Hi,

Good Afternoon! I would like to share my experiences with the GentleCath Glide Feel Clean technology, which represents the third generation of catheters. These catheters utilize PVP-free, pure water at the point of use, ensuring a smooth and comfortable experience without any stickiness or dryness. We offer samples to patients who may be experiencing discomfort while using catheters, as well as provide education on the best catheter options available for those with mobility or dexterity challenges. For instance, the TruCath Oasis features a convenient finger loop on the packaging and a gripper that assists users with limited dexterity. Additionally, the Speedicath Soft is designed with a gripper to facilitate insertion, while the Speedicath itself is firm enough to be securely held by the funnel. Our goal is to ensure that every patient finds the right support and comfort in their catheter experience.

Thank you,

Crystal

Good morning Bonnie,

Pursuant to Florida Administrative Code, Rule 59A-25.002(2), considers disposable supplies as items that do not require services, and therefore indicates that locations providing ONLY disposable items will not require Home Medical Equipment state licensure.

F.A.C. 59A-25.002 (2): Home medical equipment locations that do not require a license: Diabetic monitors and disposable supplies, e.g., diabetic, ostomy, urological and wound care supplies have been identified as equipment and supplies that do not require services as defined in Section 400.925(9), F.S.; therefore, locations that supply these items only will not require a HME license.

Subject: Florida HME Licensure Regulation

Good morning Ms. Meadows and thank you so very much for taking my call today.

As mentioned, we would like to confirm our interpretation of your regs as it pertains to a Florida DME Provider that dispenses disposable supplies limited to:

- Ostomy supplies
- Urological supplies
- wound care supplies
- disposable drain bag considered a legend device

It is our understanding that all of the supplies listed above fall under the "disposable" Category of Equipment per AHCA Regulation, specifically 59A-25.005(1)(c), F.A.C. of Aspen State Regulation Set: O 3.02 Home Medical Equipment.

Kindly confirm our understanding and or provide the applicable regulation (s).

Thank you,
Bonnie

Hi Kristy –

Heather Edmunds is the only officer of the company. She is the CEO and 7% owner listed on the ownership document.

I've attached the full list of owners and list of Medicaid enrollment ID numbers. Please let me know if you need anything else from me to move our application forward.

Thank you!

Wholesaler" means a wholesale distributor as defined by 21 C.F.R. § 205.3(g) who supplies or distributes drugs, medicines or chemicals or devices or appliances that are restricted by federal law to sale by or on the order of a physician to a person other than the consumer or patient. The term includes a person who derives, produces, prepares or repackages drugs, medicines or chemicals or devices or appliances that are restricted by federal law to sale by or on the order of a physician on sales orders for resale. The term does not include a nonprofit cooperative agricultural organization which supplies or distributes veterinary drugs and medicines only to its own members.

This Power of Attorney is made and executed pursuant to and by authority of the following By-laws and Authorizations of The Ohio Casualty Insurance Company, Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, and West American Insurance Company which resolutions are now in full force and effect reading as follows:

ARTICLE IV - OFFICERS; Section 12. Power of Attorney.

Any officer or other official of the Corporation authorized for that purpose in writing by the Chairman or the President, and subject to such limitation as the Chairman or the President may prescribe, shall appoint such attorneys-in-fact, as may be necessary to act in behalf of the Corporation to make, execute, seal, acknowledge and deliver as surety any and all undertakings, bonds, recognizances and other surety obligations. Such attorneys-in-fact, subject to the limitations set forth in their respective powers of attorney, shall have full power to bind the Corporation by their signature and execution of any such instruments and to attach thereto the seal of the Corporation. When so executed, such instruments shall be as binding as if signed by the President and attested to by the Secretary. Any power or authority granted to any representative or attorney-in-fact under the provisions of this article may be revoked at any time by the Board, the Chairman, the President or by the officer or officers granting such power or authority.

ARTICLE XIII - Execution of Contracts; Section 5. Surety Bonds and Undertakings.

Any officer of the Company authorized for that purpose in writing by the chairman or the president, and subject to such limitations as the chairman or the president may prescribe, shall appoint such attorneys-in-fact, as may be necessary to act in behalf of the Company to make, execute, seal, acknowledge and deliver as surety any and all undertakings, bonds, recognizances and other surety obligations. Such attorneys-in-fact subject to the limitations set forth in their respective powers of attorney, shall have full power to bind the Company by their signature and execution of any such instruments and to attach thereto the seal of the Company. When so executed such instruments shall be as binding as if signed by the president and attested by the secretary.

Certificate of Designation - The President of the Company, acting pursuant to the Bylaws of the Company, authorizes Nathan J. Zangerle, Assistant Secretary to appoint such attorneys-in-fact as may be necessary to act on behalf of the Company to make, execute, seal, acknowledge and deliver as surety any and all undertakings, bonds, recognizances and other surety obligations.

Authorization - By unanimous consent of the Company's Board of Directors, the Company consents that facsimile or mechanically reproduced signature of any assistant secretary of the Company, wherever appearing upon a certified copy of any power of attorney issued by the Company in connection with surety bonds, shall be valid and binding upon the Company with the same force and effect as though manually affixed.

I, Renee C. This bond secures payment of any administrative fines imposed by the Board pursuant to NRS 639.255 and any costs incurred by the Board regarding the license of Applicant/Principal that are imposed pursuant to NRS 622.400 or 622.410 which the Applicant/Principal fails to pay,

THIS BOND is subject to the following conditions:

- (1) This bond shall be deemed continuous in form and shall remain in full force and effect and shall run concurrently with the license period for which the license is granted and each and every succeeding license period or periods for which said Applicant/Principal may be licensed, after which liability hereunder shall cease except as to any liability or indebtedness therefore incurred or accrued hereunder.
- (2) This bond is executed by the Applicant/Principal and the Surety to comply with the provisions of NRS 639.515 and said bond shall be subject to all of the terms and provisions thereof.
- (3) The Surety, its successors and assigns, are jointly and severally liable on the obligations of the bond.
- (4) The limitations of the liability of the Surety and the conditions of the bond are set forth in NRS 639.515. Any claim by the Board may be made directly to the Surety and need not be preceded by the filing of any action in a proper court. Payment of any such claim shall be payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy.
- (5) The aggregate liability of the Surety hereunder on all claims whatsoever shall not exceed the penal sum of this bond in any event.
- (6) This bond may not be cancelled by the Surety without first giving the Board written notice at least thirty days in advance of any intent to cancel the bond.
- (7) The Applicant/Principal and Surety may be served with notices, papers and other documents at the addresses given above.

I certify or declare under penalty of perjury, under the laws of the State of Nevada, that I have executed the foregoing bond on behalf of the Surety under an unrevoked power of attorney.

In witness whereof, each party to this bond has caused it to be executed on this

Item 7.01 Regulation FD Disclosure

On September 11, 2025, AbbVie announced that it has settled litigation with all generic manufacturers that filed abbreviated new drug applications with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration for generic versions of upadacitinib tablets, which AbbVie markets as RINVOQ.

Given the settlement and license agreements, which are subject to standard acceleration provisions, assuming pediatric exclusivity is granted, no generic entry for any upadacitinib tablets is expected prior to April 2037 in the United States.

Provide explanation below:

Statement in Explanation of "Yes" Re Denial of Licenses Application

On January 25, 2019 and May 6, 2019, the Utah Department of Commerce ("UDOC"), due to application non-completeness, denied Cintas Corporation No. 2's ("Cintas") applications of Pharmacy - Class E permits for facilities located in Henderson, Nevada and Mason, Ohio.

Cintas subsequently renewed the application for the Henderson, Nevada facility and the UDOC did ultimately issue the permit to Cintas on June 4, 2019 (Permit No. 11279941-1714).

In addition to issuing the permit to Cintas for the facility in Henderson, Nevada, the UDOC has also issued permits to Cintas for facilities in Salt Lake City (11107516-1714), and Sparks, Nevada (11080860-1714).

The Whom It May Concern,

The State of Ohio Board of Pharmacy (Board) only licenses facilities that possess, store, sell or compound dangerous drugs as defined in ORC 4729.01(F).

(F) "Dangerous drug" means any of the following:

(1) Any drug to which either of the following applies:

(a) Under the "Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act," 52 Stat. 1040 (1938), 21 U.S.C.A. 301, as amended, the drug is required to bear a label containing the legend "Caution: Federal law prohibits dispensing without prescription" or "Caution: Federal law restricts this drug to use by or on the order of a licensed veterinarian" or any similar restrictive statement, or the drug may be dispensed only upon a prescription;

(b) Under Chapter 3715, or 3719, of the Revised Code, the drug may be dispensed only upon a prescription.

(2) Any drug that contains a schedule V controlled substance and that is exempt from Chapter 3719, of the Revised Code or to which that chapter does not apply;

(3) Any drug intended for administration by injection into the human body other than through a natural orifice of the human body;

(4) Any drug that is a biological product, as defined in section 3715.01 of the Revised Code.

Additionally, the Board only licenses home medical equipment service providers that engage in the sale, delivery, installation, maintenance, replacement or demonstration of home medical equipment as defined in ORC 4752.01(B).

(B) "Home medical equipment" means equipment that can stand repeated use, is primarily and customarily used to serve a medical purpose, is not useful to a person in the absence of illness or injury, is appropriate for use in the home, and is one or more of the following:

(1) Life-sustaining equipment prescribed by an authorized health care professional that mechanically sustains, restores, or supplants a vital bodily function, such as breathing;

(2) Technologically sophisticated medical equipment prescribed by an authorized health care professional that requires individualized adjustment or regular maintenance by a home medical equipment services provider to maintain a patient's health care condition or the effectiveness of the equipment;

(3) An item specified by the state board of pharmacy in rules adopted under division (B) of section 4752.17 of the Revised Code.

Therefore, any over-the-counter medication or medical device that does not contain a dangerous drug or considered to be home medical equipment does not require licensure from our agency.

In the state of Ohio, Cintas' facility (Mason FAS DC) is not required to be licensed, because Ohio does not regulate the distribution of over-the-counter drugs, medical devices that do not contain dangerous drugs, and AEDs.

Karrie Southard

Item 1. Business

Overview

Cintas Corporation (Cintas, Company, we, us or our), a Washington corporation, helps more than one million businesses of all types and sizes, primarily in the United States (U.S.), as well as Canada and Latin America, get READY™ to open their doors with confidence every day by providing a wide range of products and services that enhance our customers' image and help keep their facilities and employees clean, safe and looking their best. With products and services including uniforms, mats, mops, restroom supplies, first aid and safety products, fire extinguishers and testing, and safety training, Cintas helps customers get Ready for the Workday®. Cintas was founded in 1968 by Richard T. Farmer when he left his family's industrial laundry business in order to develop uniform programs using an exclusive new fabric. In the early 1970's, Cintas acquired the family industrial laundry business. Over the years, Cintas developed additional products and services that complemented its core uniform business and broadened the scope of products and services available to its customers.

Business Segments

Cintas' reportable operating segments are the Uniform Rental and Facility Services operating segment and the First Aid and Safety Services operating segment. The Uniform Rental and Facility Services reportable operating segment consists of the rental and servicing of uniforms and other garments, including flame resistant clothing, mats, mops and shop towels and other ancillary items. In addition to these rental items, restroom cleaning services and supplies and the sale of items from our catalogs to our customers on route are included within this reportable operating segment. The First Aid and Safety Services reportable operating segment consists of first aid and safety products and services. The remainder of Cintas' business, which consists of the Fire Protection Services operating segment and the Uniform Direct Sale operating segment, is included in All Other.

The following table sets forth Cintas' total revenue and the revenue derived from each reportable operating segment and the remaining operating segments included in All Other for the fiscal years ended May 31:

(In thousands)	2024	2023	2022
Uniform Rental and Facility Services	$ 7,465,199	$ 6,897,130	$ 6,226,980
First Aid and Safety Services	1,067,334	951,496	832,458
All Other	1,064,082	967,143	795,021
Total Revenue	$ 9,596,615	$ 8,815,769	$ 7,854,459

Additional information regarding each reportable operating segment and All Other is also included in "Item 8. Financial Statements and Supplementary Data," in Note 14 entitled Operating Segment Information of "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements."

Customers

We provide our products and services to over one million businesses of all types, from small service and manufacturing companies to major corporations that employ thousands of people. This diversity in customer base results in no individual customer accounting for greater than one percent of Cintas' total revenue. As a result, the loss of one account would not have a material financial impact on Cintas.

Competition

The primary markets served by each of the Cintas operating segments are local in nature and highly fragmented. Cintas competes with national, regional and local providers, large national retailers and small local retailers as well as companies with a significant online presence and the level of competition varies at each of Cintas' local operations. In addition, businesses may decide to perform certain services in-house instead of outsourcing these services. Product, design, price, quality, service and convenience to the customer are the competitive elements in each of our operating segments.

Operations and Distribution

Within the Uniform Rental and Facility Services reportable operating segment, Cintas provides its products and services to customers via local delivery routes originating from rental processing plants and branches. Within the First Aid and Safety Services reportable operating segment and All Other, Cintas provides its products and services via its distribution network and local delivery routes or local representatives. At May 31, 2024, Cintas, in total, had approximately 11,700 local delivery routes, 467 operational facilities and 12 distribution centers.

Sourcing

Cintas is committed to sourcing responsibly. Cintas sources finished products from many outside suppliers. As mentioned on our website, www.cintas.com, each and every supplier must comply with a vendor code of conduct as a condition of doing business with Cintas. Cintas also conducts internal training to ensure that employee-partners who have direct responsibility for supply chain management are knowledgeable and aware of issues and concerns surrounding our supply chain. In addition to sourcing from third-party suppliers, Cintas operates five manufacturing facilities that provide for standard uniform needs. Cintas purchases fabric, used in the manufacturing of its products, from several suppliers. Cintas' ability to find qualified suppliers who meet its standards and to access products in a timely and efficient manner, is subject to ongoing market risks. For a discussion of the risks associated with sourcing that may materially impact Cintas, please see "Item 1A: Risk Factors - Risks Relating to Business Strategy and Operations."

Government Laws and Regulations

Cintas is subject to a wide array of laws, government regulations, including environmental regulations, and standards in each domestic and foreign jurisdiction in which it operates. In addition to Cintas' U.S. operations, which generated over 90% of its consolidated revenue in all periods presented, Cintas also operates its business through wholly owned subsidiaries in foreign jurisdictions, primarily in Canada. Compliance with these laws, government regulations, including environmental regulations, and standards requires the dedication of time and effort of employee-partners as well as financial resources.

Compliance with environmental regulations and prioritizing our environmental sustainability efforts are important to us as a good corporate citizen. Our journey started in 1929 during the Great Depression when Doc and Amelia Farmer collected shop towels that had been disposed by manufacturing facilities along the Ohio River. They washed, recycled and sold the clean towels back to companies. Today, the majority of our total Company revenue comes from our Uniform Rental and Facility Services reportable operating segment. Most of these items are cleaned and processed in ways that extend their lifespan and, when not in use, are re-stocked for future customers to maximize their lifespan. Our laundering processes generate far less wastewater than home laundering. Water discharged into the environment is treated at our operating facilities and in accordance with local discharge standards and permits. Our lasting commitment to the environment and our communities is evident from our processes and innovation, which are designed to ensure that our operational facilities are operating efficiently. Cintas is subject to various environmental laws and regulations, as are other companies in the uniform rental industry. The primary federal statutes that apply to our activities in the U.S. are the Clean Air Act, the Clean Water Act and the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act. We are also subject to the Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act of 1986, which imposes certain reporting requirements as to emissions of hazardous substances into the air, land and water. While environmental compliance is not a material component of our costs, Cintas makes capital expenditures and associated operating costs, primarily for water treatment and waste removal, on a regular basis in order to comply with environmental laws and regulations, to promote employee-partner safety and to carry out its environmental sustainability principles. Environmental spending related to water treatment and waste removal was approximately $27.0 million in fiscal 2024, approximately $26.0 million in fiscal 2023 and approximately $22.0 million in fiscal 2022. Capital expenditures to limit or monitor hazardous substances totaled approximately $1.7 million in fiscal 2024, approximately $1.0 million in fiscal 2023 and approximately $0.2 million in fiscal 2022.

In addition, health and safety regulations have necessitated, and may continue to necessitate, increased operating costs or capital investments to promote a safe working environment. Cintas is also required to comply with increasingly complex and changing laws and regulations enacted to protect business and personal data in the U.S. and other jurisdictions regarding privacy, data protection and data security, including those related to the collection, storage, use, transmission and protection of personal information and other consumer, customer, vendor or employee data. With respect to the laws and regulations noted above, as well as other applicable laws and regulations, Cintas' compliance programs may under certain circumstances involve material investments in the form of additional processes, training, personnel, information technology and capital. In fiscal 2024, compliance with the applicable laws, government regulations, including environmental regulations, and standards did not have a material effect on Cintas' capital expenditures or consolidated results of operations. For a discussion of the risks associated with government regulations that may materially impact Cintas, please see "Item 1A: Risk Factors—Legal and Regulatory Risks."

Communication

Cintas uses its corporate website, www.cintas.com, as a channel for routine distribution of important information, including news releases, analyst presentations and financial information and for complying with our disclosure obligations under Regulation FD. Cintas files with, or furnishes to, the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) Annual Reports on Form 10-K, Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q, Current Reports on Form 8-K and any amendments to those reports, as well as proxy statements and annual reports to shareholders, and, from time to time, other documents. The reports and other documents filed with or furnished to the SEC are available to investors on or through our corporate website free of charge as soon as reasonably practicable after we electronically file them with or furnish them to the SEC. The SEC maintains an internet site located at www.sec.gov that contains reports, proxy and information statements and other information regarding issuers, such as Cintas, that file electronically with the SEC. Cintas' SEC filings can be found on the Investor Relations page of its website at www.cintas.com/investors/financial-reports and its Code of Conduct and Business Ethics can be found under the Impact page of its website at www.cintas.com/company/esg. Cintas intends to post any amendments or waivers to its Code of Conduct and Business Ethics on its website within four business days after approval. These documents are available in print to any shareholder who requests a copy by writing or calling Cintas as set forth on the Investor Information page under the FAQs. The content on any website referred to in this Annual Report on Form 10-K is not incorporated herein by reference unless expressly noted.

Sustainability

In fiscal 2024, Cintas published its fourth annual sustainability report and reported on Cintas' continued strategy of a Shared Drive for Better. The report included information on Cintas' efforts in areas of climate and energy initiatives, water interactions, materials and waste, sustainable supply chain, diversity, equity and inclusion efforts, employee-partner development, safety and health strategy, human rights and labor rights positions and governance, ethics and integrity foundations. Cintas' most recent sustainability report can be found on our website at www.cintas.com/company/esg.

Human Capital

Cintas' key human capital management objectives are to attract, retain and develop talent to deliver on the Company's strategy. To support these objectives, Cintas' human resources programs are designed to: keep people safe and healthy; enhance the Company's culture through efforts aimed at making the workplace more inclusive; acquire and retain diverse talent; reward and support employee-partners through competitive pay and benefit programs; develop talent to prepare them for critical roles and leadership positions; and facilitate internal talent mobility to create a high-performing workforce. The principles and values our employee-partners share are the driving force behind all our accomplishments. At May 31, 2024, Cintas employed approximately 46,500 employee-partners in our global workforce, of which approximately 1,000 were represented by labor unions.

Our primary areas of focus in managing our human capital include the following:

Corporate Culture

We believe that our culture at Cintas is just as essential as our products and services. Our culture impacts the quality of the employee-partners we hire, the way we communicate and interact with our customers and each other and our performance standards. Our culture is the cornerstone representing our values, our behaviors, our way of working and how we approach our business, which is strong relationships and a dedication to taking care of one another and our customers. We operate according to the Cintas Code of Conduct and Business Ethics, available on our website www.cintas.com, which mandates full compliance with applicable laws and regulations and helps to preserve the integrity of our Company.

Talent Development

Cintas is committed to the continued development of its employee-partners. We provide numerous training opportunities for our employee-partners, with a focus on continuous learning and development and methodologies to manage performance, provide feedback and develop talent. We offer a wide array of training solutions (classroom, hands-on and e-learning) for our employee-partners. Our talent development programs strive to provide employee-partners resources to achieve career goals and build management and leadership skills. We offer mentoring programs, a management trainee program and executive leadership programs to support the professional growth of our employee-partners and ensure we have the right succession plans in place.

Health and Safety

We aspire to achieve zero workplace injuries and collisions and provide a safe, open, healthy and accountable work environment for our employee-partners. To align with internationally recognized standards, we have implemented an occupational health and safety management system in accordance with the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) that is modeled after the International Organization for Standardization (ISO) 45001 and OSHA Voluntary Protection Program (VPP). Employee-partners, contractors, vendors and visitors are all covered by the system, which focuses on hazard prevention, training, management commitment and worker involvement. We are also committed to continuously improving performance through our Health and Safety Improvement Committees in every operation, while corporate health and safety employee-partners conduct annual reviews of our operations. Additionally, every year our employee-partners receive online, on-the-job and classroom training on over 50 health and safety topics, and all maintenance staff must complete our award-winning Maintenance Safety Certification process. Every Cintas driver completes monthly driver safety training courses and/or on-the-road skills evaluations. All production-related managers attend OSHA's 10-hour Safety Improvement course, and each member of our Senior Management team takes the Management and Leadership Skills for Environmental Health and Safety Professionals Course, part of the Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health safety and health curriculum. In addition, we provide several channels for all employee-partners to speak up, ask for guidance and report concerns related to ethics or safety violations, and we seek to address those concerns and take appropriate actions to uphold our Cintas values and health and safety culture. Through these efforts, Cintas has reduced our recordable injury rate by over 80% since 2008, has been awarded 128 OSHA Star sites in the VPP, which is more than triple any other company in the U.S. and has received numerous safety, health and ergonomics awards from national and international groups.

Employee-Partner Wellness

We are committed to the physical and mental health and wellness of our employee-partners. We provide our employee-partners and their families with access to a variety of health and wellness programs, including our long-running Live Well program that supports employee-partners on their health and wellness journeys. We provide free annual biometric screening and health assessments at work or offsite, annual free flu shots, a tobacco cessation program, weight management programs and an employee-partner assistance program, which offers advice on mental health, legal and financial issues.

Diversity, Equity & Inclusion

Cintas supports diversity, equity and inclusion by fostering a respectful, creative and productive environment where all employee-partners can reach their full potential without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status. We actively recruit, retain, develop and advance a diverse and talented workforce. We have six Employee-Partner Business Resource Groups, focused on Women, African Americans, Hispanic and Latin Americans, Asian American/Pacific Islanders, LGBTQ+ and Military and Veteran employee-partners. These groups provide platforms for our employee-partners to showcase skills, experiences and perspectives. The Employee-Partner Business Resource Groups also help foster inclusion among all employee-partners to build awareness, recruit and retain a diverse workforce and support the overall success of Cintas. We also have a diverse Management Trainee program that helps Cintas find and develop the best talent for our leadership pipeline, and we monitor representation across management positions. Cintas' diversity, equity and inclusion efforts are led by our Senior Vice President of Human Resources and Chief Diversity Officer. This position reports to our Chief Executive Officer and works to help achieve our goals and obtain a diverse and talented workforce, which is critical to our success.

Compensation Programs and Employee Benefits

Our compensation and benefits programs provide a total rewards package designed to attract, retain and motivate our employee-partners. In addition to competitive base salaries, the total rewards package (which may vary by position and country) includes, among other items, commissions, bonuses, long-term incentives, retirement savings plans, medical insurance, prescription drug benefits, dental insurance, vision insurance, accident and critical illness insurance, life and disability insurance, health savings accounts, flexible spending accounts and an employee-partner assistance program.

Item 1A. Risk Factors

The statements in this section describe the most significant risks that could materially and adversely affect our business, consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operation and the trading price of our debt or equity securities. Although the risks are organized by headings, and each risk is discussed separately, many are interrelated. Readers should not interpret the disclosure of any risk factor to imply that the risk has not already materialized.

In addition, this section sets forth statements which constitute our cautionary statements under the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995.

This Annual Report on Form 10-K contains forward-looking statements. The Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 provides a safe harbor from civil litigation for forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements may be identified by words such as "estimates," "anticipates," "predicts," "projects," "plans," "expects," "intends," "target," "forecast," "believes," "seeks," "could," "should," "may" and "will" or the negative versions thereof and similar words, terms and expressions and by the context in which they are used. Such statements are based upon current expectations of Cintas and speak only as of the date made. You should not place undue reliance on any forward-looking statement. We cannot guarantee that any forward-looking statement will be realized. These statements are subject to various risks, uncertainties, potentially inaccurate assumptions and other factors that could cause actual results to differ from those set forth in or implied by this Annual Report. Factors that might cause such a difference include, but are not limited to, the possibility of greater than anticipated operating costs including energy and fuel costs; lower sales volumes; loss of customers due to outsourcing trends; the performance and costs of integration of acquisitions; supply chain constraints and macroeconomic conditions, including inflationary pressures and higher interest rates; fluctuations in costs of materials and labor, including increased medical costs; costs and possible effects of union organizing activities; failure to comply with government regulations concerning employment discrimination, employee pay and benefits and employee health and safety; the effect on operations of exchange rate fluctuations, tariffs and other political, economic and regulatory risks; uncertainties regarding any existing or newly-discovered expenses and liabilities related to environmental compliance and remediation; our ability to meet our aspirations relating to environmental, social and governance (ESG) opportunities, improvements and efficiencies; the cost, results and ongoing assessment of internal controls for financial reporting; the effect of new accounting pronouncements; risk associated with cybersecurity threats, including disruptions caused by the inaccessibility of computer systems data and cybersecurity risk management; the initiation or outcome of litigation, investigations or other proceedings; higher assumed sourcing or distribution costs of products; the disruption of operations from catastrophic or extraordinary events including global health pandemics; the amount and timing of repurchases of our common stock, if any; changes in global tax and labor laws; and the reactions of competitors in terms of price and service. Cintas undertakes no obligation to publicly release any revisions to any forward-looking statements or to otherwise update any forward-looking statements whether as a result of new information or to reflect events, circumstances or any other unanticipated developments arising after the date on which such statements are made, except otherwise as required by law. These risks and uncertainties include, but are not limited to, those described in this section and elsewhere in this report and may also be described from time to time in our future reports filed with the SEC. The risks and uncertainties described herein are not the only ones we may face. Additional risks and uncertainties presently not known to us or that we currently believe to be immaterial may also harm our business. Forward-looking and other statements in this Annual Report on Form 10-K regarding our greenhouse gas (GHG) reduction plans and other ESG aspirations are not an indication that these statements are necessarily material to investors or required to be disclosed in our filings with the SEC. In addition, historical, current and forward-looking GHG-related and/or ESG-related statements may be based on standards for measuring progress that are still developing, internal controls and processes that continue to evolve and assumptions that are subject to change in the future.

Risks Relating to Business Strategy and Operations

Negative global economic factors may adversely affect our financial performance.

Negative economic conditions, in North America and our other markets, may adversely affect our financial performance. Higher levels of unemployment, inflation, recessionary conditions, geopolitical developments, tax rates and other changes in tax laws and other economic factors could adversely affect the demand for Cintas' products and services. Increases in labor costs, including the cost to provide employee-partner related healthcare benefits, minimum wages, labor shortages or shortages of skilled labor, regulations regarding the classification of employees and/or their eligibility for overtime wages, higher material costs for items such as fabrics and textiles, the inability to obtain insurance coverage at cost-effective rates, higher interest rates, inflation, global health pandemics, higher tax rates and other changes in tax laws and other economic factors could increase our costs of rental uniforms and facility services, cost of other services and selling and administrative expenses. As a result, these factors could adversely affect our revenue and consolidated results of operations.

Increased competition could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

We operate in highly competitive industries and compete with national, regional and local providers. Product, design, price, quality, service and convenience to the customer are the competitive elements in these industries. If existing or future competitors seek to gain or retain market share by reducing prices, Cintas may be required to lower prices, which would adversely affect our consolidated results of operations. Cintas' competitors also generally compete with Cintas for acquisition candidates, which can increase the price for acquisitions and reduce the number of available acquisition candidates. In addition, our customers and prospects may decide to perform certain services in-house instead of outsourcing these services to us. These competitive pressures could adversely affect our revenue and consolidated results of operations.

An inability to open new, cost-effective operating facilities may adversely affect our expansion efforts.

We plan to expand our presence in existing markets and enter new markets. The opening of new operating facilities is necessary to gain the capacity required for this expansion. Our ability to open new operating facilities depends on our ability to identify attractive locations, negotiate leases or real estate purchase agreements on acceptable terms, identify and obtain adequate utility and water sources and comply with environmental regulations, zoning laws and other similar factors. Any inability to effectively identify and manage these items may adversely affect our expansion efforts, and consequently, adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Risks associated with our acquisition practice could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Historically, a portion of our growth has come from acquisitions. We continue to evaluate opportunities for acquiring businesses that may supplement our internal growth. However, there can be no assurance that we will be able to identify and purchase suitable acquisitions. In addition, the success of any acquisition, including the ability to realize anticipated cost synergies, depends in part on our ability to integrate the acquired company. The process of integrating acquired businesses may involve unforeseen difficulties and may require a disproportionate amount of our management's attention and our financial and other resources. If management is not able to effectively manage the integration process, or if any significant business activities are interrupted as a result of the integration process, we may not be able to realize anticipated cost synergies resulting from acquisitions and our business could suffer. Although we conduct due diligence investigations prior to each acquisition, there can be no assurance that we will discover or adequately protect against all material liabilities of an acquired business for which we may be responsible as a successor owner or operator. The failure to identify suitable acquisitions and successfully integrate these acquired businesses, or to discover liabilities associated with such businesses in the diligence process, could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Risks associated with the suppliers from whom our products are sourced could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

The products we sell are sourced from a wide variety of domestic and international suppliers. Global sourcing of many of the products we sell is an important factor in our financial performance. We require all our suppliers to comply with applicable laws, including labor and environmental laws, and otherwise be certified as meeting our required supplier standards of conduct. Our ability to find qualified suppliers who meet our standards, and to access products in a timely and efficient manner, is a significant challenge, especially with respect to suppliers located and goods sourced outside the U.S. Political and economic stability in the countries in which foreign suppliers are located, the financial stability of suppliers, suppliers' failure to meet our supplier standards, labor problems experienced by our suppliers, the availability of raw materials to suppliers, currency exchange rates, transport availability and cost, inflation and other factors relating to the suppliers and the countries in which they are located are beyond our control. In addition, U.S. and foreign trade policies, tariffs and other impositions on imported goods, trade sanctions imposed on certain countries, the limitation on the importation of certain types of goods or of goods containing certain materials from other countries and other factors relating to foreign trade are beyond our control. These and other factors, including the potential negative impact of global health pandemics affecting our suppliers and our access to products could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

We rely extensively on information technology systems, including third-party systems, to process transactions, maintain information and manage our businesses. Disruptions in the availability of any internal or external information technology systems due to implementation of a new system or otherwise, or privacy breaches involving information technology systems, could impact our ability to service our customers and adversely affect our revenue, consolidated results of operations and reputation and expose us to litigation risk.

Our businesses rely on various information technology systems, including third-party systems, to provide customer information, process customer transactions and provide other general information necessary to manage our businesses. Our information technology systems are subject to damage or interruption due to cybersecurity attacks, system conversions, power outages, computer or telecommunication failures, catastrophic events such as fires, tornadoes and hurricanes and usage errors by our employees. Although we have an active disaster recovery plan in place that is frequently reviewed and tested, and we believe that we have adopted appropriate measures to mitigate potential risks to our technology and our operations from these information technology-related and other potential disruptions, given the unpredictability of the timing, nature and scope of such disruptions, we could potentially be subject to production downtimes, operational delays and interruptions in our ability to provide products and services to our customers. Any disruption caused by the unavailability of our information technology systems could adversely affect our revenue, could require us to make a significant investment to fix or replace them and, therefore, could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Cyber-security attacks are evolving, and cybercriminals have increasingly demonstrated advanced capabilities, such as zero-day vulnerabilities and rapid integration of new technology such as generative artificial intelligence. Cyber-security attacks may include, but are not limited to, malicious software, attempts to gain unauthorized access to data and other electronic security breaches that could lead to disruptions in systems, unauthorized release of confidential or otherwise protected information and corruption of data. Our response to cybersecurity incidents, and our investments in our technology and our controls, processes and practices related to cybersecurity incidents and risks from cybersecurity threats, may not be sufficient to shield us from significant losses or liability. Given the increasing sophistication of bad actors and complexity of the techniques used to obtain unauthorized access or disable systems, a cybersecurity breach or attack could potentially persist for an extended period of time before being detected. As a result, we may not be able to anticipate the attack or respond adequately or timely, and the extent of a particular cybersecurity incident, and the steps that we may need to take to investigate the incident, may not be immediately clear. It could take a significant amount of time before an investigation can be completed and full, reliable information about the incident becomes known. During an investigation, it is possible we may not necessarily know the extent of the harm or how to remediate it, which could further adversely impact us. In addition, new regulations could result in us being required to disclose information about a material cybersecurity incident before it has been mitigated or resolved, or even fully investigated.

We have experienced cybersecurity incidents in the past, but none of these incidents, individually or in the aggregate, have had a material adverse effect on our business or results of operations. If the network of security controls, policy enforcement mechanisms and monitoring systems to address these threats to our technology fails, or we are unable to successfully address cybersecurity incidents or the risks from cybersecurity threats, we could experience production downtimes, operational delays and interruptions in our ability to provide products and services to our customers, the compromising of confidential or otherwise protected Company, customer, or employee information, destruction or corruption of data, security breaches, or other manipulation or improper use of our systems and networks which could result in financial losses from remedial actions, loss of business or potential liability and damage to our reputation.

In addition, we rely on software applications, enterprise cloud storage systems and cloud computing services provided by third-party vendors for certain information technology services, including our SAP enterprise system, payroll data, risk management data and lease data. If these third-party vendors, as well as our suppliers and other vendors, experience service interruptions or damage, security breaches, cyber-attacks, computer viruses, ransomware or other similar events or intrusions, our business and our consolidated results of operations may be adversely affected.

The world has experienced an exponential level of growth in the availability of potential applications of artificial intelligence (AI). AI could disrupt certain aspects of our business and evolve use of technology in ways that are not yet known. If we are not able to adapt and effectively incorporate potential advantages of AI in our business, it may negatively impact our ability to compete. On the other hand, if we are not able to effectively manage the risks of AI, including the potential for poor or inconsistent quality, privacy concerns, risks related to automated decision-making, and the potential for exposure of confidential and/or propriety information, we may suffer harm to our consolidated results of operations and reputation.

Failure to achieve and maintain effective internal controls could adversely affect our business and stock price.

Effective internal controls are necessary for us to provide reliable financial reports. All internal control systems, no matter how well designed, have inherent limitations. Therefore, even those systems determined to be effective can provide only reasonable assurance with respect to the consolidated financial statement preparation and presentation. While we continue to evaluate our internal controls, we cannot be certain that these measures will ensure that we implement and maintain adequate controls over our financial processes and reporting in the future. If we fail to maintain the adequacy of our internal controls or if we or our independent registered public accounting firm were to discover material weaknesses in our internal controls, as such standards are modified, supplemented or amended, we may not be able to ensure that we can conclude on an ongoing basis that we have effective internal control over financial reporting in accordance with Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002. Failure to achieve and maintain an effective internal control environment could cause us to be unable to produce reliable financial reports or prevent fraud. This may cause investors to lose confidence in our reported financial information, which could have a material adverse effect on our stock price.

We may experience difficulties in attracting and retaining competent personnel in key positions. Failure to preserve positive labor relationships with our employee-partners could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

We believe that a key component of our success is our corporate culture, which has been imparted by management throughout our corporate organization. Our corporate culture, along with our entire operation, depends on our ability to attract, develop and retain key employee-partners. Competitive pressures and labor shortages within and outside our industry may make it more difficult and expensive for us to attract and retain key employee-partners which could adversely affect our businesses.

We believe we have positive labor relationships with our employee-partners. However, factors such as difficulty to attract key employees, reduced employee engagement, third-party organizational efforts and increased employee-partner turnover could adversely affect our labor relationships with our employee-partners. A failure to preserve positive labor relationships with our employee-partners and could adversely affect our consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operations.

Unexpected events could negatively impact our business and adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Unexpected events, including fires or explosions at facilities, severe weather conditions and natural disasters such as hurricanes, fires, floods, droughts and tornadoes (including those caused by climate change), geopolitical conflicts, war or terrorist activities, unplanned outages, global health pandemics, supply disruptions, failure of equipment or systems or changes in laws and/or regulations impacting our businesses, could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations. Any of these events could result in customer disruption, physical damage to one or more key operating facilities, the temporary closure of one or more key operating facilities or the temporary disruption of information systems. In addition, negative publicity related to such unexpected events, whether warranted or not, may impact brand image perception and could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Financial Risks

Our indebtedness may limit cash flow available to invest in the ongoing needs of our business.

Our outstanding indebtedness along with adverse interest rate fluctuations may have negative consequences on our business, such as requiring us to dedicate a substantial portion of our cash flow from operations to the payment of debt service, reducing the availability of our cash flow to fund working capital, capital expenditures, acquisitions, dividend increases, stock buybacks and other general corporate purposes, as well as increase our vulnerability to adverse economic or industry conditions. In addition, it may limit our ability to obtain additional financing in the future to enable us to react to changes in our business or industry or place us at a competitive disadvantage compared to businesses in our industry that have less debt.

Changes in the fuel and energy industry could adversely affect our consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operations.

The price of fuel and energy needed to run our vehicles and equipment is unpredictable and fluctuates based on events outside of our control, including geopolitical developments, supply and demand fluctuations for fuel and other energy related products, actions by energy producers, war and unrest in oil producing countries, regional production patterns, limits on refining capacities, natural disasters, environmental concerns including the impact of legislative and regulatory efforts to limit GHG emissions and global health pandemics. Increases in fuel and energy costs could adversely affect our consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operations.

Fluctuations in foreign currency exchange could adversely affect our consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operations.

We earn revenue, pay expenses, own assets and incur liabilities in countries using currencies other than the U.S. dollar, primarily the Canadian dollar. In fiscal years 2024, 2023 and 2022, revenue denominated in currencies other than the U.S. dollar represented less than 10% of our consolidated revenue. Because our consolidated financial statements are presented in U.S. dollars, we must translate revenue and expenses, as well as assets and liabilities, into U.S. dollars at exchange rates in effect during or at the end of each reporting period. Therefore, fluctuations in the value of the U.S. dollar against other major currencies, particularly in the event of significant increases in foreign currency revenue, will impact our revenue and operating income and the value of consolidated balance sheet items denominated in foreign currencies. This impact could adversely affect our consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operations.

We may recognize impairment charges, which could adversely affect our consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operations.

We assess our goodwill and other intangible assets and our long-lived assets for impairment when required by U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (U.S. GAAP). These accounting principles require that we record an impairment charge if circumstances indicate that the asset carrying values exceed their estimated fair values. The estimated fair value of these assets is impacted by, but not limited to, macroeconomic, industry and market conditions in the locations in which we operate. Deterioration in these general economic conditions may result in: declining revenue, which can lead to excess capacity and declining operating cash flow; reductions in management's estimates for future revenue and operating cash flow growth; increases in borrowing rates and other deterioration in factors that impact our weighted average cost of capital; and deteriorating real estate values. If our assessment of goodwill, other intangible assets or long-lived assets indicates an impairment of the carrying value for which we recognize an impairment charge, this may adversely affect our consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operations.

The effects of credit market volatility and changes in our credit ratings could adversely affect our liquidity and consolidated results of operations.

Our operating cash flows, combined with access to the credit markets, provide us with significant discretionary funding capacity. Our access to the credit markets will depend on a variety of factors, such as prevailing economic and credit market conditions, the general availability of credit, the overall availability of credit to our industry, our credit ratings and credit capacity and perceptions of our financial prospects. For example, in the event that the ratings of our commercial paper or our outstanding long-term debt issues were substantially lowered or withdrawn for any reason, or if the ratings assigned to any new issue of long-term debt securities were significantly lowered, particularly if we no longer had investment grade ratings, our ability to access the debt markets may be adversely affected. In addition, deterioration in the global credit markets may limit our ability to access credit markets, which could adversely affect our liquidity and/or increase our cost of borrowing. In addition, credit market deterioration and its actual or perceived effects on our results of operations and financial condition, along with deterioration in general economic conditions, may increase the likelihood that the major independent credit agencies will downgrade our credit ratings, which could increase our cost of borrowing. Increases in our cost of borrowing could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Legal and Regulatory Risks

Failure to comply with federal and state regulations to which we are subject could result in penalties or costs that could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Our business is subject to complex and stringent state and federal regulations, including employment laws and regulations, minimum wage requirements, overtime requirements, working condition requirements, citizenship requirements, transportation laws and regulations, ESG-related regulations, cybersecurity laws and regulations, data privacy and protection laws and regulations, environmental regulations, and other laws and regulations. In particular, we are subject to the regulations promulgated by the U.S. Department of Transportation (USDOT) and under the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970, as amended (OSHA Act). We have incurred, and will continue to incur, capital and operating expenditures and other costs in the ordinary course of our business in complying with the USDOT regulations, the OSHA Act and other laws and regulations to which we are subject. Changes in laws, regulations and the related interpretations, including any laws or regulations that may be enacted by the current U.S. presidential administration and Congress, may alter the landscape in which we do business and may affect our costs of doing business. The impact of new laws and regulations cannot be predicted. Compliance with new laws and regulations may increase our operating costs or require significant capital expenditures. Any failure to comply with applicable laws or regulations could result in substantial fines by government authorities, payment of damages to private litigants, or possible revocation of our authority to conduct our operations, which could adversely affect our ability to service customers and our consolidated results of operations. In addition, we expect there will likely be increasing levels of regulation, disclosure-related and otherwise, with respect to ESG matters, and increased regulation will likely lead to increased compliance costs as well as scrutiny that could heighten all of the risks identified in this risk factor.

We are subject to legal proceedings that may adversely affect our consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operations.

We are subject to various litigation claims and legal proceeding arising from the ordinary course of our business, including personal injury, customer contract, environmental and employment claims. Certain of these lawsuits or potential future lawsuits, if decided adversely to us or settled by us, may result in liability and expense material to our consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operations.

Compliance with environmental laws and regulations could result in significant costs that adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Our operating locations are subject to environmental laws and regulations relating to the protection of the environment and health and safety matters, including those governing discharges of pollutants to the air and water, the management and disposal of hazardous substances and wastes and the clean-up of contaminated sites. The operation of our businesses entails risks under environmental laws and regulations. We could incur significant costs, including clean-up costs, fines and sanctions and claims by third parties for property damage and personal injury, as a result of violations of or liabilities under these laws and regulations. We are currently involved in a limited number of remedial investigations and actions at various locations. While based on information currently known to us, we believe that we maintain adequate reserves with respect to these matters, our liability could exceed forecasted amounts, and the imposition of additional clean-up obligations or the discovery of additional contamination at these or other sites could result in significant additional costs which could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations. In addition, potentially significant expenditures could be required to comply with environmental laws and regulations, including requirements that may be adopted or imposed in the future.

Under applicable environmental laws, an owner or operator of real estate may be required to pay the costs of removing or remediating hazardous materials located on or emanating from property, whether or not the owner or operator knew of or was responsible for the presence of such hazardous materials. While we regularly engage in environmental due diligence in connection with acquisitions, we can give no assurance that locations that have been acquired or leased have been operated in compliance with environmental laws and regulations during prior periods or that future uses or conditions will not make us liable under these laws or expose us to third-party actions, including tort suits.

Increased global focus on climate change may result in the imposition of new or additional regulations or requirements applicable to, and increased financial risks for, our business and industry. A number of government authorities and agencies have introduced or are contemplating regulatory changes to address climate change, including the regulation of GHG emissions. The outcome of new legislation or regulation in the U.S. and other jurisdictions in which we operate may result in new or additional requirements, including to fund energy efficiency activities or renewable energy use, and fees or restrictions on certain activities or materials. Compliance with these climate change initiatives may also result in additional costs to us, including, among other things, increased production costs, additional taxes, additional investments in renewable energy use and other initiatives, reduced emission allowances or additional restrictions on production or operations. We may not be able to timely recover the cost of compliance with such new or more stringent laws and regulations, which could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Increasing scrutiny and evolving expectations from investors, customers, regulators, policymakers and other stakeholders regarding ESG matters may adversely affect our reputation or otherwise adversely impact our share price, demand for our securities and business and results of operations.

Companies across all industries are facing increasing scrutiny from stakeholders related to ESG matters, including practices and disclosures related to environmental stewardship; social responsibility; diversity, equity and inclusion; and workplace rights. The heightened and sometimes conflicting stakeholder focus on ESG issues related to our business requires the continuous monitoring of various and evolving laws, regulations, standards and expectations and the associated reporting requirements. As the nature, scope and complexity of ESG reporting, diligence and disclosure requirements expand, we may have to undertake additional costs to control, assess and report on ESG metrics. Any failure or perceived failure, whether or not valid, to pursue or fulfill our ESG aspirations, targets or objectives or to satisfy various ESG reporting standards within the timelines we announce, or at all, could result in adverse publicity, reputational harm, or loss of customer and/or investor confidence, which could adversely affect our business and consolidated results of operations. In addition, our share price and demand for our securities could be adversely affected.

In addition, our ability to achieve our ESG aspirations, including to achieve Net Zero GHG emissions by 2050, and to accurately and transparently report our progress presents numerous operational, financial, legal and other risks, and may be dependent on the actions of suppliers and other third parties, significant technological advancements with respect to the development and availability of reliable, affordable and sustainable alternative solutions, all of which are outside of our control. If we are unable to meet our ESG aspirations or evolving stakeholder expectations and industry standards, or if we are perceived to have not responded appropriately to the growing concern for ESG issues, our reputation could be negatively impacted. In addition, in recent years, investor advocacy groups and certain institutional investors have placed increasing importance on ESG matters. If, as a result of their assessment of our ESG practices, certain investors are unsatisfied with our actions or progress, they may reconsider their investment in our Company.

Increases in income tax rates, changes in income tax laws or unfavorable resolution of tax matters could adversely impact our consolidated results of operations.

Changes in tax laws or regulations in the jurisdictions in which we do business, or other tax law implementations or interpretations, including the Inflation Reduction Act (IRA), which includes a corporate alternative minimum tax on certain large corporations, incentives to address climate change mitigation and other non-income tax provisions, including an excise tax on the repurchase of corporate stock could increase our effective tax rate, restrict our ability to repatriate undistributed offshore earnings, or impose new restrictions, costs or prohibitions on our current practices and reduce our net income and adversely affect our cash flows. In addition, some countries have enacted or have committed to enact Pillar Two global minimum tax, which may increase our tax expense in future years.

We are also subject to tax audits, including with respect to transfer pricing, in the U.S. and other jurisdictions and our tax positions may be challenged by tax authorities. Although we believe that our current tax provisions are reasonable and appropriate, there can be no assurance that these items will be settled for the amounts accrued, that additional tax exposures will not be identified in the future or that additional tax reserves will not be necessary for any such exposures. Any increase in the amount of taxation incurred as a result of challenges to our tax filing positions could result in a material adverse effect on our business, consolidated results of operations and consolidated financial condition.

Item 1B. Unresolved Staff Comments

None.

Item 1C. Cybersecurity

We have a cross-departmental approach to addressing cybersecurity risk, including input from employees and our Board of Directors (the Board). The Board, Audit Committee and senior management devote significant resources to cybersecurity and risk management processes to adapt to the changing cybersecurity landscape and respond to emerging threats in a timely and effective manner. Our cybersecurity risk management program is incorporated into our enterprise risk management program and leverages industry standards and best practices, such as the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) framework, which organizes cybersecurity risks into five categories: identify, protect, detect, respond and recover. We regularly assess the threat landscape and take a holistic view of cybersecurity risks, with a layered cybersecurity strategy based on prevention, detection and mitigation. We have a set of Company-wide policies and procedures concerning cybersecurity matters, which include numerous written information technology (IT) security policies, standards, procedures and guidelines as well as other policies that directly or indirectly relate to cybersecurity, such as policies related to encryption standards, antivirus protection, remote access, multifactor authentication, confidential information and the use of the internet, social media, email and wireless devices. These policies go through an internal review process and are approved by appropriate members of management.

The Company's Chief Information Security Officer (CISO) is responsible for developing and implementing and managing our cybersecurity security program and reporting on cybersecurity matters to the Audit Committee and the Board. Our CISO has over fifteen years of IT and cybersecurity leadership experience and has various industry related degrees and certifications, including a master's in information technology and the Certified Information Systems Security Professional (CISSP) and Certified in Risk and Information Systems Control (CRISC) certifications. The Board has ultimate oversight of cybersecurity risk, which it manages as part of our enterprise risk management program. That program is utilized in making decisions with respect to Company priorities, resource allocations and oversight structures. The Board is assisted by the Audit Committee, which regularly reviews our cybersecurity program with the CISO and other members of management and reports back to the Board. The Audit Committee receives reports from the CISO on, among other things, the Company's cyber risks and threats, the status of projects to strengthen the Company's information security systems, assessments of the Company's security program and the emerging threat landscape. Cybersecurity reviews by the Audit Committee or the Board occur quarterly, or more frequently as determined to be necessary or advisable.

We view cybersecurity as a shared responsibility, and we periodically perform simulations and tabletop exercises at technical and executive levels and incorporate external resources and advisors, as needed. In an effort to detect and defend against cyber threats, the Company provides its employee-partners with various cybersecurity and data protection training programs and requires annual security awareness training participation. These programs cover timely and relevant topics, including social engineering, phishing, password protection, confidential data protection, asset use and mobile security, and these programs educate employee-partners on the importance of reporting all incidents promptly to the IT Security team. We also require employee-partners in certain roles to complete additional role-based, specialized cybersecurity trainings.

We have continued to expand investments in IT security, including additional end-user training, using layered defenses, identifying and protecting critical assets, strengthening monitoring and alerting, and engaging experts. At the management level, our IT security team regularly monitors, alerts and meets to discuss threat levels, trends and remediation. The team also prepares a monthly cyber scorecard which covers cyber operational controls along with internal and external threats. Annual risk and cyber maturity assessments are conducted by independent third parties. Further, we conduct periodic external penetration tests and response testing to assess our processes and procedures against the evolving threat landscape. These tests and assessments are useful tools for maintaining a robust cybersecurity program that is designed to protect our investors, customers, employees, vendors and intellectual property.

In addition to assessing our own cybersecurity preparedness, we also consider and evaluate cybersecurity risks associated with use of third-party service providers. We seek to engage reliable, reputable service providers that maintain cybersecurity programs. Depending on the nature of the services provided, the sensitivity and quantity of information processed, and the identity of the service provider, our vendor management process may include reviewing the cybersecurity practices of such provider, conducting security assessments and conducting periodic reassessments during their engagement. Our IT security team conducts an annual review of third parties with a specific focus on any sensitive data shared with third parties. System and Organization Controls (SOC) reports are

Statement in Explanation of "Yes" Re Denial of Licenses Application

On January 25, 2019 and May 6, 2019, the Utah Department of Commerce ("UDOC"), due to application non-completeness, denied Cintas Corporation No. 2's ("Cintas") applications of Pharmacy - Class E permits for facilities located in Henderson, Nevada and Mason, Ohio.

Cintas subsequently renewed the application for the Henderson, Nevada facility and the UDOC did ultimately issue the permit to Cintas on June 4, 2019 (Permit No. 11279941-1714).

In addition to issuing the permit to Cintas for the facility in Henderson, Nevada, the UDOC has also issued permits to Cintas for facilities in Salt Lake City (11107516-1714), and Sparks, Nevada (11080860-1714).

The Whom It May Concern,

The State of Ohio Board of Pharmacy (Board) only licenses facilities that possess, store, sell or compound dangerous drugs as defined in ORC 4729.01(F).

(F) "Dangerous drug" means any of the following:

(1) Any drug to which either of the following applies:

(a) Under the "Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act," 52 Stat. 1040 (1938), 21 U.S.C.A. 301, as amended, the drug is required to bear a label containing the legend "Caution: Federal law prohibits dispensing without prescription" or "Caution: Federal law restricts this drug to use by or on the order of a licensed veterinarian" or any similar restrictive statement, or the drug may be dispensed only upon a prescription;

(b) Under Chapter 3715. or 3719. of the Revised Code, the drug may be dispensed only upon a prescription.

(2) Any drug that contains a schedule V controlled substance and that is exempt from Chapter 3719. of the Revised Code or to which that chapter does not apply;

(3) Any drug intended for administration by injection into the human body other than through a natural orifice of the human body;

(4) Any drug that is a biological product, as defined in section 3715.01 of the Revised Code.

Additionally, the Board only licenses home medical equipment service providers that engage in the sale, delivery, installation, maintenance, replacement or demonstration of home medical equipment as defined in ORC 4752.01(B).

(B) "Home medical equipment" means equipment that can stand repeated use, is primarily and customarily used to serve a medical purpose, is not useful to a person in the absence of illness or injury, is appropriate for use in the home, and is one or more of the following:

(1) Life-sustaining equipment prescribed by an authorized health care professional that mechanically sustains, restores, or supplants a vital bodily function, such as breathing;

(2) Technologically sophisticated medical equipment prescribed by an authorized health care professional that requires individualized adjustment or regular maintenance by a home medical equipment services provider to maintain a patient's health care condition or the effectiveness of the equipment;

(3) An item specified by the state board of pharmacy in rules adopted under division (B) of section 4752.17 of the Revised Code.

Therefore, any over-the-counter medication or medical device that does not contain a dangerous drug or considered to be home medical equipment does not require licensure from our agency.

In the state of Ohio, Cintas' facility (Mason FAS DC) is not required to be licensed, because Ohio does not regulate the distribution of over-the-counter drugs, medical devices that do not contain dangerous drugs, and AEDs.

Karrie Southard

Overview

Cintas Corporation (Cintas, Company, we, us or our), a Washington corporation, helps more than one million businesses of all types and sizes, primarily in the United States (U.S.), as well as Canada and Latin America, get READY™ to open their doors with confidence every day by providing a wide range of products and services that enhance our customers' image and help keep their facilities and employees clean, safe and looking their best. With products and services including uniforms, mats, mops, restroom supplies, first aid and safety products, fire extinguishers and testing, and safety training, Cintas helps customers get Ready for the Workday®. Cintas was founded in 1968 by Richard T. Farmer when he left his family's industrial laundry business in order to develop uniform programs using an exclusive new fabric. In the early 1970's, Cintas acquired the family industrial laundry business. Over the years, Cintas developed additional products and services that complemented its core uniform business and broadened the scope of products and services available to its customers.

Business Segments

Cintas' reportable operating segments are the Uniform Rental and Facility Services operating segment and the First Aid and Safety Services operating segment. The Uniform Rental and Facility Services reportable operating segment consists of the rental and servicing of uniforms and other garments, including flame resistant clothing, mats, mops and shop towels and other ancillary items. In addition to these rental items, restroom cleaning services and supplies and the sale of items from our catalogs to our customers on route are included within this reportable operating segment. The First Aid and Safety Services reportable operating segment consists of first aid and safety products and services. The remainder of Cintas' business, which consists of the Fire Protection Services operating segment and the Uniform Direct Sale operating segment, is included in All Other.

The following table sets forth Cintas' total revenue and the revenue derived from each reportable operating segment and the remaining operating segments included in All Other for the fiscal years ended May 31:

(In thousands)	2024	2023	2022
Uniform Rental and Facility Services	$ 7,465,199	$ 6,897,130	$ 6,226,980
First Aid and Safety Services	1,067,334	951,496	832,458
All Other	1,064,082	967,143	795,021
Total Revenue	$ 9,596,615	$ 8,815,769	$ 7,854,459

Additional information regarding each reportable operating segment and All Other is also included in "Item 8. Financial Statements and Supplementary Data," in Note 14 entitled Operating Segment Information of "Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements."

Customers

We provide our products and services to over one million businesses of all types, from small service and manufacturing companies to major corporations that employ thousands of people. This diversity in customer base results in no individual customer accounting for greater than one percent of Cintas' total revenue. As a result, the loss of one account would not have a material financial impact on Cintas.

Competition

The primary markets served by each of the Cintas operating segments are local in nature and highly fragmented. Cintas competes with national, regional and local providers, large national retailers and small local retailers as well as companies with a significant online presence and the level of competition varies at each of Cintas' local operations. In addition, businesses may decide to perform certain services in-house instead of outsourcing these services. Product, design, price, quality, service and convenience to the customer are the competitive elements in each of our operating segments.

Operations and Distribution

Within the Uniform Rental and Facility Services reportable operating segment, Cintas provides its products and services to customers via local delivery routes originating from rental processing plants and branches. Within the First Aid and Safety Services reportable operating segment and All Other, Cintas provides its products and services via its distribution network and local delivery routes or local representatives. At May 31, 2024, Cintas, in total, had approximately 11,700 local delivery routes, 467 operational facilities and 12 distribution centers.

Sourcing

Cintas is committed to sourcing responsibly. Cintas sources finished products from many outside suppliers. As mentioned on our website, www.cintas.com, each and every supplier must comply with a vendor code of conduct as a condition of doing business with Cintas. Cintas also conducts internal training to ensure that employee-partners who have direct responsibility for supply chain management are knowledgeable and aware of issues and concerns surrounding our supply chain. In addition to sourcing from third-party suppliers, Cintas operates five manufacturing facilities that provide for standard uniform needs. Cintas purchases fabric, used in the manufacturing of its products, from several suppliers. Cintas' ability to find qualified suppliers who meet its standards and to access products in a timely and efficient manner, is subject to ongoing market risks. For a discussion of the risks associated with sourcing that may materially impact Cintas, please see "Item 1A: Risk Factors - Risks Relating to Business Strategy and Operations."

Government Laws and Regulations

Cintas is subject to a wide array of laws, government regulations, including environmental regulations, and standards in each domestic and foreign jurisdiction in which it operates. In addition to Cintas' U.S. operations, which generated over 90% of its consolidated revenue in all periods presented, Cintas also operates its business through wholly owned subsidiaries in foreign jurisdictions, primarily in Canada. Compliance with these laws, government regulations, including environmental regulations, and standards requires the dedication of time and effort of employee-partners as well as financial resources.

Compliance with environmental regulations and prioritizing our environmental sustainability efforts are important to us as a good corporate citizen. Our journey started in 1929 during the Great Depression when Doc and Amelia Farmer collected shop towels that had been disposed by manufacturing facilities along the Ohio River. They washed, recycled and sold the clean towels back to companies. Today, the majority of our total Company revenue comes from our Uniform Rental and Facility Services reportable operating segment. Most of these items are cleaned and processed in ways that extend their lifespan and, when not in use, are re-stocked for future customers to maximize their lifespan. Our laundering processes generate far less wastewater than home laundering. Water discharged into the environment is treated at our operating facilities and in accordance with local discharge standards and permits. Our lasting commitment to the environment and our communities is evident from our processes and innovation, which are designed to ensure that our operational facilities are operating efficiently. Cintas is subject to various environmental laws and regulations, as are other companies in the uniform rental industry. The primary federal statutes that apply to our activities in the U.S. are the Clean Air Act, the Clean Water Act and the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act. We are also subject to the Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act of 1986, which imposes certain reporting requirements as to emissions of hazardous substances into the air, land and water. While environmental compliance is not a material component of our costs, Cintas makes capital expenditures and associated operating costs, primarily for water treatment and waste removal, on a regular basis in order to comply with environmental laws and regulations, to promote employee-partner safety and to carry out its environmental sustainability principles. Environmental spending related to water treatment and waste removal was approximately $27.0 million in fiscal 2024, approximately $26.0 million in fiscal 2023 and approximately $22.0 million in fiscal 2022. Capital expenditures to limit or monitor hazardous substances totaled approximately $1.7 million in fiscal 2024, approximately $1.0 million in fiscal 2023 and approximately $0.2 million in fiscal 2022.

In addition, health and safety regulations have necessitated, and may continue to necessitate, increased operating costs or capital investments to promote a safe working environment. Cintas is also required to comply with increasingly complex and changing laws and regulations enacted to protect business and personal data in the U.S. and other jurisdictions regarding privacy, data protection and data security, including those related to the collection, storage, use, transmission and protection of personal information and other consumer, customer, vendor or employee data. With respect to the laws and regulations noted above, as well as other applicable laws and regulations, Cintas' compliance programs may under certain circumstances involve material investments in the form of additional processes, training, personnel, information technology and capital. In fiscal 2024, compliance with the applicable laws, government regulations, including environmental regulations, and standards did not have a material effect on Cintas' capital expenditures or consolidated results of operations. For a discussion of the risks associated with government regulations that may materially impact Cintas, please see "Item 1A: Risk Factors—Legal and Regulatory Risks."

Communication

Cintas uses its corporate website, www.cintas.com, as a channel for routine distribution of important information, including news releases, analyst presentations and financial information and for complying with our disclosure obligations under Regulation FD. Cintas files with, or furnishes to, the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) Annual Reports on Form 10-K, Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q, Current Reports on Form 8-K and any amendments to those reports, as well as proxy statements and annual reports to shareholders, and, from time to time, other documents. The reports and other documents filed with or furnished to the SEC are available to investors on or through our corporate website free of charge as soon as reasonably practicable after we electronically file them with or furnish them to the SEC. The SEC maintains an internet site located at www.sec.gov that contains reports, proxy and information statements and other information regarding issuers, such as Cintas, that file electronically with the SEC. Cintas' SEC filings can be found on the Investor Relations page of its website at www.cintas.com/investors/financial-reports and its Code of Conduct and Business Ethics can be found under the Impact page of its website at www.cintas.com/company/esg. Cintas intends to post any amendments or waivers to its Code of Conduct and Business Ethics on its website within four business days after approval. These documents are available in print to any shareholder who requests a copy by writing or calling Cintas as set forth on the Investor Information page under the FAQs. The content on any website referred to in this Annual Report on Form 10-K is not incorporated herein by reference unless expressly noted.

Sustainability

In fiscal 2024, Cintas published its fourth annual sustainability report and reported on Cintas' continued strategy of a Shared Drive for Better. The report included information on Cintas' efforts in areas of climate and energy initiatives, water interactions, materials and waste, sustainable supply chain, diversity, equity and inclusion efforts, employee-partner development, safety and health strategy, human rights and labor rights positions and governance, ethics and integrity foundations. Cintas' most recent sustainability report can be found on our website at www.cintas.com/company/esg.

Human Capital

Cintas' key human capital management objectives are to attract, retain and develop talent to deliver on the Company's strategy. To support these objectives, Cintas' human resources programs are designed to: keep people safe and healthy; enhance the Company's culture through efforts aimed at making the workplace more inclusive; acquire and retain diverse talent; reward and support employee-partners through competitive pay and benefit programs; develop talent to prepare them for critical roles and leadership positions; and facilitate internal talent mobility to create a high-performing workforce. The principles and values our employee-partners share are the driving force behind all our accomplishments. At May 31, 2024, Cintas employed approximately 46,500 employee-partners in our global workforce, of which approximately 1,000 were represented by labor unions.

Our primary areas of focus in managing our human capital include the following:

Corporate Culture

We believe that our culture at Cintas is just as essential as our products and services. Our culture impacts the quality of the employee-partners we hire, the way we communicate and interact with our customers and each other and our performance standards. Our culture is the cornerstone representing our values, our behaviors, our way of working and how we approach our business, which is strong relationships and a dedication to taking care of one another and our customers. We operate according to the Cintas Code of Conduct and Business Ethics, available on our website www.cintas.com, which mandates full compliance with applicable laws and regulations and helps to preserve the integrity of our Company.

Talent Development

Cintas is committed to the continued development of its employee-partners. We provide numerous training opportunities for our employee-partners, with a focus on continuous learning and development and methodologies to manage performance, provide feedback and develop talent. We offer a wide array of training solutions (classroom, hands-on and e-learning) for our employee-partners. Our talent development programs strive to provide employee-partners resources to achieve career goals and build management and leadership skills. We offer mentoring programs, a management trainee program and executive leadership programs to support the professional growth of our employee-partners and ensure we have the right succession plans in place.

Health and Safety

We aspire to achieve zero workplace injuries and collisions and provide a safe, open, healthy and accountable work environment for our employee-partners. To align with internationally recognized standards, we have implemented an occupational health and safety management system in accordance with the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) that is modeled after the International Organization for Standardization (ISO) 45001 and OSHA Voluntary Protection Program (VPP). Employee-partners, contractors, vendors and visitors are all covered by the system, which focuses on hazard prevention, training, management commitment and worker involvement. We are also committed to continuously improving performance through our Health and Safety Improvement Committees in every operation, while corporate health and safety employee-partners conduct annual reviews of our operations. Additionally, every year our employee-partners receive online, on-the-job and classroom training on over 50 health and safety topics, and all maintenance staff must complete our award-winning Maintenance Safety Certification process. Every Cintas driver completes monthly driver safety training courses and/or on-the-road skills evaluations. All production-related managers attend OSHA's 10-hour Safety Improvement course, and each member of our Senior Management team takes the Management and Leadership Skills for Environmental Health and Safety Professionals Course, part of the Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health safety and health curriculum. In addition, we provide several channels for all employee-partners to speak up, ask for guidance and report concerns related to ethics or safety violations, and we seek to address those concerns and take appropriate actions to uphold our Cintas values and health and safety culture. Through these efforts, Cintas has reduced our recordable injury rate by over 80% since 2008, has been awarded 128 OSHA Star sites in the VPP, which is more than triple any other company in the U.S. and has received numerous safety, health and ergonomics awards from national and international groups.

Employee-Partner Wellness

We are committed to the physical and mental health and wellness of our employee-partners. We provide our employee-partners and their families with access to a variety of health and wellness programs, including our long-running Live Well program that supports employee-partners on their health and wellness journeys. We provide free annual biometric screening and health assessments at work or offsite, annual free flu shots, a tobacco cessation program, weight management programs and an employee-partner assistance program, which offers advice on mental health, legal and financial issues.

Diversity, Equity & Inclusion

Cintas supports diversity, equity and inclusion by fostering a respectful, creative and productive environment where all employee-partners can reach their full potential without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status. We actively recruit, retain, develop and advance a diverse and talented workforce. We have six Employee-Partner Business Resource Groups, focused on Women, African Americans, Hispanic and Latin Americans, Asian American/Pacific Islanders, LGBTQ+ and Military and Veteran employee-partners. These groups provide platforms for our employee-partners to showcase skills, experiences and perspectives. The Employee-Partner Business Resource Groups also help foster inclusion among all employee-partners to build awareness, recruit and retain a diverse workforce and support the overall success of Cintas. We also have a diverse Management Trainee program that helps Cintas find and develop the best talent for our leadership pipeline, and we monitor representation across management positions. Cintas' diversity, equity and inclusion efforts are led by our Senior Vice President of Human Resources and Chief Diversity Officer. This position reports to our Chief Executive Officer and works to help achieve our goals and obtain a diverse and talented workforce, which is critical to our success.

Compensation Programs and Employee Benefits

Our compensation and benefits programs provide a total rewards package designed to attract, retain and motivate our employee-partners. In addition to competitive base salaries, the total rewards package (which may vary by position and country) includes, among other items, commissions, bonuses, long-term incentives, retirement savings plans, medical insurance, prescription drug benefits, dental insurance, vision insurance, accident and critical illness insurance, life and disability insurance, health savings accounts, flexible spending accounts and an employee-partner assistance program.

Item 1A. Risk Factors

The statements in this section describe the most significant risks that could materially and adversely affect our business, consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operation and the trading price of our debt or equity securities. Although the risks are organized by headings, and each risk is discussed separately, many are interrelated. Readers should not interpret the disclosure of any risk factor to imply that the risk has not already materialized.

In addition, this section sets forth statements which constitute our cautionary statements under the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995.

This Annual Report on Form 10-K contains forward-looking statements. The Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 provides a safe harbor from civil litigation for forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements may be identified by words such as "estimates," "anticipates," "predicts," "projects," "plans," "expects," "intends," "target," "forecast," "believes," "seeks," "could," "should," "may" and "will" or the negative versions thereof and similar words, terms and expressions and by the context in which they are used. Such statements are based upon current expectations of Cintas and speak only as of the date made. You should not place undue reliance on any forward-looking statement. We cannot guarantee that any forward-looking statement will be realized. These statements are subject to various risks, uncertainties, potentially inaccurate assumptions and other factors that could cause actual results to differ from those set forth in or implied by this Annual Report. Factors that might cause such a difference include, but are not limited to, the possibility of greater than anticipated operating costs including energy and fuel costs; lower sales volumes; loss of customers due to outsourcing trends; the performance and costs of integration of acquisitions; supply chain constraints and macroeconomic conditions, including inflationary pressures and higher interest rates; fluctuations in costs of materials and labor, including increased medical costs; costs and possible effects of union organizing activities; failure to comply with government regulations concerning employment discrimination, employee pay and benefits and employee health and safety; the effect on operations of exchange rate fluctuations, tariffs and other political, economic and regulatory risks; uncertainties regarding any existing or newly-discovered expenses and liabilities related to environmental compliance and remediation; our ability to meet our aspirations relating to environmental, social and governance (ESG) opportunities, improvements and efficiencies; the cost, results and ongoing assessment of internal controls for financial reporting; the effect of new accounting pronouncements; risk associated with cybersecurity threats, including disruptions caused by the inaccessibility of computer systems data and cybersecurity risk management; the initiation or outcome of litigation, investigations or other proceedings; higher assumed sourcing or distribution costs of products; the disruption of operations from catastrophic or extraordinary events including global health pandemics; the amount and timing of repurchases of our common stock, if any; changes in global tax and labor laws; and the reactions of competitors in terms of price and service. Cintas undertakes no obligation to publicly release any revisions to any forward-looking statements or to otherwise update any forward-looking statements whether as a result of new information or to reflect events, circumstances or any other unanticipated developments arising after the date on which such statements are made, except otherwise as required by law. These risks and uncertainties include, but are not limited to, those described in this section and elsewhere in this report and may also be described from time to time in our future reports filed with the SEC. The risks and uncertainties described herein are not the only ones we may face. Additional risks and uncertainties presently not known to us or that we currently believe to be immaterial may also harm our business. Forward-looking and other statements in this Annual Report on Form 10-K regarding our greenhouse gas (GHG) reduction plans and other ESG aspirations are not an indication that these statements are necessarily material to investors or required to be disclosed in our filings with the SEC. In addition, historical, current and forward-looking GHG-related and/or ESG-related statements may be based on standards for measuring progress that are still developing, internal controls and processes that continue to evolve and assumptions that are subject to change in the future.

Risks Relating to Business Strategy and Operations

Negative global economic factors may adversely affect our financial performance.

Negative economic conditions, in North America and our other markets, may adversely affect our financial performance. Higher levels of unemployment, inflation, recessionary conditions, geopolitical developments, tax rates and other changes in tax laws and other economic factors could adversely affect the demand for Cintas' products and services. Increases in labor costs, including the cost to provide employee-partner related healthcare benefits, minimum wages, labor shortages or shortages of skilled labor, regulations regarding the classification of employees and/or their eligibility for overtime wages, higher material costs for items such as fabrics and textiles, the inability to obtain insurance coverage at cost-effective rates, higher interest rates, inflation, global health pandemics, higher tax rates and other changes in tax laws and other economic factors could increase our costs of rental uniforms and facility services, cost of other services and selling and administrative expenses. As a result, these factors could adversely affect our revenue and consolidated results of operations.

Increased competition could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

We operate in highly competitive industries and compete with national, regional and local providers. Product, design, price, quality, service and convenience to the customer are the competitive elements in these industries. If existing or future competitors seek to gain or retain market share by reducing prices, Cintas may be required to lower prices, which would adversely affect our consolidated results of operations. Cintas' competitors also generally compete with Cintas for acquisition candidates, which can increase the price for acquisitions and reduce the number of available acquisition candidates. In addition, our customers and prospects may decide to perform certain services in-house instead of outsourcing these services to us. These competitive pressures could adversely affect our revenue and consolidated results of operations.

An inability to open new, cost-effective operating facilities may adversely affect our expansion efforts.

We plan to expand our presence in existing markets and enter new markets. The opening of new operating facilities is necessary to gain the capacity required for this expansion. Our ability to open new operating facilities depends on our ability to identify attractive locations, negotiate leases or real estate purchase agreements on acceptable terms, identify and obtain adequate utility and water sources and comply with environmental regulations, zoning laws and other similar factors. Any inability to effectively identify and manage these items may adversely affect our expansion efforts, and consequently, adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Risks associated with our acquisition practice could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Historically, a portion of our growth has come from acquisitions. We continue to evaluate opportunities for acquiring businesses that may supplement our internal growth. However, there can be no assurance that we will be able to identify and purchase suitable acquisitions. In addition, the success of any acquisition, including the ability to realize anticipated cost synergies, depends in part on our ability to integrate the acquired company. The process of integrating acquired businesses may involve unforeseen difficulties and may require a disproportionate amount of our management's attention and our financial and other resources. If management is not able to effectively manage the integration process, or if any significant business activities are interrupted as a result of the integration process, we may not be able to realize anticipated cost synergies resulting from acquisitions and our business could suffer. Although we conduct due diligence investigations prior to each acquisition, there can be no assurance that we will discover or adequately protect against all material liabilities of an acquired business for which we may be responsible as a successor owner or operator. The failure to identify suitable acquisitions and successfully integrate these acquired businesses, or to discover liabilities associated with such businesses in the diligence process, could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Risks associated with the suppliers from whom our products are sourced could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

The products we sell are sourced from a wide variety of domestic and international suppliers. Global sourcing of many of the products we sell is an important factor in our financial performance. We require all our suppliers to comply with applicable laws, including labor and environmental laws, and otherwise be certified as meeting our required supplier standards of conduct. Our ability to find qualified suppliers who meet our standards, and to access products in a timely and efficient manner, is a significant challenge, especially with respect to suppliers located and goods sourced outside the U.S. Political and economic stability in the countries in which foreign suppliers are located, the financial stability of suppliers, suppliers' failure to meet our supplier standards, labor problems experienced by our suppliers, the availability of raw materials to suppliers, currency exchange rates, transport availability and cost, inflation and other factors relating to the suppliers and the countries in which they are located are beyond our control. In addition, U.S. and foreign trade policies, tariffs and other impositions on imported goods, trade sanctions imposed on certain countries, the limitation on the importation of certain types of goods or of goods containing certain materials from other countries and other factors relating to foreign trade are beyond our control. These and other factors, including the potential negative impact of global health pandemics affecting our suppliers and our access to products could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

We rely extensively on information technology systems, including third-party systems, to process transactions, maintain information and manage our businesses. Disruptions in the availability of any internal or external information technology systems due to implementation of a new system or otherwise, or privacy breaches involving information technology systems, could impact our ability to service our customers and adversely affect our revenue, consolidated results of operations and reputation and expose us to litigation risk.

Our businesses rely on various information technology systems, including third-party systems, to provide customer information, process customer transactions and provide other general information necessary to manage our businesses. Our information technology systems are subject to damage or interruption due to cybersecurity attacks, system conversions, power outages, computer or telecommunication failures, catastrophic events such as fires, tornadoes and hurricanes and usage errors by our employees. Although we have an active disaster recovery plan in place that is frequently reviewed and tested, and we believe that we have adopted appropriate measures to mitigate potential risks to our technology and our operations from these information technology-related and other potential disruptions, given the unpredictability of the timing, nature and scope of such disruptions, we could potentially be subject to production downtimes, operational delays and interruptions in our ability to provide products and services to our customers. Any disruption caused by the unavailability of our information technology systems could adversely affect our revenue, could require us to make a significant investment to fix or replace them and, therefore, could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Cyber-security attacks are evolving, and cybercriminals have increasingly demonstrated advanced capabilities, such as zero-day vulnerabilities and rapid integration of new technology such as generative artificial intelligence. Cyber-security attacks may include, but are not limited to, malicious software, attempts to gain unauthorized access to data and other electronic security breaches that could lead to disruptions in systems, unauthorized release of confidential or otherwise protected information and corruption of data. Our response to cybersecurity incidents, and our investments in our technology and our controls, processes and practices related to cybersecurity incidents and risks from cybersecurity threats, may not be sufficient to shield us from significant losses or liability. Given the increasing sophistication of bad actors and complexity of the techniques used to obtain unauthorized access or disable systems, a cybersecurity breach or attack could potentially persist for an extended period of time before being detected. As a result, we may not be able to anticipate the attack or respond adequately or timely, and the extent of a particular cybersecurity incident, and the steps that we may need to take to investigate the incident, may not be immediately clear. It could take a significant amount of time before an investigation can be completed and full, reliable information about the incident becomes known. During an investigation, it is possible we may not necessarily know the extent of the harm or how to remediate it, which could further adversely impact us. In addition, new regulations could result in us being required to disclose information about a material cybersecurity incident before it has been mitigated or resolved, or even fully investigated.

We have experienced cybersecurity incidents in the past, but none of these incidents, individually or in the aggregate, have had a material adverse effect on our business or results of operations. If the network of security controls, policy enforcement mechanisms and monitoring systems to address these threats to our technology fails, or we are unable to successfully address cybersecurity incidents or the risks from cybersecurity threats, we could experience production downtimes, operational delays and interruptions in our ability to provide products and services to our customers, the compromising of confidential or otherwise protected Company, customer, or employee information, destruction or corruption of data, security breaches, or other manipulation or improper use of our systems and networks which could result in financial losses from remedial actions, loss of business or potential liability and damage to our reputation.

In addition, we rely on software applications, enterprise cloud storage systems and cloud computing services provided by third-party vendors for certain information technology services, including our SAP enterprise system, payroll data, risk management data and lease data. If these third-party vendors, as well as our suppliers and other vendors, experience service interruptions or damage, security breaches, cyber-attacks, computer viruses, ransomware or other similar events or intrusions, our business and our consolidated results of operations may be adversely affected.

The world has experienced an exponential level of growth in the availability of potential applications of artificial intelligence (AI). AI could disrupt certain aspects of our business and evolve use of technology in ways that are not yet known. If we are not able to adapt and effectively incorporate potential advantages of AI in our business, it may negatively impact our ability to compete. On the other hand, if we are not able to effectively manage the risks of AI, including the potential for poor or inconsistent quality, privacy concerns, risks related to automated decision-making, and the potential for exposure of confidential and/or proprietary information, we may suffer harm to our consolidated results of operations and reputation.

Failure to achieve and maintain effective internal controls could adversely affect our business and stock price.

Effective internal controls are necessary for us to provide reliable financial reports. All internal control systems, no matter how well designed, have inherent limitations. Therefore, even those systems determined to be effective can provide only reasonable assurance with respect to the consolidated financial statement preparation and presentation. While we continue to evaluate our internal controls, we cannot be certain that these measures will ensure that we implement and maintain adequate controls over our financial processes and reporting in the future. If we fail to maintain the adequacy of our internal controls or if we or our independent registered public accounting firm were to discover material weaknesses in our internal controls, as such standards are modified, supplemented or amended, we may not be able to ensure that we can conclude on an ongoing basis that we have effective internal control over financial reporting in accordance with Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002. Failure to achieve and maintain an effective internal control environment could cause us to be unable to produce reliable financial reports or prevent fraud. This may cause investors to lose confidence in our reported financial information, which could have a material adverse effect on our stock price.

We may experience difficulties in attracting and retaining competent personnel in key positions. Failure to preserve positive labor relationships with our employee-partners could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

We believe that a key component of our success is our corporate culture, which has been imparted by management throughout our corporate organization. Our corporate culture, along with our entire operation, depends on our ability to attract, develop and retain key employee-partners. Competitive pressures and labor shortages within and outside our industry may make it more difficult and expensive for us to attract and retain key employee-partners which could adversely affect our businesses.

We believe we have positive labor relationships with our employee-partners. However, factors such as difficulty to attract key employees, reduced employee engagement, third-party organizational efforts and increased employee-partner turnover could adversely affect our labor relationships with our employee-partners. A failure to preserve positive labor relationships with our employee-partners and could adversely affect our consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operations.

Unexpected events could negatively impact our business and adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Unexpected events, including fires or explosions at facilities, severe weather conditions and natural disasters such as hurricanes, fires, floods, droughts and tornadoes (including those caused by climate change), geopolitical conflicts, war or terrorist activities, unplanned outages, global health pandemics, supply disruptions, failure of equipment or systems or changes in laws and/or regulations impacting our businesses, could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations. Any of these events could result in customer disruption, physical damage to one or more key operating facilities, the temporary closure of one or more key operating facilities or the temporary disruption of information systems. In addition, negative publicity related to such unexpected events, whether warranted or not, may impact brand image perception and could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Financial Risks

Our indebtedness may limit cash flow available to invest in the ongoing needs of our business.

Our outstanding indebtedness along with adverse interest rate fluctuations may have negative consequences on our business, such as requiring us to dedicate a substantial portion of our cash flow from operations to the payment of debt service, reducing the availability of our cash flow to fund working capital, capital expenditures, acquisitions, dividend increases, stock buybacks and other general corporate purposes, as well as increase our vulnerability to adverse economic or industry conditions. In addition, it may limit our ability to obtain additional financing in the future to enable us to react to changes in our business or industry or place us at a competitive disadvantage compared to businesses in our industry that have less debt.

Changes in the fuel and energy industry could adversely affect our consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operations.

The price of fuel and energy needed to run our vehicles and equipment is unpredictable and fluctuates based on events outside of our control, including geopolitical developments, supply and demand fluctuations for fuel and other energy related products, actions by energy producers, war and unrest in oil producing countries, regional production patterns, limits on refining capacities, natural disasters, environmental concerns including the impact of legislative and regulatory efforts to limit GHG emissions and global health pandemics. Increases in fuel and energy costs could adversely affect our consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operations.

Fluctuations in foreign currency exchange could adversely affect our consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operations.

We earn revenue, pay expenses, own assets and incur liabilities in countries using currencies other than the U.S. dollar, primarily the Canadian dollar. In fiscal years 2024, 2023 and 2022, revenue denominated in currencies other than the U.S. dollar represented less than 10% of our consolidated revenue. Because our consolidated financial statements are presented in U.S. dollars, we must translate revenue and expenses, as well as assets and liabilities, into U.S. dollars at exchange rates in effect during or at the end of each reporting period. Therefore, fluctuations in the value of the U.S. dollar against other major currencies, particularly in the event of significant increases in foreign currency revenue, will impact our revenue and operating income and the value of consolidated balance sheet items denominated in foreign currencies. This impact could adversely affect our consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operations.

We may recognize impairment charges, which could adversely affect our consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operations.

We assess our goodwill and other intangible assets and our long-lived assets for impairment when required by U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (U.S. GAAP). These accounting principles require that we record an impairment charge if circumstances indicate that the asset carrying values exceed their estimated fair values. The estimated fair value of these assets is impacted by, but not limited to, macroeconomic, industry and market conditions in the locations in which we operate. Deterioration in these general economic conditions may result in: declining revenue, which can lead to excess capacity and declining operating cash flow; reductions in management's estimates for future revenue and operating cash flow growth; increases in borrowing rates and other deterioration in factors that impact our weighted average cost of capital; and deteriorating real estate values. If our assessment of goodwill, other intangible assets or long-lived assets indicates an impairment of the carrying value for which we recognize an impairment charge, this may adversely affect our consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operations.

The effects of credit market volatility and changes in our credit ratings could adversely affect our liquidity and consolidated results of operations.

Our operating cash flows, combined with access to the credit markets, provide us with significant discretionary funding capacity. Our access to the credit markets will depend on a variety of factors, such as prevailing economic and credit market conditions, the general availability of credit, the overall availability of credit to our industry, our credit ratings and credit capacity and perceptions of our financial prospects. For example, in the event that the ratings of our commercial paper or our outstanding long-term debt issues were substantially lowered or withdrawn for any reason, or if the ratings assigned to any new issue of long-term debt securities were significantly lowered, particularly if we no longer had investment grade ratings, our ability to access the debt markets may be adversely affected. In addition, deterioration in the global credit markets may limit our ability to access credit markets, which could adversely affect our liquidity and/or increase our cost of borrowing. In addition, credit market deterioration and its actual or perceived effects on our results of operations and financial condition, along with deterioration in general economic conditions, may increase the likelihood that the major independent credit agencies will downgrade our credit ratings, which could increase our cost of borrowing. Increases in our cost of borrowing could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Legal and Regulatory Risks

Failure to comply with federal and state regulations to which we are subject could result in penalties or costs that could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Our business is subject to complex and stringent state and federal regulations, including employment laws and regulations, minimum wage requirements, overtime requirements, working condition requirements, citizenship requirements, transportation laws and regulations, ESG-related regulations, cybersecurity laws and regulations, data privacy and protection laws and regulations, environmental regulations, and other laws and regulations. In particular, we are subject to the regulations promulgated by the U.S. Department of Transportation (USDOT) and under the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970, as amended (OSHA Act). We have incurred, and will continue to incur, capital and operating expenditures and other costs in the ordinary course of our business in complying with the USDOT regulations, the OSHA Act and other laws and regulations to which we are subject. Changes in laws, regulations and the related interpretations, including any laws or regulations that may be enacted by the current U.S. presidential administration and Congress, may alter the landscape in which we do business and may affect our costs of doing business. The impact of new laws and regulations cannot be predicted. Compliance with new laws and regulations may increase our operating costs or require significant capital expenditures. Any failure to comply with applicable laws or regulations could result in substantial fines by government authorities, payment of damages to private litigants, or possible revocation of our authority to conduct our operations, which could adversely affect our ability to service customers and our consolidated results of operations. In addition, we expect there will likely be increasing levels of regulation, disclosure-related and otherwise, with respect to ESG matters, and increased regulation will likely lead to increased compliance costs as well as scrutiny that could heighten all of the risks identified in this risk factor.

We are subject to legal proceedings that may adversely affect our consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operations.

We are subject to various litigation claims and legal proceeding arising from the ordinary course of our business, including personal injury, customer contract, environmental and employment claims. Certain of these lawsuits or potential future lawsuits, if decided adversely to us or settled by us, may result in liability and expense material to our consolidated financial condition and consolidated results of operations.

Compliance with environmental laws and regulations could result in significant costs that adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Our operating locations are subject to environmental laws and regulations relating to the protection of the environment and health and safety matters, including those governing discharges of pollutants to the air and water, the management and disposal of hazardous substances and wastes and the clean-up of contaminated sites. The operation of our businesses entails risks under environmental laws and regulations. We could incur significant costs, including clean-up costs, fines and sanctions and claims by third parties for property damage and personal injury, as a result of violations of or liabilities under these laws and regulations. We are currently involved in a limited number of remedial investigations and actions at various locations. While based on information currently known to us, we believe that we maintain adequate reserves with respect to these matters, our liability could exceed forecasted amounts, and the imposition of additional clean-up obligations or the discovery of additional contamination at these or other sites could result in significant additional costs which could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations. In addition, potentially significant expenditures could be required to comply with environmental laws and regulations, including requirements that may be adopted or imposed in the future.

Under applicable environmental laws, an owner or operator of real estate may be required to pay the costs of removing or remediating hazardous materials located on or emanating from property, whether or not the owner or operator knew of or was responsible for the presence of such hazardous materials. While we regularly engage in environmental due diligence in connection with acquisitions, we can give no assurance that locations that have been acquired or leased have been operated in compliance with environmental laws and regulations during prior periods or that future uses or conditions will not make us liable under these laws or expose us to third-party actions, including tort suits.

Increased global focus on climate change may result in the imposition of new or additional regulations or requirements applicable to, and increased financial risks for, our business and industry. A number of government authorities and agencies have introduced or are contemplating regulatory changes to address climate change, including the regulation of GHG emissions. The outcome of new legislation or regulation in the U.S. and other jurisdictions in which we operate may result in new or additional requirements, including to fund energy efficiency activities or renewable energy use, and fees or restrictions on certain activities or materials. Compliance with these climate change initiatives may also result in additional costs to us, including, among other things, increased production costs, additional taxes, additional investments in renewable energy use and other initiatives, reduced emission allowances or additional restrictions on production or operations. We may not be able to timely recover the cost of compliance with such new or more stringent laws and regulations, which could adversely affect our consolidated results of operations.

Increasing scrutiny and evolving expectations from investors, customers, regulators, policymakers and other stakeholders regarding ESG matters may adversely affect our reputation or otherwise adversely impact our share price, demand for our securities and business and results of operations.

Companies across all industries are facing increasing scrutiny from stakeholders related to ESG matters, including practices and disclosures related to environmental stewardship; social responsibility; diversity, equity and inclusion; and workplace rights. The heightened and sometimes conflicting stakeholder focus on ESG issues related to our business requires the continuous monitoring of various and evolving laws, regulations, standards and expectations and the associated reporting requirements. As the nature, scope and complexity of ESG reporting, diligence and disclosure requirements expand, we may have to undertake additional costs to control, assess and report on ESG metrics. Any failure or perceived failure, whether or not valid, to pursue or fulfill our ESG aspirations, targets or objectives or to satisfy various ESG reporting standards within the timelines we announce, or at all, could result in adverse publicity, reputational harm, or loss of customer and/or investor confidence, which could adversely affect our business and consolidated results of operations. In addition, our share price and demand for our securities could be adversely affected.

In addition, our ability to achieve our ESG aspirations, including to achieve Net Zero GHG emissions by 2050, and to accurately and transparently report our progress presents numerous operational, financial, legal and other risks, and may be dependent on the actions of suppliers and other third parties, significant technological advancements with respect to the development and availability of reliable, affordable and sustainable alternative solutions, all of which are outside of our control. If we are unable to meet our ESG aspirations or evolving stakeholder expectations and industry standards, or if we are perceived to have not responded appropriately to the growing concern for ESG issues, our reputation could be negatively impacted. In addition, in recent years, investor advocacy groups and certain institutional investors have placed increasing importance on ESG matters. If, as a result of their assessment of our ESG practices, certain investors are unsatisfied with our actions or progress, they may reconsider their investment in our Company.

Increases in income tax rates, changes in income tax laws or unfavorable resolution of tax matters could adversely impact our consolidated results of operations.

Changes in tax laws or regulations in the jurisdictions in which we do business, or other tax law implementations or interpretations, including the Inflation Reduction Act (IRA), which includes a corporate alternative minimum tax on certain large corporations, incentives to address climate change mitigation and other non-income tax provisions, including an excise tax on the repurchase of corporate stock could increase our effective tax rate, restrict our ability to repatriate undistributed offshore earnings, or impose new restrictions, costs or prohibitions on our current practices and reduce our net income and adversely affect our cash flows. In addition, some countries have enacted or have committed to enact Pillar Two global minimum tax, which may increase our tax expense in future years.

We are also subject to tax audits, including with respect to transfer pricing, in the U.S. and other jurisdictions and our tax positions may be challenged by tax authorities. Although we believe that our current tax provisions are reasonable and appropriate, there can be no assurance that these items will be settled for the amounts accrued, that additional tax exposures will not be identified in the future or that additional tax reserves will not be necessary for any such exposures. Any increase in the amount of taxation incurred as a result of challenges to our tax filing positions could result in a material adverse effect on our business, consolidated results of operations and consolidated financial condition.

Item 1C. Cybersecurity

We have a cross-departmental approach to addressing cybersecurity risk, including input from employees and our Board of Directors (the Board). The Board, Audit Committee and senior management devote significant resources to cybersecurity and risk management processes to adapt to the changing cybersecurity landscape and respond to emerging threats in a timely and effective manner. Our cybersecurity risk management program is incorporated into our enterprise risk management program and leverages industry standards and best practices, such as the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) framework, which organizes cybersecurity risks into five categories: identify, protect, detect, respond and recover. We regularly assess the threat landscape and take a holistic view of cybersecurity risks, with a layered cybersecurity strategy based on prevention, detection and mitigation. We have a set of Company-wide policies and procedures concerning cybersecurity matters, which include numerous written information technology (IT) security policies, standards, procedures and guidelines as well as other policies that directly or indirectly relate to cybersecurity, such as policies related to encryption standards, antivirus protection, remote access, multifactor authentication, confidential information and the use of the internet, social media, email and wireless devices. These policies go through an internal review process and are approved by appropriate members of management.

The Company's Chief Information Security Officer (CISO) is responsible for developing and implementing and managing our cybersecurity security program and reporting on cybersecurity matters to the Audit Committee and the Board. Our CISO has over fifteen years of IT and cybersecurity leadership experience and has various industry related degrees and certifications, including a master's in information technology and the Certified Information Systems Security Professional (CISSP) and Certified in Risk and Information Systems Control (CRISC) certifications. The Board has ultimate oversight of cybersecurity risk, which it manages as part of our enterprise risk management program. That program is utilized in making decisions with respect to Company priorities, resource allocations and oversight structures. The Board is assisted by the Audit Committee, which regularly reviews our cybersecurity program with the CISO and other members of management and reports back to the Board. The Audit Committee receives reports from the CISO on, among other things, the Company's cyber risks and threats, the status of projects to strengthen the Company's information security systems, assessments of the Company's security program and the emerging threat landscape. Cybersecurity reviews by the Audit Committee or the Board occur quarterly, or more frequently as determined to be necessary or advisable.

We view cybersecurity as a shared responsibility, and we periodically perform simulations and tabletop exercises at technical and executive levels and incorporate external resources and advisors, as needed. In an effort to detect and defend against cyber threats, the Company provides its employee-partners with various cybersecurity and data protection training programs and requires annual security awareness training participation. These programs cover timely and relevant topics, including social engineering, phishing, password protection, confidential data protection, asset use and mobile security, and these programs educate employee-partners on the importance of reporting all incidents promptly to the IT Security team. We also require employee-partners in certain roles to complete additional role-based, specialized cybersecurity trainings.

We have continued to expand investments in IT security, including additional end-user training, using layered defenses, identifying and protecting critical assets, strengthening monitoring and alerting, and engaging experts. At the management level, our IT security team regularly monitors, alerts and meets to discuss threat levels, trends and remediation. The team also prepares a monthly cyber scorecard which covers cyber operational controls along with internal and external threats. Annual risk and cyber maturity assessments are conducted by independent third parties. Further, we conduct periodic external penetration tests and response testing to assess our processes and procedures against the evolving threat landscape. These tests and assessments are useful tools for maintaining a robust cybersecurity program that is designed to protect our investors, customers, employees, vendors and intellectual property.

In addition to assessing our own cybersecurity preparedness, we also consider and evaluate cybersecurity risks associated with use of third-party service providers. We seek to engage reliable, reputable service providers that maintain cybersecurity programs. Depending on the nature of the services provided, the sensitivity and quantity of information processed, and the identity of the service provider, our vendor management process may include reviewing the cybersecurity practices of such provider, conducting security assessments and conducting periodic reassessments during their engagement. Our IT security team conducts an annual review of third parties with a specific focus on any sensitive data shared with third parties. System and Organization Controls (SOC) reports are

Katy Herman, JD, CCEP:

At this time the State of Minnesota does not regulate medical device companies (manufacturers or distributors) through either the Board of Pharmacy or any other health board or division. As there is no statutory reference to this, we provide the following related FAQ information from our official website:

<https://mn.gov/boards/pharmacy/resources/faqs/faqs/general/faqs.jsp>

Does your Board of Pharmacy license or register medical device or medical supply manufacturers, wholesale distributors, supplies or retailers?

The Board does not license or register companies that exclusively manufacture, distribute, supply or sell medical devices or supplies. If a company that handles medical devices or supplies also manufactures or distributes drugs, it must be licensed as a drug manufacturer or drug wholesaler. Exception if the drug is coated on or embedded in the device (e.g. drug-coated stents) and the resultant product is approved by the FDA as a device, the company does not have to be licensed as a manufacturer or wholesale distributor.

If you have any questions you or any jurisdiction your clients are seeking licensure in may reach out to me at the MN Board of Pharmacy.

Thank you,

Tim Litsey RPh

Forward-Looking Statements

This Annual Report on Form 10-K contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. We intend such forward-looking statements to be covered by the safe harbor provisions for forward-looking statements contained in Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the "Securities Act") and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act"). All statements other than statements of historical fact contained in this Annual Report on Form 10-K are forward-looking statements, including, without limitation, statements regarding our future results of operations and financial position, business strategy, the impact of macroeconomic trends on our business, financial results and financial position, prospective products, international product approvals and commercializations, our expectations regarding the final reimbursement levels for Inspire therapy procedures, research and development costs, timing and likelihood of success, other insurance providers' plans to begin approving our Inspire therapy, human capital initiatives, pay equity reviews, environmental, social, and governance reporting, our sales and marketing initiatives, potential supply chain disruptions, and the plans and objectives of management for future operations.

In some cases, you can identify forward-looking statements by terms such as "anticipate," "believe," "can," "continue," "could," "designed," "estimate," "expect," "forecast," "goal," "intend," "may," "might," "plan," "possible," "potential," "predict," "project," "should," "target," "will," "would," or the negative of these terms or other similar expressions, although not all forward-looking statements contain these words. The forward-looking statements in this Annual Report on Form 10-K are only predictions and are based largely on our current expectations and projections about future events and financial trends that we believe may affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations. These forward-looking statements speak only as of the date of this Annual Report on Form 10-K and are subject to a number of known and unknown risks, uncertainties and assumptions, including, but not limited to the factors described in "Part I, Item 1. Business," "Part I, Item 1A. Risk Factors," and "Part I, Item 2. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" of this Annual Report on Form 10-K. Moreover, we operate in an evolving environment. New risk factors and uncertainties may emerge from time to time, and it is not possible for management to predict all risk factors and uncertainties.

Except as required by applicable law, we do not plan to publicly update or revise any forward-looking statements contained herein, whether as a result of any new information, future events, changed circumstances or otherwise.

Unless the context requires otherwise, references to "Inspire," the "Company," "we," "us," and "our," refer to Inspire Medical Systems, Inc.

Summary Risk Factors

Our business is subject to numerous risks and uncertainties, including those described in Part I, Item 1A. "Risk Factors" in this Annual Report on Form 10-K. You should carefully consider these risks and uncertainties when investing in our common stock. The principal risks and uncertainties affecting our business include the following:

- our history of operating losses and dependency on our Inspire system for revenues;
- commercial success and market acceptance of our Inspire therapy;
- our ability to achieve and maintain adequate levels of coverage or reimbursement for our Inspire system or any future products we may seek to commercialize;
- competitive companies, technologies and pharmaceuticals in our industry;
- our ability to expand our indications and develop and commercialize additional products and enhancements to our Inspire system;
- future results of operations, financial position, research and development costs, capital requirements, and our needs for additional financing;

- our ability to forecast customer demand for our Inspire system and manage our inventory;
- our dependence on third-party suppliers, vendors, and contract manufacturers;
- risks related to consolidation in the healthcare industry;
- our ability to expand, manage, and maintain our direct sales and marketing organization, and to market and sell our Inspire system in markets outside of the United States;
- our ability to manage our growth;
- our ability to hire and retain our senior management and other highly qualified personnel;
- risks related to product liability claims and warranty claims;
- our ability to address quality issues that may arise with our Inspire system;
- our ability to successfully integrate any acquired business, products, or technologies;
- changes in global macroeconomic conditions;
- any failure of key information technology systems, processes, or sites or damage to or inability to access our physical facilities;
- our ability to commercialize or obtain regulatory approvals or certifications for our Inspire therapy and system, or the effect of delays in commercializing or obtaining regulatory approvals or certifications;
- any violations of anti-bribery, anti-corruption, and anti-money laundering laws;
- our ability to use our net operating losses and research and development carryforwards;
- risks related to the increasing and evolving focus on sustainability and environmental, social, and governance initiatives;
- U.S. Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") or other United States or foreign regulatory actions affecting us or the healthcare industry generally, including risks associated with regulatory approvals, certifications, or healthcare reform measures in the United States and international markets;
- our ability to establish and maintain intellectual property protection for our Inspire therapy and system or avoid claims of infringement;
- changes in U.S. and foreign tax laws; and
- risks related to our common stock.

PART I

Item 1. Business.

Overview

We are a medical technology company focused on the development and commercialization of innovative, minimally invasive solutions for patients with obstructive sleep apnea ("OSA"). Our proprietary Inspire system is the first and only FDA, European Union ("EU") Regulation No. 2017/745 ("MDR" or "EU Medical Devices Regulation"), and Japan Pharmaceuticals and Medical Devices Agency-approved neurostimulation technology of its kind that provides a safe and effective treatment for patients with moderate to severe OSA. We have developed a novel, closed-loop solution that continuously monitors a patient's breathing and delivers mild hypoglossal nerve stimulation to maintain an open airway. A significant body of clinical data, which includes a publication in the New England Journal of Medicine, multiple publications in leading respiratory, ear, nose and throat ("ENT") and sleep medicine journals, and more than 350 peer-reviewed publications, supports the safety and efficacy of Inspire therapy. Inspire therapy received premarket approval ("PMA") from the FDA in 2014 and has been commercially available in certain European markets since 2011. Japan's Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare ("MLHW") approved Inspire therapy to treat moderate to severe OSA in 2018. Inspire therapy is indicated for patients with moderate to severe OSA who do not have significant central sleep apnea and do not have a complete concentric collapse of the airway at the soft palate level. Physicians have treated more than 90,000 patients with Inspire therapy at over 1,575 medical centers across the United States ("U.S."), Europe, and Asia.

Sleep apnea is a serious and chronic disease that negatively impacts a patient's sleep, health, and quality of life. OSA is the most common form of sleep apnea. OSA occurs when a person's breathing is interrupted during sleep by a partially or completely blocked airway and affects patients of all ages, sexes, and body types. The severity of OSA is measured by the number of partial or complete airway blockages that a patient experiences in an hour, referred to as the apnea-hypopnea index ("AHI"). Moderate OSA patients have an AHI of 15 to 30 events per hour, while severe OSA patients have an AHI of 30 or more events per hour. Left untreated, OSA increases the risk of high blood pressure, hypertension, heart failure, stroke, coronary artery disease, and other life-threatening diseases.

CPAP is the leading therapy for patients with moderate to severe OSA. CPAP is delivered through a face or nasal mask that connects through a hose to a bedside air pump. In order for CPAP to be most effective, the mask must form an airtight seal on the patient's face or nose and the mask must be worn every night. The effectiveness of CPAP has been limited by low patient compliance as many patients find the mask or treatment cumbersome, uncomfortable, and loud. When CPAP fails or cannot be tolerated, patients' remaining treatment options consist primarily of invasive surgical procedures developed to modify or remove existing tissue in an attempt to create free air flow. These invasive surgical procedures have limited or unpredictable clinical benefit, are irreversible, and can be extremely painful.

We believe that there continues to be both an urgent clinical need and a strong market opportunity for an alternative to CPAP that is effective and minimally invasive. Data shows that patients with CPAP intolerant OSA have a higher risk for mortality than patients with CPAP-tolerant OSA and higher healthcare utilization rates based on increased cardiovascular health risks. Two recent findings published in 2022 from Medicare and the French national healthcare insurance databases have demonstrated, in large national cohorts, risks of CPAP intolerance. Specifically, Medicare patients with CPAP intolerance had higher risks of new cardiovascular events than those who were adherent. Similarly, the French national reimbursement database showed that in over 176,000 patients, CPAP non-adherent patients had a higher risk for mortality and new onset of heart failure than those who were adherent. These findings show the urgency of treating CPAP-intolerant OSA to improve patient outcomes and potentially reduce healthcare utilization.

Inspire therapy is an innovative, closed-loop, minimally invasive solution designed to provide comfort and convenience, and which results in high compliance for patients with moderate to severe OSA. Once implanted, the Inspire system delivers electrical stimulation that causes a slight forward movement of the back of the tongue, which helps to maintain an open airway, enabling the patient to inhale freely without interruption. We believe our Inspire therapy provides the following benefits:

- Safe, effective, and durable treatment supported by compelling clinical data, including long-term efficacy results out to five years from initial treatment.
- Closed-loop system that uses a proprietary algorithm to continuously monitor patients' breathing and provide electrical stimulation during the inspiratory phase.
- Comfortable and convenient therapy resulting in high patient satisfaction that was reported to be 90% in patients who were followed an average of 12 months from initial treatment, according to the most recent publication of our ongoing global patient registry.
- Strong patient compliance, with 80% of patients reporting continued nightly use through five years from initial treatment in our Stimulation Therapy for Apnea Reduction ("STAR") trial.
- Minimally invasive outpatient procedure with short recovery time.
- Long-lasting solution with a battery designed to last approximately 11 years without charging or maintenance.

The results from multiple clinical studies, which include seven sponsored and more than 100 independent clinical studies that evaluated several thousand patients, have shown that our Inspire therapy provides statistically significant and sustained reduction in the severity of patients' OSA, improvement in sleep-related quality of life and reduction in snoring, as well as high patient compliance rates and a strong safety profile.

Our pivotal STAR trial was designed to demonstrate longitudinal therapy efficacy and included a randomized controlled therapy withdrawal study. The longitudinal study demonstrated an approximately 70% reduction in the median AHI in patients with moderate to severe OSA from a baseline of 29.3 events per hour to 9.0 events per hour at 12 months following initial treatment. STAR trial follow-up has shown results similar to the initial data at 18 months, three years, and five years following initial treatment. At five years, median AHI in patients with moderate to severe OSA remained low at 6.2 events per hour. The effectiveness of Inspire therapy was further demonstrated by the results of the randomized controlled therapy withdrawal study, in which patients in the therapy withdrawal group regressed to near-baseline AHI levels while patients in the control group that continued therapy experienced sustained therapeutic benefits.

In addition to the STAR trial, we have established a global real-world patient registry ("ADHERE") to collect data on safety, effectiveness, weekly usage, overall compliance, and satisfaction from patients who have been implanted with an Inspire system for one year after implant. The target enrollment of 5,000 patients was achieved in 2024 and patient follow-up is ongoing. For more details on ADHERE, please see the section titled "Clinical Results and Studies—ADHERE Patient Registry" below.

We sell our Inspire system to hospitals and ambulatory surgery centers ("ASCs") in the U.S. and in select countries in Europe through a direct sales organization, and we sell our Inspire system in Japan and Singapore through distributors. As of December 31, 2024, we had 335 sales territories in the U.S. and 25 outside of the U.S. Our direct sales force engages in sales efforts and promotional activities focused on ENT physicians, and sleep centers. In addition, we highlight our compelling clinical data and value proposition to increase awareness and adoption amongst referring physicians. We build upon this top-down approach with strong direct-to-consumer marketing initiatives to create awareness of the benefits of our Inspire system and drive demand through patient empowerment. This outreach helps to educate thousands of patients on our Inspire therapy.

Our U.S. customers are generally reimbursed for the cost of patient treatment by various third-party payors, such as commercial insurance providers and Medicare. We have secured positive coverage policies with many U.S. commercial payors, including all large national commercial insurers, encompassing approximately 260 million covered lives in the U.S. We are in active discussions with regional commercial insurers to establish additional positive coverage policies, as well as modify existing positive coverage policies to support reimbursement of Inspire therapy. In parallel, a subset of our market access team, which we refer to as our prior authorization team, is focused on assisting patients and physicians in obtaining prior authorization approvals from commercial payors on a case-by-case basis in advance of treatment with our Inspire therapy. In addition, all seven Medicare

Administrative Contractors ("MACs") provide coverage of Inspire therapy when certain medical necessity criteria are met. We also have a U.S. government contract for patients who are treated by the Veterans Health Administration.

Reimbursement in other countries can often be established through a combination of private (commercial insurance) and public funding sources, or at the hospital level through innovation budgets.

Our Competitive Strengths

We believe the continued growth of our company will be driven by the following competitive strengths:

- First to market with an innovative, closed-loop, minimally invasive solution. We have developed the first and only FDA-approved neurostimulation technology that provides a safe and effective treatment for patients with moderate to severe OSA who have been confirmed to fail or cannot tolerate PAP treatments, such as CPAP. We received a PMA from the FDA in 2014 for our Inspire therapy. Unlike CPAP, which is limited by low patient compliance primarily due to patient discomfort with the mask or device, our innovative, closed-loop, minimally invasive solution is designed to provide comfort and convenience, resulting in high compliance for patients with moderate to severe OSA. We believe we have a significant first mover advantage and momentum over future competitors, as physicians have treated more than 90,000 patients with Inspire therapy.
- Significant body of strong clinical data. We have developed a significant body of clinical data that demonstrates the safety and effectiveness, therapy adherence, and long-term sustained benefits of our Inspire therapy. The benefits of treatment with Inspire therapy have been consistent across seven sponsored and more than 100 independent clinical studies that evaluated several thousand patients and have been highlighted in more than 350 peer-reviewed publications. Data reported in these clinical studies also demonstrated a high level of overall patient satisfaction. We believe this favorable data provides us with a significant competitive advantage and will continue to support increased adoption of our Inspire therapy.
- Holistic and targeted approach to market development and patient engagement. We have established a methodical approach to market development which centers on active engagement across three key stakeholders in the OSA treatment paradigm: physicians, sleep centers, and patients. Our sales force is focused on building long-lasting relationships with ENT physicians and sleep centers as we support physicians through all aspects of a case—from diagnosis to surgical support to patient follow-up. In addition, we are highlighting our compelling clinical data set and value proposition to increase awareness and adoption amongst referring physicians. We build upon this top-down approach with a strong direct-to-consumer marketing initiative that further drives demand through patient empowerment. This outreach helps to educate thousands of patients on our Inspire therapy. Our patient call center, the Advisor Care Program, assists patients with making a connection with a qualified healthcare provider based on their specific needs. We are confident that this holistic approach to engagement across multiple constituents will continue to drive increased awareness of and demand for our Inspire therapy.
- Dedicated team focused on providing market access for patients and providers. We have a refined, efficient approach to advance patients, once identified, to placement of the Inspire system. When required, our dedicated prior authorization team helps patients and providers work with commercial payors to secure prior authorization approvals in advance of initial treatment. In addition, by highlighting the compelling clinical data and the value of our Inspire therapy, the market access team proactively works with payors to establish positive coverage policies where needed and update policies to match the FDA criteria where a policy already exists. This highly effective team has been successful in helping providers and patients to secure reimbursement from hundreds of commercial payors to date, and positive coverage policies from most U.S. commercial payors, including all large national payors.
- Strong research and development capabilities and comprehensive intellectual property portfolio. Our commitment to driving innovation has allowed us to achieve continuous, significant improvements of our Inspire therapy. For example, in 2024, we received approval from the FDA for our next generation

Inspire system, which we expect to fully launch in the U.S. in 2025. We have a comprehensive patent portfolio to protect our intellectual property and technology, with rights as of December 31, 2024 to 98 issued U.S. patents, 72 issued foreign patents, 67 pending U.S. patent applications, and 69 pending foreign patent applications that cover aspects of our Inspire system and future product concepts.

Our Strategy

Our goal is to be a global leader in providing clinically proven innovative solutions that improve sleep, quality of life, and health of patients with moderate to severe OSA. We believe the following strategies will play a critical role in achieving this goal and our future growth:

- Foster strong and consistent patient outcomes. Patient outcomes remain the single most important focus for Inspire as we scale our business, and we have a dedicated patient outcomes team furthering this mission. Our Surgical Implant Trainers are tasked with conducting physician trainings and proctoring implants. Care Pathway Specialists develop and promote consistent post-implant care protocols. Our team of Sleep Support Specialists educate and oversee local sleep lab titrations. We believe these teams are critical to ensuring that outcomes continue to improve even as implant volumes increase around the world.
- Improve the customer experience. We believe that by enhancing interconnectivity, simplifying the care pathway, and closely tracking outcomes, we can optimize the customer experience and improve therapy adherence. We have invested in initiatives that we believe will drive higher quality patient flow to reduce time to treatment and increase the capacity of providers to treat and manage more patients. We expect that this will allow patients and health care providers to more efficiently realize the proven benefits of Inspire therapy. We also continue to invest in our SleepSync™ platform, a cloud-based patient management system which allows patients and physicians alike to remotely monitor key compliance and outcomes measures for connected and coordinated care management, thereby optimizing therapy.
- Promote awareness of and reliance on Inspire therapy among patients, ENT physicians, sleep centers, and referring physicians. We believe that many patients who have failed or cannot tolerate CPAP are unaware of our Inspire therapy as a safe and effective alternative treatment for moderate to severe OSA. We intend to continue to promote awareness of our therapy through training and educating ENT physicians, sleep centers, key opinion leaders, and various medical societies on the proven clinical benefits of Inspire therapy. In addition, we intend to continue to publish additional clinical data in various industry and scientific journals and online, and to present at various industry conferences. We also plan to continue building patient awareness through our direct-to-consumer marketing initiatives, which include paid online search, radio, social media, television, and online videos.
- Expand our sales and marketing organization to facilitate adoption of our Inspire therapy. We plan to continue to expand our sales and marketing organization and seek to recruit and train exceptionally talented sales representatives in existing and new markets to help facilitate further adoption and broaden awareness of our Inspire therapy. Our success to date in developing new markets has been primarily due to our ability to identify new regions with high volume medical centers, educate ENT and sleep physicians, help generate steady patient demand, and provide sufficient support staff to our sales representatives. We believe investing in a scalable, efficient direct sales force and continuing the development of our marketing efforts will help us broaden adoption of our Inspire therapy and drive revenue growth.
- Drive an increase in utilization of Inspire therapy at established centers. In addition to continuing to expand our footprint more broadly, we will also focus on building stronger and deeper relationships with customers. We have extensive learnings through our years of pioneering our hypoglossal nerve stimulation therapy, which we intend to use to educate providers on strategies that allow them to improve their identification and potential treatment of moderate-severe OSA patients.
- Invest in research and development to drive innovation and expand indications. Our foundational commitment to driving innovation and improving patient lives fuels our desire for continuous product development. We intend to invest in existing and next generation technologies to further improve our products and clinical outcomes, optimize patient acceptance and comfort, and broaden the patient population that can benefit from our Inspire therapy. Recent examples of our product innovation include the next generation of the Inspire system and our SleepSync™ programmer as discussed above. We have launched a cloud-based patient management system called the SleepSync™ platform (formerly referred to as Inspire Cloud), which allows physicians to monitor patient compliance and more efficiently coordinate patient care, and the Inspire Sleep app for patients' smartphones. A recent example of our efforts to expand our label indications for the Inspire system include obtaining FDA approval in 2023 to offer Inspire therapy to certain pediatric patients with Down syndrome. Additionally in 2023, we received approval from the FDA on an expanded indication which includes an increase on the upper limit of the AHI to 100 events per hour from 65 and raises the BMI warning in the labeling to 40 from 32.

- Further penetrate and expand into existing and new international markets. We plan to continue to establish and strengthen our presence internationally. Our goal is to further increase sales of our Inspire therapy in existing international markets in Europe, including Germany, France, and the Netherlands, and in the Asia Pacific region, including Japan, Singapore, and Hong Kong. We also plan to expand our reach to markets in new regions, such as Thailand and South Korea. We plan to strategically invest in new markets based on our assessment of market size and opportunity and prospects for compelling reimbursement coding and coverage.

Our Solution for OSA

Overview of Inspire Therapy

Our proprietary Inspire system is the first and only FDA-approved closed-loop neurostimulation technology that provides a safe and effective treatment for patients with moderate to severe OSA. Both our Inspire IV and Inspire V systems consist of a remote control and the following implantable components (except as otherwise noted):

- in the Inspire IV system, a pressure sensing lead, which detects when the patient is attempting to breathe;
- a neurostimulator, which houses the electronics, battery power for the device, and, as to the Inspire V system, a respiratory sensor; and
- a stimulation lead, which delivers electrical stimulation to the hypoglossal nerve.

A respiratory sensor is used to monitor the patient's breathing. Our proprietary algorithm tracks breathing patterns and the neurostimulator delivers electrical stimulation at the start of inspiration. This electrical stimulation of the hypoglossal nerve causes a slight forward movement of the back of the tongue that helps maintain an open airway, thereby preventing obstructive events and enabling the patient to inhale freely.

To receive the Inspire system, patients undergo a short outpatient surgical procedure, typically lasting about 90 minutes, during which the neurostimulator, sensing lead, and stimulation lead are implanted. The procedure is minimally invasive and performed with two small incisions. Patients typically recover quickly and are able to resume normal activities in just a few days. Initial activation of the system occurs 30 days after the implantation. After the initial activation, the patient is instructed to use the therapy each night by turning on their Inspire system before going to sleep using their remote control.

Patients turn their Inspire system on when they plan to go to sleep and turn it off when they awaken. The device has a programmed delay, typically 30 minutes, to allow patients to fall asleep naturally before the device activates. It then monitors the patient's breathing and delivers mild stimulation to the hypoglossal nerve at the start of the inspiratory phase, causing a slight forward movement at the back of the tongue to maintain an open airway during the inspiratory phase of respiration. The therapy is designed to provide stimulation for each breath to prevent obstructive events.

The effectiveness of Inspire therapy to relieve OSA is objectively measured during a sleep study or polysomnogram. A sleep study records a patient's breathing, airflow, and blood oxygen levels before and after activating the device. Before activation, the patient experiences multiple periods of interrupted breathing, and oxygen levels repeatedly drop before the patient experiences a transient arousal that allows air intake.

Benefits of Inspire Therapy

We believe our Inspire therapy overcomes many of the limitations of PAP and other current treatments of moderate to severe OSA by providing the following key benefits:

- Safe, effective, and durable treatment. Results from our clinical studies provide compelling safety and efficacy data regarding the clinical benefits of Inspire therapy as many as five years after initial treatment. The results from our STAR trial, a five-year follow-up phase III pivotal trial, demonstrated an approximately 70% reduction in the median AHI from a baseline of 29.3 events per hour to 9.0 events per hour at 12 months following initial treatment. STAR trial follow-up has shown similar results to the initial data at 18 months, three years, and five years. At five years, median AHI remained low at 6.2 events per hour. The results from our ADHERE patient registry also reflect similar median AHI reductions to the STAR trial in a real-world setting.
- Closed-loop system. The Inspire system uses proprietary algorithms to continuously monitor a patient's breathing and provide electrical stimulation during the inspiratory phase, working with the body's natural actions to keep the airway open during the breathing cycle.
- Comfortable and convenient therapy resulting in high patient satisfaction. Data reported in the most recent publication of our ongoing ADHERE patient registry demonstrated that patients used Inspire therapy an average of 5.7 hours per night an average of 12 months after initial treatment, with overall patient satisfaction reported to be at 90%.
- Strong patient compliance. Results from our STAR trial demonstrated that 80% of patients continue to use Inspire therapy on a nightly basis five years after initial treatment.
- Similar outcomes and usage as CPAP. Several independent clinical studies demonstrating Inspire therapy has similar improvements in symptoms, and similar nightly usage as CPAP.
- Minimally invasive outpatient procedure. The Inspire system's implantable components are placed during an approximately 90-minute outpatient procedure. The procedure is minimally invasive and performed with two small incisions. Patients typically recover quickly and are able to resume normal activities within a few days.
- Long-lasting solution. Our Inspire system uses a battery designed to last approximately 11 years without charging or maintenance.

Commercialization of Inspire Therapy

In the U.S., we obtained PMA for our Inspire system in 2014. Additionally, we received a certificate of conformity for commercialization of our Inspire system in the EU in 2010 which allowed us to affix the European Conformity ("CE") mark on our device. Japan's MLHW approved Inspire therapy to treat moderate to severe OSA in 2018 and was formally added to the Japan National Health Insurance Payment Listing in 2021. Reimbursement in Singapore is handled through hospital innovation budgets or private health insurance sources.

To commercialize our Inspire system, we focus on physician and patient awareness and adoption of our Inspire therapy. To achieve this, our commercialization strategy primarily consists of our direct sales force engaging in sales efforts and promotional activities focused on ENT physicians and sleep centers and highlighting our compelling clinical data and value proposition. Our direct sales force utilizes strong direct-to-consumer marketing initiatives to create awareness of the benefits of our Inspire system. We intend to make significant investments building our sales and marketing organization by increasing the number of U.S. sales representatives and continuing our direct-to-consumer marketing efforts in existing and new markets throughout the U.S. and Europe.

In Singapore and Hong Kong, our commercialization approach is through exclusive distribution partners, who are responsible for local sales and promotional activities focused on ENT physicians, sleep centers, and community awareness. We work closely with the distributors to ensure a globally consistent approach and effective employee and customer training are in place.

In addition, a significant part of our commercialization effort consists of supporting our customers through the reimbursement process. Most commercial U.S. insurers now cover Inspire therapy. For those commercial payors that do not have a positive policy, Inspire provides assistance to patients and physicians on a case-by-case basis to help support appropriate prior authorization approvals in advance of treatment. Medicare also has positive coverage for all states, and we have a U.S. government contract for patients who are treated by the Veterans Health Administration.

Treatment with Inspire Therapy

Patient Selection

Inspire therapy is indicated for patients with moderate to severe OSA (AHI of 15 to 100) who do not have significant central sleep apnea and do not have a complete concentric collapse of the airway at the soft palate level. Patients undergo a drug-induced sleep endoscopy ("DISE") performed by an ENT surgeon in order to confirm that they satisfy this anatomical requirement. In addition, patients in the U.S. and Japan must have been confirmed to fail or be unable to tolerate PAP treatments, such as CPAP, and be 18 years of age or older, though there are no similar requirements for patients in Europe. Patients who fail PAP are those that are not able to eliminate moderate to severe OSA despite PAP usage. Patients who cannot tolerate PAP treatments are those who either are unable to use PAP more than five nights per week for at least four hours per night, or who are unwilling to use PAP treatment.

Implantation

The Inspire system is implanted under general anesthesia through two small incisions. One incision is under the lower jaw, where the stimulation lead is attached around a distal branch of the hypoglossal nerve that is responsible for forward movement of the tongue. A second incision in the upper right chest below the clavicle is used to implant the neurostimulator, which houses all the electronics and battery power for the device, and a pressure sensing lead to monitor the breathing cycle. The functionality of the Inspire system is tested in the operating room to verify proper placement of the stimulation and pressure sensing leads. The wires for the electrodes are tunneled under the skin and the incisions are closed. The Inspire system is powered by an internal battery that is designed to last approximately 11 years without needing to be recharged. After this time, the neurostimulator is replaced during a simple outpatient procedure.

The implantation procedure is performed in an outpatient setting and surgery is completed in approximately 90 minutes. Patients may experience mild discomfort and swelling at the incision sites for a few days that is usually managed with over-the-counter pain medications. Patients can return home and resume a normal diet shortly after completion of the procedure and resume most daily activities within a few days. The only restriction on their activity is to avoid strenuous activities until the incisions have had time to heal.

Activation

Patients are allowed to heal for a month before the Inspire system is activated through a wireless connection to the device in the clinician's office. The initial activation is performed by the clinician using a programming tablet that is able to turn the system on as well as change various parameters such as the strength, timing, and duration of the stimulation pulse, the stimulating electrode configuration, and the sensitivity of respiration detection. With the exception of pulse strength, the factory default settings are used in the majority of patients. The pulse strength is initially adjusted to the lowest level required to move the tongue forward.

Patients receive a remote control that they use to turn their Inspire system on when they plan to go to sleep and to turn it off when they awaken. The device has a programmed delay, typically 30 minutes, to allow patients to fall asleep naturally before the device activates. It then delivers mild stimulation to the hypoglossal nerve, causing the tongue to move as the patient is inhaling. The remote enables patients to adjust the strength of the stimulation to optimize their therapy and comfort. The range of control given to patients is limited to avoid setting the strength of the stimulation to an ineffective or excessively high level. Patients also have the ability to temporarily pause therapy if they awaken during the night.

Clinical Results and Studies

A significant body of published clinical evidence, which includes seven sponsored and more than 100 independent clinical studies that evaluated several thousand patients, supports the safety and effectiveness of Inspire therapy. The results of the STAR trial, our phase III pivotal clinical trial that served as the basis for the FDA approval of our PMA application, were published in the New England Journal of Medicine, and the results of additional clinical studies have been published in more than 350 peer-reviewed publications.

ADHERE Patient Registry

We have established a global patient registry, which we refer to as our ADHERE patient registry, to collect data on safety, effectiveness, weekly usage, overall compliance, and satisfaction from patients who have been implanted with an Inspire system for one year after Inspire implant. The target enrollment of 5,000 patients was achieved in 2024. The most recent analysis, published in the Journal of Clinical Sleep Medicine in 2022 on 1,963 patients enrolled, showed that patients used Inspire therapy an average of 5.7 hours per night when measured an average of 12 months after implantation. Median AHI was reduced from 33.0 events per hour to 10.2 events per hour and median ESS score improved from 11 to 6 over the same period. Overall satisfaction with Inspire therapy was reported by patients to be 90%, with 92% of patients reporting that they would choose the procedure again. In addition, 91% of patients reported a better experience than CPAP. This same study demonstrated comparable outcomes across five disease severity groups.

Select Recent Clinical Results and Studies

Meta-analysis showed Inspire therapy has been effective over time

Dr. Do Hyun Kim and colleagues published a meta-analysis of hypoglossal nerve stimulation therapy effectiveness in 2024 in Otolaryngology–Head and Neck Surgery. Meta-analysis is a statistical method to estimate effect size across data from high quality publications, i.e. a "study of studies", and can identify potential trends and consistency across a body of data. They identified 44 studies (total of 8,670 patients) of sufficient quality for inclusion. For 12 month follow up, they found that 82% of patients evaluated in this publication had an AHI<15 and a success rate of 80%, where success was defined as the patient's residual AHI is no greater than half of the baseline AHI, and is also no greater than 20. A similar trend was reported for three year follow up at which 74% of patients had an AHI<15 and a success rate of 73%. The authors concluded that hypoglossal nerve stimulation is an effective treatment for obstructive sleep apnea that can significantly improve clinical outcomes over long-term

(three year) follow up. We note that this meta-analysis included publications using other devices, but most of the data was from Inspire therapy patients.

Meta-analysis showed Inspire therapy is an effective alternative to other airway surgeries

Dr. Kim and colleagues published another meta-analysis in the Journal of Sleep Research in 2024 of papers that compared hypoglossal nerve stimulation outcomes to outcomes either from no treatment or from other airway surgeries (e.g., uvulopalatopharyngoplasty). They identified ten papers (nine of which included only Inspire therapy patients) that met inclusion criteria for a total of 2,209 patients in the analysis. Among their findings: compared to airway surgeries and to PAP therapy, hypoglossal nerve stimulation therapy had higher rate of patients achieving AHI<15. Analysis also showed that the hypoglossal nerve stimulation therapy success rate was higher than the success rate from all other evaluated airway surgeries. Success was defined as residual AHI no greater than 20 and no greater than half of the baseline AHI. The results of this meta-analysis suggest that hypoglossal nerve stimulation has shown results comparable to those evaluating PAP, and potentially superior to other airway surgeries, in reducing AHI, and that all therapies have demonstrated similar effectiveness in reducing daytime sleepiness. The authors conclude that hypoglossal nerve stimulation could be an effective treatment for moderate to severe obstructive sleep apnea patients who are intolerant of PAP.

Post market surveillance data support the safety of Inspire therapy

Inspire partnered with implanting surgeons and sleep physicians to publish an analysis of Inspire's post-market surveillance data in 2024 in the Journal of Clinical Sleep Medicine. Medical device manufacturers are mandated by government regulations to collect and monitor adverse events such as surgical revisions or device explants. Precise estimates of revision and explant rates were calculated by combining the post-market surveillance data with corresponding sales volume. Of 20,881 Inspire therapy devices implanted at least one year prior to the analysis, 151 devices (0.7%) were explanted and 322 devices (1.5%) required a surgical revision procedure within a year of the implant. A subset of 5,820 of these devices were implanted three years prior to the analysis, of which 156 devices (2.7%) were explanted, and 207 devices (3.6%) required a revision procedure between one and three years after implant.

Sales and Marketing

We have established a methodical approach to market development which centers on active engagement across three key stakeholders in the OSA treatment paradigm: patients, physicians, and sleep centers.

We sell our Inspire system through a direct sales force that primarily targets ENT physicians and sleep centers in the U.S., Europe, and Japan, and through distributors in Singapore and Hong Kong. The implant procedure for our Inspire therapy is typically performed by an ENT physician or in some cases by a neurosurgeon. We also focus on sleep centers because they diagnose and manage large volumes of patients with sleep apnea and are often an important referral base for ENT physicians. In addition, because OSA is sometimes diagnosed during other procedures, we have developed programs to help educate general practitioners and specialists in other fields, such as cardiovascular surgeons, electrophysiologists, and dentists, regarding our Inspire therapy.

We have 335 sales territories in the U.S. and 25 outside of the U.S. We seek to recruit sales representatives with strong sales backgrounds, direct experience developing markets with new technologies, and core knowledge of medical device coding, reimbursement, and the prior authorization process. In certain Asian markets, we rely on our distribution partners for local sales and promotional activities.

We believe that direct patient education is essential to our ability to become a mainstay therapy which is why we intentionally invest in a robust direct-to-consumer marketing program. We reach patients through national TV (both linear and streaming), Facebook, Google, and other high-performing digital channels. Our goal is to ensure that all eligible OSA patients are aware of the therapy, can learn more on our website, and get connected with a doctor in their area to see if the therapy is right for them. We believe that our direct-to-consumer program continues to be highly effective in driving patient engagement and conversion.

We also have the Inspire Sleep app for patients' smartphones. This app is an educational tool for patients and also interfaces with our SleepSync™ platform to allow physicians to collect clinical data from patients directly. We continue to enhance the functionality of this app as part of our overall digital platform development.

Commercial Activities Outside of the U.S.

Our general practice is to limit commercial investments in countries until such time as there is a determined reimbursement pathway. We have 25 sales territories in Europe and Japan, and we sell our products through distributors in Singapore and Hong Kong. We provide consistent training in geographies outside of the U.S. as is conducted in the U.S. and have established a support team in Europe and Japan for patient outreach and education, implant support, and device programming. In Singapore and Hong Kong, we assist our distribution partners with patient outreach and education initiatives. We expect to continue to scale our commercial activities in Europe as we continue to develop country-wide reimbursement in additional markets. We also have regulatory approval in Thailand and are currently pursuing regulatory approval in Korea.

Third-Party Reimbursement

Our market access team is responsible for all of our reimbursement processes and initiatives. Our team of professionals are focused on all key aspects of reimbursement, which include coding, payment, coverage, and prior authorization.

Coding and Payment

In the U.S., we sell our products to hospitals and ASCs. These customers in turn bill various third-party payors, such as commercial payors and Medicare, for the cost required to treat each patient.

Third-party payors require physicians and hospitals to identify the service for which they are seeking reimbursement by using Current Procedural Terminology ("CPT") codes, which are created and maintained by the American Medical Association. The procedures performed to implant, revise, or explant our Inspire IV device are described for billing purposes using Category I CPT codes (64582, 64583, and 64584, respectively) to identify hypoglossal nerve stimulator services. A Category I code (42975) is used for DISE, which may be a necessary procedure to determine which patients are appropriate for Inspire therapy.

Physician reimbursement under Medicare is based on a defined fee schedule, the Medicare Physician Fee Schedule, through which payment amounts are determined by the relative values of the professional service rendered. Medicare provides reimbursement to our hospital and ASC customers under the outpatient prospective payment system and ASC prospective payment system, respectively, which provide bundled amounts generally intended to reimburse the hospital or ASC for all facility costs related to procedures performed in the outpatient setting.

Reimbursement rates from commercial payors vary depending on the procedure performed, the commercial payor, contract terms, and other factors.

Commercial Payor and Government Program Coverage

A core pillar of our reimbursement strategy involves broadening our third-party payor coverage when possible. We continue to have active discussions with commercial payors to establish new and modify existing positive coverage policies by highlighting our compelling and robust clinical data, increased patient demand, and support from leading medical societies and key opinion leaders. We have been successful in helping our customers and patients pursue prior authorization approvals from most commercial payors for the Inspire device and procedure. Historically, commercial payors, including Medicare Advantage plans, cover approximately 65% to 70% of Inspire implants in the U.S. We estimate that the majority of patients who meet the FDA-approved indication for Inspire therapy are covered by commercial insurance companies and we have secured coverage policies with all major national commercial payors.

Katy Herman, JD, CCEP:

At this time the State of Minnesota does not regulate medical device companies (manufacturers or distributors) through either the Board of Pharmacy or any other health board or division. As there is no statutory reference to this, we provide the following related FAQ information from our official website:

<https://mn.gov/boards/pharmacy/resourcesfaqs/faqs/generalfaqs.isp>

Does your Board of Pharmacy license or register medical device or medical supply manufacturers, wholesale distributors, supplies or retailers?

The Board does not license or register companies that exclusively manufacture, distribute, supply or sell medical devices or supplies. If a company that handles medical devices or supplies also manufactures or distributes drugs, it must be licensed as a drug manufacturer or drug wholesaler. Exception if the drug is coated on or embedded in the device (e.g. drug-coated stents) and the resultant product is approved by the FDA as a device, the company does not have to be licensed as a manufacturer or wholesale distributor.

If you have any questions you or any jurisdiction your clients are seeking licensure in may reach out to me at the MN Board of Pharmacy.

Thank you,

Tim Litsey RPh

Forward-Looking Statements

This Annual Report on Form 10-K contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. We intend such forward-looking statements to be covered by the safe harbor provisions for forward-looking statements contained in Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the "Securities Act") and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act"). All statements other than statements of historical fact contained in this Annual Report on Form 10-K are forward-looking statements, including, without limitation, statements regarding our future results of operations and financial position, business strategy, the impact of macroeconomic trends on our business, financial results and financial position, prospective products, international product approvals and commercializations, our expectations regarding the final reimbursement levels for Inspire therapy procedures, research and development costs, timing and likelihood of success, other insurance providers' plans to begin approving our Inspire therapy, human capital initiatives, pay equity reviews, environmental, social, and governance reporting, our sales and marketing initiatives, potential supply chain disruptions, and the plans and objectives of management for future operations.

In some cases, you can identify forward-looking statements by terms such as "anticipate," "believe," "can," "continue," "could," "designed," "estimate," "expect," "forecast," "goal," "intend," "may," "might," "plan," "possible," "potential," "predict," "project," "should," "target," "will," "would," or the negative of these terms or other similar expressions, although not all forward-looking statements contain these words. The forward-looking statements in this Annual Report on Form 10-K are only predictions and are based largely on our current expectations and projections about future events and financial trends that we believe may affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations. These forward-looking statements speak only as of the date of this Annual Report on Form 10-K and are subject to a number of known and unknown risks, uncertainties and assumptions, including, but not limited to the factors described in "Part I, Item 1. Business," "Part I, Item 1A. Risk Factors," and "Part I, Item 2. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" of this Annual Report on Form 10-K. Moreover, we operate in an evolving environment. New risk factors and uncertainties may emerge from time to time, and it is not possible for management to predict all risk factors and uncertainties.

Except as required by applicable law, we do not plan to publicly update or revise any forward-looking statements contained herein, whether as a result of any new information, future events, changed circumstances or otherwise.

Unless the context requires otherwise, references to "Inspire," the "Company," "we," "us," and "our," refer to Inspire Medical Systems, Inc.

Summary Risk Factors

Our business is subject to numerous risks and uncertainties, including those described in Part I, Item 1A. "Risk Factors" in this Annual Report on Form 10-K. You should carefully consider these risks and uncertainties when investing in our common stock. The principal risks and uncertainties affecting our business include the following:

- our history of operating losses and dependency on our Inspire system for revenues;
- commercial success and market acceptance of our Inspire therapy;
- our ability to achieve and maintain adequate levels of coverage or reimbursement for our Inspire system or any future products we may seek to commercialize;
- competitive companies, technologies and pharmaceuticals in our industry;
- our ability to expand our indications and develop and commercialize additional products and enhancements to our Inspire system;
- future results of operations, financial position, research and development costs, capital requirements, and our needs for additional financing;

- our ability to forecast customer demand for our Inspire system and manage our inventory;
- our dependence on third-party suppliers, vendors, and contract manufacturers;
- risks related to consolidation in the healthcare industry;
- our ability to expand, manage, and maintain our direct sales and marketing organization, and to market and sell our Inspire system in markets outside of the United States;
- our ability to manage our growth;
- our ability to hire and retain our senior management and other highly qualified personnel;
- risks related to product liability claims and warranty claims;
- our ability to address quality issues that may arise with our Inspire system;
- our ability to successfully integrate any acquired business, products, or technologies;
- changes in global macroeconomic conditions;
- any failure of key information technology systems, processes, or sites or damage to or inability to access our physical facilities;
- our ability to commercialize or obtain regulatory approvals or certifications for our Inspire therapy and system, or the effect of delays in commercializing or obtaining regulatory approvals or certifications;
- any violations of anti-bribery, anti-corruption, and anti-money laundering laws;
- our ability to use our net operating losses and research and development carryforwards;
- risks related to the increasing and evolving focus on sustainability and environmental, social, and governance initiatives;
- U.S. Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") or other United States or foreign regulatory actions affecting us or the healthcare industry generally, including risks associated with regulatory approvals, certifications, or healthcare reform measures in the United States and international markets;
- our ability to establish and maintain intellectual property protection for our Inspire therapy and system or avoid claims of infringement;
- changes in U.S. and foreign tax laws; and
- risks related to our common stock.

PART I

Item 1. Business.

Overview

We are a medical technology company focused on the development and commercialization of innovative, minimally invasive solutions for patients with obstructive sleep apnea ("OSA"). Our proprietary Inspire system is the first and only FDA, European Union ("EU") Regulation No. 2017/745 ("MDR" or "EU Medical Devices Regulation"), and Japan Pharmaceuticals and Medical Devices Agency-approved neurostimulation technology of its kind that provides a safe and effective treatment for patients with moderate to severe OSA. We have developed a novel, closed-loop solution that continuously monitors a patient's breathing and delivers mild hypoglossal nerve stimulation to maintain an open airway. A significant body of clinical data, which includes a publication in the New England Journal of Medicine, multiple publications in leading respiratory, ear, nose and throat ("ENT") and sleep medicine journals, and more than 350 peer-reviewed publications, supports the safety and efficacy of Inspire therapy. Inspire therapy received premarket approval ("PMA") from the FDA in 2014 and has been commercially available in certain European markets since 2011. Japan's Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare ("MLHW") approved Inspire therapy to treat moderate to severe OSA in 2018. Inspire therapy is indicated for patients with moderate to severe OSA who do not have significant central sleep apnea and do not have a complete concentric collapse of the airway at the soft palate level. Physicians have treated more than 90,000 patients with Inspire therapy at over 1,575 medical centers across the United States ("U.S."), Europe, and Asia.

Sleep apnea is a serious and chronic disease that negatively impacts a patient's sleep, health, and quality of life. OSA is the most common form of sleep apnea. OSA occurs when a person's breathing is interrupted during sleep by a partially or completely blocked airway and affects patients of all ages, sexes, and body types. The severity of OSA is measured by the number of partial or complete airway blockages that a patient experiences in an hour, referred to as the apnea-hypopnea index ("AHI"). Moderate OSA patients have an AHI of 15 to 30 events per hour, while severe OSA patients have an AHI of 30 more events per hour. Left untreated, OSA increases the risk of high blood pressure, hypertension, heart failure, stroke, coronary artery disease, and other life-threatening diseases.

CPAP is the leading therapy for patients with moderate to severe OSA. CPAP is delivered through a face or nasal mask that connects through a hose to a bedside air pump. In order for CPAP to be most effective, the mask must form an airtight seal on the patient's face or nose and the mask must be worn every night. The effectiveness of CPAP has been limited by low patient compliance as many patients find the mask or treatment cumbersome, uncomfortable, and loud. When CPAP fails or cannot be tolerated, patients' remaining treatment options consist primarily of invasive surgical procedures developed to modify or remove existing tissue in an attempt to create free air flow. These invasive surgical procedures have limited or unpredictable clinical benefit, are irreversible, and can be extremely painful.

We believe that there continues to be both an urgent clinical need and a strong market opportunity for an alternative to CPAP that is effective and minimally invasive. Data shows that patients with CPAP intolerant OSA have a higher risk for mortality than patients with CPAP-tolerant OSA and higher healthcare utilization rates based on increased cardiovascular health risks. Two recent findings published in 2022 from Medicare and the French national healthcare insurance databases have demonstrated, in large national cohorts, risks of CPAP intolerance. Specifically, Medicare patients with CPAP intolerance had higher risks of new cardiovascular events than those who were adherent. Similarly, the French national reimbursement database showed that in over 176,000 patients, CPAP non-adherent patients had a higher risk for mortality and new onset of heart failure than those who were adherent. These findings show the urgency of treating CPAP-intolerant OSA to improve patient outcomes and potentially reduce healthcare utilization.

Inspire therapy is an innovative, closed-loop, minimally invasive solution designed to provide comfort and convenience, and which results in high compliance for patients with moderate to severe OSA. Once implanted, the Inspire system delivers electrical stimulation that causes a slight forward movement of the back of the tongue, which helps to maintain an open airway, enabling the patient to inhale freely without interruption. We believe our Inspire therapy provides the following benefits:

- Safe, effective, and durable treatment supported by compelling clinical data, including long-term efficacy results out to five years from initial treatment.
- Closed-loop system that uses a proprietary algorithm to continuously monitor patients' breathing and provide electrical stimulation during the inspiratory phase.
- Comfortable and convenient therapy resulting in high patient satisfaction that was reported to be 90% in patients who were followed an average of 12 months from initial treatment, according to the most recent publication of our ongoing global patient registry.
- Strong patient compliance, with 80% of patients reporting continued nightly use through five years from initial treatment in our Stimulation Therapy for Apnea Reduction ("STAR") trial.
- Minimally invasive outpatient procedure with short recovery time.
- Long-lasting solution with a battery designed to last approximately 11 years without charging or maintenance.

The results from multiple clinical studies, which include seven sponsored and more than 100 independent clinical studies that evaluated several thousand patients, have shown that our Inspire therapy provides statistically significant and sustained reduction in the severity of patients' OSA, improvement in sleep-related quality of life and reduction in snoring, as well as high patient compliance rates and a strong safety profile.

Our pivotal STAR trial was designed to demonstrate longitudinal therapy efficacy and included a randomized controlled therapy withdrawal study. The longitudinal study demonstrated an approximately 70% reduction in the median AHI in patients with moderate to severe OSA from a baseline of 29.3 events per hour to 9.0 events per hour at 12 months following initial treatment. STAR trial follow-up has shown results similar to the initial data at 18 months, three years, and five years following initial treatment. At five years, median AHI in patients with moderate to severe OSA remained low at 6.2 events per hour. The effectiveness of Inspire therapy was further demonstrated by the results of the randomized controlled therapy withdrawal study, in which patients in the therapy withdrawal group regressed to near-baseline AHI levels while patients in the control group that continued therapy experienced sustained therapeutic benefits.

In addition to the STAR trial, we have established a global real-world patient registry ("ADHERE") to collect data on safety, effectiveness, weekly usage, overall compliance, and satisfaction from patients who have been implanted with an Inspire system for one year after implant. The target enrollment of 5,000 patients was achieved in 2024 and patient follow-up is ongoing. For more details on ADHERE, please see the section titled "Clinical Results and Studies—ADHERE Patient Registry" below.

We sell our Inspire system to hospitals and ambulatory surgery centers ("ASCs") in the U.S. and in select countries in Europe through a direct sales organization, and we sell our Inspire system in Japan and Singapore through distributors. As of December 31, 2024, we had 335 sales territories in the U.S. and 25 outside of the U.S. Our direct sales force engages in sales efforts and promotional activities focused on ENT physicians, and sleep centers. In addition, we highlight our compelling clinical data and value proposition to increase awareness and adoption amongst referring physicians. We build upon this top-down approach with strong direct-to-consumer marketing initiatives to create awareness of the benefits of our Inspire system and drive demand through patient empowerment. This outreach helps to educate thousands of patients on our Inspire therapy.

Our U.S. customers are generally reimbursed for the cost of patient treatment by various third-party payors, such as commercial insurance providers and Medicare. We have secured positive coverage policies with many U.S. commercial payors, including all large national commercial insurers, encompassing approximately 260 million covered lives in the U.S. We are in active discussions with regional commercial insurers to establish additional positive coverage policies, as well as modify existing positive coverage policies to support reimbursement of Inspire therapy. In parallel, a subset of our market access team, which we refer to as our prior authorization team, is focused on assisting patients and physicians in obtaining prior authorization approvals from commercial payors on a case-by-case basis in advance of treatment with our Inspire therapy. In addition, all seven Medicare

Administrative Contractors ("MACs") provide coverage of Inspire therapy when certain medical necessity criteria are met. We also have a U.S. government contract for patients who are treated by the Veterans Health Administration.

Reimbursement in other countries can often be established through a combination of private (commercial insurance) and public funding sources, or at the hospital level through innovation budgets.

Our Competitive Strengths

We believe the continued growth of our company will be driven by the following competitive strengths:

- First to market with an innovative, closed-loop, minimally invasive solution. We have developed the first and only FDA-approved neurostimulation technology that provides a safe and effective treatment for patients with moderate to severe OSA who have been confirmed to fail or cannot tolerate PAP treatments, such as CPAP. We received a PMA from the FDA in 2014 for our Inspire therapy. Unlike CPAP, which is limited by low patient compliance primarily due to patient discomfort with the mask or device, our innovative, closed-loop, minimally invasive solution is designed to provide comfort and convenience, resulting in high compliance for patients with moderate to severe OSA. We believe we have a significant first mover advantage and momentum over future competitors, as physicians have treated more than 90,000 patients with Inspire therapy.
- Significant body of strong clinical data. We have developed a significant body of clinical data that demonstrates the safety and effectiveness, therapy adherence, and long-term sustained benefits of our Inspire therapy. The benefits of treatment with Inspire therapy have been consistent across seven sponsored and more than 100 independent clinical studies that evaluated several thousand patients and have been highlighted in more than 350 peer-reviewed publications. Data reported in these clinical studies also demonstrated a high level of overall patient satisfaction. We believe this favorable data provides us with a significant competitive advantage and will continue to support increased adoption of our Inspire therapy.
- Holistic and targeted approach to market development and patient engagement. We have established a methodical approach to market development which centers on active engagement across three key stakeholders in the OSA treatment paradigm: physicians, sleep centers, and patients. Our sales force is focused on building long-lasting relationships with ENT physicians and sleep centers as we support physicians through all aspects of a case—from diagnosis to surgical support to patient follow-up. In addition, we are highlighting our compelling clinical data set and value proposition to increase awareness and adoption amongst referring physicians. We build upon this top-down approach with a strong direct-to-consumer marketing initiative that further drives demand through patient empowerment. This outreach helps to educate thousands of patients on our Inspire therapy. Our patient call center, the Advisor Care Program, assists patients with making a connection with a qualified healthcare provider based on their specific needs. We are confident that this holistic approach to engagement across multiple constituents will continue to drive increased awareness of and demand for our Inspire therapy.
- Dedicated team focused on providing market access for patients and providers. We have a refined, efficient approach to advance patients, once identified, to placement of the Inspire system. When required, our dedicated prior authorization team helps patients and providers work with commercial payors to secure prior authorization approvals in advance of initial treatment. In addition, by highlighting the compelling clinical data and the value of our Inspire therapy, the market access team proactively works with payors to establish positive coverage policies where needed and update policies to match the FDA criteria where a policy already exists. This highly effective team has been successful in helping providers and patients to secure reimbursement from hundreds of commercial payors to date, and positive coverage policies from most U.S. commercial payors, including all large national payors.
- Strong research and development capabilities and comprehensive intellectual property portfolio. Our commitment to driving innovation has allowed us to achieve continuous, significant improvements of our Inspire therapy. For example, in 2024, we received approval from the FDA for our next generation

Inspire system, which we expect to fully launch in the U.S. in 2025. We have a comprehensive patent portfolio to protect our intellectual property and technology, with rights as of December 31, 2024 to 98 issued U.S. patents, 72 issued foreign patents, 67 pending U.S. patent applications, and 69 pending foreign patent applications that cover aspects of our Inspire system and future product concepts.

Our Strategy

Our goal is to be a global leader in providing clinically proven innovative solutions that improve sleep, quality of life, and health of patients with moderate to severe OSA. We believe the following strategies will play a critical role in achieving this goal and our future growth:

- Foster strong and consistent patient outcomes. Patient outcomes remain the single most important focus for Inspire as we scale our business, and we have a dedicated patient outcomes team furthering this mission. Our Surgical Implant Trainers are tasked with conducting physician trainings and proctoring implants. Care Pathway Specialists develop and promote consistent post-implant care protocols. Our team of Sleep Support Specialists educate and oversee local sleep lab titrations. We believe these teams are critical to ensuring that outcomes continue to improve even as implant volumes increase around the world.
- Improve the customer experience. We believe that by enhancing interconnectivity, simplifying the care pathway, and closely tracking outcomes, we can optimize the customer experience and improve therapy adherence. We have invested in initiatives that we believe will drive higher quality patient flow to reduce time to treatment and increase the capacity of providers to treat and manage more patients. We expect that this will allow patients and health care providers to more efficiently realize the proven benefits of Inspire therapy. We also continue to invest in our SleepSync™ platform, a cloud-based patient management system which allows patients and physicians alike to remotely monitor key compliance and outcomes measures for connected and coordinated care management, thereby optimizing therapy.
- Promote awareness of and reliance on Inspire therapy among patients, ENT physicians, sleep centers, and referring physicians. We believe that many patients who have failed or cannot tolerate CPAP are unaware of our Inspire therapy as a safe and effective alternative treatment for moderate to severe OSA. We intend to continue to promote awareness of our therapy through training and educating ENT physicians, sleep centers, key opinion leaders, and various medical societies on the proven clinical benefits of Inspire therapy. In addition, we intend to continue to publish additional clinical data in various industry and scientific journals and online, and to present at various industry conferences. We also plan to continue building patient awareness through our direct-to-consumer marketing initiatives, which include paid online search, radio, social media, television, and online videos.
- Expand our sales and marketing organization to facilitate adoption of our Inspire therapy. We plan to continue to expand our sales and marketing organization and seek to recruit and train exceptionally talented sales representatives in existing and new markets to help facilitate further adoption and broaden awareness of our Inspire therapy. Our success to date in developing new markets has been primarily due to our ability to identify new regions with high volume medical centers, educate ENT and sleep physicians, help generate steady patient demand, and provide sufficient support staff to our sales representatives. We believe investing in a scalable, efficient direct sales force and continuing the development of our marketing efforts will help us broaden adoption of our Inspire therapy and drive revenue growth.
- Drive an increase in utilization of Inspire therapy at established centers. In addition to continuing to expand our footprint more broadly, we will also focus on building stronger and deeper relationships with customers. We have extensive learnings through our years of pioneering our hypoglossal nerve stimulation therapy, which we intend to use to educate providers on strategies that allow them to improve their identification and potential treatment of moderate-severe OSA patients.
- Invest in research and development to drive innovation and expand indications. Our foundational commitment to driving innovation and improving patient lives fuels our desire for continuous product development. We intend to invest in existing and next generation technologies to further improve our products and clinical outcomes, optimize patient acceptance and comfort, and broaden the patient population that can benefit from our Inspire therapy. Recent examples of our product innovation include the next generation of the Inspire system and our SleepSync™ programmer as discussed above. We have launched a cloud-based patient management system called the SleepSync™ platform (formerly referred to as Inspire Cloud), which allows physicians to monitor patient compliance and more efficiently coordinate patient care, and the Inspire Sleep app for patients' smartphones. A recent example of our efforts to expand our label indications for the Inspire system include obtaining FDA approval in 2023 to offer Inspire therapy to certain pediatric patients with Down syndrome. Additionally in 2023, we received approval from the FDA on an expanded indication which includes an increase on the upper limit of the AHI to 100 events per hour from 65 and raises the BMI warning in the labeling to 40 from 32.

- Further penetrate and expand into existing and new international markets. We plan to continue to establish and strengthen our presence internationally. Our goal is to further increase sales of our Inspire therapy in existing international markets in Europe, including Germany, France, and the Netherlands, and in the Asia Pacific region, including Japan, Singapore, and Hong Kong. We also plan to expand our reach to markets in new regions, such as Thailand and South Korea. We plan to strategically invest in new markets based on our assessment of market size and opportunity and prospects for compelling reimbursement coding and coverage.

Our Solution for OSA

Overview of Inspire Therapy

Our proprietary Inspire system is the first and only FDA-approved closed-loop neurostimulation technology that provides a safe and effective treatment for patients with moderate to severe OSA. Both our Inspire IV and Inspire V systems consists of a remote control and the following implantable components (except as otherwise noted):

- in the Inspire IV system, a pressure sensing lead, which detects when the patient is attempting to breathe;
- a neurostimulator, which houses the electronics, battery power for the device, and, as to the Inspire V system, a respiratory sensor; and
- a stimulation lead, which delivers electrical stimulation to the hypoglossal nerve.

A respiratory sensor is used to monitor the patient's breathing. Our proprietary algorithm tracks breathing patterns and the neurostimulator delivers electrical stimulation at the start of inspiration. This electrical stimulation of the hypoglossal nerve causes a slight forward movement of the back of the tongue that helps maintain an open airway, thereby preventing obstructive events and enabling the patient to inhale freely.

To receive the Inspire system, patients undergo a short outpatient surgical procedure, typically lasting about 90 minutes, during which the neurostimulator, sensing lead, and stimulation lead are implanted. The procedure is minimally invasive and performed with two small incisions. Patients typically recover quickly and are able to resume normal activities in just a few days. Initial activation of the system occurs 30 days after the implantation. After the initial activation, the patient is instructed to use the therapy each night by turning on their Inspire system before going to sleep using their remote control.

Patients turn their Inspire system on when they plan to go to sleep and turn it off when they awaken. The device has a programmed delay, typically 30 minutes, to allow patients to fall asleep naturally before the device activates. It then monitors the patient's breathing and delivers mild stimulation to the hypoglossal nerve at the start of the inspiratory phase, causing a slight forward movement at the back of the tongue to maintain an open airway during the inspiratory phase of respiration. The therapy is designed to provide stimulation for each breath to prevent obstructive events.

The effectiveness of Inspire therapy to relieve OSA is objectively measured during a sleep study or polysomnogram. A sleep study records a patient's breathing, airflow, and blood oxygen levels before and after activating the device. Before activation, the patient experiences multiple periods of interrupted breathing, and oxygen levels repeatedly drop before the patient experiences a transient arousal that allows air intake.

Benefits of Inspire Therapy

We believe our Inspire therapy overcomes many of the limitations of PAP and other current treatments of moderate to severe OSA by providing the following key benefits:

- Safe, effective, and durable treatment. Results from our clinical studies provide compelling safety and efficacy data regarding the clinical benefits of Inspire therapy as many as five years after initial treatment. The results from our STAR trial, a five-year follow-up phase III pivotal trial, demonstrated an approximately 70% reduction in the median AHI from a baseline of 29.3 events per hour to 9.0 events per hour at 12 months following initial treatment. STAR trial follow-up has shown similar results to the initial data at 18 months, three years, and five years. At five years, median AHI remained low at 6.2 events per hour. The results from our ADHERE patient registry also reflect similar median AHI reductions to the STAR trial in a real-world setting.
- Closed-loop system. The Inspire system uses proprietary algorithms to continuously monitor a patient's breathing and provide electrical stimulation during the inspiratory phase, working with the body's natural actions to keep the airway open during the breathing cycle.
- Comfortable and convenient therapy resulting in high patient satisfaction. Data reported in the most recent publication of our ongoing ADHERE patient registry demonstrated that patients used Inspire therapy an average of 5.7 hours per night an average of 12 months after initial treatment, with overall patient satisfaction reported to be at 90%.
- Strong patient compliance. Results from our STAR trial demonstrated that 80% of patients continue to use Inspire therapy on a nightly basis five years after initial treatment.
- Similar outcomes and usage as CPAP. Several independent clinical studies demonstrating Inspire therapy has similar improvements in symptoms, and similar nightly usage as CPAP.
- Minimally invasive outpatient procedure. The Inspire system's implantable components are placed during an approximately 90-minute outpatient procedure. The procedure is minimally invasive and performed with two small incisions. Patients typically recover quickly and are able to resume normal activities within a few days.
- Long-lasting solution. Our Inspire system uses a battery designed to last approximately 11 years without charging or maintenance.

Commercialization of Inspire Therapy

In the U.S., we obtained PMA for our Inspire system in 2014. Additionally, we received a certificate of conformity for commercialization of our Inspire system in the EU in 2010 which allowed us to affix the European Conformity ("CE") mark on our device. Japan's MLHW approved Inspire therapy to treat moderate to severe OSA in 2018 and was formally added to the Japan National Health Insurance Payment Listing in 2021. Reimbursement in Singapore is handled through hospital innovation budgets or private health insurance sources.

To commercialize our Inspire system, we focus on physician and patient awareness and adoption of our Inspire therapy. To achieve this, our commercialization strategy primarily consists of our direct sales force engaging in sales efforts and promotional activities focused on ENT physicians and sleep centers and highlighting our compelling clinical data and value proposition. Our direct sales force utilizes strong direct-to-consumer marketing initiatives to create awareness of the benefits of our Inspire system. We intend to make significant investments building our sales and marketing organization by increasing the number of U.S. sales representatives and continuing our direct-to-consumer marketing efforts in existing and new markets throughout the U.S. and Europe.

In Singapore and Hong Kong, our commercialization approach is through exclusive distribution partners, who are responsible for local sales and promotional activities focused on ENT physicians, sleep centers, and community awareness. We work closely with the distributors to ensure a globally consistent approach and effective employee and customer training are in place.

In addition, a significant part of our commercialization effort consists of supporting our customers through the reimbursement process. Most commercial U.S. insurers now cover Inspire therapy. For those commercial payors that do not have a positive policy, Inspire provides assistance to patients and physicians on a case-by-case basis to help support appropriate prior authorization approvals in advance of treatment. Medicare also has positive coverage for all states, and we have a U.S. government contract for patients who are treated by the Veterans Health Administration.

Patient Selection

Inspire therapy is indicated for patients with moderate to severe OSA (AHI of 15 to 100) who do not have significant central sleep apnea and do not have a complete concentric collapse of the airway at the soft palate level. Patients undergo a drug-induced sleep endoscopy ("DISE") performed by an ENT surgeon in order to confirm that they satisfy this anatomical requirement. In addition, patients in the U.S. and Japan must have been confirmed to fail or be unable to tolerate PAP treatments, such as CPAP, and be 18 years of age or older, though there are no similar requirements for patients in Europe. Patients who fail PAP are those that are not able to eliminate moderate to severe OSA despite PAP usage. Patients who cannot tolerate PAP treatments are those who either are unable to use PAP more than five nights per week for at least four hours per night, or who are unwilling to use PAP treatment.

Implantation

The Inspire system is implanted under general anesthesia through two small incisions. One incision is under the lower jaw, where the stimulation lead is attached around a distal branch of the hypoglossal nerve that is responsible for forward movement of the tongue. A second incision in the upper right chest below the clavicle is used to implant the neurostimulator, which houses all the electronics and battery power for the device, and a pressure sensing lead to monitor the breathing cycle. The functionality of the Inspire system is tested in the operating room to verify proper placement of the stimulation and pressure sensing leads. The wires for the electrodes are tunneled under the skin and the incisions are closed. The Inspire system is powered by an internal battery that is designed to last approximately 11 years without needing to be recharged. After this time, the neurostimulator is replaced during a simple outpatient procedure.

The implantation procedure is performed in an outpatient setting and surgery is completed in approximately 90 minutes. Patients may experience mild discomfort and swelling at the incision sites for a few days that is usually managed with over-the-counter pain medications. Patients can return home and resume a normal diet shortly after completion of the procedure and resume most daily activities within a few days. The only restriction on their activity is to avoid strenuous activities until the incisions have had time to heal.

Activation

Patients are allowed to heal for a month before the Inspire system is activated through a wireless connection to the device in the clinician's office. The initial activation is performed by the clinician using a programming tablet that is able to turn the system on as well as change various parameters such as the strength, timing, and duration of the stimulation pulse, the stimulating electrode configuration, and the sensitivity of respiration detection. With the exception of pulse strength, the factory default settings are used in the majority of patients. The pulse strength is initially adjusted to the lowest level required to move the tongue forward.

Patients receive a remote control that they use to turn their Inspire system on when they plan to go to sleep and to turn it off when they awaken. The device has a programmed delay, typically 30 minutes, to allow patients to fall asleep naturally before the device activates. It then delivers mild stimulation to the hypoglossal nerve, causing the tongue to move as the patient is inhaling. The remote enables patients to adjust the strength of the stimulation to optimize their therapy and comfort. The range of control given to patients is limited to avoid setting the strength of the stimulation to an ineffective or excessively high level. Patients also have the ability to temporarily pause therapy if they awaken during the night.

Clinical Results and Studies

A significant body of published clinical evidence, which includes seven sponsored and more than 100 independent clinical studies that evaluated several thousand patients, supports the safety and effectiveness of Inspire therapy. The results of the STAR trial, our phase III pivotal clinical trial that served as the basis for the FDA approval of our PMA application, were published in the New England Journal of Medicine, and the results of additional clinical studies have been published in more than 350 peer-reviewed publications.

ADHERE Patient Registry

We have established a global patient registry, which we refer to as our ADHERE patient registry, to collect data on safety, effectiveness, weekly usage, overall compliance, and satisfaction from patients who have been implanted with an Inspire system for one year after Inspire implant. The target enrollment of 5,000 patients was achieved in 2024. The most recent analysis, published in the Journal of Clinical Sleep Medicine in 2022 on 1,963 patients enrolled, showed that patients used Inspire therapy an average of 5.7 hours per night when measured an average of 12 months after implantation. Median AHI was reduced from 33.0 events per hour to 10.2 events per hour and median ESS score improved from 11 to 6 over the same period. Overall satisfaction with Inspire therapy was reported by patients to be 90%, with 92% of patients reporting that they would choose the procedure again. In addition, 91% of patients reported a better experience than CPAP. This same study demonstrated comparable outcomes across five disease severity groups.

Select Recent Clinical Results and Studies

Meta-analysis showed Inspire therapy has been effective over time

Dr. Do Hyun Kim and colleagues published a meta-analysis of hypoglossal nerve stimulation therapy effectiveness in 2024 in Otolaryngology–Head and Neck Surgery. Meta-analysis is a statistical method to estimate effect size across data from high quality publications, i.e. a “study of studies”, and can identify potential trends and consistency across a body of data. They identified 44 studies (total of 8,670 patients) of sufficient quality for inclusion. For 12 month follow up, they found that 82% of patients evaluated in this publication had an AHI<15 and a success rate of 80%, where success was defined as the patient’s residual AHI is no greater than half of the baseline AHI, and is also no greater than 20. A similar trend was reported for three year follow up at which 74% of patients had an AHI<15 and a success rate of 73%. The authors concluded that hypoglossal nerve stimulation is an effective treatment for obstructive sleep apnea that can significantly improve clinical outcomes over long-term

(three year) follow up. We note that this meta-analysis included publications using other devices, but most of the data was from Inspire therapy patients.

Meta-analysis showed Inspire therapy is an effective alternative to other airway surgeries

Dr. Kim and colleagues published another meta-analysis in the Journal of Sleep Research in 2024 of papers that compared hypoglossal nerve stimulation outcomes to outcomes either from no treatment or from other airway surgeries (e.g., uvulopalatopharyngoplasty). They identified ten papers (nine of which included only Inspire therapy patients) that met inclusion criteria for a total of 2,209 patients in the analysis. Among their findings: compared to airway surgeries and to PAP therapy, hypoglossal nerve stimulation therapy had higher rate of patients achieving $AHI < 15$. Analysis also showed that the hypoglossal nerve stimulation therapy success rate was higher than the success rate from all other evaluated airway surgeries. Success was defined as residual AHI no greater than 20 and no greater than half of the baseline AHI. The results of this meta-analysis suggest that hypoglossal nerve stimulation has shown results comparable to those evaluating PAP, and potentially superior to other airway surgeries, in reducing AHI, and that all therapies have demonstrated similar effectiveness in reducing daytime sleepiness. The authors conclude that hypoglossal nerve stimulation could be an effective treatment for moderate to severe obstructive sleep apnea patients who are intolerant of PAP.

Post market surveillance data support the safety of Inspire therapy

Inspire partnered with implanting surgeons and sleep physicians to publish an analysis of Inspire's post-market surveillance data in 2024 in the Journal of Clinical Sleep Medicine. Medical device manufacturers are mandated by government regulations to collect and monitor adverse events such as surgical revisions or device explants. Precise estimates of revision and explant rates were calculated by combining the post-market surveillance data with corresponding sales volume. Of 20,881 Inspire therapy devices implanted at least one year prior to the analysis, 151 devices (0.7%) were explanted and 322 devices (1.5%) required a surgical revision procedure within a year of the implant. A subset of 5,820 of these devices were implanted three years prior to the analysis, of which 156 devices (2.7%) were explanted, and 207 devices (3.6%) required a revision procedure between one and three years after implant.

Sales and Marketing

We have established a methodical approach to market development which centers on active engagement across three key stakeholders in the OSA treatment paradigm: patients, physicians, and sleep centers.

We sell our Inspire system through a direct sales force that primarily targets ENT physicians and sleep centers in the U.S., Europe, and Japan, and through distributors in Singapore and Hong Kong. The implant procedure for our Inspire therapy is typically performed by an ENT physician or in some cases by a neurosurgeon. We also focus on sleep centers because they diagnose and manage large volumes of patients with sleep apnea and are often an important referral base for ENT physicians. In addition, because OSA is sometimes diagnosed during other procedures, we have developed programs to help educate general practitioners and specialists in other fields, such as cardiovascular surgeons, electrophysiologists, and dentists, regarding our Inspire therapy.

We have 335 sales territories in the U.S. and 25 outside of the U.S. We seek to recruit sales representatives with strong sales backgrounds, direct experience developing markets with new technologies, and core knowledge of medical device coding, reimbursement, and the prior authorization process. In certain Asian markets, we rely on our distribution partners for local sales and promotional activities.

We believe that direct patient education is essential to our ability to become a mainstay therapy which is why we intentionally invest in a robust direct-to-consumer marketing program. We reach patients through national TV (both linear and streaming), Facebook, Google, and other high-performing digital channels. Our goal is to ensure that all eligible OSA patients are aware of the therapy, can learn more on our website, and get connected with a doctor in their area to see if the therapy is right for them. We believe that our direct-to-consumer program continues to be highly effective in driving patient engagement and conversion.

We also have the Inspire Sleep app for patients' smartphones. This app is an educational tool for patients and also interfaces with our SleepSync™ platform to allow physicians to collect clinical data from patients directly. We continue to enhance the functionality of this app as part of our overall digital platform development.

Commercial Activities Outside of the U.S.

Our general practice is to limit commercial investments in countries until such time as there is a determined reimbursement pathway. We have 25 sales territories in Europe and Japan, and we sell our products through distributors in Singapore and Hong Kong. We provide consistent training in geographies outside of the U.S. as is conducted in the U.S. and have established a support team in Europe and Japan for patient outreach and education, implant support, and device programming. In Singapore and Hong Kong, we assist our distribution partners with patient outreach and education initiatives. We expect to continue to scale our commercial activities in Europe as we continue to develop country-wide reimbursement in additional markets. We also have regulatory approval in Thailand and are currently pursuing regulatory approval in Korea.

Third-Party Reimbursement

Our market access team is responsible for all of our reimbursement processes and initiatives. Our team of professionals are focused on all key aspects of reimbursement, which include coding, payment, coverage, and prior authorization.

Coding and Payment

In the U.S., we sell our products to hospitals and ASCs. These customers in turn bill various third-party payors, such as commercial payors and Medicare, for the cost required to treat each patient.

Third-party payors require physicians and hospitals to identify the service for which they are seeking reimbursement by using Current Procedural Terminology ("CPT") codes, which are created and maintained by the American Medical Association. The procedures performed to implant, revise, or explant our Inspire IV device are described for billing purposes using Category I CPT codes (64582, 64583, and 64584, respectively) to identify hypoglossal nerve stimulator services. A Category I code (42975) is used for DISE, which may be a necessary procedure to determine which patients are appropriate for Inspire therapy.

Physician reimbursement under Medicare is based on a defined fee schedule, the Medicare Physician Fee Schedule, through which payment amounts are determined by the relative values of the professional service rendered. Medicare provides reimbursement to our hospital and ASC customers under the outpatient prospective payment system and ASC prospective payment system, respectively, which provide bundled amounts generally intended to reimburse the hospital or ASC for all facility costs related to procedures performed in the outpatient setting.

Reimbursement rates from commercial payors vary depending on the procedure performed, the commercial payor, contract terms, and other factors.

Commercial Payor and Government Program Coverage

A core pillar of our reimbursement strategy involves broadening our third-party payor coverage when possible. We continue to have active discussions with commercial payors to establish new and modify existing positive coverage policies by highlighting our compelling and robust clinical data, increased patient demand, and support from leading medical societies and key opinion leaders. We have been successful in helping our customers and patients pursue prior authorization approvals from most commercial payors for the Inspire device and procedure. Historically, commercial payors, including Medicare Advantage plans, cover approximately 65% to 70% of Inspire implants in the U.S. We estimate that the majority of patients who meet the FDA-approved indication for Inspire therapy are covered by commercial insurance companies and we have secured coverage policies with all major national commercial payors.

Table of ContentsCAUTIONARY NOTE REGARDING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

Some of the statements contained in this Annual Report on Form 10-K ("Form 10-K") are forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the "Securities Act"), and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act"). These forward-looking statements, including, in particular, statements about our plans, strategies, prospects and industry estimates, are subject to risks and uncertainties. These statements identify prospective information and can generally be identified by words such as "anticipates," "believes," "can," "commitment," "could," "designed," "estimates," "expects," "generate," "impact," "increasing," "hopes," "intends," "launch," "likely," "long-term," "maintain," "may," "pipeline," "plans," "potential," "predict," "remain," "seek," "should," "sustain," "target," "will," "would" and similar expressions, or by express or implied discussions regarding potential acquisitions, collaborations, development and commercialization plans described in this Form 10-K, or regarding potential future revenues and expenses related to such acquisitions, collaborations, development and commercialization plans. Examples of forward-looking statements include statements we make relating to our outlook and expectations including, without limitation, in connection with:

- Continued market expansion and penetration for our established commercial products, particularly PYLARIFY and DEFINITY, in a competitive environment, and our ability to clinically and commercially differentiate our products;
- Our ability to have third parties manufacture our products and our ability to manufacture DEFINITY in our in-house manufacturing facility, in amounts and at the times needed;
- The availability of raw materials, key components, and equipment, either used in the production of our products and product candidates, or in the use by healthcare professionals ("HCPs") of our products and product candidates, including, but not limited to positron emission tomography ("PET") scanners PYLARIFY, MK-6240 and NAV-4694;
- Our ability to satisfy our obligations under our existing clinical development partnerships using MK-6240 or NAV-4694 as a research tool and under the license agreements through which we have rights to MK-6240 and NAV-4694, and to further develop and commercialize MK-6240 and NAV-4694 as approved products, including the timing for any potential regulatory submissions for these investigational assets;
- Our ability to successfully secure necessary shareholder and regulatory approvals relating to potential acquisitions, including of Life Molecular Imaging Ltd. ("Life Molecular") and Evergreen Theragnostics, Inc. ("Evergreen"), the time and expense involved in seeking to secure those approvals, potential disruption to our business operations or those of the companies we plan to acquire while the acquisitions are pending or as a result of regulatory requirements related to the acquisitions and potential disruption to operations and productivity during the integration process after necessary approvals are secured and the potential that we are unable to integrate and realize the anticipated benefits that each acquisition is predicted to bring;
- Our strategies, future prospects, and our projected growth, including revenue related to our collaboration agreements with POINT Biopharma Global Inc. ("POINT"), including our ability to obtain U.S. Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") approval for PNT2002 and PNT2003 and to be successful in the patent litigation associated with PNT2003;
- Our ability to successfully realize the anticipated benefits of our 2024 transactions with Perspective Therapeutics, Inc. ("Perspective");
- The cost, efforts and timing for clinical development, regulatory approval, adequate coding, coverage and payment, and successful commercialization of our product candidates and new clinical applications and territories for our products, in each case, that we or our strategic partners may undertake; and
- Our ability to identify opportunities to collaborate with strategic partners and to acquire or in-license additional diagnostic and therapeutic product opportunities in oncology, neurology and other strategic areas and continue to grow and advance our pipeline of products.

Forward-looking statements are based on our current expectations and assumptions regarding our business, the economy and other future conditions. Because forward-looking statements relate to the future, such statements are subject to inherent uncertainties, risks and changes in circumstances that are difficult to predict. Our actual results may differ materially from those contemplated by the forward-looking statements. These statements are neither statements of historical fact nor guarantees or assurances of future performance. The matters referred to in the forward-looking statements contained in this Form 10-K may not in fact occur. We caution you, therefore, against relying on any of these forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements are subject to a number of risks, uncertainties and assumptions, including those described in Part I, Item 1A, "Risk Factors" of this Form 10-K.

Any forward-looking statement made by us in this Form 10-K speaks only as of the date on which it is made. Factors or events that could cause our actual results to differ may emerge from time to time, and it is not possible for us to predict all of them. We undertake no obligation to publicly update any forward-looking statement, whether as a result of new information, future developments or otherwise, except as may be required by law.

Table of ContentsSUMMARY OF MATERIAL RISKS ASSOCIATED WITH OUR BUSINESS

Our business is subject to a number of risks, including risks that may adversely affect our business, results of operations, cash flows, and prospects. These risks are discussed more fully below and include, but are not limited to:

Risks Related to Our Portfolio of Commercial Products

- Our ability to continue to grow PYLARIFY as a commercial product is dependent on (A) the ability of PET manufacturing facilities ("PMFs") to manufacture PYLARIFY to meet product demand, or that PYLARIFY will always be available at the specific time of day preferred by the end-user, (B) our ability to maintain adequate coding, coverage, and payment for PYLARIFY, (C) our ability to promote PYLARIFY to customers and to maintain PYLARIFY as the most utilized prostate-specific membrane antigen ("PSMA") PET imaging agent, including after the expiration of transitional pass-through payment status ("TPT Status") at the end of 2024, (D) whether and when a potential generic version of PYLARIFY may enter the market and (E) our ability to clinically and commercially differentiate PYLARIFY from other products.
- Our ability to continue to (A) grow the appropriate use of DEFINITY in suboptimal echocardiograms in a competitive environment, (B) mitigate the risk of generic competition as a result of patent and regulatory exclusivity expirations, (C) maintain DEFINITY as the most utilized ultrasound enhancing agent, and (D) have third parties manufacture our products and our ability to manufacture DEFINITY in our in-house manufacturing facility.

Risks Related to Reimbursement and Regulation

- The dependence of many of our customers upon third party healthcare payors and the uncertainty of third party coverage and reimbursement rates.
- Uncertainties regarding the impact of federal and state healthcare reform measures and proposals on our business, including measures and proposals related to reimbursement for our current and potential future products, controls over drug pricing, drug pricing transparency, generic drug competition and the potential that efforts to extend or secure separate or otherwise adequate payment for radiopharmaceutical diagnostics are unsuccessful.
- The extensive government regulation and oversight we and our business partners, suppliers and contract manufacturers are subject to, the ability to comply with those regulations and the costs of compliance, including costs to comply with new regulations or changes to the interpretation of existing regulations.

Risks Related to our Business Operations and Financial Results

- Our ability to hire or retain the number of qualified personnel, particularly scientific, medical and sales personnel, required for our business.
- Our ability, and our business partners' abilities, to defend against any claims that we, or our partners, have infringed, misappropriated or otherwise violated the patent or other intellectual property rights of a third party.
- Our ability to continue to grow PYLARIFY and to successfully launch new PET diagnostic products, including MK-6240 and NAV-4694, is dependent upon the availability of PET scanners generally.
- Our ability to successfully integrate acquisitions, including of Life Molecular and Evergreen, including the potential for unforeseen expenses related to integration activities, the accuracy of our financial models, the potential for unforeseen liabilities within those businesses, the ability to integrate disparate information technology systems, retain key talent and create a merged corporate culture that successfully realizes the full potential of the combined organization.
- Our ability to introduce new products and adapt to an evolving technology and medical practice landscape.
- Our ability to influence and manage the decision-making process with our collaboration partners, in particular where our partners are responsible for the performance of certain key tasks or functions, for example related to manufacturing or regulatory strategy, or where decisions may be controlled by, or subject to the approval of our collaboration partners, who may have views that differ from our own.

Risks Related to Our and our Strategic Partners' Portfolios of Clinical Development Candidates

- Risks associated with the commercialization of our diagnostic product candidates, MK-6240 and NAV-4694, to be used in diagnosing, staging and monitoring Alzheimer's disease, including (A) our ability to satisfy our obligations under our existing clinical development partnerships using those product candidates as a research tool; (B) disagreements with the counterparties to our license agreements for MK-6240 and NAV-4694 or the former stockholders of the companies we acquired who could receive future milestone and royalty-based payments that could arise over proprietary rights, contract interpretation or the preferred course of product research, development or marketing; and (C) our ability to further develop and commercialize MK-6240 and NAV-4694 as approved products, including obtaining regulatory approval and gaining post-approval market acceptance and adequate coding, coverage, and payment.

- Risks associated with the development and commercialization of PNT2002, including (A) the outcome of the Phase 3 registrational clinical trial for PNT2002, which we refer to as SPLASH, after full data becomes available, (B) our ability to obtain regulatory approval for PNT2002; (C) the additional costs and risks associated with our ability to successfully launch PNT2002 as a commercial product; (D) the market and patient receptivity to PNT2002 as a radiopharmaceutical therapy; (E) the existence, availability and profile of competing products and therapies; (F) our ability to gain post-approval market acceptance and adequate coding, coverage, and payment for PNT2002; (G) POINT's ability to successfully develop and scale the manufacturing capabilities to support the launch of PNT2002; and (H) the outcome of the patent infringement claim by Endocyte, Inc. ("Endocyte"), Novartis and Purdue Research Foundation against POINT and Eli Lilly and Co ("Lilly") alleging that POINT's manufacturing and sale of PNT2002 infringes an Endocyte patent.
- Risks associated with the commercialization of PNT2003, including (A) the outcome of the patent infringement claim by Advanced Accelerator Applications USA, Inc. and Advanced Accelerator Applications SA, each a Novartis entity, in response to our filing of our Abbreviated New Drug Application; (B) our ability to obtain regulatory approval for PNT2003, including the 180-day period of generic marketing exclusivity in the U.S. market as the "first applicant," as provided under the Hatch-Waxman Act; (C) our ability to gain post-approval market acceptance and adequate coding, coverage, and payment for PNT2003; and (D) POINT's ability to successfully develop and scale the manufacturing capabilities to support the launch of PNT2003.
- Risks associated with our agreements with Perspective, including finalizing the license agreements in the event we exercise our options to do so, the value of our current and any future equity interest in Perspective, and Perspective's ability to successfully develop its alpha-particle therapy and innovative platform technology.
- Risks associated with the development of our pipeline assets, including (A) under agreements with third parties such as the license and collaboration agreement for LNTH-2401 and LNTH-2402 relating to RM2, (B) the development of LNTH-2403 and LNTH-2404, the associated investment in Radiopharm Theranostics Limited ("Radiopharm") and our co-development partnership with Radiopharm relating to the clinical development of our innovative products and product candidates in Australia.

Risks Related to our Capital Structure

- Risks related to our outstanding indebtedness and our ability to satisfy those obligations, including the 2.625% Convertible Senior Notes due 2027.
- Risks related to the ownership of our common stock.

NOTE REGARDING COMPANY REFERENCES

Unless the context requires otherwise, references to "Lantheus," "the Company," "our company," "we," "us" and "our" refer to Lantheus Holdings, Inc. and its direct and indirect wholly-owned subsidiaries; reference to "Lantheus Holdings" refer to Lantheus Holdings, Inc. and not to any of its subsidiaries; references to "LMI" refer to Lantheus Medical Imaging, Inc., the wholly owned subsidiary of Lantheus Holdings; references to "Lantheus Alpha" and "Meilleur" refer to Lantheus Alpha Therapy, LLC and Meilleur Technologies, Inc., respectively, each a wholly owned subsidiary of Lantheus Holdings; references to "Cerveau," "Lantheus Real Estate," "Lantheus Two," "Lantheus Three," and "Progenics" refer to Cerveau Technologies, Inc.; Lantheus MI Real Estate, LLC; Lantheus Two, LLC; Lantheus Three, LLC; and Progenics Pharmaceuticals, Inc., respectively, each a wholly owned subsidiary of LMI, and references to "EXINI" refer to EXINI Diagnostics AB, a wholly owned subsidiary of Progenics.

NOTE REGARDING TRADEMARKS

We own or have the rights to various trademarks, service marks and trade names, including, among others, the following: PYLARIFY®, DEFINITY®, and Find Fight and Follow® referred to in this Form 10-K. Solely for convenience, we refer to trademarks and service marks in this Form 10-K without the TM, SM and ® symbols. Those references are not intended to indicate, in any way, that we will not assert, to the fullest extent permitted under applicable law, our rights to our trademarks and service marks. Each trademark, trade name or service mark of any other company appearing in this Form 10-K is, to our knowledge, owned by that other company.

Table of ContentsPART I*Item 1. Business*Overview

We are the leading radiopharmaceutical-focused company, delivering life-changing science to enable clinicians to Find, Fight and Follow disease to deliver better patient outcomes. We classify our products in three categories: Radiopharmaceutical Oncology, Precision Diagnostics, and Strategic Partnerships and Other Revenue. Our leading Radiopharmaceutical Oncology products help healthcare professionals ("HCPs") Find, Fight and Follow cancer. Our leading Precision Diagnostic products assist HCPs to Find and Follow diseases, with a focus in cardiology. Our Strategic Partnerships include biomarkers and digital solutions in support of our partners' therapeutic development, out-licensing agreements for non-core assets and optimization of our assets geographically.

Our commercial products are used by cardiologists, internal medicine physicians, nuclear medicine physicians, oncologists, radiologists, sonographers, technologists, and urologists working in a variety of clinical settings. We believe that our diagnostic products provide information that enables HCPs to better detect and characterize, or rule out, disease, with the potential to achieve better patient outcomes, reduce patient risk, and limit overall costs.

We produce and market our products throughout the United States (the "United States" or the "U.S."), selling primarily to hospitals, independent diagnostic testing facilities, and radiopharmacies. We sell our products outside the U.S. through a combination of direct distribution in Canada and third party distribution relationships in Europe, Canada, Australia, Asia-Pacific, Central America and South America.

Our executive offices are located in Bedford, Massachusetts, with additional offices in North Billerica, Massachusetts; Montreal, Canada and Lund, Sweden.

Chief Executive Officer Transition

On March 1, 2024, Brian Markison, became our Chief Executive Officer ("CEO"), and Mary Anne Heino retired as our CEO and became the Chair of our Board of Directors ("Board"). As part of this leadership transition, Mr. Markison assumed the role of Executive Chair of the Board as of January 23, 2024 until the effectiveness of his CEO appointment in March 2024, and Board Member Julie McHugh became Lead Independent Director.

Evolution into Fully-Integrated, Radiopharmaceutical Company

During 2024, we executed on our strategy to evolve into a fully integrated radiopharmaceutical company, supported by our increasingly diversified portfolio and our targeted initiatives to expand our pipeline, commercial, development and manufacturing capabilities. Over the course of the year and into 2025, we announced multiple strategic transactions, which further our goals to focus on new high growth markets and expand and diversify our capabilities and development pipeline with complementary assets. A brief description of these transactions is summarized below.

Pending Acquisition of Life Molecular Imaging

On January 13, 2025, we announced that we entered into a definitive agreement to acquire Life Molecular. Life Molecular is based in Berlin, Germany and is dedicated to advancing novel PET radiopharmaceutical diagnostics. The definitive agreement provides for an upfront payment of $350.0 million and up to an additional $400.0 million in potential earn-out and milestone payments. The transaction is expected to close in the second half of 2025, subject to the satisfaction of customary regulatory and closing conditions. This acquisition would enable us to establish a commercial franchise in Alzheimer's disease, expand our growth profile with Neuraceq, an approved Alzheimer's disease radiodiagnostic, enhance our research and development and clinical development capabilities, and strengthen our innovative radiodiagnostic pipeline.

Previously, on July 3, 2024, we acquired from Life Molecular the global rights to its clinical stage RM2, a gastrin-releasing peptide receptor ("GRPR")-targeting agent, including the associated novel, clinical-stage radiotherapeutic and radiodiagnostic pair, previously referred to as 177Lu-DOTA-RM2 and 68Ga-DOTA-RM2 (and which we now refer to as LNTH-2402 and LNTH-2401, respectively), for an upfront payment of $35.0 million plus a $1.0 million payment made prior to the acquisition, and potential regulatory milestone payments plus royalties (the "RM2 Asset Purchase"). GRPR is a member of the bombesin G protein-coupled receptor family, which has been found to be overexpressed in multiple cancers, including prostate, breast and lung. First-in-human dosimetry showed a favorable safety and dosimetry profile and confirmed preclinical data demonstrating dose-dependent efficacy of LNTH-2402. We intend to begin a Phase 1/2a study with LNTH-2402 in prostate cancer patients in 2025. We expect LNTH-2401 could be used as a companion diagnostic, and that together, LNTH-2401 and LNTH-2402 could potentially allow us to enter into new disease areas.

For more information on the acquisition of the global rights to RM2, see Note 21, "Acquisition of Assets" to our consolidated financial statements included in Part II, Item 8, "Financial Statements and Supplementary Data" of this Form 10-K.

Pending Acquisition of Evergreen Theragnostics

On January 27, 2025, we announced that we entered into an Agreement and Plan of Merger (the “Evergreen Merger Agreement”) with Evergreen and Shareholder Representative Services LLC, pursuant to which we will acquire Evergreen by means of a statutory merger of our subsidiary with and into Evergreen, with Evergreen surviving as our wholly-owned subsidiary (the “Evergreen Merger”). Evergreen is a clinical-stage radiopharmaceutical company engaged in contract development and manufacturing services, as well as drug discovery and commercialization of proprietary products. Our acquisition of Evergreen would enhance our capabilities across the radiopharmaceutical value chain, specifically strengthening our clinical and commercial manufacturing capabilities in therapeutic oncology; expand our late-stage pipeline with a registrational-stage PET diagnostic agent that could complement PNT2003; and grow our early-stage pipeline with multiple clinical and pre-clinical theranostic pairs.

Acquisition of NAV-4694

On June 18, 2024, we acquired Meilleur Technologies, Inc. (“Meilleur”), including its asset NAV-4694, an investigational F-18-PET imaging agent that targets beta amyloids in Alzheimer’s disease. Under the terms of the agreement, we paid the stockholders of Meilleur (“Meilleur Stockholders”) an upfront payment of $32.9 million and an additional $10.0 million payment in August 2024 after the successful completion of a technology transfer. We could pay additional milestone payments upon achievement of specified U.S. regulatory milestones related to NAV-4694. We could also pay double-digit milestone payments upon achievement of specified annual commercial sales and double-digit royalty payments for research revenue and commercial sales. Research revenue is derived from partnerships with pharmaceutical companies and academic institutions that use NAV-4694 in clinical trials.

For more information, see Note 21, “Acquisition of Assets” to our consolidated financial statements included in Part II, Item 8, “Financial Statements and Supplementary Data” of this Form 10-K.

Exclusive License for Radiopharm Theranostics Limited

On June 15, 2024, we entered into an agreement with Radiopharm to acquire all of Radiopharm’s global, exclusive rights to two licensed preclinical assets for an upfront payment of $2.0 million (the “Radiopharm Asset Purchase”). We acquired global, exclusive rights to both a monoclonal antibody that targets LRRC15, a preclinical therapeutic candidate targeting osteosarcoma, and a Trophoblast cell surface antigen 2 (“TROP2”)–targeted nanobody, a preclinical stage therapy. In connection with this acquisition, we are assuming the underlying license agreements related to the two preclinical assets, together with their respective milestone and royalty payment obligations.

For more information, see Note 21, “Acquisition of Assets” to our consolidated financial statements included in Part II, Item 8, “Financial Statements and Supplementary Data” of this Form 10-K.

Strategic Agreements with Perspective Therapeutics, Inc.

On January 8, 2024, we entered into multiple strategic agreements with Perspective, a radiopharmaceutical company that is pursuing advanced treatment applications for cancers throughout the body. Under the agreements, we obtained an option to exclusively license Perspective’s Pb212-VMT- α -NET, a clinical stage alpha therapy in development for the treatment of neuroendocrine tumors, and an option to co-develop certain early-stage therapeutic candidates targeting prostate cancer using Perspective’s innovative platform technology for an aggregate upfront payment of $28.0 million in cash.

On March 1, 2024, we transferred the fixed assets and associated lease of our Somerset, New Jersey facility to Perspective, and the parties entered into a transition services arrangement pursuant to which we provided certain services relating to final disposal of radioactive waste and certain other related services.

During 2024, we also purchased an aggregate of 11,677,339 shares of Perspective’s common stock (the “Perspective Shares”), after giving effect to a 1-for-10 reverse stock split, resulting in the Company holding approximately 19.9% of Perspective’s outstanding common stock (or 17.35% on a fully diluted basis) as of March 6, 2024.

For more information, see Note 21, “Acquisition of Assets” to our consolidated financial statements included in Part II, Item 8, “Financial Statements and Supplementary Data” of this Form 10-K.

Other Notable Transactions

Prior to 2024, we executed on some additional transactions that are notable to our business, including the following:

Exclusive License for PNT2002 & PNT 2003

On December 20, 2022, we announced the closing of a set of strategic collaborations with POINT Biopharma Global Inc. (“POINT”), in which we were granted a license to exclusive worldwide rights (excluding Japan, South Korea, China (including Hong Kong, Macau and Taiwan), Singapore, and Indonesia) to co-develop and commercialize POINT’s PNT2002 and PNT2003 product.

candidates. PNT2002 is a PSMA-targeted radiopharmaceutical therapy in development for the treatment of metastatic castration-resistant prostate cancer ("mCRPC"). PNT2003 is a somatostatin receptor ("SSTR") therapy with non-carrier added lutetium-177, which is in registration to treat patients with SSTR-positive neuroendocrine tumors.

On December 27, 2023, Lilly announced the completion of its acquisition of POINT. The acquisition has not impacted the status of the license agreements related to these product candidates or the work being performed in connection with those license agreements and our collaboration with POINT.

POINT is generally responsible for funding and development activities required for FDA approval of PNT2002, including generating all clinical and nonclinical data, analysis and other information, and we are responsible for preparing for and seeking regulatory approval, as well as performing and funding all future development and commercialization following such approval. POINT will be responsible for all manufacturing of PNT2002, subject to certain exceptions described in the license and collaboration agreement between the Company and POINT, dated November 11, 2022 (the "PNT2002 License Agreement").

The Phase 3 registrational clinical trial for PNT2002 ("SPLASH") was designed to evaluate the efficacy and safety of PNT2002 in patients with mCRPC who have progressed following treatment with an androgen receptor pathway inhibitor ("ARPI"). On December 18, 2023, we announced that the SPLASH trial met its primary endpoint, demonstrating a median radiographic progression-free survival ("rPFS") per blinded independent central review of 9.5 months for patients treated with PNT2002, compared to 6 months for patients treated with ARPI in the control arm, a statistically significant 29% reduction in the risk of radiographic progression or death (hazard ratio ("HR") 0.71; $p=0.0088$). At the time of the analysis, interim overall survival ("OS") results were immature (46% of protocol pre-specified target OS events reached), and the HR was 1.11. On September 15, 2024, we presented additional clinical data from initial topline results of SPLASH during the European Society of Medical Oncology Congress 2024. On November 6, 2024, we announced that the second interim analysis performed at 75% of protocol pre-specified overall survival events demonstrated results for both rPFS and OS that did not materially change from the interim analysis that was performed at 46% of pre-specified events. The OS results and HR in the intent-to-treat population remain confounded by the overwhelming number of patients who crossed over to receive PNT2002. Crossover adjusted analyses were post-hoc, and we are continuing to review the data and perform additional subset analyses in collaboration with our partner in preparation for further interactions on our path forward.

PNT2002 demonstrated a favorable safety profile compared to patients treated with ARPI in the control arm. Only 3.0% of patients treated with PNT2002 halted or reduced therapy as a result of treatment-emergent adverse events ("TEAEs"), compared to 11.5% of patients treated with ARPI, and 17.1% of PNT2002 patients experienced serious TEAEs compared to 23.1% of ARPI patients.

The open-label study randomized 412 patients with PSMA-expressing mCRPC who had progressed on ARPI therapy and either refused or were not eligible for chemotherapy, in a 2:1 randomization ratio. At the time of the first interim analysis, 84.6% of patients who experienced progressive disease in the control arm subsequently crossed over to receive PNT2002. SPLASH was conducted across the United States, Canada, Europe, and the United Kingdom. Eighty percent of SPLASH patients resided in North America and approximately ten percent of all participants were Black or African American.

In June 2024, Endocyte, Novartis and Purdue Research Foundation sued POINT and Lilly alleging that POINT's manufacturing and sale of PNT2002 infringes an Endocyte patent.

PNT2003

POINT is responsible for curating all data, analysis and other information necessary for regulatory approval, and supporting us in the preparation of regulatory filings for PNT2003. We are responsible for preparing for and seeking regulatory approval of all such applications, as well as performing and funding all future development and commercialization following such approval. POINT will be responsible for all manufacturing of PNT2003, subject to certain exceptions described in the license and collaboration agreement between our subsidiary, Lantheus Three and POINT, dated November 11, 2022 (the "PNT2003 License Agreement").

On January 11, 2024, we announced that our Abbreviated New Drug Application ("ANDA") for PNT2003 had been accepted for filing by the FDA. On January 26, 2024, we were sued in the District Court for the District of Delaware by Advanced Accelerator Applications USA, Inc. and Advanced Accelerator Applications SA, each a Novartis entity, for patent infringement in response to our ANDA filing and Paragraph IV certification, consistent with the process established by the Hatch-Waxman Act. Under the terms of the Hatch-Waxman Act, full FDA approval of our ANDA filing could be subject to a stay of up to 30 months. If our filing is stayed for the full 30-month period and we are successful in obtaining FDA approval, we would expect to launch PNT2003 in 2026, although there can be no assurance of that approval or timing. Based on the most recent update to the FDA's online Paragraph IV database listings, we believe we are the first applicant to have filed a substantially complete ANDA for lutetium Lu 177 dotatate containing a Paragraph IV certification under the provisions of the Hatch-Waxman Act. As the first applicant, if our ANDA is approved, we believe we will be eligible for 180 days of generic marketing exclusivity in the U.S. Upon approval, we believe PNT2003 will be the first radioequivalent to lutetium Lu 177 dotatate, which is indicated for the treatment of somatostatin receptor-positive gastroenteropancreatic neuroendocrine tumors ("GEP-NETs"), including foregut, midgut, and hindgut neuroendocrine tumors. We define radioequivalent as a radiopharmaceutical whose mechanism of action is determined to be equivalent to that of the reference product by the FDA, or a similar regulator outside the United States.

For more information, see Note 21, "Acquisition of Assets" to our consolidated financial statements included in Part II, Item 8, "Financial Statements and Supplementary Data" of this Form 10-K.

Our Portfolio of Commercial Products and Other Sources of Revenue

Radiopharmaceutical Oncology

Our commercial product in our Radiopharmaceutical Oncology category includes the following:

- PYLARIFY (also known as piflufolastat F-18, 18F-DCFPyL or PyL) is an F-18-labelled PSMA-targeted PET imaging agent used with PET/computed tomography ("CT"). PYLARIFY is indicated in the U.S. for PET imaging of PSMA-positive lesions in men with prostate cancer with suspected metastasis who are candidates for initial definitive therapy and in men with suspected recurrence based on elevated serum prostate-specific antigen ("PSA") levels. Piflufolastat F-18 is approved under the name PYLCLARI in Europe and licensed by us to Curium.

Precision Diagnostics

Our commercial products in our Precision Diagnostics category include the following:

- DEFINITY is an injectable ultrasound enhancing agent with perflutren-containing lipid microspheres, or microbubbles, that is used in echocardiography exams. The indication for DEFINITY in the U.S. is for use in adult and pediatric patients with suboptimal echocardiograms to opacify the left ventricular chamber and to improve the delineation of the left ventricular endocardial border. We believe we are currently the most utilized worldwide provider of ultrasound enhancing agents for use in echocardiography. DEFINITY is approved under the name LUMINITY in Europe and sold through third-party distribution relationships.
- Technelife is a Technetium ("Tc-99m") generator that provides the essential nuclear material used by radiopharmacies to radiolabel NEUROLITE, CARDIOLITE and other Tc-99m-based radiopharmaceuticals used in nuclear medicine procedures. Technelife uses Molybdenum-99 ("Mo-99") as its active ingredient.
- NEUROLITE is an injectable, Tc-99m-labeled imaging agent used with single-photon emission computed tomography ("SPECT") technology to identify the area within the brain where blood flow has been blocked or reduced due to stroke.
- Xenon-133 ("Xenon") is a radiopharmaceutical gas that is inhaled and used to assess pulmonary function and also to image cerebral blood flow. Xenon is manufactured by a third party as a bi-product of Mo-99 production and is processed and finished by us.
- CARDIOLITE, also known by its generic name sestamibi, is an injectable, Tc-99m-labeled imaging agent used in myocardial perfusion imaging ("MPI") procedures to assess blood flow to the muscle of the heart using SPECT. Included in CARDIOLITE revenues are branded CARDIOLITE and generic sestamibi revenues.

Strategic Partnerships and Other Revenue

Our commercial products in our Strategic Partnerships and Other Revenue product category include the following:

- Automated Bone Scan Index ("aBSI") automatically calculates the disease burden of prostate cancer by detecting and classifying bone scan tracer uptakes as metastatic or benign lesions using an artificial neural network. aBSI is FDA cleared and received a European Conformity Marking ("CE mark").
- aPROMISE, or PYLARIFY AI, is artificial intelligence medical device software that is designed to allow HCPs and researchers to perform standardized quantitative assessment of PSMA PET/CT images in prostate cancer, including those images obtained by using PYLARIFY.

Our Strategic Partnerships and Other Revenue, also includes revenue derived from partnerships with pharmaceutical companies and academic institutions that use our investigational products, such as MK-6240 and NAV-4694, in clinical trials as research tools, as well as royalties and other milestone payments received from our strategic partners that have commercialized products pursuant to license arrangements with us. For example, flurpiridaz is an F-18-based PET MPI agent that we previously licensed to GE Healthcare Limited ("GE Healthcare"). Flurpiridaz was approved by the FDA in 2024 under the name Flycado for PET MPI under rest or stress (pharmacologic or exercise) in adult patients with known or suspected coronary artery disease ("CAD") to evaluate for myocardial ischemia and infarction. Similarly, RELISTOR (methylnaltrexone bromide) is a treatment for opioid-induced constipation that decreases the constipating side effects induced by opioid pain medications such as morphine and codeine without diminishing their ability to relieve pain. RELISTOR is approved in two forms: a subcutaneous injection and an oral tablet. In 2011 Progenics licensed methylantrexone ("MNTX") along with products containing MNTX, including both approved forms of RELISTOR, to Salix Pharmaceuticals, Inc., a Bausch Health Companies, Inc. ("Bausch") and on August 2, 2023, we sold the right to the RELISTOR net sales royalties under that license agreement and retained the rights to future sales-based milestone payments.

Additional Information about our Product CategoriesRadiopharmaceutical Oncology

PYLARIFY is the most utilized radiopharmaceutical diagnostic agent indicated for PET imaging of PSMA-positive lesions in patients with prostate cancer with suspected metastasis who are candidates for initial definitive therapy and in patients with suspected recurrence based on elevated PSA levels. PYLARIFY works by binding to PSMA, a protein that is overexpressed on the surface of more than 90% of primary and metastatic prostate cancer cells. PYLARIFY works with PET/CT technology to produce a combined scan that enables the scan reader to detect and locate the disease.

According to the American Cancer Society, prostate cancer is the second most common cancer in American men - one in eight American men will be diagnosed with prostate cancer in their lifetimes and over 3.3 million American men are living with prostate cancer today. Based on estimates from third-party sources regarding the incidence of prostate cancer in men in the U.S., we believe the current market potential for PSMA PET imaging agents in the U.S. for 2025 could be about 525,000 scans, and the total addressable market by 2030 could be approximately 750,000 annual scans.

PYLARIFY is manufactured on a diverse, F-18 distributor supply network of PMFs, ensuring convenient and reliable supply. After being made on a cyclotron at a PMF, the F-18 is then combined with certain chemical ingredients in specially designed chemistry synthesis boxes to manufacture PYLARIFY. The finished PYLARIFY is then quality control tested and transferred to a radiopharmacist who prepares and dispenses patient-specific doses of the final product. Because each PMF manufacturing PYLARIFY is deemed by the FDA to be a separate manufacturing site, each is separately approved by the FDA. As of December 31, 2024, we had activated a total of 62 PMF manufacturing sites in our PMF network, up from 54 activated sites as of December 31, 2023. These additional sites provide geographic breadth, out-the-door time flexibility and added optionality. Overall, we have achieved broad national distribution of PYLARIFY with customers in 48 of 50 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

In addition to our network of commercial PMFs, we also work with academic medical centers in the U.S. that have radioisotope-producing cyclotrons and that have expressed an interest in manufacturing PYLARIFY. For this initiative, we enter into a fee-for-service arrangement under which the academic medical center manufactures F-18 on its cyclotron and completes the manufacturing process for PYLARIFY. PYLARIFY can then be used by the academic medical center itself, and in some cases distributed to other customers under separate purchase agreements.

Our Healthcare Procedure Coding System code, which enables streamlined billing, went into effect as of January 1, 2022. In addition, effective January 1, 2022, the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services ("CMS") granted transitional pass-through payment status ("TPT Status") in the hospital outpatient setting for PYLARIFY, enabling traditional Medicare fee-for-service ("FFS") to provide separate payment for PYLARIFY in addition to the payment for the PET/CT procedure in that setting. TPT Status for PYLARIFY expired on December 31, 2024.

In November 2024, CMS released the final rule for its calendar year 2025 Medicare Hospital Outpatient Prospective Payment System (the "CMS 2025 OPPS Rule"), which recognizes the value and need for broad access in diagnostic radiopharmaceuticals. The rule provides separate payment for those diagnostic radiopharmaceuticals with per day costs greater than $630. Effective January 1, 2025, CMS is maintaining separate payment for PYLARIFY after the expiration of TPT Status for the approximately 20% of patients with traditional Medicare FFS insurance coverage who are treated in the hospital outpatient setting. The calendar year 2025 payment rate for PYLARIFY is listed in Addendum B of the final rule. We plan to continue working with CMS on the potential adoption of payment based on Average Sales Price ("ASP") in the future. We have been reporting ASP since our first dose sold, helping to provide a clear path forward for CMS to potentially make payments based on ASP instead of mean unit cost ("MUC").

Our continued growth of PYLARIFY will depend on our ability to clinically and commercially differentiate PYLARIFY from other products on the market and to maintain PYLARIFY as the most utilized PSMA PET imaging agent in a competitive space. PYLARIFY's current competition is primarily two Gallium-68 ("Ga-68")-based PSMA imaging agents, an F-18-based PSMA imaging agent, and other non-PSMA-based imaging agents commonly referred to as conventional imaging. The potential for future generic entrants to the market as a result of the expiry of PYLARIFY's five-year new chemical entity ("NCE") exclusivity period in 2026, on the fifth anniversary of the FDA's approval, could generate increased competition for PYLARIFY. Continued growth and revenue contribution from PYLARIFY will also depend on our ability to differentiate PYLARIFY, including through flexible and dependable access to PYLARIFY nationally, a best-in-class customer experience and through long-term strategic contracts.

We actively pursue patents in connection with PYLARIFY, both in the U.S. and internationally. In the U.S. for PYLARIFY, we have patents listed in the FDA's publication, "Approved Drug Products with Therapeutic Equivalence Evaluations" (the "Orange Book"), including composition of matter patents, the last of which expires in 2037. Outside of the U.S., we have, and are currently pursuing, additional patents related to piflufolastat F-18 to obtain similar patent protection as in the U.S.

See Part I, Item 1A, "Risk Factors" for information regarding certain risks associated with PYLARIFY and Part II, Item 7, "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations - Comparison of the Periods Ended December 31, 2024 and 2023 - Revenues" of this Form 10-K for further information on total revenue contributed by PYLARIFY since its approval.

Precision Diagnostics

DEFINITY is the most utilized ultrasound enhancing agent in the U.S. and is indicated for use in adult and pediatric patients with suboptimal echocardiograms to opacify the left ventricular chamber and to improve the delineation of the left ventricular endocardial border. Numerous patient conditions can decrease the quality of images of the left ventricle, the primary pumping chamber of the heart. The term DEFINITY refers to both its activated and non-activated forms.

DEFINITY is a clear, colorless, sterile liquid that, upon activation in a VIALMIX or VIALMIX RFID, medical devices specifically designed for DEFINITY, becomes a homogenous, opaque, milky white injectable suspension of perflutren-containing lipid microspheres. After activation and intravenous injection, DEFINITY opacifies the left ventricular chamber and improves the delineation of the left ventricular endocardial border, or innermost layer of tissue that lines the chamber of the left ventricle. Better visualization of the left ventricle allows clinicians to make more informed decisions about disease status.

Based on estimates from third party sources, we believe there were approximately 27 to 32 million echocardiograms performed in the U.S. in 2023 (the latest time period for which full year data is available). Assuming that between 20% and 30% of echocardiograms produce suboptimal images, as stated in the clinical literature, we estimate that approximately 5 to 10 million echocardiograms in 2023 produced suboptimal images.

Since its launch in 2001, DEFINITY has been used in imaging procedures in more than 28 million echocardiograms throughout the world. In March 2024, we received FDA approval for our supplemental new drug application for the use of DEFINITY in pediatric patients with suboptimal echocardiograms. The FDA decision was based on usage data from three pediatric clinical trials conducted with DEFINITY. We estimate that, as of December 31, 2024, DEFINITY had over 80% share of the U.S. segment for ultrasound enhancing agents in echocardiography procedures. DEFINITY currently competes with two other FDA-approved ultrasound enhancing agents, as well as echocardiography without the use of ultrasound enhancing agents and non-echocardiography imaging modalities. DEFINITY and the other FDA-approved ultrasound enhancing agents all carry an FDA-required boxed warning, which has been modified over time, to notify physicians and patients about potentially serious safety concerns or risks posed by the products. See Part I, Item 1A, "Risk Factors-Ultrasound enhancing agents may cause side effects which could limit our ability to sell DEFINITY;" of this Form 10-K for more information.

We continue to actively pursue additional patents in connection with DEFINITY, both in the U.S. and internationally. In the U.S. for DEFINITY, we have Orange Book-listed method-of-use patents, the last of which expires in 2037, as well as additional manufacturing patents that are not Orange Book-listed expiring in 2037. The Orange Book-listed patents include a patent on the use of VIALMIX RFID (see below), which expires in 2037; we have submitted additional VIALMIX RFID patent applications in major markets throughout the world.

DEFINITY is activated through the use of medical devices branded as VIALMIX and VIALMIX RFID. The activation rate and time are controlled by VIALMIX RFID through the use of radio-frequency identification technology ("RFID") to ensure reproducible activation of DEFINITY. The RFID tag, which is affixed to the vial label, enables the DEFINITY vial to be appropriately activated with the VIALMIX RFID activation device. We rely on Jubilant HollisterStier ("JHS") as a significant supplier of DEFINITY. We also produce DEFINITY in our in-house manufacturing facility at our North Billerica campus.

See Part I, Item 1A, "Risk Factors" for information regarding certain risks associated with DEFINITY and Part II, Item 7, "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations - Comparison of the Periods Ended December 31, 2024 and 2023 - Revenues" for further information on revenue contributed by DEFINITY.

TechneLite

TechneLite is a self-contained system or generator of Tc-99m, a radioactive isotope with a six hour half-life, used by radiopharmacies to prepare various nuclear imaging agents. Tc-99m results from the radioactive decay of Mo-99, itself a radioisotope with a 66-hour half-life sourced in our supply chain in nuclear research reactors located in Belgium, South Africa and Australia from enriched uranium. The TechneLite generator houses a vertical glass column at its core that contains Mo-99, which degrades to Tc-99m. During our manufacturing process, Mo-99 is added to the column within the generator where it is adsorbed onto alumina powder. The column is sterilized, enclosed in a lead shield and further sealed in a cylindrical plastic container, which is then immediately shipped to our radiopharmacy customers. Because of the half-lives of Mo-99 and Tc-99m, radiopharmacies typically purchase TechneLite generators on a weekly basis pursuant to standing orders.

Our ability to produce and market TechneLite is highly dependent on our supply of Mo-99. See “Raw Materials and Supply Relationships—Molybdenum-99” below.

TechneLite is currently marketed primarily in the U.S., Canada, Central America and South America, largely to radiopharmacies that prepare unit doses of radiopharmaceutical imaging agents and ship these preparations directly to hospitals for administration to patients.

See Part II, Item 7, “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations - Comparison of the Periods Ended December 31, 2024 and 2023 - Revenues” for further information on revenue contributed by TechneLite.

Strategic Partnerships and Other Revenue

We continue to seek ways to further increase the overall value of our products and product candidates. In addition to our recently announced plans to acquire Life Molecular and Evergreen, we are evaluating a number of different opportunities to collaborate, in-license or acquire additional products, product candidates, businesses and technologies to drive our future growth. In particular, we are focused on radiopharmaceutical diagnostic and therapeutic product opportunities in oncology, neurology and other strategic areas that complement our existing portfolio. Our Biomarker Solutions business focuses on advancing innovative imaging biomarker solutions, such as our investigational late-stage Alzheimer’s disease radiodiagnostic candidates, MK-6240 and NAV-4694, through collaborations with pharmaceutical companies and academic centers.

Our Biomarker Solutions business also includes our Microbubble Platform, in which we generally enter into collaborations with partners seeking to include our microbubble as part of a kit used with our partner’s medical device for therapeutic applications. In these collaborations, our microbubble is generally intended to be used as a vehicle to deliver a therapeutic drug. Our Digital Solutions business focuses on developing and commercializing 510(k) cleared and CE marked digital applications to enhance the performance of imaging agents; our Digital Solutions portfolio currently includes aBSI, aPROMISE, and PYLARIFY AI.

Oncology

As we continue to pursue expanding strategic partnerships, our Biomarker Solutions activities in oncology include:

- Prostate Cancer – We collaborate with pharmaceutical companies developing therapies and diagnostics in prostate cancer.
 - Curium (our licensee for piflufolastat F-18 in Europe) is commercializing piflufolastat F-18 under the name PYLCLARI in Europe. In addition, we previously entered into an agreement with Curium to add PYLARIFY to its U.S. ECLIPSE trial, a multi-center, open-label, randomized Phase 3 trial comparing the safety and efficacy of Curium’s PSMA-targeted therapeutic versus hormone therapy in patients mCRPC. PYLARIFY is being used to determine PSMA-avidity as part of patient selection.
 - We have also entered into several other separate agreements, including with POINT and Regeneron Pharmaceuticals, Inc., under which we supply PYLARIFY in connection with their clinical trials. Under a strategic collaboration with the Prostate Cancer Clinical Trial Consortium (“PCCTC”), a premier multicenter clinical research organization that specializes in prostate cancer research, our artificial intelligence (“AI”) platform is being integrated into PCCTC studies to advance the development and validation of novel AI-enabled biomarkers.
- Pan-Oncology - In collaboration with Ratio Therapeutics LLC (previously Noria Therapeutics, Inc.), we are developing LNTH-1363S, a novel copper-64 labeled PET imaging agent, targeting fibroblast activation protein alpha. We believe this diagnostic agent candidate could have broad potential applicability and use in oncology as well as inflammatory diseases. In 2024, we completed a Phase I study for LNTH-1363S to evaluate the pharmacokinetics, biodistribution and radiation dosimetry in adult healthy volunteers and initiated a Phase 1/2a study.

Microbubble Platform

Table of Contents

We previously entered into microbubble collaborations with strategic partners that are using our microbubbles in connection with the development of their medical devices. For example, CarThera SAS is developing SonoCloud, a proprietary implantable device in development for the treatment of recurrent glioblastoma that will be used in combination with our microbubbles. Similarly, Insightec Ltd. is developing a transcranial guided focused ultrasound device for the treatment of glioblastoma, as well as other neurodegenerative conditions, and such device will also be used in combination with our microbubbles.

MK-6240 is an investigational late-stage F-18-labeled PET imaging agent designed to detect tau protein in the form of neurofibrillary tangles in the brains of patients with known or suspected Alzheimer's disease. MK-6240 is currently in Phase 3 development and is also being used as a biomarker in more than 100 ongoing academic and industry sponsored clinical trials, many for late-stage therapeutic candidates. Research revenue is derived from the use of MK-6240 in those clinical trials and includes milestone and dose-related payments.

NAV-4694 is an investigational late-stage F-18-labeled PET imaging agent that targets beta amyloid in Alzheimer's disease. NAV-4694 is currently in Phase 3 development and is also being used in academic and industry sponsored clinical trials. Research revenue is derived from the use of NAV-4694 in those clinical trials and includes milestone and dose-related payments.

RELISTOR

On August 2, 2023, we sold our right to our RELISTOR net sales royalty asset under our license agreement with Bausch; we retained the rights to future sales-based milestone payments. We received an initial payment of approximately $98.0 million in connection with the sale. Pursuant to our license agreement with Bausch, we are eligible to receive one-time sales milestone payments upon achievement of specified U.S. net sales targets, including:

U.S. Net Sales Levels in any Single Calendar Year	Payment
In excess of $150 million	$15.0 million
In excess of $200 million	$20.0 million
In excess of $300 million	$30.0 million
In excess of $750 million	$50.0 million
In excess of $1 billion	$75.0 million

During the fourth quarter of 2023, the Company earned the $15.0 million sales-based milestone payment listed above and did not earn a sales-based milestone payment in 2024. Each sales milestone payment is payable one time only, regardless of the number of times the condition is satisfied. The remaining milestone payments could be made within the same calendar year if the highest sales levels were reached in any single calendar year.

aBSI

aBSI automatically calculates the disease burden of prostate cancer by detecting and classifying bone scan tracer uptakes as metastatic or benign lesions using an artificial neural network. The cloud based aBSI was made available for clinical use in the U.S. on August 5, 2019. In February 2020, Progenies received a CE mark for the standalone workstation model of aBSI, meeting the quality standards set by the European Economic Area. In September 2020, the FDA granted 510(k) clearance for the use of aBSI as software-as-a-medical device on a GE Healthcare imaging system.

PYLARIFY AI

PYLARIFY AI is an FDA-cleared AI medical device software that is designed to allow healthcare professionals and researchers to perform standardized quantitative assessment of PSMA PET/CT images in prostate cancer, including those images obtained by using PYLARIFY. Our subsidiary, EXINI, was granted 510(k) clearance by the FDA in the U.S. and received a CE mark in Europe for aPROMISE. We commercially launched aPROMISE under the name PYLARIFY AI in the U.S. in November 2021 and the FDA granted us an additional 510(k) clearance during the second quarter of 2022.

Flurpiridaz

In 2017, we entered into a definitive, exclusive global Collaboration and License Agreement with GE Healthcare for development and worldwide commercialization of flurpiridaz, an F-18-based PET MPI agent designed to assess blood flow to the heart in patients suspected of CAD. Under the agreement, we received an upfront cash payment of $5.0 million and are eligible to receive up to $60.0 million in regulatory and sales milestone payments, tiered double-digit royalties on U.S. sales, and mid-single digit royalties on sales outside of the U.S. In September 2024, GE Healthcare announced that it had received FDA approval of flurpiridaz under the name Flyrcado for coronary artery disease diagnosis and anticipated commercialization to begin in the first half of 2025.

See Part I, Item 1A, “Risk Factors” for information regarding certain risks associated with our strategic activities.

Our Clinical Development Candidates

In addition to our commercial products and strategic partnerships with third parties, we also have ongoing clinical development programs, including the following:

- MK-6240 is an investigational late-stage F-18-labeled PET imaging agent that targets tau tangles in Alzheimer’s disease. MK-6240 is currently in Phase 3 development and is also being used in over 100 ongoing academic and industry trials, many for late-stage therapeutic candidates.
- NAV-4694 is an investigational late-stage F-18-labeled PET imaging agent that targets beta amyloid in Alzheimer’s disease. NAV-4694 is currently in Phase 3 development and is also being used in academic and industry sponsored clinical trials.
- PNT2002 is an investigational PSMA-targeted radiopharmaceutical therapy for the treatment of mCRPC. On December 18, 2023, we announced positive topline results from SPLASH, the Phase 3 registrational trial for PNT2002 designed to evaluate superiority to the standard of care in mCRPC pre-chemotherapy patients who have failed one androgen receptor pathway inhibitor. At the time of the analysis, interim OS results were immature (46% of protocol pre-specified target OS events reached), and the HR was 1.11. On September 15, 2024, we presented additional clinical data from initial topline results of SPLASH during the European Society of Medical Oncology Congress 2024. On November 6, 2024, we announced that the second interim analysis performed at 75% of protocol pre-specified OS demonstrated results for both rPFS and OS that did not materially change from the interim analysis that was performed at 46% of pre-specified OS events. Crossover adjusted analyses were post hoc, and we are continuing to review the data and perform additional subset analyses in collaboration with our partner in preparation for further interactions on our path forward.
- PNT2003 is an investigational SSTR therapy with non-carrier added lutetium-177, which is in registration to treat patients with SSTR-positive neuroendocrine tumors. On January 11, 2024, we announced that our ANDA for PNT2003, which included Paragraph IV certification, was accepted for filing by the FDA. Pursuant to the procedure set forth in the Hatch Waxman Act, we were sued for patent infringement by Advanced Accelerator Applications USA, Inc. and Advanced Accelerator Applications SA, each a Novartis entity. See Part I, Item 1, “Business - Other Notable Transactions - Exclusive License for PNT2002 & PNT2003 - PNT2003,” for more information on the litigation.
- LNTH-1363S is an investigational fibroblast activation protein, alpha targeted, copper-64 labeled PET imaging agent candidate that we believe could have broad potential imaging applicability and use in oncology. We completed a Phase 1 study for LNTH-1363S to evaluate the pharmacokinetics, biodistribution and radiation dosimetry in adult healthy volunteers and initiated a Phase 1/2a study.
- LNTH-2401, also known as 68Ga-DOTA-RM2, is a novel radiodiagnostic targeting the gastrin-releasing peptide receptor. We expect LNTH-2401 could be used as a companion diagnostic to LNTH-2402.
- LNTH-2402, also known as 177Lu-DOTA-RM2, is a novel gastrin-releasing peptide receptor targeted radiotherapeutic for solid tumors including prostate, breast, lung and other cancers. We intend to begin a Phase 1/2a study with LNTH-2402 in prostate cancer patients in 2025.
- LNTH-2403, also known as LRR15, is a leucine-Rich Repeat-Containing Protein 15 targeted radiotherapeutic. It received Orphan Drug and Rare Pediatric Disease designation from the FDA for the treatment of osteosarcoma.
- LNTH-2404 is a Trophoblast cell surface antigen-2 targeted radiotherapeutic designed to target TROP2, an intracellular calcium signal transducer that is overexpressed in various types of adenocarcinomas with minimal expression in normal tissues and is associated with tumor aggressiveness, poor prognosis and drug resistance.

For the years ended December 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022, we invested $168.1 million, $77.7 million and $311.7 million in research and development (“R&D”), respectively, primarily related to our clinical development candidates. In addition to our clinical development group, our R&D team also includes our Medical Affairs, Regulatory, Clinical Operations, Research and Pharmaceutical Development, and Isotope Strategy functions.

See Part I, Item 1A, “Risk Factors” for information regarding certain risks associated with our strategic partnerships and clinical development programs.

Please note that the disciplinary actions described below do NOT pertain to operations at the location set forth in this application.

McKesson Corporation and its wholly owned subsidiaries (hereinafter "McKesson") delivers pharmaceutical and medical products and business services to retail pharmacies and institutional providers like hospitals and health systems throughout North America and globally. Over the past 185 years, McKesson has developed multiple businesses that operate pharmacies, medical supply distribution centers, wholesale drug distribution centers, 3PL facilities, repackaging facilities, and other entities subject to federal and state regulation. Currently, McKesson owns and operates over 100 facilities in the United States that are licensed, permitted, or registered with the respective state agency with jurisdiction over its business type. We have limited this summary to disciplinary actions taken against these facilities during the time frame specified in the question or the last six years in accordance with McKesson Corporation's Records and Information Management (RIM) Policy. The information in this statement is provided to the best of our knowledge and belief and includes all public disciplinary actions. This statement does not include any fines that are deemed non-disciplinary by the issuing state (for example, it does not include non-disciplinary Citations and Fines issued by California). Please let us know if your state requires information regarding non-disciplinary fines.

On January 7, 2020, McKesson Corporation entered into a Consent Agreement and Final Order with the Iowa Board of Pharmacy regarding pseudoephedrine products that had not been included in the McKesson's Clear Lake, IA facility's annual controlled substance inventory and butalbital products that continued to be treated as legend drugs after such products became schedule III products in the state on June 26, 2019 (the "2020 Clear Lake Consent").

On January 14, 2020, McKesson Medical-Surgical Inc. entered into a Consent Agreement with the Arizona State Board of Pharmacy, regarding its Tempe, AZ distribution center, for shipping prescription drugs to an entity that was not properly licensed to receive them. A monetary civil penalty of $1,000 was imposed and paid on January 14, 2020.

On February 20, 2020, in response to the DEA Settlement, McKesson Corporation entered into a final agreement with the Indiana Board of Pharmacy. The agreement applies to the McKesson distribution center located in Washington Court House, Ohio. The facility's right to distribute controlled substances into Indiana has been placed on indefinite probation until the facility's DEA Registration is fully re-instated on or about February 16, 2021. The suspension period imposed by Indiana aligns with the federal DEA suspensions and with those imposed by other states that have taken reciprocal action based on the DEA Settlement.

On May 29, 2020, the Colorado Department of Regulatory Agencies cited McKesson Medical-Surgical Inc. concerning its Roseville, CA distribution center for failure to submit in a timely manner, an application to the Board detailing a change of designated representative. A fine of $1,150 was imposed and paid on July 1, 2020.

On January 27, 2021, Ohio Board of Pharmacy chose to issue a warning rather than take formal disciplinary action against McKesson Medical-Surgical Inc.'s Grove City, OH license. The Board conducted an investigation regarding McKesson Specialty Care Distribution LLC's sale of 3 vials of Dangerous Drugs to an unlicensed Terminal Distributor of Dangerous Drugs on August 14, 2019. This is a non-disciplinary action.

On April 20, 2021, McKesson Medical-Surgical Inc. entered into a Consent Agreement with the Ohio Board of Pharmacy, regarding its Leetsdale, PA distribution center, for shipping prescription drugs to an entity that was not properly licensed to receive them. A monetary civil penalty of $1,125 was imposed and paid on April 20, 2021.

On May 05, 2021, McKesson Medical-Surgical Inc. entered into a Consent Agreement with the Maine Board of Pharmacy, regarding its Roseville, CA distribution center, in relation to the late reporting of a disciplinary action that was imposed by the Colorado Board of Pharmacy, for failure to report a change of designated representative within the required timeframe. A $500 civil penalty/fine was paid on 5/7/2021.

On May 22, 2021, in response to the DEA Settlement, McKesson Corporation entered into a final agreement with the Illinois Department of Financial and Professional Regulation. The Illinois Consent Order applies to the McKesson distribution centers located in Aurora, Colorado, Livonia, Michigan and Washington Court House, Ohio.

- Aurora, Colorado - the facility's Illinois controlled substance was restricted. The facility was prohibited from distributing controlled substances into the state until 1/17/2020 except for various exceptions that mirror exceptions in the DEA settlement;
- Livonia, Michigan - the facility's Illinois controlled substance was restricted. The facility was prohibited from distributing controlled substances into the state until 1/17/2019 except for various exceptions that mirror exceptions in the DEA settlement; and
- Washington Court House, Ohio - the facility's Illinois controlled substance was restricted. The facility was prohibited from distributing controlled substances into the state until 1/18/2021 except for various exceptions that mirror exceptions in the DEA settlement.

On May 27, 2021, McKesson Corporation entered into a consent agreement with the Maine Board of Pharmacy regarding its Aurora, IL distribution center failing to report the Colorado disciplinary action to the Maine Board of Pharmacy within 10 days as required. The Colorado disciplinary action is now reported to the Maine Board of Pharmacy. The terms of the consent agreement included a fine in the amount of $500.00.

On June 6, 2021, McKesson Medical-Surgical Inc. entered into a Settlement Agreement with the Ohio Board of Pharmacy, regarding its Leetsdale, PA distribution center, for shipping prescription drugs to an entity that was not properly licensed to receive them. A monetary civil penalty of $500 was imposed and paid on June 8, 2021.

On June 15, 2021, McKesson Medical-Surgical Inc. entered into a Settlement Agreement with the Ohio Board of Pharmacy, regarding its Urbancrest, OH distribution center, for shipping prescription drugs to an entity that was not properly licensed to receive them. A monetary civil penalty of $3000.00 was imposed and paid on June 15, 2021.

On June 23, 2021, McKesson Medical-Surgical Inc. entered into a Settlement Agreement with the Ohio Board of Pharmacy, regarding its Urbancrest, OH distribution center, for shipping prescription drugs to an entity that was not properly licensed to receive them. A monetary civil penalty of $125 was imposed and paid on June 23, 2021.

On October 1, 2021, McKesson Corporation ("McKesson") entered into a non-disciplinary agreement with the Connecticut Department of Consumer Protection, regarding its Memphis, TN distribution center. The agreement resolves allegations that, from January 2015 – January 2021, McKesson sold controlled substances to a practitioner that did not have an active Connecticut Controlled Substances Certificate of Registration. McKesson made no admission of liability and there were no findings of any violation of law. A monetary penalty of $4,500 was imposed.

On October 14, 2021, in response to the DEA Settlement, McKesson Corporation entered into a Settlement Agreement with the Ohio Board of Pharmacy (the "WCH Ohio Settlement"). The WCH Ohio Settlement applies to the McKesson distribution center located in Washington Court House, Ohio. The Ohio Settlement also resolved allegations of suspicious order reporting violations related to sales occurring between 2011 and 2017. Under the terms of the WCH Ohio Settlement, there were no findings of any violation of law and McKesson made no admissions to the same. McKesson was subject to a reprimand and a fine of twenty-thousand dollars ($20,000).

On December 20, 2021, McKesson Corporation entered into a Consent Order with the Division of Professional Regulation of the Illinois Department of Financial and Professional Regulation (the "IDFPR") based on reciprocal state action from the 2020 Clear Lake Consent. The Illinois Consent applied to McKesson's Clear Lake, IA distribution center. Under the terms of the Illinois Consent Order, the facility was subject to a public reprimand by the IDFPR.

On January 18, 2022, McKesson Medical-Surgical Inc. entered into a Settlement Agreement with the Ohio Board of Pharmacy, regarding its Urbancrest, OH distribution center, for shipping prescription drugs to an entity that was not properly licensed to receive them. A monetary civil penalty of $500 was imposed and paid on January 18, 2022.

On January 20, 2022, McKesson Medical-Surgical Inc. was fined by the California Board of Pharmacy related to the fact that its Middletown, PA distribution center failed to timely notify the state of California when their designated representative left the company. The designated representative required by the home state was always in place. The new designated representative is now fully licensed. McKesson Medical-Surgical Inc. paid $700 fine. The fine is related to a non-disciplinary action.

February 15, 2022, McKesson Corporation entered into a Settlement Agreement with the United States Department of Justice, the United States Attorney's Office for the Western District of Tennessee, and the Drug Enforcement Administration resolving allegations of recordkeeping and reporting deficiencies at one of its packaging facilities located in Memphis, Tennessee, known as McKesson RxPak. McKesson RxPak ceased all operations on March 4, 2020 and is no longer in business. There are no admissions of liability or wrongdoing under the terms of the Settlement Agreement.

On March 24, 2022, McKesson Corporation and the California Board of Pharmacy (the "Board") entered into a settlement agreement which resolved allegations against McKesson relating to the sale of controlled substances in 2017 and 2018 to an outpatient hospital pharmacy that the pharmacy discovered were being stolen by a pharmacy employee. Pursuant to the settlement agreement, the Board publicly reprovved McKesson's Santa Fe Springs distribution center permit, and McKesson agreed to pay the board's costs related to the investigation and enforcement of the matter. As set forth in the settlement agreement, McKesson denies any allegation that it violated California laws regarding the distribution of controlled substances and there are no findings of any violation of state or federal laws.

On May 20, 2022, McKesson Medical Surgical, Inc.'s Urbancrest, Ohio facility entered into a consent order with the MI Dept of Licensing in connection with an Administrative Complaint from January 2022. The Administrative Complaint is a result of two settlement agreements with the Ohio BOP. Michigan states that these settlement agreements violated MCL 333.17768(2)(d). A $500.00 fine was imposed and paid.

On July 19, 2022, McKesson Medical Surgical, Inc.'s Urbancrest, Ohio facility entered into a settlement agreement with the Alabama Board of Pharmacy. The Alabama discipline was in response to discipline the facility received from the Ohio Board of Pharmacy in 2021 McKesson paid a $3,000 fine under the Alabama settlement.

On September 16, 2022, McKesson Medical-Surgical Inc.'s Leetsdale, PA facility entered into a consent order with the MI Dept of Licensing in connection with an Administrative Complaint from January 2022. The Administrative Complaint is a result of two settlement agreements with the Ohio BOP. Michigan states that these settlement agreements violated MCL 333.17768(2)(d). A $500.00 fine was imposed and paid.

On October 28, 2022, McKesson Corporation's Aurora, IL facility received a non-disciplinary confidential letter of concern from the Colorado State Board of Pharmacy in relation to the late reporting of the 2021 Maine Board of Pharmacy discipline. No formal action or penalty was imposed.

On July 22, 2023, McKesson Corporation's Santa Fe Springs, CA distribution center entered into a Consent Order with the Alabama Board of Pharmacy. The Consent Order constitutes reciprocal disciplinary action that was based entirely on a February 22, 2022, Decision and Order from the California Board of Pharmacy. There were no new facts giving rise to the Alabama Consent. Your office was notified of the California Order on or about 03/25/2022. Pursuant to the terms of the Alabama Consent, McKesson agreed to pay a fine of $25,000.

On April 12, 2024, McKesson Corporation's Duluth, GA distribution center entered into a Public Consent Agreement with the Georgia State Board of Pharmacy. McKesson Corporation was disciplined for failure to maintain prescription drugs securely and assessed a fine of $10,000.

On May 29, 2024, McKesson Medical-Surgical Inc.'s Jacksonville, FL facility entered into a Consent Agreement with the Georgia State Board of Pharmacy due to the facility changing ownership and updating their licensure prior to receiving board approval. Under O.C.G.A § 26-4-40, the Georgia State Board of Pharmacy is authorized to deny Applicants application for licensure due to changing ownership without Board Approval. Based on the Consent Agreement, McKesson Medical-Surgical Inc shall submit a payment of One-Thousand Seven-Hundred Dollars ($1,700) for the violation. The Board agrees to grant the ownership change and licensure update once the terms and conditions of the agreement are met.

On August 29, 2024, the Ohio Board of Pharmacy issued a Final Order to McKesson Corporation for activities that occurred at McKesson's former distribution center previously located in Washington Courthouse, OH for purchases of dangerous drugs from an unlicensed entity from July 2019 to April 2021. The Board imposed a monetary fine in the amount of $2,750.00.

On August 30, 2024, McKesson (in addition to Cardinal Health, Inc. and Cencora, Inc. (f/k/a AmerisourceBergen Corporation) (collectively, the "Distributors")) has agreed to enter into a settlement agreement with third party payor ("TPP") plaintiffs to resolve certain opioid-related claims.

On September 12, 2024, the Idaho Board of Pharmacy ("BOP") entered into a Stipulation and Consent Order with McKesson Medical-Surgical Inc. ("MMS") whereby the parties mutually agree to settle two separate matters from MMS' Chino, CA and Roseville, CA distribution centers in 2020 and 2021 involving a deficient Designated Representative application and failure to timely renew its license application, respectively. The parties agree that sufficient mitigating factors exist (including the COVID-19 pandemic and various stay-at-home orders) to warrant resolution of these matters via the Stipulation and Consent Order without an admission of guilt by MMS and whereby the Stipulation and Consent Order requires MMS to pay a fine to the BOP in the amount of $6,000 and to reimburse the BOP for investigative costs in the amount of $5,200.

On September 25, 2024, McKesson Corporation's Montgomery, NY facility entered into a Settlement Agreement with the Connecticut Department of Consumer Protection Drug Control Division. Pursuant the terms of the Agreement, the Department of Consumer Protection alleged that McKesson's contracted courier failing to maintain prescription drugs securely in violation of Section 21a-115-32(b)(4) of the Regulations of Connecticut State Agencies. The Settlement Agreement shall neither be considered an admission of liability or a violation of law for any purpose, nor as evidence supporting the allegations of the Department of Consumer Protection. Per the Settlement Agreement, McKesson Corporation shall submit a payment of One Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($1,500) to the Department of Consumer Protection and shall be issued a Letter of Reprimand.

On November 14, 2024, McKesson Corporation's Montgomery, NY facility entered into a Settlement Agreement with the Connecticut Department of Consumer Protection Drug Control Division. Pursuant the terms of the Agreement, the Department of Consumer Protection alleged that McKesson's contracted courier failing to maintain prescription drugs securely in violation of Section 21a-115-32(b)(4) of the Regulations of Connecticut State Agencies. The Settlement Agreement shall neither be considered an admission of liability or a violation of law for any purpose, nor as evidence supporting the allegations of the Department of Consumer Protection. Per the Settlement Agreement, McKesson Corporation shall submit a payment of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) to the Department of Consumer Protection and shall be issued a Letter of Reprimand.

On March 19th, 2025, Maryland State Board of Pharmacy (“MBOP”) and McKesson Medical-Surgical, Inc. (“MMS”) entered into a Pre-Charge Consent Order (“Consent Order”) after MMS self-reported distributing prescription products into Maryland from its Distribution Center in Suwanee, GA without the required wholesale distributor permits. An MMS internal investigation revealed that approximately 400 prescription orders were distributed without the permit between September 2019 and September 2024 due to a miscoding error. MMS has since updated its product classifications and implemented additional checks. As part of the Consent Order, MMS agreed to pay a $5,000 fine to the MBOP and MBOP agreed to process MMS’ pending wholesale permit application.

On April 22, 2025, the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy (“NV BOP”) issued a citation and fine order to McKesson Medical-Surgical, Inc. (“MMS”) distribution center located in Chino, CA for unprofessional conduct. MMS erroneously shipped drugs to a hospice patient's home without a legitimate request, due to a mis-pick error. This action violated NAC 639.945(1)(i) and NRS 639.210(4), posing serious risks to patient safety. The NV BOP assessed an administrative fine of $500 to MMS for the incident.

On August 20, 2025, the Michigan Board of Pharmacy issued a Consent Order and Stipulation resolving disciplinary action against McKesson Corporation distribution center located in Holt, MI, resulting in a fine of $1,000. The Michigan Board of Pharmacy found violations of Mich Admin Code R 338.3141(1) and MCL 333.17768(2)(e), which require effective controls against theft and diversion of controlled substances.

To Whom It May Concern,

My name is Kim-Eva Hutchins. Around the year 1993, I was arrested in the state of Georgia for driving with a suspended license. At the time, I was enroute to a job interview when I was pulled over and informed that my Georgia driver's license had been suspended due to an issue reported by the state of Virginia.

The suspension was the result of a misunderstanding: Virginia believed I had not paid a traffic ticket. However, I had in fact paid the ticket and had proof of payment. Unfortunately, Virginia had not received the payment at the time, which led to the suspension being reported in error.

Once the issue was clarified, the charges were dropped. I resubmitted the payment to ensure the matter was fully resolved.

Sincerely,

Kim-Eva Hutchins

 Introduction *****

This rap sheet was produced in response to the following request:

State Id Number	GA1405261E (GA)
ARN	2025SPD98
Purpose Code	E
Attention	ATTNSPDHUTCHINS

THIS RESPONSE IS BEING PRODUCED FOR YOUR REQUEST SENT: 2025-07-16

Important! Criminal history record information is obtained one of two ways: 1) by conducting an inquiry using personal identifiers such as name and date of birth (name search), or 2) by submitting fingerprint cards to the Georgia Crime Information Center (GCIC). When conducting a name search for criminal history record information, there is a possibility that the information returned belongs to a different person with the same, or similar, identifiers. In this case, a positive match of the person whose criminal history record is sought requires submission of fingerprint cards to GCIC. When conducting a fingerprint search for criminal history record information, the information returned does, in fact, belong to the individual. In this case, conducting a name search using the individual's personal identifiers would be the same information. (GA; 2007-08-11)

When the information contained in a criminal history report causes an adverse employment or licensing decision the individual, business or agency making the decision must inform the applicant of all information pertinent to the decision. The disclosure must include information that a criminal history record check was conducted, the specific contents of the record and the effect the record had upon the decision. Failure to provide all such information to the person subject to the adverse decision is a misdemeanor offense under Georgia law. Additionally, any unauthorized dissemination of this record or information herein also violates Georgia law. The plea of nolo contendere may be considered a conviction for some purposes: however, except as otherwise provided by law, it shall not be used against the defendant in any other court as a conviction or admission of guilt or for the purpose of effecting any civil disqualification of the defendant to hold public office, to vote, to serve upon any jury, or any other civil disqualification imposed upon a person convicted of any offense under the laws of this state.

In the event that identifiers are not clearly associated to a specific cycle, the information is most likely non-fingerprint based information received from the Department of Corrections at the time of release from incarceration. (GA; 2007-08-11)

This is in response to Question # _____. Provide all the following where applicable:

Date of Event/Arrest 04/05/1988	Disposition Date 04/21/1988	State GA	City Warner Robins	County Houston County
Case # 88040378		Governing, licensing, Arresting Presiding Body/Agency/Court Warner Robins Police Department
Reason/Charge Driving while license suspended or revoked
Plaintiff/Defendant/Claimant/Respondent			Lawsuit/Arbitration/Bankruptcy N/A
Name of Business/Industry/Entity N/A

Provide explanation below:

Around the year 1993, I was arrested in the state of Georgia for driving with a suspended license. At the time, I was en-route to a job interview when I was pulled over and informed that my Georgia driver's license had been suspended due to an issue reported by the state of Virginia.

The suspension was the result of a misunderstanding: Virginia believed I had not paid a traffic ticket. However, I had in fact paid the ticket and had proof of payment. Unfortunately, Virginia had not received the payment at the time, which led to the suspension being reported in error.

Once the issue was clarified, the charges were dropped. I resubmitted the payment to ensure the matter was fully resolved.

General

McKesson Corporation together with its subsidiaries (collectively, the “Company,” “McKesson,” “we,” “our,” or “us” and other similar pronouns), which traces its business roots to 1833, is a diversified healthcare services leader dedicated to advancing health outcomes for patients everywhere. Our teams partner with biopharma companies, care providers, pharmacies, manufacturers, governments, and others to deliver insights, products, and services to help make quality care more accessible and affordable.

The Company’s fiscal year begins on April 1 and ends on March 31. Unless otherwise noted, all references in this document to a particular year refers to the Company’s fiscal year. The Company was incorporated on July 7, 1994 in the State of Delaware.

Our Annual Report on Form 10-K, Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q, Current Reports on Form 8-K, and amendments to those reports filed or furnished pursuant to Section 13(a) or 15(d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the “Exchange Act”), are available free of charge on the Company’s website (www.mckesson.com under the “Investors — Financials — SEC Filings” caption) as soon as reasonably practicable after such material is electronically filed with, or furnished to, the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”). The content on any website referred to in this Annual Report on Form 10-K (“Annual Report”) is not incorporated by reference into this report, unless expressly noted otherwise. The SEC maintains a website that contains reports, proxy and information statements, and other information regarding issuers, including the Company, that file electronically with the SEC. The address of the website is www.sec.gov.

McKESSON CORPORATION

The Company operates its business in four reportable segments: U.S. Pharmaceutical, Prescription Technology Solutions ("RxTS"), Medical-Surgical Solutions, and International.

Our U.S. Pharmaceutical segment distributes branded, generic, specialty, biosimilar and over-the-counter ("OTC") pharmaceutical drugs, and other healthcare-related products in the United States ("U.S."). This segment also provides practice management, technology, clinical support, and business solutions to community-based oncology and other specialty practices. In addition, the segment sells financial, operational, and clinical solutions to pharmacies (retail, hospital, alternate sites) and provides consulting, outsourcing, technological, and other services.

Our RxTS segment helps solve medication access, affordability and adherence challenges for patients by working across healthcare to connect patients, pharmacies, providers, pharmacy benefit managers, health plans, and biopharma companies. RxTS serves our biopharma and life sciences partners, delivering innovative solutions that help people get the medicine they need to live healthier lives. RxTS offers technology services, which includes electronic prior authorization, prescription price transparency, benefit insight, and dispensing support services, in addition to third-party logistics and wholesale distribution support designed to benefit stakeholders.

Our Medical-Surgical Solutions segment provides medical-surgical supply distribution, logistics, and other services to healthcare providers, including physician offices, surgery centers, nursing homes, hospital reference labs, and home health care agencies. We offer more than 245,000 national brand medical-surgical products as well as McKesson's own line of high-quality products through a network of distribution centers in the U.S.

Our International segment provides distribution and services to wholesale, institutional, and retail customers in Canada and Norway where we own, partner, or franchise with retail pharmacies, and support better, safer patient care by delivering vital medicines, supplies, and information technology solutions. During fiscal 2025, we completed the sale of Rexall and Well.ca businesses in Canada. Refer to Financial Note 2, "Business Acquisitions and Divestitures," to the consolidated financial statements included in this Annual Report for more information.

U.S. Pharmaceutical Segment:

Our U.S. Pharmaceutical segment provides distribution and logistics services for branded, generic, specialty, biosimilar, and OTC pharmaceutical drugs along with other healthcare-related products to customers. This business provides solutions and services to pharmacies, hospitals, oncology and other specialty practices, pharmaceutical manufacturers, biopharma partners, physicians, payors, and patients throughout the U.S. We also source generic pharmaceutical drugs through our ClarusONE Sourcing Services LLP joint venture with Walmart Inc. ("ClarusONE").

Our U.S. Pharmaceutical segment operates and serves customers through a network of 27 distribution centers in the U.S., including two strategic redistribution centers. We invest in technology and other systems at all of our distribution centers to enhance safety, reliability, and product availability. For example, we offer McKesson ConnectSM, an internet-based ordering system that provides item look-up and real-time inventory availability as well as ordering, purchasing, third-party reconciliation, and account management functionality. We make extensive use of technology as an enabler to ensure customers have the right products at the right time in the right place.

To maximize distribution efficiency and effectiveness, we follow the Six Sigma methodology, which is an analytical approach that emphasizes setting high-quality objectives, collecting data, and analyzing results to a fine degree in order to improve processes, reduce costs, and enhance service accuracy and safety. We provide solutions to our customers including supply management technology, world-class marketing programs, managed care, repackaging products, and services to help them meet their business and quality goals. We continue to implement information systems to help achieve greater consistency and accuracy both internally and for our customers, as well as make investments to increase capacity and automation.

We have four primary customer pharmaceutical distribution channels: (i) retail national accounts, which include national and regional retail chains, food and drug combinations, mail order pharmacies, and mass merchandisers, (ii) community pharmacies and health (formerly described as independent, small, and medium chain retail pharmacies), (iii) institutional healthcare providers such as hospitals, health systems, integrated delivery networks, and long-term care providers, and (iv) oncology, biopharma, and other specialty partners.

McKESSON CORPORATION

Retail National Accounts: We provide business solutions that help our retail national account customers increase revenues and profitability. Solutions include:

- Central FillSM – Prescription refill service that enables pharmacies to more quickly refill prescriptions remotely, more accurately, and at a lower cost, while reducing inventory levels and improving customer service.
- Strategic Redistribution Centers – Two facilities totaling over 740,000 square feet that offer access to inventory for single source warehouse purchasing, including pharmaceuticals and biologics. These distribution centers also provide the foundation for a two-tiered distribution network that supports best-in-class direct store delivery.
- McKesson SynerGx[®] – Generic pharmaceutical purchasing program and inventory management that helps pharmacies maximize their cost savings with a broad selection of generic drugs, competitive pricing, and one-stop shopping.
- Inventory Management – An integrated solution comprised of forecasting software and automated replenishment technologies that reduce inventory-carrying costs.
- ExpressRx TrackTM – Pharmacy automation solution featuring state-of-the-art robotics, upgraded imaging, and expanded vial capabilities, and industry-leading speed and accuracy in a small footprint.

Community Pharmacy and Health: We strengthen the overall health of community pharmacies and elevate the role they play in people's lives. We accomplish this by providing supply chain excellence, pharmacy and patient solutions, as well as supporting independent pharmacies through industry and legislative advocacy. Our pharmacy and patient solutions include:

- Health Mart[®] – A national network of approximately 4,400 independently-owned pharmacies and one of the industry's most comprehensive pharmacy franchise programs. Health Mart provides solutions for franchisees to promote excellence in business operations, team development, patient health, marketing and merchandising, and protects financial health through proactive audit support.
- Health Mart Atlas[®] and Atlas Specialty – Comprehensive managed care services that connect the continuum of care to help community pharmacies, health systems and physician practices save time, access competitive reimbursement rates, and improve cash flow.
- McKesson Reimbursement AdvantageSM ("MRA") – MRA is one of the industry's most comprehensive reimbursement optimization packages, comprising financial services (automated claim resubmission), analytic services, and customer care.
- McKesson Provider Pay[®] – Provider Pay is an automated reconciliation and payment management solution designed to maximize third-party cash flow and pursue unpaid claims.
- McKesson Amplify – Provides resources for state pharmacy associations in all 50 states, including dedicated support funding, resources, and opportunities to participate in best practice sharing consortia. The funding helps to support advocacy initiatives that address the unique challenges faced by independent pharmacies and promote their sustainability and growth.
- McKesson OneStop Generics[®] – Generic pharmaceutical purchasing program that helps pharmacies maximize their cost savings with a broad selection of generic drugs, competitive pricing, and one-stop shopping.
- Pinpoint Community Solutions – McKesson's perpetual inventory management system targeted to independent pharmacy owners with five or fewer stores. The solution provides customers the opportunity to improve cash flow and increase efficiency with inventory visibility to help maximize operational performance.
- FrontEdgeTM – Strategic planning, merchandising, and price maintenance program that helps community pharmacies maximize store profitability.
- McKesson RxOwnership Program – A confidential, no-fee resource for pharmacists and pharmacy owners interested in buying, starting, or selling an independent pharmacy, regardless of their pharmacy affiliation.

McKESSON CORPORATION

Institutional Healthcare Providers: At McKesson, we are relentless in our pursuit of opportunities to achieve operational efficiency, reduce waste, and improve the financial performance of our customers so they can achieve more of their goals today and into the future. Solutions include:

- Professional and Advisory Services – Comprehensive suite of advisory and consulting services designed to support health system business of pharmacy initiatives, including patient care, business operations, ambulatory services, inpatient operations, data and digitization, pharmacy workforce management, leadership, and compliance with safety, quality, and regulatory standards. Specialized consulting areas include 340B optimization, orphan drug support and retail pharmacy payer solutions.
- McKesson Plasma and Biologics – Specialty and plasma drug distributor that leads in market exclusive drug access; partner to health systems customers in navigating the complexities of limited distribution drug; and optimization of McKesson Distribution benefits.
- Outpatient, Retail, and Specialty Pharmacy – A portfolio of services and solutions customized to each customer's business and clinical strategy.
- Contracting and Contract/Purchasing Optimization – Solutions across generics, specialty, branded products, biosimilars, and 340B products, for inpatient and outpatient settings.
- Supply Assurance – Solutions and strategies to enhance product availability and proactively manage inventory of critical items.

The U.S. Pharmaceutical segment also offers solutions which enable its customers to drive greater efficiencies in their day-to-day operations, effectively managing their inventories and complying with complex government regulations. Solutions include McKesson Pharmacy Systems, MacroHelix, and Supply Logix, all of which provide innovative software technology and services that support retail pharmacies and hospitals.

Oncology, Biopharma, and Other Specialty Partners:

The U.S. Pharmaceutical segment provides a range of solutions to oncology and other specialty practices and offers community specialists (oncologists, rheumatologists, ophthalmologists, urologists, neurologists, and other specialists) an extensive set of customizable solutions and services designed to strengthen core practice operations, enhance value-based care delivery, and expand their service offering to patients. Community-based physicians in this business have broad flexibility and discretion to select the products and commitment levels that best meet their practice needs. Services in provider solutions include specialty drug distribution, group purchasing organizations ("GPO") like Onmark®, technology solutions, practice consulting services, and vaccine distribution, including our exclusive distributor relationship with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's ("CDC") Vaccines for Children program.

This business provides a variety of solutions, including practice operations, healthcare information technology, revenue cycle management and managed care contracting solutions, evidence-based guidelines, and quality measurements to support The U.S. Oncology Network ("USON"), one of the nation's largest networks of physician-led, integrated, community-based oncology practices dedicated to advancing high-quality, evidence-based cancer care. SCRI Oncology, LLC, an oncology research business in which we own a 51% controlling interest, is one of the nation's largest research networks and specializes in enhancing clinical trial access and availability across the country.

This segment includes Ontada®, McKesson's oncology technology and insights business providing software to support the clinical, financial, and operational needs of our oncology practice customers. Ontada also partners with oncology providers and biopharma partners to perform real-world evidence studies, retrospective research, and to provide clinical data insights, advisory solutions and education opportunities.

When we discuss specialty products or services, we consider the following factors: diseases requiring complex treatment regimens such as cancer and rheumatoid arthritis; plasma and biologics products; ongoing clinical monitoring requirements, high-cost, special handling, storage, and delivery requirements and, in some cases, exclusive distribution arrangements. Our use of the term "specialty" may not be comparable to that used by other industry participants, including our competitors.

McKESON CORPORATION

Prescription Technology Solutions Segment:

Our Prescription Technology Solutions segment works across healthcare to connect patients, pharmacies, providers, pharmacy benefit managers, health plans, and biopharma to deliver medication access solutions that support patients from first prescription fill to ongoing therapy, regardless of their insurance coverage. RxTS has connections with most electronic health record systems, over 50,000 pharmacies, approximately 950,000 providers, most pharmacy benefit managers and health plans, and has supported over 650 biopharma brands representing most therapeutic areas. Through its industry connections and ability to navigate the healthcare ecosystem, RxTS offers innovative solutions created to benefit healthcare stakeholders. Its comprehensive solution suites and technology services span across the entire patient journey, including medication access and affordability, prescription decision support, prescription price transparency, benefit insight and dispensing support services, as well as third-party logistics and wholesale distribution support, to help increase speed to therapy, reduce prescription abandonment, and support improved health outcomes for the patient. In the past year, RxTS helped patients save more than $10 billion on brand and specialty medications, helped to prevent an estimated 12 million prescriptions from being abandoned due to affordability challenges, and helped patients access their medicine more than 100 million times.

Medical-Surgical Solutions Segment:

Our Medical-Surgical Solutions segment delivers medical-supply distribution, logistics, biomedical maintenance, and other services to healthcare providers across the alternate-site spectrum. Our more than 340,000 customers include physician offices, surgery centers, post-acute care facilities, hospital reference labs, and home health agencies. We partner with manufacturers and channel partners to support our key target end-markets, including primary care, extended care, government, and other markets. We distribute medical-surgical supplies (such as gloves, needles, syringes, and wound care products), infusion pumps, laboratory equipment, and pharmaceuticals. Through a network of distribution centers in the U.S., we offer more than 245,000 products from national brand manufacturers and McKesson's own brand of high-quality products. Through the right mix of products and services, we help improve efficiencies, profitability, and compliance. We also never lose focus on helping customers improve patient and business outcomes. We develop customized plans to address the product, operational, and clinical support needs of our customers, including inventory management, reducing administrative burdens, and training and educating clinical staff. We deliver for our customers, so they can deliver and care for their patients. In May 2025, the Company announced its intention to separate this segment into an independent company.

International Segment:

Our International segment includes operations in Canada and Norway. McKesson Canada is one of the largest pharmaceutical wholesale and retail distributors in Canada. The wholesale business delivers products to retail pharmacies, hospitals, long-term care centers, clinics and institutions in Canada through a national network of distribution centers and provides logistics and distribution services for manufacturers.

Beyond wholesale pharmaceutical logistics and distribution, McKesson Canada provides automation and technology solutions to its retail and hospital customers. Additionally, McKesson Canada provides comprehensive specialty health services to Canadians and provides biopharma services to manufacturers, including a national network of specialty pharmacies, personalized patient care and support programs, and INVIVA, Canada's first and largest accredited network of private infusion clinics. McKesson Canada also owns and operates PDCL, Canada's leading market access consultancy, supporting manufacturers as they introduce new products into the Canadian market.

The Canada retail business includes approximately 2,700 banner pharmacies under the IDA[®], Guardian[®], The Medicine Shoppe[®], Remedy'sRx[®], Proxim[®], and Uniprix[®] banners. During fiscal 2025, we completed the previously announced transaction to sell our Rexall and Well.ca businesses. This divestiture is further described in Financial Note 2, "Business Acquisitions and Divestitures," to the consolidated financial statements included in this Annual Report.

In July 2021, we announced our intention to exit our businesses in Europe. We divested the majority of our European businesses during fiscal 2022 and fiscal 2023. Our remaining operations in Europe provide distribution and services to wholesale and retail customers in Norway where we own, partner, or franchise with retail pharmacies. We continue to evaluate suitable exit alternatives for our retail and distribution businesses in Norway. Refer to Financial Note 2, "Business Acquisitions and Divestitures," to the consolidated financial statements included in this Annual Report for additional information on our European divestitures.

McKESSON CORPORATION

Investments, Restructuring, Business Combinations, and Divestitures

We invest in new and existing distribution centers to increase scale and capacity, improve efficiency through automation and technology, and enhance regulatory compliance capabilities. Additionally, we invest in data and analytics to support our growth priorities, including artificial intelligence ("AI"). We are in the early stages of exploring potential AI capabilities and related data and analytics across our enterprise to improve productivity and efficiency, as well as enhance our products and services to better support patients, employees, and customers.

We have undertaken additional strategic initiatives in recent years designed to increase operational efficiencies, focus on our core healthcare businesses, execute our business strategy, and enhance our competitive position. These initiatives are detailed in Financial Note 2, "Business Acquisitions and Divestitures," and Financial Note 3, "Restructuring, Impairment, and Related Charges, Net," to the consolidated financial statements included in this Annual Report.

Competition

We operate in highly competitive environments in North America and Norway. In recent years, the healthcare industry has been subject to increasing consolidation. In the pharmaceutical distribution environment in which our U.S. Pharmaceutical and International segments operate, we face strong competition from international, national, regional, and local full-line, short-line, and specialty distributors, service merchandisers, self-warehousing chain drug stores, manufacturers engaged in direct distribution, third-party logistics companies, and large payer organizations. We consider our largest competitors in distribution, wholesaling, and logistics to be Cencora, Inc. and Cardinal Health, Inc.

Our RxTS business experiences substantial competition from many companies, including other biopharma services companies, software services firms, consulting firms, shared service vendors, and internet-based companies with technology applicable to the healthcare industry. Competition in this business varies in size from large to small companies, in geographical coverage, and in scope and breadth of products and services offered.

Our Medical-Surgical Solutions segment experiences competition from a wide range of national and regional medical supply and equipment distributors throughout the U.S.

In addition, we compete with other service providers and healthcare manufacturers, as well as other potential customers of our businesses, which may from time to time decide to develop, for their own internal needs, supply management capabilities that might otherwise be provided by our businesses. We believe that our scale and diversity of product and service offerings are our primary competitive advantages. In all areas, key competitive factors include price, quality of service, breadth of product lines, innovation, adoption of new and evolving technologies, and, in some cases, convenience to the customer.

Patents, Trademarks, Copyrights, and Licenses

McKesson and its subsidiaries hold patents, copyrights, trademarks, and trade secrets related to McKesson products and services. We pursue patent protection for our innovations and obtain copyright protection for our original works of authorship when such protection is advantageous. Through these efforts, we have developed a portfolio of patents and copyrights in the U.S. and worldwide. In addition, we have registered or applied to register certain trademarks and service marks in the U.S. and in foreign countries.

We believe that, in the aggregate, McKesson's confidential information, patents, copyrights, trademarks, and intellectual property licenses are important to its operations and market position, but we do not consider any of our businesses to be dependent upon any one patent, copyright, trademark, or trade secret, or any family or families of the same. We cannot guarantee that our intellectual property portfolio will be sufficient to deter misappropriation, theft, or misuse of our technology, nor that we can successfully enjoin infringers. We periodically receive notices alleging that our products or services infringe on third-party patents and other intellectual property rights. These claims may result in McKesson entering settlement agreements, paying damages, discontinuing use or sale of accused products, or ceasing other activities. While the outcome of any litigation or dispute is inherently uncertain, we do not believe that the resolution of any of these infringement notices would have a material adverse impact on our results of operations.

McKESSON CORPORATION

We hold inbound licenses for certain intellectual property that is used internally, and in some cases, utilized in McKesson's products or services. While in the future it may be necessary to seek or renew licenses relating to various aspects of our products and services, we believe, based upon past experience and industry practice, such licenses generally can be obtained on commercially reasonable terms. We believe our operations as well as our products and services are not materially dependent on any single license or other agreement with any third party.

Human Capital

Everything we do at McKesson begins with our employees, who bring our mission and purpose to life every day. As of March 31, 2025, we had approximately 45,000 employees worldwide, which includes 2,000 part-time employees. We had approximately 36,000 employees in the U.S., 5,000 employees in Canada, and 4,000 employees in the rest of the world. We also supplement our work-force with contractors and/or consultants for certain business projects, processes, and/or operations as demand requires.

Culture and Leadership: One of McKesson's defining characteristics is our strong culture. We take pride in fostering a sense of belonging, finding meaning in our work, and caring for each other, our customers, and all those who depend on us. Our I²CARE values (Integrity, Inclusion, Customer-First, Accountability, Respect, Excellence) and ILEAD leadership behaviors (Inspire, Leverage, Execute, Advance, Develop) are at the core of our daily actions – from how we interact with each other and our customers, to how we make decisions, both big and small. We also offer all employees the opportunity to join employee resource groups ("ERGs"), which are voluntary, employee-led, company-sponsored networks that aim to make a positive impact on our employees' lives. Each ERG is non-exclusive and open to every employee. Our ERGs focus on helping employees make authentic connections, celebrate and learn from each other, showcase leadership skills and find ways to nurture and support belonging and empowerment.

Investment in Employees: We are committed to investing in our employees, so that they, in turn, can focus on furthering our purpose of Advancing Health Outcomes for All[®]. We offer employees health and wellness benefits focused on physical, mental, and social well-being, savings programs to help prepare them for retirement and flexible work arrangements, and other offerings. We also offer employees regular training, coaching, and 360-degree assessments, and financial assistance programs for higher education opportunities.

We seek to attract and retain the best talent through competitive compensation and pay for performance, while prioritizing recognition of merit and compliance with laws. Our compensation philosophy is rooted in a fair and transparent program that regularly conducts benchmarking to assess market rates for talent, based on geography and other factors.

We solicit employee feedback through annual and mid-year employee opinion surveys, which assesses our employees' levels of engagement, commitment and overall satisfaction using industry benchmarks, and then design action plans to improve those metrics. We also seek feedback on our people leaders through our annual manager quality survey, which is an opportunity for employees to help their managers grow professionally and build valuable leadership skills that help to promote a positive and productive workplace.

Health and Safety: Our security and safety teams employ systems designed to continually monitor our facilities and work environment to help identify and prevent or mitigate risks. This includes having procedures and investing in equipment for both physical and electronic security. Our employees receive specialized training related to their role, work setting, and equipment used in their work environment.

Government Regulation

We operate in many highly regulated environments and are subject to oversight by various federal, state, and local governmental entities in the U.S. and elsewhere. We incur significant expense and make large capital expenditures and investments to enable us to comply with laws and guidance promulgated by governmental entities.

The regulatory framework affecting our business and industry is continuously evolving and influenced by conditions such as public policy developments; shifts in governmental priorities, initiatives, and focus areas, including due to changes in federal, state, and local representation; and varied interpretations of laws and agency rulemaking conventions. These conditions create uncertainties for our business, and we are unable to predict the impact of future changes to the regulatory framework, or any prolonged uncertainty, on our operations and compliance costs.

McKESSON CORPORATION

See “Risk Factors” in Item 1A of Part I below for information regarding material risks associated with our compliance with governmental regulations.

Operational Licenses and Permits; Controlled Substances: We are subject to the operating and security standards of the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration (“DEA”), the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (“FDA”), the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (“HHS”), the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (“CMS”), various state boards of pharmacy, state health departments, and comparable agencies in the U.S. and other countries. Certain of our businesses may be required to register for permits and/or licenses with governmental agencies, depending upon the type of operations and location of product development, manufacture, distribution, and sale. For example, we are required to hold valid DEA and state-level registrations and licenses, meet various security and operating standards, and comply with the Controlled Substances Act and its accompanying regulations governing the sale, marketing, packaging, holding, distribution, and disposal of controlled substances. We maintain extensive controlled substance monitoring and reporting programs at considerable expense in order to help us meet those standards.

Government Contracts: Our contracts with governmental entities typically are subject to procurement laws that include socio-economic, employment practices, environmental protection, recordkeeping and accounting, and other requirements. These statutory and regulatory requirements complicate our business and increase our compliance burden. We are subject to audits, investigations, and oversight proceedings about our compliance with contractual and legal requirements.

Healthcare Program Regulation: Federal, state, and local governmental entities in the U.S. and elsewhere continue to strengthen their position on, and scrutiny of, practices that may indicate fraud, waste, and abuse affecting government healthcare programs such as Medicare and Medicaid. Our relationships with pharmaceutical and medical-surgical product manufacturers, healthcare providers, and other companies and individuals, as well as our provision of products and services to governmental entities, subject our business to statutes, regulations, and government guidance that are intended to prevent fraud and abuse. Among other things, those laws: (1) prohibit persons from soliciting, offering, receiving, or paying any remuneration in order to induce the referral of an individual for, or to induce the ordering or purchasing of, items or services that are in any way paid for by Medicare, Medicaid, or other government healthcare programs; (2) prohibit physicians from referring certain “designated health services” to an entity with which they have a financial relationship, unless an exception applies; and (3) prohibit knowingly submitting, or causing to be submitted, a false or fraudulent claim for payment to the government; and (4) require certain entities to report and return an overpayment by Medicare or Medicaid within 60 days of identifying the overpayment.

Many of these healthcare fraud and abuse laws are vague or indefinite and are often subject to varied and evolving interpretations by courts, regulators, and enforcing agencies and, as such, may be interpreted or applied by a prosecutorial, regulatory, or judicial authority in a manner that could require us to make changes in our operations at added expense.

In the U.S., the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (“ACA”) significantly expanded health insurance coverage to uninsured Americans and changed the way healthcare is financed by both governmental and private payors. The implementation of the Inflation Reduction Act of 2022 (“IRA”) has begun to change benefit design and how Medicare pays for drugs, which are all intended to reduce the price of drugs. Three central features of the IRA have authorized the government to negotiate drug prices for certain Parts B and D drugs over time, establish an inflation rebate program, and cap patient cost sharing under Medicare Part D.

Provincial governments in Canada that provide partial funding for the purchase of pharmaceuticals and independently regulate the sale and reimbursement of drugs have sought to reduce the costs of publicly funded health programs. For example, provincial governments have taken steps to reduce consumer prices for generic pharmaceuticals and, in some provinces, change professional allowances paid to pharmacists by generic drug manufacturers.

McKesson continues to advocate for policies that would improve drug cost transparency under a patient's drug plan to better inform prescribing decisions, and also address access to care, affordability, and treatment regimen adherence, all designed to improve clinical outcomes and reduce the health spending burden.

FDA Regulation and Supply Chain Integrity: In the U.S., the FDA is the principal federal authority that regulates the safety, efficacy, quality, testing, premarket approval, manufacture, labeling, storage, distribution, and post-market surveillance of healthcare products, such as drugs and medical devices, foods, and cosmetics.

McKESSON CORPORATION

Federal and state laws regulate the pharmaceutical drug supply chain in order to prevent the distribution of counterfeit, stolen, contaminated, or otherwise harmful prescription drugs in interstate commerce. At the federal level, the Drug Supply Chain Security Act ("DSCSA"), among other things, requires standardized, unit-level traceability of pharmaceutical products along the entire drug supply chain and requires all trading partners to cooperate in an electronic, interoperable prescription drug traceability system. In October 2024, the FDA extended the compliance deadlines for the DSCSA interoperable unit-level traceability requirements to May 27, 2025, for manufacturers, August 27, 2025 for distributors, and November 27, 2025 for dispensers. The FDA stated that these extensions apply to trading partners who meet certain conditions. The Company believes its businesses are eligible for the extensions. The DSCSA also sets forth national standards for the licensure of wholesale drug distributors and third-party logistic providers and other requirements applicable to these entities and the FDA has issued a proposed rule with respect to these requirements. These federal and state regulatory requirements have increased, and may further increase, our compliance burden and distribution costs.

Additionally, federal and state governments may adopt other laws intended to protect the integrity of the supply chain, and those laws could affect our distribution business. For example, the Federal Trade Commission ("FTC") and HHS issued a request for public comment in 2024 on how the practices of pharmaceutical wholesalers and group purchasing organizations impact generic drug shortages. Various industry stakeholders responded to this request, but no further action has been taken by the FTC or HHS.

Cybersecurity, Data Security, Privacy, and AI: We are subject to many cybersecurity, privacy, and data protection laws that change frequently and have requirements that vary from jurisdiction to jurisdiction. Our efforts to comply with these laws complicate our operations and add to our costs. We are subject to significant compliance obligations under privacy laws such as the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996, the General Data Protection Regulation in the European Union, the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act in Canada, and an expanding list of comprehensive state privacy laws in the U.S. Some privacy laws may prohibit the transfer of personal information to certain other jurisdictions or otherwise limit our use and disclosure of data. Many of these laws also require us to provide access or other data rights (modification, deletion, portability, etc.) to consumers' and patients' individual personal data records within specified periods of time. Cybersecurity laws such as the federal Cyber Incident Reporting for Critical Infrastructure Act of 2022, proposed changes to the Federal Acquisition Regulation, and SEC reporting requirements may require us to provide notifications of certain cybersecurity incidents within short timeframes. Regulations and guidance targeting critical infrastructure entities, including McKesson, continue to be a focus of regulators. We are subject to privacy and data protection compliance audits or investigations by various governmental agencies. There is also an emerging trend of governmental entities proposing and providing regulatory guidance related to AI, including generative AI. If we or our third-party providers are restricted from using AI as a result of any regulatory views, laws or other measures, it could impact our operations, increase our compliance expense and burden, and cause us to incur costs to replace or modify our use of AI.

Environmental Regulation: We are subject to various federal, state, local, and foreign laws concerning the environment, including laws addressing the discharge of pollutants into the air and water, the management and disposal of hazardous substances and wastes, and the cleanup of contaminated sites, as well as laws governing the operation of radiation-emitting equipment at U.S. Oncology Network practices.

We sold our chemical distribution operations in 1987 and retained responsibility for certain environmental obligations. Agreements with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and certain states have required and may require environmental assessments and cleanups at several closed sites. These matters are described further in Financial Note 17, "Commitments and Contingent Liabilities," to the consolidated financial statements included in this Annual Report.

Climate Change Regulation: Governments in the U.S. and abroad have adopted or are considering new or expanded policies and laws to address climate change. Such policies and laws may necessitate reductions in greenhouse gas ("GHG") emissions; mandate that companies implement processes and controls to monitor and disclose climate-related matters; and impose additional taxes or offset charges on specified energy sources, among other requirements. Compliance with climate-related policies and laws may be further complicated by disparate regulatory approaches in various jurisdictions. Methodologies for reporting climate-related information may change and previously reported information may be retroactively adjusted, if required. New or expanded climate-related policies and laws could impose costs on us, including capital expenditures to develop data gathering and reporting systems, third-party attestations, and additional GHG reduction measures. Until the timing and extent of climate-related policies and laws are clarified, including due to legal challenges, we cannot predict their potential effect on our capital expenditures, results of operations, or competitive position.

McKESSON CORPORATION

Antitrust Laws: Antitrust and competition laws in the U.S. and elsewhere prohibit types of conduct deemed to be anti-competitive. Antitrust enforcement in the healthcare industry remains a focus of the FTC and the U.S. Department of Justice. Some of our strategic transactions may require review by competition regulators, with inherent delays. Violations of the antitrust laws can result in sanctions and other adverse actions, including criminal and civil penalties. Private plaintiffs also may bring civil lawsuits for alleged antitrust law violations, including claims for treble damages. These laws contribute to our compliance efforts and expense, and their enforcement might materially adversely affect our operations and growth strategy.

Other Information about the Business

Customers: During fiscal 2025, sales to our ten largest customers, including group purchasing organizations (“GPOs”) accounted for approximately 72% of our total consolidated revenues. Sales to our largest customer, CVS Health Corporation (“CVS”), accounted for approximately 24% of our total consolidated revenues in fiscal 2025. In fiscal 2023, we extended our pharmaceutical distribution partnership with CVS to June 2027. Our ten largest customers comprised approximately 48%, and CVS was approximately 23% of our total trade accounts receivable at March 31, 2025. We also have agreements with GPOs, each of which functions as a purchasing agent on behalf of member hospitals, pharmacies, and other healthcare providers, as well as with government entities and agencies. The accounts receivable balances are with individual members of the GPOs, and therefore no significant concentration of credit risk exists. Substantially all of these revenues and accounts receivable are included in our U.S. Pharmaceutical segment.

Suppliers: We obtain pharmaceutical and other products from manufacturers and our largest supplier accounted for 11% of our total purchases in fiscal 2025. The loss of a supplier could adversely affect our business if alternate sources of supply are unavailable. We believe that our relationships with our suppliers are generally sound. The ten largest suppliers in fiscal 2025 accounted for approximately 69% of our total purchases.

Some of our distribution arrangements with manufacturers provide us consideration based on a percentage of our purchases. In addition, we have certain distribution arrangements with pharmaceutical manufacturers that include an inflation-based consideration component whereby we benefit when the manufacturers increase their prices as we sell our existing inventory at the new higher prices. For these manufacturers, a reduction in the frequency and magnitude of price increases, as well as restrictions in the amount of inventory available to us, could have an adverse impact on our gross profit margin.

Research and Development: Research and development expenses were $91 million, $77 million, and $89 million for the years ended March 31, 2025, 2024, and 2023, respectively.

Financial Information About Foreign and Domestic Operations: Certain financial information relating to foreign and domestic operations is discussed in Financial Note 20, “Segments of Business,” to the consolidated financial statements included in this Annual Report as well as in “Foreign Operations” in Item 7 of Part II of this Annual Report. See “Risk Factors” in Item 1A of Part I below for information regarding risks associated with our foreign operations.

Forward-Looking Statements

This Annual Report, including “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations” in Item 7 of Part II of this report and the “Risk Factors” in Item 1A of Part I of this report, contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933 (“Securities Act”) and Section 21E of the Exchange Act. Forward-looking statements may be identified by their use of terminology such as “believes,” “expects,” “anticipates,” “may,” “will,” “should,” “seeks,” “approximately,” “intends,” “projects,” “plans,” “estimates,” “targets,” or the negative of these words or other comparable terminology. The discussion of trends, strategy, plans, prospects, assumptions, expectations, or intentions may also include forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements involve risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those projected, anticipated, or implied. Although it is not possible to predict or identify all such risks and uncertainties, they include, but are not limited to, the factors discussed in Item 1A of Part I of this report under “Risk Factors” and in our publicly available SEC filings and press releases. Readers are cautioned not to place undue reliance on forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date such statements were first made. Except to the extent required by federal securities laws, we undertake no obligation to publicly release the result of any revisions to any forward-looking statements to reflect events or circumstances after the date the statements are made, or to reflect the occurrence of unanticipated events.

Our business could be materially affected by risks that we have not yet identified or that we currently consider to be immaterial. This is not a complete discussion of all potential risks and uncertainties.

Litigation and Regulatory Risks

We experience costly and disruptive legal disputes.

We are routinely named as a defendant in litigation or regulatory proceedings and other legal disputes, which may include asserted class action litigation, such as those described in Financial Note 17, "Commitments and Contingent Liabilities," to the consolidated financial statements included in this Annual Report. Regulatory proceedings involve allegations such as false claims, healthcare fraud and abuse, and antitrust violations. Civil litigation proceedings involve commercial, employment, environmental, intellectual property, tort, and other claims. Despite valid defenses that we assert, legal disputes are often costly, time-consuming, distracting to management, and disruptive to normal business operations. The uncertainty and expense associated with unresolved legal disputes might harm our business and reputation even if the matter ultimately is favorably resolved. The outcome of legal disputes is difficult to predict, and outcomes may occur that we believe are not justified by the evidence or existing law. Outcomes include monetary damages, penalties and fines, and injunctive or other relief that requires us to change our business operations and incur significant expense. Accordingly, legal disputes might have a materially adverse impact on our reputation, our business operations, and our financial position or results of operations.

McKESSON CORPORATION

We experience losses not covered by insurance or indemnification.

Our business exposes us to risks that are inherent in the distribution, manufacturing, dispensing, and administration of pharmaceuticals and medical-surgical supplies, the provision of ancillary services, the conduct of our payer businesses, practice support services, and the provision of products that assist clinical decision-making and relate to patient medical histories and treatment plans. For example, pharmacy operations are exposed to risks such as improper filling of prescriptions, mislabeling of prescriptions, inadequacy of warnings, unintentional distribution of counterfeit drugs, and expiration of drugs. Although we seek to maintain adequate insurance coverage, such as property insurance for inventory and professional and general liability insurance, coverages on acceptable terms might be unavailable, or coverages might not cover our losses. We generally seek to limit our contractual exposure, but limitations of liability or indemnity provisions in our contracts may not be enforceable or adequately protect us from liability. Uninsured or non-indemnified losses might have a materially adverse impact on our business operations and our financial position or results of operations.

We experience costly legal disputes, government actions, and adverse publicity regarding our role in distributing controlled substances such as opioids.

The Company is a defendant in many litigation matters alleging claims related to the distribution of controlled substances (opioids), as described in Financial Note 17, "Commitments and Contingent Liabilities," to the consolidated financial statements in this Annual Report. We are sometimes named as a defendant in similar, new cases. The plaintiffs in those cases include governmental entities (such as states, provinces, counties, and municipalities) as well as businesses, groups, and individuals. The cases allege violations of controlled substance laws and other laws, and they make common law claims such as negligence and public nuisance. Many of these cases raise novel theories of liability and can have unexpected outcomes that we believe are not justified by evidence or existing law. Legal proceedings such as these often involve significant expense, management time and distraction, and risk of loss that can be difficult to predict or quantify. It is not uncommon for claims to be resolved over many years. Outcomes include monetary damages, penalties and fines, and injunctive or other relief that requires us to change our business operations and incur significant expense. Although the Company has valid defenses and is vigorously defending itself, some proceedings have been, and others may be, resolved by negotiated outcome. For example, we are subject to consent decrees issued by state courts that govern our distribution of controlled substances. Not all proceedings, however, are resolved by settlement. Our reputation has been and may continue to be impacted by publicity regarding opioids litigation and related allegations. An adverse outcome of any such legal proceedings might have a materially adverse impact on our business operations and our financial position or results of operations.

We experience increased costs to distribute controlled substances such as opioids.

Legislative, regulatory, or industry measures related to the distribution of controlled substances such as prescription opioids could affect our business in ways that we may not be able to predict. For example, some states have passed legislation that could require us to pay taxes or assessments on the distribution of opioid medications in those states and other states have considered similar legislation. Liabilities for taxes or assessments or other costs of compliance under any such laws might have a materially adverse impact on our reputation, our business operations, and our financial position or results of operations.

We are subject to extensive, complex, and challenging healthcare, environmental, and other laws.

As described in "Government Regulation" in Item 1 of Part I above, our industry is highly regulated, and further regulation of our distribution businesses, technology products, and services could impose increased costs, negatively impact our profit margins and the profit margins of our customers, delay the introduction or implementation of our new products, or otherwise negatively impact our business and expose the Company to litigation and regulatory investigations. We incur cleanup costs under environmental laws and may incur additional costs under environmental laws. Additionally, we are subject to various routine and ad hoc inspections and requests for information by governmental agencies to determine compliance with various statutes and regulations. Any noncompliance by us with applicable laws, or the failure to maintain, renew, or obtain necessary permits and licenses, could lead to enforcement actions or litigation and might have a materially adverse impact on our business operations and our financial position or results of operations.

McKESSON CORPORATION

We are subject to extensive and frequently changing laws relating to healthcare fraud, waste, and abuse.

As described in "Government Regulation" in Item 1 of Part I above, federal, state, and local governmental entities in the U.S. and elsewhere continue to strengthen their position on, and scrutiny of, practices that may indicate fraud, waste, and abuse affecting government healthcare programs such as Medicare and Medicaid. Those laws may be interpreted or applied in a manner that could require us to make changes in our operations at added expense. Alleged failures to comply with those laws, including the federal Anti-Kickback Statute, expose us to federal or state government investigations or qui tam actions, and to liability for damages and civil and criminal penalties. Such failures might result in the loss of licenses or our ability to participate in Medicare, Medicaid, or other federal and state healthcare programs, or pursue government contracts. These sanctions might have a materially adverse impact on our business operations and our financial position or results of operations.

We might lose our ability to purchase, store, or distribute pharmaceuticals, including controlled substances, and medical products.

As described in "Government Regulation" in Item 1 of Part I above, we are subject to the operating, quality, regulatory, and security requirements of the DEA, the FDA, various state boards of pharmacy, state health departments, CMS, and other agencies. Noncompliance with these requirements can result in inspectional observations, warning letters, product recalls, withdrawals or other market action, fines, seizures, injunctions, and other administrative, civil, and criminal enforcement actions. Noncompliance, enforcement actions or adverse decisions by regulators, or the inability to obtain, maintain, or renew permits, licenses, or other regulatory approvals needed for the operation of our businesses might have a materially adverse impact on our reputation, our business operations and our financial position or results of operations.

Privacy, cybersecurity, data protection, and AI laws increase our compliance burden.

As described in "Government Regulation" in Item 1 of Part I above, we are subject to a variety of privacy, cybersecurity, data protection, and AI laws that change frequently and have requirements that vary from jurisdiction to jurisdiction. Failure to comply with these laws subjects us to potential regulatory enforcement activity, fines, private litigation including class actions, reputational impacts, and other costs. We also have contractual obligations that might be breached if we fail to comply with privacy and data security laws. The use of AI solutions by our employees or third parties on which we rely could also lead to the misuse of data or public disclosure of confidential information (including personal data or proprietary information) in contravention of our internal policies, applicable laws, contractual requirements, or third-party intellectual property rights. Our efforts to comply with privacy, data security, and AI laws complicate our operations and add to our costs. A significant cybersecurity and/or privacy breach or failure to comply with privacy and data security laws, by us or by external service providers, vendors, or other third parties with which we do business, might have a materially adverse impact on our reputation, our business operations, and our financial position or results of operations.

Anti-bribery and anti-corruption laws increase our compliance burden.

We are subject to laws prohibiting improper payments and bribery, including the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, the U.K. Bribery Act, and similar regulations in other jurisdictions. Our failure to comply with these laws might subject us to civil and criminal penalties that might have a materially adverse impact on our reputation, our business operations, and our financial position or results of operations.

Subject: Labeler Code Request Approved

eDRLS - Electronic Drug Registration & Listing System

Labeler DUNS: 078670869
Labeler Name: Avidity Biosciences
Labeler Code Assigned: 85272

N.H. 2/30/25*

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has assigned the above Labeler Code to your firm. The number cannot be used until you have confirmed the assignment. Please revise and resubmit your Labeler Code Request SPL to include the assigned number above to complete the process. To do this, open the previous Labeler Code Request SPL file and fill in the new information (your assigned Labeler Code) without changing the other existing information. Fill in a new root id and new version number with the original set id and the appropriate effective time.

For CDER Direct Users: Open the previously submitted and accepted Labeler Code Request, click Create New Version, enter the Labeler Code assigned in the field for "Labeler Code", and Submit SPL.

This Labeler Code should be used to create the NDC (National Drug Code) assigned to all drugs you manufacture or distribute for U.S. commercial distribution. The assignment of NDC is extensively discussed in Title 21 of Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) 207.35. The NDC for each drug must be submitted as part of drug listing information submitted to FDA. Per 21 CFR Part 207, owners or operators of an establishment entering into the manufacture or processing of a drug or drugs shall drug list, every drug in commercial distribution within 5 days after the beginning of operation. Labeler Codes are assigned by FDA and may be inactivated at any time upon violation of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act.

Note that receipt of this letter is not to be construed as Federal Government endorsement or approval of the establishment or its products.

For additional information please visit Drug Registration and Listing System or reply back to this email (edrls@fda.hhs.gov).

(Added by Stats. 1995, Ch. 415, Sec. 6. Effective January 1, 1996.)

(Added by Stats. 1995, Ch. 415, Sec. 6. Effective January 1, 1996.)

109885. "Advertisement" means any representations, including, but not limited to, statements upon the products, its packages, cartons, and any other container, disseminated in any manner or by any means, for the purpose of inducing, or that is likely to induce, directly or indirectly, the purchase or use of any food, drug, device, or cosmetic.

109890. "Antibiotic drug" means any drug, except drugs for use in animals other than humans, composed in whole or in part of any form of penicillin, streptomycin, chlortetracycline chloramphenicol, bacitracin, or any other drug intended for human use containing any quantity of any chemical substance that is produced by micro-organisms, and that has the capacity to inhibit or destroy micro-organisms in dilute solution, including a chemically synthesized equivalent, or any derivative thereof.

109895. "Color additive" means a substance that satisfies both of the following requirements:

- (a) It is a dye, pigment, or other substance made by a process of synthesis or similar artifice, or extracted, isolated, or otherwise derived, with or without intermediate or final change of identity, from a vegetable, animal, mineral, or other source.
- (b) When added or applied to a food, drug, device, or cosmetic, or to the human body or any part of the body, it is capable, alone or through reaction with any other substance, of imparting color to the food, drug, device, or cosmetic, or to the human body or the part of the human body, to which it is added or applied.

The term "color additive" does not include any material that the department, by regulation, determines is used, or intended to be used, solely for a purpose or purposes other than coloring.

The term "color," as used in this section, includes black, white, and intermediate grays.

This section does not apply to any pesticide chemical, soil, or plant nutrient, or other agricultural chemical, solely because of its effect in aiding, retarding, or otherwise affecting, directly or indirectly, the growth or other natural physiological process of produce of the soil and thereby affecting its color, whether before or after harvest.

109900. "Cosmetic" means any article, or its components, intended to be rubbed, poured, sprinkled, or sprayed on, introduced into, or otherwise applied to, the human body, or any part of the human body, for cleansing, beautifying, promoting attractiveness, or altering the appearance.

109965. "Local health department" means the health department of a city, county, city and county, or local health district that qualifies for state assistance pursuant to Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 101175) of Part 3 of Division 101, or any city health department of a city that has had its own health department for 12 years or more. (Added by Stats. 1995, Ch. 415, Sec. 6. Effective January 1, 1996.)

109970. "Manufacture" means the preparation, compounding, propagation, processing, or fabrication of any food, drug, device, or cosmetic. The term "manufacture" includes repackaging or otherwise changing the container, wrapper, or labeling of any food, drug, device, or cosmetic in furtherance of the distribution of the food, drug, device, or cosmetic. The term "manufacture" does not include repackaging from a bulk container by a retailer at the time of sale to its ultimate consumer. (Added by Stats. 1995, Ch. 415, Sec. 6. Effective January 1, 1996.)

109971. "Medical food" means any product that meets the definition of medical food in the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. Sec. 360ee(b)(3)). The department shall review all changes to the federal definition of "medical food" before those changes are incorporated by reference pursuant to this section. Within six months after the effective date of any changes to the federal definition, the department shall complete its review of the changes, and submit a report to the Senate Health and Human Services Committee and the Assembly Health Committee that describes the changes and makes a recommendation as to whether it is appropriate to incorporate the changes by reference pursuant to this section. Any change to the federal definition shall take effect pursuant to this section one year after the effective date of the federal change, unless a law that specifically prohibits the change from taking effect is enacted and becomes effective. (Amended by Stats. 2001, Ch. 641, Sec. 3. Effective January 1, 2002.)

109975. "New device" means any of the following:

- (a) Any device the composition, construction, or properties of which are such that the device is not generally recognized, among experts qualified by scientific training and experience to evaluate the safety and effectiveness of devices, as having been adequately shown, through scientific investigations to be safe and effective for use under the conditions prescribed, recommended, or suggested in the labeling or advertising thereof.
- (b) Any device the composition, construction, or properties of which are such that the device, as a result of such investigation to determine its safety and effectiveness for use under these conditions, has become so recognized, but which has not, otherwise than in the investigations, been used to a material extent or for a material time under the conditions.

109980. "New drug" means either of the following:

- (a) Any drug the composition of which is such that the drug is not generally recognized, among experts qualified by scientific training and experience to evaluate the safety and effectiveness of drugs, as safe and effective for use under the conditions prescribed, recommended, or suggested in the labeling or advertising thereof.
- (b) Any drug the composition of which is such that the drug, as a result of investigations to determine its safety and effectiveness for use under these conditions, has become so recognized, but that has not, otherwise than in the investigations, been used to a material extent or for a material time under the conditions.

109985. "Official compendium" means the latest edition of the United States Pharmacopoeia, the latest edition of the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States, or the latest edition of the National Formulary, or any supplement to any of these.

109990. "Package" means any container or wrapper that may be used by a manufacturer, producer, jobber, packer, or dealer for enclosing or containing any food, drug, device, or cosmetic.

The term "package" does not include any of the following:

- (a) Any shipping container or outer wrapping used solely for the transportation of a food, drug, device, or cosmetic in bulk quantity to any manufacturer, packer, processor, or wholesale or retail distributor.

License Exemption

subdivision shall be construed to restrict or expand the services that a hospital pharmacy may provide.

(c) "Hospital satellite compounding pharmacy" means an area licensed by the board to perform sterile compounding that is separately licensed by the board pursuant to Section 4127.15 to perform that compounding and is located outside of the hospital in another physical plant that is regulated as a general acute care hospital as defined in subdivision (a) of Section 1250 of the Health and Safety Code.

4030. Intern Pharmacist

4031. Laboratory

"Laboratory" means a research, teaching, or testing laboratory not engaged in the dispensing or furnishing of drugs or devices but using dangerous drugs or dangerous devices for scientific or teaching purposes. Every laboratory shall maintain an established place of business and keep purchase records. Every laboratory shall be subject to the jurisdiction of the board.

4032. License

"License" means and includes any license, permit, registration, certificate, or exemption issued by the board and includes the process of applying for and renewing the same.

4033. Manufacturer

(a) (1) "Manufacturer" means and includes every person who prepares, derives, produces, compounds, or repackages any drug or device except a pharmacy that manufactures on the immediate premises where the drug or device is sold to the ultimate consumer.

(2) Notwithstanding paragraph (1), "manufacturer" shall not mean a pharmacy compounding a drug for parenteral therapy, pursuant to a prescription, for delivery to another pharmacy for the purpose of delivering or administering the drug to the patient or patients named in the prescription, provided that neither the components for the drug nor the drug are compounded, fabricated, packaged, or otherwise prepared prior to receipt of the prescription.

(3) Notwithstanding paragraph (1), "manufacturer" shall not mean a pharmacy that, at a patient's request, repackages a drug previously dispensed to the patient, or to the patient's agent, pursuant to a prescription.

(b) Notwithstanding subdivision (a), as used in Sections 4034, 4163, 4163.1, 4163.2, 4163.3, 4163.4, and 4163.5, "manufacturer" means a person who prepares, derives, manufactures, produces, or repackages a dangerous drug, as defined in Section 4022, device, or cosmetic. Manufacturer also means the holder or holders of a New Drug Application (NDA), an Abbreviated New Drug Application (ANDA), or a Biologics License Application (BLA), provided that such application has been approved; a manufacturer's third party logistics provider; a private label distributor (including colicensed partners) for whom the private label distributor's prescription drugs are originally manufactured and labeled for the distributor and have not been repackaged; or the distributor agent for the manufacturer, contract manufacturer, or private label distributor, whether the establishment is a member of the manufacturer's affiliated group (regardless of whether the member takes title to the drug) or is a contract distributor site.

4034. Outsourcing Facility

"Outsourcing facility" means a facility that meets all of the following:

(a) Is located within the United States of America at one address that is engaged in the compounding of sterile drugs and nonsterile drugs.

4155. Corporate Form Not Required

Nothing in this article shall be construed as requiring the applicant or holder of a pharmacy permit pursuant to Section 4110 to be a pharmacy corporation.

4156. Unprofessional Conduct by Corporation

A pharmacy corporation shall not do, or fail to do, any act where doing or failing to do the act would constitute unprofessional conduct under any statute or regulation. In the conduct of its practice, a pharmacy corporation shall observe and be bound by the laws and regulations that apply to a person licensed under this chapter.

Article 11. Wholesalers, Third-Party Logistics Providers and Manufacturers4160. Wholesaler or Third-Party Logistics Provider: License Required

(a) A person shall not act as a wholesaler or third-party logistics provider of any dangerous drug or dangerous device unless he or she has obtained a license from the board.

(b) Upon approval by the board and the payment of the required fee, the board shall issue a license to the applicant.

(c) (1) A separate license shall be required for each place of business owned or operated by a wholesaler or third-party logistics provider. Each place of business may only be issued a single license by the board, except as provided in paragraph (2). Each license shall be renewed annually and shall not be transferable. At all times during which a place of business is open for business, at least one designated representative, in the case of a wholesaler, or designated representative-3PL in the case of a third-party logistics provider, shall be present. A wholesaler that only acts as a reverse distributor may use either a designated representative or a designated representative-reverse distributor to fulfill this requirement.

(2) A wholesaler and a third-party logistics provider under common ownership may be licensed at the same place of business provided that all of the following requirements are satisfied:

(A) The wholesaler and the third-party logistics provider each separately maintain the records required under Section 4081.

(B) Dangerous drugs and dangerous devices owned by the wholesaler are not commingled with the dangerous drugs and dangerous devices handled by the third-party logistics provider.

(C) Any individual acting as a designated representative for the wholesaler is not concurrently acting as a designated representative-3PL on behalf of the third-party logistics provider. Nothing in this subparagraph shall be construed to prohibit an individual from concurrently holding a license to act as a designated representative and to act as a designated representative-3PL.

(D) The wholesaler has its own designated representative-in-charge responsible for the operations of the wholesaler and the third-party logistics provider has its own responsible manager responsible for the operations of the third-party logistics provider. The same individual shall not concurrently serve as the responsible manager and the designated representative-in-charge for a wholesaler and a third-party logistics provider licensed at the same place of business.

(E) The third-party logistics provider does not handle the prescription drugs or prescription devices owned by a prescriber.

(F) The third-party logistics provider is not a reverse third-party logistics provider.

(G) The wholesaler is not acting as a reverse distributor.

(d) Every wholesaler shall be supervised or managed by a designated representative-in-charge. The designated representative-in-charge shall be responsible for the wholesaler's compliance with state and federal laws governing wholesalers. As part of its initial application for a license, and for each renewal, each wholesaler shall, on a form designed by the board, provide identifying information and the California license number for a designated representative or pharmacist proposed to serve as the designated representative-in-charge. The proposed designated representative-in-charge shall be subject to approval by the board. The board shall not issue or renew a wholesaler license without identification of an approved designated representative-in-charge for the wholesaler. The designated representative-in-charge shall maintain an active license as a designated representative with the board at all times during which he or she is designated as the designated representative-in-charge. A wholesaler that only acts as a reverse distributor may identify and allow a designated representative-reverse distributor to perform in this capacity. That individual shall maintain an active license as a designated representative-reverse distributor.

(e) Each place of business of a third-party logistics provider shall be supervised and managed by a responsible manager. The responsible manager shall be responsible for the compliance of the place of business with state and federal laws governing third-party logistics providers and with the third-party logistics provider's customer specifications, except where the customer's specifications conflict with state or federal laws. As part of its initial application for a license, and for each renewal, each third-party logistics provider shall, on a form designated by the board, provide identifying information and the California license number for a designated representative-3PL proposed to serve as the responsible manager. The proposed responsible manager shall be subject to approval by the board. The board shall not issue or renew a third-party logistics provider license without identification of an approved responsible manager for the third-party logistics provider. The responsible manager shall maintain an active license as a designated representative-3PL with the board at all times during which he or she is designated as the responsible manager.

(f) A wholesaler shall notify the board in writing, on a form designed by the board, within 30 days of the date when a designated representative-in-charge ceases to act as the designated representative-in-charge, and shall on the same form propose another authorized licensee to take over as the designated representative-in-charge. The proposed replacement designated representative-in-charge shall be subject to approval by the board. If disapproved, the wholesaler shall propose another replacement within 15 days of the date of disapproval, and shall continue to name proposed replacements until a designated representative-in-charge is approved by the board.

(g) A third-party logistics provider shall notify the board in writing, on a form designed by the board, within 30 days of the date when a responsible manager ceases to act as the responsible manager, and shall on the same form propose another designated representative-3PL to take over as the responsible manager. The proposed replacement responsible manager shall be subject to approval by the board. If disapproved, the third-party logistics provider shall propose another replacement within 15 days of the date of disapproval, and shall continue to name proposed replacements until a responsible manager is approved by the board.

(h) A drug manufacturer premises licensed by the Food and Drug Administration or licensed pursuant to Section 111615 of the Health and Safety Code that only distributes dangerous drugs and dangerous devices of its own manufacture is exempt from this section and Section 4161.

(i) The board may issue a temporary license, upon conditions and for periods of time as the board determines to be in the public interest. A temporary license fee shall be required in an amount established by the board as specified in subdivision (f) of Section 4400. When needed to protect public safety, a temporary license may be issued for a period not to exceed 180 days, subject to terms and conditions that the board deems necessary. If the board determines that a temporary license was issued by mistake or denies the application for a permanent license, the temporary license shall terminate upon either personal service of the notice of termination upon the licenseholder or service by certified mail, return receipt requested, at the licenseholder's address of record with the board, whichever occurs first. For purposes of retaining a temporary license, or for purposes of any disciplinary or license denial proceeding before the board, the temporary licenseholder shall not be deemed to have a vested property right or interest in the license.

4160.5. Nonprescription Diabetes Test Devices – Authorized Distributors Posted on Board Website

Within 30 days of the effective date of the act adding this section, a manufacturer of a nonprescription diabetes test device shall make the names of its authorized distributors available on its Internet Web site and shall provide the board with the names of its authorized distributors. Within 30 days of receiving that information from a manufacturer of a nonprescription diabetes test device, the board shall post the names of authorized distributors of nonprescription diabetes test devices on the board's Internet Web site. A manufacturer of a nonprescription diabetes test device shall, within 30 days of making changes to its authorized distributors, update its Internet Web site and inform the board of changes to its authorized distributors. Within 30 days of receiving notice of any change from a manufacturer of a nonprescription diabetes test device, the board shall post the updated list of the manufacturer's authorized distributors on its Internet Web site.

4161. Nonresident Wholesaler or Nonresident Third-Party Logistics Provider; Requirements

(a) A person located outside this state that (1) ships, sells, mails, warehouses, distributes, or delivers dangerous drugs or dangerous devices into this state or (2) sells, brokers, warehouses, or distributes dangerous drugs or devices within this

Curriculum Vitae

HUSAM S. YOUNIS, PharmD, PhD

Summary

Scientist and leader with >20 years experience in the pharmaceutical/biotechnology industry with proven ability to advance projects from discovery to early and late phase clinical development (>20 INDs or equivalent). Built, lead, manage and motivate multi-disciplinary research and development teams to accomplish objectives on time within available resources. Highly functional in a fast paced environment with keen skill to solve problems; applies sound judgement when making decisions based on limited information. Expertise in drug discovery and development including pharmacology, toxicology and pharmacokinetics across multiple modalities (monoclonal antibodies, oligonucleotides (antisense, siRNA), proteins, small molecules) in numerous therapeutic areas (metabolic and cardiovascular disease, oncology/immuno-oncology, ophthalmology, rare muscle and neurodegenerative diseases).

Professional Experience

• Avidity Biosciences, Development Sciences, San Diego, CA

- Built translational sciences department to advance early drug discovery through late stage clinical development for a new class of drugs (antibody oligonucleotide conjugates). Lead a team (> 20 PhD, MS and BS level scientists) of multi-disciplinary functions (toxicology, drug metabolism and pharmacokinetics, bioanalytical, preclinical and clinical biomarkers) with key responsibilities to define and execute preclinical pharmacology and development strategy. Successful advancement of 3 INDs in 15 months in rare musculoskeletal disease.
- Member of research and development leadership committee to define corporate research strategy, development strategy for lead clinical assets, and organizational/company build.
- Research team leader across a muscle disease franchise encompassing multiple research and development programs. Accountable for all aspects of preclinical research activities working across disciplines to determine and implement in vitro and in vivo pharmacology, drug manufacturing, preclinical safety, and preclinical development strategies.

• NGM Biopharmaceuticals, Development, South San Francisco, CA

➤ Executive Director, 2018 to 2020; Senior Director, 2014 to 2018

- Lead product development teams composed of multi-disciplinary functions (clinical, regulatory, CMC, research, nonclinical, PK, project management) to advance programs from candidate nomination to first-in-human and proof of concept clinical studies. Key responsibilities include defining early development strategy and execution of development plans. Advanced 5+ projects from research to FIH and clinical Phase 2 POC. Work closely with executive management (CSO, CMO, CTO) to identify fast to POC strategies and issue resolution. Communicate key project activities to scientific advisory board, partner governance committees and corporate Board of Directors. Served as Chair of joint development committee with large pharma partner.
- Head of nonclinical development department (8+ PhD and MS scientists) responsible and accountable for all aspects of preclinical safety, pharmacokinetics and clinical pharmacology and PKPD evaluation from early research to BLA/NDA. Responsible for content and review of nonclinical sections (pharmacology, PK, toxicology) of regulatory documents. Primary focus on biologic modalities including monoclonal antibodies (agonist and antagonist), proteins and FC-fusion proteins in endocrine/metabolic diseases, ophthalmology and immuno-oncology. Special focus on novel targets to identify potential biomarkers of in vivo pharmacological or on-target activity in preclinical models.

- Responsible for the conduct of in-house and outsourced non-GLP/GLP pharmacokinetics, pharmacodynamics, pharmacology and toxicity evaluation. Implement strategic partnerships with CROs to ensure study quality within a competitive cost structure. Manage and lead department budget and staff including contractors/consultants to support research and development objectives.
- Ionis Pharmaceuticals Inc., Nonclinical Development, Carlsbad, CA
 - Director, 2012 to 2014; Associate Director, 2009 to 2011
 - Primary responsibilities included preclinical toxicology representative on development project teams in the areas of cardiovascular, metabolic, neurodegenerative diseases and oncology. Responsible for nonclinical development strategy to support projects (>10) from discovery to early/late stage clinical development. Nonclinical safety representative/liaison for major research and development partnership with Biogen with focus on neurodegenerative diseases (ALS, dementia, myotonic dystrophy, among others). Designed, monitored and executed preclinical toxicology studies in multiple species at contract research organizations. Prepare IND-enabling documents and briefing documents for regulatory submissions and interactions across multiple jurisdictions (US, EU, Canada, Australia).
 - Led a company-wide translational sciences initiative that created and developed an integrated animal and human safety database. Directly involved in establishing and curating translational queries to better assess the translation of key safety and efficacy effects from animals to humans. Other key functions include mechanistic investigation of toxicological effects in animals and their potential relevance and translation to humans in the areas of inflammation and immune system activation, hematologic effects, complement, liver and kidney injury, among others.
- Pfizer Inc. La Jolla Laboratories, Drug Safety Research and Development, San Diego, CA
 - Director, 2008 to 2009; Associate Director, 2006 to 2008

Head of General Toxicology. Manage a group of 3 PhD level study directors/toxicology team representatives and 5 BS level research associate scientists in the conduct of non-GLP in vivo dose range finding and investigative toxicity studies in rodents and non-rodents. Serve as a toxicology team representative on project teams in discovery and development in the areas of ophthalmology, diabetes and oncology. Drug development experience primarily with small molecules with limited experience with monoclonal antibody and siRNA nucleotide-based therapeutic modalities. Prepare study reports, IND-enabling documents, briefing documents for regulatory submissions and interactions. Participate/led global initiatives within the DSRD organization to develop/implement drug development strategy and process improvements. Manage research collaborations with external institutions and contract research organizations. Nonclinical development representative on multiple due diligence/partnering activities.
 - Senior Principal Scientist, 2005 to 2006

Head of Experimental Sciences group. Serve as a study director and manage a group responsible for in vivo safety assessment of potential drug candidates. Toxicology representative on several discovery and development project teams to manage the safety assessment of drug candidates in the areas of ophthalmology, diabetes and oncology. Prepared reports and documents for regulatory submissions. Managed research collaborations with external institutions and contract research organizations.
 - Principal Scientist, 2004 to 2005; Senior Scientist, 2002 to 2004

Serve as a study director and manage a group responsible for in vivo safety assessment of potential drug candidates. Toxicology representative on a discovery project team in oncology and a development team in ophthalmology to manage the safety assessment of drug candidates. Prepares reports and documents for regulatory submissions.

- Isis Pharmaceuticals Inc., Nonclinical Development, Carlsbad, CA

- Post-Doctoral Scientist, 2001 to 2002

- Project objectives were to investigate the mechanisms of oligodeoxynucleotide induced immune stimulation and the role of Toll-like receptors. Initiating and coordinating collaborative research with outside research institutions.

- Wal-Mart Inc., Tucson, AZ

- Staff Pharmacist, 1998 to 2001

- Responsibilities included providing pharmaceutical services, patient counseling, drug information, time and employee management.

Education

- Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.), 2001

- Department of Pharmacology and Toxicology, College of Pharmacy, University of Arizona, Tucson, AZ. Advisor: I. Glenn Sipes.

- Doctor of Pharmacy (Pharm.D.), 1998

- College of Pharmacy, University of Arizona, Tucson, AZ.
Arizona State Board of Pharmacy, License #: S11974

Forward-Looking Statements and Market Data

This annual report on Form 10-K contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or the Securities Act, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, or the Exchange Act. All statements other than statements of historical facts contained in this annual report, including, without limitation, statements regarding our future results of operations and financial position, business strategies and plans, research and development plans, the timing and likelihood of resolution of the partial clinical hold related to AOC 1001, the anticipated timing, costs, design and conduct of our ongoing and planned preclinical studies and clinical trials for our product candidates, the anticipated timing of release of data from our ongoing clinical trials, the timing and likelihood of regulatory filings and approvals for our product candidates, the timing and likelihood of success, plans and objectives of management for future operations and future results of anticipated product development efforts, and the anticipated impacts of any pandemics or epidemics, inflationary pressures, and the ongoing hostilities in Ukraine and the Middle East on our business, are forward-looking statements. These statements involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other important factors that may cause our actual results, performance or achievements to be materially different from any future results, performance or achievements expressed or implied by the forward-looking statements. This annual report on Form 10-K also contains estimates and other statistical data made by independent parties and by us relating to market size and growth and other data about our industry. This data involves a number of assumptions and limitations, and you are cautioned not to give undue weight to such estimates. In addition, projections, assumptions and estimates of our future performance and the future performance of the markets in which we operate are necessarily subject to a high degree of uncertainty and risk.

In some cases, you can identify forward-looking statements by terms such as "may," "will," "should," "expect," "plan," "anticipate," "could," "intend," "target," "project," "contemplate," "believe," "estimate," "predict," "potential" or "continue" or the negative of these terms or other similar expressions. The forward-looking statements in this annual report are only predictions. We have based these forward-looking statements largely on our current expectations and projections about future events and financial trends that we believe may affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. These forward-looking statements speak only as of the date of this annual report and are subject to a number of risks, uncertainties and assumptions, including those described in Part I, Item 1A, "Risk Factors." The events and circumstances reflected in our forward-looking statements may not be achieved or occur, and actual results could differ materially from those projected in the forward-looking statements. Moreover, we operate in an evolving environment. New risk factors and uncertainties may emerge from time to time, and it is not possible for management to predict all risk factors and uncertainties. Except as required by applicable law, we do not plan to publicly update or revise any forward-looking statements contained herein, whether as a result of any new information, future events, changed circumstances or otherwise. All forward-looking statements are qualified in their entirety by this cautionary statement, which is made under the safe harbor provisions of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995.

This annual report includes trademarks, tradenames and service marks that are the property of other organizations. Solely for convenience, trademarks and tradenames referred to in this annual report may appear without the ® and ™ symbols, but those references are not intended to indicate, in any way, that we will not assert, to the fullest extent under applicable law, our rights, or that the applicable owner will not assert its rights, to these trademarks and tradenames.

We maintain a website at www.aviditybiosciences.com, to which we regularly post copies of our press releases as well as additional information about us. Our filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, or SEC, are available free of charge through our website as soon as reasonably practicable after being electronically filed with or furnished to the SEC. Information contained in our website does not constitute a part of this report or our other filings with the SEC.

ITEM 1. Business

We are a biopharmaceutical company committed to delivering a new class of RNA therapeutics called Antibody Oligonucleotide Conjugates, or AOCs. Our proprietary AOC platform is designed to combine the specificity of monoclonal antibodies, or mAbs, with the precision of RNA therapeutics to target the root cause of diseases previously untreatable with RNA therapeutics. Our advancing and expanding pipeline currently has three programs in clinical development. AOC 1001 is designed to treat people with myotonic dystrophy type 1, or DM1, and is currently in Phase 1/2 development with the ongoing MARINA open label extension study, or MARINA-OLE™. In mid-2024, we plan to initiate the global Phase 3 HARBOR™ trial of AOC 1001 for adults living with DM1. AOC 1020 is designed to treat people living with facioscapulohumeral muscular dystrophy, or FSHD, and is currently in Phase 1/2 development with the FORTITUDE™ trial. AOC 1044 is designed for people with Duchenne muscular dystrophy and is currently in Phase 1/2 development with the EXPLORE44™ trial. AOC 1044 is specifically designed for people with mutations amenable to exon 44 skipping, or DMD44, and is the first of multiple AOCs we are developing for DMD. AOC 1001, AOC 1020 and AOC 1044 have all been granted Orphan Designation by the FDA and the European Medicines Agency, or EMA, and Fast Track Designation by the FDA. The FDA has also granted AOC 1044 Rare Pediatric Disease Designation. We continue to advance and expand our internal discovery pipeline with the addition of new research and development candidates to treat conditions in skeletal muscle and cardiology as we continue to deliver on the RNA revolution. In addition to our own internal research programs, we continue to explore the full potential of our AOC platform through collaborations and partnerships that we have initiated, including programs in cardiology, immunology, and other select indications outside of muscle.

With three AOC product candidates in clinical development, we plan to report data from multiple ongoing trials in 2024, dose escalate the remaining participants in the MARINA-OLE study from 2 mg/kg to 4 mg/kg of AOC 1001, and in mid-2024 initiate our global Phase 3 HARBOR™ trial of AOC 1001 for DM1. In March 2024 we will be sharing a first look at long-term efficacy and safety data from the MARINA-OLE™ trial of AOC 1001 in people living with DM1. In the second quarter of 2024, we anticipate reporting preliminary data in approximately half of the study participants in the Phase 1/2 FORTITUDE™ trial of AOC 1020 in FSHD. In the second half of 2024, we plan to share 5 mg/kg cohort data from the Phase 1/2 EXPLORE44™ trial of AOC 1044 in people living with DMD44.

Our Strategy

Our vision is to profoundly improve people's lives by revolutionizing the delivery of RNA therapeutics. We are executing on that vision by focusing on our three strategic pillars: a disruptive and broad AOC platform, an advancing and expanding pipeline and building an agile and diverse company. With this strategy, our goal is to discover, develop and commercialize novel AOC therapeutics that overcome current barriers to the delivery of oligonucleotides and unlock their potential to treat a wide range of serious diseases currently lacking adequate treatment options. The key elements of our strategy to achieve this goal are to:

- Harness the power of our AOC platform to develop a new class of drugs. We are committed to delivering a new class of RNA therapeutics by utilizing decades of research on the power of oligonucleotides. With preliminary data from our AOC 1001 MARINA clinical trial, we have demonstrated successful targeted delivery of RNA into muscle in humans. Our deep experience with oligonucleotide therapeutics, modulation of RNA processes, antibody engineering and conjugation, and drug delivery techniques provide the foundation for our efforts to address the current limitations of oligonucleotide therapies. Our disruptive and broad AOC platform also affords us the option to deploy various types of oligonucleotides, including small interfering RNAs, or siRNAs, and phosphorodiamidate morpholino oligomers, or PMOs, whose specific mechanisms of action modify RNA function in different ways. We now have AOC programs in clinical development that utilize both siRNAs and PMOs. This flexibility allows us to use oligonucleotides that are tailored to have the potential to modulate a given disease process. Potential mechanisms of action for these oligonucleotides can range from reducing the expression of disease-related RNA with siRNAs, to correction of aberrant processing of RNAs with splice modifying oligonucleotides. AOCs are designed to do the following:
 - Combine the proven technologies of approved mAbs and oligonucleotides
 - Deliver to tissues previously untreatable with RNA therapeutics, starting with muscle and broadening to other tissues and cell types
 - Scale with experienced manufacturers who are able to utilize well-established and scalable methods for manufacturing mAbs and oligonucleotides. We also have the ability to use a single mAb across multiple programs, providing significant leverage around development costs and timelines associated with each incremental muscle program.
- Continue Advancing and Expanding Our Pipeline. With three programs currently in clinical development, we are also advancing and expanding our innovative AOC pipeline to offer treatment options for people across a wide range of therapeutic areas. Our first AOC programs are from our rare muscle disease franchise. We are also broadening the reach of AOCs beyond muscle tissues through both internal discovery efforts and key partnerships. We are progressing our pipeline in the following ways:

- Advancing our lead muscle disease product candidates through ongoing and planned clinical trials to approval. We have three programs in clinical development: AOC 1001 for DM1, AOC 1020 for FSHD and AOC 1044 for DMD44. Each is designed to address the root cause of the underlying disease. AOC 1001 and AOC 1020 each consist of a proprietary mAb that binds to the transferrin receptor 1, or Tfr1, receptor conjugated with a siRNA. AOC 1044 consists of the same proprietary mAb to Tfr1 conjugated with a PMO. There are no approved therapies to treat the underlying causes of DM1, FSHD or DMD44.
- Progressing our skeletal muscle pipeline. We remain focused on researching potential skeletal muscle indications that are optimal for RNA targeting and that have patient populations with high unmet need. In addition to our programs in clinical development, our current pipeline includes programs in DMD targeting additional exons as well as programs targeting other skeletal muscle diseases with limited or no treatment options. Preclinical development on these programs is ongoing and ranges in stage from early discovery work to one program in lead optimization.
- Expanding our pipeline into other indications. We continue to pursue additional programs that expand our AOC pipeline beyond muscle and into other indications including cardiology and immunology. We have one preclinical rare cardiac program in lead optimization. In November 2023, we announced an expansion of our cardiovascular collaboration with Bristol-Myers Squibb Company, or BMS. The global licensing and research collaboration will focus on discovery, development and commercialization of up to five cardiovascular targets. In addition, through our collaboration with Eli Lilly and Company, or Lilly, we are working on potential new medicines in immunology and other select indications. Through additional internal discovery efforts and partnerships, we continue to work to discover, develop and commercialize novel AOC therapeutics that overcome current barriers to the delivery of oligonucleotides and unlock their potential to treat a wide range of serious diseases currently lacking adequate treatment options.
- Build an agile and diverse company. We have assembled a management team with deep experience in the discovery, development and commercialization of RNA therapeutics. The team also has extensive knowledge of oligonucleotide therapeutics, modulation of RNA processes, antibody engineering and conjugation, and drug delivery techniques. Our team also has broad experience in the discovery, development and commercialization of products for rare diseases, including building clinical and commercial organizations that support the unique needs of the rare disease community.

As we grow the company, we plan to continue to employ a disciplined strategy to maximize the value of our pipeline by retaining development and commercialization rights to those product candidates, indications and geographies that we believe we can ultimately commercialize successfully on our own if they are approved. We plan to collaborate on product candidates that we believe have promising utility in disease areas or patient populations that are better served by the resources or specific expertise of other biopharmaceutical companies. Through collaborations and our internal research, we plan to continue to invest our resources in our AOC platform to explore the full potential of our AOCs in additional previously inaccessible tissue and cell types.

Our AOC Product Platform

Overview

We are committed to delivering a new class of RNA therapeutics called AOCs designed to overcome the current limitations of oligonucleotide therapies in order to treat a wide range of serious diseases. We utilize our proprietary AOC platform to design, engineer and develop therapeutics that combine specificity of mAbs with the precision of oligonucleotide therapies to target the root cause of diseases previously untreatable with such therapeutics. All of our oligonucleotides target disease-related RNA. RNA is a polymeric molecule essential in the coding, decoding, regulation and expression of genes. We have accumulated deep experience regarding oligonucleotide therapeutics, modulation of RNA processes, antibody engineering and conjugation, and drug delivery techniques. We collectively refer to the know-how and proprietary technology born out of this experience, and their systematic application in the design and development of our product candidates, as our AOC platform.

In January 2024, we announced that we plan to report data from our ongoing clinical trials in 2024, dose-escalate the remaining participants in MARINA-OLE from 2 mg/kg to 4 mg/kg of AOC 1001, and in mid-2024 initiate our global Phase 3 HARBOR trial of AOC 1001 for people living with DM1. In March, 2024 we will be sharing a first look at long-term efficacy and safety data from the MARINA-OLE trial of AOC 1001 in people living with DM1. In the second quarter of 2024 we anticipate reporting preliminary data in approximately half of the study participants in the Phase 1/2 FORTITUDE trial of AOC 1020 in FSHD. In the second half of 2024, we plan to share 5 mg/kg cohort data from the Phase 1/2 EXPLORE44 trial of AOC 1044 in people living with DMD44.

In December 2023, we announced positive AOC 1044 data in healthy volunteers from the Phase 1/2 EXPLORE44 clinical trial for the treatment of DMD44. The data demonstrated that AOC 1044 delivered increases in PMO concentrations in skeletal muscle following a single dose of 5 mg/kg or 10 mg/kg, providing up to 50-times greater PMO concentrations in skeletal muscle when compared to a single dose of peptide conjugated PMOs in healthy volunteers. AOC 1044 was well tolerated in healthy volunteers, produced statistically significant exon 44 skipping compared to placebo of up to 1.5% in healthy volunteers after a single dose of 10 mg/kg of AOC 1044 at Day 29 and increased exon skipping in all participants.

In November 2023, we announced an exclusive global licensing and research collaboration with BMS focused on the discovery, development and commercialization of multiple cardiovascular targets. The payments to us under this collaboration include (i) $100 million upfront, which amount includes an approximately $40 million purchase by BMS of our common stock in a private placement, (ii) up to approximately $2.2 billion in milestone payments and (iii) tiered royalty payments on certain net sales, if any. This strategic collaboration broadens the reach of AOCs through the expansion of our existing relationship with BMS. The collaboration with BMS is separate from our internal discovery pipeline consisting of research and development candidates to treat rare skeletal muscle conditions and rare cardiac muscle diseases that are not competitive to the cardiovascular targets included in the BMS collaboration.

In October 2023, we announced new Phase 1/2 AOC 1001 data demonstrating improvement in additional functional measures including hand grip, muscle strength (Manual Muscle Testing composite score and both upper and lower Quantitative Muscle Testing composite scores) and patient reported outcomes, or PROs. These data augment previously reported data from April 2023 that showed improvements in myotonia, muscle strength and mobility. The data reported in October for AOC 1001 continued to demonstrate favorable safety and tolerability results.

In May 2023, we announced that the FDA eased the partial clinical hold on AOC 1001, allowing us to double the number of participants in the MARINA-OLE study receiving 4 mg/kg of AOC 1001 by dose-escalating 12 participants from 2 mg/kg to 4 mg/kg and to enroll new participants at 2 mg/kg. The dose escalation of 12 participants in the MARINA-OLE from AOC 1001 2 mg/kg to 4 mg/kg has been completed. Data showed no neurological events and no MRI changes following dosing. We have now commenced dose escalating the remaining participants in the MARINA-OLE from 2 mg/kg to 4mg/kg of AOC 1001 following our announcement in January 2024.

Our Approach

Based on the data-driven hypothesis that the delivery of oligonucleotides can be greatly enhanced by using antibodies as conjugates, our scientists have established a framework for screening potential cell surface protein-mAb pairs to determine which pairs we believe are well suited to deliver active oligonucleotides to specific cell types. We have identified multiple cell surface protein-mAb pairs that can deliver oligonucleotides into various tissue and cell types to induce pharmacologic changes. For example, we have employed AOCs built on a scaffold of a mAb or mAb fragment that binds with high selectivity and affinity to TfR1 to deliver oligonucleotides to cell types outside of the liver.

Our AOC platform also affords us the option to deploy various types of oligonucleotides, including siRNAs and PMOs, whose specific mechanisms of action modify RNA function in different ways. We have programs utilizing both siRNAs and PMOs in clinical development. This flexibility allows us to use oligonucleotides that are tailored to modulate a given disease process. Mechanisms of these oligonucleotides can range from reducing the expression of a disease-related RNA with siRNAs, to correction of aberrant processing of RNAs with splice modifying oligonucleotides.

Advantages of our AOC Product Platform

We believe that the product candidates derived from our AOC platform will have the potential to offer the following distinct advantages:

- Expand scope of diseases addressable with oligonucleotides: (i) utilize identified cell surface protein-antibody pairs to design oligonucleotides to precisely target the underlying cause of diseases previously untreatable with RNA therapeutics; (ii) flexibility to deploy an appropriate oligonucleotide type for different diseases; and (iii) optimize all structural components of our AOCs for effective delivery—the oligonucleotide, the mAb and the antibody conjugate design.
- Potential to mitigate toxicity by limiting drug exposure: (i) selection of the most potent oligonucleotide type; (ii) targeted delivery to tissues and cells; and (iii) infrequent administration.
- Infrequent dosing: (i) ability to deliver oligonucleotides to tissues and cells at concentrations that produce pronounced and prolonged pharmacodynamic effects as observed in our preclinical models; and (ii) ability to select appropriate oligonucleotide mechanisms to maximize durability.
- Readily reproducible and scalable: (i) AOCs synthesized using well-established and scalable methods for manufacturing mAbs and oligonucleotides; and (ii) ability to use a single mAb across multiple programs provides significant leverage around development costs and timelines associated with each incremental muscle program. For example, we use the same mAb targeting TfR1 across our current muscle franchise.

Our Development Programs

We are advancing and expanding our innovative AOC pipeline to develop potential treatment options for patients and their families across a wide-range of therapeutic areas. Our first AOC programs are from our muscle disease franchise where we have leveraged our deep experience with oligonucleotide therapeutics, modulation of RNA processes, antibody engineering and conjugation and drug delivery techniques. We now have programs in our early-stage development pipeline through internal efforts and external collaborations that explore utilizing AOCs in additional indications including cardiology and immunology. The research and development chart below represents a summary of our wholly owned and partnered development programs.

Diverse and Expanding AOC Pipeline

Our Muscle Disease Franchise

We have selected muscle as the first tissue type in which to explore the potential of our AOCs. In our early screening efforts, we observed a 95% reduction of target gene expression in mouse skeletal muscle with the AOC we tested, which in part led us to focus on developing a deep pipeline of AOCs that are designed to address multiple muscle diseases including DM1, FSHD and DMD. We currently use the same proprietary mAb targeting Tfr1 across our muscle programs, which we believe gives us significant leverage of development costs and timelines associated with each incremental muscle program.

Our Clinical Programs

AOC 1001 for the Treatment of Myotonic Dystrophy Type 1 (DM1)

Our lead product candidate utilizing the AOC platform, AOC 1001, is designed to address the root cause of DM1 by reducing levels of a disease-related mRNA called DMPK. AOC 1001 consists of a proprietary mAb that binds to Tfr1 conjugated with a siRNA targeting DMPK mRNA. The FDA and EMA have granted Orphan Designation for AOC 1001. The FDA also granted Fast Track Designation to AOC 1001 for the treatment of DM1.

Phase 1/2 MARINA Clinical Trial

The Phase 1/2 MARINA clinical trial was designed to evaluate the safety and tolerability of single and multiple ascending doses of AOC 1001 administered intravenously in adults with DM1. The MARINA trial was a randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled, Phase 1/2 clinical trial that assessed the activity of AOC 1001 across key biomarkers, including spliceopathy, an important biomarker for DM1, and knockdown of DMPK mRNA. Though the Phase 1/2 trial was not powered to assess functional benefit, it explored the clinical activity of AOC 1001 in multiple measures of muscle function including myotonia, muscle strength, measures of mobility as well as PROs and quality of life measures. Patients had the option to enroll in MARINA-OLE, an open-label extension study, at the end of the post-treatment period. All eligible participants chose to enroll in the MARINA-OLE study.

Phase 1/2 MARINA[®] and MARINA-OLE[™] Trial Design

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration, or FDA, placed a partial clinical hold on new participant enrollment in the Phase 1/2 MARINA clinical trial of AOC 1001 in September 2022. The partial clinical hold is in response to a serious adverse event, or SAE, reported in a single participant in the 4mg/kg cohort of the MARINA study.

In May 2023, we announced that the FDA eased the partial clinical hold on AOC 1001, allowing us to double the number of participants in the MARINA-OLE study receiving 4 mg/kg of AOC 1001 by dose-escalating 12 participants from 2 mg/kg to 4 mg/kg and to enroll new participants at 2 mg/kg. The dose escalation of 12 participants in the MARINA-OLE from AOC 1001 2 mg/kg to 4 mg/kg has been completed. Data showed no neurological events and no MRI changes following dosing. We have now commenced dose escalating the remaining participants in the MARINA-OLE from 2 mg/kg to 4mg/kg of AOC 1001 following our announcement in January 2024.

The sites participating in the MARINA-OLE study are all part of the Myotonic Dystrophy Clinical Research Network, or DMCN. The DMCN is running a natural history study called Establishing Biomarkers and Clinical Endpoints in Myotonic Dystrophy Type 1, or END-DM1. We have entered into an agreement supporting END-DM1, a non-interventional study designed to advance the understanding of disease progression in approximately 700 people with DM1. This agreement allows us to assess the data from END-DM1, which we believe continues to support the clinical development of AOC 1001.

DM1 Disease Overview

DM1 is an underrecognized, progressive and often fatal neuromuscular disease with multiple organ involvement. DM1 is a monogenic, autosomal dominant disease caused by a triplet-repeat in the DMPK gene, resulting in a toxic gain of function mRNA. DM1 primarily affects skeletal, smooth and cardiac muscle and can be highly variable with respect to severity, presentation and age of onset. Patients can suffer from a constellation of manifestations including myotonia and muscle weakness, respiratory problems, fatigue, hypersomnia, cardiac abnormalities, gastrointestinal complications, and cognitive and behavioral impairment. DM1 is estimated to affect over 40,000 people in the United States and there are similar prevalence estimates for Europe. All forms, except the late-onset form, of DM1 are associated with high levels of disease burden and may cause premature mortality.

Current Treatment Landscape and Limitations

There are currently no approved therapies to treat DM1, and medical care is focused largely on symptom management. Due to the well-known challenges of delivery, a previous attempt at treating DM1 with an unconjugated antisense oligonucleotide was discontinued. Therefore, there remains a high unmet medical need for new disease modifying therapies.

Our Solution

AOC 1001 consists of a proprietary mAb that binds to TfR1 conjugated with a siRNA, siDMPK.19, targeted to DMPK RNA, and is designed to be administered to the patient as an intravenous infusion. We believe that the following specific characteristics of AOC 1001 position it to have advantages over historical and current efforts to develop an effective therapy for people with DM1:

- Addresses the underlying cause of the disease—DM1 is caused by an increase in the number of CUG triplet repeats occurring in the DMPK gene product. AOC 1001 is designed to reduce the expression levels DMPK RNA, thereby reducing the CUG burden in the nucleus and thereby releasing muscle blind-like protein to allow for normal mRNA processing.
- Efficient delivery of drug substance to diseased cells—In an effort to solve for challenges identified in prior unsuccessful efforts to deliver an unconjugated oligonucleotide into muscle cells, the TfR1 antibody component of AOC 1001 facilitates efficient delivery of AOC 1001 to skeletal and cardiac muscle cells. Once inside the muscle cells, the siRNA component of AOC 1001, siDMPK.19, acts to reduce levels of DMPK mRNA in both the nucleus and the cytoplasm. In preclinical studies in cynomolgus monkeys, we observed that treatment with an AOC containing siDMPK.19 produced a greater than 50% reduction of DMPK mRNA across a wide range of skeletal muscles at a concentration of 1 nM or less, approximately 1,000 fold more potent than has been reported for an unconjugated antisense oligonucleotide. We also observed reductions in DMPK mRNA in the gastrointestinal tract.
- Reproducible and scalable therapeutic—As with all our AOCs, AOC 1001 is readily synthesized using well-established and scalable methods for manufacturing mAbs and oligonucleotides.

AOC 1001 Data Reported in October 2023 from the Phase 1/2 MARINA Trial and MARINA-OLE Study

AOC 1001 data released in October 2023 demonstrated improvement in additional functional measures augmenting previously reported positive data that demonstrated improvements in functional assessments of myotonia (video hand opening time, or vHOT), strength (Quantitative Muscle Testing total score, or QMT) and mobility (10-meter walk run test, or 10mWRT and the Timed Up and Go test, or TUG).

New AOC 1001 data presented included:

- Multiple additional measures of strength:
 - Hand grip

- Manual Muscle Testing (MMT) composite score
- Both upper and lower QMT composites
- DM1-Activ, a PRO that measures activities of daily living (e.g., taking a shower, visiting family or friends, and walking up stairs).
- Long-term AOC 1001 safety and tolerability data included data from the MARINA-OLE study with over 200 infusions totaling 46.2 patient-years of exposure.
- The most common AEs in the MARINA-OLE study were procedural pain (22%), pain in extremity (such as arm, leg or foot pain/soreness) and headache (both 16%).
- There was one resolved adverse event of mild increase in liver enzymes.
- There have been no reported AEs of anemia in the MARINA-OLE study. In the MARINA clinical program, anemia has been asymptomatic except for one participant who did not require treatment.
- There have been no discontinuations in the MARINA-OLE study.
- In March 2024, we will be sharing a first look at long-term efficacy and safety data from the Marina-OLE trial of AOC 1001 in people living with DM1.

Topline Data from AOC 1001 Phase 1/2 MARINA Trial

In April 2023, we reported top-line data of AOC 1001 from the MARINA trial. The MARINA trial concluded with 38 participants enrolled at 1 mg/kg, 2 mg/kg or 4 mg/kg of AOC 1001. Results from the MARINA trial demonstrated:

- Directional improvement in multiple functional assessments including measures of myotonia, strength and mobility:
 - Myotonia was measured by vHOT and is a hallmark of DM1 where relaxation of key muscle groups is impaired
 - Measures of strength included the QMT total score which is based on six muscle groups from both the upper and lower body
 - Mobility was assessed by the 10mWRT and the TUG
 - The endpoints used in the MARINA trial measure important aspects of the disease and correspond to those utilized in the ongoing END-DM1 natural history study
- Meaningful DMPK reduction and splicing changes in participants treated with AOC 1001
- Splicing changes followed by directional improvements in functional measures at 2 mg/kg and 4 mg/kg doses of AOC 1001
- AOC 1001 demonstrated broad splicing improvements in more than 1000 genes impacted in DM1, confirming activity in the nucleus
- Favorable long-term safety and tolerability profile of AOC 1001 with most adverse events mild or moderate.

AOC 1020 for the Treatment of Facioscapulohumeral Muscular Dystrophy (FSHD)

We are developing AOC 1020 to treat the underlying cause of FSHD, one of the most common forms of muscular dystrophy. Our therapeutic strategy in FSHD is to use an AOC based on our proprietary mAb that targets Tfr1 to deliver a siRNA targeted to DUX4 mRNA. The FDA and EMA have granted Orphan Designation for AOC 1020. The FDA also granted Fast Track Designation to AOC 1020 for the treatment of FSHD.

Phase 1/2 FORTITUDE Clinical Trial

AOC 1020 is currently being studied in the Phase 1/2 FORTITUDE trial in adult participants with FSHD. The FORTITUDE trial is a randomized, placebo-controlled, double-blind, Phase 1/2 clinical trial designed to evaluate single and multiple doses of AOC 1020 in approximately 70 adult participants with FSHD. FORTITUDE will evaluate the safety, tolerability, pharmacokinetics, and pharmacodynamics of AOC 1020 administered intravenously, with the primary objective being the safety and tolerability of AOC 1020 in FSHD patients. Activity of AOC 1020 will be assessed using key biomarkers, including magnetic resonance imaging, or MRI, measures of muscle volume and composition. Though the Phase 1/2 trial is not statistically powered to assess functional benefit, it will explore the clinical activity of AOC 1020 including measures of mobility and muscle strength as well as PROs and quality of life measures. Participants will have the option to enroll in an open-label extension study at the end of the treatment period in the FORTITUDE study. In the second quarter of 2024, we anticipate reporting preliminary data in approximately half of the study participants in the FORTITUDE trial in FSHD. The FDA and EMA have granted Orphan Designation for AOC 1020. The FDA also granted Fast Track Designation to AOC 1020 for the treatment of FSHD.

The majority of sites participating in the FORTITUDE trial are part of the FSHD clinical trial research network, or FSHD CTRN. We are partnering with the FSHD CTRN on the ongoing natural history study called Motor Outcomes to Validate Evaluations in FSHD, or MOVE FSHD. We are sponsoring the MOVE Plus, or MOVE+, sub-study which is enrolling approximately 100 participants in the US. The goal of MOVE+ is to enhance the community's understanding of how to utilize whole-body MRI and other tools to identify specific biomarkers for FSHD that can accelerate and support future clinical trial design.

Disease Overview

FSHD is characterized by progressive and often asymmetric skeletal muscle loss that initially causes weakness in muscles in the face, shoulders, arms and trunk and progresses to weakness in muscles in lower body. FSHD is an autosomal dominant disease caused by the aberrant expression of the DUX4 gene in the skeletal muscle, which activates genes that are toxic to muscle cells and leads to a series of downstream events that result in skeletal muscle wasting and compromised muscle function. Skeletal muscle weakness results in physical limitations throughout the whole body, including an inability to lift arms for more than a few seconds, loss of ability to show facial expressions and serious speech impediments. These symptoms cause many people affected by FSHD to become dependent on the use of a wheelchair for mobility. FSHD affects both sexes equally, with onset typically in teenage and young adult years. The FSHD Society estimated FSHD affects approximately one in 20,000 people in the United States. A recent study conducted in the Netherlands reported a more frequent prevalence of one in 8,333 people. We believe that the patient population is between 16,000 to 38,000 in the United States. As is typical in diseases with no approved therapies, we believe that these patient population estimates are conservative.

Current Treatment Landscape and Limitations

Currently there is no treatment for FSHD, and there are no therapies to treat the underlying cause of FSHD. Current approaches are focused on support for activities of daily living and mobility, improved functioning and lowering the risk of complications. They include physical therapy, exercise, pain management and orthopedic interventions.

Our Solution

AOC 1020 consists of our proprietary mAb that is designed to bind to TfR1 conjugated with a siRNA targeted to DUX4 mRNA to be administered as an intravenous infusion. Our preclinical data support our hypotheses on the potential advantages of AOC 1020. We believe these data suggest that AOC 1020 targets the root cause of FSHD, and may have the potential advantage of infrequent administration.

We believe that the following specific characteristics of AOC 1020 position it to have advantages over historical and current efforts to develop an effective therapy for people with FSHD:

- Addresses the underlying cause of the disease—AOC 1020 is designed to reduce the expression of the DUX4 mRNA, thereby reducing the expression of the DUX4 protein resulting in reduced expression of the downstream genes that are believed to cause FSHD. We believe these downstream genes can be used as biomarkers to assess the disease state and therapeutic activity.
- Efficient delivery of drug substance to diseased cells—The TfR1 antibody component of the AOC is designed to facilitate efficient delivery to skeletal and cardiac muscle cells, an advantage over other companies' previous unsuccessful efforts to deliver an unconjugated oligonucleotide into muscle cells. Once inside the muscle cells, the siRNA component of AOC 1020, siDUX4, acts to reduce levels of DUX4 mRNA. In preclinical models, we observed siRNA-mediated DUX4 silencing in muscle cells from patients with FSHD.
- Reproducible and scalable therapeutic—As with all our AOCs, AOC 1020 is readily synthesized using well-established and scalable methods for manufacturing mAbs and oligonucleotides.

Results from preclinical studies in FSHD patient myotubes and in an FSHD mouse disease model showed potent inhibition of DUX4-mediated gene signature in skeletal muscles. Additional preclinical studies showed that a single intravenous dose with the murine version of AOC 1020 prevented development of muscle weakness demonstrated by three functional assays: i) treadmill running, ii) in vivo force and iii) compound muscle action potential. Data from a preclinical study conducted to assess pharmacology in the mouse model of FSHD showed robust, dose-dependent downregulation of DUX4 genes in skeletal muscle for eight weeks following a single intravenous dose of the murine version of AOC 1020.

Results from a non-GLP, pharmacokinetic/pharmacodynamic study in NHP showed that AOC 1020 produced a dose-dependent increase in siRNA plasma exposure following single doses, and AOC 1020 was observed to be stable in plasma with no evidence of degradation of the intact AOC. AOC 1020 also produced a dose-dependent increase in siRNA tissue exposure following single doses in a broad panel of muscle tissue.

We completed an IND-enabling GLP toxicology study of AOC 1020 in NHP which showed that AOC 1020 was generally well tolerated and supported advancement into the clinic, with no dose limiting toxicity observed in NHP at the highest dose tested. The study did not observe any treatment-related histopathologic toxicity, platelet or renal toxicity or any changes in safety pharmacology parameters (cardiac, respiratory and neurological). The highest dose tested in both NHP and murine models was the maximum feasible dose and was the NOAEL. We believe these data suggest that AOC 1020 has the potential to be a potent, infrequently dosed therapy for people with FSHD.

Our Duchenne Muscular Dystrophy (DMD) Programs

We are developing AOCs to treat the underlying cause of DMD, a monogenic, X-linked, recessive, neuromuscular disease that almost exclusively occurs in males. DMD is caused by mutations in the gene that encodes for dystrophin, a protein critical for the normal function of muscle cells. The oligonucleotides in our AOCs are designed to promote the skipping of specific exons to allow the production of the dystrophin gene product. Our most advanced DMD program, AOC 1044, is designed to treat people with DMD44 mutations amenable to Exon 44 skipping. AOC 1044 is in clinical development in the Phase 1/2 EXPLORE44 trial. Additionally, our ongoing preclinical development programs target additional exons involved in DMD, including Exon 45, and we intend to conjugate these individual oligonucleotides to our proprietary mAb targeting TfR1.

AOC 1044 Phase 1/2 EXPLORE44 clinical trial

AOC 1044 is currently being studied in the Phase 1/2 EXPLORE44™ trial in healthy volunteers and participants with DMD44. The EXPLORE44 trial is a randomized, placebo-controlled, double-blind, Phase 1/2 clinical trial to evaluate the safety, tolerability, pharmacokinetics, and pharmacodynamic effects of single and multiple ascending doses of AOC 1044 administered intravenously, with the primary objective being the safety and tolerability of AOC 1044 in adult healthy volunteers and pediatric and adult participants with DMD44. The EXPLORE44 trial will assess exon skipping and dystrophin protein levels in participants with DMD44 and will also explore measures of muscle function, patient-reported outcomes and quality of life. Participants with DMD44 will have the option to enroll in an extension study at the end of the treatment period in the EXPLORE44 trial. The overall development program for AOC 1044, which includes the EXPLORE44 trial and the extension study, is designed to potentially support accelerated approval in the United States.

In December 2023, we announced results from the healthy volunteer portion of the EXPLORE44 trial. AOC 1044 delivered increases in concentrations of PMOs in skeletal muscle with up to 50-times greater concentrations of PMO in skeletal muscle following a single dose compared to peptide conjugated PMOs in healthy volunteers. AOC 1044 was well tolerated, demonstrated statistically significant exon 44 skipping compared to placebo of up to 1.5% in healthy volunteers after a single dose of 10 mg/kg AOC 1044 and increased exon skipping in all participants. In the second half of 2024, the Company plans to share 5 mg/kg cohort data from the Phase 1/2 EXPLORE44™ trial of AOC 1044 in people living with DMD44. The FDA and EMA have granted Orphan Designation for AOC 1044. The FDA also granted Fast Track and Rare Pediatric Disease Designation to AOC 1044 for the treatment of DMD44.

explore 44 Study Design

Disease Overview

In people with DMD, mutations in the affected gene hinder the production of normal levels of dystrophin protein, which is needed to maintain the integrity of muscle fibers. The absence of functional dystrophin leads to stresses and tears of muscle cell membranes, resulting in muscle cell death and the progressive loss of muscle function. A global database analysis characterized over 7,000 genetic mutations that cause DMD. DMD44 is ultra rare, constituting approximately 7% of DMD patients, approximately 900 of which are in the United States.

For people suffering from DMD, symptoms usually begin to manifest between three and five years of age. Affected people fail to reach developmental milestones or experience motor function challenges, such as difficulty walking or climbing stairs. Muscle wasting initially presents in the legs and pelvic area and later affects muscles of the shoulders, neck and arms, resulting in the inability to walk and dependence on a wheelchair for mobility, and later becoming paralyzed from the neck down and requiring a ventilator to breathe. Though disease severity and life expectancy vary, a patient's quality of life dramatically decreases over time, and death typically occurs by early adulthood from either cardiac or respiratory complications. DMD occurs in approximately one in every 3,500 to 5,000 males born worldwide and is estimated to affect 10,000 to 15,000 people in the United States. The estimated prevalence of DMD in the European Union is similar to that in the United States.

Current Treatment Landscape and Limitations

Currently people with DMD are treated with corticosteroids to manage the inflammatory component of the disease. There are three approved unconjugated PMO-based oligonucleotide therapies, each addressing a specific mutation. However, these drugs, in addition to requiring weekly intravenous infusions, have demonstrated a less than 6% mean increase in dystrophin in clinical trials. The FDA-approved labels for these drugs state that a clinical benefit has not yet been established and continued approval may be contingent upon the verification of such clinical benefit in confirmatory clinical trials. Additional approaches currently in clinical development include PPMOs and gene therapy. While there are therapies approved and multiple programs in clinical development for other exons, there are no therapies approved targeting Exon 44.

Our Solution

Our initial development efforts in DMD are focused on AOCs based on PMOs that can induce exon skipping for Exon 44 and additional exons, including Exon 45, conjugated to our proprietary mAb targeting TfR1. AOC 1044 is our lead program in development for DMD and targets Exon 44. We believe that our AOCs have the potential to increase the production of dystrophin in people with DMD for two reasons. First, because of recent advances in the understanding of the splicing process and placement of skipping agents on pre-mRNA described in published literature and based on these advances, we have screened for and identified PMOs with optimized skipping activity. Second, the mAb targeting TfR1 allows for more efficient delivery to muscle cells, therefore allowing for better uptake of the PMO. In preclinical studies, we also observed that our TfR1-based AOCs induced exon skipping in cardiac muscle, which we believe may address some of the cardiomyopathies in people with DMD, a key complication of the disease. Based on their mechanism of action, we believe that our AOCs could have utility in several additional DMD mutations.

Preclinical Data Supporting AOCs in DMD

In preclinical studies, we observed that treatment of an mdx mouse with an AOC caused a greater than 50-fold increase in exon skipping compared to an equimolar dose of the unconjugated oligonucleotide. In an mdx mouse model of DMD, a widely accepted mouse model in DMD, we observed that conjugating an oligonucleotide designed to bind to a specific exon can induce exon skipping and production of dystrophin protein more efficiently than unconjugated oligonucleotides. Fourteen days following treatment with a single 8mg/kg dose of a mouse Exon 23-targeting PMO conjugated to a mouse-specific mAb targeting TfR1, we observed an approximately 50-fold increase in the degree of splice switching as compared to an equimolar dose of the unconjugated PMO). Additional preclinical studies showed that an AOC approach targeting exon 23 in a murine model of DMD demonstrated exon skipping, dystrophin restoration and improved muscle function and serum biomarkers of muscle damage.

Preclinical Data Supporting AOC 1044

Data from a preclinical study of AOC 1044 in patient-derived myotubes showed dose-dependent dystrophin restoration, and a preclinical study in NHP observed dose-dependent exon skipping in skeletal and heart muscle with AOC 1044.

Additionally, in an IND-enabling GLP toxicology study of AOC 1044 in NHP, results showed that AOC 1044 was generally well tolerated and supported advancement into the clinic, with no dose limiting toxicity observed in NHP at the highest dose tested. The study did not observe any treatment-related histopathologic toxicity, platelet or renal toxicity or any changes in safety pharmacology parameters (cardiac, respiratory and neurological). The highest dose tested in both NHP and murine models was the maximum feasible dose and was the NOAEL. Results of a nine-month chronic toxicology study of AOC 1044 in NHPs was consistent with the results of the IND-enabling study. We believe these data suggest that AOC 1044 has the potential to be a potent therapy for people with DMD44.

Our Discovery Programs

Opportunities in Additional Skeletal Muscle Diseases, Cardiology and Immunology

We are committed to the advancement and expansion of our pipeline with multiple research and development candidates to treat conditions in skeletal muscle, cardiology and immunology as part of our internal discovery efforts and our collaborations with Lilly and BMS. All of the preclinical programs have been engineered using our AOC platform technology. Internally, we added a rare cardiac program and a rare skeletal muscle program. Both programs utilize the transferrin antibody. The RNA targets for both remain undisclosed.

We are collaborating with Lilly for the discovery, development and commercialization of AOCs directed to up to six selected mRNA targets in immunology and other select indications outside of muscle. Through our research collaboration with BMS and our internal discovery efforts, our development activities target multiple cardiac-specific indications.

We have multiple early stage research programs ongoing that look at other indications as well as new receptor and antibody pairs to target additional diseases, tissues and cell types with AOCs.

Manufacturing

We do not own or operate manufacturing facilities. We currently rely on third-party manufacturers and suppliers for the antibodies, oligonucleotides and linkers used to make our AOCs, and we expect to continue to do so to meet our preclinical, clinical and commercial activities. Our third-party manufacturers are required to manufacture our product candidates under current Good Manufacturing Practice, or cGMP, requirements and other applicable laws and regulations. We believe there are multiple sources for all of the materials required for the manufacture of our product candidates.

Competition

The biotechnology and biopharmaceutical industries are characterized by rapid technological advancement, significant competition and an emphasis on intellectual property. We face potential competition from many different sources, including major pharmaceutical, specialty pharmaceutical and biotechnology companies, academic institutions, governmental agencies, and public and private research institutions. Any product candidates that we successfully develop and commercialize will compete with current therapies and new therapies that may become available in the future.

With respect to AOC 1001, there are currently no approved therapies to treat the underlying cause of DM1. Products currently in development to treat DM1 include: tideglusib, a GSK3- β inhibitor in late-stage clinical development by AMO Pharma, Ltd. for the congenital phenotype of DM1; DYNE-101, an antibody fragment, or Fab, linked oligonucleotide that is being evaluated outside of the US in a Phase 1/2 clinical trial by Dyne Therapeutics Inc.; gene editing treatments in preclinical development by various companies collaborating with Vertex Pharmaceuticals, Inc., including Entrada Therapeutics, Inc.'s ENTR-701, an EEV-conjugated PMO. There are a growing number of companies in preclinical development pursuing different paths to treat DM1 and we expect that the space will continue to evolve as additional candidates advance.

There are currently no therapies to treat the underlying cause of FSHD. Products currently in development to treat FSHD include: losmapimod, a repurposed p38 MAPK inhibitor that may modulate DUX4 expression, which is being evaluated in a Phase 3 clinical trial by Fulcrum Therapeutics Inc; and RO7204239, a monoclonal antibody against latent myostatin, which is currently being evaluated in a Phase 2 clinical trial by F. Hoffmann-La Roche AG. There are a growing number of companies in preclinical development pursuing different paths to treat FSHD, including Arrowhead Pharmaceuticals, Dyne Therapeutics and miReculé, Inc./Sanofi S.A., and we expect that the space will continue to evolve as additional candidates advance.

Currently people with DMD are treated with corticosteroids to manage the inflammatory component of the disease. Deflazacort is an FDA approved corticosteroid marketed by PTC Therapeutics, Inc. In addition, there are three FDA approved exon skipping drugs marketed by Sarepta Therapeutics, Inc.: Eteplirsen, an unconjugated PMO approved for people with DMD amenable to skipping Exon 51; golodirsen for the treatment of people with DMD amenable to skipping Exon 53; and casimersen for the treatment of DMD in patients with a confirmed mutation amenable to exon 45 skipping. There is an FDA-approved exon skipping drug marketed by Nippon Shinyaku Co., Inc.: viltolarsen, an unconjugated PMO approved for people with DMD amenable to skipping Exon 53. We are developing treatments for DMD that target dystrophin mechanisms. Other companies pursuing a similar mechanism include Sarepta Therapeutics with SRP-5051, a PPMO currently being evaluated in a Phase 2 clinical trial for patients amenable to Exon 51 skipping, Dyne Therapeutics with DYNE-251, a PMO conjugated to a Fab currently being evaluated in a Phase 1/2 clinical trial for patients amendable to Exon 51 skipping; Wave Life Sciences, Ltd. with WVE-N531, an unconjugated PN-modified exon-skipping oligonucleotide currently being evaluated in a Phase 1/2 clinical trial for patients amenable to Exon 53 skipping; PepGen with PGN-EDO51, a peptide-conjugated oligonucleotide for patients amenable to Exon 51 skipping completed a Phase 1 clinical trial; and PTC Therapeutics with ataluren, a small molecule targeting nonsense mutations in a Phase 3 clinical trial. While there are multiple programs in development for people with DMD amenable to skipping Exon 51 or 53, there are very few targeting Exon 44. NS Pharma, Inc. is running a Phase 1/2 trial with NS-089/NCNP-02 in people amenable to Exon 44 skipping in Japan. In December 2022, Entrada's

Plaintiff/Defendant/Claimant/Respondent AYTU BIOPHARMA, INC., et al v. Granules Pharmaceuticals Inc.			Lawsuit/Arbitration/Bankruptcy Lawsuit
Name of Business/Industry/Entity Aytu BioPharma, Inc.

Provide explanation below:

In October 2024, we received a Paragraph IV Certification Notice Letter ("Notice Letter") from Granules Pharmaceuticals, Inc. ("Granules"), stating that it intends to market a generic version of Adzenys before the expiration of all patents currently listed in the Orange Book. The Notice Letter states that Granules' NDA for the generic version of Adzenys contains a Paragraph IV certification alleging that these patents are not valid, not enforceable, and/or will not be infringed by the commercial manufacture, use or sale of the generic version of Adzenys.

On December 17, 2024, we filed a patent infringement lawsuit against Granules which triggers a stay precluding the FDA from approving Granules' NDA for a generic version of Adzenys for up to 30 months or entry of judgment holding the patents invalid, unenforceable, or not infringed, whichever occurs first.

On January 7, 2025, Granules submitted an answer to the complaint. On June 27, 2025, the courts entered a stipulation order, given that we have proven our entire infringement case against Granules. As a result of this stipulation, Granules is now on record as admitting infringement of 12 of our patent claims across 4 patents. Going forward, the case will focus exclusively on Granules' arguments to invalidate all 12 of the admittedly infringed claims. The current stipulation will streamline the case and reduce the remaining legal spend. The parties remain engaged in settlement negotiations. The litigation is ongoing. Trial is scheduled to begin on December 7, 2026. We plan to vigorously enforce our intellectual property rights related to Adzenys.

Reason/Charge Claim for short swing profits
Plaintiff/Defendant/Claimant/Respondent Revive Investing LLC v. Armistice Capital			Lawsuit/Arbitration/Bankruptcy Lawsuit
Name of Business/Industry/Entity Aytu BioPharma, Inc.

Provide explanation below:

The Company is a nominal defendant in this Section 16(b) allegation against the defendant, Armistice Capital, for short swing profits. On September 21, 2020, the plaintiff, Revive Investing LLC, filed a civil action No.: 20-CV-2849 in the United States District Court for the District of Colorado. The plaintiff is demanding judgement against the defendant for:

1. recovery from Armistice of all profits resulting from their purported short-swing trades in the Company's Common Stock in violation of Section 16(b) of the Exchange Act during all periods not barred by the statute of limitations in an amount of at least $8,364,415.28;
2. interest on the amount of profits recovered, calculated from the time Armistice realized the profits;
3. reasonable attorney's fees;
4. costs; and
5. such other and further relief as the Court deems just.

The defendant filed a Motion for Summary Judgement on January 17, 2023. The court denied the motion to dismiss and held that since the shareholders were harmed by Armistice's conduct, the plaintiffs had standing.

Trial began on January 27, 2025, and on January 29, 2025, the jury rendered a verdict. The jury found unanimously that Armistice is exempt from a law that would otherwise require it to return $11 million in profits from short-swing trades. The case is now closed, with an appeal unlikely to occur. As a result of Armistice retaining the full $11 million, Aytu does not receive any cash proceeds.

On March 6, 2025, the plaintiffs file an appeal in the United States Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit. As with the original case, Aytu only stands to benefit from a ruling in favor of the plaintiffs.

Since the Company is a nominal defendant, this lawsuit only serves to benefit the Company, as, if the plaintiff is successful or the case is settled, it is expected that the Company will receive some of the cash proceeds.

Plaintiff/Defendant/Claimant/Respondent Stein v. Neos Therapeutics, Inc., et al			Lawsuit/Arbitration/Bankruptcy Lawsuit
Name of Business/Industry/Entity Neos Therapeutics, Inc.

Provide explanation below:

On February 17, 2023, Aytu received a Civil Summons in the Jefferson Circuit of Kentucky State Court from a former employee alleging wrongful termination. Stein was an employee of Aytu until her resignation on February 18, 2022. Aytu’s Human Resources (“HR”) department was informed by a different employee, and friend of Stein, that Stein had experienced unconfirmed harassment from a supervisor. HR reached out to Stein and to the accused to investigate the matter with Aytu’s outside counsel, Dorsey & Whitney to assist with the investigation process. Stein was unwilling to cooperate and submitted her two weeks’ notice on February 18, 2022. Aytu paid Stein for the two weeks and dismissed her on the same day, February 18, 2022. Aytu does not believe there was any wrongdoing on behalf of the supervisor, or company following an investigation of the facts and circumstances surrounding the plaintiff’s complaint.

Aytu filed a Notice of Removal to federal court in Kentucky on March 9, 2023. The case was removed to federal court, and motion to remand was not timely filed by the plaintiff’s counsel. Aytu filed motion to dismiss March 15, 2023. Stein responded to motion to dismiss April 12, 2023. April 24, 2023, Aytu filed a reply to memo in support of their motion to dismiss on the basis of Aytu not qualifying as an employer in the state of Kentucky as defined by law. The court denied the motion to dismiss claiming Stein filed in good faith.

On March 5, 2024, Aytu filed the Answer to the Complaint. On March 29, 2024, Aytu received the Plaintiff’s initial disclosures, and Aytu delivered the same. An in-person Rule 16 settlement conference is set for Monday, June 3 starting at 10:00 a.m. eastern time in Louisville, Kentucky.

The parties settled the matter for $150k, on August 5, 2024.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER

Plaintiff Cielo Stein filed this action against her employer, Neos Therapeutics, Inc., and its parent company, Aytu Biopharma, Inc., in Jefferson County Circuit Court, alleging constructive discharge and violations of the antiretaliation provision of the Kentucky Civil Rights Act (KCRA). (D.N. 1-1) Defendants removed the action to this Court (D.N. 1) and now move to dismiss pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6). (D.N. 7) Upon careful consideration, the Court will deny the motion to dismiss for the reasons explained below.

I.

The Court “takes the facts only from the complaint, accepting them as true as [it] must do in reviewing a 12(b)(6) motion.” Siefert v. Hamilton Cnty., 951 F.3d 753, 757 (6th Cir. 2020) (citing Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6)). The complaint alleges inappropriate behavior by Stein’s manager, Paul Alberts. (D.N. 1-1, PageID.18 ¶¶ 16, 21-25) Stein alleges that because she rejected Alberts’s advances, he began bullying her (id., PageID.19 ¶ 28), depriving her of opportunities to train new hires (id., PageID.19-20 ¶¶ 30-41), and questioning her expense reports (id., PageID.20-22 ¶¶ 42-54). Stein eventually resigned from her position after Alberts once again questioned her expense reports. (Id., PageID.24 ¶¶ 84-86) Stein then filed this lawsuit, alleging that she had “engaged in activity protected by the KCRA when she opposed her supervisor’s unwelcome sexual conduct”

(id., PageID.26 ¶ 100) and levied “protests, rebukes, and opposition” (id., PageID.26 ¶ 102), and that Neos and Aytu took adverse actions against Stein “because she engaged in these activities, protected under the KCRA.” (Id., PageID.26 ¶ 103) Stein also brought a claim for constructive discharge against both defendants. (Id., PageID.27 ¶¶ 110-114) Neos and Aytu move to dismiss the complaint, arguing that Stein failed to adequately allege that they are employers under the KCRA and that Stein’s opposition was therefore not protected conduct. (D.N. 7, PageID.68-69)

II.

To survive a Rule 12(b)(6) motion, “a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to ‘state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.’” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (quoting Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007)). A claim is plausible on its face “when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged,” Id. Factual allegations are essential; “[t]hreadbare recitals of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory statements, do not suffice,” and the Court need not accept such statements as true. Id. A complaint whose “well-pleaded facts do not permit the court to infer more than the mere possibility of misconduct” does not satisfy the pleading requirements of Rule 8 and will not withstand a motion to dismiss. Id. at 679.

The defendants argue that the complaint must be dismissed because Stein fails to allege that either of them employs eight or more employees in Kentucky.¹ (D.N. 7, PageID.68-69) Although the precise basis of their argument is unclear, the defendants appear to argue that this deficiency is fatal to the complaint because (1) they cannot be held liable under the KCRA unless they are “employers” as defined by Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 344.030(2), and (2) Stein lacked a good-faith belief that she was opposing practices made unlawful under the KCRA if the defendants are not “employers” and thus were not subject to Act’s discrimination provision. (See id., PageID.116-20 (addressing both arguments)) As explained below, neither argument merits dismissal.

A. Retaliation Liability Under the KCRA

The defendants argue that the complaint “fails to allege sufficient facts that, taken as true, could allow the Court to conclude that either Defendant is subject to the KCRA.” (D.N. 7, PageID.71-72) Specifically, the defendants claim that Stein does not allege facts showing that they are “employers” under the Act and that they thus cannot be liable under the KCRA’s antiretaliation provision. (Id., PageID.68-69)

It is true that a defendant must usually be an “employer” as defined by the KCRA to be liable under the Act. See Wathen v. Gen. Elec. Co., 115 F.3d 400, 405 (6th Cir. 1997) (“[A]n individual . . . who does not otherwise qualify as an ‘employer,’ may not be held personally liable under Title VII. Because KRS Chapter 344 mirrors Title VII, we find our holding equally applicable to KRS Chapter 344.”). The antiretaliation provision of the KCRA, however, states that “[i]t shall be an unlawful practice for a person . . . [t]o retaliate or discriminate in any manner against a person because he has opposed a practice declared unlawful by this chapter.” Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 344.280 (emphasis added). Accordingly, the Sixth Circuit has cautioned that

[t]hough this statement from Wathen is generally true, it clearly does not apply to retaliation claims brought under Ky. Rev. Stat. § 344.280. This section does not “mirror” 42 U.S.C. § 2000e–3(a), the analogous retaliation provision of Title VII, which forbids retaliation by “an employer.” Rather, § 344.280 forbids retaliation by “a person.”

Morris v. Oldham Cnty. Fiscal Ct., 201 F.3d 784, 794 (6th Cir. 2000); see also Lewis v. Quaker Chem. Corp., Nos. 99-5405, 99-5482, 229 F.3d 1152 at *7 (6th Cir. 2000) (“Because Kentucky prohibits retaliation by a “person,” we find that liability for unlawful retaliation under § 344.280 of the KCRA does not depend on the person’s status as an “employer” under § 344.030(2).”) (unpublished table decision). A “person” is defined under the KCRA as “one (1) or more individuals . . . corporations . . . or other legal or commercial entity.” Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 344.010(1). In her complaint, Stein alleges that “Defendant Neos Therapeutics, Inc. is a for-profit Delaware corporation” (D.N. 1-1, PageID.17 ¶ 2) and that “Defendant Aytu Biopharma, Inc. is a foreign corporation.” (Id., PageID.17 ¶ 3) Stein has thus adequately alleged that the defendants are subject to the KCRA for purposes of her retaliation claim. See Morris, 201 F.3d at 794; § 344.010(1).

B. Protected Activity

While the defendants may be held liable for retaliating against opposition to a practice declared unlawful under the KCRA, Stein must plead and ultimately prove that she engaged in protected activity. See § 344.280. Federal courts have at times required plaintiffs to plead—as Defendants argue Stein failed to do here—that they opposed discriminatory practices by an “employer” as defined by the KCRA. See Banados v. Alto-Shaam, Inc., No. CV 5:22-125-DCR, 2022 WL 2252750, at *2-3 (E.D. Ky. June 22, 2022) (stating that “while liability is not dependent upon an offender’s status as an employer,” if the plaintiff does not “sufficiently allege that the defendant was an ‘employer’ for purposes of her discrimination claim, then there was no underlying violation for a retaliation claim”); Owens v. Ward, No. CIV.A. 5:08-CV-413-K, 2009 WL 482097, at *7 (E.D. Ky. Feb. 25, 2009) (“If there is no ‘employer’ with at least eight employees, there is no ‘practice declared unlawful’ under Chapter 344.”); Himmelheber v. ev3, Inc., No. CIV.A. 3:07-CV-593H, 2008 WL 360694, at *2-3 (W.D. Ky. Feb. 8, 2008) (finding that plaintiff’s failure to “sufficiently allege that ev3 is an ‘employer’ as defined by the KCRA . . . leaves her retaliation claims without any underlying violation”). These federal cases, however, conflict with Kentucky precedents interpreting the KCRA. See Smith v. Lewis, No. 2018-CA-000180-MR, 2019 WL 2896018, at *4 (Ky. Ct. App. July 5, 2019) (rejecting defendant’s argument based on Owens, citing Kentucky precedent that plaintiffs do not need to allege facts establishing a good-faith basis for believing that the conduct they opposed violated the KCRA).

The Kentucky Supreme Court has held that the antiretaliation provision of the KCRA protects any employee who acted with a good-faith belief that the actions she opposed were KCRA violations. See Charalambakis v. Ashbury Univ., 488 S.W.3d 568, 580 (Ky. 2016); see also Ashbury Univ. v. Powell, 486 S.W.3d 246, 252 (Ky. 2016). A plaintiff therefore need not plead or prove that a KCRA violation actually occurred to sustain a retaliation claim. See Powell, 486 S.W.3d at 252 (holding that an employee need only have “‘a reasonable and good faith belief’ that the adverse employment practices she opposed were KCRA violations” and that “an underlying violation of the KCRA need not necessarily be proved to sustain a retaliation claim” (quoting Wasek v. Arrow Energy Servs., Inc., 682 F.3d 463, 469 (6th Cir. 2012))). Moreover, under Kentucky law, a plaintiff alleging retaliation “under KRS Chapter 344 is entitled to the presumption that he is acting in good faith.” Charalambakis, 488 S.W.3d at 580 (holding that defendants may be entitled to a jury instruction on reasonable good-faith belief in unlawful conduct only if the “defendant-employer advances sufficient proof at trial to place the good faith and reasonableness of the [plaintiff’s] belief in doubt”). Thus, while a jury could ultimately find that Stein lacked a good-faith belief that the conduct that she opposed violated the KCRA, the Court may not dismiss the complaint on that basis. See Crawford v. Kohl’s Inc., No. CV 5:21-119-DCR, 2021 WL 4189617, at *3 (E.D. Ky. Sept. 14, 2021) (denying motion for judgment on the pleadings on plaintiff’s KCRA retaliation claim because plaintiff “contend[ed] that she opposed what she reasonably and in good faith believed was ‘racially harassing conduct’”); Meads v. Lexington-Fayette Urb. Cnty. Gov’t, No. CV 5:13-228-DCR, 2017 WL 2952283, at *5 (E.D. Ky. July 10, 2017) (“The Kentucky Supreme Court has made clear that a plaintiff alleging retaliation under the KCRA is not required to plead or affirmatively prove that he acted in good faith when he opposed a practice declared unlawful under the KCRA.”); Charalambakis, 488 S.W.3d at 580; Smith, 2019 WL 2896018, at *4.

III.

For the reasons set forth above, and the Court being otherwise sufficiently advised, it is hereby

ORDERED as follows:

- (1) Defendants’ motion to dismiss (D.N. 7) DENIED.
- (2) Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(A), this matter is hereby REFERRED to U.S. Magistrate Judge Colin H. Lindsay for resolution of all litigation planning issues, entry of scheduling orders, consideration of amendments thereto, and resolution of all non-dispositive matters, including discovery issues. Judge Lindsay is further authorized and the Court requests that he conduct a settlement conference in this matter.

Plaintiff/Defendant/Claimant/Respondent Paul Witmer v. Armistice Capital, Et Al.			Lawsuit/Arbitration/Bankruptcy Lawsuit
Name of Business/Industry/Entity Aytu BioPharma, Inc.

Provide explanation below:

On September 29, 2021, plaintiff, Paul Witmer's counsel sent a Section 220 Demand for Inspection of Books and Records, to investigate potential breaches of fiduciary duties by the defendant, and the Company's Board of Directors, and evaluate the independence of the board.

On September 12, 2022, the plaintiff filed a complaint in Chancery Court of Delaware based on the allegations underlying the books & records requests by the plaintiff and Frank Crane. The complaint is against Armistice, former Company director Steven Boyd, and the remaining Company directors (Joshua Disbrow, Carl Dockery, John Donofrio, and Ketan Mehta (prior director)). Current Company directors Vivian Liu and Abhinav Jain are not involved in this litigation. The causes of action against the directors themselves include breach of fiduciary duty, aiding and abetting breach of fiduciary duty, and waste of corporate assets.

On February 10, 2023, the Company's counsel Dorsey & Whitney received a confidential settlement demand from plaintiff's counsel including governance improvements (including addition of two new independent directors, among other things), the Company's investigation of the issues in the complaint with its findings to be disclosed in a 10-Q, and attorney's fees.

On February 28, 2023, plaintiff's counsel requested an additional 30-day extension to file a complaint through April 5, 2023. The Company agreed to the extension and responded in a timely manner. On September 11, 2023, plaintiff's counsel reached out to Dorsey & Whitney with a settlement offer. While the Company believed that this lawsuit was without merit and had vigorously defended against it, the Company had agreed to settle the matter, as against it and the direct defendants other than Mr. Boyd, for various corporate governance modifications and the payment of plaintiff's attorneys' fees. On January 13, 2025, the court approved a settlement amount for $250,000, and did not approve the $5,000 spiff for Witmer. The payment has been made, and the matter is now closed.

[PROPOSED] ORDER AND FINAL JUDGMENT

WHEREAS, a shareholder derivative lawsuit is pending in this Court captioned Witmer v. Armistice Capital LLC, et al., C.A. No. 2022-0807-MTZ (the “Action”);

WHEREAS, (i) Plaintiff Paul Witmer (“Plaintiff”) and (ii) Defendants Joshua Disbrow, Gary Cantrell, John Donofrio, Jr., Carl Dockery, and Ketan B. Mehta (the “D&O Defendants”); and (iii) Aytu BioPharma, Inc. (“Aytu” or the “Company,” and together with the D&O Defendants, the “Aytu Defendants”) (Plaintiff and the Aytu Defendants together, the “Settling Parties”) have determined to settle all claims asserted against the D&O Defendants in the Action on the terms and conditions set forth in the Stipulation and Agreement of Settlement, Compromise, and Release dated March 13, 2024 (the “Stipulation”), subject to the approval of this Court (the “Settlement”);

WHEREAS, by Order dated November 12, 2024 (the “Scheduling Order”), this Court (i) ordered that notice of the proposed Settlement be provided to current Aytu shareholders; (ii) provided current Aytu shareholders with the opportunity to object to the proposed Settlement, and/or Plaintiff’s application for an award of attorneys’ fees and litigation expenses and a service award to Plaintiff (the “Fee and Expense Application”); and (iii) scheduled a hearing regarding final approval of the Settlement;

WHEREAS, the Court conducted a hearing on January 13, 2025 (the “Settlement Hearing”) to consider, among other things: (i) whether the Settlement, on the terms and conditions provided for in the Agreement, is fair, reasonable, and adequate and in the best interests of Aytu and its shareholders; (ii) whether the Court should finally approve the Settlement and enter a judgment dismissing the claims against the D&O Defendants with prejudice and extinguishing and releasing the claims against the D&O Defendants as set forth therein; (iii) any objections to the Settlement; and (iv) Plaintiff's application for an award of attorneys' fees and expenses and for a service award to Plaintiff; and

WHEREAS, due notice of the hearing has been given in accordance with the Scheduling Order; the Settling Parties having appeared by their respective attorneys of record; the Court having heard and considered evidence in support of the proposed Settlement; the attorneys for the respective Parties having been heard; an opportunity to be heard having been given to all other persons or entities requesting to be heard in accordance with the Scheduling Order; the Court having determined that notice to Aytu shareholders was adequate and sufficient; and the entire matter of the proposed Settlement having been heard and considered by the Court;

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED, ADJUDGED, AND DECREED, this __ day of _____, 2025, as follows:

1. Definitions: Unless otherwise defined herein, capitalized terms used herein shall have the same meanings given to them in the Stipulation.
2. Jurisdiction: The Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter of the Action and all matters relating to the Settlement.
3. Notice: The Court finds that the dissemination of the Notice and the publication of the Summary Notice: (i) were implemented in accordance with the Scheduling Order, except for an immaterial delay of which the Parties previously advised the Court; (ii) constituted the best notice practicable under the circumstances; (iii) constituted notice that was reasonably calculated, under the circumstances, to apprise current Aytu shareholders of: the pendency of the Action; the effect of the proposed Settlement and the Fee and Expense Application; their right to object to any aspect of the Settlement and/or the Fee and Expense Application; and their right to appear at the Settlement Hearing; (iv) constituted due, adequate, and sufficient notice to all persons and entities entitled to receive notice of the proposed Settlement; and (v) satisfied the requirements of Court of Chancery Rule 23.1 and all other applicable law and rules.

4. Final Settlement Approval and Dismissal of Claims: This Court hereby fully and finally approves the Settlement set forth in the Stipulation in all respects and finds that the Settlement is, in all respects, fair, reasonable, and adequate to Plaintiff and the Aytu Defendants and in their best interests. The Settling Parties are directed to implement, perform, and consummate the Settlement in accordance with the terms and provisions contained in the Stipulation, which this Judgment incorporates and makes a part hereof.

5. All of the claims asserted in the Action against the D&O Defendants are hereby dismissed with prejudice. The Parties shall bear their own fees, costs, and expenses, except as otherwise provided in the Stipulation and this Judgment.

6. Binding Effect: The terms of the Stipulation and of this Judgment shall be forever binding on the Settling Parties, as well as their respective successors and assigns.

7. Releases: The Releases set forth in the Stipulation are expressly incorporated herein in all respects. The Releases are effective as of the Effective Date. Accordingly, this Court orders that:

(a) Upon the Effective Date of the Settlement, Plaintiff, by operation of the Judgment and to the fullest extent permitted by law, shall completely, fully, finally, and forever release, relinquish, settle, and discharge Plaintiff's Released Claims as against the D&O Defendants, and shall forever be barred and enjoined from commencing, instigating, or prosecuting the Released Plaintiff's Claims against the Released D&O Defendants' Persons.

(b) Upon the Effective Date of the Settlement, the Aytu Defendants, on behalf of themselves and their respective heirs, executors, administrators, predecessors, successors, representatives, trustees, estates, transferees, and assigns, in their capacities as such, and any other person or entity purporting to claim through or on behalf of them in such capacity, by operation of the Judgment and to the fullest extent permitted by law, shall completely, fully, finally, and forever release, relinquish, settle, and discharge the Aytu Defendants' Released Claims as against the Plaintiff and his attorneys, and shall forever be barred and enjoined from commencing, instigating, or prosecuting the Released Aytu Defendants' Claims against the Released Plaintiff's Person.

(c) Notwithstanding the foregoing Releases, nothing in the Stipulation or in this Judgment shall in any way impair or restrict the rights of the Parties to enforce the terms of the Settlement pursuant to the Stipulation.

8. Award of Attorneys' Fees and Expenses: Plaintiff's Counsel are hereby awarded attorneys' fees and expenses in the amount of $250,000 ("Fee and Expense Award"), which sum the Court finds to be fair and reasonable. The Fee and Expense Award shall be paid to Plaintiff's Counsel by Aytu or its insurers. The Court defers ruling on Plaintiff's request for a service award pending the ultimate resolution of this Action. No proceedings or court order with respect to the Fee and Expense Award to Plaintiff's Counsel shall in any way affect or delay the finality of this Judgment (or otherwise preclude this Judgment from being entitled to preclusive effect), and shall not affect or delay the Effective Date of the Settlement.

9. Modification of the Stipulation: Without further approval from the Court, the Parties are hereby authorized to agree to and adopt such amendments or modifications of the Stipulation or any Exhibits attached thereto to effectuate the Settlement that: (i) are not materially inconsistent with this Judgment; and (ii) do not materially limit the rights of current Aytu shareholders in connection with the Settlement. Without further order of the Court, the Parties may agree to reasonable extensions of time to carry out any provisions of the Settlement.

10. Termination of Settlement: If the Settlement is terminated as provided in the Stipulation or the Effective Date of the Settlement otherwise fails to occur, this Judgment shall be vacated, rendered null and void, and be of no further force and effect, except as otherwise provided by the Stipulation; this Judgment shall be without prejudice to the rights of the Settling Parties; and Plaintiff and Defendants shall revert to their respective positions in the Action as of immediately prior to the execution of the Stipulation.

11. Retention of Jurisdiction: Without affecting the finality of this Judgment in any way, this Court retains continuing and exclusive jurisdiction over the Parties for purposes of the administration, interpretation, implementation, and enforcement of the Settlement, and all other matters relating to the Action and the Settlement.

12. Entry of Final Judgment: There is no just reason to delay the entry of this Judgment as a final judgment in the Action as to the D&O Defendants. Accordingly, the Register in Chancery is expressly directed to immediately enter this final Judgment in the Action as to the D&O Defendants.

Date of Event/Arrest February 9, 2022	Disposition Date December 28, 2022	State DE	City Wilmington	County New Castle County
Case # ase No. 2022-0135-KSJM		Governing, licensing, Arresting Presiding Body/Agency/Court Chancery of the State of Delaware
Reason/Charge Breach of fiduciary duty
Plaintiff/Defendant/Claimant/Respondent Aponowicz v. Cantrell et al.			Lawsuit/Arbitration/Bankruptcy Lawsuit
Name of Business/Industry/Entity Aytu BioPharma, Inc.

Provide explanation below:

A putative class action was filed on February 9, 2022, in the Delaware Chancery Court by Rafal Aponowicz derivatively and on behalf of all Aytu stockholders, challenging the grant in 2021 of certain stock option awards to directors and officers. The stockholder contends those awards were in amounts exceeding the shares available under the Company's 2015 equity incentive plan and that the directors therefore breached their fiduciary duties and breached a purported contract between them and stockholders. The Complaint seeks rescission of the awards, unspecified damages to stockholders as a result of the awards, and attorneys' fees. A second such action was filed by Paul John M. Pagua on March 7, 2022; Mr. Pagua asserts the same claims and seeks the same relief. The parties have agreed to settle these matters for various corporate governance modifications and the payment of plaintiffs' attorneys' fees, subject to approval by the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware. Notice of the settlement has been provided to stockholders of record as of December 31, 2022, and the settlement approval hearing is scheduled for March 10, 2023. The agreed upon attorney's fees to settle this claim were $425,000. The court approved the settlement April 18, 2023, reducing the attorneys' fees from $425,000 to $382,500. Aytu must pay that amount by May 2, 2023. The amount was paid, and this matter is considered closed.

NOTICE OF PENDENCY OF SETTLEMENT OF ACTIONS

TO: ALL RECORD AND BENEFICIAL OWNERS OF AYTU BIOPHARMA, INC. COMMON STOCK (TRADING SYMBOL: AYTU) AND ALL AYTU CLASS MEMBERS AS OF APRIL 16, 2021.

PLEASE READ THIS NOTICE CAREFULLY AND IN ITS ENTIRETY. YOUR RIGHTS WILL BE AFFECTED BY THE LEGAL PROCEEDINGS IN THIS LITIGATION. IF THE COURT APPROVES THE PROPOSED SETTLEMENT,¹ YOU WILL BE FOREVER BARRED FROM CONTESTING THE FAIRNESS, REASONABLENESS, AND ADEQUACY OF THE PROPOSED SETTLEMENT, OR PURSUING THE CLAIMS DEFINED HEREIN.

IF YOU HOLD AYTU BIOPHARMA, INC. COMMON STOCK FOR THE BENEFIT OF ANOTHER, PLEASE PROMPTLY TRANSMIT THIS DOCUMENT TO SUCH BENEFICIAL OWNER.

IF YOU DO NOT OBJECT TO THE PROPOSED SETTLEMENT, OR THE AGREED-TO ATTORNEYS' FEE AND EXPENSE AMOUNT DESCRIBED IN THIS NOTICE, YOU ARE NOT OBLIGATED TO TAKE ANY ACTION.

PLEASE NOTE: THERE IS NO PROOF OF CLAIM FORM FOR AYTU STOCKHOLDERS OR CLASS MEMBERS TO SUBMIT IN CONNECTION WITH THIS SETTLEMENT AND AYTU STOCKHOLDERS OR CLASS MEMBERS ARE NOT REQUIRED TO TAKE ANY ACTION IN RESPONSE TO THIS NOTICE.

I. WHY ARE YOU RECEIVING THIS NOTICE?

The purpose of this Notice is to inform you about (i) two lawsuits (the “Actions”) in the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware (the “Court”) brought on behalf of Aytu BioPharma, Inc. (“Aytu,” “Nominal Defendant,” or the “Company”); (ii) the proposed Settlement, subject to Court approval, on the terms and conditions set forth in the Stipulation of Compromise and Settlement (the “Stipulation”); (iii) the Court’s preliminary certification of the Class in connection with the proposed Settlement; (iv) Aytu stockholders’ and Class Members’ rights with respect to the proposed Settlement and Plaintiffs’ Counsel’s Fee and Expense Amount; and (v) your right, among other things, to attend and participate in a hearing to be held on March 10, 2023 at 11:00 a.m., in the Court of Chancery, Leonard L. Williams Justice Center, 500 North King Street, Wilmington, Delaware 19801 (the “Settlement Hearing”), at which the Court will (a) determine whether the proposed Settlement, on the terms and conditions provided for in the Stipulation, is fair, reasonable, and adequate and in the best interests of Aytu, its stockholders and the Class Members; (b) determine whether the Actions should be permanently maintained as non-opt-out class actions and whether the Class should be certified permanently, for purposes of the Settlement only, pursuant to Court of Chancery Rules 23(a), 23(b)(1) and (b)(2); (c) determine whether Plaintiffs should be permanently designated as representatives for the Class and Plaintiffs’ Counsel as counsel for the Class, and to determine whether Plaintiffs and Plaintiffs’ Counsel have adequately represented the interests of the Class in the Actions; (d) approve the form and content of the Notice of the Settlement to the stockholders and the Class; (e) determine whether the Court should finally approve the Stipulation and enter the Order and Final Judgment (the “Final Judgment”) substantially in the form attached as Exhibit C to the Stipulation, dismissing the Actions with prejudice and extinguishing and releasing the Released Claims; (f) hear and determine any objections to the proposed Settlement; (g) determine whether the Court should approve Plaintiffs’ Counsel’s application for approval of the Fee and Expense Amount agreed upon by the Settling Parties; and (h) rule on such other matters as the Court may deem appropriate.

This Notice describes the rights you may have under the Stipulation and what steps you may, but are not required to, take concerning the proposed Settlement. If the Court approves the Stipulation, the parties will ask the Court to approve the Final Judgment that would end the Actions.

II. BACKGROUND: WHAT ARE THE ACTIONS ABOUT?

THE FOLLOWING DESCRIPTION DOES NOT CONSTITUTE FINDINGS OF ANY COURT. IT IS BASED ON STATEMENTS OF THE PARTIES AND SHOULD NOT BE UNDERSTOOD AS AN EXPRESSION OF ANY OPINION OF ANY COURT AS TO THE MERITS OF ANY OF THE CLAIMS OR DEFENSES RAISED BY ANY OF THE PARTIES.

Plaintiffs are Rafal Aponowicz and Paul John M. Paguia. Nominal Defendant Aytu is a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business in Englewood, Colorado. It is a commercial-stage specialty pharmaceutical company focused on commercializing novel products that address needs in both prescription and consumer health categories. Gary Cantrell, Joshua Disbrow, Carl Dockery, John Donofrio, Jr. and Michael Macaluso (together, the “Individual Defendants” and, together with Aytu, the “Defendants”) are members of the Board of Directors of Aytu (the “Board”) and comprised the Board at the time the Actions were filed. Plaintiffs, Nominal Defendant Aytu, and the Individual Defendants are collectively referred to herein as the “Settling Parties.”

On February 9, 2022, Plaintiff Aponowicz filed a stockholder derivative and class action lawsuit titled Aponowicz v. Cantrell, et al., No. 2022-0135-KSJM, on behalf of the Company, in the Court. On March 3, 2022, Plaintiff Paguia filed a stockholder derivative and class action lawsuit titled Paguia v. Cantrell, et al., No. 2022-0200-KSJM on behalf of the Company, in the Court.

The Actions allege that the Individual Defendants breached their fiduciary duties and breached a contract with the Company’s stockholders when they did not adjust the share reserve from 5,000,000 shares to 500,000 shares under the 2015 Stock Option and Incentive Plan (the “2015 Plan”) after implementing a reverse-stock split, violating the express terms of the 2015 Plan. The Actions further allege that the Individual Defendants granted awards in excess of the true share reserves of the 2015 Plan, thus violating the 2015 Plan and breaching their fiduciary duty under Delaware law.

Following the commencement of the Actions, counsel for the Settling Parties discussed a potential resolution of the Actions. Among other things, the Settling Parties’ discussions focused on the nature of the potential claims at issue, the potential defenses to those claims, the approximate dollar amounts at issue, and the potential costs and expenses of litigation to judgment.

Between April and October 2022, the Settling Parties engaged in numerous rounds of negotiations, reaching an agreement in principle to settle all of the claims asserted in the Actions. Plaintiffs and Plaintiffs' Counsel believe that the Settlement is fair and adequate to the Company and its stockholders, and that it is appropriate and reasonable to pursue Court approval of the Settlement based on the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in the Stipulation.

THE COURT HAS NOT FINALLY DETERMINED THE MERITS OF PLAINTIFFS' CLAIMS OR THE DEFENSES THERETO. THIS NOTICE DOES NOT IMPLY THAT THERE HAS BEEN OR WOULD BE ANY FINDING OF VIOLATION OF THE LAW BY THE INDIVIDUAL DEFENDANTS OR THAT RECOVERY COULD BE HAD IN ANY AMOUNT IF THE ACTIONS WERE NOT SETTLED.

III. HOW DO I KNOW IF I AM AFFECTED BY THE SETTLEMENT?

If you are a current Aytu stockholder or Class Member, you are subject to the Settlement. The Class preliminarily certified by the Court for purposes of the proposed Settlement consists of:

all record and beneficial owners of Aytu common stock as of April 16, 2021. Excluded from the Class are Defendants and any person, firm, trust, corporation, or other entity affiliated with them and their predecessors or successor in interest. "Class Member" means a Person who falls within the definition of the Class.

IV. WHAT ARE THE TERMS OF THE SETTLEMENT?

To settle the Actions, Defendants have agreed:

1. The Board shall cancel 25% of the aggregate share awards challenged in the Actions, the resulting reduction to be allocated among Defendants as follows:

Granted Rescinded

Joshua Disbrow	800,000	80,000
Gary Cantrell	187,804	40,000
Carl Dockery	187,804	40,000
John Donofrio	187,804	187,804
Michael Macaluso	187,804	40,000
	1,551,216	387,804

2. The Company shall add to the Board two new directors who meet the NASDAQ standard of independence. One such new director has already been added to the Board and, within six months of the date of Final Court approval of the Settlement, shall serve as the Chair of the Board's Compensation Committee. The other new director shall be appointed within six months of the date of Final Court approval of the Settlement and will also be appointed to the Compensation Committee.
3. The Company shall designate a Lead Independent Director to coordinate the activities of the other independent directors and, among other things, to preside at all meetings of the Board when the Chair is not present, to call meetings of the independent directors, to retain advisors and consultants on behalf of the Board, to interview and make recommendations regarding director candidates, and to perform such other duties and responsibilities as the Board may determine. The Lead Independent Director shall be a director who meets the standard of "independence" under the NASDAQ rules. He or she may be removed or replaced from his/her position as Lead Independent Director at any time with or without cause by a majority vote of the Board.
4. The Board shall adopt a new equity compensation plan and seek stockholder approval of this new plan at the Company's next annual stockholder meeting. That plan shall include the following terms:
 - a. The plan administrator shall adjust the maximum number of shares reserved for issuance under the plan, in the event of any reorganization, reclassification, stock dividend, stock split, reverse stock split, or similar change in the Company's capital stock, proportionately unless the Board's Compensation Committee determines, in a good faith exercise of its sole discretion, that a fully proportional adjustment would not be conducive to retention and recruitment needs, in which case the Board's Compensation Committee may make an adjustment that is not less than 50% of the number that would be fully proportional; and

- b. The number of shares reserved for issuance under the plan shall not ever exceed 15% of the Company's then total authorized and outstanding shares.
5. The Board shall not award Defendants any further equity awards under the 2015 Plan.
6. From 2022–2024, the Board shall limit to a maximum of $175,000 the total annual compensation (i.e., annual retainer, meeting fees, annual equity awards, etc.) payable to each of the Company's non-employee directors.
7. On at least a bi-annual basis (i.e., every other year), qualified experts in the field shall make a presentation to the Compensation Committee about recent developments and best practices concerning equity compensation practices.

V. WHAT CLAIMS WILL THE SETTLEMENT RELEASE?

Under the Stipulation, the following releases will occur, except as noted below:

The Releasing Persons (defined below) shall be deemed to have, and by operation of the Final Judgment shall have, fully, finally, and forever settled, released, discharged, extinguished, and dismissed with prejudice the Released Claims (defined below) against the Released Persons (defined below); provided, however, that such release shall not affect any claims to enforce the terms of the Stipulation.

The Released Persons and Aytu shall be deemed to have, and by operation of the Final Judgment shall have, fully, finally, and forever settled, released, discharged, extinguished, and dismissed with prejudice all claims (including Unknown Claims, as defined in the Stipulation), arising out of, relating to, or in connection with the institution, prosecution, assertion, settlement, or resolution of the Actions against the Releasing Persons and Plaintiffs' Counsel; provided, however, that such release shall not affect any claims to enforce the terms of the Stipulation.

“Releasing Persons” means Plaintiffs (both individually, on behalf of the Class, and derivatively on behalf of Aytu), any Class Member, any other Aytu stockholder acting or purporting to act on behalf of Aytu, and Aytu. “Releasing Person” means, individually, any of the Releasing Persons.

“Released Persons” means each of the Individual Defendants and Aytu and their parents, subsidiaries, affiliates, predecessors, successors, and controlling persons, and each of their respective past or present officers, directors, employees, stockholders, family members, spouses, heirs, trusts, trustees, executors, beneficiaries, agents, representatives, partners, members, advisors, consultants, representatives, accountants, attorneys, insurers, and associates.

“Released Claims” means and includes any and all manner of claims, causes of action, demands, rights, liabilities, losses, obligations, duties, damages, costs, debts, penalties, or sanctions of any kind, nature, or description whatsoever, whether known or unknown, disclosed or undisclosed, accrued or unaccrued, apparent or not apparent, foreseen or unforeseen, matured or not matured, suspected or unsuspected, liquidated or not liquidated, fixed or contingent, including Unknown Claims (as defined in the Stipulation), whether based on state, local, foreign, federal, statutory, regulatory, common, or other law or rule, that have been or could have been asserted by Plaintiffs, any other Aytu stockholder or any other Class Member or any other Person individually or acting or purporting to act on behalf of Aytu against the Released Persons in the Actions or in any other court, tribunal, or proceeding arising out of, based upon, or relating in any way to the allegations, actions, transactions, occurrences, statements, omissions, disclosures, facts, practices, events, or claims alleged or referred to in the Actions, including without limitation (i) with respect to the challenged awards under the 2015 Plan and (ii) any decision of the Company’s officers or directors related to the foregoing; provided, however, that it is understood that “Released Claims” and any release provided by this Settlement shall not include: (a) those claims asserted in Witmer v. Armistice Capital LLC, et al., No. 2022-0807-MTZ in the Delaware Court of Chancery, (b) any claims to enforce the Settlement, and (c) any claims by Defendants or any insured to enforce their rights under any contract or insurance policy.

VI. WHAT ARE THE REASONS FOR THE SETTLEMENT?

Plaintiffs’ entry into the Stipulation and Settlement is not intended to be and shall not be construed as an admission or concession concerning the relative strength or merit of the claims alleged in the Actions. However, Plaintiffs and Plaintiffs’ Counsel also recognize and acknowledge the significant risk, expense, and length of continued proceedings necessary to prosecute the Actions against Defendants through trial and through possible appeals. Plaintiffs' Counsel also have taken into account the uncertain outcome and the risk of any litigation, especially in complex cases such as the Actions, as well as the difficulties and delays inherent in such litigation. Plaintiffs' Counsel also are mindful of the inherent problems of proof and possible defenses to the claims alleged in such Actions.

Based on Plaintiffs' Counsel's thorough review and analysis of the relevant facts, allegations, defenses, and controlling legal principles, Plaintiffs and Plaintiffs' Counsel have determined that the Settlement set forth in the Stipulation is fair, reasonable, and adequate, and in the best interests of Aytu, its stockholders and the Class Members and that the Settlement confers benefits upon Aytu, its stockholders and the Class Members and Plaintiffs have agreed to settle the Actions on the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in the Stipulation.

Each of the Individual Defendants has denied, and continues to deny, that they have committed any breach of fiduciary duty or any other duty owed to Aytu, its stockholders or the Class Members, that they breached any contract, or that they committed any violations of law or wrongdoing whatsoever or that Aytu or Aytu's stockholders or the Class Members suffered any damage or harm as a result of any act, omission, or conduct alleged in the Actions or otherwise. The Individual Defendants have further asserted, and continue to assert, that at all relevant times, they have acted in good faith and in a manner that they believed to be in the best interests of Aytu, its stockholders and the Class Members, and that they are entering into the Stipulation and the Settlement solely to eliminate the uncertainty, distraction, disruption, burden, expense, and risk inherent in further litigation.

VII. HOW WILL THE ATTORNEYS GET PAID?

After agreeing to the terms of the Settlement, Plaintiffs' Counsel and Aytu separately began negotiating the amount of the award of attorneys' fees and expenses to be paid to Plaintiffs' Counsel. The Settling Parties did not discuss the appropriateness or amount of attorneys' fees and expenses to be paid to Plaintiffs' Counsel until after reaching agreement on the terms of the Settlement, and the Settling Parties understood at all times that the Settlement was not contingent upon agreement or payment of any attorneys' fees and expenses to Plaintiffs' Counsel. Defendants acknowledge and agree that Plaintiffs' Counsel are entitled to a fee award. In recognition of the terms of the Settlement and the prosecution and settlement of the Actions, and subject to Court approval, Aytu has agreed to pay an award of attorneys' fees and expenses to Plaintiffs' Counsel not to exceed $425,000 (the "Fee and Expense Amount"). The Fee and Expense Amount includes the fees and expenses incurred by Plaintiffs' Counsel in connection with the prosecution and settlement of the Actions. Plaintiffs' Counsel will not seek fees or expenses from the Court in excess of the agreed-to amount and Plaintiffs' Counsel will not make an application for attorneys' fees or expenses in any other jurisdiction. Except as otherwise provided herein, each of the Parties shall bear his, her, or its own fees and costs.

VIII. WHEN WILL THE SETTLEMENT HEARING TAKE PLACE?

The Court has scheduled a Settlement Hearing to be held on March 10, 2023 at 11:00 a.m., in the Court of Chancery, Leonard L. Williams Justice Center, 500 North King Street, Wilmington, Delaware 19801.

At the Settlement Hearing, the Court will consider whether the terms of the Settlement are fair, reasonable, and adequate and thus should be finally approved, whether the Fee and Expense Amount should be approved, and whether the Actions should be dismissed with prejudice by entry of the Final Judgment pursuant to the Stipulation. The Court will also hear and determine objections, if any, to the proposed Settlement or the Fee and Expense Amount and rule on such other matters as the Court may deem appropriate.

The Court may adjourn the Settlement Hearing from time to time without further notice to anyone other than the Settling Parties and any Objectors (as defined below). The Court reserves the right to approve the Stipulation at or after the Settlement Hearing with such modifications as may be consented to by the Settling Parties to the Stipulation and without further notice.

IX. DO I HAVE A RIGHT TO APPEAR AND OBJECT?

Any Aytu stockholder or Class Member who objects to the Settlement, the proposed Final Judgment to be entered, the Fee and Expense Amount, and/or who otherwise wishes to be heard (an "Objector"), may appear in person or by his, her, or its attorney at the Settlement Hearing and present any evidence or argument that may be proper and relevant; provided, however, that no Objector shall be heard or entitled to contest the approval of the terms and conditions of the Settlement, or, if approved, the Final Judgment to be entered thereon, unless he, she, or it has, no later than ten (10) calendar days before the Settlement Hearing (unless the Court in its discretion shall thereafter otherwise direct, upon application of such person and for good cause shown), filed with the Register in Chancery, Court of Chancery, Leonard L. Williams Justice Center, 500 North King Street, Wilmington, Delaware 19801, and served (by hand or overnight mail) on Plaintiffs' Counsel and Defendants' counsel, at the addresses below, the following: (i) proof of current ownership of Aytu stock; (ii) a written and signed notice of the Objector's intention to appear, which states the name, address, and telephone number of the Objector and, if represented by counsel, the name, address, and telephone number of his, her, or its counsel; (iii) a detailed statement of the objections to any matter before the Court; and (iv) a detailed statement of all of the grounds thereon and the reasons for the Objector's desire to appear and to be heard, as well as all documents or writings which the Objector desires the Court to consider. Date of Event/Arrest January 13, 2020	Disposition Date Nov. 21, 2022	State CA	City Sacramento	County Sacramento County

Case # 3:20-cv-00340		Governing, licensing, Arresting Presiding Body/Agency/Court District Court, N.D. California
Reason/Charge Employment Discrimination
Plaintiff/Defendant/Claimant/Respondent Jaekel v. Aytu BioScience, Inc.			Lawsuit/Arbitration/Bankruptcy Lawsuit
Name of Business/Industry/Entity Aytu BioScience, Inc.

Provide explanation below:

David Jaekel filed a Complaint for Damages against his former employer Aytu Bioscience, Inc. ("Aytu"), Josh Disbrow, Jarrett Disbrow, and Rick Nord on December 4, 2019. Defendants Aytu, Josh Disbrow, and Jarrett Disbrow filed an Answer and General Denial on January 13, 2020 and subsequently removed the lawsuit to the Northern District of California on January 15, 2020 pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332 – Diversity Jurisdiction. Defendant Rick Nord was dismissed without prejudice on April 14, 2020. In October 2022, the parties settled the dispute for $950,000. Chubb, the insurance carrier covered $650,000, with Aytu covering the remaining $300,000. The matter is closed.

CONFIDENTIAL SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This Confidential Settlement Agreement and General Release (hereinafter the "Agreement") is made and entered into between ROBERT DAVID JAEKEL (hereinafter "Plaintiff"), on the one hand, and AYTU BIOSCIENCE, INC. (now AYTU BIOPHARMA, INC.) (hereinafter "AYTU"), JOSHUA DISBROW, and JARRETT DISBROW (hereinafter "Defendants"), on the other hand, as of the date set forth below. Plaintiff and Defendants are collectively referred to herein as "the Parties" or individually as a "Party."

RECITALS

WHEREAS, on December 4, 2019, Plaintiff filed a civil action in San Francisco County Superior Court entitled Robert David Jaekel v. Aytu Bioscience, Inc., et al., Civil Case No. CGC-19-581302 alleging causes of action for (1) Whistleblower Retaliation [Cal. Lab. Code § 1102.5]; (2) Retaliation [Cal. Lab. Code § 98.6]; (3) Failure to Take Steps Necessary to Prevent Sexual Harassment and/or Retaliation in Violation of Cal. Gov't Code § 12940(k); (4) Retaliation in Violation of Cal. Gov't. Code § 12940(h); (5) Wrongful Termination in Violation of Public Policy; (6) Defamation; (7) Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress; and (8) Failure to Pay All Wages Due to Discharged Employees (hereinafter the "Action").

WHEREAS, on January 15, 2020, Defendants subsequently removed the Action to federal court in the Northern District of California where it was assigned Civil Case No.: 20-cv-00340-TSH;

WHEREAS, Defendants deny and dispute all of Plaintiff's allegations and contend that he has not incurred any damages in connection with his employment with AYTU;

WHEREAS, Plaintiff represents and warrants that he has not suffered any sexual harassment or sexual abuse in connection with his employment with AYTU, or by any officer, manager, employee, agent, customer, or supplier of AYTU, and that this agreement and the settlement payment are not a settlement or payment related to a sexual-harassment or sexual-abuse claim; and

WHEREAS, the Parties now desire to avoid the disruption, inconvenience, uncertainty and costs associated with further processing or litigation of any claims that Plaintiff has, had, or may claim to have arising out of, or related to, his employment with AYTU, the cessation of his employment, any claims against Defendants, and any relationship Plaintiff has or had with Defendants.

AGREEMENT

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the covenants and agreements contained in this document and the other valuable consideration described herein, the sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged by all Parties, the Parties agree as follows:

1. Timing. Defendants will deliver the consideration as set forth in Paragraph 2, below, within thirty (30) days after the last of all three of the following conditions precedent: A) the Effective Date of this Agreement, as defined in Paragraph 7, below; B) counsel for Defendants have received this Agreement executed by Plaintiff; and C) Plaintiff and Plaintiff's counsel have executed and provided Form W-9s to Defendants' counsel;

2. Consideration. For and in consideration of the commitments made herein by Plaintiff, Defendants shall pay Plaintiff a total settlement amount of Nine Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars and Zero Cents ($950,000.00) hereinafter the "Settlement Payment". The Settlement Payment shall be made as follows:

- One check made payable to Robert David Jaekel in the amount of Thirteen Thousand Six Hundred Ninety-Six Dollars and Thirty-Seven Cents ($13,696.37), as wages, less all standard deductions and withholdings, which will be reported on IRS Form W-2;
- One check made payable to the Matern Law Group PC Settlement Account (issued Tax Identification Number 87-3302880), which represents a qualified settlement fund within the meaning of the Internal Revenue Code, for Plaintiff's additional damages, costs and attorneys' fees, for which a 1099 shall be issued to both you and your legal counsel in the amount of Nine Hundred Thirty-Six Thousand Three Hundred Three Dollars and Sixty-Three Cents ($936,303.63) to be reported on IRS Form 1099;

As set forth in Paragraph 1. above, the Settlement Payment is contingent on the delivery by Plaintiff this Agreement, fully executed, and executed IRS W-9 forms to counsel for Defendants. Upon direct deposit and/or deposit of the check(s) in the mail of the Settlement Payment to Plaintiff's counsel, Defendants will have fully met its obligations under this Agreement and will not be liable in any manner for the distribution, division or payment of any portion of the Settlement Payment to or between any counsel Plaintiff may have retained and/or consulted. By execution of this Agreement, Plaintiff authorizes payment to be made as set forth in this Paragraph.

3. Acknowledgement. Plaintiff acknowledges that he would not otherwise be entitled to the consideration set forth in Paragraph 2, above, were it not for his covenants, promises, and releases set forth herein. Plaintiff acknowledges that he has received all wages and compensation due to him from Defendants and that Defendants shall owe Plaintiff nothing further once Plaintiff receives the consideration described in Paragraph, above.

4. No Admission of Liability. It is understood and agreed by Plaintiff that this Agreement represents a compromise and settlement for various matters and that the promises and payments and consideration of this Agreement shall not be construed to be an admission of any liability or obligation by Releasees to Plaintiff.

5. Dismissal with Prejudice. Within 5 business days of Plaintiff's counsel's receipt of the Settlement Payment, Plaintiff shall file a request for dismissal of the entire Action with prejudice, with each party to bear its own costs and attorneys' fees.

6. Mutual Release of Claims. Plaintiff, on behalf of Plaintiff and for Plaintiff's heirs, executors, administrators, spouses, successors and assigns, hereby releases, acquits and forever discharges Defendants, and each of Defendants' current and former parents, subsidiaries and related entities, officers, directors, shareholders, persons, employees, agents, servants, representatives, members, attorneys, insurers, re-insurers, professional employer organizations, assigns, and affiliated companies, predecessors, successors and assigns, as well as their past or present officers, directors, agents, representatives, attorneys, insurers, re-insurers, assigns, or employees of the foregoing entities or individuals (collectively, "Releasees"), from any and all claims, demands, obligations, actions, causes of action, liabilities, debts, promises, agreements, demands, attorneys' fees, losses and expenses, known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, filed or unfiled, that Plaintiff may have or have had arising out of any known or unknown fact, condition or incident occurring prior to the Effective Date of this Agreement, including but not limited to those arising out of or in connection with any claims, demand, charges, or complaints, arising out of or in connection with Plaintiff's employment, the cessation thereof, or any other interaction or relations with Releasees. This release includes, without limiting the generality of the foregoing: any and all claims, demands, causes of actions, obligations, charges, liabilities, attorneys' fees, costs, actual, compensatory and punitive damages, and all claims for any other type of relief relating to, arising out of, or based upon: all claims of harassment, discrimination, and/or retaliation in violation of State or Federal law; all claims for failure to prevent harassment, discrimination, and/or retaliation; all claims for failure to engage in the interactive process and/or to provide reasonable accommodation; all claims of violation of public policy, including a claim for wrongful and/or constructive termination of employment; all claims based on tort and/or breach of contract, whether written or oral, express or implied, and any covenant of good faith and fair dealing; all claims for misrepresentation, fraud, fraudulent inducement, detrimental reliance, and other similar claims; all claims for unpaid commissions, wages, stock, or other benefits, including minimum wage, overtime, double time, vacation, associated penalties and/or premiums, and expense reimbursement; any claim for sick pay or COVID-19 related benefits arising from any state or federal requirements; any claim for unlawful or unfair business practices; all claims for emotional distress; any and all claims which were or could have been asserted by Plaintiff; and all claims generally relating to Plaintiff's employment with AYTU BIOSCIENCE, INC. and the cessation thereof, including any alleged violation of any federal, state or other governmental statute, regulation, ordinance, or executive order, including without limitation:

- (a) The Civil Rights Acts of 1866, 1964, and 1991, as amended;
- (b) 42 U.S.C. § 1981;
- (c) The California Fair Employment and Housing Act;
- (d) Section 503 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973;
- (e) The Fair Labor Standards Act (including the Equal Pay Act);
- (f) The California and United States Constitutions;
- (g) The California Labor Code specifically including, but not limited to the Private Attorney General Act pursuant to Labor Code § 2699, et seq.;
- (h) The Federal and California False Claims Acts;
- (i) The California Business and Professions Code;
- (j) The Employee Retirement Income Security Act, as amended;
- (k) The California Family Rights Act;
- (l) The Americans with Disabilities Act;
- (m) The Family Medical Leave Act;
- (n) The California Wage Orders;
- (o) The National Labor Relations Act;
- (p) The Immigration Reform and Control Act;
- (q) California Occupational Safety and Health Act, or the Federal equivalent;
- (r) The Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, as amended;
- (s) The Older Workers' Benefit Protection Act; and
- (t) The Families First Coronavirus Response Act, including any COVID-19 paid sick leave law or regulation of similar effect.

The scope of the foregoing releases by Plaintiff includes, but is not limited to, a full general release of any and all claims or potential claims that Plaintiff has or may have against the Releasees. The releases set forth herein specifically exclude any pending Workers' Compensation claim filed by Plaintiff.

This release does not apply to: (a) any claims arising out of any acts or omissions which occur after the Parties sign this Agreement, or (b) any claims or rights which cannot be waived by law. Neither this Release nor anything in this Agreement prohibits either Party from cooperating with any governmental investigation or inquiry. Furthermore, nothing in this release or in this Agreement limits Plaintiff's right to file a charge with an administrative agency or to participate in any investigation by such agency. Plaintiff understands, however, that he is expressly waiving, to the fullest extent permitted by law, any and all rights or entitlement to any type of relief or recovery (including monetary damages, awards, incentives, penalties, injunctive relieve, reinstatement, other personal relief, etc.) in connection with any claim, complaint, charge, action, proceeding, or investigation brought on his behalf or for his benefit.

Defendants and each of Defendants' current and former parents, subsidiaries and related entities, officers, directors, shareholders, persons, employees, agents, servants, representatives, members, attorneys, insurers, re-insurers, professional employer organizations, assigns, affiliates and any and all other entities with whom they have been, are now, or may hereafter be affiliated, predecessors, successors, as well as their past or present officers, directors, agents, representatives, attorneys, insurers, re-insurers, assigns, or employees of the foregoing entities or individuals (collectively, "Releasees"), hereby releases, acquits and forever discharges Plaintiff, his executors, administrators, spouses, successors and assigns from any and all claims, demands, obligations, actions, causes of action, liabilities, debts, promises, agreements, demands, attorneys' fees, losses and expenses, known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, filed or unfiled, that Defendants may have or have had arising out of any known or unknown fact, condition or incident occurring prior to the Effective Date of this Agreement, including but not limited to those arising out of or in connection with any claims, demand, charges, or complaints, arising out of or in connection with Plaintiff's employment, the cessation thereof, or any other interaction or relations with Releasees.

7. Acknowledgment of Rights and Waiver of Claims Under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act. Plaintiff acknowledges that Plaintiff is knowingly and voluntarily waiving and releasing any rights Plaintiff may have under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act ("ADEA"). Plaintiff also acknowledges that the consideration given for the waiver and release in this Agreement is in addition to anything of value to which Plaintiff was already entitled. Plaintiff further acknowledges that Plaintiff has been advised by this in writing, as required by the Older Workers' Benefit Protection Act, that: (a) Plaintiff's waiver and release does not apply to any rights or claims that may arise after the Effective Date of this Agreement; (b) Plaintiff should consult with an attorney prior to executing this Agreement; (c) Plaintiff has at least twenty-one (21) days to consider this Agreement (although Plaintiff may by his own choice execute this Agreement earlier); (d) Plaintiff has seven (7) days following the execution of this Agreement by Plaintiff to revoke the Agreement; (e) this Agreement shall not be effective until the date upon which the revocation period has expired ("Effective Date"). Plaintiff may revoke this Agreement only by giving formal written notice of his revocation to Vincent J. Adams at Fisher & Phillips LLP, 1 Montgomery Street, Suite 3400, San Francisco, CA 94104, to be received by the close of business on the seventh (7th) day following Plaintiff's execution of this Agreement.

8. Release Is Voluntary and Knowing. The release set forth in Paragraph 6 has been voluntarily and knowingly executed with the express intention of effecting the legal consequences provided in California Civil Code section 1541, that is, the extinguishment of obligations herein designated. This Agreement is executed voluntarily and without any duress, undue influence or coercion on the part or behalf of the Parties hereto. Plaintiff also acknowledges being informed that he has consulted with his attorney prior to the execution of this Agreement. By signing below, Plaintiff also acknowledges that he has read and fully understands and agrees to the terms of this Agreement.

9. California Civil Code Section 1542. The Parties hereby state that it is their intention in executing this Agreement that the same shall be effective as a bar to each and every claim, demand, cause of action, obligation, damages, liability, charge, attorneys' fees and costs herein above released. The Parties hereby expressly waive and relinquish all of the rights and benefits, if any, arising under the provisions of the California Civil Code section 1542, which provides:

A GENERAL RELEASE DOES NOT EXTEND TO CLAIMS THAT THE CREDITOR OR RELEASING PARTY DOES NOT KNOW OR SUSPECT TO EXIST IN HIS OR HER FAVOR AT THE TIME OF EXECUTING THE RELEASE AND THAT, IF KNOWN BY HIM OR HER, WOULD HAVE MATERIALLY AFFECTED HIS OR HER SETTLEMENT WITH THE DEBTOR OR RELEASED PARTY.

Thus, notwithstanding the provisions of Civil Code section 1542, and for the express purpose of implementing a full and complete release and discharge of the Parties and Releasees, the Parties expressly acknowledge that the released claims are intended to include, without limitation, all claims that the Parties do not know or suspect to exist in their favor at the time of execution of this Agreement, and that this Agreement contemplates the extinguishment of any and all such claims.

10. No Other Actions. With the exception of the Action and any pending Workers' Compensation claims, Plaintiff represents and warrants that he has no other pending claims, suits or administrative charges against Defendants in any other court or before any government agency, including but not limited to any active complaints filed with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, Department of Fair Employment and Housing, California Department of Labor Standards Enforcement, Department of Labor, Employment Development Department, California Superior Court and United States District Court. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Plaintiff agrees to waive Plaintiff's right to recover monetary damages in any charge, complaint, or lawsuit filed by Plaintiff or by anyone else on Plaintiff's behalf. Plaintiff hereby represents that he will also take all action necessary to dismiss any other actions or charges filed against Releasees with any local, state or federal agency or court; that he will not file any complaint or charge arising out of Plaintiff's employment with Releasees at any time hereafter; and that if such agency or court assumes jurisdiction of any such complaint or charge against any of the Releasees, whenever filed, Plaintiff will request such agency or court to dismiss the matter with prejudice. Should Defendants discover any pending claims aside from what is mentioned above, Plaintiff authorizes the dismissal with prejudice and/or withdrawal of any and all pending claims against Defendants and agrees to promptly provide any and all documents to effectuate such dismissal and/or withdrawal with prejudice.

11. Covenant Not to Sue. Plaintiff agrees not to sue any of the Releasees in any forum for any claim covered by the waivers and releases in Paragraph 6.

12. No Amounts Owed. Plaintiff agrees and acknowledges that the Settlement Payment is not required by Defendants, by Defendants' policies and procedures, or otherwise, and hereby agrees that he has received all potentially disputed compensation or remuneration of any kind due or owed from Defendants, including but not limited to all wages, premiums, penalties, commissions, bonuses, advances, vacation pay, and any other incentive-based compensation to which Plaintiff is or may become entitled or eligible, and that Defendants shall owe Plaintiff nothing further once Plaintiff receives the Settlement Payment set forth in Paragraph 2 above. Plaintiff hereby acknowledges that the amount owed to him, if anything, is disputed in good faith and that he would not otherwise receive the full amount of the Settlement Payment as set forth in this section were it not for his covenants, promises, and releases set forth hereunder. As a result, Plaintiff agrees that California Labor Code Section 206.5 is not applicable. Plaintiff hereby waives any protection that may exist under Section 206.5 which provides, in pertinent part, as follows: "An employer shall not require the execution of a release of a claim or right on account of wages due, or to become due, or made as an advance on wages to be earned, unless payment of those wages has been made."

13. Issuance of a 1099: No Representation of Taxability. An IRS Form 1099 will be issued to Plaintiff and Plaintiff's Counsel to reflect the portions of the Settlement Payment in Paragraph 2 above. Plaintiff understands and agrees that Plaintiff is responsible for payment of any taxes which are required to be paid to the State of California, the United States Government, or any other entity as a result of this settlement. Plaintiff acknowledges and agrees that Releasees have not warranted or represented how the U.S. Internal Revenue Service or other governmental taxing authorities will treat the payment described above for tax purposes, and agrees that no further payment of money to Plaintiff from Releasees will be due in the event that the payment or the release of claims embodied in this Agreement, or any portion thereof, is found by a government taxing authority to be, or to result in, additional taxable income to Plaintiff. Plaintiff agrees that, in the event that any federal, state or local agency takes the position that taxes should have been withheld from amounts paid pursuant to this Agreement, Plaintiff will be solely responsible for payment of any such alleged tax obligations and will indemnify and hold Releasees harmless from any resulting tax liability, interest, attorneys' fees, or penalty associated therewith. Plaintiff hereby agrees to indemnify Releasees from any and all manner of liability if any should be imposed on them regarding the payment to Plaintiff under this Agreement specified above, including but not limited to any interest, attorneys' fees, penalties, and costs related to such payment. Upon Plaintiff's receipt of written notification from Releasees that such liability has been imposed by any of those governmental entities and the amount thereof, Plaintiff agrees that Plaintiff shall fully remit such monies to the demanding entity within thirty (30) days from Plaintiff's receipt of such notification. Plaintiff further agrees to give Releasees written notice within ten (10) days of the time any demand for payment of taxes is received by Plaintiff from any governmental agency in connection with this payment, and further, Plaintiff will provide a confirmation that Plaintiff will honor Plaintiff's obligations under this Paragraph.

14. Liens or Assignments. Plaintiff represents and warrants that any other bills, costs or liens resulting from or arising out of Plaintiff's alleged injuries or claims released in this Agreement are Plaintiff's responsibility to pay. Plaintiff agrees to assume responsibility for satisfaction of any and all rights to payment, claims or liens that arise from or are related to payments made or services provided to Plaintiff or on Plaintiff's behalf related to all claims released pursuant to this Agreement. Plaintiff agrees to assume responsibility for all expenses, costs or fees incurred by Plaintiff related to Plaintiff's alleged injuries, claims or lawsuit that may arise out of the claims released herein, including without limitation, all Medicare conditional payments, subrogation claims, liens, or other rights to payment, relating to any medical treatment or lost wages that have been or may be asserted by any health care provider, insurer, governmental entity, employer or other person or entity. Further, except as set forth in the first sentence of this paragraph, the Plaintiff will indemnify and hold Releasees harmless from any and all damages, claims and rights to payment, including any attorneys' fees, brought by any person, entity or governmental agency to recover any of these amounts.

15. Mutual Confidentiality. The Parties and their counsel represent and agree that they will keep the amount, and fact of this Agreement completely confidential, and that they will not hereafter disclose any information concerning this Agreement to anyone, including, but not limited to, friends, acquaintances, or the media; provided, however, that they may make such disclosures to their attorneys, accountants, auditors, spouses, and tax preparers all of whom will be informed of and agree to be bound by this confidentiality clause, or other such disclosures as may be required by law. The Parties agree that if anybody asks them about Plaintiff's claims and the cessation thereof, they will simply respond by stating, "the matter has been resolved and the resolution is confidential." The Parties further agree that they or their attorneys will not hereafter seek any publicity of any kind in any media or other public forum regarding the terms and amount of this Agreement or the allegations made by Plaintiff, including the press, media, websites, or any service which reports litigation, verdicts or settlements. The Parties agree that this Confidentiality provision is not intended to violate California Code of Civil Procedure Section 1001 and should be interpreted as requiring confidentiality only to the extent not prohibited by that statute or any other applicable statute of similar effect. Unless otherwise prohibited by law, disclosures covered by this Confidentiality clause shall first require the recipient to the disclosure to be informed of this Confidentiality clause and to agree to be bound by its terms. Nothing in this Agreement prevents Plaintiff from discussing or disclosing information about unlawful acts in the workplace, such as harassment or discrimination or any other conduct that Plaintiff has reason to believe is unlawful.

Nothing in this Section or in this Agreement prevents the Parties from disclosing the Agreement or its contents: (a) pursuant to order of a court or government agency of competent jurisdiction; (b) to enforce or challenge the Agreement's validity in court or in an arbitration proceeding; (c) in connection with a good faith dispute report to government authorities of suspected violations of law; (d) in cooperation with an investigation or inquiry by a governmental authority; or (e) as otherwise required or permitted by law.

16. Mutual Non-Disparagement, Non-Cooperation, and No Enticement. The Parties agree and promise that Plaintiff, Joshua Disbrow, and Jarrett Disbrow will refrain from making any negative, detracting, derogatory, or unfavorable statements about one another, including any of Releasees' managers, supervisors, employees, or clients. Plaintiff, Joshua Disbrow, and Jarrett Disbrow further agree they will not act in any manner that damages the operation or reputation of Plaintiff or Releasees. To the extent permitted by law, Plaintiff, Joshua Disbrow, and Jarrett Disbrow agree that they will not counsel or assist any attorneys or clients in the presentation or prosecution of any disputes and/or differences by any third party against Plaintiff or Releasees unless pursuant to a lawfully issued subpoena or other order by a court or agency of competent jurisdiction. Plaintiff, Joshua Disbrow, and Jarrett Disbrow agree to give Plaintiff or Defendants' counsel notice within three (3) business days of receipt of a subpoena or other order by court or agency pursuant to this Paragraph. Nothing herein shall be construed to limit Plaintiff's right to file a charge of discrimination with, or to communicate with, or to participate in an investigation or action conducted by, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission ("EEOC") or any similar state or local administrative fair employment practices agency, and nothing in this Agreement shall be construed to prohibit such action by Plaintiff or to interfere with the statutory duties and/or authority of such agencies. However, Plaintiff expressly waives any and all rights or entitlement to any type of relief or recovery (including monetary damages, awards, or incentives, penalties, injunctive relief, reinstatement, etc.) in connection with any such claim, complaint, charge, action, proceeding and/or investigation brought against Releasees, regardless of who files, initiates or pursues any claim, complaint, charge, action, proceeding, and/or investigation as described in this Paragraph, except that this limitation on monetary recovery will not apply to proceedings as otherwise provided for by current applicable law.

17. Liquidated Damages for Breach of Paragraph 15 and 16 of this Agreement. The Parties acknowledges that a breach of any of the covenants set forth in Paragraph 15 and 16 of this Agreement will cause substantial harm, including but not limited to, the cost of prosecuting any claims and lawsuits. The Parties acknowledge that it is impossible for such harm to be calculated with any degree of certainty. Therefore, the Parties agree that any breach by a Party or their counsel of their obligations under Paragraph 15 and 16 of this Agreement shall entitle the other Party to liquidated damages in the sum of Ten Thousand Dollars and Zero Cents ($10,000.00) for each breach, as well as recovery of court costs suffered. The Parties agree that this provision is fair and reasonable in light of the fact that the actual damages that would be suffered as the result of any such breach of Paragraph 15 and 16 of this Agreement would be difficult to ascertain.

18. Medicare Representations, Obligations, and Indemnification

(a) Responsibility for Satisfaction of All Liens. Plaintiff represents and warrants that all bills, costs or liens resulting from or arising out of Plaintiff's alleged injuries, claims and/or the Action are Plaintiff's responsibility to pay. Plaintiff agrees to assume responsibility for satisfaction of any and all demands for payment, claims or liens of any kind, that arise from or are related to payments made or services provided to Plaintiff or on Plaintiff's behalf. Plaintiff agrees to assume responsibility for all expenses, costs or fees incurred by Plaintiff related to Plaintiff's alleged injuries, claims and/or the Action including without limitation, all Medicare conditional payments, subrogation claims, liens or other rights to payment, relating to medical treatment or lost wages that have been or may be asserted by any health care provider, insurer, governmental entity, employer or other person or entity. Further, Plaintiff and his attorney will indemnify and hold Releasees harmless from any and all damages, claims and rights to payment, including any attorneys' fees, brought by any person, entity or governmental agency to recover any of these amounts. This provision shall not apply satisfaction of any liens related to any pending Workers' Compensation claims.

(b) Good Faith Resolution. This settlement is based upon a good faith determination of the Parties to resolve a disputed claim. The Parties have not shifted responsibility of medical treatment to Medicare in contravention of 42 U.S.C. Section 1395y(b). The Parties resolved this matter in compliance with both state and federal law. The Parties made every effort to adequately protect Medicare's interest and incorporate such in the settlement terms.

(c) Representation that Plaintiff is Not a Medicare Beneficiary. Plaintiff and his counsel warrant that Plaintiff is not a Medicare Beneficiary as of the date of this Agreement. Because Plaintiff is not a Medicare recipient as of the date of this Agreement, no conditional payments have been made by Medicare.

(d) Representation that No Medicare Conditional Payments Exist; Best Efforts to Obtain Confirmation. Plaintiff and his counsel further represent and warrant that they are aware of no Medicare conditional payments that have been made on Plaintiff's behalf. Plaintiff and his counsel agree to exercise best efforts to obtain a letter from Medicare to this effect. The Parties acknowledge and understand that any present or future action or decision by the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services or Medicare on this settlement, or Employee's eligibility or entitlement to Medicare or Medicare payments, will not render this release void or ineffective, or in any way affect the finality of this liability settlement.

(e) Agreement to Indemnify and Hold Harmless. Plaintiff agrees to indemnify and hold harmless Releasees from any and all claims, demands, liens, subrogated interests, and causes of action of any nature or character that have been or may in the future be asserted by Medicare and/or persons or entities acting on behalf of Medicare, or any other person or entity, arising from or related to this Agreement, the Settlement Consideration, any Conditional Payments made by Medicare, or any medical expenses or payments arising from or related to any Released Claims that is subject to this Agreement or the release set forth herein, including but not limited to: (a) all claims and demands for reimbursement of Conditional Payments or for damages or double damages based upon any failure to reimburse Medicare for Conditional Payments; (b) all claims and demands for penalties based upon any failure to report, late reporting, or other noncompliance with or violation of Section 111 of MMSEA that is based in whole or in part upon late, inaccurate, or inadequate information provided to Releasees by Plaintiff or upon any failure of Plaintiff to provide information; and (c) all Medicaid/Medicare liens. his indemnification obligation includes all damages, double damages, fines, penalties, attorneys' fees, costs, interest, expenses, and judgments incurred by or on behalf of Releasees in connection with such claims, demands, subrogated interests, or causes of action. For the purposes of this Paragraph, (1) "Conditional Payments" shall have the meaning ascribed to it under the MSP Statute and implementing regulations; (2) "MMSEA" means the Medicare, Medicaid, and SCHIP Extension Act of 2007 (P.L. 110-173), which, in part, amended the Medicare Secondary Payer statute at 42 U.S.C. § 1395y(b)(7) and (8), this portion of MMSEA is referred to herein as "Section 111 of MMSEA"; (3) "MSP Statute" means the Medicare Secondary Payer ("MSP") statute, 42 U.S.C. § 1395y(b).

19. Attorneys' Fees and Costs. The Parties agree that they will bear their own attorneys' fees and costs incurred in connection with this matter.

20. No Reliance on External Representations. Each Party hereto represents and acknowledges that in executing this Agreement they do not rely and have not relied upon any representation or statement made by the other Party or by the agents, attorneys or representatives of the other Party with regard to the subject matter of this Agreement, or its basis, or the effects of this Agreement other than those representations specifically set forth in this written document.

21. Competency and Authority. The Parties to this Agreement hereby represent and warrant that they are fully competent to enter into this Agreement and that they have the right, power, legal capacity, and authority to enter into this Agreement.

22. Entire Agreement. This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between Plaintiff and Defendants regarding actual or potential claims asserted by Plaintiff against Releasees and the resolution of those claims, which will remain in full force and effect. This Agreement supersedes all prior agreements, written or oral, between or among the Parties regarding those claims or potential claims and the resolution of those claims. No other agreement, statement, or promise made by one Party to another as to any matter addressed in this Agreement shall be binding or valid. This Agreement cannot be orally modified. Any amendment or modification to this Agreement must be in writing, signed by Plaintiff and by the Defendant or a duly authorized representative of Defendant. Plaintiff further represents that Plaintiff is unaware of any agreement or promise, written or oral, between Releasees and/or anyone else that could serve as the basis for any claim or action against Releasees that has not been released in this Agreement.

23. Section Headings. The section and paragraph headings contained in this Agreement are for reference purposes only and shall not affect in any way the meaning or interpretation of this Agreement.

24. Counterparts and Facsimile/Digital Signatures This Agreement may be executed in any number of counterparts, each of which will be deemed to be an executed Agreement and each of which shall be deemed to be one and the same instrument. A facsimile or digital signature shall be treated as an original signature for all purposes.

25. Effect of Illegality. Should any part, term or provision of this Agreement be declared or determined by any Court of competent jurisdiction to be wholly or partially illegal, invalid, or unenforceable, the legality, validity, and enforceability of the remaining parts, terms or provisions of this Agreement shall not be affected thereby. Said illegal, invalid or unenforceable part, term or provision shall be deemed not to be a part of this Agreement.

26. Construction. This Agreement is the product of arms-length negotiations and is considered to be jointly drafted. As such, it shall not be construed against any Party because that Party caused it to be reduced to a written instrument.

27. Notices. Any notice required or permitted to be given pursuant to this Agreement shall be in writing and shall be deemed to be given when served personally on the third business day after mailing if mailed by United States mail, postage prepaid, addressed to the other Party and/or its counsel.

28. Fairness of Settlement. The Parties agree that this settlement is fair, reasonable and adequate. The Parties covenant never to challenge this Agreement.

29. Compliance with Terms; No Waiver. The failure to insist upon compliance with any term, covenant or condition contained in this Agreement shall not be deemed a waiver of that term, covenant or condition, nor shall any waiver or relinquishment of any right or power contained in this Agreement at any one time or more times be deemed a waiver or relinquishment of any right or power at any other time or times.

30. Governing Law and Jurisdiction. This Agreement shall be interpreted under the laws of the State of California, both as to interpretation and performance.

31. Enforcement Costs. The Parties agree that in the event litigation is initiated by either Party to this Agreement to interpret or enforce this Agreement, the prevailing Party will be entitled to recover legal costs and reasonable attorney's fees incurred in connection with the litigation, in addition to any other relief granted. This Agreement shall be interpreted pursuant to California law. This document shall be admissible evidence, without any objection, to enforce it, and it is admissible pursuant to Evidence Code section 1123.

32. Binding Nature; No Assignment. This Agreement, and all the terms and provisions contained herein, shall bind the personal representatives, successors and assigns of each Party, and inure to the benefit of each Party, its agents, directors, officers, employees, servants, successors, and assigns. The Parties promise and guarantee that they have not made, and will not make, any assignment of any claim, chose in action, right of action, or any right of any kind whatsoever, embodied in any of the claims that are released herein, and that no other person or entity of any kind had or has any interest in any of the claims released herein.

33. Survival of Warranties and Representations. The warranties and representations of this Agreement are deemed to survive the date of execution thereof.

34. Agreement Enforceable Pursuant to Section 664.6. It is understood and agreed by the Parties that this Agreement shall be enforceable pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure Section 664.6 until the action is dismissed.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Parties have executed this Agreement as of the dates set forth below.

Please use and make copies of this page (if necessary) to provide information regarding any questions, 1-10, you have marked "YES" to in section 8 of the application. A signed statement of explanation for each event and a copy of all documents that identify the circumstance or contain an order, agreement or other disposition for the event must be provided.

This is in response to Question # 6 ^{3 7/19/25}. Provide all the following where applicable:

Date of Event/Arrest 2/22/2023	Disposition Date 10/19/2023	State NY	City New York	County New York
Case # 650947/2023		Governing, licensing, Arresting Presiding Body/Agency/Court Supreme Court of the State of New York County of New York
Reason/Charge Breach of agreement
Plaintiff/Defendant/Claimant/Respondent Sabby Opportunities Fund and Walleye Opportunities Fund v. Aytu BioPharma, Inc., Et. Al.			Lawsuit/Arbitration/Bankruptcy Lawsuit
Name of Business/Industry/Entity Aytu BioPharma, Inc.

Provide explanation below:

On February 1, 2023, Aytu had a phone conversation with Sabby, where they indicated Aytu's calculation of the warrant adjustment was correct, however, Aytu did not provide Sabby with "prompt" notification of the reset of the exercise price in accordance with 3F of the warrant agreement from the August 2022 financing (the "Warrant"). As a result, Sabby and Walleye claimed that they incurred damages because it adversely affected their ability to use the warrant shares to hedge Aytu stock and gain more warrant shares through such hedging.

On February 22, 2023, Sabby and Walleye filed a complaint with the Supreme Court of the State of New York, New York County, Index No.: 650947/2023. The causes of action are:

- i) Declaratory Judgement, declaring that:
 - (1) the Company may not use $0.1798 ($3.596 post-split) to calculate the new number of Warrant Shares;
 - (2) the Company must use the original exercise price of $0.43 ($8.60 post-split) to calculate the number of Warrant Shares;
 - (3) Sabby will be due 575,000 shares upon exercise of its Warrants; and
 - (4) Walleye will be due 100,000 shares upon exercise of its Warrants.
- ii) Breach of Contract, alleging failure to provide prompt notice.

Aytu filed its response April 21, 2023. Plaintiff requested amending their complaint, which we agreed to permit, including updating the preliminary conference order dates, which was submitted

On October 16, 2023, the parties settled the litigation, with Aytu paying Sabby $150,000, with no fault admitted. The $150,000 was paid on October 18, 2023. Upon filing with the State of New York this case was closed.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND
GENERAL RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Settlement Agreement") is made and entered into on this 16th day of October, 2023, by and between AYTU BIOPHARMA INC. ("AYTU") on the one hand and SABBY VOLATILITY WARRANT MASTER FUND LTD. and WALLEYE OPPORTUNITIES MASTER FUND LTD. (hereinafter collectively referred to as "Plaintiffs," and together with AYTU, the "Parties").

WHEREAS, on or about August 9, 2022, Plaintiffs purchased (and continue to hold) Warrants issued by AYTU with an initial exercise price of $0.43 per share, subject to adjustment (the "Warrants").

WHEREAS, on February 22, 2023, Plaintiffs commenced an action in the New York Supreme Court for New York County, captioned Sabby Volatility Warrant Master Fund Ltd. and Walleye Opportunities Master Fund Ltd. v. Aytu Biopharma Inc., Index No. 650947/2023 (the "Litigation"), asserting claims against AYTU for declaratory judgment and breach of contract based on allegations regarding adjustments to the exercise price and share amount in the Warrants;

WHEREAS, AYTU denies Plaintiffs' claims and allegations and has asserted affirmative defenses;

WHEREAS, the parties wish to resolve their disputes and settle any and all claims, cross-claims and counterclaims, asserted or which could have been asserted, arising out of, growing out of or resulting from the Litigation (the "Claims") to avoid the uncertainty, expense, burden, and delay of litigating, without any admission of liability or wrongdoing on the part of AYTU.

NOW THEREFORE, AYTU and Plaintiffs intending to be bound hereby covenant and agree as follows:

1. In exchange for the mutual promises contained herein, AYTU agrees to pay to Plaintiffs the sum of one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) (the "Settlement Payment") in full and complete satisfaction of the Claims asserted in the Litigation and the releases herein. The Settlement Payment shall be made within ten business days of the signing of the Settlement Agreement, by wire to Olshan Frome Wolosky LLP Trust Account.

2. Plaintiffs will determine how to allocate the Settlement Payment among themselves and will have no recourse against AYTU relating to disputes that may arise out of Plaintiffs' allocation or failure to allocate.

3. Effective upon payment of the Settlement Payment, AYTU and Plaintiffs, on behalf of themselves and each of their past and present affiliates, managers, representatives, directors, officers, investment advisors, successors and assigns, do hereby fully and forever release each other from and against any and all liabilities, complaints, allegations, assertions, contentions, damages, promises, covenants, contracts, agreements, obligations, responsibilities, causes of action, judgments, claims, cross-claims, counterclaims, defects, deficiencies, or determinations in law, equity, administrative or arbitration proceedings, associated with or relating to the Claims.

4. Nothing in this Agreement shall impair the right of Plaintiffs to exercise any Warrants that they currently own, in accordance with the terms of the Warrants, nor shall this Agreement impair the right of Plaintiffs to receive any adjustments to the exercise price and/or share amounts in their Warrants to the extent provided by AYTU to other warrant holders.

5. No Admissions. This Settlement Agreement is not intended to constitute, and should not be construed to constitute, an admission of any wrongdoing or liability whatsoever on the part of AYTU, and AYTU expressly denies any wrongdoing or liability. Rather, this Settlement Agreement is entered into by all parties solely for the purpose of avoiding the burden, inconvenience, and expense of proceeding with the Litigation.

6. This Settlement Agreement is made and entered into in the State of New York, and shall in all respects be interpreted, enforced and governed under the laws of the State of New York. All parties consent to the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts located in the State of New York, located in New York County, in connection with any dispute regarding this Agreement or any suit to enforce its terms.

7. The language of all parts of this Settlement Agreement shall in all cases be construed as a whole, according to its fair meaning, and not strictly for or against any of the parties. Should any provision of this Agreement be declared or be determined by any court to be illegal or invalid, the validity of the remaining parts, terms or provisions shall not be affected thereby and said illegal or invalid part, term, or provision shall be deemed not to be part of this Settlement Agreement.

8. This Settlement Agreement constitutes the entire agreement among the parties hereto with respect to the Claims. No party hereto has made any representation or warranty to any other party regarding the Claims except as expressly set forth in this Agreement.

9. This Settlement Agreement shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the Parties and their successors and assigns.

10. No later than three business days after receipt of the Settlement Payment, Plaintiffs shall file, in substantially the same form as attached hereto as Exhibit A, a Notice of Discontinuance with Prejudice discontinuing the Litigation, with each party to bear its own costs, expenses, and attorney fees.

11. Neither this Settlement Agreement nor any terms or conditions set forth herein may be changed, waived, discharged, or terminated orally or in writing, except in a writing signed by all Parties.

12. The failure of any of the Parties to insist upon strict adherence to any term of this Settlement Agreement on any occasion shall not be considered a waiver thereof or deprive that party of the right thereafter to insist upon strict adherence to that term or any other term of this Settlement Agreement.

13. In the event of any dispute regarding this Settlement Agreement, including any claim to enforce rights hereunder, the prevailing party shall be entitled to recover its reasonable attorneys' fees and costs.

14. This Settlement Agreement may be executed in counterparts.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, and intending to be legally bound hereby, the parties executed the foregoing Settlement Agreement and General Release.

Aytu BioPharma Announces Closing of Upsized At the Market Public Offering of Common Stock with Full Exercise of Overallotment and Conference Call to Discuss First-in-Class Antidepressant EXXUA™ Opportunity and Commercialization Plan

Gross proceeds from offering total $16.6 million.

Financing led by long-term, healthcare-focused institutional investors, including Aytu's largest shareholders Nantahala Capital Management and Stonepine Capital Management, with participation from Aytu management and new institutional shareholders.

Aytu enters the over $22 billion United States prescription major depressive disorder ("MDD") market with the first-in-class oral selective serotonin 5HT1a receptor agonist for adults with MDD.

EXXUA has demonstrated significant improvement in depression symptoms in clinical trials involving more than 5,000 patients and, notably, the incidence of sexual side effects experienced with EXXUA was comparable to placebo.

EXXUA is expected to serve as a major growth catalyst as Aytu continues to build value for shareholders; the Company anticipates launching EXXUA in the fourth calendar quarter of 2025 as a centerpiece of its commercial efforts.

Conference call to discuss the EXXUA opportunity and commercialization plan scheduled for Wednesday, June 11, 2025, at 4:30 p.m. Eastern time.

DENVER, CO / June 9, 2025 / Aytu BioPharma, Inc. (the "Company" or "Aytu") (Nasdaq:AYTU), a pharmaceutical company focused on commercializing novel therapeutics, today announced the closing of an upsized at the market public offering of 1,366,688 shares of common stock, par value $0.0001 per share ("Common Stock") at a public offering price of $1.50 and 8,233,332 prefunded warrants at a public offering price of $1.4999 to purchase 8,233,332 shares of Common Stock at an exercise price of $0.0001 per share. Additionally, the underwriters have exercised in full their option to purchase an additional 1,440,000 shares of the Company's Common Stock at the public offering price. Gross proceeds from the offering are $16.6 million before deducting underwriting discounts and commissions and offering expenses.

Net proceeds from the offering are intended for working capital, general corporate purposes and to enable the Company to exclusively commercialize EXXUA™ (gepirone) extended-release tablets ("EXXUA"), a novel, branded, United States Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") approved treatment for MDD in the United States. Gepirone is a new chemical entity, and EXXUA is the first-in-class selective serotonin 5HT1a receptor agonist approved by the FDA for the treatment of MDD in adults. EXXUA has been extensively studied in over 5,000 patients and represents a new class of therapeutics to compete in the over $22 billion United States prescription MDD market. Importantly, EXXUA is the only antidepressant acting on serotonin receptors that does not carry label warnings about the risk of sexual dysfunction. The mechanism of the antidepressant effect of EXXUA is believed to be related to its modulation of serotonin activity and, specifically, its exclusive and strong binding affinity for 5HT1a receptors, which are key regulators of mood and emotion. EXXUA is not a selective serotonin reuptake inhibitor ("SSRI") and has no reuptake inhibition activity. EXXUA also exhibits no significant adverse effects on weight, blood pressure, heart rate or liver function.

This press release shall not constitute an offer to sell or the solicitation of an offer to buy these securities, nor shall there be any sale of these securities in any state or other jurisdiction in which such offer, solicitation or sale would be unlawful prior to the registration or qualification under the securities laws of any such state or other jurisdiction.

About Aytu BioPharma

Aytu is a pharmaceutical company focused on commercializing novel therapeutics. The Company's prescription products include EXXUA™ (gepirone) extended-release tablets (see Full Prescribing Information, including Boxed WARNING) for the treatment of major depressive disorder (MDD), Adzenys XR-ODT® (amphetamine) extended-release orally disintegrating tablets (see Full Prescribing Information, including Boxed WARNING) and Cotempla XR-ODT® (methylphenidate) extended-release orally disintegrating tablets (see Full Prescribing Information, including Boxed WARNING) for the treatment of attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD), and a line of legacy products, including Karbinal® ER (carbinoxamine maleate), Poly-Vi-Flor® and Tri-Vi-Flor®. To learn more, please visit aytubio.com.

About EXXUA

EXXUA is a novel oral selective serotonin 5HT_{1a} receptor agonist indicated for the treatment of major depressive disorder (MDD) in adults. EXXUA is also being developed for other psychiatric disorders.

INDICATIONS and IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION for EXXUA

INDICATIONS

EXXUA is indicated for the treatment of major depressive disorder (MDD) in adults.

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION

Antidepressants increased the risk of suicidal thoughts and behaviors in pediatric and young adult patients in short-term studies. Closely monitor all antidepressant-treated patients for clinical worsening and emergence of suicidal thoughts and behaviors.

EXXUA is not approved for use in pediatric patients.

Do not take EXXUA if you:

- are allergic to EXXUA or any of the ingredients in EXXUA.
- have a prolonged QTc interval greater than 450 msec or congenital long QT syndrome.
- are taking medicines known as strong CYP3A4 inhibitors. Ask your healthcare provider if you are not sure if you are taking one of these medicines.
- have severe liver problems.
- are taking, or have stopped taking within the last 14 days, a medicine called a monoamine oxidase inhibitor (MAOI), including the antibiotic linezolid or intravenous methylene blue. Ask your healthcare provider or pharmacist if you are not sure if you take an MAOI, including the antibiotic linezolid or intravenous methylene blue.

Do not start taking an MAOI for at least 14 days after you have stopped treatment with EXXUA.

EXXUA may cause serious side effects, including:

Changes in the electrical activity of your heart called QT prolongation. QT prolongation can cause irregular heartbeats that can be life-threatening. Your healthcare provider will check the electrical activity of your heart with a test called an electrocardiogram (ECG) and will also do blood tests to check your levels of body salts (electrolytes) before and during treatment with EXXUA. Your healthcare provider may check your electrolytes more often during treatment if you have heart failure, a slow heart rate, abnormal levels of electrolytes in your blood, or if you take other medications that can prolong the QT interval of your heartbeat.

A potentially life-threatening problem called serotonin syndrome can happen when EXXUA is taken with certain other medicines.

Manic episodes may happen in people with bipolar disorder who take EXXUA.

Please read FULL PRESCRIBING INFORMATION for EXXUA.

Forward-Looking Statements

Certain statements in this press release are forward-looking statements that involve a number of risks and uncertainties. These statements may be identified by introductory words such as "anticipate," "believe," "expects," "intends," "may," "plan," "should," "subject to," "will," "would" or words of similar meaning, or by the fact that they do not relate strictly to historical or current facts. Such forward-looking statements include statements regarding the planned use of the net proceeds of the offering. For such statements, Aytu claims the protection of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Actual events or results may differ materially from Aytu's expectations. Factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from the forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, risks and uncertainties associated with market conditions and the satisfaction of customary closing conditions related to the proposed offering, and those factors disclosed in Aytu's filings with the SEC, including its Annual Report on Form 10-K filed on September 26, 2024, and its Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q. These forward-looking statements represent Aytu's judgment as of the time of this release. Aytu disclaims any intent or obligation to update these forward-looking statements, other than as may be required under applicable law.

RE: Case No. 22-283

To Whom it May Concern:

Enclosed you will find a Summary Order issued by the Kansas Board of Pharmacy (Board) in the above-referenced matter. Please read the order in its entirety. In addition, a civil fine has been assessed totaling $1220. Please submit a check or money order made payable to the Kansas Board of Pharmacy and include your case number in the check memo.

If you disagree with the findings of fact, you have the right to request a hearing. Instructions for filing a written request are included under the "Notices" section of the order. Hearings are held before the full Board during their regularly scheduled quarterly meetings.

According to KSA 65-1627h, the Board is required to recoup the costs of administrative hearings when the decision is adverse to the licensee. These costs may include charges for services rendered by the Board's disciplinary counsel, an administrative law judge, and, if applicable, a court reporter.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact the Board at Pharmacy.Compliance@ks.gov.

Sincerely,

Kansas Board of Pharmacy

Case No. 22-283

SUMMARY ORDER

NOW, on this 4th day of January 2023, comes before the Kansas Board of Pharmacy (the "Board"), through its Executive Secretary, the matter of Melinta Therapeutics, LLC. ("Applicant"), for application for registration as a manufacturer in the state of Kansas.

Pursuant to the authority granted to the Board by the Kansas Pharmacy Act, K.S.A. 65-1625, et seq., and in accordance with the provisions of the Kansas Administrative Procedure Act, K.S.A. 77-501, et seq., the Board enters this Summary Order in the above-captioned matter. After reviewing the application materials and being otherwise duly advised in the premises, the Board makes the following findings, conclusions, and order:

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. On November 3, 2022, the Board received Applicant's application for registration as a manufacturer in the State of Kansas ("Applicant's Application").
2. On Applicant's Non-Resident Supplemental S-350 form, Applicant answered "Yes" to the following question: "Has the facility listed on the application shipped drugs and/or devices into Kansas in the previous 12 months." The form directs that if the applicant answered "yes," the applicant should provide the specific drugs and/or devices sent in, the dates of shipment, and the locations they were sent in Kansas."
3. In conjunction with Applicant's Application, Applicant provided requested copies of shipping records for products shipped into Kansas. Applicant reported shipping into Kansas on 11 unique days during the previous 12-month period.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

1. Pursuant to K.S.A. 65-1658, the Board may assess a civil fine not to exceed $5,000, after notice and an opportunity to be heard, to any registrant for violation of the pharmacy act of the state of Kansas or any other rules or regulations of the state board of pharmacy.

2. Pursuant to K.S.A. 65-1627(f)(6), the Board may take action against the application of any manufacturer provider upon a finding that the applicant has violated the pharmacy act of the state of Kansas or any regulation adopted by the Board.

3. Pursuant to K.S.A. 65-1643(g), it shall be unlawful for any person to manufacture any drugs or devices without first obtaining a registration from the Board.

4. Applicant's act of operating in Kansas prior to being registered as a manufacturer is a violation of K.S.A. 65-1643(g) and is a basis to take action against Applicant's Application pursuant to K.S.A. 65-1627(f)(6).

ORDER

Based upon the foregoing findings of fact and conclusions of law, Applicant's Application is hereby GRANTED but Applicant is ordered to pay a fine to the Board in the amount of $1,220. Applicant has 30 days from the date of this order to pay the fine and the registration shall be issued upon receipt.

NOTICES

Respondent is hereby notified as follows:

1. Respondent may request a hearing pursuant to the Kansas Administrative Procedure Act by filing a written request with the Kansas Board of Pharmacy, 800 SW Jackson, Suite 1414, Topeka, KS 66612-1231, within 15 days after service of this Order. If the outcome of the hearing is adverse to Respondent, costs of the proceedings shall be charged to Respondent.

2. If a hearing is not requested as described above, the Order shall become a final order of the Board, effective upon the expiration of the time to request a hearing.

3. Within 15 days after entry of a final agency order, either party may file a petition for reconsideration pursuant to K.S.A. 77-529.

4. Within the time limits established in K.S.A. 77-613, either party may seek judicial review of a final agency order, pursuant to K.S.A. 77-613. The agency officer designated to receive service of a petition for judicial review is:

Alexandra Blasi
Executive Secretary
800 SW Jackson, Suite 1414
Topeka, KS 66612

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Introductory Note

On August 29, 2025 (the "Closing Date"), CorMedix Inc., a Delaware corporation (the "Company," "CorMedix," "we," "our" and "us") completed its previously announced merger with Melinta Therapeutics, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company ("Melinta"). Pursuant to that certain Agreement and Plan of Merger, dated August 7, 2025 (the "Merger Agreement"), by and between the Company, Melinta, Coriander BidCo LLC, a Delaware limited liability company and a wholly owned subsidiary of the Company ("Merger Sub"), and Deerfield Private Design Fund IV, L.P., a Delaware limited partnership, solely in its capacity as representative, agent and attorney-in-fact of the Melinta equityholders (the "Members' Representative"), Merger Sub merged with and into Melinta, with Melinta surviving the merger as a wholly owned subsidiary of the Company (the "Merger").

Item 1.01. Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement.

Contingent Payment Agreement

On the Closing Date, the Company, Melinta, Deerfield Private Design Fund III, L.P. and Deerfield Private Design Fund IV, L.P. (the "Consenting Melinta Members") and the Members' Representative entered into a contingent payment agreement (the "Contingent Payment Agreement"), pursuant to which, in connection with the Merger Agreement and as part of the Merger Consideration payable to the Consenting Melinta Members, the Company will make certain payments to the Contingent Payment Holders (as defined in the Contingent Payment Agreement) as described below.

The Contingent Payment Agreement provides for milestone and net sales based payments. Upon the issuance of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") marketing approval of (a) the product known as REZZAYOTM (rezafungin) as of the date hereof or as may be modified thereafter, or (b) any product that contains the active ingredient rezafungin, for the prevention or prophylaxis of invasive fungal infections in adult patients undergoing allogeneic stem cell blood and marrow transplant or the regulatory equivalent on or prior to June 30, 2029, the Company shall pay, in cash or common shares, par value $0.001 per share, of the Company ("Common Stock") at the Company's election, to the Contingent Payment Holders the following payments:

- (i) if the FDA-approved labeling includes candida, $20 million;
- (ii) if the FDA-approved labeling includes aspergillus, $2.5 million; and
- (iii) if the FDA-approved labeling includes pneumocystis, $2.5 million.

Further, the Contingent Payment Agreement provides that the Company will pay to the Contingent Payment Holders tiered royalties on REZZAYOTM (rezafungin) U.S. net sales and low-single-digit royalties on MINOCIN[®] (minocycline) U.S. net sales.

The foregoing description of the Contingent Payment Agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby is not intended to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the Contingent Payment Agreement, which is attached as Exhibit 10.1 and is incorporated herein by reference.

Registration Rights Agreement

On the Closing Date, the Company and the Consenting Melinta Members entered into a registration rights agreement (the "Registration Rights Agreement"), pursuant to which, among other things, the Company agreed to register for resale, pursuant to Rule 415 under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the "Securities Act"), the Merger Shares. One third of the Merger Shares are subject to a 60-day lock-up, and one third of Merger Shares are subject to a 120-day lock-up.

The foregoing description of the Registration Rights Agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby is not intended to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the Registration Rights Agreement, which is attached as Exhibit 10.2 and is incorporated herein by reference.

Item 2.01. Completion of Acquisition or Disposition of Assets.

The information contained above under the Introductory Note and Item 1.01, to the extent required by Item 2.01 of Form 8-K, is hereby incorporated by reference herein.

Under the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in the Merger Agreement, at the effective time of the Merger (the "Effective Time"), the Company (i) paid to the Melinta equityholders (including the Consenting Melinta Members) an aggregate of $260 million in cash (subject to adjustment for the Aggregate Exercise Price, Estimated Company Cash, Estimated Company Debt, Estimated Working Capital as compared to the Working Capital Target, and Estimated Transaction Expenses (each as defined in the Merger Agreement)), and (ii) to the Consenting Melinta Members an aggregate of $40 million worth of common shares, par value $0.001 per share, of the Company (the "Merger Shares"). Additionally, the Consenting Melinta Members are eligible to receive certain contingent payments pursuant to the terms of the Merger Agreement, the Contingent Payment Agreement (as defined and described above). The cash consideration was funded by a combination of the Company's existing cash on hand and a $150 million convertible notes offering.

The foregoing description of the Merger Agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby is not intended to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the Merger Agreement, which is attached as Exhibit 2.1 and is incorporated herein by reference.

Item 3.02. Unregistered Sale of Securities.

The information contained above under Introductory Note, Item 1.01 and 2.01, to the extent required by Item 3.02 of Form 8-K, is hereby incorporated by reference herein. The offer and sale of the securities issued to the Consenting Melinta Members pursuant to the Merger, any securities issuable pursuant to the Contingent Payment Agreement (including any shares of Common Stock) are being made in reliance on the exemption afforded by Section 4(a)(2) of the Securities Act and corresponding provisions of state securities or "blue sky" laws. The securities issued in the Merger and issuable pursuant to the Contingent Payment Agreement, (including any shares of Common Stock) have not been registered under the Securities Act or any state securities laws and may not be offered or sold in the United States absent registration with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") or an applicable exemption from the registration requirements. The issuance and sale of the securities issued in the Merger did not involve a public offering and was made without general solicitation or general advertising.

Neither this Current Report on Form 8-K nor any exhibit attached hereto is an offer to sell or the solicitation of an offer to buy shares of Common Stock or other securities of the Company.

Item 5.02. Departure of Directors or Certain Officers; Election of Directors; Appointment of Certain Officers; Compensatory Arrangements of Certain Officers.

The Company announced today that Susan Blum, Elizabeth Hurlburt and Matthew David (each, an "Executive") have been appointed to serve as the Company's Chief Financial Officer, Chief Operating Officer and Chief Business Officer, respectively, each effective as of the Closing Date. In their previous roles, Ms. Blum served as the Chief Financial Officer of Melinta, Ms. Hurlburt as EVP, Chief Clinical Strategy and Operations Officer of the Company, and Dr. David as Chief Financial Officer of the Company. Effective as of the Closing Date, Dr. David ceased to serve, and Ms. Blum commenced serving, as the Company's principal financial officer.

Ms. Blum was previously the Chief Financial Officer of Melinta. Ms. Blum joined Melinta in 2016 as the company's Controller and then served as Vice President of Finance & Chief Accounting Officer prior to being appointed to the Chief Financial Officer position in 2021. Prior to joining Melinta, Ms. Blum served as Corporate Controller at Textura Corporation from 2013 to 2016, supporting the company's IPO and transformation into a publicly-traded organization. Ms. Blum also served in leadership roles at Orbitz Worldwide, Inc. (NYSE: OWW) from 2011 to 2013 and at Facet Biotech Corporation and PDL BioPharma, Inc. (Nasdaq: PDLI) from 2004 to 2010, where she was responsible for such functions as external reporting and related compliance, technical accounting and internal controls over financial reporting. Ms. Blum has served as a director of BiomX Inc. since April 2024. Ms. Blum began her career in public accounting at Ernst & Young, where she spent nearly seven years working with a diverse client base ranging from large, public international engagements to development-stage enterprises. Ms. Blum is a Certified Public Accountant, currently serves as a member of the BioNJ Cybersecurity Committee and holds a B.S. in Business Commerce from Santa Clara University.

There are no arrangements or understandings between Ms. Blum or Hurlburt or Dr. David and any other person pursuant to which Ms. Blum or Hurlburt or Dr. David were selected as officers, and there are no family relationships between Ms. Blum or Hurlburt or Dr. David and any of the Company's directors or executive officers. None of Ms. Blum or Hurlburt or Dr. David have any direct or indirect material interest in any transaction or proposed transaction required to be reported under Item 404(a) of Regulation S-K.

The Company entered into employment agreements with each of Ms. Blum (entered into on August 28, 2025) and Hurlburt (entered into on August 29, 2025) and Dr. David (entered into on August 31, 2025) that will govern the terms of their employment (collectively, the "Executive Employment Agreements") from and after the Closing Date. Pursuant to the terms of the Executive Employment Agreements, Ms. Blum and Hurlburt and Dr. David are entitled to receive an annual base salary of $488,000, $500,000, and $423,833, respectively, and each will be eligible for a target annual bonus equal to 45% of their base salary, based upon the achievement of corporate objectives for the Company as a whole for such fiscal year (except with respect to Ms. Blum's bonus in respect of the 2025 fiscal year, which will be equal to 45% of her base salary with two-thirds deemed achieved at target level performance and the remaining one-third based on the achievement of corporate objectives). Further, the Company will grant Ms. Blum restricted stock units covering a number of shares of Common Stock with a value of $1,000,000 (determined based on the closing price of the Company's Common Stock on the trading day immediately preceding the Closing Date), which will vest in equal annual installments over four years, subject to continued employment. Ms. Blum and Hurlburt and Dr. David will be eligible for additional equity awards commencing in 2026.

Pursuant to the Executive Employment Agreements, upon a termination by the Company other than for Cause (as defined in the Executive Employment Agreements) (other than as a result of death or disability), or by the Executive for Good Reason (as defined in the Executive Employment Agreements), the Executive will, subject to execution of a general release of claims, be entitled to (i) continuation of base salary for a period of nine months, (ii) payment of a prorated annual bonus for the year of termination based on the actual achievement of the specified bonus objectives (except with respect to Ms. Blum, in the event her employment is terminated prior to January 1, 2026, she will receive payment of her full annual bonus in respect of fiscal year 2025, in lieu of such prorated bonus), (iii) subsidized COBRA premiums for up to nine months, (iv) one year of additional time vesting of any then-outstanding equity awards (or, if such termination occurs within twenty-four months following a Corporate Transaction (as defined in the Company's 2019 Omnibus Stock Incentive Plan), full vesting of all then-outstanding equity awards), and (v) any then-unpaid bonus in respect of service during the year preceding the year of termination.

The Executive Employment Agreements also contain customary confidentiality and non-disparagement covenants and non-competition and non-solicitation of employees and customers covenants that apply during employment and for a period of twelve months following any termination of employment.

The foregoing description of the Executive Employment Agreements is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of each of the Executive Employment Agreements, which are attached as Exhibits 10.3, 10.4 and 10.5, respectively, hereto and incorporated by reference herein.

Item 7.01. Regulation FD Disclosure.

On September 2, 2025, the Company issued a press release announcing the completion of the Merger and announcing the appointment of Susan Blum, Elizabeth Hurlburt and Matthew David as the Company's Chief Financial Officer, Chief Operating Officer and Chief Business Officer, respectively. Pursuant to Regulation FD, a copy of the press release is furnished with this Current Report on Form 8-K as Exhibit 99.2 and incorporated by reference herein.

The information in this Item 7.01 not be deemed "filed" for purposes of Section 18 of the Exchange Act or otherwise subject to the liabilities of that section, nor shall it be deemed incorporated by reference in any filing under the Securities Act or the Exchange Act, except as expressly set forth by specific reference in such a filing.

CONTINGENT PAYMENT AGREEMENT

This CONTINGENT PAYMENT AGREEMENT (this "Agreement"), dated as of August 29, 2025, is made by and among Deerfield Private Design Fund IV, L.P., a Delaware limited partnership ("DPDF IV"), Deerfield Private Design Fund III, L.P., a Delaware limited partnership ("DPDF III") and, together with DPDF IV, the "Initial Contingent Payment Holders" and, together with any transferees or assignees thereof, the "Contingent Payment Holders" and each, a "Contingent Payment Holder", CorMedix Inc., a Delaware corporation ("Parent"), Melinta Therapeutics, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (the "Company"), and Deerfield Private Design Fund IV, L.P., a Delaware limited partnership, solely in its capacity as representative ("Members' Representative" and, collectively with the Contingent Payment Holders, the Company and Parent, the "Parties" and each, a "Party").

Background Statement

WHEREAS, pursuant to that certain Agreement and Plan of Merger, by and among Parent, Coriander BidCo, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company and a wholly owned Subsidiary (as defined below) of Parent ("Merger Sub"), the Company and the Members' Representative, dated as of August 7, 2025 (together with all exhibits and schedules thereto and as may be amended, restated, supplemented or otherwise modified from time to time in accordance with the terms thereof, the "Merger Agreement"), substantially contemporaneously with the execution and delivery of this Agreement, the Company is being merged with Merger Sub, with the Company surviving such merger as a wholly owned Subsidiary of Parent, and each Company Share (as defined below) is being converted into a right to receive Merger Consideration.

WHEREAS, each of the Initial Contingent Payment Holders is a Company Member (as defined below), and in connection with the Merger Agreement and as part of the Merger Consideration payable for the Company Shares thereunder, Parent has agreed to make (or cause one or more of its Affiliates (as defined below) to make) certain payments to the Contingent Payment Holders as set forth herein.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the covenants and obligations expressed herein, and intending to be legally bound, the Parties agree as follows:

Statement of Agreement

I. Definitions. The following terms used herein shall have the meanings set forth below:

"Affiliate" of any Person means another Person that directly or indirectly, through one or more intermediaries, controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with, such first Person. As used herein, "control" means the possession, directly or indirectly, of the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of such entity, whether through ownership of voting securities or other interests, by contract or otherwise.

"Agreement" has the meaning set forth in the Preamble.

"Applicable Percentage" means, (a) in respect of any Net Sales of the Rezzayo Product in the U.S. in any calendar year of under [], [], (b) in respect of Net Sales of the Rezzayo Product in the U.S. in any calendar year in an aggregate amount equal to or greater than [] but less than [], [], and (c) in respect of Net Sales of the Rezzayo Product in the U.S. in any calendar year in an aggregate amount greater than [], [].

"Assignee" has the meaning set forth in Section 4.

"Average Sale Price" means, with respect to a particular period, the weighted average sale price of any Product, Combination Product, Bundled Product or other product or service included in a Combination Product or Bundled Product, as applicable, the price determined by dividing (a) the total gross sales, as invoiced, on commercial sales of such Product, Combination Product, Bundled Product or other product or service included in a Combination Product or Bundled Product, as applicable, in arms-length transactions during the applicable period, by (b) the units of such Product, Combination Product, Bundled Product or other product or service included in a Combination Product or Bundled Product commercially sold in arms-length transactions during such period.

"Bundled Product" shall mean the Products together with any other product(s) and/or service(s) that are sold at a single unit price, whether packaged together or separately, other than any Combination Product.

"Business Day" means a day (a) other than Saturday or Sunday and (b) on which commercial banks are open for business in New York, New York.

"Code" means the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

"Combination Product" means any Product that is co-packaged in combination with one or more additional pharmaceutical products or active pharmaceutical ingredients. For the avoidance of doubt, pharmaceutical dosage form vehicles, adjuvants, and excipients shall not be deemed to be "additional pharmaceutical products" or "active pharmaceutical ingredients," and their presence shall not be deemed to create a Combination Product.

"Commercially Reasonable Efforts" means that level of efforts of a Person, in good faith, to achieve a Milestone and Net Sales in a diligent and sustained manner without undue pause, interruption or delay, that are at least commensurate with the level of efforts, including expenditure of resources, that a pharmaceutical company comparable to Parent and its Affiliates, taken as a whole would devote to the development, seeking of regulatory approval, commercialization, marketing and selling of a pharmaceutical product having similar market potential as any Product at a similar stage of its development or product life, and involving comparable development and marketing costs, taking into account issues of market exclusivity, safety and efficacy, the competitiveness of alternate products in the marketplace and the expected likelihood of regulatory approval of such a pharmaceutical product, but excluding, in each case, a Milestone Payment or any Net Sales Payment, as applicable, due under this Agreement.

"Company" has the meaning set forth in the Preamble.

"Company Member" means the holders of record of Company Shares outstanding as of immediately prior to the Effective Time.

"Company Share" means each Common Share of the Company and each Series A Preferred Share of the Company.

"Contingent Payment Accounting Firm" has the meaning set forth in Section 3(c).

"Contingent Payment Holder" has the meaning set forth in the Preamble.

"Disclosure Covenants" has the meaning set forth in Section 5.

"DPDF III" has the meaning set forth in the Preamble.

"DPDF IV" has the meaning set forth in the Preamble.

"Effective Time" means the time at which the Merger shall become effective.

"Exclusive Licensing Transaction" means (a) any exclusive licensing transaction pursuant to which all or substantially all of any Product, a substantial portion of the Product Intellectual Property, or any of the Product Intellectual Property listed in the Orange Book, is exclusively licensed (directly or indirectly) to a Person other than Parent or any of its Subsidiaries, where (b) such Product or Product Intellectual Property, as applicable, is not licensed back to Parent or any of its Subsidiaries in a manner in which Parent or any of its Subsidiaries possess all development and commercialization rights with respect to such Product in the U.S. and, in the case of Product Intellectual Property, exclusive use for purposes of development and commercialization of such Product in the U.S. For the avoidance of doubt, a Parent Change of Control shall not constitute an Exclusive Licensing Transaction.

"Extended Net Sales Payment Period" means, with respect to each Product, a period beginning on the later of (a) the date of expiration of the last-to-expire Valid Claim listed in the Orange Book for such Product and (b) expiration of Regulatory Exclusivity for any Product and ending on the introduction into the market of a Generic Product for such Product in the U.S.

"Fair Market Value" means the fair market value as mutually determined by Parent and the Members' Representative.

"Field Sales Employee" means any employee (and not an independent contractor) whose primary responsibility is calling upon (including spending a material amount of time engaging in face-to-face meetings in various geographies with) healthcare providers and medical facilities for purposes of marketing products for the treatment or prevention of human disease on behalf of such employee's employer.

"FDA" means the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

"Freely Tradeable Shares" means Parent Shares that, at the time of issuance thereof, (a) are duly authorized, validly issued, fully paid and non-assessable, (b) are listed on the Nasdaq Global Market, (c) are the subject of an effective registration statement under the Securities Act that is available for the resale thereof by each of the Contingent Payment Holders, as provided for in the Registration Rights Agreement, and/or may be sold by each of the Contingent Payment Holders without any further holding period, limitation or condition (including any current public information requirement) pursuant to Rule 144 under the Securities Act, and (d) do not bear, and are not subject to, any restrictive legend, stop transfer or similar restriction.

"GAAP" means U.S. generally accepted accounting principles, consistently applied.

"Generic Product" means any pharmaceutical product that (a) is sold by a third party that is not an Affiliate or licensee of Parent (or a successor) under a marketing authorization granted by the FDA to such third party and (b) contains the same active pharmaceutical ingredient as the applicable Product and (c) is approved in reliance on the prior approval of the applicable Product as determined by the FDA.

"Governmental Entity" means any supranational, federal, national, state, municipal or local government, any court, tribunal, arbitrator, administrative agency, commission or other governmental official, authority or instrumentality, in each case whether domestic or foreign, any stock exchange or similar self-regulatory organization or any quasi-governmental or private body exercising any regulatory, taxing or other governmental authority (including, as applicable, any governmental or political division, department, agency, commission, instrumentality, official, organization, unit, body or entity and any court, arbitrator or other similar tribunal).

"Initial Contingent Payment Holders" has the meaning set forth in the Preamble.

"Intellectual Property" means all intellectual property rights, whether protected, created or arising under the Laws of the U.S. or any other jurisdiction, including: (a) all patents, industrial designs, patent applications, provisional patent applications and similar instruments (including any and all substitutions, divisions, continuations, continuations-in-part, divisions, reissues, renewals, and extensions and any foreign equivalents of the foregoing (including certificates of invention, supplementary protection certificates and any applications therefor)) (collectively, "Patent"), (b) all domestic and foreign copyrights, copyright registrations, copyright applications and all moral rights related thereto, (c) all trademarks, service marks, trade names, business marks, service names, brand names, trade dress rights, logos, slogans, corporate names, and other indications of origin, together with all translations, adaptations, derivations and combinations thereof (including, all applications, registrations, renewals and extensions of the foregoing), (d) all Internet domain names, (e) trade secrets, proprietary know-how, inventions (whether or not patentable), improvements, methodologies, customer and supplier lists, database rights, discoveries, ideas, models, algorithms, blueprints, formulae, systems, processes, data compilations, tools, specifications, and technology, in each of the foregoing cases which are not available in the public domain and have actual or potential commercial value that is derived, in whole or in part, from such secrecy and (f) all other intellectual property rights throughout the world equivalent or similar to any of the foregoing.

"Law" means any statute, law (including controlling common law), ordinance, rule, or regulation of any Governmental Entity.

"M&A Transaction" means (a) any transaction (including a sale of assets, merger, or sale of stock or other equity interests, including merger or sale of the equity interests of a Subsidiary of Parent) pursuant to which the Surviving Company or ownership of all or substantially all of any Product, a substantial portion of the Product Intellectual Property, or any of the Product Intellectual Property listed in the Orange Book, is sold or assigned (directly or indirectly) to or acquired by, directly or indirectly, a Person other than Parent or any of its Subsidiaries, where (b) such Product or Product Intellectual Property, as applicable, is not licensed back to Parent or any of its Subsidiaries in a manner in which Parent or any of its Subsidiaries possess all development and commercialization rights with respect to such Product in the U.S. and, in the case of Product Intellectual Property, exclusive use for purposes of development and commercialization of such Product in the U.S. For the avoidance of doubt, a Parent Change of Control shall not constitute an M&A Transaction.

"Members' Representative" has the meaning set forth in the Preamble.

"Members' Representative Group" has the meaning set forth in Section 7(d).

"Merger" the merger of Merger Sub with and into the Company in accordance with the Merger Agreement.

"Merger Agreement" has the meaning set forth in the Background Statement.

"Merger Sub" has the meaning set forth in the Background Statement.

"Milestone" has the meaning set forth in Section 2(a).

"Milestone Notice" has the meaning set forth in Section 2(a).

"Milestone Payment" has the meaning set forth in Section 2(a).

"Milestone Period" means a period beginning on the date of this Agreement and ending on June 30, 2029.

"Minocin Product" means the product known as Minocin (minocycline) for injection as of the date hereof or as it may be modified thereafter, including all formulations, dosages and forms of administration and any product that otherwise contains the active ingredient minocycline in an injectable or intravenous form.

"MNPI" has the meaning set forth in Section 2(b)(i).

"Net Sales" means the aggregate gross amount invoiced by or on behalf of any Selling Entity for any Product that such Persons sold or otherwise disposed of to third parties, which third parties shall include distributors and end-users, less the following deductions (such deductions in clauses (a) through (f), the "Permitted Deductions"), to the extent included in the gross invoiced amount for such Product, or otherwise directly paid or incurred by a Selling Entity with respect to the sale of such Product, in each case, as determined in accordance with GAAP: (a) customary trade and quantity discounts, including trade quantity, early settlement and prompt payment discounts, actually allowed and taken with respect to sales of such Product; (b) credits, allowances and chargebacks given or made for recall, return or wastage replacement of such Product (including for spoiled, damaged, out-dated or returned Product) or for rebates or retroactive price reductions with respect to such Product; (c) discounts or rebates provided pursuant to patient financial assistance or discount programs, and coupon discounts; (d) chargebacks or rebates (or the equivalent thereof) paid on sale of such Product, including such payments mandated by programs of Governmental Entities or paid to medical healthcare organizations, to group purchasing organizations or trade customers; (e) sales, excise, value-added, use or other direct taxes paid, absorbed, incurred or otherwise allowed (except for taxes based on any Selling Entity's income); and (f) uncollected or uncollectable amounts invoiced to third parties and written off as bad debt in accordance with the Selling Entity's ordinary course of business write-off practices. If a single item falls into more than one of the categories set forth above, such item may not be deducted more than once. Notwithstanding the foregoing, in the case of (i) the sale of any Product between or among Selling Entities for subsequent resale to a third party on an arm's length basis, Net Sales will be calculated as above using only the gross amount invoiced by or on behalf of the applicable Selling Entity to such third party for such arm's length sale (and not the sale between or among such Selling Entities), and (ii) any sale or other disposal of any Product for non-cash consideration (other than with respect to such Product supplied expressly for sampling purposes, which shall not be included in Net Sales, and other than with respect to a sale or disposal of such Product between or among the Selling Entities for subsequent resale which shall be governed by clause (A)), then the gross amount to be included in the calculation of Net Sales shall be the Fair Market Value of any non-cash consideration received.

"Net Sales Payment Amount" means (a) in respect of each calendar quarter during the Net Sales Payment Period (i) in respect of the Net Sales of the Rezzayo Product in the U.S. during such quarter an aggregate amount equal to the sum of the Applicable Percentages of such Net Sales, plus (ii) []% of Net Sales of the Minocin Product in the U.S. during such calendar quarter or (b) in respect of each calendar quarter during the Extended Net Sales Payment Period (i) in respect of the Net Sales of the Rezzayo Product in the U.S. during such quarter an aggregate amount equal to []% the sum of the Applicable Percentages of such Sales, and (ii) []% of Net Sales of the Minocin Product in the U.S. during such calendar quarter.

"Net Sales Payment Period" means, with respect to each Product, a period beginning on the date of this Agreement and ending on the earlier of (a) the approval by the FDA and sale of a Generic Product for such Product in the U.S. (provided that, if a third party launches a Generic Product "at risk" in the U.S. and that Generic Product is subsequently withdrawn from the market, then the Net Sales Payment Period shall be reinstated) and (b) the later of (i) the date of expiration of the last-to-expire Valid Claim listed in the Orange Book for such Product and (ii) expiration of Regulatory Exclusivity for such Product.

"Net Sales Report" has the meaning set forth in Section 3(c).

"Orange Book" means FDA's publication entitled Approved Drug Products with Therapeutic Equivalence Evaluations.

"Parent" has the meaning set forth in the Preamble.

"Parent Change of Control" means either (a) the sale, lease, transfer, conveyance or other disposition, in one transaction or a series of related transactions to a Person for value, of all or substantially all of the assets of Parent and its subsidiaries on a consolidated basis (including, for the avoidance of doubt, all of the Products and Product Intellectual Property), or (b) the sale, issuance or transfer of stock, equity securities or other securities of the Parent to any Person.

"Parent Material Adverse Effect" means any change, event, condition, state of facts, development, circumstance, effect or occurrence that (a) has had, or would reasonably be expected to have, a material adverse effect on the business, financial condition or results of operations of Parent and its Subsidiaries, taken as a whole, or (b) prevents Parent from consummating the transactions contemplated by this Agreement or the Merger Agreement: provided, that, for purposes of clause (a), none of the following, and no change, event, condition, state of facts, development, circumstance, effect or occurrence that results from or arises in connection with the following, either alone or in combination, shall be deemed to constitute a Parent Material Adverse Effect and none of the following shall be taken into account in determining whether there has been a Parent Material Adverse Effect: any change, event, condition, state of facts, development, circumstance, effect or occurrence to the extent resulting from or arising in connection with (i) general conditions (or changes therein) in the industry in which Parent operates, (ii) general economic or regulatory, legislative or political conditions (or changes therein), including any actual or potential stoppage, shutdown, disputed election, default on obligations of any Governmental Entity or similar event or occurrence affecting a Governmental Entity, or securities, credit, banking, financial or other capital markets conditions (including changes generally in prevailing interest rates, currency exchange rates, credit markets or equity price levels, trading volumes or the imposition of new or increased tariffs), in each case in the U.S. or elsewhere in the world, (iii) any change or prospective change in applicable Law or GAAP (or the authoritative interpretation or enforcement thereof), (iv) geopolitical conditions, the outbreak or escalation of hostilities, any acts or threats of war (whether or not declared), sabotage, cyber-intrusion, political unrest or conditions, terrorism or any pandemics or epidemics or any applicable Law, mandate or recommendations of a Governmental Entity in response such hostilities, war, sabotage, cyber-intrusion, political unrest or conditions, terrorism, pandemics or epidemics, or any escalation or worsening of any such acts or threat of war (whether or not declared), sabotage, terrorism or any pandemics or epidemics, (v) any hurricane, tornado, flood, fire, volcano, earthquake or other natural or man-made disaster or any other national or international calamity, crisis or disaster, (vi) the failure, in and of itself, of Parent to meet any internal or external projections, forecasts, estimates or predictions in respect of any financial or operating metrics before, on or after the date hereof (it being understood that the underlying facts giving rise or contributing to such failure or change may be taken into account in determining whether there has been a Parent Material Adverse Effect if such facts are not otherwise excluded under this definition), (vii) the announcement, pendency or performance of any of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement or the Merger Agreement, including the identity of, or any facts or circumstances relating to, the Company or its Affiliates and any proceedings by Parent or its subsidiaries in respect of this Agreement or the Merger Agreement or any of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement or the Merger Agreement and any loss of or change in relationship, contractual or otherwise, with any customer, Governmental Entity, supplier, vendor, service provider, collaboration partner, licensor, licensees, payors, contractors or any other party having business dealings with (including the exercise, or prospective exercise, by any party of any rights that arise upon a change of control), or departure of any employees or officers, of Parent or its Subsidiaries (provided that this clause (vii) shall not apply with respect to any representation or warranty in this Agreement or the Merger Agreement the purpose of which is to address the consequences of the execution, delivery or performance of this Agreement or the Merger Agreement or the consummation of the transactions contemplated hereby or thereby), (viii) any action taken by Parent or its Affiliates at the Company's written (including email) request or with the Company's written (including email) consent, except in the case of clauses (i), (ii), (iii), (iv) and (v), to the extent that Parent and its subsidiaries are materially disproportionately affected thereby as compared with other participants in the industry in which Parent operates (in which case only the incremental disproportionate impact or impacts may be taken into account in determining whether there has been a Parent Material Adverse Effect).

"Parent Share Warrants" means warrants to acquire Parent Shares, each in the form of Exhibit A.

"Parent Shares" means common shares, par value $0.001 per share, of CorMedix Inc.

"Party" has the meaning set forth in the Preamble.

RE: CI 2018 84341
FOUNDATION CARE LLC
NRP 1999

As a result of the explanation and information you provided at the office conference, the amount of the fines assessed in Citation and Fine, CI 2018 84341 have been reduced.

The modified Citation is attached and is hereby issued pursuant to California Code of Regulations, title 16, section 1775.4, subdivision (d).

If you desire a hearing to appeal the attached Citation, you must submit a written request for a hearing to the Board of Pharmacy ("Board") within 30 days of the date this Citation was issued. (See Bus. Prof. Code sec. 125.9, subd. (b)(4), and C.C.R., title 16, sec. 1775.4, subd. (d).). Unless the Board receives a written request within the 30 days, you will be deemed to have waived your right to a hearing in this matter and the Citation shall become the final order of the Board. If a hearing is not requested, the timely payment of the imposed fine(s) shall not constitute an admission of the violation(s) charged in the Citation.

Failure to pay any imposed fine(s) within 30 days of the date the Citation was issued may result in disciplinary action being taken.

This Power of Attorney is made and executed pursuant to and by authority of the following By-laws and Authorizations of The Ohio Casualty Insurance Company, Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, and West American Insurance Company which resolutions are now in full force and effect reading as follows:

ARTICLE IV - OFFICERS: Section 12. Power of Attorney

Any officer or other official of the Corporation authorized for that purpose in writing by the Chairman or the President, and subject to such limitation as the Chairman or the President may prescribe, shall appoint such attorneys-in-fact, as may be necessary to act in behalf of the Corporation to make, execute, seal, acknowledge and deliver as surety any and all undertakings, bonds, recognizances and other surety obligations. Such attorneys-in-fact, subject to the limitations set forth in their respective powers of attorney, shall have full power to bind the Corporation by their signature and execution of any such instruments and to attach thereto the seal of the Corporation. When so executed, such instruments shall be as binding as if signed by the President and attested to by the Secretary. Any power or authority granted to any representative or attorney-in-fact under the provisions of this article may be revoked at any time by the Board, the Chairman, the President or by the officer or officers granting such power or authority.

ARTICLE XIII - Execution of Contracts: Section 5. Surety Bonds and Undertakings.

Any officer of the Company authorized for that purpose in writing by the chairman or the president, and subject to such limitations as the chairman or the president may prescribe, shall appoint such attorneys-in-fact, as may be necessary to act in behalf of the Company to make, execute, seal, acknowledge and deliver as surety any and all undertakings, bonds, recognizances and other surety obligations. Such attorneys-in-fact subject to the limitations set forth in their respective powers of attorney, shall have full power to bind the Company by their signature and execution of any such instruments and to attach thereto the seal of the Company. When so executed such instruments shall be as binding as if signed by the president and attested by the secretary.

Certificate of Designation - The President of the Company, acting pursuant to the Bylaws of the Company, authorizes David M. Carey, Assistant Secretary to appoint such attorneys-in-fact as may be necessary to act on behalf of the Company to make, execute, seal, acknowledge and deliver as surety any and all undertakings, bonds, recognizances and other surety obligations.

Authorization - By unanimous consent of the Company's Board of Directors, the Company consents that facsimile or mechanically reproduced signature of any assistant secretary of the Company, wherever appearing upon a certified copy of any power of attorney issued by the Company in connection with surety bonds, shall be valid and binding upon the Company with the same force and effect as though manually affixed.

I, Renee C. Llewellyn, the undersigned, Assistant Secretary, The Ohio Casualty Insurance Company, Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, and West American Insurance Company do hereby certify that the original power of attorney of which the foregoing is a full, true and correct copy of the Power of Attorney executed by said Companies, is in full force and effect and has not been revoked.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seals of said Companies this 6th day of February, 2025.

Acumed LLC received a cease and desist letter on 08/31/2023 for unlicensed furnishing of prescription medical devices to certain wholesalers in Nevada. Acumed LLC was previously unaware of the licensing requirements. Upon receiving the letter Acumed LLC ceased distributing devices into Nevada and paid the fine in full. Acumed LLC received a temporary wholesaler license (WH03512) that expired on 12/11/2023. Acumed LLC is seeking to be in compliance with this new application for 2025 and will continue renewals as required. This was previously reported in our 2024 application.

Address of Applicant/Principal
PRINCIPAL, and Berkshire Hathaway Specialty Insurance Company, a
Surety Company
corporation organized under the laws of the state of NE
State of Incorporation
and authorized to transact a general surety business in the State of

1314 Douglas Street, Suite 1300, Omaha, NE 68102-1944, as
Address of Surety

SURETY, are held and firmly bound unto the State of Nevada and to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy for the penal sum of TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($25,000.00), for which payment we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns jointly and severally, by these presents. This bond term shall become effective on February 7, 2025.
Effective Date

WHEREAS, the provisions of Nevada Revised Statute (NRS) 639.515 and Nevada Administrative Code (NAC) 639.5937 require that the Applicant/Principal file or have on file with the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy (Board) a bond in the sum of $25,000.00 payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy and this bond is executed and tendered in accordance therewith. This bond secures payment of any administrative fines imposed by the Board pursuant to NRS 639.255 and any costs incurred by the Board regarding the license of Applicant/Principal that are imposed pursuant to NRS 622.400 or 622.410 which the Applicant/Principal fails to pay.

Posted February 20, 2020

THIS BOND is subject to the following conditions:

- (1) This bond shall be deemed continuous in form and shall remain in full force and effect and shall run concurrently with the license period for which the license is granted and each and every succeeding license period or periods for which said Applicant/Principal may be licensed, after which liability hereunder shall cease except as to any liability or indebtedness therefore incurred or accrued hereunder.
- (2) This bond is executed by the Applicant/Principal and the Surety to comply with the provisions of NRS 639.515 and NAC 639.5937 and said bond shall be subject to all of the terms and provisions thereof.
- (3) The Surety, its successors and assigns, are jointly and severally liable on the obligations of the bond.
- (4) The limitations of the liability of the Surety and the conditions of the bond are set forth in NRS 639.515 and NAC 639.5937. Any claim by the Board may be made directly to the Surety and need not be preceded by the filing of any action in a proper court. Payment of any such claim shall be payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy.
- (5) The aggregate liability of the Surety hereunder on all claims whatsoever shall not exceed the penal sum of this bond in any event.
- (6) This bond may not be cancelled by the Surety without first giving the Board written notice at least thirty days in advance of any intent to cancel the bond.
- (7) The Applicant/Principal and Surety may be served with notices, papers and other documents at the addresses given above.

I certify or declare under penalty of perjury, under the laws of the State of Nevada, that I have executed the foregoing bond on behalf of the Surety under an unrevoked power of attorney.

In witness whereof, each party to this bond has caused it to be executed on this 7th day of February, 2025.

This is in response to Question # 6. Provide all the following where applicable:

Date of Event/Arrest 2019	Disposition Date 3/13/2024	State OR	City Portland	County Multnomah
Case # 2023-1064		Governing, licensing, Arresting Presiding Body/Agency/Court Oregon Board of Pharmacy
Reason/Charge Failure to disclose 12/21/2018 CO BOP Stipulation and Final Agency Order on OR BOP 8/7/2019 renewal application
Plaintiff/Defendant/Claimant/Respondent Oregon Board of Pharmacy / Aytu BioPharma Inc			Lawsuit/Arbitration/Bankruptcy Stipulation
Name of Business/Industry/Entity Aytu BioPharma Inc / Pharmaceutical Manufacturing

Provide explanation below:

In December 2023, the Oregon Board of Pharmacy notified Aytu BioPharma Inc of an incorrect response within the OR BOP 2019 renewal application. Specifically, in 2018, the State of Colorado Board of Pharmacy issued Aytu BioPharma Inc a Stipulation for a non-current Designated Representative, and this stipulation was not disclosed on the 2019 OR renewal application. The error in submission was an oversight and in no way an attempt to mislead the OR BOP. Aytu took full accountability for the inaccuracy and paid a fine. The case was finalized with the OR BOP on 3/13/2024.

AYTU BIOPHARMA INC.

Explanation of disciplinary action since last renewal.

In December 2023, Aytu BioPharma Inc, parent entity to Aytu Therapeutics LLC, was informed that an error had been made on its 2019 renewal application with the State of Oregon. The issue stemmed from a 2018 stipulation from the State of Colorado, which resulted from outdated Designated Representative information. This oversight was unintentional, and there was no attempt to withhold information from the Board.

Aytu BioPharma Inc took full responsibility for the mistake, promptly addressed the issue, and paid the associated fine. The matter was officially finalized with Oregon on March 13, 2024.

Under the authority granted pursuant to ORS 689.135, 689.145, 689.335, 689.405 and 689.445, the Oregon Board of Pharmacy (Board) proposes to take disciplinary action against your Certificate of Registration No. M-0002804 because Aytu Biopharma Inc (Registrant) violated the Oregon Pharmacy Act and the Board of Pharmacy rules as set forth below:

On or about 8/7/2019, Registrant submitted their Manufacturer drug outlet registration renewal application. The renewal application asked, "Since the date of your last renewal, has disciplinary action been taken, or is any such action currently pending or proposed, against any of the persons or establishments listed on the application, by any State or Federal Authority in connection with a violation of any federal or state drug law or regulation?" to which the Registrant answered "No."

Registrant failed to disclose their 12/21/2018 Colorado Board of Pharmacy Stipulation and Final Agency Order (2018 CO Order) on the 8/7/2019 renewal application.

By answering "No" to the question regarding disciplinary action on an application, you failed to answer all questions fully and truthfully on the application for licensure, which is a failure to cooperate under OAR 855-001-0035(1). By not providing information regarding the 2018 CO Order, you failed to provide accurate, honest, and complete information in response to a Board request, which is a failure to cooperate under OAR 855-001-0035(1). Failure to cooperate is unprofessional conduct under OAR 855-006-0020(k), which is grounds for discipline under ORS 689.405(1)(a) and (i), ORS 689.445(1)(d)(B), and 689.832(1).

Based on these alleged violations, the Board proposes to impose a civil penalty in the amount of $2,000 for 1 violation.

Registrant)

WHEREAS, the Board of Pharmacy of the State of Oregon has filed a Notice of Proposed Civil Penalty ("Notice"), hereby incorporated by reference, regarding the Registrant in the above-captioned matter; and

WHEREAS, the above-noted Notice was duly served on the Registrant as required by law; and

WHEREAS, the parties are desirous of resolving and settling those matters contained in the above-noted Notice without further proceedings thereon; and

WHEREAS, the Registrant is aware of the right to a hearing with the assistance of counsel and the right to judicial review of the Board's decision, and hereby freely and voluntarily waives those rights; and

WHEREAS, the Registrant admits that the facts alleged in the above-noted Notice are true, that legal cause exists pursuant to ORS 689.405 and ORS 689.445 for disciplinary action and imposition of a civil penalty by the Board; and

WHEREAS, the Registrant consents to the disciplinary action as set forth herein;

The Board finds that the allegations in the Notice are true and hereby:

1. The Registrant shall pay a civil penalty to the Board in the amount of $2,000 with $1,000 stayed pending no similar violations for three years. If Licensee violates any term or condition of this Consent Order, within three years of the effective date of this Consent Order, the Board may take action to lift the stayed portion of the civil penalty. Payment of the $1,000 portion of the civil penalty not stayed to be made within ten days from the date this Consent Order becomes final.

2. Failure of the Registrant to pay the civil penalty as required under this Consent Order may, after notice and hearing, result in further disciplinary action.

3. This Consent Order is effective when signed by the Board.

In the Matter of the) Case No. 2023-1064 Manufacturer Registration)
AYTU BIOPHARMA INC) NOTICE OF PROPOSED
CIVIL PENALTY
Registrant)

Under the authority granted pursuant to ORS 689.135, 689.145, 689.335, 689.405 and 689.445, the Oregon Board of Pharmacy (Board) proposes to take disciplinary action against your Certificate of Registration No. M-0002804 because Aytu Biopharma Inc (Registrant) violated the Oregon Pharmacy Act and the Board of Pharmacy rules as set forth below:

On or about 8/7/2019, Registrant submitted their Manufacturer drug outlet registration renewal application. The renewal application asked, "Since the date of your last renewal, has disciplinary action been taken, or is any such action currently pending or proposed, against any of the persons or establishments listed on the application, by any State or Federal Authority in connection with a violation of any federal or state drug law or regulation?" to which the Registrant answered "No."

Registrant failed to disclose their 12/21/2018 Colorado Board of Pharmacy Stipulation and Final Agency Order (2018 CO Order) on the 8/7/2019 renewal application.

By answering "No" to the question regarding disciplinary action on an application, you failed to answer all questions fully and truthfully on the application for licensure, which is a failure to cooperate under OAR 855-001-0035(1). By not providing information regarding the 2018 CO Order, you failed to provide accurate, honest, and complete information in response to a Board request, which is a failure to cooperate under OAR 855-001-0035(1). Failure to cooperate is unprofessional conduct under OAR 855-006-0020(k), which is grounds for discipline under ORS 689.405(1)(a) and (i), ORS 689.445(1)(d)(B), and 689.832(1).

Based on these alleged violations, the Board proposes to impose a civil penalty in the amount of $2,000 for 1 violation.

HEARING RIGHTS

The corporation is entitled to a hearing as provided by the Administrative Procedures Act (ORS chapter 183). An attorney must represent the corporation. If the corporation wishes to have a hearing, the corporation must file a written request for hearing with the Board within 21 days from the date this notice was mailed, and if the hearing request is not filed by the corporation's attorney, it must be ratified by the corporation's attorney within 28 days of Board's receipt of the hearing request. The corporation's attorney may send or deliver a request for hearing to:

Oregon Board of Pharmacy
800 NE Oregon Street, Suite 150

Portland, OR 97232
Fax: (971) 673-0002

If a request for hearing is not received within this 21-day period, the corporation's right to a hearing shall be considered waived.

If the corporation requests a hearing, the corporation's attorney will be notified of the time and place of the hearing. Before the commencement of the hearing, the corporation will be given information on the procedures, right of representation and other rights of parties relating to the conduct of the hearing.

If the corporation does not request a hearing within 21 days, or if it withdraws a hearing request, notifies the Board or Administrative Law Judge that it will not appear, or fails to appear at a scheduled hearing, the Board may issue a final order by default imposing discipline. If the Board issues a final order by default, it designates its file on this matter as the record.

A signed statement of explanation for each event and a copy of all documents that identify the circumstance or contain an order, agreement or other disposition for the event must be provided.

This is in response to Question # 6. Provide all the following where applicable:

Date of Event/Arrest 2019	Disposition Date 3/13/2024	State OR	City Portland	County Multnomah
Case # 2023-1064		Governing, Licensing, Arresting Presiding Body/Agency/Court Oregon Board of Pharmacy
Reason/Charge Failure to disclose 12/21/2018 CO BOP Stipulation and Final Agency Order on OR BOP 8/7/2019 renewal application
Name of Business/Industry/Entity Aytu BioPharma Inc / Pharmaceutical Manufacturing

Provide explanation below:

In December 2023, the Oregon Board of Pharmacy notified Aytu BioPharma Inc of an incorrect response within the OR BOP 2019 renewal application. Specifically, in 2018, the State of Colorado Board of Pharmacy issued Aytu BioPharma Inc a Stipulation for a non-current Designated Representative, and this stipulation was not disclosed on the 2019 OR renewal application. The error in submission was an oversight and in no way an attempt to mislead the OR BOP. Aytu took full accountability for the inaccuracy and paid a fine. The case was finalized with the OR BOP on 3/13/2024.

Explanation of disciplinary action.

In December 2023, Aytu BioPharma Inc was informed that an error had been made on its 2019 renewal application with the State of Oregon. The issue stemmed from a 2018 stipulation from the State of Colorado, which resulted from outdated Designated Representative information. This oversight was unintentional, and there was no attempt to withhold information from the Board.

Aytu BioPharma Inc took full responsibility for the mistake, promptly addressed the issue, and paid the associated fine. The matter was officially finalized with Oregon on March 13, 2024.

Under the authority granted pursuant to ORS 689.135, 689.145, 689.335, 689.405 and 689.445, the Oregon Board of Pharmacy (Board) proposes to take disciplinary action against your Certificate of Registration No. M-0002804 because Aytu Biopharma Inc (Registrant) violated the Oregon Pharmacy Act and the Board of Pharmacy rules as set forth below:

On or about 8/7/2019, Registrant submitted their Manufacturer drug outlet registration renewal application. The renewal application asked, "Since the date of your last renewal, has disciplinary action been taken, or is any such action currently pending or proposed, against any of the persons or establishments listed on the application, by any State or Federal Authority in connection with a violation of any federal or state drug law or regulation?" to which the Registrant answered "No."

Registrant failed to disclose their 12/21/2018 Colorado Board of Pharmacy Stipulation and Final Agency Order (2018 CO Order) on the 8/7/2019 renewal application.

By answering "No" to the question regarding disciplinary action on an application, you failed to answer all questions fully and truthfully on the application for licensure, which is a failure to cooperate under OAR 855-001-0035(1). By not providing information regarding the 2018 CO Order, you failed to provide accurate, honest, and complete information in response to a Board request, which is a failure to cooperate under OAR 855-001-0035(1). Failure to cooperate is unprofessional conduct under OAR 855-006-0020(k), which is grounds for discipline under ORS 689.405(1)(a) and (i), ORS 689.445(1)(d)(B), and 689.832(1).

Based on these alleged violations, the Board proposes to impose a civil penalty in the amount of $2,000 for 1 violation.

WHEREAS, the Board of Pharmacy of the State of Oregon has filed a Notice of Proposed Civil Penalty ("Notice"), hereby incorporated by reference, regarding the Registrant in the above-captioned matter; and

WHEREAS, the above-noted Notice was duly served on the Registrant as required by law; and

WHEREAS, the parties are desirous of resolving and settling those matters contained in the above-noted Notice without further proceedings thereon; and

WHEREAS, the Registrant is aware of the right to a hearing with the assistance of counsel and the right to judicial review of the Board's decision, and hereby freely and voluntarily waives those rights; and

WHEREAS, the Registrant admits that the facts alleged in the above-noted Notice are true, that legal cause exists pursuant to ORS 689.405 and ORS 689.445 for disciplinary action and imposition of a civil penalty by the Board; and

WHEREAS, the Registrant consents to the disciplinary action as set forth herein;

The Board finds that the allegations in the Notice are true and hereby:

1. The Registrant shall pay a civil penalty to the Board in the amount of $2,000 with $1,000 stayed pending no similar violations for three years. If Licensee violates any term or condition of this Consent Order, within three years of the effective date of this Consent Order, the Board may take action to lift the stayed portion of the civil penalty. Payment of the $1,000 portion of the civil penalty not stayed to be made within ten days from the date this Consent Order becomes final.

2. Failure of the Registrant to pay the civil penalty as required under this Consent Order may, after notice and hearing, result in further disciplinary action.

3. This Consent Order is effective when signed by the Board.

CIVIL PENALTY
Registrant)

Under the authority granted pursuant to ORS 689.135, 689.145, 689.335, 689.405 and 689.445, the Oregon Board of Pharmacy (Board) proposes to take disciplinary action against your Certificate of Registration No. M-0002804 because Aytu Biopharma Inc (Registrant) violated the Oregon Pharmacy Act and the Board of Pharmacy rules as set forth below:

On or about 8/7/2019, Registrant submitted their Manufacturer drug outlet registration renewal application. The renewal application asked, "Since the date of your last renewal, has disciplinary action been taken, or is any such action currently pending or proposed, against any of the persons or establishments listed on the application, by any State or Federal Authority in connection with a violation of any federal or state drug law or regulation?" to which the Registrant answered "No."

Registrant failed to disclose their 12/21/2018 Colorado Board of Pharmacy Stipulation and Final Agency Order (2018 CO Order) on the 8/7/2019 renewal application.

By answering "No" to the question regarding disciplinary action on an application, you failed to answer all questions fully and truthfully on the application for licensure, which is a failure to cooperate under OAR 855-001-0035(1). By not providing information regarding the 2018 CO Order, you failed to provide accurate, honest, and complete information in response to a Board request, which is a failure to cooperate under OAR 855-001-0035(1). Failure to cooperate is unprofessional conduct under OAR 855-006-0020(k), which is grounds for discipline under ORS 689.405(1)(a) and (i), ORS 689.445(1)(d)(B), and 689.832(1).

Based on these alleged violations, the Board proposes to impose a civil penalty in the amount of $2,000 for 1 violation.

HEARING RIGHTS

The corporation is entitled to a hearing as provided by the Administrative Procedures Act (ORS chapter 183). An attorney must represent the corporation. If the corporation wishes to have a hearing, the corporation must file a written request for hearing with the Board within 21 days from the date this notice was mailed, and if the hearing request is not filed by the corporation's attorney, it must be ratified by the corporation's attorney within 28 days of Board's receipt of the hearing request. The corporation's attorney may send or deliver a request for hearing to:

Oregon Board of Pharmacy
800 NE Oregon Street, Suite 150

Portland, OR 97232

Fax: (971) 673-0002

If a request for hearing is not received within this 21-day period, the corporation's right to a hearing shall be considered waived.

If the corporation requests a hearing, the corporation's attorney will be notified of the time and place of the hearing. Before the commencement of the hearing, the corporation will be given information on the procedures, right of representation and other rights of parties relating to the conduct of the hearing.

If the corporation does not request a hearing within 21 days, or if it withdraws a hearing request, notifies the Board or Administrative Law Judge that it will not appear, or fails to appear at a scheduled hearing, the Board may issue a final order by default imposing discipline. If the Board issues a final order by default, it designates its file on this matter as the record.

STIPULATION AND FINAL AGENCY ORDER

Respondent Outlet.

IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED AND AGREED by and between the Colorado State Board of Pharmacy ("Board") and Aytu Bioscience Inc ("Respondent Outlet") to resolve all matters pertaining to Board Case Number 2018-7371, as follows:

FINDINGS AND CONCLUSIONS

1. The Board has jurisdiction over Respondent Outlet, its registration as an in-state wholesaler outlet, and the subject matter of this Stipulation and Final Agency Order ("Final Agency Order") pursuant to the Pharmacists, Pharmacy Businesses, and Pharmaceuticals Act at Title 12, Article 42.5, C.R.S. (2018).
2. Respondent Outlet was originally registered in the State of Colorado on or about April 3, 2017, being issued registration number WHI 6109, and has been so registered at all times relevant to this disciplinary action.
3. Respondent Outlet's address of record with the Board and current location is 373 Inverness Pkwy., Ste., 206, Englewood, CO 80112-5898.
4. Respondent Outlet admits these findings and hereby waives any further proof in this proceeding before the Board regarding the following facts.
5. Respondent Outlet failed to submit an application on two (2) occasions to the Board detailing a change in designated representative and fee. On December 20, 2017, an inspection of Respondent Outlet listed a new designated representative for the wholesaler. The previous designated representative had been in the position for more than 30 days. On September 4, 2018, an inspection of Respondent Outlet discovered the new designated representative left the position on January 5, 2018. The Board did not receive an application for a change of designated representative and fee in either occurrence.

6. On or about September 27, 2018, the Board initiated a complaint against Respondent Outlet because of the failure to submit an application for change in designated representative and fee on two (2) occasions.
7. Respondent Outlet's conduct, as set forth above, constitutes violations of the following sections of the Colorado Revised Statutes and Board Regulations:

Colorado Revised Statutes

12-42.5-123. Unprofessional conduct - grounds for discipline.

(1) The board may suspend, revoke, refuse to renew, or otherwise discipline any license or registration issued by it, after a hearing held in accordance with the provisions of this section, upon proof that the licensee or registrant:

(c) Has violated:

(II) The lawful rules of the board;

(k) Has failed to meet generally accepted standards of pharmacy practice.

12-42.5-303. Wholesaler license requirements.

(5) The designated representative of an applicant for a wholesaler license shall:

(i) Update all of the information required in this part 3 whenever changes occur.

Pharmacy Board Rules and Regulations

15.01.11. Minimum required information for registration.

b. Changes in any information in section 15.01.11 shall be submitted to the Board within thirty calendar days thereof.

15.01.14. Change of name, location, or ownership, or designated representative.

c. Any change in the designated representative of a wholesaler shall be reported to the Board on a form supplied by the Board within thirty (30) calendar days of such change. The incoming designated representative must undergo the required background check.

TERMS OF DISCIPLINE

8. Fine with Surcharge. Pursuant to section 12-42.5-124(5)(a)(I), C.R.S., Respondent Outlet shall pay a fine of One Thousand Dollars and No Cents ($1,000.00). Respondent Outlet understands and acknowledges that, pursuant to section 24-34-108, C.R.S., the Executive Director of the Department of Regulatory Agencies shall impose an additional surcharge of 15% of this fine. Respondent Outlet shall therefore pay a total amount of One Thousand One Hundred Fifty Dollars and No Cents ($1,150.00). The total amount shall be payable to the State of Colorado and shall be remitted in one (1) lump sum to be included when Respondent Outlet submits this signed Final Agency Order to the Board. Respondent Outlet shall write its registration number (WHI 6039) and the case number (2018-6336) on the check.
9. Compliance. Respondent Outlet shall report all future applications and appropriate fees to the Board detailing changes in designated representative within the required time frame specified by Board rule or statute in effect at the time of such change in designated representative.
10. Other Requirements. Respondent Outlet acknowledges and agrees that, as a condition of this Final Agency Order, Respondent Outlet shall:
 - a. promptly pay all Respondent Outlet's own fees and costs associated with this Final Agency Order;
 - b. comply fully with this Final Agency Order; and
 - c. comply fully with the Pharmacists, Pharmacy Businesses and Pharmaceuticals Act, all Board rules and regulations, and any other state and federal laws and regulations related to pharmacists and pharmaceuticals in the State of Colorado.
11. Advisements and Waivers. Through its undersigned Authorized Representative, Respondent Outlet enters into this Final Agency Order freely and voluntarily, after having the opportunity to consult with legal counsel and/or choosing not to do so. Respondent Outlet acknowledges its understanding that it has the following rights:
 - a. to have formal notice of hearing and charges served upon it;
 - b. to respond to said formal notice of charges;
 - c. to have a formal disciplinary hearing pursuant to sections 12-42.5-123 and 12-42.5-124, C.R.S.; and
 - d. to appeal this Final Agency Order.

Respondent Outlet freely waives these rights, and acknowledges that such waiver is made voluntarily in consideration for the Board's limiting the action taken against Respondent Outlet to the sanctions imposed herein.

12. Acknowledgments. The undersigned Authorized Representative of Respondent Outlet has read this Final Agency Order in its entirety and acknowledges, after having the opportunity to consult with legal counsel and/or choosing not to do so, that Respondent Outlet understands the legal consequences and agrees that none of the terms or conditions herein is unconscionable. Respondent Outlet is not relying on any statements, promises or representations from the Board other than as may be contained in this Final Agency Order. Respondent Outlet further acknowledges that it is not entering into this Final Agency Order under any duress.
13. Violations. Time is of the essence in this Final Agency Order. It is the responsibility of Respondent Outlet to take all appropriate steps to comply fully with this Final Agency Order. Respondent Outlet acknowledges and agrees that any violation of this Final Agency Order shall constitute a willful violation of a lawful Board order, may be sanctioned as provided under section 12-42.5-124(4), C.R.S., and may be sufficient grounds for additional discipline, including but not limited to revocation of Respondent Outlet's registration. The pendency of any suspension or disciplinary action arising out of an alleged violation of this Final Agency Order shall not affect the obligation of Respondent Outlet to comply with all terms and conditions of this Final Agency Order.
14. Completion of Terms. Upon satisfactory completion of all terms and conditions set forth in this Final Agency Order, the Board shall release Respondent Outlet from the Final Agency Order, and Respondent Outlet's registration will be restored to active and unencumbered status.
15. Integration and Severability. Upon execution by all parties, this Final Agency Order shall represent the entire and final agreement of and between the parties. In the event any provision of this Final Agency Order is deemed invalid or unenforceable by a court of law, it shall be severed and the remaining provisions of this Final Agency Order shall be given full force and effect.
16. Public Record. Upon execution by all parties, this Final Agency Order shall be a public record, maintained in the custody of the Board.
17. Board Order. This Final Agency Order shall become an order of the Board when it is accepted and signed by the Program Director or authorized Board representative.
18. Effective Date. This Final Agency Order shall become effective upon (a) mailing by first-class mail to Respondent Outlet at Respondent Outlet's address of record with the Board, or (b) service by electronic means on Respondent Outlet at Respondent Outlet's electronic address of record with the Board. Respondent Outlet hereby consents to service by electronic means if Respondent Outlet has an electronic address on file with the Board.

BIOTRONIK NRO, INC., doing or intending to do business as a
Applicant/Principal
pharmaceutical wholesaler, whose address for purposes of service is 6024 SW Jean Road Lake Oswego, OR 97035, as
Address of Applicant/Principal
PRINCIPAL, and HARTFORD FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY, a
Surety Company
corporation organized under the laws of the state of CT
State of Incorporation
and authorized to transact a general surety business in the State of

Nevada, whose address for purposes of service is
One Hartford Plaza Hartford, CT 06155 as
Address of Surety

SURETY, are held and firmly bound unto the State of Nevada and to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy for the penal sum of TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($25,000.00), for which payment we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns jointly and severally, by these presents. This bond term shall become effective on September 29, 2025.
Effective Date

WHEREAS, the provisions of Nevada Revised Statute (NRS) 639.515 and Nevada Administrative Code (NAC) 639.5937 require that the Applicant/Principal file or have on file with the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy (Board) a bond in the sum of $25,000.00 payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy and this bond is executed and tendered in accordance therewith. This bond secures payment of any administrative fines imposed by the Board pursuant to NRS 639.255 and any costs incurred by the Board regarding the license of Applicant/Principal that are imposed pursuant to NRS 622.400 or 622.410 which the Applicant/Principal fails to pay.

THIS BOND is subject to the following conditions:

- (1) This bond shall be deemed continuous in form and shall remain in full force and effect and shall run concurrently with the license period for which the license is granted and each and every succeeding license period or periods for which said Applicant/Principal may be licensed, after which liability hereunder shall cease except as to any liability or indebtedness therefore incurred or accrued hereunder.
- (2) This bond is executed by the Applicant/Principal and the Surety to comply with the provisions of NRS 639.515 and NAC 639.5937 and said bond shall be subject to all of the terms and provisions thereof.
- (3) The Surety, its successors and assigns, are jointly and severally liable on the obligations of the bond.
- (4) The limitations of the liability of the Surety and the conditions of the bond are set forth in NRS 639.515 and NAC 639.5937. Any claim by the Board may be made directly to the Surety and need not be preceded by the filing of any action in a proper court. Payment of any such claim shall be payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy.
- (5) The aggregate liability of the Surety hereunder on all claims whatsoever shall not exceed the penal sum of this bond in any event.
- (6) This bond may not be cancelled by the Surety without first giving the Board written notice at least thirty days in advance of any intent to cancel the bond.
- (7) The Applicant/Principal and Surety may be served with notices, papers and other documents at the addresses given above.

I certify or declare under penalty of perjury, under the laws of the State of Nevada, that I have executed the foregoing bond on behalf of the Surety under an unrevoked power of attorney.

In witness whereof, each party to this bond has caused it to be executed on this 29th day of September, 2025.

Case No. 09-33486-elp7

DISCHARGE OF DEBTOR(S)

It appearing that on 5/11/09 a bankruptcy petition was filed by the debtor(s); timely complaints filed pursuant to 11 USC §523(a) could be pending and the court could still order that any affected debt is nondischargeable, however no complaint objecting to the debtor's discharge pursuant to 11 USC §727 was timely filed (or such complaint was filed, and after due notice and hearing, was not sustained); each timely filed written reaffirmation agreement was either rescinded or not approved by the court; and therefore,

IT IS ORDERED the debtor(s) shall be granted a discharge under §727 of Title 11, United States Code (the Bankruptcy Code).

EXPLANATION OF BANKRUPTCY DISCHARGE IN A CHAPTER 7 CASE

This court order grants a discharge to the person(s) named as a debtor. It is not a dismissal of the case and it does not determine how much money, if any, the trustee will pay to creditors.

Collection of Discharged Debts Prohibited. The discharge prohibits any attempt to collect from a debtor a debt that has been discharged. For example, a creditor is not permitted to contact a debtor by mail, phone, or otherwise, to file or continue a lawsuit, to attach wages or other property, or to take any other action to collect a discharged debt from the debtor. (If applicable there are also special rules that protect certain community property owned by the debtor's spouse, even if that spouse did not file a bankruptcy case.) A creditor who violates this order can be required to pay damages and attorney's fees to the debtor.

However, a creditor may have the right to enforce a valid lien, such as a mortgage or security interest, against the debtor's property after the bankruptcy, if that lien was not avoided or eliminated in the bankruptcy case. Also, a debtor may voluntarily pay any debt that has been discharged.

Debts that are Discharged. The Chapter 7 discharge order eliminates a debtor's legal obligation to pay a debt that is discharged. Most, but not all, types of debts are discharged if the debt existed on the date the bankruptcy case was filed. (If this case was begun under a different chapter of the Bankruptcy Code and converted to Chapter 7, the discharge applies to debts owed when the bankruptcy case was converted.)

Debts that are Not Discharged. Some of the common types of debts which are not discharged in a Chapter 7 bankruptcy case are:

- a. Debts for most taxes;
- b. Debts incurred to pay nondischargeable taxes;
- c. Debts that are for domestic support obligations, or debts to a spouse or former spouse for property settlement;
- d. Debts for most student loans;
- e. Debts for most fines, penalties, forfeitures, or criminal restitution obligations;
- f. Debts for personal injuries or death caused by the debtor's operation of a motor vehicle, vessel, or aircraft while intoxicated;
- g. Some debts which were not properly listed by the debtor;
- h. Debts the bankruptcy court specifically has decided or will decide in this case are not discharged;
- i. Debts for which the debtor has given up the discharge protections by signing a reaffirmation agreement in compliance with the Bankruptcy Code requirements for reaffirmation of debts; and
- j. Debts owed to certain pension, profit sharing, stock bonus, other retirement plans, or to the Thrift Savings Plan for federal employees for certain types of loans from these plans.

This information is only a general summary of the bankruptcy discharge. There are exceptions to these general rules. Because the law is complicated, you may want to consult an attorney to determine the exact effect of the discharge in this case.

Clerk, U.S. Bankruptcy Court

BY pjk DEPUTY

The trustee of the above debtor's estate, if one has been appointed, has:

1. (If Chapter 7 case) either filed a report of no assets or reduced the property and effects of the debtor's estate to cash;
2. Fully administered any estate funds and property on hand; and
3. Performed all other and further duties required to date in the administration of said estate.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that, if a trustee has been appointed, upon filing any final report or account required by the UST, and without further court order, the trustee shall be discharged as the trustee of the debtor's estate.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that this case is closed; the case will be closed only for administrative purposes if this case was dismissed; and the court shall retain jurisdiction over any adversary proceeding pending at the time of closure.

2390 Camelback Rd, Ste 202, Phoenix AZ 85016, as
Address of Applicant/Principal

PRINCIPAL, and FIDELITY AND DEPOSIT COMPANY OF MARYLAND, a
Surety Company
corporation organized under the laws of the state of ILLINOIS,
State of Incorporation
and authorized to transact a general surety business in the State of

Nevada, whose address for purposes of service is 600 Red Bank Boulevard , Owings Mill, MD 21117 as
Address of Surety

SURETY, are held and firmly bound unto the State of Nevada and to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy for the penal sum of TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($25,000.00), for which payment we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns jointly and severally, by these presents. This bond term shall become effective August 19, 2025.
Effective Date

WHEREAS, the provisions of Nevada Revised Statute (NRS) 639.515 and Nevada Administrative Code (NAC) 639.5937 require that the Applicant/Principal file or have on file with the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy (Board) a bond in the sum of $25,000.00 payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy and this bond is executed and tendered in accordance therewith. This bond secures payment of any administrative fines imposed by the Board pursuant to NRS 639.255 and any costs incurred by the Board regarding the license of Applicant/Principal that are imposed pursuant to NRS 622.400 or 622.410 which the Applicant/Principal fails to pay.

THIS BOND is subject to the following conditions:

- (1) This bond shall be deemed continuous in form and shall remain in full force and effect and shall run concurrently with the license period for which the license is granted and each and every succeeding license period or periods for which said Applicant/Principal may be licensed, after which liability hereunder shall cease except as to any liability or indebtedness therefore incurred or accrued hereunder.
- (2) This bond is executed by the Applicant/Principal and the Surety to comply with the provisions of NRS 639.515 and NAC 639.5937 and said bond shall be subject to all of the terms and provisions thereof.
- (3) The Surety, its successors and assigns, are jointly and severally liable on the obligations of the bond.
- (4) The limitations of the liability of the Surety and the conditions of the bond are set forth in NRS 639.515 and NAC 639.5937. Any claim by the Board may be made directly to the Surety and need not be preceded by the filing of any action in a proper court. Payment of any such claim shall be payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy.
- (5) The aggregate liability of the Surety hereunder on all claims whatsoever shall not exceed the penal sum of this bond in any event.
- (6) This bond may not be cancelled by the Surety without first giving the Board written notice at least thirty days in advance of any intent to cancel the bond.
- (7) The Applicant/Principal and Surety may be served with notices, papers and other documents at the addresses given above.

I certify or declare under penalty of perjury, under the laws of the State of Nevada, that I have executed the foregoing bond on behalf of the Surety under an unrevoked power of attorney.

In witness whereof, each party to this bond has caused it to be executed on this 19th day of August, 2025

Address of Applicant/Principal
PRINCIPAL, and Travelers Casualty and Surety Company of America, a
Surety Company
corporation organized under the laws of the state of Connecticut
State of Incorporation
and authorized to transact a general surety business in the State of

Nevada, whose address for purposes of service is
One Tower Square, Hartford, CT 06183 as
Address of Surety

SURETY, are held and firmly bound unto the State of Nevada and to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy for the penal sum of ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS ($100,000.00), for which payment we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns jointly and severally, by these presents. This bond term shall become effective on March 21, 2025
Effective Date

WHEREAS, the provisions of Nevada Revised Statutes (NRS) 639.515 require that the Applicant/Principal file or have on file with the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy (Board) a bond in the sum of $100,000.00 payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy and this bond is executed and tendered in accordance therewith. This bond secures payment of any administrative fines imposed by the Board pursuant to NRS 639.255 and any costs incurred by the Board regarding the license of Applicant/Principal that are impose pursuant to NRS 622.400 or 622.410 which the Applicant/Principal fails to pay.

THIS BOND is subject to the following conditions:

- (1) This bond shall be deemed continuous in form and shall remain in full force and effect and shall run concurrently with the license period for which the license is granted and each and every succeeding license period or periods for which said Applicant/Principal may be licensed, after which liability hereunder shall cease except as to any liability or indebtedness therefore incurred or accrued hereunder.
- (2) This bond is executed by the Applicant/Principal and the Surety to comply with the provisions of NRS 639.515 and said bond shall be subject to all of the terms and provisions thereof.
- (3) The Surety, its successors and assigns, are jointly and severally liable on the obligations of the bond.
- (4) The limitations of the liability of the Surety and the conditions of the bond are set forth in NRS 639.515. Any claim by the Board may be made directly to the Surety and need not be preceded by the filing of any action in a proper court. Payment of any such claim shall be payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy.
- (5) The aggregate liability of the Surety hereunder on all claims whatsoever shall not exceed the penal sum of this bond in any event.
- (6) This bond may not be cancelled by the Surety without first giving the Board written notice at least thirty days in advance of any intent to cancel the bond.
- (7) The Applicant/Principal and Surety may be served with notices, papers and other documents at the addresses given above.

I certify or declare under penalty of perjury, under the laws of the State of Nevada, that I have executed the foregoing bond on behalf of the Surety under an unrevoked power of attorney.

In witness whereof, each party to this bond has caused it to be executed on this 21st day of March, 2025.

1 Summary of Audit Results:

Thank you for your trustful cooperation during our recent audit of your organization. The following report details the assessment results including strengths, opportunities, and weaknesses that were presented during closing meeting. DQS strives to ensure that all customer expectations are met, as well as the professional commitment to our customer base is held to the highest degree with integrity. We thank you for choosing us as your certification partner and look to ensure your organization's continued success.

Strengths	1. Risk Management Log FORM-QA-02 show positive actions taken the address risks with monthly review. 2. Software Validation records complete with version of the software, risk assessment, network environment, and positive conclusions. 3. Facility is very clean and organized. 4. Weekly quality meeting reports are comprehensive and contain good SPC analysis data.

Client Guidance

All audit findings are based on a sampling process, targeted towards reliable evidence for effective implementation and compliance of the management system. Where applicable findings and required corrective action plans were or will be agreed upon with the responsible managers or management representatives, steps have been or will be defined to resolve such nonconformity. Further business aspects may exist, positive or negative, which have not been reviewed by the audit team. It is the organization's responsibility to investigate and evaluate the potential impact and scope of findings, thus continuously ensuring full compliance to the applied standard(s).

Disputes/Appeals- If at any time during the process, the organization wishes to dispute an NCR(s), please fill out the NCR dispute documentation or email the non-conformance and evidence to regional program management. The current contact information is as follows: shawn.esmaili@dqs.de and/or David.parlagreco@dqs.de

In their absence, it may be submitted to another manager. Please contact your customer service representative for contact information.

DQS Management will handle the dispute NCR directly with your organization and Auditor. During this process, the management will review the evidence provided and make an objective decision and inform both parties of the results.

The lead auditor may also deal directly with the dispute and provide evidence of acceptance. The audit report should note the response as accepted in cases where a dispute was accepted. The NCR is not to be removed from the report but notes added that the customer disputed it and who accepted the dispute.

Note the following when responding to action requests:

Response Timeline- The response time required for minor NCR(s) is 30 days from the date of issuance.

For Major NCR(s) the response time required is 10 calendar days from the date of issuance.

The organization is required to submit the cause, describe the specific correction and corrective actions taken, or actions planned to be taken, to eliminate the non-conformances within the specified times outlined to the Lead Auditor.

Extensions- Should an organization wish to extend the due date for an NCR, the request must be received in writing to DQS Program Management, and include the extenuating circumstances for the request.

An extension can be requested on behalf of the client by the Auditor performing the NCR review and shall be approved by management. The request cannot exceed 60 days from the date of issue.

Major nonconformities- require a Special Audit to verify the effectiveness of corrective actions taken within 90 days from the last day of the audit. Depending on the nature of the non-conformance noted, the special Audit may be conducted either on-site or off-site.

In order to be allowed to conduct the Special Audit off-site, the Lead Auditor shall make a recommendation to Local DQS management to conduct an offsite Special Audit, including reasoning why this will be effective for verification of the non-conformance(s). With the approval of DQS Management, evidence of which must be documented and retained as a record, the audit may be conducted off site. Regardless of whether the audit is conducted on site or off site, it must be documented with audit report.

Evidence provided for acceptance must be submitted with the audit package. At a minimum, evidence of the corrective action within the organization's system or outlined evidence must be submitted for acceptance by technical review.

a) If the NCR, or verification of major nonconformities is not completed prior to the certificate expiration date, the certificate will expire. With the agreement of management, the certification can be restored.

b) For Stage 2 Assessments- the NCR Analysis (ARA) must be completed prior to the certificate decision. It's the lead auditor's responsibility to ensure all requirements of the audit objectives have been fulfilled

Minor nonconformities- will require acceptance of correction and corrective action plan. Corrective action must include correction/containment for all NCR's, not just for product related nonconformances. Where correction is not immediate, the organization must include their containment measures to ensure the problem is contained until permanent actions are completed. If containment consideration is not included (dependent on risk of the nonconformity), the lead auditor will reject the corrective action and contact the organization for appropriate responses. Copies of Corrective Actions within the organization's system or evidence of items outlined in the plan MUST be submitted for acceptance to technical review. Verification of effectiveness regarding implementation of these plans shall be reviewed at the next assessment.

		Objective Evidence: Internal calibration instruction for the Lens Kit Asset #Lens Kit#8 was not available, and calibration was not available. Asset #17016441 thickness gauge was overdue for calibration, due on 11/2023. Reason Why The Non-Conformity Is Not Classified As A Major: The lens kit is used for internal verification of lensometers and is not subject to change, as it is a static device. There is another check after the thickness gauge which would catch any nonconforming product. The risk to product quality is low. If the conditions for the work environment can have an adverse effect on product quality, the organization shall document the requirements for the work environment and the procedures to monitor and control the work environment. Nonconformance: The work environment process is not entirely effective. Objective Evidence: The refrigerator located in the Consumables Room used for storing Zoe chemicals does not include temperature monitoring. No temperature gauge is being used to monitor temperature requirements. The Cold Storage Daily Temperature log has excursions from stated requirements. Should be 5-15C. The log has temperatures 12/10/23 and 12/13/23 that were out of range without explanation. The log sheet is also missing Zoe temperature requirements. Reason Why The Non-Conformity Is Not Classified As A Major: The excursion was only 2C max below the recommended temperature by the supplier and was only for a short duration. The chemical has been depleted and did not affect subsequent production run first pass yields. Therefore, product quality risk is low. Document Review-Offsite

Regarding the Disciplinary Action

Please note that no disciplinary action has been taken against Evergreen Theragnostics, Inc. As previously reported to your office, the Montana Board of Pharmacy (Board) filed a complaint against Lantheus Medical Imaging, Inc. (Lantheus) in 2009, alleging that Lantheus distributed in the State without a valid license. On January 15, 2010, Lantheus entered in a Stipulation and Final Order with the Board. As a result, Lantheus submitted a check in the amount of $2,000.00 to pay for the administrative fine. Lantheus currently holds a license in good standing in the State of Montana. Enclosed please find a copy of the Stipulation and Final Order from the Montana Board.

Explanation for the open response in Section 5:

Lantheus' license with the Montana Board of Pharmacy (MTBOP) remains in good standing. However, Lantheus has received a Notice of Proposed Board Action and Opportunity for Hearing from the MTBOP. The MTBOP's records indicate that Lantheus did not submit its 2009 Renewal Application in a timely fashion and, as a result, there was an alleged gap in Lantheus' license to practice as a Wholesale Distributor in Montana in 2009. Lantheus believed that the renewal materials were submitted on September 18, 2008 and, to our knowledge, received nothing from the Montana Board to indicate that a problem with the Montana license existed, or that the Board did not receive the renewal registration, until Lantheus initiated contact with the Board to check on the status of its renewal application. Lantheus is working with the Montana Board of Pharmacy to resolve this matter. In the meantime, Lantheus has resubmitted its renewal application and successfully renewed its license for 2009.

} STIPULATION

The Professional and Occupational Licensing Division of the Department of Labor and Industry of the State of Montana (Department), by and through its legal counsel, Anjeanette C. Lindle, and Lantheus Medical Imaging (Licensee), by and through James V. Diment, Associate Director of Distribution Logistics, hereby stipulate and agree as follows:

1. Licensee is a licensed Wholesale Drug Distributor, licensed in the state of Montana, license No. 1193.

2. The Montana Board of Pharmacy has a statutory obligation to protect the public health, safety and welfare under Mont. Code Ann. §37-7-102 et seq.

3. Licensee admits the jurisdiction of the Board of Pharmacy over the subject matter of the above-entitled proceeding. Licensee desires to avoid unnecessary expenditure of time and other valuable resources in resolving the issues in this action. Therefore, Licensee specifically and affirmatively waives a contested case hearing in the above-entitled matter and all rights to appeal under the Montana Administrative Procedure Act, and elects to resolve this matter on the terms and conditions set forth herein.

4. Licensee acknowledges that Licensee has read and understands the terms of this Stipulation and the Notice of Proposed Board Action issued in this matter. Licensee acknowledges that Licensee enters into this Stipulation voluntarily, and without reservation. Licensee acknowledges that no promise, other than those contained herein, and no threat has been made by the Department or by any of its members, officers, agents or representatives, to induce Licensee to enter into this Stipulation.

Stipulation and Final Order

5. Based upon the complaint, the Department contends as set forth in the Fact Assertions listed in the Notice of Proposed Board Action and Opportunity for Hearing herein issued in this matter. Although Licensee neither admits nor denies the Board's findings, the Licensee does admit that there is a legal and adequate basis for the Department to have filed the Notice of Proposed Board Action and Opportunity for Hearing. The Licensee further contends that the fact that they practiced under the belief that the renewal materials were submitted on September 18, 2008 to the board based on their internal tracking documents, but for the failure of one employee handling this matter to follow internal standard operating procedures is sufficient justification for a lighter sanction.

6. The Department and the Licensee agree that this Stipulation shall be a final compromise and settlement of grounds for license discipline as a result of Licensee's conduct. In the event that the Board, in its discretion, does not approve this settlement or a lesser remedy than indicated in this settlement, this Stipulation is withdrawn and shall be of no evidentiary value and shall not be relied upon or introduced by either party. Licensee agrees that if the Board rejects this stipulation and this case proceeds to hearing, Licensee will assert no claim that the Board was prejudiced by its review and discussion of this stipulation or of any records relating thereto.

7. The Department and the Licensee agree that this Stipulation shall be incorporated and made a part of the final order issued by the Montana Board of Pharmacy herein.

8. The Department and the Licensee agree that this Stipulation and the attached Final Order are public documents. Licensee understands that this disciplinary action will be reported to data banks as required by federal law, including the Healthcare Integrity and Protection Data Bank (HIPDB) and the National Practitioners Data Bank (NPDB).

9. The following conditions shall apply to the continued licensure of Licensee in the state of Montana:

Stipulation and Final Order

A. Licensee shall pay an administrative fine in the amount of two thousand dollars ($2000.00). Licensee shall pay by certified check or money order, made payable to the Montana Board of Pharmacy, P. O. Box 200513, Helena, Montana, 59620-0513, within 30 days of the Final Order.

B. Within ten (10) days of the date of the Final Order in this case, the Person-in-Charge, or designated representative, must submit a Montana Board of Pharmacy Pharmacist/Person in Charge Change Form for the Licensee's licensure file. The form is available on the Montana Board of Pharmacy website and from the Board of Pharmacy office.

10. In the event the Board of Pharmacy, in its discretion, does not approve this settlement, this Stipulation shall be withdrawn and shall be of no evidentiary value and shall not be relied upon nor introduced in any disciplinary action by either party hereto. Licensee agrees that should the Board reject this Stipulation, and if this case proceeds to a contested case hearing, Licensee will assert no claim that the Board of Pharmacy was prejudiced by its review and discussion of this Stipulation or of any records relating hereto.

PHARMACEUTICAL WHOLESALER SURETY BOND

Bond No. TIC05908

Application/License No. _____

Evergreen Theragnostics, Inc., doing or intending to do business as a
Applicant/Principal
pharmaceutical wholesaler, whose address for purposes of service is 27 Commerce Street, Springfield, NJ 07801, as
Address of Applicant/Principal
PRINCIPAL, and Trisura Insurance Company, a
Surety Company
corporation organized under the laws of the state of Oklahoma
State of Incorporation
and authorized to transact a general surety business in the State of

Nevada, whose address for purposes of service is
2 Stamford Plaza, Suite 1504, Tresser Boulevard, Stamford, CT 06901 as
Address of Surety

SURETY, are held and firmly bound unto the State of Nevada and to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy for the penal sum of TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($25,000.00), for which payment we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns jointly and severally, by these presents. This bond term shall become effective on May 31, 2022.
Effective Date

WHEREAS, the provisions of Nevada Revised Statue (NRS) 639.515 and Nevada Administrative Code (NAC) 639.5937 require that the Applicant/Principal file or have on file with the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy (Board) a bond in the sum of $25,000.00 payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy and this bond is executed and tendered in accordance therewith. This bond secures payment of any administrative fines imposed by the Board pursuant to NRS 639.255 and any costs incurred by the Board regarding the license of Applicant/Principal that are impose pursuant to NRS 622.400 or 622.410 which the Applicant/Principal fails to pay.

THIS BOND is subject to the following conditions:

- (1) This bond shall be deemed continuous in form and shall remain in full force and effect and shall run concurrently with the license period for which the license is granted and each and every succeeding license period or periods for which said Applicant/Principal may be licensed, after which liability hereunder shall cease except as to any liability or indebtedness therefore incurred or accrued hereunder.
- (2) This bond is executed by the Applicant/Principal and the Surety to comply with the provisions of NRS 639.515 and NAC 639.5937 and said bond shall be subject to all of the terms and provisions thereof.
- (3) The Surety, its successors and assigns, are jointly and severally liable on the obligations of the bond.
- (4) The limitations of the liability of the Surety and the conditions of the bond are set forth in NRS 639.515 and NAC 639.5937. Any claim by the Board may be made directly to the Surety and need not be preceded by the filing of any action in a proper court. Payment of any such claim shall be payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy.
- (5) The aggregate liability of the Surety hereunder on all claims whatsoever shall not exceed the penal sum of this bond in any event.
- (6) This bond may not be cancelled by the Surety without first giving the Board written notice at least thirty days in advance of any intent to cancel the bond.
- (7) The Applicant/Principal and Surety may be served with notices, papers and other documents at the addresses given above.

I certify or declare under penalty of perjury, under the laws of the State of Nevada, that I have executed the foregoing bond on behalf of the Surety under an unrevoked power of attorney.

In witness whereof, each party to this bond has caused it to be executed on this 31st day of May, 2022.

Address of Applicant/Principal

PRINCIPAL, and Travelers Casualty and Surety Company of America, a
Surety Company

corporation organized under the laws of the state of Connecticut
State of Incorporation

and authorized to transact a general surety business in the State of

Nevada, whose address for purposes of service is

One Tower Square, Hartford, CT 06183 as
Address of Surety

SURETY, are held and firmly bound unto the State of Nevada and to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy for the penal sum of ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS ($100,000.00), for which payment we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns jointly and severally, by these presents. This bond term shall become effective on February 27, 2025.

Effective Date

WHEREAS, the provisions of Nevada Revised Statutes (NRS) 639.515 require that the Applicant/Principal file or have on file with the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy (Board) a bond in the sum of $100,000.00 payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy and this bond is executed and tendered in accordance therewith. This bond secures payment of any administrative fines imposed by the Board pursuant to NRS 639.255 and any costs incurred by the Board regarding the license of Applicant/Principal that are impose pursuant to NRS 622.400 or 622.410 which the Applicant/Principal fails to pay.

THIS BOND is subject to the following conditions:

- (1) This bond shall be deemed continuous in form and shall remain in full force and effect and shall run concurrently with the license period for which the license is granted and each and every succeeding license period or periods for which said Applicant/Principal may be licensed, after which liability hereunder shall cease except as to any liability or indebtedness therefore incurred or accrued hereunder.
- (2) This bond is executed by the Applicant/Principal and the Surety to comply with the provisions of NRS 639.515 and said bond shall be subject to all of the terms and provisions thereof.
- (3) The Surety, its successors and assigns, are jointly and severally liable on the obligations of the bond.
- (4) The limitations of the liability of the Surety and the conditions of the bond are set forth in NRS 639.515. Any claim by the Board may be made directly to the Surety and need not be preceded by the filing of any action in a proper court. Payment of any such claim shall be payable to the Nevada State Board of Pharmacy.
- (5) The aggregate liability of the Surety hereunder on all claims whatsoever shall not exceed the penal sum of this bond in any event.
- (6) This bond may not be cancelled by the Surety without first giving the Board written notice at least thirty days in advance of any intent to cancel the bond.
- (7) The Applicant/Principal and Surety may be served with notices, papers and other documents at the addresses given above.

I certify or declare under penalty of perjury, under the laws of the State of Nevada, that I have executed the foregoing bond on behalf of the Surety under an unrevoked power of attorney.

In witness whereof, each party to this bond has caused it to be executed on this 5th day of March, 2025.

Robert L. Raney, Senior Vice President

On this the 21st day of April, 2021, before me personally appeared Robert L. Raney, who acknowledged himself to be the Senior Vice President of each of the Companies, and that he, as such, being authorized so to do, executed the foregoing instrument for the purposes therein contained by signing on behalf of said Companies by himself as a duly authorized officer.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I hereunto set my hand and official seal.

Anna P. Nowik
Anna P. Nowik, Notary Public

This Power of Attorney is granted under and by the authority of the following resolutions adopted by the Boards of Directors of each of the Companies, which resolutions are now in full force and effect, reading as follows:

RESOLVED, that the Chairman, the President, any Vice Chairman, any Executive Vice President, any Senior Vice President, any Vice President, any Second Vice President, the Treasurer, any Assistant Treasurer, the Corporate Secretary or any Assistant Secretary may appoint Attorneys-in-Fact and Agents to act for and on behalf of the Company and may give such appointee such authority as his or her certificate of authority may prescribe to sign with the Company's name and seal with the Company's seal bonds, recognizances, contracts of indemnity, and other writings obligatory in the nature of a bond, recognizance, or conditional undertaking, and any of said officers or the Board of Directors at any time may remove any such appointee and revoke the power given him or her; and it is

FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Chairman, the President, any Vice Chairman, any Executive Vice President, any Senior Vice President or any Vice President may delegate all or any part of the foregoing authority to one or more officers or employees of this Company, provided that each such delegation is in writing and a copy thereof is filed in the office of the Secretary; and it is

FURTHER RESOLVED, that any bond, recognizance, contract of indemnity, or writing obligatory in the nature of a bond, recognizance, or conditional undertaking shall be valid and binding upon the Company when (a) signed by the President, any Vice Chairman, any Executive Vice President, any Senior Vice President or any Vice President, the Treasurer, any Assistant Treasurer, the Corporate Secretary or any Assistant Secretary and duly attested and sealed with the Company's seal by a Secretary or Assistant Secretary; or (b) duly executed (under seal, if required) by one or more Attorneys-in-Fact and Agents pursuant to the power prescribed in his or her certificate or their certificates of authority or by one or more Company officers pursuant to a written delegation of authority; and it is FURTHER RESOLVED, that the signature of each of the following officers: President, any Executive Vice President, any Senior Vice President, any Vice President, any Assistant Vice President, any Secretary, any Assistant Secretary, and the seal of the Company may be affixed by facsimile to any Power of Attorney or to any certificate relating thereto appointing Resident Vice Presidents, Resident Assistant Secretaries or Attorneys-in-Fact for purposes only of executing and attesting bonds and undertakings and other writings obligatory in the nature thereof, and any such Power of Attorney or certificate bearing such facsimile signature or facsimile seal shall be valid and binding upon the Company and any such power so executed and certified by such facsimile signature and facsimile seal shall be valid and binding on the Company in the future with respect to any bond or understanding to which it is attached.

I, Kevin E. Hughes, the undersigned, Assistant Secretary of each of the Companies, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a true and correct copy of the Power of Attorney executed by said Companies, which remains in full force and effect.

Dated this 5th day of March, 2025
