in the ISO 7 buffer area/cleanroom from farthest point away from the door progressing toward the door to the ISO 8 ante-area while moving easily moveable carts and shelving.

9.6.4 Tabletops, sink, and easily cleanable work surfaces in the ISO 8 ante-area as long as those areas are on the "clean side" of the line of demarcation.

9.6.6 Floors of the ante-area/room.

9.7 Sterile ISO 5 Room

9.7.1 Opening and closing cleaning is not necessary if no compounding or media fill activities will be occurring that day.

9.7.2 If the room was not used during the week, the weekly cleaning and disinfection must still occur per Section 10.0.

This copy expires on 08 Jan 2025 at 08:28:17 am. Document Effective Date: 14 Nov 2024

10.2 For the Sterile ISO 5 room all easily accessible horizontal ISO 5 surfaces will be cleaned with sporicidal disinfectant Peridox RTU followed by 70% sIPA after the 3-minute dwell time.

10.3 Floors will be mopped with sporicidal disinfectant Peridox RTU or Spor Klenz.

1.0 Purpose

1.1 The purpose of this work instruction is to describe the process to follow when performing a visual inspection for particulate matter in vials, syringes or bags.

2.0 Scope

2.1 This applies to all technicians and pharmacists that are responsible for particulate checks on vials, syringes, or bags.

3.0 Responsibilities

3.1 The Pharmacy Manager or designee is responsible for ensuring that all affected employees receive training on this work instruction and that the instructions are adhered to.

4.0 Definitions

4.1 CSP – Compounded Sterile Preparation

5.0 Reference Documents

5.1 USP <788>

6.0 Equipment

6.1 Black/white light box

7.0 Instructions

7.1 Visual inspection of Vial units

7.1.1 Perform the physical unit inspection: Inspect one vial at a time for container/physical defects.

7.1.1.1 Note: For non-radioactive lyophilized CSPs – 10 vials per batch will be sent to a lab for USP <788> particulate testing.

7.1.2 Initially hold the vial at the cap and rotate the unit 360°, inspecting the entire circumference of the neck and body of the vial for any container defects (ie cracks, chipped material, loose glass, etc).

7.1.3 Then hold the vial upside down (cap side grasped by inspector's fingers and the bottom of the vial facing the inspector) to identify any container defects.

7.1.4 Finally, switch to holding the bottom of the vial, and then perform an inspection of the cap by rotating the unit 360° (grasped from the base of the vial by the inspector's fingers) until the entire cap circumference has been inspected.

7.1.5 Perform the inspection for particulate in the solution: Grasp the vial by the cap and gently swirl the solution (no not shake), trying not to create air bubble formation.

7.1.6 Hold the vial still and inspect for 5 seconds in front of the white background, looking for floating and/or falling particulate matter. Remember to inspect from the bottom to top of the vial during this process.

7.1.7 Repeat this process for the vial in front of the black background.

7.1.8 Document any number of vials rejected on the batch record. Notify a supervisor if the number of vials rejected >10% of total batch for further investigation.

7.2.1 Perform the physical unit inspection: Inspect one syringe at a time for container/physical defects.

7.2.2 Initially hold the syringe at the plunger end and rotate the unit 360°, inspecting the tip and barrel of the syringe for any container defects (ie missing scale markings, chipped material, leaking plunger, etc).

7.2.3 Then perform an inspection of the cap by rotating the unit 360° (grasped from the base of the syringe by the inspector's fingers) until the entire cap circumference has been inspected.

7.2.4 Perform the inspection for particulate in the solution: Grasp the syringe at the plunger end and gently invert the unit. Return the syringe to an upright position (plunger grasped in inspector's fingers and cap facing up).

7.2.5 Hold the syringe still and inspect for 5 seconds in front of the white background, looking for any floating and/or falling particulate matter. Remember to inspect from the bottom to top of the syringe during this process.

7.3 Visual inspection of Bags:

7.3.1 Perform the physical unit inspection: Inspect one bag at a time for container/physical defects.

7.3.2 Initially hold the bag at the top and rotate the unit 360°, inspecting the corners and ports for any container defects (ie leaking solution, unwanted marks on bag, etc).

7.3.3 Perform the inspection for particulate in the solution: Grasp the bag at the top and gently invert the unit. Return the bag to an upright position, looking for any floating and or/falling particulate matter. Remember to inspect from the bottom to top of the bag during this process.

7.3.4 Notify a supervisor if any defect is found for further investigation.
