WARNING - This email originated from outside the State of Nevada. Exercise caution when opening attachments or clicking links, especially from unknown senders.

I have been working in DME since 2011. I have a detailed knowledge of all the products we provide. For Nevada we will be providing NarrowBand UVB Lights. I am very familiar with this equipment and the clinical studies support the use of this equipment for common skin ailments as well at T-Cell Lymphoma. I have trained our staff of CSR and well as Office Manager and COO. We have all had multiple inservice sessions from the manufacturer of the equipment, Phothera. We deal with patients using this equipment every day and are well versed and available to answer questions from the patients/members.

Please find attached the response to sections three and four. If you need anything else please let me know. I have added your email to my list so future emails won't go to spam.

Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

This Annual Report on Form 10-K and other publicly available documents of Amneal Pharmaceuticals, Inc. contain "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of the safe harbor provisions of the United States ("U.S.") Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Management and representatives of Amneal Pharmaceuticals, Inc. and its subsidiaries ("the Company", "we", "us" or "our") also may from time to time make forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements do not relate strictly to historical or current facts and reflect management's assumptions, views, plans, objectives and projections about the future. Because forward-looking statements are based on current beliefs, expectations and assumptions regarding future events, they are subject to uncertainties, risks and changes that are difficult to predict and many of which are outside of our control. Investors are therefore cautioned not to rely on these forward-looking statements.

PART I.

Item 1. Business

Overview

Amneal Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (the "Company", "we," "us," or "our") is a global biopharmaceutical company that develops, manufactures, markets, and distributes a diverse portfolio of essential medicines. Our Affordable Medicines segment includes retail generics, injectables, and biosimilars. In our Specialty segment, we offer a portfolio of branded pharmaceuticals focused primarily on central nervous system and endocrine disorders. Through our AvKARE segment, we are a distributor of pharmaceuticals and other products for the U.S. federal government, retail, and institutional markets. We operate principally in the United States ("U.S."), India, and Ireland. Refer to the section "Segments of the Business" below for an overview of our segments, including the change in name of the Affordable Medicines segment.

Corporate Structure

We are a holding company, whose principal assets are common units (the "Amneal Common Units") of Amneal Pharmaceuticals, LLC ("Amneal"). Immediately prior to the Reorganization (as defined herein), we held 50.4% of the Amneal Common Units and the group, together with their affiliates and certain assignees, who owned Amneal when it was a private company (the "Members" or the "Amneal Group") held the remaining 49.6%. On November 7, 2023, we implemented a plan pursuant to which the Company and Amneal reorganized and simplified our corporate structure by eliminating our umbrella partnership-C-corporation structure and converting to a more traditional C-corporation structure whereby all stockholders hold their voting and economic interests directly through the public company (the "Reorganization"). Effective with the Reorganization, we hold 100% of the Amneal Common Units and continue to consolidate the financial statements of Amneal and its subsidiaries. Refer to Note 1. Nature of Operations in our consolidated financial statements for additional information about the Reorganization.

Although we had a minority economic interest in Amneal prior to March 2023, we were Amneal's sole managing member (and we continue to be the sole managing member), having the sole voting power to make all of Amneal's business decisions and control its management. Therefore, we consolidated the financial statements of Amneal and its subsidiaries for all periods prior to the Reorganization. We recorded non-controlling interests for the portion of Amneal's economic interests that we did not hold prior to the Reorganization.

Alliance and Collaboration

Collaboration to Develop and Supply Medicines for Obesity and Metabolic Diseases

On September 30, 2024, we entered into a collaboration agreement to develop and supply a new portfolio of weight loss medicines globally with Metsera, Inc. ("Metsera"), a clinical stage biopharmaceutical company (the "Metsera Agreement"). We will serve as Metsera's preferred supply partner for developed markets, including the United States and Europe. In addition, we have been granted an exclusive license to commercialize Metsera products covered under the agreement in selected emerging markets, including India and certain countries in Southeast Asia, Africa and the Middle East.

Under the terms of the Metsera Agreement, we will be responsible for performing certain development activities on behalf of Metsera. Upon Metsera obtaining regulatory approval for any or all the weight loss medicines referred to above, we will manufacture commercial products on behalf of Metsera.

We plan to construct two new greenfield manufacturing facilities in India; one for peptide synthesis and one for sterile fill-finish manufacturing. Metsera will contribute an agreed percentage of the construction costs, up to $100 million, subject to annual maximums, as defined in the Metsera agreement.

The initial term of the Metsera Agreement is seven years from the first commercial sale. Metsera has the sole right to renew the agreement for an additional five-year period. Following this initial renewal, the agreement may be extended by mutual written consent.

License Agreement with Zambon Biotech

On February 23, 2024, we entered into a license, distribution and supply agreement with Zambon Biotech S.A. ("Zambon") granting Zambon the exclusive rights to seek regulatory approval and commercialize IPX203 in Europe (the "Zambon License Agreement"). The term for the Zambon License Agreement is 15 years commencing from the commercial launch of the product, which can automatically renew for successive two-year periods unless either party provides notice declining such renewal at least one year in advance. Zambon will be responsible for the performance of all R&D activities, regulatory approval, commercialization, and marketing activities for the territories in the agreement to be conducted to obtain regulatory approval for each product. Upon achieving regulatory approval for products, we will be responsible for manufacturing and supplying products to Zambon.

As of December 31, 2024, IPX203 had not been approved for sale outside of the United States, where it is marketed as CREXONT®. CREXONT® (combination of carbidopa and levodopa extended release capsules) is indicated in the United States for the treatment of Parkinson's disease.

Knight Therapeutics International S.A. License Agreement

On January 24, 2024, we entered into a 15-year license, distribution and supply agreement with Knight Therapeutics International S.A. ("Knight") granting Knight the exclusive rights to seek regulatory approval and commercialize IPX203 in Canada and Latin America (the "Knight License Agreement"). The Knight License Agreement will automatically renew for successive two-year periods unless either party provides notice declining such renewal at least one year in advance.

Knight will be responsible for the performance of all R&D activities, regulatory approval, commercialization, and marketing activities for the territories in the agreement to be conducted to obtain regulatory approval for each product. Upon achieving regulatory approval for products, Amneal will be responsible for manufacturing and supplying products to Knight.

As of December 31, 2024, IPX203 had not been approved for sale outside of the United States, where it is marketed as CREXONT®.

ONGENTYS® License and Supply Agreement

On December 5, 2023, we entered into a license agreement with BIAL-Portela & Ca., S.A. ("BIAL") for the exclusive rights to market and distribute ONGENTYS® (opicapone) in the U.S. starting on December 18, 2023 and ending at such time when generic opicapone sales reach certain predetermined thresholds (the "BIAL Agreement"). ONGENTYS® is BIAL's proprietary, once-daily, peripherally-acting, highly-selective catechol-O-methyltransferase inhibitor approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (the "FDA") in 2020 as an add-on treatment to carbidopa/levodopa in patients with Parkinson's disease experiencing "off" episodes. Under the BIAL Agreement, we are responsible for commercialization and marketing of ONGENTYS® in the U.S. and BIAL is responsible for manufacturing and supply. We commenced distribution of ONGENTYS® in early 2024.

Orion Corporation License Agreement

On December 28, 2022, we signed a long-term license agreement with Orion Corporation ("Orion"), a globally operating Finnish pharmaceutical company, to commercialize a number of our complex generic products in most parts of Europe, Australia and New Zealand (the "Orion Agreement"). The initial term of the Orion Agreement commences upon commercial launch of the products and will continue for eight years. The Orion Agreement will automatically renew for successive two-year terms unless either party declines such renewal in writing at least one year in advance. As of December 31, 2024, the initial term has not commenced.

Licensing and Supply Agreement with mAbxience S.L.

On May 7, 2018, we entered into a licensing and supply agreement with mAbxience S.L. ("mAbxience"), for its biosimilar candidate for Avastin® (bevacizumab). We are the exclusive partner in the U.S. market. On April 13, 2022, the FDA approved our biologics license application for bevacizumab-maly, a biosimilar referencing Avastin®.

License and Supply Agreement with Kashiv Biosciences LLC

In December 2022, we entered into a development and supply agreement specific to four generic product candidates with Kashiv Biosciences LLC ("Kashiv"). Pursuant to the development supply agreement, we maintained a right of first offer and negotiation to the licensing of each generic product candidate. In March 2024, we entered into a license and supply agreement with Kashiv for the development and commercialization of a long-acting injectable (the "Injectable License and Supply Agreement"). The existing development supply agreement remains effective for the remaining three generic product candidates.

Subject to the terms of the Injectable License and Supply Agreement, we are responsible for development, regulatory approval, and commercialization of the product candidate in the U.S., whereas Kashiv is responsible for development and regulatory approval of the product candidate for all other territories outside the U.S. Contingent upon Kashiv obtaining regulatory approval outside the U.S., we shall manufacture the commercial supply for Kashiv at a stated price. The term of the agreement is 10 years from the respective product's launch date in the U.S. As of December 31, 2024, the term has not commenced.

For additional information about our alliance and collaboration agreements, refer to Note 5. Alliance and Collaboration and Note 23. Related Party Transactions in our consolidated financial statements.

Acquisition

Baclofen Franchise

On December 30, 2021, we entered into an asset purchase agreement with certain entities affiliated with Saol International Limited (collectively, "Saol"), a private specialty pharmaceutical company, pursuant to which we agreed to acquire Saol's baclofen franchise, including Lioresal®, LYVISPAH™, and a pipeline product under development (the "Saol Acquisition"). The Saol Acquisition expanded our commercial institutional and specialty portfolio in neurology and added commercial infrastructure in advance of our entry into the biosimilar institutional market during October 2022. Consideration for the Saol Acquisition included approximately $84.7 million, paid at closing with cash on hand, and contingent royalty payments based on annual net sales for certain acquired assets, beginning in 2023. The transaction closed on February 9, 2022.

For additional information about our acquisition, refer to Note 3. Acquisition in our consolidated financial statements.

Segments of the Business

We have three reportable segments: Affordable Medicines (formerly known as Generics), Specialty, and AvKARE.

During the fourth quarter of 2024, we changed the name of our Generics segment to "Affordable Medicines" to reflect the full product offering of the segment. The segment name change did not result in any change to the composition of our reportable segments and, therefore, did not result in any changes to our historical segment results.

Affordable Medicines

Prescription pharmaceutical products are sold either as branded or generic products. Generic pharmaceutical products have the same active product ingredient ("API"), dosage form, strength, route of administration, and conditions of use as patented branded pharmaceutical products, are bioequivalent to the brand it copies, and are usually marketed under their chemical (generic) names rather than brand names. Generic pharmaceutical products are intended to provide a cost-effective alternative for consumers while maintaining the safety, efficacy, quality and stability of the branded product, and as such are generally sold at prices below their branded equivalents. Typically, a generic pharmaceutical may not be marketed until the expiration of applicable patent(s) on the corresponding branded product, unless the resolution of patent litigation results in an earlier opportunity to enter the market. Generic manufacturers are required to file and receive approval for an Abbreviated New Drug Application ("ANDA") to market a generic pharmaceutical product. Manufacturers of biosimilars are required to file a Biologics License Application ("BLA") to introduce, or deliver for introduction, a biologic product into interstate commerce and market the product for one or more indications. Refer to Item 1. Business - Pharmaceutical Approval Process in the United States - New Drug Application and Biologics License Application for additional information.

Our Affordable Medicines segment includes approximately 270 product families covering an extensive range of dosage forms and delivery systems, including both immediate and extended-release oral solids, powders, liquids, sterile injectables, nasal sprays, inhalation and respiratory products, biosimilar products, ophthalmics, films, transdermal patches and topicals. We focus on developing products that have substantial barriers-to-entry due to complex drug formulations or manufacturing, or legal or regulatory challenges. Focusing on these products allows us the opportunity to offer first-to-file ("FTF"), first-to-market ("FTM") and other high-value products to customers. A generic pharmaceutical product is considered an FTF product if the ANDA filed with respect to such product is the first to be filed for such product. Pursuant to the Hatch-Waxman Amendments, FTF products may receive a statutory 180-day exclusivity period, subject to certain conditions. A generic product that does not qualify as an FTF may still be an FTM product. A generic product is considered an FTM product if it is the first marketed generic version of a branded pharmaceutical. FTF, FTM and high-value products tend to be more profitable and often have longer life cycles than other generic pharmaceuticals. As such, the timing of new product introductions can have a significant impact on our financial results. Market entry by additional competitors generally has a negative impact on the volume and pricing of the affected products. Additionally, pricing is often affected by factors outside of our control. Refer to "Pharmaceutical Approval Process in the United States," below, for more information.

As of December 31, 2024, our Affordable Medicines segment had 76 products with a pending ANDA and another 56 products in various stages of development in our pipeline, 74% of which are non-oral solid products. We have an integrated, team-based approach to product development that combines our formulation, regulatory, legal, manufacturing and commercial capabilities.

Our Affordable Medicines segment has a growing portfolio of institutional injectable products primarily for the U.S. hospital market. Our R&D pipeline has prioritized new product innovations in injectables, such as drug/device combinations, peptides, long-acting injectables and large volume parenteral bags. We have expanded our manufacturing capabilities and infrastructure to support the needs of this expanding business with a focus on development, commercialization and scaling a differentiated injectables portfolio. During 2023, we launched 39 new products, of which 14 were injectables. In May 2023, the FDA approved for manufacturing our fourth and largest injectable site. During 2024, we launched 22 new products, of which 12 were injectables.

In 2022 we began to commercialize an initial portfolio of oncology biosimilars in the U.S. Alymsys®, a biosimilar referencing Avastin®, launched in October 2022, followed by Releuko®, a biosimilar referencing Neupogen®, in November 2022 and Flynetra™, a biosimilar referencing Neulasta®, in May 2023. On October 12, 2023, we announced the addition of two denosumab biosimilars referencing both Prolia® and XGEVA® to our biosimilar pipeline. The two denosumab products are being developed by mAbxience S.L., a global biotech company with over a decade of experience in the development, manufacture, and commercialization of biopharmaceuticals. To further grow our oncology biosimilars sales, we are focused on serving oncology clinics, integrated health systems and specialty pharmacies. We are focused on expanding our oncology and biosimilar portfolio with additional molecules, and we seek to vertically integrate by expanding our biosimilar capabilities.

In March 2024, we amended the Kashiv Biosimilar Agreement (as defined in Note 23. Related Party Transactions) to include two additional in-development products, a pre-filled auto-injector delivery system for peg-filgrastim and a pre-filled on-body injector (OBI) delivery system for peg-filgrastim. In July 2024, we entered into an exclusive license and commercialization agreement with Kashiv Biosciences LLC to distribute and sell Omalizumab, a biosimilar to XOLAIR®, in the U.S. and India (refer to Note 23. Related Party Transactions.)

Our Affordable Medicines segment had net revenue of $1.69 billion, $1.47 billion and $1.43 billion and operating income of $270.1 million, $276.2 million and $224.2 million for the years ended December 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022, respectively.

Specialty

Our Specialty segment is engaged in the development, promotion, sale and distribution of proprietary branded pharmaceutical products, with a focus on products addressing central nervous system ("CNS") disorders, including Parkinson's disease, and endocrine disorders. Our portfolio of products includes CREXONT® (combination of carbidopa and levodopa extended release capsules), RYTARY® (extended release oral capsule formulation of carbidopa-levodopa), UNITHROID® (levothyroxine sodium), and ONGENTYS® (opicapone). On August 7, 2024, the FDA approved our new drug application ("NDA") for CREXONT®, previously referred to as IPX203. In September 2024, we began selling CREXONT®, which is indicated for the treatment of Parkinson's disease, Parkinson's disease caused by infection or inflammation of the brain, or Parkinson's disease-like symptoms that may result from carbon monoxide or manganese poisoning in adults. RYTARY® is indicated for the treatment of Parkinson's disease, post-encephalitic parkinsonism, and parkinsonism that may follow carbon monoxide intoxication or manganese intoxication. ONGENTYS® is an add-on treatment to carbidopa/levodopa in patients with Parkinson's disease experiencing "off" episodes, which we commenced selling in early 2024 under a license agreement with BIAL-Portela & Ca., S.A. UNITHROID®, indicated for the treatment of hypothyroidism, is sold under a license and distribution agreement with Jerome Stevens Pharmaceuticals, Inc.

Our Specialty products are marketed through skilled specialty sales and marketing teams, who call on neurologists, movement disorder specialists, endocrinologists and primary care physicians throughout the U.S. Our Specialty segment also has other product candidates that are in varying stages of development.

For Specialty products, the majority of such products' commercial value is usually realized during the period in which the product has market exclusivity. In the U.S., when market exclusivity expires and generic versions of a product are approved and marketed, there can often be substantial and rapid declines in the branded product's sales. In 2025, we expect to lose exclusivity for RYTARY®, an extended-release oral capsule formulation of carbidopa-levodopa for the treatment of Parkinson's disease.

Our Specialty segment had net revenue of $445.7 million, $390.5 million and $374.1 million and operating income of $113.6 million, $65.3 million and $72.6 million, for the years ended December 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022, respectively.

AvKARE

Our AvKARE segment provides pharmaceuticals, medical and surgical products, and services primarily to governmental agencies, predominantly focused on serving the U.S. Department of Defense and the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs. AvKARE is also a re-packager of bottle and unit dose pharmaceuticals and vitamins under the registered names of AvKARE and AvPAK. AvKARE is also a wholesale distributor of pharmaceuticals, over the counter drugs and medical supplies to its retail and institutional customers that are located throughout the U.S. focused primarily on entities that provide care to low-income and uninsured patients. Operating results for the sale of Amneal products by AvKARE are included in our Affordable Medicines reportable segment.

Our AvKARE segment had net revenue of $662.9 million, $531.7 million and $406.1 million and operating income of $42.9 million, $31.5 million and $3.3 million for the years ended December 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022, respectively.

Geographic Areas

We operate in the U.S., India, and Ireland. Investments and activities in some countries outside the U.S. are subject to higher risks than comparable U.S. activities because the investment and commercial climate may be influenced by financial instability in international economies, more restrictive economic policies and higher political and legal system uncertainties. See further discussion of this risk in Item 1A. Risk Factors.

Sales & Marketing and Customers

In the U.S. and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, we market our Affordable Medicines and Specialty products primarily through major wholesalers and distributors, retail pharmacies, mail-order pharmacies and directly into hospitals and institutions. The majority of our Affordable Medicines pharmaceutical products are marketed to large group purchasing organizations ("GPOs") and sold through wholesalers, directly to large chain retailers or to mail order customers. Our sterile injectable products and biosimilars utilize a dedicated field-based sales force and are generally marketed to GPOs and specialty distributors, and sold through wholesalers, and occasionally directly to large hospitals and institutions. All of our wholesalers purchase products and warehouse them for retail drug stores, independent pharmacies and managed care organizations, such as hospitals, nursing homes, health maintenance organizations ("HMOs"), clinics, pharmacy benefit management companies and mail-order customers. Our Specialty segment, which promotes branded pharmaceutical products, employs a team of dedicated field-based sales representatives to engage in the direct marketing and promotion of our branded products to physicians and healthcare providers.

Refer to "AvKARE" in the section "Segments of the Business" above for a description of our AvKARE segment's customers.

For the year ended December 31, 2024, on a consolidated basis, our four largest customers, Cencora, Inc., McKesson Drug Co., Cardinal Health, Inc., and CVS Health Corporation, accounted for approximately 70% of our net revenue. In total, we currently have approximately 1,300 customers (including over 1,100 customers specific to our AvKARE segment), some of which are part of large purchasing groups.

We have no long-term agreements that guarantee future business with any of our major customers and the loss of or substantial reduction in orders from any one or more of these customers could have a material adverse effect on our operating results, prospects and financial condition.

Competition

The pharmaceutical industry is highly competitive and is affected by new technologies, new developments, government regulations, health care legislation, availability of financing, and other factors. Many of our competitors have longer operating histories and substantially greater financial, R&D, marketing, and other resources than we do. Competing manufacturers of generic pharmaceutical products create value for our customers by offering substitutes for branded pharmaceutical products at significantly lower prices, and at times we may not be able to differentiate our product offerings from those of our competitors, successfully formulate and bring to market new products that are less expensive than those of our competitors or offer commercial terms as favorable as those of our competitors. We compete with numerous other companies that currently operate, or intend to operate, in the pharmaceutical industry, including companies that are engaged in the development of controlled-release drug delivery technologies and products, and other manufacturers that may decide to undertake development of such products. Our principal competitors in the generic/biosimilar pharmaceutical products market include Teva Pharmaceutical Industries Ltd., Viatris Inc., Sandoz Group, Pfizer Inc., Fresenius Kabi KGaA, Hikma Pharmaceuticals PLC, Dr. Reddy's Laboratories Ltd., Amphastar Pharmaceuticals, Inc., Sun Pharmaceutical Industries Ltd., Lupin Pharmaceuticals, Inc., Zydus

Pharmaceuticals USA Inc., and Aurobindo Pharma Limited. Our principal competitors in the specialty pharmaceutical products market include Supernus Pharmaceuticals, Inc., Jazz Pharmaceuticals PLC, AbbVie Inc., and Alkermes PLC.

Our AvKARE segment is also highly competitive, with new smaller competitors entering the space regularly. Our competitors are other wholesalers, including Cardinal Health, Inc., Cencora, Inc., McKesson Drug Co., and manufacturers / re-packagers such as Golden State Medical Supply.

By focusing on our high-value products with complex dosage forms and high barriers-to-entry, as well as taking advantage of our vertically integrated supply chain and selective use of internal API, we aim to manufacture more profitable products relative to our competition.

The Hatch-Waxman Amendments amended the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act ("FDCA") and provided for a period of 180 days of generic marketing exclusivity for each applicant that is FTF an ANDA with a Paragraph IV certification, which signifies a challenge to at least one brand patent. The holder of an approved FTF ANDA that successfully challenges the relevant innovator drug patent(s) usually enjoys higher market share and sales during the 180-day period of exclusivity. When the exclusivity period concludes, other generic competitors may launch their versions of the product, which may cause significant price erosion and loss of market share. In cases where we are the holder of an ANDA for a FTF product, upon the expiration of the 180-day exclusivity period, we may adjust the price of such product and provide price adjustments to our customers for the difference between the lower price and the price at which we previously sold the product then held in inventory by our customers. These adjustments are commonly known as shelf stock adjustments. In certain circumstances, we may decide not to provide price adjustments to certain customers and, as a result, we may receive returns of unsold product from these customers and forego future sales volume as opposed to reducing pricing.

Authorized generic pharmaceutical products, which are generic labeled versions of pharmaceutical products introduced by brand companies (directly or through a third-party) under the brand's NDA, have also increased competition in the generic pharmaceutical industry. Authorized generic pharmaceutical products may be sold prior to, during and subsequent to the 180-day exclusivity period and are a significant source of competition, because brand companies do not face any regulatory barriers to rapidly introducing generic versions of their pharmaceutical products.

Additionally, consolidation among wholesalers and retailers and the formation of GPOs has caused increased price competition in the generic pharmaceutical market. The downward price adjustments demanded by distributors of generic pharmaceutical products have reduced revenue and average product gross margin across the industry. Should these price reductions continue or even increase, it could have a material adverse effect on our revenue and gross margin. Further, even if we reduce the prices we charge our customers, that does not ensure that the prices consumers pay for those drugs will be similarly reduced.

The main competitive factors in the generic pharmaceutical market include:

- a generic pharmaceutical products manufacturer's ability to rapidly develop and obtain regulatory approval for and supply commercial quantities of generic pharmaceutical products;
- the introduction of other generic pharmaceutical manufacturers' products in direct competition with our products;
- the introduction of authorized generic pharmaceutical products in direct competition with our products;
- consolidation among our customers and the formation of buyer consortia;
- pricing pressures by competitors and customers, even if similar price savings are not passed on to consumers;
- product quality of our generic pharmaceutical competitors;
- our and our competitors' breadth of product offerings across its portfolio;
- our ability and the ability of our generic pharmaceutical competitors to quickly enter the market after the expiration of patents or statutory exclusivity periods, limiting the extent and duration of profitability for our products;
- the willingness of our customers to switch their source of supply of products among various generic pharmaceutical competitors;
- the ability of our generic pharmaceutical competitors to identify and market niche products;
- our and our competitors' level of service (including maintenance of inventories for timely delivery) and reputation as a reliable developer and manufacturer of generic pharmaceutical products; and
- product appearance and labeling for our products and those of our competitors.

In the brand-name pharmaceutical market, our principal competitors are pharmaceutical companies that are focused on Parkinson's disease and other CNS disorders. In addition, with respect to products that we are developing internally and/or any additional products we may in-license from third parties, we expect that we will face increased competition from large pharmaceutical companies, drug delivery companies and other specialty pharmaceutical companies that have focused on the same disorders as our branded products.

Research and Development

R&D activities represent a significant part of our business. R&D expenditures relate to the processes of discovering, testing and developing new products, upfront payments and milestones, improving existing products, as well as demonstrating product efficacy, if applicable, and regulatory compliance prior to launch. We are committed to investing in R&D with the aim of delivering high quality and innovative products. For the years ended December 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022, our R&D expense was $190.7 million, $164.0 million and $195.7 million, respectively.

Raw Materials

Raw materials, including APIs, essential to our business are generally readily available from various suppliers/sources. We purchase raw materials from manufacturers/distributors of bulk pharmaceutical chemicals and we also manufacture certain APIs at our facilities in India. In some cases, however, the raw materials used to manufacture our products are available only from a single supplier. Further, even if more than one supplier exists, we may choose, and have done so in the case of our API suppliers for a majority of our products, to list only one supplier in our product applications submitted to the FDA. Generally, we would need as long as 18 months to find and qualify a new sole-source supplier. If we receive less than one year's termination notice from a sole-source supplier that it intends to cease supplying raw materials, it could result in disruption of our ability to produce the drug involved. Although to date we have only experienced occasional interruptions in supplies, no assurance can be given that we will continue to receive uninterrupted or adequate supplies of such raw materials. Any inability to obtain raw materials on a timely basis, or any significant price increases not passed on to customers, could have a material adverse effect on our business.

Because legal and regulatory requirements mandate that our product marketing authorizations specify API and raw material suppliers, if a specified supplier were for any reason unable to continue to supply us, we would need to seek FDA approval of a new supplier. The resulting delay in the manufacture and marketing of the impacted pharmaceutical product during the FDA process to qualify and approve the new supplier could, depending on the product, have a material adverse effect on our results of operations and financial condition. We protect against the risk of such an event by generally providing for, where feasible, two or more suppliers of raw materials for the pharmaceutical products we manufacture, including those for which we manufacture API in-house. Additionally, we may enter into a contract with a raw material distributor in order to secure adequate supply for specific products.

For a discussion of the risks relating to tariffs on APIs, refer to the risk factor "Changes in trade policy, including the imposition of tariffs may adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition" in Part 1. Item 1A. Risk Factors.

Manufacturing and Distribution

We have a network of manufacturing sites and co-located R&D centers within the U.S., India and Ireland, with broad dosage capabilities. We also have a distribution center for our Affordable Medicines and Specialty products in Glasgow, Kentucky. We manufacture the majority of our Affordable Medicines products internally; of these products, for the year ended December 31, 2024, those manufactured in our U.S. facilities contributed 44% of Affordable Medicines product net revenue compared to 28% for those manufactured in India. We rely on third-party manufacturers to supply products in our Affordable Medicines portfolio representing approximately 28% of our Affordable Medicines net revenue for the year ended December 31, 2024. Most of our Specialty products are manufactured by third-party manufacturers. In addition, we selectively manufacture API for a subset of our products, which helps to reduce the cost of manufacturing for our products and gives us greater control over our supply chain.

Our AvKARE segment's distribution centers are located in Fountain Run, Kentucky and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Government Regulation

The business of developing, manufacturing, selling, distributing, and marketing generic, biosimilar, and branded products is subject to significant health, safety, and environmental laws and regulations, including those governing the approval and pricing of products, clinical trials, laboratory procedures, privacy and security of health and other sensitive information and the handling, use, storage, treatment and disposal of hazardous materials and wastes. These regulatory regimes are overseen by governmental bodies, principally the FDA and, as applicable, the Drug Enforcement Administration (the "DEA"), the Department of Health and Human Services, the Federal Trade Commission (the "FTC") and several state and local government or other agencies, including individual data protection authorities, in the U.S. and abroad. Failure to comply with the laws and regulations of these governmental agencies may result in legal or other enforcement actions, including suspension of regulatory approval, delays in regulatory approval, clinical holds, orders to cease non-compliant activities and potential civil and criminal actions against us. The regulatory environment, particularly enforcement positions, statutes and legal interpretations applicable to the pharmaceutical industry are constantly in flux and not always clear. Significant changes in this environment could have a material adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations.

The FDCA, the Public Health Service Act (the "PHSA"), the Controlled Substances Act, the regulations that implement these laws and other statutes and regulations govern the development, testing, manufacture, packaging, use, distribution, safety, effectiveness, labeling, storage, record keeping, approval, marketing, sale, and promotion of our products, as well as post-marketing requirements for safety surveillance and reporting. Failure to comply with these laws and regulations can result in judicial and/or administrative sanctions, such as warning letters, recalls, product seizures, injunctions, fines, total or partial suspension of distribution or production, exclusion or debarment from government programs and contracts, restitution, disgorgement and criminal prosecutions. The FDA has the authority to withdraw its approval of pharmaceuticals at any time, in accordance with its regulatory due process procedures, and can enforce the recall of products.

Pharmaceutical Approval Process in the United States

In the U.S., the FDA regulates pharmaceuticals and biologics under the FDCA and the PHSA, and their implementing regulations. To market a new drug or biologic, considerable data must be submitted to the FDA for review and approval. In addition to approval, the FDA also regulates research, development, preclinical and clinical testing, manufacturing, packaging, storage, distribution, recordkeeping, labeling, advertising, promotion, marketing, post-approval monitoring and reporting, and import and export of drugs and biologics. If we fail to comply with the applicable U.S. regulatory requirements at any time during the product development process, approval process or after approval, we may be subject to a variety of administrative or judicial sanctions, which could include, among other actions, the FDA's refusal to approve pending applications, delays in approval, suspension or withdrawal of an approval, imposition of a clinical hold, orders to cease non-compliant activities, criminal charges, issuance of warning letters and other types of enforcement-related letters, product recalls, product seizures, total or partial suspension of production or distribution, injunctions, fines, refusals of government contracts, exclusion from participation in government programs and contracts, restitution, disgorgement of profits, or civil or criminal investigations and penalties brought by the FDA, the U.S. Department of Justice ("DOJ") or other governmental entities.

Generally, the following types of applications are used to obtain FDA approval.

New Drug Application and Biologics License Application

For a drug product containing an active ingredient not previously approved by the FDA, a prospective manufacturer must submit a complete NDA containing the results of clinical studies supporting the drug product's safety and efficacy in addition to data and information related to drug product quality and manufacturing. An NDA is also required for a drug with a previously approved active ingredient if the drug will be used to treat an indication for which the drug was not previously approved or if the dosage form, strength or method of delivery is changed and requires clinical studies to support the change. A BLA is required to introduce, or deliver for introduction, a biologic product into interstate commerce and market the product for one or more indications. The process required by the FDA before a new pharmaceutical or biological product may be approved for marketing in the U.S. generally involves the steps listed below.

- Laboratory and clinical tests;
- Submission to the FDA of an Investigational New Drug ("IND") application;
- Adequate and well-controlled human clinical studies conducted according to the FDA's requirements for good clinical practice ("GCP") and additional requirements for the protection of human research subjects and their health information, to establish the safety and efficacy of the proposed product for its proposed conditions of use;
- For pharmaceutical products, submission of an NDA containing the results of the preclinical tests and clinical studies establishing the safety and efficacy of the proposed product for its proposed conditions of use, proposed labeling, extensive data addressing such matters such as drug product quality and manufacturing, and certain information with regards to patents related to the proposed drug product;
- For biological products, submission of a BLA that includes substantive evidence of safety, purity, and potency from results of nonclinical testing and clinical studies, as well as information on the chemistry, manufacturing and controls to ensure product identity and quality, and proposed labeling;
- For certain products, development and implementation of a Risk Evaluation and Mitigation Strategy ("REMS");

- Scale-up to commercial manufacturing;
- Satisfactory completion of an FDA inspection of the manufacturing facility or facilities where the product is produced to assess compliance with current good manufacturing practices ("cGMP"), and, if applicable, the FDA's current good tissue practice;
- Potential FDA inspection of the nonclinical and clinical study sites and the clinical study sponsor that generated the data in support of the NDA or BLA; and
- FDA review and approval or licensure of an NDA or of the BLA.

Prior to beginning the first clinical trial with a product candidate, the sponsor must submit an IND to the FDA and the IND must become effective before human clinical trials may begin. The IND automatically becomes effective 30 days after receipt by the FDA, unless the FDA raises safety concerns or questions about the proposed clinical trial and places the IND on clinical hold within that 30-day time period. The FDA may also impose clinical holds on a product candidate at any time before or during clinical trials due to safety concerns or non-compliance. If the FDA imposes a clinical hold, studies may not recommence without FDA authorization and then only under terms authorized by the FDA.

The FDA or the sponsor may suspend a clinical trial at any time on various grounds. Similarly, an independent institutional review board ("IRB") can suspend or terminate approval of a clinical trial at its site if the clinical trial is not being conducted in accordance with the IRB's requirements or if the product candidate has been associated with unexpected serious harm to patients.

Human clinical studies are typically conducted in three sequential phases that may overlap or be combined. Phase 1 studies are designed to assess safety, dosage tolerance, absorption, metabolism and distribution of the investigational product in humans, the side effects associated with increasing doses, and, if possible, to gain early evidence on effectiveness. If favorable, Phase 2 studies are initiated to evaluate the efficacy of the product for specific targeted diseases or conditions and to determine dosage tolerance, optimal dosage and dosing schedule, as well as identify any adverse effects that could limit the product's usefulness. If data from the Phase 2 trials are favorable, large-scale Phase 3 trials are undertaken to confirm the product's efficacy and safety.

During all phases of clinical development, FDA and others require extensive monitoring and auditing of all clinical activities, clinical data, and clinical study investigators, and certain progress and safety reports must be submitted to the FDA. Phase 1, Phase 2 and Phase 3 clinical studies may not be completed successfully within any specified period, if at all.

Assuming successful completion of all required testing in accordance with regulatory requirements, the submission of an NDA or BLA requesting approval to market the product is subject to a substantial application user fee, which may be reduced or waived if the FDA finds that certain criteria are met, and there are certain exemptions for products designated for rare diseases or conditions. The submission of an NDA or BLA is not a guarantee that the FDA will find it complete and accept it for filing. After the application is deemed filed by the FDA, FDA staff will review an NDA or BLA to determine, among other things, whether a product is safe and efficacious for its proposed conditions of use. There can be no assurance that a product will obtain the regulatory approvals necessary for it to be marketed.

If, after reviewing the NDA or BLA, the FDA determines that the application cannot be approved in its current form, the FDA sends the applicant a complete response letter ("CRL") identifying all outstanding deficiencies that preclude final approval. The FDA then halts its review until the applicant resubmits the NDA or BLA with new information designed to address the deficiencies. An applicant receiving a CRL may resubmit the application with data and information addressing all of the FDA's concerns or requirements set forth in the CRL, withdraw the application without prejudice to a subsequent submission of a related application or request a hearing on whether there are grounds for denying approval of the application. If a product receives regulatory approval, the approval is limited to specific diseases and dosages or the indications for use for which approval had been sought. In addition, the FDA may require an applicant to conduct Phase 4 testing which involves clinical trials designed to further assess a drug's safety and effectiveness after approval, and may require surveillance programs to monitor the safety of approved products which have been commercialized. Once issued, the FDA may withdraw product approval if ongoing regulatory requirements are not met or if safety or efficacy questions are raised after the product reaches the market. The agency may also impose requirements that the NDA or BLA holder conduct new studies, make labeling changes, implement a REMS, and take other corrective measures.

The FDA has a number of programs, including fast track, breakthrough therapy, priority review and accelerated approval, intended to expedite the development or review of products that meet certain criteria, and applicants may explore some of these opportunities for their product candidates, if appropriate. These programs do not change the standards for approval, but may expedite the development or approval process. Even if a product qualifies for one or more of these programs, the FDA may later decide that the product no longer meets the conditions for qualification or decide that the time period for FDA review or approval will not be shortened.

Additionally, in the context of public health emergencies, applicants may seek an Emergency Use Authorization ("EUA") from the FDA, which if granted, allows for the distribution and use of unapproved products during the declared public health emergency or to allow a medical countermeasure to be used in an emergency caused by a chemical, biological, radiological and nuclear agent, in accordance with the conditions set forth in the EUA, unless the EUA is otherwise terminated.

NDA User Fee Program

On September 30, 2022, President Biden signed into law the FDA User Fee Reauthorization Act of 2022, which includes the reauthorization of the Prescription Drug User Fee Act ("PDUFA VII") from fiscal year 2023 through 2027. The program provides for the continued timely review of new NDAs and BLAs. PDUFA VII enhancements include modernizing the user fee structure, a focus on human resource and financial management improvement including a significant increase in staff capacity and capabilities to support the review of cell and gene therapy products; the creation of capacity planning capability; enhancing use of regulatory tools via benefit-risk, patient-focused drug development, complex innovative trial designs, and model informed drug development; enhancing staffing for breakthrough therapy reviews; focusing on communication with industry; and exploring real world evidence in regulatory decision-making.

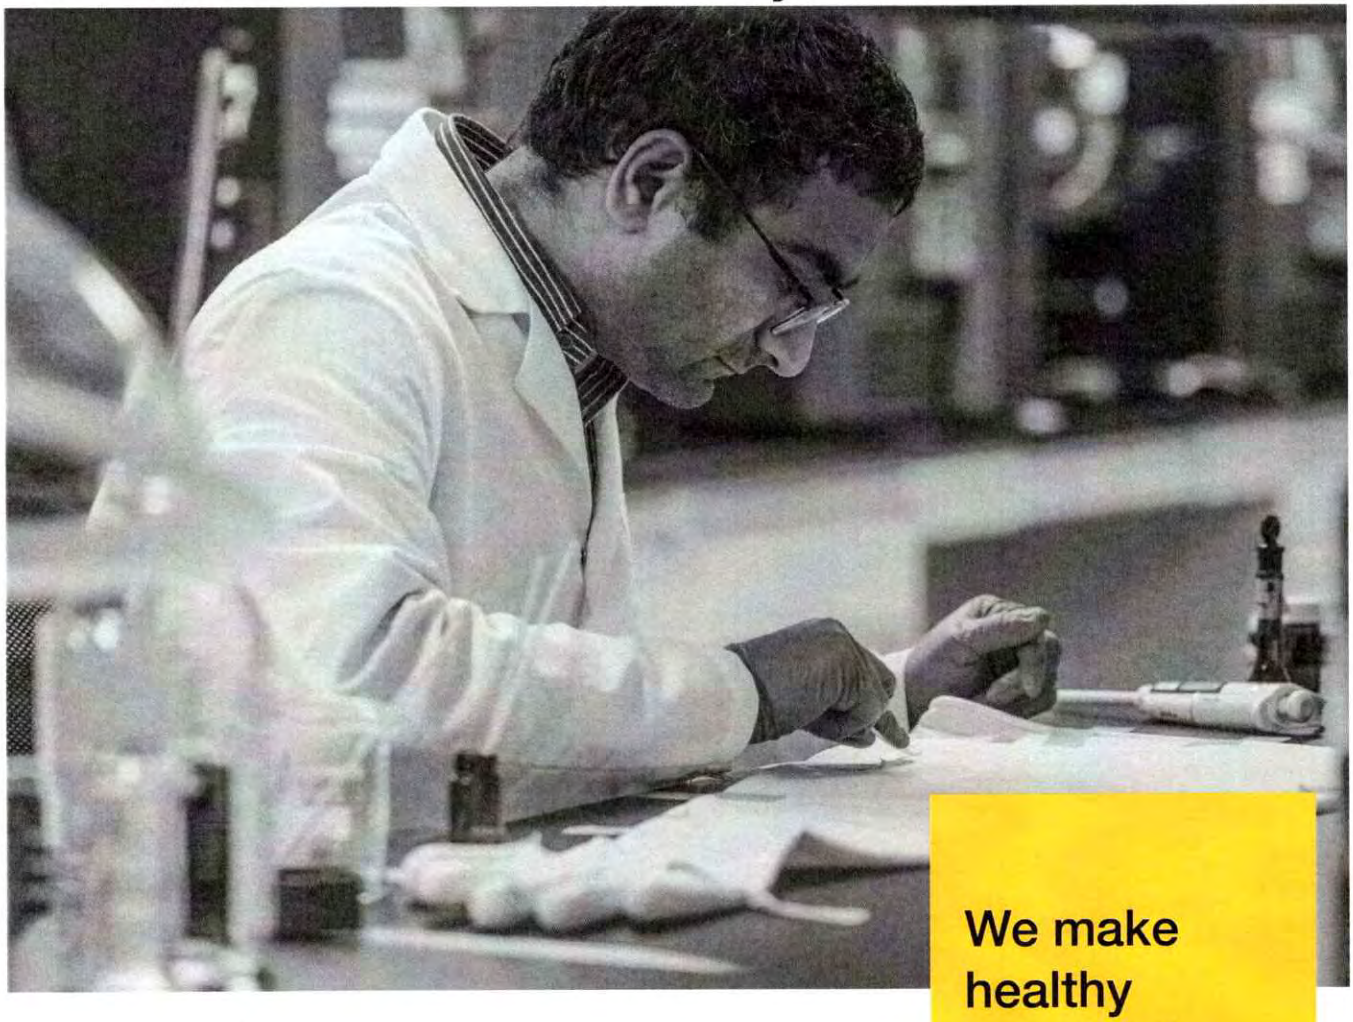
Biosimilar and Interchangeable Biologics License Application

A biosimilar product is a biologic product that is highly similar to an existing FDA-approved biological product (which is referred to as the "reference product") and has no clinically meaningful differences between the biological product and the reference product in terms of safety, purity, and potency. The FDA approves biosimilars through an abbreviated review process, with the goal of demonstrating biosimilarity between the proposed biosimilar and its reference product. Ultimately, the process entails less expensive and fewer clinical trials than a "full" BLA.

Biosimilar license application submissions typically included analytical studies that provide comparative analytical data to demonstrate the structural and functional similarity of the proposed biosimilar product to the reference product and evaluate the impact of any differences identified. The application must also include an assessment of toxicity and a clinical study or studies sufficient to demonstrate safety, purity, and potency in one or more appropriate conditions of use for which the reference product is licensed and for which licensure is sought for the proposed biological product. Pharmacology studies may demonstrate that the proposed biosimilar is processed by the human body in the same way and with the same effects as the reference product. The application may also include an immunogenicity assessment, which evaluates a patient's immune response to the proposed biosimilar. An applicant may need to conduct additional comparative clinical studies to demonstrate whether there are any clinically meaningful differences between the proposed biosimilar and the reference product.

An interchangeable biosimilar is a biosimilar that may be substituted for the reference product without the intervention of the prescribing health care provider that prescribed the reference product, depending on state pharmacy laws. In addition to establishing biosimilarity to the reference product per the process described above, a manufacturer of an interchangeable biosimilar must also submit information to the FDA to show that the proposed interchangeable product can be expected to produce the same clinical result as the reference product in any given patient. If the biological product is to be administered more than once to an individual, then the manufacturer in certain circumstances also submits information in the application that demonstrates the risk in terms of safety or diminished efficacy of alternating between the biological product and the reference product is not greater than the risk of using the reference product without switching. All biosimilars are approved only after they meet the FDA's rigorous approval standards.

Biosimilar User Fee Program



The Biosimilar User Fee Act was reauthorized for the second time on September 30, 2022 ("BsUFA III"). In the reauthorization of BsUFA III, enhancements include new supplement types and expedited review timelines; enhancing communication and feedback during the biosimilar biological development process; enhancing pre-licensure inspection communication; introducing a new pilot program to enhance regulatory decision-making and facilitate science-based recommendation; and enhancing financial management, transparency, and strategic hiring.

Abbreviated New Drug Application

For a generic version of an approved drug product approved under an NDA, an ANDA relies on the FDA's previous finding of safety and effectiveness for a reference listed drug ("RLD") and, as a result, may be approved without submission of the same

Item 1. Business.

OVERVIEW

The Cooper Companies, Inc. (Cooper, we or the Company), is a global medical device company with a mission to improve lives one person at a time. We partner with health care providers worldwide to improve patient outcomes and deliver practice-building resources and training. By listening closely to the healthcare providers and patients, we fulfill the needs of today while focusing on the opportunities of tomorrow through innovation and strategic investment.

Cooper operates through two business segments, CooperVision and CooperSurgical. Our two business segments elevate standards of care with products and services in the fields of vision, fertility and women's health. For financial information relating to these business segments, refer to Note 12. Business Segment Information in Item 8. Financial Statements and Supplementary Data of this Annual Report.

CooperVision is a global manufacturer providing products for contact lens wearers. CooperVision develops, manufactures and markets a broad range of single-use, two-week and monthly contact lenses, featuring advanced materials and optics. CooperVision designs its products to address vision challenges such as astigmatism, presbyopia and myopia with a broad collection of spherical, toric and multifocal contact lenses. CooperVision offers contact lenses in materials like silicone hydrogel Aquaform technology. CooperVision also manufactures and markets myopia management products, including the internally developed MiSight 1 day lens, as well as other specialty eyecare products such as orthokeratology (ortho-k) and scleral lenses. In November 2019, the MiSight 1 day lens became the first and only product approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration (FDA) for slowing the progression of myopia in children aged 8-12 at the initiation of treatment, and in August 2021, CooperVision received Chinese National Medical Products Administration (NMPA) approval for use of the MiSight 1 day lens in China. CooperVision's major manufacturing and distribution facilities are located in Belgium, Costa Rica, Hungary, Puerto Rico, the United Kingdom and the United States, with other smaller facilities in multiple locations around the world.

CooperSurgical offers a broad array of products and services focused on fertility and women's health. We categorize CooperSurgical product sales based on the point of health care delivery, which includes: products used in medical offices, ambulatory surgery centers and hospitals primarily by women's health providers including Obstetricians/Gynecologists (OB/GYN); and fertility products and services used primarily in fertility clinics. Our portfolio encompasses more than 600 products and services. Our medical devices are used in gynecology and obstetrics, including but not limited to surgical products, contraception and labor and delivery as well as cord blood and cord tissue storage services. Our fertility portfolio encompasses medical devices supporting the in vitro fertilization (IVF) process, egg and sperm donation, cryopreservation, and genomic services (including genetic testing). CooperSurgical has established its market presence and distribution system by developing products and acquiring companies, products and services that complement its business model. CooperSurgical's major manufacturing, cryostorage and distribution facilities are located in Costa Rica, the Netherlands, the United Kingdom and the United States, with other smaller facilities in multiple locations around the world.

SEGMENT INFORMATION

CooperVision

CooperVision competes in the worldwide soft contact lens market and services three primary regions: the Americas, EMEA (Europe, Middle East and Africa) and Asia Pacific. The two major product categories of contact lenses sold by CooperVision are:

- Toric and multifocal lenses, including lenses that, in addition to correcting near- and farsightedness, address more complex visual defects such as astigmatism, myopia and presbyopia by adding optical properties of cylinder and axis, which correct for irregularities in the shape of the cornea; and

- Spherical lenses, including lenses that correct near- and farsightedness uncomplicated by more complex visual defects, myopia management lenses, which slow the progression of and correct myopia in age-appropriate children, and other specialty lenses.

In order to achieve a comfortable and healthier lens wearing experience, products are sold with recommended wearing and replacement schedules, often referred to as modalities, with the primary modalities being single-use lenses designed for one-day use and frequent replacement (FRP) lenses designed for two-week and monthly replacement. CooperVision offers spherical, toric, multifocal and toric multifocal lens products in most modalities and in a wide range of lens parameters.

CooperVision Product Modalities

Frequent replacement lenses

Under the Biofinity brand, CooperVision markets monthly silicone hydrogel spherical (including Biofinity Energys), toric, multifocal and toric multifocal (made-to-order) lens products. Our Biofinity brand is CooperVision's highest grossing product. CooperVision also markets two-week silicone hydrogel spherical and toric lenses under the Avaira Vitality brand.

Single-use lenses

CooperVision markets single-use silicone hydrogel lenses under our MyDay brand and our clariti 1 day brand. The MyDay brand is our softest line of 1-day silicone hydrogel lenses and offers spherical (including MyDay Energys), toric, and multifocal lenses. The clariti 1-day brand is our most affordable line of silicone hydrogel 1-day lenses and offers spherical, toric, and multifocal lenses. CooperVision also offers traditional single-use hydrogel lenses under our Proclear and Biomedics brands.

CooperVision focuses on supporting the growth of all customers including key accounts (which include optical chains, global retailers, certain buying groups and mass merchandisers) by investing in selling, promotional and advertising activities. Further, we are increasing investment in our distribution and packaging capabilities to support the growth of our business and to continue providing quality service with our industry leading stock keeping unit range and customized offerings.

Market for Contact Lenses

The market for spherical lenses is growing with the addition of new value-added products, such as spherical lenses that may provide improved comfort for contact lens related dryness during lens wear and that add aspherical optical properties, more higher oxygen permeable lenses such as silicone hydrogels, and myopia management contact lenses for children aged 8 to 12 years old. CooperVision believes that there are opportunities for contact lenses to gain market share, particularly in markets where the penetration of contact lenses in the vision correction market is low.

We believe that myopia management opens up an attractive new market for contact lenses. With MiSight, we offer the only FDA approved[1] and first Chinese NMPA approved product to slow the progression of, and correct, myopia in age-appropriate children. This is a critical differentiator as the proactive management of myopia becomes standard-of-care within the eye care community to help reduce the progression of myopia in children, along with reducing the risks of long-term eye health problems associated with myopia such as cataracts, retinal detachment, and macular degeneration. We are investing to develop this new market by educating eye care practitioners, patients and their families, which increases awareness.

CooperVision is focused on greater worldwide market penetration of recently introduced products, and we continue to expand our presence in existing and emerging markets, both organically and through acquisitions.

CooperSurgical

CooperSurgical focuses on advancing fertility and women's health through a diversified portfolio including fertility products and services, medical devices, cryostorage (such as cord blood and cord tissue storage) and contraception. We offer quality products, innovative technologies and superior services to health care professionals and patients worldwide. CooperSurgical collaborates with health care professionals to identify products and new technologies to bring to market. The result is a broad portfolio of products and services that are intended to aid in the delivery of improved clinical outcomes for patients and are routinely used by health care professionals in the diagnosis and treatment of a wide spectrum of women's health and reproductive issues.

CooperSurgical distributes its products and services through OB/GYN and medical offices, hospital and ambulatory surgery centers and fertility clinics, as well as direct-to-consumer. A focus area for CooperSurgical is key accounts, which include large group practices, integrated delivery networks and certain buying groups within the office/surgical business and fertility clinic networks within the fertility business. We believe our portfolio of offerings and focus on service, quality and clinical education will help increase our share of business within these key account groups.

Since its inception in 1990, CooperSurgical has established its market presence and distribution system by developing products and acquiring products and companies that complement its business model. In fiscal 2024, CooperSurgical acquired select Cook Medical assets focused primarily on the obstetrics, doppler monitoring, and gynecology surgery markets, a fertility company that specializes in sperm separation devices, and obp Surgical, a U.S.-based medical device company with a suite of single-use cordless surgical retractors with integrated light source and evacuation channels. We expect to continue investing in CooperSurgical's business, including through strategic transactions, with the goal of expanding our integrated solutions model within the areas of fertility and women's health.

[1] MiSight 1 day (omafilcon A) soft (hydrophilic) contact lenses for daily wear are indicated for the correction of myopic ametropia and for slowing the progression of myopia in children with non-diseased eyes, who at the initiation of treatment are 8-12 years of age and have a refraction of -0.75 to -4.00 diopters (spherical equivalent) with ≤ 0.75 diopters of astigmatism. The lens is to be discarded after each removal.

CooperSurgical Product Categories

Office/Surgical

CooperSurgical sells a wide variety of innovative medical devices and services used in gynecology and obstetrics, including in labor and delivery, as well as to screen, diagnose and treat women's health and reproductive conditions.

CooperSurgical offers the cryostorage of newborn cord blood and cord tissue, which are potent sources of stem cells that have the potential for treatment and healing. Our newborn stem cell storage services are available in the United States, Canada and Australia.

Paragard is a hormone-free intrauterine device (IUD) offered by CooperSurgical that prevents pregnancy for up to ten years using copper as the only active ingredient. It is the only FDA approved non-hormonal IUD contraceptive option and is exclusively sold in the United States.

Fertility

CooperSurgical has broad product offerings for fertility evaluations and IVF procedures by OB/GYN professionals, reproductive endocrinologists and embryologists. In fertility clinics, our products include media, micro-tools and lab equipment. Additionally, CooperSurgical offers services to clinics and families undergoing assisted reproductive technologies including donor gametes, cryostorage, and genomic services.

Market for Fertility and Women's Health Care

CooperSurgical participates in the market for women's and family health care with its diversified product lines at various points of health care delivery: OB/GYN medical offices, hospitals and surgery centers, and fertility clinics. CooperSurgical's business also includes cryostorage services for gametes, cord blood and cord tissue.

CooperSurgical expects that OB/GYN medical offices and fertility clinics will continue to move away from private practice ownership and toward group practices, private equity, corporate or other ownership. As the consolidation trend continues it will have increased influence over supply chain control, group purchases, value analysis committees, product evaluation and procurement. We believe CooperSurgical's broad product portfolio can benefit in this changing environment as customers look to standardize and consolidate vendors.

Trends specific in the OB/GYN market include:

- The increase in office-based and outpatient procedures, given increased access to care, high patient satisfaction, reduction of healthcare costs and comparative clinical outcomes.
- A focus on reducing pregnancy and childbirth complications.
- The obstetrician being a key contributor to stem cell storage, facilitating the collection of cord blood and cord tissue following delivery in most markets.
- Initial evaluation and treatments for infertility, such as uterine assessment, ovulatory medications and intrauterine insemination (IUI), beginning with the OB/GYN and then transitioning to fertility clinics.

Trends specific in the fertility market include:

- Infertility rates are increasing globally, and there is a significant unmet need for fertility products and services.
- The maternal age is increasing.
- Patient awareness of, and access to, services is increasing.
- The number of fertility clinics is rising worldwide.

- Single parents by choice and LGBTQIA+ individuals are starting families.
- Improved product offerings such as donor activity and cryopreservation services are becoming available.
- Technology improvements are being developed for both male and female infertility challenges.
- Worldwide disposable income is increasing.

COMPETITION

The markets in which we participate are highly competitive and involve the continual search for technological and scientific innovations. Competitive factors in these markets include technological and scientific advances, product quality and availability, price, customer service including response time and effective communication of product information to clinicians and consumers, and manufacturing processes. Competitors may have greater financial resources, larger research and development budgets, larger sales forces, greater market penetration and/or larger manufacturing capacity. Both CooperVision and CooperSurgical compete predominantly on the basis of product quality and differentiation, technological benefits, price, service levels and reliability.

CooperVision Competition

CooperVision's largest competitors in the worldwide market and its primary competitors in the spherical, toric and multifocal lens categories of that market are Johnson & Johnson Vision Care, Inc., Alcon Inc. and Bausch + Lomb. To a lesser extent, CooperVision also competes with manufacturers of eyeglasses and providers of other forms of vision correction including ophthalmic surgery. We believe that in order to compete successfully in the numerous categories of the contact lens market, companies must offer differentiated products that are priced competitively and manufactured efficiently. CooperVision competes in its markets by producing high, medium and low-volume lenses made with a variety of materials for a broader range of market niches, as well as offering a wide range of lens parameters, leading to a higher rate of successful fitting for practitioners and better visual acuity for patients. Our ability to compete successfully with a full range of silicone hydrogel products is an important factor to achieving success in our business. We also compete based on our customer and professional services.

CooperSurgical Competition

CooperSurgical focuses on selected segments of the fertility and women's health care market with a diversified portfolio including fertility products and services, medical devices, cryostorage (such as cord blood and cord tissue storage) and contraception. CooperSurgical's strategy includes developing and acquiring new solutions to complement our current offerings. In the fertility market, CooperSurgical competes against Vitrolife Group, FujiFilm-Irvine Scientific, Hamilton Thorne, and Fairfax Cryobank and Fairfax EggBank. We also compete with fertility clinics offering their own services. Larger companies such as Johnson & Johnson, Medtronic and Hologic have offerings that compete with our medical device products. In the stem cell storage field, we compete primarily with ViaCord, a division of Revvity, in the United States, as well as other smaller companies globally. With Paragard, we compete with manufacturers of hormonal IUDs including Bayer and AbbVie, Long Acting Reversible Contraceptives including Organon, and other forms of birth control. We are aware of a non-hormonal IUD under development, which may compete with Paragard in the future. Further, the continued consolidation of medical offices and fertility clinics may impact the competition for our products and services.

RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

The Company employs approximately 400 people in research and development. CooperVision's product development and clinical research is supported by internal and external specialists in lens design, formulation science, polymer chemistry, engineering, clinical trials, microbiology and biochemistry. CooperVision's research and development activities primarily include programs to develop new contact lens designs, myopia management, and manufacturing technologies, along with improving formulations and existing products.

CooperSurgical conducts research and development in-house, and works with external specialists when necessary, in mechanical, electrical, biomedical and software engineering, as well as life sciences. CooperSurgical research and development activities are focused on innovating, improving, and advancing our products and services including, instruments, devices, consumables, digital services, and manufacturing technologies.

GOVERNMENT REGULATION

Our products are subject to extensive regulation by the FDA in the United States and a variety of regulatory agencies in other countries. The process of obtaining regulatory approvals and the subsequent compliance with applicable federal, state, local and foreign statutes and regulations requires the expenditure of substantial time and financial resources. These regulations govern, among other things, the design and development, testing, manufacturing, labeling, storage, record keeping, premarket clearance, approval or certification, post-market vigilance reporting, advertising and promotion, and sales and distribution of medical devices and pharmaceutical products. Failure to comply with the applicable regulations, which are subject to established and new legislation and change, could result in enforcement action by the FDA, or other U.S. or foreign government agencies which may include, among other things, any of the following consequences: warning letters, civil penalties, refusal or withdrawal of approvals or certifications, license suspension or revocation, product recalls, operating restrictions, suspension or shutdown of production, and criminal prosecution.

Regulation in the United States

Medical Devices

Most of our products are medical devices, which must comply with the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act (FDCA) and the regulations promulgated by the FDA thereunder. The FDA classifies medical devices into one of three classes—Class I, II or III—depending on the degree of risk associated with each medical device and the extent of control needed to ensure the medical device's safety and effectiveness. Both CooperVision and CooperSurgical develop and market medical devices subject to different levels of FDA regulation depending on the classification and risk profile of the device. Class III devices, such as extended wear contact lenses, require extensive premarket testing and approval, while Class I and II devices require lower levels of regulation. The majority of CooperSurgical's products are Class II devices. Unless an exemption applies, each medical device we wish to distribute commercially in the United States will require either premarket notification to the FDA requesting clearance for commercial distribution under Section 510(k) of the FDCA, a premarket approval (PMA) from the FDA, or a de novo classification and request for marketing authorization submitted to and granted by the FDA.

If we are required to obtain a 510(k) clearance for a device that we wish to market, we must submit a premarket notification to the FDA demonstrating that the device is substantially equivalent to a device commercially distributed in the United States before May 28, 1976 (a pre-amendments device), or to a device that was found to be substantially equivalent to a pre-amendments device. If the FDA agrees that the device is substantially equivalent, it will grant 510(k) clearance to commercially market the device. If the FDA determines that the device is not substantially equivalent to a legally marketed device, the FDA automatically designates the device as a Class III device. The sponsor of a device automatically designated as Class III must either fulfill more rigorous PMA requirements or request a risk-based classification determination for the device in accordance with the de novo process. The de novo process is a pathway to market for novel medical devices that are low to moderate risk and are not substantially equivalent to a predicate device.

A PMA application must be submitted if the device cannot be cleared through the 510(k) premarket notification procedures, or if the device has been previously classified as Class III. The PMA process is much more demanding than the 510(k) premarket notification process. A PMA application must be supported by extensive data including, but not limited to, technical, pre-clinical, clinical trials, manufacturing and labeling to demonstrate to the FDA's satisfaction the safety and effectiveness of the device for its intended use. Prior to commencing human clinical trials, submission of an application for an investigational device exemption (IDE) and receipt of IDE approval from the FDA is required if the device under evaluation presents a significant risk to human health. The process of gathering supporting information leading up to PMA application, and the subsequent FDA review, can take several years.

A majority of the medical devices we currently market have received FDA clearance through the 510(k) process or approval through the PMA process. Because we cannot be assured that any new products we develop, or any product enhancements, will be exempt from the premarket clearance or approval requirements, or will be subject to the shorter 510(k) clearance process rather than the PMA process, significant delays in the introduction of any new products or product enhancements may occur.

After a device is placed on the market, numerous regulatory requirements apply. These include: establishment registration and device listing with the FDA; the FDA's Quality System Regulation (QSR), which requires manufacturers to follow design, testing, production, control, complaint handling, documentation and other quality assurance procedures during the manufacturing process; labeling regulations, which prohibit the promotion of products for uncleared or unapproved or "off-label" uses and impose other restrictions on labeling, advertising and promotion; FDA unique device identifier regulations, which require changes to labeling and packaging; and medical device reporting regulations, which require that manufacturers report to the FDA if their device may have caused or contributed to a death or serious injury or malfunctioned in a way that would likely cause or contribute to a death or serious injury if it were to recur. The FDA has broad post-market and regulatory enforcement powers. We are subject to unannounced inspections for cause by the FDA to determine our compliance with the QSR and other regulations.

In the United States, under the FDCA and the FDA's regulatory framework, in vitro diagnostic devices (IVDs) are a type of medical device that can be used in the diagnosis or detection of diseases, such as cancer, or other conditions. The FDA considers Laboratory Developed Tests (LDTs) to be a subset of IVDs that are designed, manufactured, and used within a single laboratory. Furthermore, in May 2024, the FDA issued a final rule to amend its regulations to make explicit that LDTs are devices under the FDCA. Along with this amendment, the FDA is finalizing a policy under which the FDA will provide greater oversight of IVDs offered as LDTs through a phaseout of its general enforcement discretion approach for LDTs over the course of four years, as well as targeted enforcement discretion policies for certain categories of IVDs manufactured by laboratories. As we operate a genetic testing laboratory, we are required to hold certain federal, state and local licenses, certifications and permits to conduct our business. Under the Clinical Laboratory Improvement Amendments of 1988 (CLIA) regulations, we are required to hold a certificate applicable to the type of laboratory tests we perform and to comply with standards applicable to our operations, including test processes, personnel, facilities administration, equipment maintenance, recordkeeping, quality systems and proficiency testing. We have current certification under CLIA to perform testing at our New Jersey facility. In addition to federal certification requirements of laboratories under CLIA, licensure is required and maintained for our laboratory under state law.

Human cells, tissues, and cellular and tissue-based products

We currently operate as a provider of donated reproductive tissue (eggs and sperm) for fertility treatments, fertility cryopreservation services and newborn stem cell storage. Eggs and sperm are regulated by the FDA as human cells, tissues, and cellular and tissue-based products (HCT/Ps). In addition, Section 361 of the Public Health Service Act (PHSA) authorizes the FDA to issue regulations with respect to HCT/Ps. To be regulated as a "361 HCT/P", the product must, among other things, be minimally manipulated and intended only for homologous uses. HCT/Ps regulated as 361 HCT/Ps are subject to requirements relating to registering facilities and listing products with the FDA, and stringent requirements for processing, storing, labeling and distributing HCT/Ps, including required labeling information, screening and testing for tissue donor eligibility, record keeping and adverse event reporting, among other applicable requirements and laws. 361 HCT/Ps do not require 510(k) clearance, PMA approval, submission of a Biologics License Application, or other premarket authorization from the FDA before marketing. We believe our HCT/Ps are regulated as 361 HCT/Ps.

Pharmaceutical Products

In the United States, the FDA regulates pharmaceutical products under the FDCA and its implementing drug regulations. Although Paragard is a drug-device combination product, the FDA has determined that the primary mode of action for Paragard is the drug component and the product is therefore regulated by the FDA's Center for Drug Evaluation and Research under applicable drug regulations. The process required by the FDA before a drug may be marketed in the United States generally involves numerous and time-consuming steps, including preclinical laboratory tests, human clinical trials, FDA reviews, and facility inspections.

Any drug products manufactured or distributed by us pursuant to NDA approvals are subject to continuing regulation by the FDA as the FDA may withdraw the approval if compliance with regulatory requirements and standards is not maintained or if problems occur after the product reaches the market. After approval of an NDA, most changes to the approved product, such as adding new indications, manufacturing changes or other labeling claims, are subject to further testing requirements and prior FDA review and approval. Drug manufacturers and their subcontractors are also required to maintain compliance with cGMPs and other requirements, including requirements relating to recordkeeping, periodic reporting, product sampling and distribution, advertising and promotion and reporting of adverse experiences with the product. Accordingly, manufacturers must continue to expend time, money and effort in the area of production and quality control to maintain ongoing compliance. In addition, the FDA closely regulates the marketing, promotion and distribution of pharmaceutical products. The FDA and other agencies actively enforce the laws and regulations prohibiting the promotion of off-label uses, and a company that is found to have improperly promoted off-label uses may be subject to significant liability.

Foreign Regulation

Health authorities in foreign countries regulate Cooper's clinical studies and medical device sales. Even if the FDA has cleared or approved a product in the United States, the regulatory agencies or notified bodies in other countries must approve or certify new products and product modifications before they may be marketed in those countries. The regulations vary widely from country to country, although there is a trend towards harmonization of quality system standards among the European Union (EU), United States, Canada and various other industrialized countries. Medical devices marketed or sold in the EU must meet the CE mark requirements and maintain certain certifications. CooperVision maintains ISO 13485 certification and CE marks for its products and CooperSurgical maintains ISO 13485 certification and CE marks for medical devices and ISO 15189 certification for the genomics laboratories. The ISO 13485 Quality Management System certification is now also required for registration of products in Asia Pacific and Latin American countries, among many other requirements for registration in these countries. In order to maintain these quality benchmarks, the Company is subjected to rigorous biannual reassessment audits of its quality systems and procedures.

The EU rules below are generally applicable in the European Economic Area (EEA) which consists of the 27 EU member states plus Norway, Liechtenstein and Iceland, while the majority of the United Kingdom now operates under a separate regulatory regime following the United Kingdom's withdrawal from the EU on January 31, 2020.

Medical Device and In Vitro Diagnostic Medical Device Regulation in the EU

Until May 25, 2021, medical devices sold in the EU were regulated by the Medical Device Directive (the EU MDD), which has been repealed and replaced by the EU MDR). Similarly, the EU has adopted the IVDR, which repealed and replaced the In Vitro Diagnostic Medical Device Directive (the EU IVDD) and became applicable on May 26, 2022. The majority of our current certificates have been granted under the EU MDD and the EU IVDD. Due to the unattainable nature of the deadlines for recertification of medical devices under the EU MDR and the EU IVDR, EU institutions have extended the transition periods for devices certified in accordance with the previous Directives, including the EU MDD and the EU IVDD, through legislative amendments of the transitional provisions of the EU MDR and EU IVDR. Therefore, devices lawfully placed on the market pursuant to the EU MDD and EU IVDD may generally continue to be made available on the market or put into service provided that the requirements of transitional provisions are fulfilled. Pursuing marketing of medical devices (including IVDs) in the EU will require that our devices be certified under the new regimes set forth in the EU MDR and the EU IVDR.

In the EU, the safety and performance of medical devices (including IVDs) are evaluated by the designated notified bodies via the submission of technical dossiers, depending on the product classifications. A declaration of conformity to the MDD or MDR is drawn out as a basis for European conformity marking (CE Mark). All medical devices placed on the EU market must meet general safety and performance requirements, including the requirement that a medical device must be designed and manufactured in such a way that, during normal conditions of use, it is suitable for its intended purpose. Medical devices must be safe and effective and must not compromise the clinical condition or safety of patients, or the safety and health of users and, where applicable, other persons, provided that any risks which may be associated with their use constitute acceptable risks when weighed against the benefits to the patient and are compatible with a high level of protection of health and safety, taking into account the generally acknowledged state of the art.

Compliance with the general safety and performance requirements is also a prerequisite for CE mark, without which medical devices cannot be marketed or sold in the EU. To demonstrate compliance with the general safety and performance requirements, medical device manufacturers must undergo a conformity assessment procedure, which varies according to the type of medical device and its risk classification. With certain exceptions, a conformity assessment procedure requires the intervention of notified bodies, which are independent organizations designated by EU member states to assess the conformity of devices before being placed on the market. Typically, satisfactory completion of an audit and examinations of a product's technical dossiers and the manufacturer's quality system is required before the issuance of a certificate by the notified body. This certificate, along with the Declaration of Conformity, are then used by the manufacturer as basis for CE mark.

Throughout the term of the certificate, the manufacturer will be subject to periodic surveillance audits to verify continued compliance with the applicable requirements.

In addition, all manufacturers placing medical devices on the market in the EU are subject to various other regulations, including compliance with the EU medical device vigilance system, directives and requirements regarding the advertisement and promotion of medical devices and inspections rights of regulatory authorities.

Laboratory Developed Test Regulation in the EU

In the EU, LDTs were exempt from the regulations that govern medical devices and IVDs under certain conditions. In order to fall within this exemption under the EU IVDD, medical devices, including LDTs, had to be designed and used within such health institutions (which may include hospitals, laboratories and public health institutions that support the healthcare system and/or address patient needs but do not treat or care for patients directly) on a non-industrial scale, without being released into the market. While the legal framework for applying the exemption under the EU IVDD to LDTs was not entirely clear, the EU IVDR may provide greater clarity on the regulation of LDTs.

Our current and future tests will need to be assessed against the EU IVDR requirements. We will be required to comply with various certification and documentation criteria, and we will be subject to conformity assessments and audits by EU notified body and inspections by regulatory authorities.

Medical Devices and In Vitro Diagnostic Medical Devices Regulations in the United Kingdom

Following the United Kingdom's withdrawal from the EU, commonly referred to as Brexit, EU laws no longer apply directly in Great Britain (England, Wales and Scotland). Under the terms of the Ireland/Northern Ireland Protocol agreed between the EU and United Kingdom, many EU laws, including those relating to medical devices and IVDs do still apply in Northern Ireland.

In Great Britain, the legislative regime currently continues to be based on the requirements set out in the EU MDD, the Active Implantable Medical Devices Directive (EU AIMDD), and the EU IVDD. However, substantial reforms to the Great Britain regulatory regime for medical devices and IVDs are currently being developed to improve patient safety. Most of the reforms are to align with EU MDR requirements, but the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA) also intends to introduce unique requirements such as post market surveillance, software, and Artificial Intelligence from mid-2025.

Medical Device and In Vitro Diagnostic Medical Device Regulation in Asia Pacific

As in other regions, securing regulatory approvals in Asia Pacific is a critical aspect of commercializing our products. While medical device regulations in the Asia Pacific are based on similar regulatory fundamentals (such as risk-based classification of devices) as other regions, navigating the regulatory landscape in Asia Pacific is extremely complex. Medical device regulation in Asia Pacific differs significantly country by country, requiring specific regulatory affairs expertise in each country, as well as country-based regulatory strategies. The regulatory framework maturity in Asia Pacific is widely varied ranging from well-established to emerging, approval timelines can be lengthy and unpredictable and there is less access to and engagement with regulators compared to other markets. Several key Asia Pacific markets require regulatory approval in other countries prior to registration, increasing the time from completion of product development to product launch. For example, in China, manufacturers must provide proof of home country approval (such as the United States or EU) as part of the regulatory registration/approval process.

The NMPA regulates medical devices in China. Medical devices in China are classified by risk into Class I (lowest risk), Class II or Class III (highest risk). China requires physical testing (known as 'type testing') of medical device samples by in-country testing centers to confirm compliance with specifications and standards, both pre- and post-market. Additionally, NMPA generally requires in-country clinical trials to support new product registrations, rather than relying on foreign clinical data.

In Japan, the primary regulation governing medical devices is the Pharmaceutical and Medical Device Act (PMD Act). The Ministry of Health, Labor and Welfare (MHLW) and the Pharmaceutical and Medical Device Agency (PMDA) regulate medical devices. The PMDA evaluates the safety and effectiveness of medical devices prior to granting marketing authorization or approval, and monitors post-market safety of approved devices. The PMDA is also the Quality Management System (QMS) Inspection Authority. Medical devices are placed into one of four risk classes based on potential risk, with Class I being the lowest potential risk and Class IV being the highest. Contact lenses, for example, are regulated as Class III devices and require premarket approval (registration), an expensive and lengthy process depending on the application category. A novel or new medical device application will generally require local clinical trial data, extending the time to approval. The registration process in Japan requires a QMS application and inspection. Additionally, separate from the registration process, a Foreign Manufacturer Registration is required before a company can import medical devices manufactured outside Japan.

Japan and Australia participate in the Medical Device Single Audit Program, which allows for the acceptance of QMS audit reports from other participating Regulatory Authorities, including the FDA.

Other Health Care Regulation

We are subject to various federal, state and foreign laws to prevent fraud and abuse in the healthcare industry and protect personal health-related information, including the following:

- state, federal and similar foreign anti-kickback laws, which generally prohibit payments and other forms of remuneration to induce or in return for the purchase, lease, order or arranging for the purchase, lease or order of a product or service;
- the federal physician self-referral law, known as the Stark Law, which generally prohibits physicians from referring Medicare or Medicaid patients to receive designated health services from an entity which the physician, or a member of the physician's immediate family, has a financial interest in;
- the federal False Claims Act, which prohibits any individual or entity from presenting or causing to be presented false claims for payment to the federal government;

- federal and state laws that prohibit executing, or attempting to execute, a scheme to obtain money from any healthcare benefit program under false pretenses;
- the Physician Payments Sunshine Act and similar state and foreign laws that require medical device and pharmaceutical manufacturers to disclose financial relationships with health care professionals and teaching hospitals; and
- data privacy and security laws and regulations, such as the HIPAA and the EU GDPR, which are intended to protect the collection, use, access to, confidentiality and security of health-related and other personal information.

Coverage and Reimbursement

Market acceptance and sales of our CooperSurgical products to our customers, who primarily consist of hospitals and surgery centers, OB/GYN medical offices and fertility clinics, will depend on the availability of payor coverage and the adequacy of reimbursement, for the procedures using our products, by government insurance programs and other third-party payors. Payor coverage and reimbursement for procedures using medical devices in the United States and international markets vary significantly by country. With respect to drug coverage and reimbursement, third-party payors are increasingly challenging the price and examining the medical necessity and cost-effectiveness of drugs, in addition to their safety and efficacy. We believe the overall escalating cost of medical products and services being paid for by the government and private health insurance has led to, and will continue to lead to, increased pressures on the healthcare and medical device industry to reduce the costs of products and services.

Healthcare Reform

In the United States and foreign countries, there has been, and continues to be, several legislative and regulatory changes and proposed changes regarding the healthcare system that could prevent or delay marketing approval of product candidates, restrict or regulate post-approval activities, and affect the profitable sale of product candidates. We expect that additional state, federal and foreign healthcare reform measures will be adopted in the future, any of which could limit the amounts that state, federal and foreign governments will pay for healthcare products and services, which could result in reduced demand for our products or additional pricing pressures.

Among policy makers and payors in the United States, there is significant interest in promoting changes in healthcare systems with the stated goals of containing healthcare costs, improving quality and/or expanding access. Passed in March 2010, the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (the ACA) substantially changed the way healthcare is financed by both governmental and private insurers, and significantly affected the pharmaceutical, medical device and clinical laboratory industries. Additionally, there has recently been heightened scrutiny by governmental authorities, individual hospitals, and third-party payors over product prices, which has resulted in proposed and enacted federal and state legislation designed to, among other things, bring more transparency to product pricing, review the relationship between pricing and manufacturer patient programs, and reform government program reimbursement methodologies for pharmaceutical products. Most recently, on August 16, 2022, the Inflation Reduction Act of 2022, or IRA, was signed into law. Among other things, the IRA requires manufacturers of certain drugs to engage in price negotiations with Medicare (beginning in 2026), with prices that can be negotiated subject to a cap; imposes rebates under Medicare Part B and Medicare Part D to penalize price increases that outpace inflation (first due in 2023); and replaces the Part D coverage gap discount program with a new discounting program (beginning in 2025).

In the EU, regulations have been adopted which are intended to boost cooperation among EU member states in assessing health technologies, including certain high-risk medical devices, and providing the basis for cooperation at the EU level for joint clinical assessments in these areas.

Other Laws and Regulations

We are subject to numerous federal, state, local and foreign environmental laws, including provisions that regulate the discharge of materials into the environment, laws applicable to our facilities, products or manufacturing processes, including evolving regulations regarding the use of hazardous substances or chemicals in our products, and laws related to the protection of the environment, environmental health and safety regulations, Restriction of Hazardous Substances (RoHS) in electrical and electronic equipment in the EU, and Registration, Evaluation, Authorization and Restriction of Chemical substances (REACH).

We are subject to various other federal, state and foreign laws related to the manufacturing and distribution of our products and to our international operations, including export control and trade compliance laws.

State Disciplinary Actions

Utah, License # 12435996-1710, 2023

On February 17, 2023, The Utah Board of Pharmacy issued a citation for failure to timely notify the Board of the change in designated representative at the Baxter Byhalia, MS location. Baxter paid the fine and is waiting for the final signed order.

Utah, Pharmacy Class C License # 9451291-1710, 2022

On May 31, 2022, The Utah Department of Commerce issued a Citation and Order due to a failure to file a timely notification of the change in the designated representative at the Baxter - Hayward (W. Winton) location. Baxter resolved the matter and paid a reduced fine.

Idaho, Out of State Mail Service Pharmacy License # 36855MS, 2022

On March 3, 2022, The Idaho Board of Pharmacy issued an Order and Stipulation for violations stemming from an expired non-resident PIC registration. The registration has since been approved by the Board. Baxter has signed the Stipulation and paid the required fine.

Alabama, Permit #194460, 2022

On May 3, 2022, The Alabama Board of Pharmacy issued a citation for failure to notify the Board of the change in designated representative at the Baxter – Hayward (W. Winton location). Baxter resolved the matter and paid the required fine.

Georgia, Wholesaler Pharmacy License # PHWH001754, 2017

In January 2017, Baxter Healthcare Corporation (Baxter) agreed to resolve claims with the U.S. Department of Justice related to quality and manufacturing practices at Baxter's manufacturing facility in Marion, North Carolina in 2011-2012. Specifically, the government charged that between July 2011 and November 2012, Baxter did not follow cGMP requirements under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FDCA) when manufacturing certain large volume intravenous (IV) solutions. Briefly, a Baxter employee reported to plant personnel the presence of mold on HEPA filters installed in the ceiling, and Baxter continued to manufacture IV solutions while those filters remained in place. There was no evidence of any impact on the IV solutions. Copies of the settlement documents, which include a deferred prosecution agreement to resolve a single misdemeanor count of noncompliance with the FDCA, are available on the U.S. Department of Justice's website at https://www.justice.gov/opa/pr/baxter-healthcare-corporation-pay-more-18-million-resolve-criminal-and-civil-liability. The deferred prosecution agreement expired in July 2019, and the misdemeanor charge was dismissed with prejudice. This issue is unrelated to Baxter's pharmacy or wholesale activities.

Baxter disclosed this issue on a renewal application for a Georgia wholesale license for its Marion, NC facility, and in October 2017, the state of Georgia issued a disciplinary order against that license (PHWH001754) based on the disclosure.

Please note that this issue is unrelated to Baxter's pharmacy or wholesale activities. Iowa,

Nonresident Pharmacy License # 4127, 2014

The Iowa Board of Pharmacy (the "Iowa Board") issued a Stipulation for Baxter's Omaha, Nebraska pharmacy due to improperly delegating final verification of prescriptions for peritoneal dialysis solutions to a pharmacy technician. The Omaha facility is licensed in Nebraska under a Delegated Dispensing Permit, and utilized multiple quality checks, including retrospective pharmacist review, to ensure proper dispensing of peritoneal dialysis products to patients. Upon request by the Iowa Board, Baxter promptly modified its operations to ensure pharmacist verification of all orders. Baxter has signed the Stipulation and paid the required fine.

Montana, License #2152, 2010

The Montana Board of Pharmacy (the "Montana Board") issued a Stipulation for violations stemming from the failure of Baxter to notify the Montana Board in the requisite time frame of a change in the designated Person-in-Charge for the Waukegan, IL facility. Baxter has signed the Stipulation and paid the required fine.

Alabama, License #191639, 2009

The Alabama Board of Pharmacy found the Buford, GA facility was in violation of Code of Alabama (1975) Section 34-23-32. The facility continued distribution operations during the time between the valid license expired and when the expired license was renewed. Baxter Healthcare renewed the license, signed a Consent Order and paid the applicable fine.

Florida, Non-Resident Drug Manufacturer Permit No.: 26:4672, 2009

The Florida Department of Health (the "Florida Department") alleged that Baxter (Memphis, TN) sold prescription drugs to an unpermitted facility in Florida in violation of Section 499.005(15), F.S. Specifically, the Florida Department alleged that Baxter sold prescription drugs to Invivo at an unpermitted location. Baxter entered into a settlement agreement, whereby it neither admitted nor denied the allegations, and paid a fine.

Louisiana, License #3691, 2008

Louisiana Board of Wholesale Drug Distributors conducted a routine inspection of the facility operated by Baxter's third-party logistics provider. Inspectors concluded Baxter (Round Lake, IL)

violated Louisiana Administrative Code 46:XCI.311.D, which requires a licensee to maintain copies of current licenses for its customers who are authorized to obtain and possess legend drugs and devices. Baxter obtained customer licenses, signed a Consent Order, and paid the applicable fine.

Missouri, License #2005002668, 2005

The Missouri Board of Pharmacy (the "Missouri Board") issued a restricted drug distributor license to the facility located in Memphis, TN. The Missouri Board determined the facility violated Section 338.333.1 and 338.337.1 RSMo because the facility shipped legend drugs and/or medical devices into the state without being properly licensed. The proper license was obtained. The probationary period was successfully completed on October 21, 2007 and the restriction on the license was removed.

State Non-Disciplinary Settlements for Memphis Facility

Florida, License #s 26:506 (Memphis, TN) and 26:384 (Marion, NC), 2015

In June 2015, the Florida Department of Business and Professional Regulation (the "Department") sent Notices of Violation to Baxter alleging the shipment of prescription drugs to a Baptist Health South Florida, Inc. ("Baptist"), prior to Baptist receiving its permit to operate as a restricted prescription drug distributor — health care entity. Baxter had shipped products to the Baptist address under the valid medical license of the Medical Director, in reliance on a document evidencing the Medical Director's intent that he serve as the purchaser of the product. In August 2015, Baxter and the Department resolved the matter via a non-disciplinary settlement.

Other Actions: Dismissed Charge of Drug Law Violation

In January 2017, Baxter Healthcare Corporation (Baxter) agreed to resolve claims with the U.S. Department of Justice related to quality and manufacturing practices at Baxter's manufacturing facility in Marion, North Carolina in 2011-2012. Specifically, the government charged that between July 2011 and November 2012, Baxter did not follow cGMP requirements under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FDCA) when manufacturing certain large volume intravenous (IV) solutions. Briefly, a Baxter employee reported to plant personnel the presence of mold on HEPA filters installed in the ceiling, and Baxter continued to manufacture IV solutions while those filters remained in place. There was no evidence of any impact on the IV solutions. Copies of the settlement documents, which include a deferred prosecution agreement to resolve a single misdemeanor count of noncompliance with the FDCA, are available on the U.S. Department of Justice's website at https://www.justice.gov/opa/pr/baxter-healthcare-corporation-pay-more-18-million-resolve-criminal-and-civil-liability. The deferred prosecution agreement expired in July 2019, and the misdemeanor charge was dismissed with prejudice.

Please note that this issue is unrelated to Baxter's pharmacy or wholesale activities, or the facility that is the subject of this application.

Under the terms of the Purchase Agreement, subject to the aforementioned adjustments, the Company will receive approximately $3.5 billion in cash with net after-tax proceeds currently estimated to be approximately $3 billion.

Pursuant to the Purchase Agreement, following the closing of the Transaction (the "Closing"), Buyer and the Divested Entities and their respective subsidiaries will operate the renal care and acute therapies business previously operated by the Company (the "Vantive Business"). Post-Closing, the Company will be focused on medical products and therapies, healthcare systems and technologies and pharmaceuticals. Pursuant to the Purchase Agreement, the Company will retain (i) the manufacture and sale of saline solutions and (ii) the plastics operations of the Company and its subsidiaries at the Company's Mountain Home, Arkansas facility.

The Transaction is subject to the satisfaction of certain closing conditions, including: (i) the expiration or termination of the waiting period under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976, as amended; (ii) competition clearances in the European Union ("EU"), Brazil, Canada, China, Japan, Mexico and certain other jurisdictions; (iii) foreign direct investment filings in certain EU member states; (iv) approval from the European Commission under the Foreign Subsidiaries Regulation; (v) the absence of any law or order enjoining or otherwise prohibiting the Transaction; (vi) the accuracy of the representations and warranties of the Company or Buyer, as applicable; (vii) completion of a pre-closing reorganization in all material respects; (viii) compliance of the other party with its covenants in all material respects; and (ix) the execution of certain ancillary agreements. These agreements include: (a) a manufacturing and supply agreement, pursuant to which the Company and the Divested Entities will provide each other with certain dialysis-related products, other products, product components and fulfillment services; (b) a long-term master services agreement, pursuant to which the Company will provide the Divested Entities with certain products and services related to biological indicators and reference standards; (c) a distribution agreement, pursuant to which the Company will provide the Divested Entities with certain saline products; (d) a transition services agreement, pursuant to which the Company and the Divested Entities will provide each other with certain transitional services; and (e) an intellectual property agreement providing for the assignment of certain intellectual property to the Vantive Business and certain licensing arrangements between the Company and the Divested Entities regarding certain intellectual property relevant for their respective businesses, each in accordance with the Purchase Agreement. The Transaction is currently expected to close in late 2024 or early 2025.

The Purchase Agreement contains certain representations and warranties that are customary for a transaction of this type. The Purchase Agreement also contains certain covenants, including, among others, customary covenants by the Company to conduct the business of the Divested Entities in the ordinary course between execution of the Purchase Agreement and the Closing.

The Purchase Agreement contains customary termination rights, including if the Closing has not occurred on or prior to February 12, 2025 (the "Initial Outside Date"), subject to two potential extensions by either party until August 12, 2025 under certain circumstances.

The Purchase Agreement provides that Buyer will be required to pay the Company a termination fee of $180,000,000 if the Purchase Agreement is terminated by: (i) either the Company or Buyer because the Transaction has not been completed by the Initial Outside Date (subject to certain extension rights as set forth in the Purchase Agreement), in a circumstance in which the Company would then have been entitled to terminate the Purchase Agreement because (x) Buyer breached any of its covenants or other agreements contained in this Agreement, or any of its representations and warranties are untrue, which breach or failure to be true results in the failure of the related closing condition to be satisfied, subject to a cure period in certain circumstances (a "Terminable Breach") or (y) if all of the closing conditions have been and continue to be satisfied or have been waived (other than those conditions that by their nature only can be satisfied at the Closing), Buyer fails to consummate the Closing in accordance with the terms thereof, and the Company has provided written confirmation to Buyer following the date on which the Closing is required to occur that all closing conditions have been satisfied or waived but Buyer fails to consummate the Closing in accordance with the Purchase Agreement (a "Financing Failure"); or (ii) the Company if there is a Terminable Breach or the Closing is not consummated due to a Financing Failure.

Pursuant to the Purchase Agreement, (i) effective as of the applicable closing date, each outstanding and unvested equity award or cash-based retention award granted to a Transferred Business Employee (as defined in the Purchase Agreement), other than (x) stock option awards that are underwater as of such date and (y) any portion of such outstanding and unvested equity awards that remain outstanding at the applicable closing date and eligible for payout on the terms provided in the applicable award agreement for retirement eligible participants (each, an "LTIP Award"), will vest on a pro rata basis, with such pro rata portion computed based on the number of calendar days elapsed from the start of the vesting period applicable to such LTIP Award through the applicable closing date, relative to the total number of calendar days in such vesting period, (ii) any such accelerated portion will be settled within the time period set forth in the applicable award agreement (such treatment described in clauses and (i) and (ii), the "LTIP Award Treatment") and (iii) Buyer will grant cash-based replacement awards in respect of the forfeited portion of each such LTIP Award (excluding stock option awards) in accordance with the terms and conditions of the Purchase Agreement.

The foregoing description of the Purchase Agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby, including the Transaction, is only a summary, does not purport to be complete and is subject to, and qualified in its entirety by, the full text of the Purchase Agreement, which is filed as Exhibit 2.1 to this Current Report on Form 8-K and incorporated herein by reference. The Purchase Agreement has been filed to provide investors with information regarding its terms. It is not intended to provide any other factual information about the Company, the Divested Entities, Buyer or their respective subsidiaries or affiliates. In particular, the assertions embodied in the representations and warranties and certain covenants contained in the Purchase Agreement are qualified by information in confidential disclosure schedules provided by the Company in connection with the signing of the Purchase Agreement. These confidential disclosure schedules contain information that modifies, qualifies and creates exceptions to the representations and warranties and certain covenants set forth in the Purchase Agreement. Moreover, certain representations and warranties in the Purchase Agreement were used for the purpose of allocating risk between the Company and Buyer, rather than establishing matters as facts. Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

This Current Report on Form 8-K, and the documents referred to herein, include "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act, and Section 21E of the Exchange Act that involve risks and uncertainties. Forward-looking statements provide current expectations of future events based on certain assumptions and include any statement that does not directly relate to any historical or current fact. These statements by their nature address matters that are uncertain to different degrees. Use of the words "may," "will," "would," "could," "should," "believes," "estimates," "projects," "potential," "expects," "plans," "seeks," "intends," "evaluates," "pursues," "anticipates," "continues," "designs," "impacts," "affects," "forecasts," "target," "outlook," "initiative," "objective," "designed," "priorities," "goal," or the negative of those words or other similar expressions may identify forward-looking statements, although not all forward-looking statements contain such words. These forward-looking statements are based on certain assumptions and analyses made in light of the Company's experience and perception of historical trends, current conditions, and expected future developments as well as other factors that the Company believes are appropriate in the circumstances. While these statements represent the Company's judgment on what the future may hold, and the Company believes these judgments are reasonable, these statements are not guarantees of any events or financial results. Whether actual future results and developments will conform to expectations and predictions is subject to a number of risks and uncertainties, including the following factors, many of which are beyond our control: (i) the inability to obtain, or delays in obtaining, any required regulatory approvals or other consents for the Transaction, or failure to consummate or delay in consummating the Transaction for other reasons; (ii) the risk that a condition to closing of the Transaction may not be satisfied; (iii) the occurrence of any event, change or other circumstances that could give rise to the termination of the Purchase Agreement; (iv) the outcome of any legal proceedings that may be instituted following announcement of the Transaction; (v) the failure of Buyer to obtain the financing required to consummate the Transaction; (vi) the failure to retain key management and employees of the Vantive Business before the Closing; (vii) potential unfavorable reactions to the Transaction by customers, competitors, suppliers, employees and Company stockholders; (viii) the risk that the expected benefits of the Transaction (including with respect to the Company's capital allocation plans) are not realized in full or at all or on the timeline expected; (ix) each party's ability to satisfy its respective obligations under the manufacturing and supply agreement, transition services agreement, long-term master services agreement, intellectual property agreement, distribution agreement, and other ancillary agreements entered into in connection with the Transaction; and (x) other risks identified in the Company's most recent filings on Form 10-K and Form 10-Q and other U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") filings, all of which are available on the Company's website. Actual results may differ materially from those projected in the forward-looking statements, which are more fully discussed in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2023. These forward-looking statements are not exclusive and are in addition to other factors discussed elsewhere in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2023. Further, other unknown or unpredictable factors could also have material adverse effects on future results. Any forward-looking statement in this Current Report on Form 8-K, and the documents referred to herein, speaks only as of the date on which it is made. Except as required by law, the Company assumes no obligation, and expressly disclaim any obligation, to update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information or future events.

Utah, Pharmacy Class C License # 9451291-1710, 2022

On May 31, 2022, The Utah Department of Commerce issued a Citation and Order due to a failure to file a timely notification of the change in the designated representative at the Baxter - Hayward (W. Winton) location. Baxter resolved the matter and paid a reduced fine.

Idaho, Out of State Mail Service Pharmacy License # 36855MS, 2022

On March 3, 2022, The Idaho Board of Pharmacy issued an Order and Stipulation for violations stemming from an expired non-resident PIC registration. The registration has since been approved by the Board. Baxter has signed the Stipulation and paid the required fine.

Alabama, Permit #194460, 2022

On May 3, 2022, The Alabama Board of Pharmacy issued a citation for failure to notify the Board of the change in designated representative at the Baxter – Hayward (W. Winton location). Baxter resolved the matter and paid the required fine.

Georgia, Wholesaler Pharmacy License # PHWH001754, 2017

In January 2017, Baxter Healthcare Corporation (Baxter) agreed to resolve claims with the U.S. Department of Justice related to quality and manufacturing practices at Baxter's manufacturing facility in Marion, North Carolina in 2011-2012. Specifically, the government charged that between July 2011 and November 2012, Baxter did not follow cGMP requirements under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FDCA) when manufacturing certain large volume intravenous (IV) solutions. Briefly, a Baxter employee reported to plant personnel the presence of mold on HEPA filters installed in the ceiling, and Baxter continued to manufacture IV solutions while those filters remained in place. There was no evidence of any impact on the IV solutions. Copies of the settlement documents, which include a deferred prosecution agreement to resolve a single misdemeanor count of noncompliance with the FDCA, are available on the U.S. Department of Justice's website at https://www.justice.gov/opa/pr/baxter-healthcare-corporation-pay-more-18-million-resolve-criminal-and-civil-liability. The deferred prosecution agreement expired in July 2019, and the misdemeanor charge was dismissed with prejudice. This issue is unrelated to Baxter's pharmacy or wholesale activities.

Baxter disclosed this issue on a renewal application for a Georgia wholesale license for its Marion, NC facility, and in October 2017, the state of Georgia issued a disciplinary order against that license (PHWH001754) based on the disclosure.

Please note that this issue is unrelated to Baxter's pharmacy or wholesale activities. Iowa,

Nonresident Pharmacy License # 4127, 2014

The Iowa Board of Pharmacy (the "Iowa Board") issued a Stipulation for Baxter's Omaha, Nebraska pharmacy due to improperly delegating final verification of prescriptions for peritoneal dialysis solutions to a pharmacy technician. The Omaha facility is licensed in Nebraska under a Delegated Dispensing Permit, and utilized multiple quality checks, including retrospective pharmacist review, to ensure proper dispensing of peritoneal dialysis products to patients. Upon request by the Iowa Board, Baxter promptly modified its operations to ensure pharmacist verification of all orders. Baxter has signed the Stipulation and paid the required fine.

Montana, License #2152, 2010

The Montana Board of Pharmacy (the "Montana Board") issued a Stipulation for violations stemming from the failure of Baxter to notify the Montana Board in the requisite time frame of a change in the designated Person-in-Charge for the Waukegan, IL facility. Baxter has signed the Stipulation and paid the required fine.

Alabama, License #191639, 2009

The Alabama Board of Pharmacy found the Buford, GA facility was in violation of Code of Alabama (1975) Section 34-23-32. The facility continued distribution operations during the time between the valid license expired and when the expired license was renewed. Baxter Healthcare renewed the license, signed a Consent Order and paid the applicable fine.

Florida, Non-Resident Drug Manufacturer Permit No.: 26:4672, 2009

The Florida Department of Health (the "Florida Department") alleged that Baxter (Memphis, TN) sold prescription drugs to an unpermitted facility in Florida in violation of Section 499.005(15), F.S. Specifically, the Florida Department alleged that Baxter sold prescription drugs to Invivo at an unpermitted location. Baxter entered into a settlement agreement, whereby it neither admitted nor denied the allegations, and paid a fine.

Louisiana, License #3691, 2008

Louisiana Board of Wholesale Drug Distributors conducted a routine inspection of the facility operated by Baxter's third-party logistics provider. Inspectors concluded Baxter (Round Lake, IL)

violated Louisiana Administrative Code 46:XCI.311.D, which requires a licensee to maintain copies of current licenses for its customers who are authorized to obtain and possess legend drugs and devices. Baxter obtained customer licenses, signed a Consent Order, and paid the applicable fine.

Missouri, License #2005002668, 2005

The Missouri Board of Pharmacy (the "Missouri Board") issued a restricted drug distributor license to the facility located in Memphis, TN. The Missouri Board determined the facility violated Section 338.333.1 and 338.337.1 RSMo because the facility shipped legend drugs and/or medical devices into the state without being properly licensed. The proper license was obtained. The probationary period was successfully completed on October 21, 2007 and the restriction on the license was removed.

State Non-Disciplinary Settlements for Memphis Facility

Florida, License #s 26:506 (Memphis, TN) and 26:384 (Marion, NC), 2015

In June 2015, the Florida Department of Business and Professional Regulation (the "Department") sent Notices of Violation to Baxter alleging the shipment of prescription drugs to a Baptist Health South Florida, Inc. ("Baptist"), prior to Baptist receiving its permit to operate as a restricted prescription drug distributor — health care entity. Baxter had shipped products to the Baptist address under the valid medical license of the Medical Director, in reliance on a document evidencing the Medical Director's intent that he serve as the purchaser of the product. In August 2015, Baxter and the Department resolved the matter via a non-disciplinary settlement.

Other Actions: Dismissed Charge of Drug Law Violation

In January 2017, Baxter Healthcare Corporation (Baxter) agreed to resolve claims with the U.S. Department of Justice related to quality and manufacturing practices at Baxter's manufacturing facility in Marion, North Carolina in 2011-2012. Specifically, the government charged that between July 2011 and November 2012, Baxter did not follow cGMP requirements under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FDCA) when manufacturing certain large volume intravenous (IV) solutions. Briefly, a Baxter employee reported to plant personnel the presence of mold on HEPA filters installed in the ceiling, and Baxter continued to manufacture IV solutions while those filters remained in place. There was no evidence of any impact on the IV solutions. Copies of the settlement documents, which include a deferred prosecution agreement to resolve a single misdemeanor count of noncompliance with the FDCA, are available on the U.S. Department of Justice's website at https://www.justice.gov/opa/pr/baxter-healthcare-corporation-pay-more-18-million-resolve-criminal-and-civil-liability. The deferred prosecution agreement expired in July 2019, and the misdemeanor charge was dismissed with prejudice.

Please note that this issue is unrelated to Baxter's pharmacy or wholesale activities, or the facility that is the subject of this application.

PART I

Item 1. Business.

Company Overview

Baxter International Inc., through its subsidiaries, provides a broad portfolio of essential healthcare products, including sterile intravenous (IV) solutions; infusion systems and devices; parenteral nutrition therapies; inhaled anesthetics; generic injectable pharmaceuticals; surgical hemostat and sealant products, advanced surgical equipment; smart bed systems; patient monitoring and diagnostic technologies; and respiratory health devices. These products are used by hospitals, nursing homes, rehabilitation centers, ambulatory surgery centers, doctors' offices, kidney dialysis centers and patients at home under physician supervision. Our global footprint and the critical nature of our products and services play a key role in expanding access to healthcare in emerging and developed countries. As of December 31, 2024, after giving effect to the recent sale of our Kidney Care business (as discussed below), we manufactured products in over 20 countries and sold them in over 100 countries.

Baxter International Inc. was incorporated under Delaware law in 1931. As used in this report, "Baxter International" means Baxter International Inc. and "we", "our" or "us" means Baxter International and its consolidated subsidiaries, unless the context otherwise requires.

Recent Strategic Actions

In mid-2022, our Board of Directors authorized a strategic review of our business portfolio, with the goal of increasing stockholder value. As part of that review process, we identified and evaluated a range of potential strategic actions, including opportunities for sales and other separation transactions. In January 2023, following the completion of that review, we announced a number of planned strategic actions, as discussed below, which are intended to enhance our operational effectiveness, accelerate innovation and drive additional stockholder value. We completed the last of these strategic actions on January 31, 2025 in connection with the sale of our Kidney Care business.

Sale of Kidney Care Business

On August 12, 2024, we entered into an Equity Purchase Agreement (EPA) with certain affiliates of Carlyle Group Inc. (Carlyle) to sell our Kidney Care business. That business, which is now known as Vantive Health LLC (Vantive) is comprised of our former Kidney Care segment and provides chronic and acute dialysis therapies and services, including peritoneal dialysis, hemodialysis, continuous renal replacement therapies, and other organ support therapies. On January 31, 2025, we completed the sale of our Kidney Care business to Carlyle for an aggregate purchase price of $3.80 billion in cash, subject to certain closing cash, working capital and debt adjustments. After giving effect to certain adjustments, we received approximately $3.71 billion pre-tax cash proceeds at closing of the transaction with the net after tax proceeds currently estimated to be approximately $3.4 billion, subject to certain post-closing adjustments. We determined that our Kidney Care business met the criteria to be classified as held-for-sale in August 2024, and we also concluded that it met the conditions to be reported as a discontinued operation at that time. Accordingly, our Kidney Care business is reported in discontinued operations in the accompanying consolidated financial systems, and our prior period results have been adjusted to reflect discontinued operations presentation.

Implementation of New Operating Model and Resulting Segment Change

Our reportable segments were previously comprised of the following geographic segments related to our legacy Baxter business: Americas (North and South America), EMEA (Europe, Middle East and Africa) and APAC (Asia Pacific), and a global segment for the Hill-Rom Holdings, Inc. (Hillrom) business we acquired in December 2021. In the third quarter of 2023, we completed the implementation of a new operating model intended to simplify and streamline our operations and better align our manufacturing and supply chain to our commercial activities. Under this operating model, our business is currently comprised of three reportable segments: Medical Products & Therapies, Healthcare Systems & Technologies, and Pharmaceuticals. Our segment reporting was changed during the third quarter of 2023 to align with our new operating model, and all periods presented are under the new operating model.

Sale of BPS Business

On September 29, 2023, we completed the sale of our BioPharma Solutions (BPS) business and received cash proceeds of $3.96 billion from that transaction. The results of operations and cash flows of our BPS business, including the $2.88 billion pre-tax gain ($2.59 billion net of tax) from the sale of that business and the related cash proceeds received, are reported as discontinued operations in the accompanying consolidated financial statements. We used substantially all of the after-tax proceeds from this transaction to repay certain of our debt obligations, including $514 million of commercial paper borrowings and $2.28 billion of long-term debt that we repaid during the fourth quarter of 2023, as well as €750 million of senior notes that we repaid during the second quarter of 2024.

Business Segments and Products

We currently manage our global operations based on three reportable segments: Medical Products & Therapies, Healthcare Systems & Technologies and Pharmaceuticals.

The Medical Products & Therapies segment includes sales of our sterile IV solutions, infusion systems, administration sets, parenteral nutrition therapies and surgical hemostat, sealant and adhesion prevention products. The Healthcare Systems & Technologies segment includes sales of our connected care solutions and collaboration tools, including smart bed systems, patient monitoring systems and diagnostic technologies, respiratory health devices and advanced equipment for the surgical space, including surgical video technologies, precision positioning devices and other accessories. The Pharmaceuticals segment includes sales of specialty injectable pharmaceuticals, inhaled anesthetics and drug compounding services.

For financial information about our segments, see Note 18 in Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Business Strategy

Our business strategy is focused on driving sustainable growth and innovation aligned with our mission to save and sustain lives and our vision to transform healthcare with a customer focus to help improve patient outcomes, enhance workflow efficiency, and enable cost-effective care. Our diversified and broad portfolio of medical products that treat acute or chronic conditions and our global presence are core components of our strategy as we work to achieve these objectives. We are focused on key strategic pillars as part of our pursuit of industry leading performance: innovation; operational efficiency; and capital allocation.

Innovation

Our innovation strategy, which encompasses both organic and inorganic initiatives, is focused on accelerating our sales growth through the introduction of new connected care and core therapy offerings. Connected care offerings include devices or software that can digitally connect, communicate and/or analyze data to help transform healthcare and improve patient outcomes, and we are continuing to build out our connected care portfolio offerings, which includes smart bed systems, infusion pumps, patient monitoring and diagnostic technologies, respiratory health devices and advanced equipment for the surgical space. Our core therapy product offerings include pharmaceuticals and consumable medical products designed to address essential patient and provider needs across the continuum of care.

As part of this strategy, we are prioritizing investments that drive innovation in product areas where we believe we have compelling opportunities to better serve patients and healthcare professionals, particularly in markets with higher growth rates. We are working to accelerate the pace at which we bring these advances to market to support our future growth. We are in the midst of launching (or have recently launched) several new products, geographic expansions and line extensions in areas such as smart pump technology, hospital pharmaceuticals and nutritionals, surgical sealants, smart beds, respiratory vests and more. These comprise a mix of entirely new product offerings and meaningful improvements to existing technologies.

Portfolio Optimization

Our strategy also involves active portfolio management in the interest of maximizing value for Baxter stockholders and best positioning Baxter for long-term success. The recent Kidney Care sale has given us enhanced flexibility to deploy (or in some cases redeploy) capital toward opportunities that seek to accelerate our growth objectives, whether as a result of innovation or expanding our portfolio geographically or as a result of channel expansion or market development activities.

Operational Excellence

As discussed above under "Recent Strategic Actions," in the third quarter of 2023, we implemented a new operating model intended to simplify and streamline our operations and better align our manufacturing and supply chain to our commercial activities. We believe these changes will allow us to be a more integrated and nimble organization that can respond more effectively to operational challenges and changes in the macroeconomic environment while enhancing our ability to drive innovation in our product portfolio. We also continue to focus on increasing efficiencies through automation and digitization. We intend to continue to actively manage our cost structure and strive to commit resources to the highest value uses. Such high value activities include supporting innovation, actively managing the portfolio, expanding patient access and accelerating growth for our stockholders.

Maintaining Disciplined and Balanced Capital Allocation

Subject to market conditions and our investment grade targets, our capital allocation strategies currently include the following:

- debt repayments to support our deleveraging commitments;
- active portfolio management through the identification of attractive acquisition and divestiture transactions, including the recent divestitures of our BPS and Kidney Care businesses; and
- returning capital to stockholders through dividends, while balancing any returns with other strategic actions we take. We also intend to reinstate share repurchases over the longer term.

We paid down $3.65 billion of net debt during 2024 and through February 21, 2025 using proceeds from the sales of our BPS and Kidney Care businesses, and we are committed to retaining our investment grade rating, including taking actions toward achieving a net leverage target of approximately 3.0x by the end of 2025 through ongoing debt repayment and financing activities. During this deleveraging period, we currently intend to continue paying a dividend (which we reduced in November 2024), not make any share repurchases and be highly selective with respect to any potential acquisitions.

Sales and Distribution

We have our own direct sales force and also make sales to and through independent distributors, drug wholesalers acting as sales agents and specialty pharmacy or other alternate site providers. In the United States, third parties, such as Cardinal Health, Inc., warehouse and ship a significant portion of our products through their distribution centers. These centers are generally stocked with adequate inventories to facilitate prompt customer service. Sales and distribution methods include frequent contact by sales and customer service representatives, automated communications via various electronic purchasing systems, circulation of catalogs and merchandising bulletins, direct-mail campaigns, trade publication presence and advertising.

Sales are made and products are distributed on a direct basis or through independent distributors or sales agents in more than 100 countries as of December 31, 2024, giving effect to the sale of our Kidney Care business.

International Operations

A significant portion of our revenues are generated outside of the United States and thoughtful geographic expansion remains a key component of our strategy. Our international presence includes operations in Europe, the Middle East, Africa, Asia-Pacific, Latin America and Canada. We are subject to certain risks inherent in conducting business outside the United States. For more information on these risks, see the information under the captions "Risks Relating to Our Business—We are subject to risks associated with doing business globally" and "—Changes in foreign currency exchange rates and interest rates have had, and may in the future have, an adverse effect on our results of operations, financial condition, cash flows and liquidity" in Item 1A. Risk Factors of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

For financial information about our foreign and domestic revenues and segment information, see Note 18, in Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K. For more information regarding foreign currency exchange risk, refer to the discussion under the caption entitled "Financial Instrument Market Risk" in Item 7. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Contractual Arrangements

Our products are sold through contracts with customers, both within and outside the United States. Some of these contracts have terms of more than one year and place limits on our ability to increase prices. In the case of hospitals, governments and other facilities, these contracts may specify minimum quantities of a particular product or categories of products to be purchased by the customer.

In keeping with the increased emphasis on cost-effectiveness in healthcare delivery, many hospitals and other customers of medical products in the United States have joined group purchasing organizations (GPOs), or formed integrated delivery networks (IDNs), to enhance purchasing power. GPOs and IDNs negotiate pricing arrangements with manufacturers and distributors and the negotiated prices are made available to members. We have purchasing agreements with several of the major GPOs in the United States, which are subject to renewal from time to time. GPOs may have agreements with more than one supplier for certain products. Accordingly, in these cases, we face competition from other suppliers even where a customer is a member of a GPO under contract with us, which may constrain our ability to secure negotiated price increases. Purchasing power is similarly consolidated in many other countries. For example, public contracting authorities often act as the purchasing entities for the hospitals and other customers of medical products in their region and many hospitals and other customers have joined joint procurement entities and buying consortia. The result is that demand for healthcare products is increasingly concentrated across our markets globally. Additionally, our contractual pricing arrangements with GPOs, IDNs and public contracting authorities can sometimes limit our ability to increase prices in order to offset raw materials or component price increases or otherwise. Some of these agreements contain failure to supply clauses with varying remedies, inclusive of limited termination rights.

Raw Materials and Component Parts

Raw materials and component parts essential to our business are purchased from numerous suppliers worldwide in the ordinary course of business. While many of these materials are generally available, we have experienced and may in the future experience shortages of supply. Additionally, certain of these materials are secured from single source suppliers or on a spot basis and not pursuant to a contractual arrangement.

In an effort to manage risk associated with raw materials and component supply, we work closely with our suppliers to help ensure availability and continuity of supply while maintaining high quality and reliability. We also seek to develop new and alternative sources of supply where beneficial to our overall raw materials procurement strategy. Refer to Item 1A. Risk Factors of this Annual Report on Form 10-K for further information regarding risks related to the supply chain, raw materials and component parts (including with respect to the qualification of any new or alternative supplier).

We are not always able to recover cost increases for raw materials and component parts through customer pricing due to contractual limits, where applicable, and market forces. For example, during 2022 and 2023, our profit margins were adversely impacted because we were unable to fully offset all related cost increases resulting from the high inflationary environment through customer pricing adjustments or other pricing actions. Additionally, our profit margins were negatively impacted in the fourth quarter of 2024 (and may continue to be negatively impacted in the short term) because we were unable to fully offset the increased supply chain costs associated with our ongoing North Cove recovery efforts (including as a result of importing additional product from outside the United States to support IV solutions demand). We seek to utilize long-term supply contracts with some suppliers to help maintain continuity of supply and manage the risk of price increases. Our ability to do so in the face of limited supply of certain raw materials and component parts and inflationary environment has been and may in the future be limited.

Competition and Healthcare Cost Containment

Our businesses benefit from a number of competitive advantages, including the breadth and depth of our product offerings and our strong relationships with customers, including hospitals and clinics, GPOs, IDNs, physicians and patients, many of whom self-administer home-based therapies that we supply. We also benefit from efficiencies and cost advantages resulting from shared manufacturing facilities and the technological advantages of our products.

Although no single company competes with us in all of our businesses, we face substantial competition in each of our segments from international and domestic healthcare, medical products and pharmaceutical companies and providers of all sizes, and these competitors often differ across our businesses. In addition, global and regional competitors continue to expand their manufacturing capacity and sales and marketing channels. We believe customer purchasing decisions are primarily focused on cost-effectiveness, price, service, product performance and technological innovation. There has been consolidation in our customer base and by our competitors, which has resulted and continues to result in pricing and market pressures.

1. Global efforts toward healthcare cost containment continue to exert pressure on product pricing. Governments around the world use various mechanisms to control healthcare expenditures, such as price controls, the formation of public contracting authorities, product formularies (lists of recommended or approved products), and competitive tenders which require the submission of a bid to sell products. Sales of our products are dependent, in part, on the availability of reimbursement by government agencies and healthcare programs, as well as insurance companies and other private payers. In the United States, the federal government and many states have adopted or proposed initiatives relating to Medicaid and other health programs that may limit reimbursement or increase rebates that we and other providers are required to pay to the state. In addition to government regulation, managed care organizations in the United States, which include medical insurance companies, medical plan administrators, health-maintenance organizations, hospital and physician alliances and pharmacy benefit managers, continue to put pressure on the price and usage of healthcare products. Managed care organizations seek to contain healthcare expenditures, and their purchasing strength has been increasing due to their consolidation into fewer, larger organizations and a growing number of enrolled patients. We face similar issues outside of the United States. In Europe and Latin America, for example, the government provides healthcare at low cost to patients, and controls its expenditures by purchasing products through public tenders, collective purchasing, regulating prices, setting reference prices in public tenders or limiting reimbursement or patient access to certain products. Additionally, China has been implementing volume-based procurement policies and a series of centralized reforms on both a national and regional basis which have resulted in significant price cuts for pharmaceuticals and medical consumables. For further discussion, refer to Item 1A. Risk Factors of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Intellectual Property

Patents and other proprietary rights are essential to our business. We rely on patents, trademarks, copyrights, trade secrets, know-how and confidentiality agreements to develop, maintain and strengthen our competitive position. We own numerous patents and trademarks throughout the world and have entered into license arrangements relating to various third-party patents and technologies. Products manufactured by us are sold primarily under our own trademarks and trade names. Some products distributed by us are sold under our trade names, while others are sold under trade names owned by our suppliers or partners. Trade secret protection of unpatented confidential and proprietary information is also important to us. We maintain certain details about our processes, products and technology as trade secrets and generally require employees, consultants, and business partners to enter into confidentiality agreements. These agreements may be breached and we may not have adequate remedies for any breach. In addition, our trade secrets may otherwise become known or be independently discovered by competitors. To the extent that our employees, consultants, and business partners use intellectual property owned by others in their work for us, disputes may arise as to the rights in related or resulting know-how and inventions.

Our policy is to protect our products and technology through patents and trademarks on a worldwide basis. This protection is sought in a manner that balances the cost of such protection against obtaining the greatest value for us. We also recognize the need to promote the enforcement of our patents and trademarks and take commercially reasonable steps to enforce our patents and trademarks around the world against potential infringers, including judicial or administrative action where appropriate.

We operate in an industry susceptible to significant patent litigation. At any given time, we are involved as either a plaintiff or defendant in a number of patent infringement and other intellectual property-related actions. Such litigation can result in significant royalty or other payments or result in injunctions that can prevent the sale of products. For more information on patent and other litigation, see Note 8 in Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Research and Development

We believe our investment in research and development (R&D), consistent with our portfolio optimization and capital allocation strategies, will help fuel our future growth and our ability to remain competitive. Accordingly, we continue to focus our investment on select R&D programs to enhance future growth through clinical differentiation. Expenditures for our R&D activities were $590 million in 2024, $518 million in 2023, and $450 million in 2022. These expenditures include costs associated with R&D activities performed at our R&D centers located around the world, which include facilities in Belgium, India, Italy, Malta and the United States, as well as in-licensing, milestone and reimbursement payments made to partners for R&D work performed at non-Baxter locations. As discussed above in under "Recent Strategic Actions," in the third quarter of 2023, we implemented a new operating model intended to simplify and streamline our operations, including with respect to our R&D activities. We are also working to create a more resilient supply chain and better align our manufacturing footprint and supply chain to our commercial activities. These activities may result in the consolidation of one or more R&D facilities.

For more information on our R&D activities, refer to the discussion under the caption entitled "Strategic Objectives" in Item 7. Management's Discussion of Analysis and Financial Condition and Results of Operations of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Quality Management

Our continued success depends upon the quality of our products. Quality management plays an essential role in determining and meeting customer requirements, helping to prevent defects, facilitating continuing improvement of our processes, products and services, and helping to assure the safety and efficacy of our products. Our quality system enables the design, development, manufacturing, packaging, sterilization, handling, distribution and labeling of our products to help ensure that they conform to customer requirements. In order to consistently improve the effectiveness and efficiency of our quality system, various measurement, monitoring and analysis methods, such as management reviews and internal, external and vendor audits, are employed at local and central levels.

Each product that we market is required to meet specific quality standards, both in packaging and in product integrity and quality. If any of those is determined to be compromised at any time, we endeavor to take corrective and preventive actions designed to ensure compliance with regulatory requirements and to meet customer expectations. For more information on corrective actions taken by us, refer to the discussion under the caption entitled "Certain Regulatory Matters" in Item 7. Management's Discussion of Analysis and Financial Condition and Results of Operations of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Corporate Responsibility

Driven by our mission to save and sustain lives, Baxter's corporate responsibility strategy focuses on addressing corporate responsibility matters that affect our patients, customers, employees, communities and other critical stakeholders worldwide. Advancing our corporate responsibility goals contributes to business, social and economic value, including attraction and retention of employees, enhanced operational efficiency and implementation of enterprise risk management strategies, among others.

In 2021, we launched our 2030 Corporate Responsibility Commitment featuring strategic goals for focused action. Our Commitment is anchored by three pillars - Empower our Patients, Protect our Planet and Champion our People and Communities. The 2030 Corporate Responsibility Commitment and Goals highlight Baxter's corporate responsibility focus and help to further advance our corporate responsibility performance. We expect to announce a refreshed Corporate Responsibility commitment and goal set after the issuance of our 2024 Corporate Responsibility Report (to be issued in June 2025), either in a separate announcement or as part of the 2025 Corporate Responsibility Report. This timing should allow for a new, permanent CEO to have the opportunity to review and contribute to our commitment and goals and to reflect recent operational and other developments (including the recent Kidney Care sale). Our progress against our current goals and commitments is published annually in our Corporate Responsibility Report which is available on our website under "Our Story-Corporate Responsibility." The Corporate Responsibility Report is not incorporated by reference into this Annual Report on Form 10-K or any other document filed with the SEC.

Government Regulation

As a medical products company, our operations and many of the products manufactured or sold by us are subject to extensive regulation by numerous government agencies, both within and outside the United States. The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) in the United States, the European Medicines Agency (EMA) and the Medicines &

Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA) in Europe, the National Medical Products Administration (NMPA) in China and other government agencies, inside and outside of the United States, administer requirements covering the testing, safety, effectiveness, manufacturing, labeling, promotion and advertising, distribution and post-market surveillance of our products. We must obtain specific clearance, approval or other marketing authorization from FDA and non-U.S. regulatory authorities before we can market and sell most of our products in a particular country. Even after we obtain regulatory authorization to market a product, additional regulatory authorization may be necessary to maintain the product in the market, including additional 501(k) clearances, new drug approval (NDA) supplements, and other regulatory submissions. In addition, the raw materials, manufacturing facilities, processes and quality systems used in the manufacture of a product are subject to continued review by FDA and other regulatory authorities globally. State agencies in the United States also regulate our facilities, operations, employees, products and services within their respective states. We, along with our facilities, are subject to periodic inspections and possible administrative and legal actions by FDA and other regulatory agencies inside and outside the United States. Such actions may include warning letters, product recalls or seizures, monetary sanctions, injunctions to halt the manufacture and distribution of products, civil or criminal sanctions, refusal of a government to grant approvals or licenses, restrictions on operations or withdrawal of existing approvals and licenses. As situations require, we take steps to ensure the safety and efficacy of our products, such as removing products from the market that are found not to meet applicable requirements and improving the effectiveness of quality systems. For more information on compliance actions taken by us, refer to the discussion under the caption entitled "Certain Regulatory Matters" in Item 7. Management's Discussion of Analysis and Financial Condition and Results of Operations of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

We are also subject to various laws inside and outside the United States concerning our relationships with healthcare professionals and government officials, price reporting and regulation, the promotion, sales and marketing of our products and services, the importation and exportation of products, the operation of our facilities and the distribution of products. In the United States, we are subject to the oversight of FDA, Office of the Inspector General within the Department of Health and Human Services (OIG), the Center for Medicare/Medicaid Services (CMS), the Department of Justice (DOJ), Environmental Protection Agency, Department of Defense and Customs and Border Protection in addition to others. We supply products and services to healthcare providers that are reimbursed by federally funded programs such as Medicare. As a result, our activities are subject to regulation by CMS and enforcement by OIG and DOJ. In each jurisdiction outside the United States, our activities are subject to regulation by government agencies including the EMA and MHRA in Europe, NMPA in China and other agencies in other jurisdictions. Many of the agencies enforcing these laws have increased their enforcement activities with respect to healthcare companies in recent years. These actions appear to be part of a general trend toward increased enforcement activity globally.

Our operations involve the use of substances regulated under environmental laws, primarily in manufacturing and sterilization processes. Our environmental policies require compliance with all applicable environmental regulations and contemplate, among other things, appropriate capital expenditures for environmental protection.

Human Capital Management

As of December 31, 2024, after giving effect to the Kidney Care sale, we employed approximately 38,000 people globally, with approximately 15,000 employees in the United States and approximately 23,000 employees outside of the United States. Our employees set the foundation for our ability to achieve our strategic objectives. They contribute to our success and are instrumental in driving operational execution and our ability to deliver strong financial performance, advancing innovation and maintaining a strong quality and compliance program across our organization.

The success and growth of our business depends in large part on our ability to attract, retain and develop talented and high-performing employees at all levels of our organization with a myriad of backgrounds and experiences, including the individuals who comprise our global workforce as well as executive officers and other key personnel. To succeed in a competitive labor market, we have developed recruitment and retention strategies, objectives and measures that we focus on as part of the overall management of our business. These strategies, objectives and measures form our human capital management framework and are advanced through the following programs, policies and initiatives:

- Competitive Pay and Benefits. Our compensation programs are designed to align the compensation of our employees with our performance and to provide the proper incentives to attract, retain and motivate employees to achieve superior results. The structure of our compensation programs balances incentive earnings for both short-term and long-term performance.

- Health and Safety. Health and safety are firmly rooted across our global footprint. We aim for a zero-harm workplace and prioritize the elimination of risks and incident precursors to drive improvement. In 2024, Baxter focused on employee engagement, hazard identification and accelerated technology deployment to better understand and address top health and safety risk areas. We have continued to mobilize our hazard identification program for our operational workforce, in concert with a centralized corrective action tracking tool. These improvements have enabled us to harvest actionable insights, support ergonomic evaluations and implement safety control technology for improved operation of our powered industrial vehicles.
- Recruitment, Training and Development. We use recruitment vehicles to attract talent to our organization and we prioritize learning opportunities that foster a growth mindset. Our formal offerings include a tuition reimbursement program, an e-learning platform known as BaxU and virtual workshops that support our culture, strategy and the development of crucial skills. To assess the impact of the investments we make in our people, and to help us consistently improve our human resources programs, we regularly conduct anonymous surveys of our global workforce to seek feedback on a variety of topics including confidence in our leadership, competitiveness of our compensation and benefits packages, career growth opportunities and improvements on how we can make our company an employer of choice. Administered and analyzed by an independent third-party, the survey results are reviewed by our senior leaders, which include our executive officers. Summaries of select surveys are also provided to our Board of Directors. The results of this engagement survey are also shared with individual managers, who are then tasked with taking action based on their employees' anonymous feedback.

Risks Relating to Our Recent and Ongoing Strategic Actions

We are exposed to risks as a result of our strategic actions, including the recent sale of our Kidney Care business.

Our businesses have begun to face, and will continue to face, material challenges in connection with the sale of our Kidney Care business and the other strategic actions we have undertaken (including the implementation of a simplified operating model and the ongoing simplification of our manufacturing footprint). The success of the sale of our Kidney Care business depends on, among other things, our ability to effectively transition the Kidney Care business to Carlyle in a manner that: minimizes disruption to our customers, employees, other personnel and operations; realizes the expected tax benefits; avoids potential liabilities or claims; and enables us to achieve related cost savings initiatives. The Kidney Care sale may result in challenges such as: the diversion of management's attention from our ongoing business concerns and any newly identified strategic initiatives; attracting, retaining and motivating key management and other employees; retaining existing, or attracting new, business and operational relationships, including with customers, suppliers, employees and other counterparties; maintaining our relationships with regulators; the potential for disputes or litigation with Carlyle or Vantive, as applicable, arising from the transaction, the EPA or the various agreements (including a transition services agreement and a manufacturing and supply agreement) that we entered into with Vantive in connection with the Kidney Care closing (as further described below) and liabilities and obligations otherwise related to the transaction, the EPA or the other agreements described in this paragraph; the potential for exposure related to certain pre-closing Kidney Care liabilities we retained; the potential for adverse tax consequences or changes in tax laws or regulations that could affect our remaining businesses; the potential for regulatory actions or investigations related to the transaction or the businesses involved; and potential negative reactions from the financial markets, ratings agencies, customers, employees, other personnel or other stakeholders.

In addition, in the last few years, we have undertaken other strategic and business transformation actions (including the divestiture of our BPS business, the acquisition of Hillrom and cost reduction initiatives) that have entailed changes across our organizational structure, senior leadership, culture, functional alignment, outsourcing and other areas. These actions pose risks in the form of personnel capacity constraints and institutional knowledge loss that has led to, and could in the future lead to, missed performance of financial targets (including those related to cost savings initiatives) and harm to our reputation.

In connection with the closing of the Kidney Care sale, we entered into certain agreements as described above (including a transition services agreement and a manufacturing and supply agreement). These agreements provide for the performance of services, and the provision of certain dialysis-related products, other products and product components, by each company for the benefit of the other for a period of time. If Vantive is unable to satisfy its obligations under these agreements, including its supply and indemnification obligations, we could incur losses. Additionally, in the event that Vantive asserts claims for breaches of any of these agreements, our indemnity obligations and other liabilities to Vantive under these agreements could be significant. These arrangements could also lead to disputes over rights to certain shared property and rights and over the allocation of costs and revenues for products and operations. Our inability to effectively manage these activities and related events could adversely affect our business, financial condition or results of operations.

We have incurred, and will continue to incur, significant expenses in connection with the sale of our Kidney Care business. For example, we will continue to incur the costs of providing transition services, products and product components to Vantive under the agreements described above and other stranded costs that we will no longer be able to share with the Kidney Care business and which we may not be able to fully offset. Such expenses have been significant, and may continue to grow. In addition, the anticipated benefits of the sale are based on a number of assumptions, some of which may prove incorrect, and we cannot predict with certainty when the expected benefits will occur, or the extent to which they will be achieved. As a result, even with the completed sale of the Kidney Care business, we may not achieve some or all of the anticipated strategic, financial, operational or other benefits in the expected timeframe, or at all, which could adversely impact our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows. Further, the sale of the Kidney Care business results in a smaller, less diversified company, with more limited and concentrated businesses than before the transaction, which may leave us more vulnerable to changing market conditions.

Additionally, until the market has fully analyzed our valuation following the sale of the Kidney Care business, the price of our common stock may continue to fluctuate even after a sufficient amount of time has passed for the market to fully analyze our valuation following the sale of the Kidney Care business. Our common stock may not match some holders' investment strategies or meet minimum criteria for inclusion in stock market indices or portfolios, causing certain investors to sell their shares, which could in turn lead to declines in the trading price of such stock. Furthermore, with the sale having decreased the diversification of our revenues, costs and cash flows, our operations, cash flows, working capital, effective tax rate and financing requirements may be subject to increased volatility, and our ability to fund capital expenditures and investments, pay dividends and meet debt obligations and other liabilities may be diminished.

We may continue to experience difficulties with our ongoing integration of Hillrom or fail to realize the anticipated benefits of the Hillrom acquisition.

During 2021, we completed the acquisition of Hillrom. The success of this acquisition depends on, among other things, our ability to complete the integration of Hillrom in a manner that facilitates growth opportunities, realizes anticipated cost and revenue synergies and achieves certain previously communicated net leverage targets without adversely affecting current revenues and investments in future growth. If we are not able to successfully achieve these objectives (including completing the ongoing integration), the anticipated benefits of the Hillrom acquisition may not be realized fully, or at all, or may take longer to realize than expected.

There is a significant degree of difficulty and management distraction inherent in the process of integrating an acquisition. The integration of Hillrom into our operations is complex and time-consuming and certain aspects have taken longer than originally anticipated and have required more effort than was originally planned. Challenges associated with our integration efforts are also heightened due to the other strategic actions we have recently completed (including the sale of our Kidney Care business). This has resulted in, and may continue to result in, additional expenses and other difficulties as we work to complete the integration, including challenges consolidating certain operations and functions (including regulatory and other corporate functions), integrating technologies (including differing information technology systems and processes), organizations, procedures, policies and operations and addressing differences in the business cultures of the two companies, any of which could adversely affect our ability to achieve the anticipated benefits of the acquisition. The integration process and other disruptions resulting from the Hillrom acquisition and our recently completed strategic initiatives also disrupt our ongoing businesses and could cause inconsistencies in standards, controls, procedures and policies that adversely affect our relationships with market participants, employees, regulators and others with whom we have business or other dealings. Any failure to successfully or cost-effectively integrate Hillrom could have a material adverse effect on our business and cause reputational harm.

If our business strategy and development activities are unsuccessful, our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows could be adversely affected.

While we remain committed to deleveraging, we expect to engage in significant business development activities over the longer term in a manner that is consistent with our net leverage targets, including evaluating acquisitions, joint development opportunities, technology licensing arrangements and other opportunities, such as potential divestitures and targeted market exits as we look to optimize our product portfolio and improve our operating margins. These activities may result in substantial investment of our resources. Our success developing products, expanding into new markets and optimizing our market presence from such activities will depend on a number of factors, including our ability to find suitable opportunities or partners for acquisition, investment, alliance or divestiture; competition from other companies in the industries in which we operate that are seeking similar opportunities; whether we are able to complete an acquisition, investment, alliance or divestiture on terms that are satisfactory to us or at all; the strength of the underlying technology and products of any of the other parties involved in a transaction, as well as their ability to execute their business strategies; any intellectual property and litigation related to any other party's products or technology; and our ability to successfully integrate the acquired company, business, product, technology or research into our existing operations (or to divest such company, business, product, technology or research from our existing operations), including the ability to adequately fund acquired in-process R&D projects and to maintain adequate controls over the combined operations. Certain of these activities are subject to antitrust and competition laws, which could impact our ability to pursue strategic transactions and could result in mandated divestitures in the context of proposed acquisitions. Additionally, certain divestitures could result in negative market or regulatory reactions. If we are unsuccessful in our business development activities, we may not realize the intended benefits of such activities, including that acquisition and integration or divestiture costs may be greater than expected or the possibility that the expected return on investment, synergies and accretion will not be realized or will not be realized within the expected timeframes. For more information, see Note 3 in Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Risks Relating to Our Financial Performance and Our Common Stock

Global economic conditions, including inflation and supply chain disruptions, have adversely affected, and could continue to adversely affect, our operations.

General global economic downturns and macroeconomic trends, including heightened inflation, capital markets volatility, interest rate and currency rate fluctuations, changes in monetary policy and economic slowdown or recession, have resulted in, and may continue to result in, unfavorable conditions that negatively affect demand for our products and exacerbate other risks described in this "Risk Factors" section that affect our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows. Both domestic and international markets have been experiencing significant inflationary pressures in recent years and inflation rates in the U.S., as well as in other countries in which we operate, are currently expected to continue at elevated levels for the near term. In addition, increases in interest rates and volatility in currency exchange rates have negatively impacted, and may continue to negatively impact, our results of operations. See "Risks Relating to Our Financial Performance and Our Common Stock – Changes in foreign currency exchange rates and interest rates have had, and may in the future have, an adverse effect on our results of operations, financial condition, cash flows and liquidity".

We have experienced significant challenges to our global supply chain in recent periods, including production delays and interruptions, increased costs and shortages of raw materials and component parts (including resins and electromechanical devices), heightened inventory levels to reduce the risk of patient supply disruption and higher transportation and labor costs, resulting from significant weather events (including Hurricane Helene), elevated inflation levels, disruptions to certain ports of call around the world, the war in Ukraine, the conflict in the Middle East and other geopolitical events. Due to the nature of our products, which include dense consumable medical products such as IV fluids, and the geographic locations of our manufacturing, storage and distribution facilities, which were further consolidated in anticipation of the recent Kidney Care sale and which often require us to transport our products long distances, we may be more susceptible to increases in freight costs and other supply

On February 17, 2023, The Utah Board of Pharmacy issued a citation for failure to timely notify the Board of the change in designated representative at the Baxter Byhalia, MS location. Baxter paid the fine and is waiting for the final signed order.

Utah, Pharmacy Class C License # 9451291-1710, 2022

On May 31, 2022, The Utah Department of Commerce issued a Citation and Order due to a failure to file a timely notification of the change in the designated representative at the Baxter - Hayward (W. Winton) location. Baxter resolved the matter and paid a reduced fine.

Idaho, Out of State Mail Service Pharmacy License # 36855MS, 2022

On March 3, 2022, The Idaho Board of Pharmacy issued an Order and Stipulation for violations stemming from an expired non-resident PIC registration. The registration has since been approved by the Board. Baxter has signed the Stipulation and paid the required fine.

Alabama, Permit #194460, 2022

On May 3, 2022, The Alabama Board of Pharmacy issued a citation for failure to notify the Board of the change in designated representative at the Baxter – Hayward (W. Winton location). Baxter resolved the matter and paid the required fine.

Georgia, Wholesaler Pharmacy License # PHWH001754, 2017

In January 2017, Baxter Healthcare Corporation (Baxter) agreed to resolve claims with the U.S. Department of Justice related to quality and manufacturing practices at Baxter's manufacturing facility in Marion, North Carolina in 2011-2012. Specifically, the government charged that between July 2011 and November 2012, Baxter did not follow cGMP requirements under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FDCA) when manufacturing certain large volume intravenous (IV) solutions. Briefly, a Baxter employee reported to plant personnel the presence of mold on HEPA filters installed in the ceiling, and Baxter continued to manufacture IV solutions while those filters remained in place. There was no evidence of any impact on the IV solutions. Copies of the settlement documents, which include a deferred prosecution agreement to resolve a single misdemeanor count of noncompliance with the FDCA, are available on the U.S. Department of Justice's website at https://www.justice.gov/opa/pr/baxter-healthcare-corporation-pay-more-18-million-resolve-criminal-and-civil-liability. The deferred prosecution agreement expired in July 2019, and the misdemeanor charge was dismissed with prejudice. This issue is unrelated to Baxter's pharmacy or wholesale activities.

Baxter disclosed this issue on a renewal application for a Georgia wholesale license for its Marion, NC facility, and in October 2017, the state of Georgia issued a disciplinary order against that license (PHWH001754) based on the disclosure.

Please note that this issue is unrelated to Baxter's pharmacy or wholesale activities. Iowa,

Nonresident Pharmacy License # 4127, 2014

The Iowa Board of Pharmacy (the "Iowa Board") issued a Stipulation for Baxter's Omaha, Nebraska pharmacy due to improperly delegating final verification of prescriptions for peritoneal dialysis solutions to a pharmacy technician. The Omaha facility is licensed in Nebraska under a Delegated Dispensing Permit, and utilized multiple quality checks, including retrospective pharmacist review, to ensure proper dispensing of peritoneal dialysis products to patients. Upon request by the Iowa Board, Baxter promptly modified its operations to ensure pharmacist verification of all orders. Baxter has signed the Stipulation and paid the required fine.

Montana, License #2152, 2010

The Montana Board of Pharmacy (the "Montana Board") issued a Stipulation for violations stemming from the failure of Baxter to notify the Montana Board in the requisite time frame of a change in the designated Person-in-Charge for the Waukegan, IL facility. Baxter has signed the Stipulation and paid the required fine.

Alabama, License #191639, 2009

The Alabama Board of Pharmacy found the Buford, GA facility was in violation of Code of Alabama (1975) Section 34-23-32. The facility continued distribution operations during the time between the valid license expired and when the expired license was renewed. Baxter Healthcare renewed the license, signed a Consent Order and paid the applicable fine.

Florida, Non-Resident Drug Manufacturer Permit No.: 26:4672, 2009

The Florida Department of Health (the "Florida Department") alleged that Baxter (Memphis, TN) sold prescription drugs to an unpermitted facility in Florida in violation of Section 499.005(15), F.S. Specifically, the Florida Department alleged that Baxter sold prescription drugs to Invivo at an unpermitted location. Baxter entered into a settlement agreement, whereby it neither admitted nor denied the allegations, and paid a fine.

Louisiana, License #3691, 2008

Louisiana Board of Wholesale Drug Distributors conducted a routine inspection of the f[illegible] operated by Baxter's third-party logistics provider. Inspectors concluded Baxter (Round Lake, IL) violated Louisiana Administrative Code 46:XCI.311.D, which requires a licensee to maintain copies of current licenses for its customers who are authorized to obtain and possess legend drugs and devices. Baxter obtained customer licenses, signed a Consent Order, and paid the applicable fine.

Missouri, License #2005002668, 2005

The Missouri Board of Pharmacy (the "Missouri Board") issued a restricted drug distributor license to the facility located in Memphis, TN. The Missouri Board determined the facility violated Section 338.333.1 and 338.337.1 RSMo because the facility shipped legend drugs and/or medical devices into the state without being properly licensed. The proper license was obtained. The probationary period was successfully completed on October 21, 2007 and the restriction on the license was removed.

State Non-Disciplinary Settlements for Memphis Facility

Florida, License #s 26:506 (Memphis, TN) and 26:384 (Marion, NC), 2015

In June 2015, the Florida Department of Business and Professional Regulation (the "Department") sent Notices of Violation to Baxter alleging the shipment of prescription drugs to a Baptist Health South Florida, Inc. ("Baptist"), prior to Baptist receiving its permit to operate as a restricted prescription drug distributor — health care entity. Baxter had shipped products to the Baptist address under the valid medical license of the Medical Director, in reliance on a document evidencing the Medical Director's intent that he serve as the purchaser of the product. In August 2015, Baxter and the Department resolved the matter via a non-disciplinary settlement.

Other Actions: Dismissed Charge of Drug Law Violation

In January 2017, Baxter Healthcare Corporation (Baxter) agreed to resolve claims with the U.S. Department of Justice related to quality and manufacturing practices at Baxter's manufacturing facility in Marion, North Carolina in 2011-2012. Specifically, the government charged that between July 2011 and November 2012, Baxter did not follow cGMP requirements under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FDCA) when manufacturing certain large volume intravenous (IV) solutions. Briefly, a Baxter employee reported to plant personnel the presence of mold on HEPA filters installed in the ceiling, and Baxter continued to manufacture IV solutions while those filters remained in place. The deferred prosecution agreement expired in July 2019, and the misdemeanor charge was dismissed with prejudice.

Please note that this issue is unrelated to Baxter's pharmacy or wholesale activities, or the facility that is the subject of this application.

Item 1. Business.

Company Overview

Baxter International Inc., through its subsidiaries, provides a broad portfolio of essential healthcare products, including sterile intravenous (IV) solutions; infusion systems and devices; parenteral nutrition therapies; inhaled anesthetics; generic injectable pharmaceuticals; surgical hemostat and sealant products, advanced surgical equipment; smart bed systems; patient monitoring and diagnostic technologies; and respiratory health devices. These products are used by hospitals, nursing homes, rehabilitation centers, ambulatory surgery centers, doctors' offices, kidney dialysis centers and patients at home under physician supervision. Our global footprint and the critical nature of our products and services play a key role in expanding access to healthcare in emerging and developed countries. As of December 31, 2024, after giving effect to the recent sale of our Kidney Care business (as discussed below), we manufactured products in over 20 countries and sold them in over 100 countries.

Baxter International Inc. was incorporated under Delaware law in 1931. As used in this report, "Baxter International" means Baxter International Inc. and "we", "our" or "us" means Baxter International and its consolidated subsidiaries, unless the context otherwise requires.

Recent Strategic Actions

In mid-2022, our Board of Directors authorized a strategic review of our business portfolio, with the goal of increasing stockholder value. As part of that review process, we identified and evaluated a range of potential strategic actions, including opportunities for sales and other separation transactions. In January 2023, following the completion of that review, we announced a number of planned strategic actions, as discussed below, which are intended to enhance our operational effectiveness, accelerate innovation and drive additional stockholder value. We completed the last of these strategic actions on January 31, 2025 in connection with the sale of our Kidney Care business.

Sale of Kidney Care Business

On August 12, 2024, we entered into an Equity Purchase Agreement (EPA) with certain affiliates of Carlyle Group Inc. (Carlyle) to sell our Kidney Care business. That business, which is now known as Vantive Health LLC (Vantive) is comprised of our former Kidney Care segment and provides chronic and acute dialysis therapies and services, including peritoneal dialysis, hemodialysis, continuous renal replacement therapies, and other organ support therapies. On January 31, 2025, we completed the sale of our Kidney Care business to Carlyle for an aggregate purchase price of $3.80 billion in cash, subject to certain closing cash, working capital and debt adjustments. After giving effect to certain adjustments, we received approximately $3.71 billion pre-tax cash proceeds at closing of the transaction with the net after tax proceeds currently estimated to be approximately $3.4 billion, subject to certain post-closing adjustments. We determined that our Kidney Care business met the criteria to be classified as held-for-sale in August 2024, and we also concluded that it met the conditions to be reported as a discontinued operation at that time. Accordingly, our Kidney Care business is reported in discontinued operations in the accompanying consolidated financial systems, and our prior period results have been adjusted to reflect discontinued operations presentation.

Implementation of New Operating Model and Resulting Segment Change

Our reportable segments were previously comprised of the following geographic segments related to our legacy Baxter business: Americes (North and South America), EMEA (Europe, Middle East and Africa) and APAC (Asia Pacific), and a global segment for the Hill-Rom Holdings, Inc. (Hillrom) business we acquired in December 2021. In the third quarter of 2023, we completed the implementation of a new operating model intended to simplify and streamline our operations and better align our manufacturing and supply chain to our commercial activities. Under this operating model, our business is currently comprised of three reportable segments: Medical Products & Therapies, Healthcare Systems & Technologies, and Pharmaceuticals. Our segment reporting was changed during the third quarter of 2023 to align with our new operating model, and all periods presented are under the new operating model.

Sale of BPS Business

On September 29, 2023, we completed the sale of our BioPharma Solutions (BPS) business and received cash proceeds of $3.96 billion from that transaction. The results of operations and cash flows of our BPS business, including the $2.88 billion pre-tax gain ($2.59 billion net of tax) from the sale of that business and the related cash proceeds received, are reported as discontinued operations in the accompanying consolidated financial statements. We used substantially all of the after-tax proceeds from this transaction to repay certain of our debt obligations, including $514 million of commercial paper borrowings and $2.28 billion of long-term debt that we repaid during the fourth quarter of 2023, as well as €750 million of senior notes that we repaid during the second quarter of 2024.

Business Segments and Products

We currently manage our global operations based on three reportable segments: Medical Products & Therapies, Healthcare Systems & Technologies and Pharmaceuticals.

The Medical Products & Therapies segment includes sales of our sterile IV solutions, infusion systems, administration sets, parenteral nutrition therapies and surgical hemostat, sealant and adhesion prevention products. The Healthcare Systems & Technologies segment includes sales of our connected care solutions and collaboration tools, including smart bed systems, patient monitoring systems and diagnostic technologies, respiratory health devices and advanced equipment for the surgical space, including surgical video technologies, precision positioning devices and other accessories. The Pharmaceuticals segment includes sales of specialty injectable pharmaceuticals, inhaled anesthetics and drug compounding services.

For financial information about our segments, see Note 18 in Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Business Strategy

Our business strategy is focused on driving sustainable growth and innovation aligned with our mission to save and sustain lives and our vision to transform healthcare with a customer focus to help improve patient outcomes, enhance workflow efficiency, and enable cost-effective care. Our diversified and broad portfolio of medical products that treat acute or chronic conditions and our global presence are core components of our strategy as we work to achieve these objectives. We are focused on key strategic pillars as part of our pursuit of industry leading performance: innovation; operational efficiency; and capital allocation.

Innovation

Our innovation strategy, which encompasses both organic and inorganic initiatives, is focused on accelerating our sales growth through the introduction of new connected care and core therapy offerings. Connected care offerings include devices or software that can digitally connect, communicate and/or analyze data to help transform healthcare and improve patient outcomes, and we are continuing to build out our connected care portfolio offerings, which includes smart bed systems, infusion pumps, patient monitoring and diagnostic technologies, respiratory health devices and advanced equipment for the surgical space. Our core therapy product offerings include pharmaceuticals and consumable medical products designed to address essential patient and provider needs across the continuum of care.

As part of this strategy, we are prioritizing investments that drive innovation in product areas where we believe we have compelling opportunities to better serve patients and healthcare professionals, particularly in markets with higher growth rates. We are working to accelerate the pace at which we bring these advances to market to support our future growth. We are in the midst of launching (or have recently launched) several new products, geographic expansions and line extensions in areas such as smart pump technology, hospital pharmaceuticals and nutritionals, surgical sealants, smart beds, respiratory vests and more. These comprise a mix of entirely new product offerings and meaningful improvements to existing technologies.

Portfolio Optimization

Our strategy also involves active portfolio management in the interest of maximizing value for Baxter stockholders and best positioning Baxter for long-term success. The recent Kidney Care sale has given us enhanced flexibility to deploy (or in some cases redeploy) capital toward opportunities that seek to accelerate our growth objectives, whether as a result of innovation or expanding our portfolio geographically or as a result of channel expansion or market development activities.

Operational Excellence

As discussed above under "Recent Strategic Actions," in the third quarter of 2023, we implemented a new operating model intended to simplify and streamline our operations and better align our manufacturing and supply chain to our commercial activities. We believe these changes will allow us to be a more integrated and nimble organization that can respond more effectively to operational challenges and changes in the macroeconomic environment while enhancing our ability to drive innovation in our product portfolio. We also continue to focus on increasing efficiencies through automation and digitization. We intend to continue to actively manage our cost structure and strive to commit resources to the highest value uses. Such high value activities include supporting innovation, actively managing the portfolio, expanding patient access and accelerating growth for our stockholders.

Maintaining Disciplined and Balanced Capital Allocation

Subject to market conditions and our investment grade targets, our capital allocation strategies currently include the following:

- debt repayments to support our deleveraging commitments;
- active portfolio management through the identification of attractive acquisition and divestiture transactions, including the recent divestitures of our BPS and Kidney Care businesses; and
- returning capital to stockholders through dividends, while balancing any returns with other strategic actions we take. We also intend to reinstate share repurchases over the longer term.

We paid down $3.65 billion of net debt during 2024 and through February 21, 2025 using proceeds from the sales of our BPS and Kidney Care businesses, and we are committed to retaining our investment grade rating, including taking actions toward achieving a net leverage target of approximately 3.0x by the end of 2025 through ongoing debt repayment and financing activities. During this deleveraging period, we currently intend to continue paying a dividend (which we reduced in November 2024), not make any share repurchases and be highly selective with respect to any potential acquisitions.

Sales and Distribution

We have our own direct sales force and also make sales to and through independent distributors, drug wholesalers acting as sales agents and specialty pharmacy or other alternate site providers. In the United States, third parties, such as Cardinal Health, Inc., warehouse and ship a significant portion of our products through their distribution centers. These centers are generally stocked with adequate inventories to facilitate prompt customer service. Sales and distribution methods include frequent contact by sales and customer service representatives, automated communications via various electronic purchasing systems, circulation of catalogs and merchandising bulletins, direct-mail campaigns, trade publication presence and advertising.

Sales are made and products are distributed on a direct basis or through independent distributors or sales agents in more than 100 countries as of December 31, 2024, giving effect to the sale of our Kidney Care business.

International Operations

A significant portion of our revenues are generated outside of the United States and thoughtful geographic expansion remains a key component of our strategy. Our international presence includes operations in Europe, the Middle East, Africa, Asia-Pacific, Latin America and Canada. We are subject to certain risks inherent in conducting business outside the United States. For more information on these risks, see the information under the captions "Risks Relating to Our Business—We are subject to risks associated with doing business globally" and "—Changes in foreign currency exchange rates and interest rates have had, and may in the future have, an adverse effect on our results of operations, financial condition, cash flows and liquidity" in Item 1A. Risk Factors of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

For financial information about our foreign and domestic revenues and segment information, see Note 18, in Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K. For more information regarding foreign currency exchange risk, refer to the discussion under the caption entitled "Financial Instrument Market Risk" in Item 7. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Contractual Arrangements

Our products are sold through contracts with customers, both within and outside the United States. Some of these contracts have terms of more than one year and place limits on our ability to increase prices. In the case of hospitals, governments and other facilities, these contracts may specify minimum quantities of a particular product or categories of products to be purchased by the customer.

In keeping with the increased emphasis on cost-effectiveness in healthcare delivery, many hospitals and other customers of medical products in the United States have joined group purchasing organizations (GPOs), or formed integrated delivery networks (IDNs), to enhance purchasing power. GPOs and IDNs negotiate pricing arrangements with manufacturers and distributors and the negotiated prices are made available to members. We have purchasing agreements with several of the major GPOs in the United States, which are subject to renewal from time to time. GPOs may have agreements with more than one supplier for certain products. Accordingly, in these cases, we face competition from other suppliers even where a customer is a member of a GPO under contract with us, which may constrain our ability to secure negotiated price increases. Purchasing power is similarly consolidated in many other countries. For example, public contracting authorities often act as the purchasing entities for the hospitals and other customers of medical products in their region and many hospitals and other customers have joined joint procurement entities and buying consortia. The result is that demand for healthcare products is increasingly concentrated across our markets globally. Additionally, our contractual pricing arrangements with GPOs, IDNs and public contracting authorities can sometimes limit our ability to increase prices in order to offset raw materials or component price increases or otherwise. Some of these agreements contain failure to supply clauses with varying remedies, inclusive of limited termination rights.

Raw Materials and Component Parts

Raw materials and component parts essential to our business are purchased from numerous suppliers worldwide in the ordinary course of business. While many of these materials are generally available, we have experienced and may in the future experience shortages of supply. Additionally, certain of these materials are secured from single source suppliers or on a spot basis and not pursuant to a contractual arrangement.

In an effort to manage risk associated with raw materials and component supply, we work closely with our suppliers to help ensure availability and continuity of supply while maintaining high quality and reliability. We also seek to develop new and alternative sources of supply where beneficial to our overall raw materials procurement strategy. Refer to Item 1A. Risk Factors of this Annual Report on Form 10-K for further information regarding risks related to the supply chain, raw materials and component parts (including with respect to the qualification of any new or alternative supplier).

We are not always able to recover cost increases for raw materials and component parts through customer pricing due to contractual limits, where applicable, and market forces. For example, during 2022 and 2023, our profit margins were adversely impacted because we were unable to fully offset all related cost increases resulting from the high inflationary environment through customer pricing adjustments or other pricing actions. Additionally, our profit margins were negatively impacted in the fourth quarter of 2024 (and may continue to be negatively impacted in the short term) because we were unable to fully offset the increased supply chain costs associated with our ongoing North Cove recovery efforts (including as a result of importing additional product from outside the United States to support IV solutions demand). We seek to utilize long-term supply contracts with some suppliers to help maintain continuity of supply and manage the risk of price increases. Our ability to do so in the face of limited supply of certain raw materials and component parts and inflationary environment has been and may in the future be limited.

Competition and Healthcare Cost Containment

Our businesses benefit from a number of competitive advantages, including the breadth and depth of our product offerings and our strong relationships with customers, including hospitals and clinics, GPOs, IDNs, physicians and patients, many of whom self-administer home-based therapies that we supply. We also benefit from efficiencies and cost advantages resulting from shared manufacturing facilities and the technological advantages of our products.

Although no single company competes with us in all of our businesses, we face substantial competition in each of our segments from international and domestic healthcare, medical products and pharmaceutical companies and providers of all sizes, and these competitors often differ across our businesses. In addition, global and regional competitors continue to expand their manufacturing capacity and sales and marketing channels. We believe customer purchasing decisions are primarily focused on cost-effectiveness, price, service, product performance and technological innovation. There has been consolidation in our customer base and by our competitors, which has resulted and continues to result in pricing and market pressures.

1. Global efforts toward healthcare cost containment continue to exert pressure on product pricing. Governments around the world use various mechanisms to control healthcare expenditures, such as price controls, the formation of public contracting authorities, product formularies (lists of recommended or approved products), and competitive tenders which require the submission of a bid to sell products. Sales of our products are dependent, in part, on the availability of reimbursement by government agencies and healthcare programs, as well as insurance companies and other private payers. In the United States, the federal government and many states have adopted or proposed initiatives relating to Medicaid and other health programs that may limit reimbursement or increase rebates that we and other providers are required to pay to the state. In addition to government regulation, managed care organizations in the United States, which include medical insurance companies, medical plan administrators, health-maintenance organizations, hospital and physician alliances and pharmacy benefit managers, continue to put pressure on the price and usage of healthcare products. Managed care organizations seek to contain healthcare expenditures, and their purchasing strength has been increasing due to their consolidation into fewer, larger organizations and a growing number of enrolled patients. We face similar issues outside of the United States. In Europe and Latin America, for example, the government provides healthcare at low cost to patients, and controls its expenditures by purchasing products through public tenders, collective purchasing, regulating prices, setting reference prices in public tenders or limiting reimbursement or patient access to certain products. Additionally, China has been implementing volume-based procurement policies and a series of centralized reforms on both a national and regional basis which have resulted in significant price cuts for pharmaceuticals and medical consumables. For further discussion, refer to Item 1A. Risk Factors of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Intellectual Property

Patents and other proprietary rights are essential to our business. We rely on patents, trademarks, copyrights, trade secrets, know-how and confidentiality agreements to develop, maintain and strengthen our competitive position. We own numerous patents and trademarks throughout the world and have entered into license arrangements relating to various third-party patents and technologies. Products manufactured by us are sold primarily under our own trademarks and trade names. Some products distributed by us are sold under our trade names, while others are sold under trade names owned by our suppliers or partners. Trade secret protection of unpatented confidential and proprietary information is also important to us. We maintain certain details about our processes, products and technology as trade secrets and generally require employees, consultants, and business partners to enter into confidentiality agreements. These agreements may be breached and we may not have adequate remedies for any breach. In addition, our trade secrets may otherwise become known or be independently discovered by competitors. To the extent that our employees, consultants, and business partners use intellectual property owned by others in their work for us, disputes may arise as to the rights in related or resulting know-how and inventions.

Our policy is to protect our products and technology through patents and trademarks on a worldwide basis. This protection is sought in a manner that balances the cost of such protection against obtaining the greatest value for us. We also recognize the need to promote the enforcement of our patents and trademarks and take commercially reasonable steps to enforce our patents and trademarks around the world against potential infringers, including judicial or administrative action where appropriate.

We operate in an industry susceptible to significant patent litigation. At any given time, we are involved as either a plaintiff or defendant in a number of patent infringement and other intellectual property-related actions. Such litigation can result in significant royalty or other payments or result in injunctions that can prevent the sale of products. For more information on patent and other litigation, see Note 8 in Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Research and Development

We believe our investment in research and development (R&D), consistent with our portfolio optimization and capital allocation strategies, will help fuel our future growth and our ability to remain competitive. Accordingly, we continue to focus our investment on select R&D programs to enhance future growth through clinical differentiation. Expenditures for our R&D activities were $590 million in 2024, $518 million in 2023, and $450 million in 2022. These expenditures include costs associated with R&D activities performed at our R&D centers located around the world, which include facilities in Belgium, India, Italy, Malta and the United States, as well as in-licensing, milestone and reimbursement payments made to partners for R&D work performed at non-Baxter locations. As discussed above in under "Recent Strategic Actions," in the third quarter of 2023, we implemented a new operating model intended to simplify and streamline our operations, including with respect to our R&D activities. We are also working to create a more resilient supply chain and better align our manufacturing footprint and supply chain to our commercial activities. These activities may result in the consolidation of one or more R&D facilities.

For more information on our R&D activities, refer to the discussion under the caption entitled "Strategic Objectives" in Item 7. Management's Discussion of Analysis and Financial Condition and Results of Operations of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Quality Management

Our continued success depends upon the quality of our products. Quality management plays an essential role in determining and meeting customer requirements, helping to prevent defects, facilitating continuing improvement of our processes, products and services, and helping to assure the safety and efficacy of our products. Our quality system enables the design, development, manufacturing, packaging, sterilization, handling, distribution and labeling of our products to help ensure that they conform to customer requirements. In order to consistently improve the effectiveness and efficiency of our quality system, various measurement, monitoring and analysis methods, such as management reviews and internal, external and vendor audits, are employed at local and central levels.

Each product that we market is required to meet specific quality standards, both in packaging and in product integrity and quality. If any of those is determined to be compromised at any time, we endeavor to take corrective and preventive actions designed to ensure compliance with regulatory requirements and to meet customer expectations. For more information on corrective actions taken by us, refer to the discussion under the caption entitled "Certain Regulatory Matters" in Item 7. Management's Discussion of Analysis and Financial Condition and Results of Operations of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Corporate Responsibility

Driven by our mission to save and sustain lives, Baxter's corporate responsibility strategy focuses on addressing corporate responsibility matters that affect our patients, customers, employees, communities and other critical stakeholders worldwide. Advancing our corporate responsibility goals contributes to business, social and economic value, including attraction and retention of employees, enhanced operational efficiency and implementation of enterprise risk management strategies, among others.

In 2021, we launched our 2030 Corporate Responsibility Commitment featuring strategic goals for focused action. Our Commitment is anchored by three pillars - Empower our Patients, Protect our Planet and Champion our People and Communities. The 2030 Corporate Responsibility Commitment and Goals highlight Baxter's corporate responsibility focus and help to further advance our corporate responsibility performance. We expect to announce a refreshed Corporate Responsibility commitment and goal set after the issuance of our 2024 Corporate Responsibility Report (to be issued in June 2025), either in a separate announcement or as part of the 2025 Corporate Responsibility Report. This timing should allow for a new, permanent CEO to have the opportunity to review and contribute to our commitment and goals and to reflect recent operational and other developments (including the recent Kidney Care sale). Our progress against our current goals and commitments is published annually in our Corporate Responsibility Report which is available on our website under "Our Story-Corporate Responsibility." The Corporate Responsibility Report is not incorporated by reference into this Annual Report on Form 10-K or any other document filed with the SEC.

Government Regulation

As a medical products company, our operations and many of the products manufactured or sold by us are subject to extensive regulation by numerous government agencies, both within and outside the United States. The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) in the United States, the European Medicines Agency (EMA) and the Medicines &

Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA) in Europe, the National Medical Products Administration (NMPA) in China and other government agencies, inside and outside of the United States, administer requirements covering the testing, safety, effectiveness, manufacturing, labeling, promotion and advertising, distribution and post-market surveillance of our products. We must obtain specific clearance, approval or other marketing authorization from FDA and non-U.S. regulatory authorities before we can market and sell most of our products in a particular country. Even after we obtain regulatory authorization to market a product, additional regulatory authorization may be necessary to maintain the product in the market, including additional 501(k) clearances, new drug approval (NDA) supplements, and other regulatory submissions. In addition, the raw materials, manufacturing facilities, processes and quality systems used in the manufacture of a product are subject to continued review by FDA and other regulatory authorities globally. State agencies in the United States also regulate our facilities, operations, employees, products and services within their respective states. We, along with our facilities, are subject to periodic inspections and possible administrative and legal actions by FDA and other regulatory agencies inside and outside the United States. Such actions may include warning letters, product recalls or seizures, monetary sanctions, injunctions to halt the manufacture and distribution of products, civil or criminal sanctions, refusal of a government to grant approvals or licenses, restrictions on operations or withdrawal of existing approvals and licenses. As situations require, we take steps to ensure the safety and efficacy of our products, such as removing products from the market that are found not to meet applicable requirements and improving the effectiveness of quality systems. For more information on compliance actions taken by us, refer to the discussion under the caption entitled "Certain Regulatory Matters" in Item 7. Management's Discussion of Analysis and Financial Condition and Results of Operations of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

We are also subject to various laws inside and outside the United States concerning our relationships with healthcare professionals and government officials, price reporting and regulation, the promotion, sales and marketing of our products and services, the importation and exportation of products, the operation of our facilities and the distribution of products. In the United States, we are subject to the oversight of FDA, Office of the Inspector General within the Department of Health and Human Services (OIG), the Center for Medicare/Medicaid Services (CMS), the Department of Justice (DOJ), Environmental Protection Agency, Department of Defense and Customs and Border Protection in addition to others. We supply products and services to healthcare providers that are reimbursed by federally funded programs such as Medicare. As a result, our activities are subject to regulation by CMS and enforcement by OIG and DOJ. In each jurisdiction outside the United States, our activities are subject to regulation by government agencies including the EMA and MHRA in Europe, NMPA in China and other agencies in other jurisdictions. Many of the agencies enforcing these laws have increased their enforcement activities with respect to healthcare companies in recent years. These actions appear to be part of a general trend toward increased enforcement activity globally.

Our operations involve the use of substances regulated under environmental laws, primarily in manufacturing and sterilization processes. Our environmental policies require compliance with all applicable environmental regulations and contemplate, among other things, appropriate capital expenditures for environmental protection.

Human Capital Management

As of December 31, 2024, after giving effect to the Kidney Care sale, we employed approximately 38,000 people globally, with approximately 15,000 employees in the United States and approximately 23,000 employees outside of the United States. Our employees set the foundation for our ability to achieve our strategic objectives. They contribute to our success and are instrumental in driving operational execution and our ability to deliver strong financial performance, advancing innovation and maintaining a strong quality and compliance program across our organization.

The success and growth of our business depends in large part on our ability to attract, retain and develop talented and high-performing employees at all levels of our organization with a myriad of backgrounds and experiences, including the individuals who comprise our global workforce as well as executive officers and other key personnel. To succeed in a competitive labor market, we have developed recruitment and retention strategies, objectives and measures that we focus on as part of the overall management of our business. These strategies, objectives and measures form our human capital management framework and are advanced through the following programs, policies and initiatives:

- Competitive Pay and Benefits. Our compensation programs are designed to align the compensation of our employees with our performance and to provide the proper incentives to attract, retain and motivate employees to achieve superior results. The structure of our compensation programs balances incentive earnings for both short-term and long-term performance.

- Health and Safety. Health and safety are firmly rooted across our global footprint. We aim for a zero-harm workplace and prioritize the elimination of risks and incident precursors to drive improvement. In 2024, Baxter focused on employee engagement, hazard identification and accelerated technology deployment to better understand and address top health and safety risk areas. We have continued to mobilize our hazard identification program for our operational workforce, in concert with a centralized corrective action tracking tool. These improvements have enabled us to harvest actionable insights, support ergonomic evaluations and implement safety control technology for improved operation of our powered industrial vehicles.
- Recruitment, Training and Development. We use recruitment vehicles to attract talent to our organization and we prioritize learning opportunities that foster a growth mindset. Our formal offerings include a tuition reimbursement program, an e-learning platform known as BaxU and virtual workshops that support our culture, strategy and the development of crucial skills. To assess the impact of the investments we make in our people, and to help us consistently improve our human resources programs, we regularly conduct anonymous surveys of our global workforce to seek feedback on a variety of topics including confidence in our leadership, competitiveness of our compensation and benefits packages, career growth opportunities and improvements on how we can make our company an employer of choice. Administered and analyzed by an independent third-party, the survey results are reviewed by our senior leaders, which include our executive officers. Summaries of select surveys are also provided to our Board of Directors. The results of this engagement survey are also shared with individual managers, who are then tasked with taking action based on their employees' anonymous feedback.

Risks Relating to Our Recent and Ongoing Strategic Actions

We are exposed to risks as a result of our strategic actions, including the recent sale of our Kidney Care business.

Our businesses have begun to face, and will continue to face, material challenges in connection with the sale of our Kidney Care business and the other strategic actions we have undertaken (including the implementation of a simplified operating model and the ongoing simplification of our manufacturing footprint). The success of the sale of our Kidney Care business depends on, among other things, our ability to effectively transition the Kidney Care business to Carlyle in a manner that: minimizes disruption to our customers, employees, other personnel and operations; realizes the expected tax benefits; avoids potential liabilities or claims; and enables us to achieve related cost savings initiatives. The Kidney Care sale may result in challenges such as: the diversion of management's attention from our ongoing business concerns and any newly identified strategic initiatives; attracting, retaining and motivating key management and other employees; retaining existing, or attracting new, business and operational relationships, including with customers, suppliers, employees and other counterparties; maintaining our relationships with regulators; the potential for disputes or litigation with Carlyle or Vantive, as applicable, arising from the transaction, the EPA or the various agreements (including a transition services agreement and a manufacturing and supply agreement) that we entered into with Vantive in connection with the Kidney Care closing (as further described below) and liabilities and obligations otherwise related to the transaction, the EPA or the other agreements described in this paragraph; the potential for exposure related to certain pre-closing Kidney Care liabilities we retained; the potential for adverse tax consequences or changes in tax laws or regulations that could affect our remaining businesses; the potential for regulatory actions or investigations related to the transaction or the businesses involved; and potential negative reactions from the financial markets, ratings agencies, customers, employees, other personnel or other stakeholders.

In addition, in the last few years, we have undertaken other strategic and business transformation actions (including the divestiture of our BPS business, the acquisition of Hillrom and cost reduction initiatives) that have entailed changes across our organizational structure, senior leadership, culture, functional alignment, outsourcing and other areas. These actions pose risks in the form of personnel capacity constraints and institutional knowledge loss that has led to, and could in the future lead to, missed performance of financial targets (including those related to cost savings initiatives) and harm to our reputation.

In connection with the closing of the Kidney Care sale, we entered into certain agreements as described above (including a transition services agreement and a manufacturing and supply agreement). These agreements provide for the performance of services, and the provision of certain dialysis-related products, other products and product components, by each company for the benefit of the other for a period of time. If Vantive is unable to satisfy its obligations under these agreements, including its supply and indemnification obligations, we could incur losses. Additionally, in the event that Vantive asserts claims for breaches of any of these agreements, our indemnity obligations and other liabilities to Vantive under these agreements could be significant. These arrangements could also lead to disputes over rights to certain shared property and rights and over the allocation of costs and revenues for products and operations. Our inability to effectively manage these activities and related events could adversely affect our business, financial condition or results of operations.

We have incurred, and will continue to incur, significant expenses in connection with the sale of our Kidney Care business. For example, we will continue to incur the costs of providing transition services, products and product components to Vantive under the agreements described above and other stranded costs that we will no longer be able to share with the Kidney Care business and which we may not be able to fully offset. Such expenses have been significant, and may continue to grow. In addition, the anticipated benefits of the sale are based on a number of assumptions, some of which may prove incorrect, and we cannot predict with certainty when the expected benefits will occur, or the extent to which they will be achieved. As a result, even with the completed sale of the Kidney Care business, we may not achieve some or all of the anticipated strategic, financial, operational or other benefits in the expected timeframe, or at all, which could adversely impact our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows. Further, the sale of the Kidney Care business results in a smaller, less diversified company, with more limited and concentrated businesses than before the transaction, which may leave us more vulnerable to changing market conditions.

Additionally, until the market has fully analyzed our valuation following the sale of the Kidney Care business, the price of our common stock may continue to fluctuate even after a sufficient amount of time has passed for the market to fully analyze our valuation following the sale of the Kidney Care business. Our common stock may not match some holders' investment strategies or meet minimum criteria for inclusion in stock market indices or portfolios, causing certain investors to sell their shares, which could in turn lead to declines in the trading price of such stock. Furthermore, with the sale having decreased the diversification of our revenues, costs and cash flows, our operations, cash flows, working capital, effective tax rate and financing requirements may be subject to increased volatility, and our ability to fund capital expenditures and investments, pay dividends and meet debt obligations and other liabilities may be diminished.

We may continue to experience difficulties with our ongoing integration of Hillrom or fail to realize the anticipated benefits of the Hillrom acquisition.

During 2021, we completed the acquisition of Hillrom. The success of this acquisition depends on, among other things, our ability to complete the integration of Hillrom in a manner that facilitates growth opportunities, realizes anticipated cost and revenue synergies and achieves certain previously communicated net leverage targets without adversely affecting current revenues and investments in future growth. If we are not able to successfully achieve these objectives (including completing the ongoing integration), the anticipated benefits of the Hillrom acquisition may not be realized fully, or at all, or may take longer to realize than expected.

There is a significant degree of difficulty and management distraction inherent in the process of integrating an acquisition. The integration of Hillrom into our operations is complex and time-consuming and certain aspects have taken longer than originally anticipated and have required more effort than was originally planned. Challenges associated with our integration efforts are also heightened due to the other strategic actions we have recently completed (including the sale of our Kidney Care business). This has resulted in, and may continue to result in, additional expenses and other difficulties as we work to complete the integration, including challenges consolidating certain operations and functions (including regulatory and other corporate functions), integrating technologies (including differing information technology systems and processes), organizations, procedures, policies and operations and addressing differences in the business cultures of the two companies, any of which could adversely affect our ability to achieve the anticipated benefits of the acquisition. The integration process and other disruptions resulting from the Hillrom acquisition and our recently completed strategic initiatives also disrupt our ongoing businesses and could cause inconsistencies in standards, controls, procedures and policies that adversely affect our relationships with market participants, employees, regulators and others with whom we have business or other dealings. Any failure to successfully or cost-effectively integrate Hillrom could have a material adverse effect on our business and cause reputational harm.

If our business strategy and development activities are unsuccessful, our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows could be adversely affected.

While we remain committed to deleveraging, we expect to engage in significant business development activities over the longer term in a manner that is consistent with our net leverage targets, including evaluating acquisitions, joint development opportunities, technology licensing arrangements and other opportunities, such as potential divestitures and targeted market exits as we look to optimize our product portfolio and improve our operating margins. These activities may result in substantial investment of our resources. Our success developing products, expanding into new markets and optimizing our market presence from such activities will depend on a number of factors, including our ability to find suitable opportunities or partners for acquisition, investment, alliance or divestiture; competition from other companies in the industries in which we operate that are seeking similar opportunities; whether we are able to complete an acquisition, investment, alliance or divestiture on terms that are satisfactory to us or at all; the strength of the underlying technology and products of any of the other parties involved in a transaction, as well as their ability to execute their business strategies; any intellectual property and litigation related to any other party's products or technology; and our ability to successfully integrate the acquired company, business, product, technology or research into our existing operations (or to divest such company, business, product, technology or research from our existing operations), including the ability to adequately fund acquired in-process R&D projects and to maintain adequate controls over the combined operations. Certain of these activities are subject to antitrust and competition laws, which could impact our ability to pursue strategic transactions and could result in mandated divestitures in the context of proposed acquisitions. Additionally, certain divestitures could result in negative market or regulatory reactions. If we are unsuccessful in our business development activities, we may not realize the intended benefits of such activities, including that acquisition and integration or divestiture costs may be greater than expected or the possibility that the expected return on investment, synergies and accretion will not be realized or will not be realized within the expected timeframes. For more information, see Note 3 in Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Risks Relating to Our Financial Performance and Our Common Stock

Global economic conditions, including inflation and supply chain disruptions, have adversely affected, and could continue to adversely affect, our operations.

General global economic downturns and macroeconomic trends, including heightened inflation, capital markets volatility, interest rate and currency rate fluctuations, changes in monetary policy and economic slowdown or recession, have resulted in, and may continue to result in, unfavorable conditions that negatively affect demand for our products and exacerbate other risks described in this "Risk Factors" section that affect our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows. Both domestic and international markets have been experiencing significant inflationary pressures in recent years and inflation rates in the U.S., as well as in other countries in which we operate, are currently expected to continue at elevated levels for the near term. In addition, increases in interest rates and volatility in currency exchange rates have negatively impacted, and may continue to negatively impact, our results of operations. See "Risks Relating to Our Financial Performance and Our Common Stock – Changes in foreign currency exchange rates and interest rates have had, and may in the future have, an adverse effect on our results of operations, financial condition, cash flows and liquidity".

We have experienced significant challenges to our global supply chain in recent periods, including production delays and interruptions, increased costs and shortages of raw materials and component parts (including resins and electromechanical devices), heightened inventory levels to reduce the risk of patient supply disruption and higher transportation and labor costs, resulting from significant weather events (including Hurricane Helene), elevated inflation levels, disruptions to certain ports of call around the world, the war in Ukraine, the conflict in the Middle East and other geopolitical events. Due to the nature of our products, which include dense consumable medical products such as IV fluids, and the geographic locations of our manufacturing, storage and distribution facilities, which were further consolidated in anticipation of the recent Kidney Care sale and which often require us to transport our products long distances, we may be more susceptible to increases in freight costs and other supply

FDA-related information regarding specific Baxter Healthcare Corporation facilities (e.g., inspection history and enforcement actions) can be found on the FDA website.

State Disciplinary Actions

Utah, License # 12435996-1710, 2023

On February 17, 2023, The Utah Board of Pharmacy issued a citation for failure to timely notify the Board of the change in designated representative at the Baxter Byhalia, MS location. Baxter paid the fine and is waiting for the final signed order.

Utah, Pharmacy Class C License # 9451291-1710, 2022

On May 31, 2022, The Utah Department of Commerce issued a Citation and Order due to a failure to file a timely notification of the change in the designated representative at the Baxter - Hayward (W. Winton) location. Baxter resolved the matter and paid a reduced fine.

Idaho, Out of State Mail Service Pharmacy License # 36855MS, 2022

On March 3, 2022, The Idaho Board of Pharmacy issued an Order and Stipulation for violations stemming from an expired non-resident PIC registration. The registration has since been approved by the Board. Baxter has signed the Stipulation and paid the required fine.

Alabama, Permit #194460, 2022

On May 3, 2022, The Alabama Board of Pharmacy issued a citation for failure to notify the Board of the change in designated representative at the Baxter – Hayward (W. Winton location). Baxter resolved the matter and paid the required fine.

Georgia, Wholesaler Pharmacy License # PHWH001754, 2017

In January 2017, Baxter Healthcare Corporation (Baxter) agreed to resolve claims with the U.S. Department of Justice related to quality and manufacturing practices at Baxter's manufacturing facility in Marion, North Carolina in 2011-2012. Specifically, the government charged that between July 2011 and November 2012, Baxter did not follow cGMP requirements under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FDCA) when manufacturing certain large volume intravenous (IV) solutions. Briefly, a Baxter employee reported to plant personnel the presence of mold on HEPA filters installed in the ceiling, and Baxter continued to manufacture IV solutions while those filters remained in place. There was no evidence of any impact on the IV solutions. Copies of the settlement documents, which include a deferred prosecution agreement to resolve a single misdemeanor count of noncompliance with the FDCA, are available on the U.S. Department of Justice's website at https://www.justice.gov/opa/pr/baxter-healthcare-corporation-pay-more-18-million-resolve-criminal-and-civil-liability. The deferred prosecution agreement expired in July 2019, and the misdemeanor charge was dismissed with prejudice. This issue is unrelated to Baxter's pharmacy or wholesale activities.

Baxter disclosed this issue on a renewal application for a Georgia wholesale license for its Marion, NC facility, and in October 2017, the state of Georgia issued a disciplinary order against that license (PHWH001754) based on the disclosure.

Please note that this issue is unrelated to Baxter's pharmacy or wholesale activities. Iowa,

Nonresident Pharmacy License # 4127, 2014

The Iowa Board of Pharmacy (the "Iowa Board") issued a Stipulation for Baxter's Omaha, Nebraska pharmacy due to improperly delegating final verification of prescriptions for peritoneal dialysis solutions to a pharmacy technician. The Omaha facility is licensed in Nebraska under a Delegated Dispensing Permit, and utilized multiple quality checks, including retrospective pharmacist review, to ensure proper dispensing of peritoneal dialysis products to patients. Upon request by the Iowa Board, Baxter promptly modified its operations to ensure pharmacist verification of all orders. Baxter has signed the Stipulation and paid the required fine.

Montana, License #2152, 2010

The Montana Board of Pharmacy (the "Montana Board") issued a Stipulation for violations stemming from the failure of Baxter to notify the Montana Board in the requisite time frame of a change in the designated Person-in-Charge for the Waukegan, IL facility. Baxter has signed the Stipulation and paid the required fine.

Alabama, License #191639, 2009

The Alabama Board of Pharmacy found the Buford, GA facility was in violation of Code of Alabama (1975) Section 34-23-32. The facility continued distribution operations during the time between the valid license expired and when the expired license was renewed. Baxter Healthcare renewed the license, signed a Consent Order and paid the applicable fine.

Florida, Non-Resident Drug Manufacturer Permit No.: 26:4672, 2009

The Florida Department of Health (the "Florida Department") alleged that Baxter (Memphis, TN) sold prescription drugs to an unpermitted facility in Florida in violation of Section 499.005(15), F.S. Specifically, the Florida Department alleged that Baxter sold prescription drugs to Invivo at an unpermitted location. Baxter entered into a settlement agreement, whereby it neither admitted nor denied the allegations, and paid a fine.

Louisiana, License #3691, 2008

Louisiana Board of Wholesale Drug Distributors conducted a routine inspection of the facility operated by Baxter's third-party logistics provider. Inspectors concluded Baxter (Round Lake, IL)

violated Louisiana Administrative Code 46:XCI.311.D, which requires a licensee to maintain copies of current licenses for its customers who are authorized to obtain and possess legend drugs and devices. Baxter obtained customer licenses, signed a Consent Order, and paid the applicable fine.

Missouri, License #2005002668, 2005

The Missouri Board of Pharmacy (the "Missouri Board") issued a restricted drug distributor license to the facility located in Memphis, TN. The Missouri Board determined the facility violated Section 338.333.1 and 338.337.1 RSMo because the facility shipped legend drugs and/or medical devices into the state without being properly licensed. The proper license was obtained. The probationary period was successfully completed on October 21, 2007 and the restriction on the license was removed.

State Non-Disciplinary Settlements for Memphis Facility

Florida, License #s 26:506 (Memphis, TN) and 26:384 (Marion, NC), 2015

In June 2015, the Florida Department of Business and Professional Regulation (the "Department") sent Notices of Violation to Baxter alleging the shipment of prescription drugs to a Baptist Health South Florida, Inc. ("Baptist"), prior to Baptist receiving its permit to operate as a restricted prescription drug distributor — health care entity. Baxter had shipped products to the Baptist address under the valid medical license of the Medical Director, in reliance on a document evidencing the Medical Director's intent that he serve as the purchaser of the product. In August 2015, Baxter and the Department resolved the matter via a non-disciplinary settlement.

Other Actions: Dismissed Charge of Drug Law Violation

In January 2017, Baxter Healthcare Corporation (Baxter) agreed to resolve claims with the U.S. Department of Justice related to quality and manufacturing practices at Baxter's manufacturing facility in Marion, North Carolina in 2011-2012. Specifically, the government charged that between July 2011 and November 2012, Baxter did not follow cGMP requirements under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FDCA) when manufacturing certain large volume intravenous (IV) solutions. Briefly, a Baxter employee reported to plant personnel the presence of mold on HEPA filters installed in the ceiling, and Baxter continued to manufacture IV solutions while those filters remained in place. There was no evidence of any impact on the IV solutions. Copies of the settlement documents, which include a deferred prosecution agreement to resolve a single misdemeanor count of noncompliance with the FDCA, are available on the U.S. Department of Justice's website at https://www.justice.gov/opa/pr/baxter-healthcare-corporation-pay-more-18-million-resolve-criminal-and-civil-liability. The deferred prosecution agreement expired in July 2019, and the misdemeanor charge was dismissed with prejudice.

Please note that this issue is unrelated to Baxter's pharmacy or wholesale activities, or the facility that is the subject of this application.

Does the Minnesota Board of Pharmacy license or register medical device or medical supply manufacturers, wholesale distributors, supplies or retailers?

The Board does not license or register companies that exclusively manufacture, distribute, supply or sell medical devices or supplies. If a company that handles medical devices or supplies also manufactures or distributes drugs, it must be licensed as a drug manufacturer or drug wholesaler. Exception if the drug is coated on or embedded in the device (e.g. drug-coated stents) and the resultant product is approved by the FDA as a device, the company does not have to be licensed as a manufacturer or wholesale distributor. ITEM 1. Business

General

Henry Schein, Inc. is a solutions company for health care professionals powered by a network of people and technology. We believe we are the world's largest provider of health care products and services primarily to office-based dental and medical practitioners, as well as alternate sites of care. Our philosophy is grounded in our commitment to help customers operate a more efficient and successful business so the practitioner can provide better clinical care.

With 93 years of experience distributing health care products, we have built a vast base of small, mid-sized and large customers in the dental and medical markets, serving more than one million customers worldwide across dental practices, laboratories, physician practices, and ambulatory surgery centers, as well as government, institutional health care clinics and other alternate care clinics.

We are headquartered in Melville, New York and employ approximately 25,000 people. Approximately 49% of our workforce is based in the United States and 51% outside of the United States. Our operations or affiliates are located in 33 countries and territories. Our broad global footprint has evolved over time through organic growth as well as through the contribution from our strategic acquisitions.

We stock a comprehensive selection of more than 300,000 branded products and Henry Schein corporate brand products through our main distribution centers. Our infrastructure, including over 5.4 million square feet of space in 36 strategically located distribution centers and 0.5 million square feet of space in 15 manufacturing facilities around the world, enables us to historically provide rapid and accurate order fulfillment, better serve our customers and increase our operating efficiency. This infrastructure, together with broad product and service offerings at competitive prices, and a strong commitment to customer service, enables us to be a single source of supply for our customers' needs, which we believe is a competitive advantage.

During the fourth quarter of our fiscal year ended December 28, 2024, we revised our reportable segments to align with how the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer manages the business, assesses performance and allocates resources. Our revised reportable segments consist of: (i) Global Distribution and Value-Added Services; (ii) Global Specialty Products; and (iii) Global Technology.

Global Distribution and Value-Added Services includes distribution to the global dental and medical markets of national brand and corporate brand merchandise, as well as equipment and related technical services. This segment also includes value-added services such as financial services, continuing education services, consulting and other services. This segment also markets and sells under our own corporate brand, a portfolio of cost-effective, high-quality consumable merchandise. Global Specialty Products includes manufacturing, marketing and sales of dental implant and biomaterial products; and endodontic, orthodontic and orthopedic products and other health care-related products and services. Global Technology includes development and distribution of practice management software, e-services, and other products, which are distributed to health care providers.

Recent Developments

See "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations – Recent Developments" herein for a discussion related to recent Company developments.

Industry

The distribution and value-added services industry, as it relates to office-based health care practitioners, is fragmented and diverse. The industry ranges from sole practitioners working out of relatively small offices to mid-sized and large group practices ranging in size from a few practitioners to several hundred practices owned or operated by dental support organizations ("DSOs"), medical group purchasing organizations ("GPOs"), health maintenance organizations ("HMOs"), hospital systems or integrated delivery networks ("IDNs").

Due in part to the limited capacity of office-based health care practitioners to store and manage large quantities of supplies in their offices, the distribution of health care supplies and small equipment to office-based health care practitioners has been characterized by frequent, small quantity orders, and a need for rapid, reliable and substantially complete order fulfillment. The purchasing decisions within an office-based health care practice are typically made by the practitioner, hygienist or office manager. Supplies and small equipment are generally purchased from more than one distributor, with one generally serving as the primary supplier.

The distribution and value-added services industry should benefit from favorable long-term macro trends that should help stimulate patient traffic and demand for products and services. This includes an aging population, increased health care awareness and the importance of preventive care, an increasing understanding of the connection between good oral health and overall health, improved access to care globally, the proliferation of medical technology and testing, new pharmacology treatments and expanded third-party insurance coverage, partially offset by the effects of unemployment on insurance coverage and technological improvements, including the advancement of software and services, prosthetic solutions and telemedicine. In addition, the non-acute market continues to benefit from the shift of procedures and diagnostic testing from acute care settings to alternate-care sites, particularly physicians' offices and ambulatory surgery centers.

We believe that consolidation within the industry will continue to result in a number of distributors, particularly those with limited financial, operating and marketing resources, seeking to combine with larger companies that can provide growth opportunities. This consolidation also may continue to result in distributors seeking to acquire companies that can enhance their current product and service offerings or provide opportunities to serve a broader customer base.

In addition, customer consolidation will likely lead to multiple locations under common management and the movement of more procedures from the hospital setting to the physician or alternate care setting, as the health care industry is increasingly focused on efficiency and cost containment. This trend has benefited distributors capable of providing a broad array of products and services at low prices. It also has accelerated the growth of HMOs, group practices, other managed care accounts and collective buying groups such as DSOs and GPOs, which, in addition to their emphasis on obtaining products at competitive prices, tend to favor distributors capable of providing specialized management information support. We believe that the trend towards cost containment has the potential to favorably affect demand for technology solutions, including software, which can enhance the efficiency and facilitation of practice management.

Competition

The distribution and manufacture of health care supplies and equipment is highly competitive. Many of the health care products we sell are available to our customers from a number of suppliers. In addition, our competitors could obtain exclusive rights from manufacturers to market particular products. Manufacturers also could seek to sell directly to end-users, and thereby eliminate or reduce our role and that of other distributors. In certain parts of the dental end market, such as those related to dental specialty products, and medical end market manufacturers already sell directly to end customers.

In North America, we compete with other distributors, as well as several manufacturers, of dental and medical products, primarily on the basis of price, breadth of product line, e-commerce capabilities, customer service and value-added products and services. In the dental distribution market, our primary competitors in the U.S. are the Patterson Dental division of Patterson Companies, Inc. and Benco Dental Supply Company. In addition, we compete against a number of other distributors that operate on a national, regional and local level. Our primary competitors in the U.S. medical distribution market, which accounts for the large majority of our global medical sales, are McKesson Corporation and Medline Industries, Inc., which are national distributors. We also compete with a number of regional and local medical distributors, as well as a number of manufacturers that sell directly to physicians and patients in their homes.

Outside of the U.S., we believe we are the only global distributor of supplies and equipment to dental practices and our competitors are primarily local and regional companies. We also face significant competition internationally, where we compete on the basis of price and customer service against several large competitors, including the GACD Group, Proclinic SA, Lifco AB, Nuent Group AB, Planmeca Oy and Billericay Dental Supply Co. Ltd., as well as a large number of other dental and medical product distributors and manufacturers in international countries and territories we serve.

Within Global Specialty Products, our primary competitors include Straumann, Envista, Zimvie, and Dentsply Sirona.

With regard to our dental software, we compete against numerous companies, including the Eaglesoft division of Patterson Companies, Inc., Carestream Dental LLC, Centaur Software Development Co Pty Ltd. (d.b.a. dental4windows, dental4web), Open Dental Software, Inc., PlanetDDS LLC, Good Methods Global Inc. (d.b.a. CareStack), Curve Dental, LLC., the NextGen division of Quality Systems, Inc., eClinicalWorks and Epic Systems Corporation. In other software end markets, including revenue cycle management, patient relationship management and patient demand generation, we compete with companies such as Vyne Medical, Weave Communications, Inc., and Solutionreach, Inc. Many of these competitors connect to our software platforms through our API program.

Manufacturing and Raw Materials

We manufacture certain of our products for our specialty businesses (oral surgery solutions including dental implants, endodontics, and orthopedics) at our 15 company manufacturing sites. We also outsource certain manufacturing to third parties. We purchase our raw materials from various third-party suppliers. No single supplier is material; however, raw materials may be sourced from a single supplier or a limited number of suppliers for reasons of quality assurance, regulatory requirements, cost, and availability.

We believe that we have a readily available supply of raw materials and components sourced from various suppliers, for our significant products.

We may experience shortages of raw materials or purchased components. In recent periods, we have experienced increased costs and shortages of purchased components, which had a negative impact on our profit margins and on our sales for certain product categories, due to our inability to fully satisfy demand.

Competitive Strengths

We have 93 years of experience in distributing products to health care practitioners resulting in strong awareness of the Henry Schein® brand. Our competitive strengths include:

A focus on meeting our customers' unique needs. We are committed to providing customized solutions to our customers that are driven by our understanding of the end markets we serve and that reflect the technology-driven products and services best suited for their practice needs. We are committed to continuing to enhance these offerings through organic investment in our products and our teams, as well as through the acquisition of new products and services that may help us better serve our customers.

Direct sales and marketing expertise. Our sales and marketing efforts are designed to establish and solidify customer relationships through personal or virtual visits by field sales representatives, frequent direct marketing and telesales contact, emphasizing our broad product lines, including exclusive distribution agreements, competitive prices and ease of order placement, particularly through our e-commerce platforms. The key elements of our direct sales and marketing efforts are:

- Field sales consultants. Our field sales consultants, including equipment sales specialists, covering major North American, European and other international markets. These consultants complement our direct marketing and telesales efforts and enable us to better market, service and support the sale of more sophisticated products and equipment.

- Marketing. We market to existing and prospective office-based health care providers through a combination of owned, earned and paid digital channels, tradeshows, as well as through catalogs, flyers, direct mail and other promotional materials. Our strategies include an emphasis on educational content through webinars and content marketing initiatives. We continue to enhance our marketing technology to improve our targeting capability and the relevance of messaging and offers.

- Telesales. We support our direct marketing effort with inbound and outbound telesales representatives, who facilitate order processing, generate new sales through direct and frequent contact with customers and stay abreast of market developments and the hundreds of new products, services and technologies introduced each year to educate practice personnel.

- Electronic commerce solutions. We provide our customers and sales teams with innovative and competitive e-commerce solutions. We continue to invest in our e-commerce platform to offer enhanced content management so customers can more easily find the products they need and to enable an engaging purchase experience, supported by excellent customer service.

- Social media. Our operating entities and employees engage our customers and supplier partners through various social media platforms, which are an important element of our communications and marketing efforts. We continue to expand our social media presence to raise awareness about issues, engage customers beyond a sale and deliver services and solutions to specialized audiences.

Cost-effective purchasing. We believe that cost-effective purchasing is a key element to maintaining and enhancing our position as a competitively priced provider of health care products. We continuously evaluate our purchase requirements and suppliers' offerings and prices in order to obtain products at the lowest possible cost. In 2024, our top 10 Global Distribution and Value-Added Services suppliers and our single largest supplier accounted for approximately 25% and 4%, respectively, of our aggregate purchases.

Efficient distribution. We distribute our products from our 36 strategically located distribution centers. We strive to maintain optimal inventory levels in order to satisfy customer demand for prompt delivery and complete order fulfillment. These inventory levels are managed on a daily basis with the aid of our management information systems. Once an order is entered, it is electronically transmitted to the distribution center nearest the customer's location for order fulfillment.

Broad product and service offerings at competitive prices. We offer a broad range of products and services to our customers, at competitive prices, in the following categories:

Global Distribution and Value-Added Services

- Consumable merchandise and equipment. We distribute consumable products, small equipment, laboratory products, large equipment, equipment repair services, branded and generic pharmaceuticals, vaccines, dental specialty products, diagnostic tests, infection-control products and vitamins. We stock a comprehensive selection of more than 300,000 branded products and Henry Schein corporate brand products through our main distribution centers. We also market and sell our own corporate brand portfolio of cost-effective, high-quality consumable merchandise products.

- Home health business. We distribute homecare medical products, including incontinence, urology, ostomy, enteral nutrition, advanced wound, and diabetes supplies, as well as continuous glucose monitoring devices. These products are delivered directly to patients in their homes, providing convenience and accessibility while supporting patient care and adherence to treatment plans.

- Value-added products and services. We offer a broad range of value-added solutions, including continuing education programs for practitioners, and consulting services. Our suite of technology-driven tools and expert advisory services helps health care professionals enhance practice efficiency and improve patient outcomes.

- Repair services. We have 129 equipment sales and service centers worldwide that provide a variety of repair, installation and technical services for our health care customers. Our technicians provide installation and repair services for dental handpieces, dental and medical small equipment, table-top sterilizers and large dental equipment.

- Financial services. We offer our customers solutions in operating their practices more efficiently by providing access to a number of financial services and products provided by third party suppliers (including non-recourse financing for equipment, technology and software products, non-recourse practice financing for leasehold improvements, business debt consolidation and commercial real estate, non-recourse patient financing and credit card processing) at rates that we believe are generally lower than what our customers would be able to secure independently. We also provide staffing services, dental practice valuation and brokerage services.

Global Specialty Products

- Dental implants and digital solutions. We develop, manufacture, market and distribute a broad portfolio of dental implants, prosthetic components, instruments and digital workflow solutions for implant-based tooth restorations. With research and development and manufacturing facilities in the United States, Switzerland, Germany, Brazil and France, we serve customers with various global and regional implant brands across a wide range of price segments. Supported by our specialized sales force, we market our products and solutions in approximately 90 countries, directly to dental practices and surgical specialists via our sales subsidiaries and our network of international third-party and Henry Schein distribution partners.

- Biomaterials. We market and distribute a broad portfolio of biomaterials for dental tissue regeneration. The product portfolio primarily consists of a broad range of privately branded allograft, xenograft, and synthetic biomaterials. Our dedicated biomaterial specialists support our direct implant sales force and Henry Schein oral surgery-focused distribution channels.

- Orthodontics. We develop, manufacture, and distribute a comprehensive range of orthodontic products, including brackets, braces, aligners, and accessories. In collaboration with leading clinicians, our research and development teams drive innovation to enhance patient care. With manufacturing facilities in the

General

Henry Schein, Inc. is a solutions company for health care professionals powered by a network of people and technology. We believe we are the world's largest provider of health care products and services primarily to office-based dental and medical practitioners, as well as alternate sites of care. Our philosophy is grounded in our commitment to help customers operate a more efficient and successful business so the practitioner can provide better clinical care.

With 93 years of experience distributing health care products, we have built a vast base of small, mid-sized and large customers in the dental and medical markets, serving more than one million customers worldwide across dental practices, laboratories, physician practices, and ambulatory surgery centers, as well as government, institutional health care clinics and other alternate care clinics.

We are headquartered in Melville, New York and employ approximately 25,000 people. Approximately 49% of our workforce is based in the United States and 51% outside of the United States. Our operations or affiliates are located in 33 countries and territories. Our broad global footprint has evolved over time through organic growth as well as through the contribution from our strategic acquisitions.

We stock a comprehensive selection of more than 300,000 branded products and Henry Schein corporate brand products through our main distribution centers. Our infrastructure, including over 5.4 million square feet of space in 36 strategically located distribution centers and 0.5 million square feet of space in 15 manufacturing facilities around the world, enables us to historically provide rapid and accurate order fulfillment, better serve our customers and increase our operating efficiency. This infrastructure, together with broad product and service offerings at competitive prices, and a strong commitment to customer service, enables us to be a single source of supply for our customers' needs, which we believe is a competitive advantage.

During the fourth quarter of our fiscal year ended December 28, 2024, we revised our reportable segments to align with how the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer manages the business, assesses performance and allocates resources. Our revised reportable segments consist of: (i) Global Distribution and Value-Added Services; (ii) Global Specialty Products; and (iii) Global Technology.

Global Distribution and Value-Added Services includes distribution to the global dental and medical markets of national brand and corporate brand merchandise, as well as equipment and related technical services. This segment also includes value-added services such as financial services, continuing education services, consulting and other services. This segment also markets and sells under our own corporate brand, a portfolio of cost-effective, high-quality consumable merchandise. Global Specialty Products includes manufacturing, marketing and sales of dental implant and biomaterial products; and endodontic, orthodontic and orthopedic products and other health care-related products and services. Global Technology includes development and distribution of practice management software, e-services, and other products, which are distributed to health care providers.

Recent Developments

See "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations – Recent Developments" herein for a discussion related to recent Company developments.

Industry

The distribution and value-added services industry, as it relates to office-based health care practitioners, is fragmented and diverse. The industry ranges from sole practitioners working out of relatively small offices to mid-sized and large group practices ranging in size from a few practitioners to several hundred practices owned or operated by dental support organizations ("DSOs"), medical group purchasing organizations ("GPOs"), health maintenance organizations ("HMOs"), hospital systems or integrated delivery networks ("IDNs").

Due in part to the limited capacity of office-based health care practitioners to store and manage large quantities of supplies in their offices, the distribution of health care supplies and small equipment to office-based health care practitioners has been characterized by frequent, small quantity orders, and a need for rapid, reliable and substantially complete order fulfillment. The purchasing decisions within an office-based health care practice are typically made by the practitioner, hygienist or office manager. Supplies and small equipment are generally purchased from more than one distributor, with one generally serving as the primary supplier.

The distribution and value-added services industry should benefit from favorable long-term macro trends that should help stimulate patient traffic and demand for products and services. This includes an aging population, increased health care awareness and the importance of preventive care, an increasing understanding of the connection between good oral health and overall health, improved access to care globally, the proliferation of medical technology and testing, new pharmacology treatments and expanded third-party insurance coverage, partially offset by the effects of unemployment on insurance coverage and technological improvements, including the advancement of software and services, prosthetic solutions and telemedicine. In addition, the non-acute market continues to benefit from the shift of procedures and diagnostic testing from acute care settings to alternate-care sites, particularly physicians' offices and ambulatory surgery centers.

We believe that consolidation within the industry will continue to result in a number of distributors, particularly those with limited financial, operating and marketing resources, seeking to combine with larger companies that can provide growth opportunities. This consolidation also may continue to result in distributors seeking to acquire companies that can enhance their current product and service offerings or provide opportunities to serve a broader customer base.

In addition, customer consolidation will likely lead to multiple locations under common management and the movement of more procedures from the hospital setting to the physician or alternate care setting, as the health care industry is increasingly focused on efficiency and cost containment. This trend has benefited distributors capable of providing a broad array of products and services at low prices. It also has accelerated the growth of HMOs, group practices, other managed care accounts and collective buying groups such as DSOs and GPOs, which, in addition to their emphasis on obtaining products at competitive prices, tend to favor distributors capable of providing specialized management information support. We believe that the trend towards cost containment has the potential to favorably affect demand for technology solutions, including software, which can enhance the efficiency and facilitation of practice management.

Competition

The distribution and manufacture of health care supplies and equipment is highly competitive. Many of the health care products we sell are available to our customers from a number of suppliers. In addition, our competitors could obtain exclusive rights from manufacturers to market particular products. Manufacturers also could seek to sell directly to end-users, and thereby eliminate or reduce our role and that of other distributors. In certain parts of the dental end market, such as those related to dental specialty products, and medical end market manufacturers already sell directly to end customers.

In North America, we compete with other distributors, as well as several manufacturers, of dental and medical products, primarily on the basis of price, breadth of product line, e-commerce capabilities, customer service and value-added products and services. In the dental distribution market, our primary competitors in the U.S. are the Patterson Dental division of Patterson Companies, Inc. and Benco Dental Supply Company. In addition, we compete against a number of other distributors that operate on a national, regional and local level. Our primary competitors in the U.S. medical distribution market, which accounts for the large majority of our global medical sales, are McKesson Corporation and Medline Industries, Inc., which are national distributors. We also compete with a number of regional and local medical distributors, as well as a number of manufacturers that sell directly to physicians and patients in their homes.

Outside of the U.S., we believe we are the only global distributor of supplies and equipment to dental practices and our competitors are primarily local and regional companies. We also face significant competition internationally, where we compete on the basis of price and customer service against several large competitors, including the GACD Group, Proclinic SA, Lifco AB, Nuent Group AB, Planmeca Oy and Billericay Dental Supply Co. Ltd., as well as a large number of other dental and medical product distributors and manufacturers in international countries and territories we serve.

Within Global Specialty Products, our primary competitors include Straumann, Envista, Zimvie, and Dentsply Sirona.

With regard to our dental software, we compete against numerous companies, including the Eaglesoft division of Patterson Companies, Inc., Carestream Dental LLC, Centaur Software Development Co Pty Ltd. (d.b.a. dental4windows, dental4web), Open Dental Software, Inc., PlanetDDS LLC, Good Methods Global Inc. (d.b.a. CareStack), Curve Dental, LLC., the NextGen division of Quality Systems, Inc., eClinicalWorks and Epic Systems Corporation. In other software end markets, including revenue cycle management, patient relationship management and patient demand generation, we compete with companies such as Vyne Medical, Weave Communications, Inc., and Solutionreach, Inc. Many of these competitors connect to our software platforms through our API program.

Manufacturing and Raw Materials

We manufacture certain of our products for our specialty businesses (oral surgery solutions including dental implants, endodontics, and orthopedics) at our 15 company manufacturing sites. We also outsource certain manufacturing to third parties. We purchase our raw materials from various third-party suppliers. No single supplier is material; however, raw materials may be sourced from a single supplier or a limited number of suppliers for reasons of quality assurance, regulatory requirements, cost, and availability.

We believe that we have a readily available supply of raw materials and components sourced from various suppliers, for our significant products.

We may experience shortages of raw materials or purchased components. In recent periods, we have experienced increased costs and shortages of purchased components, which had a negative impact on our profit margins and on our sales for certain product categories, due to our inability to fully satisfy demand.

Competitive Strengths

We have 93 years of experience in distributing products to health care practitioners resulting in strong awareness of the Henry Schein® brand. Our competitive strengths include:

A focus on meeting our customers' unique needs. We are committed to providing customized solutions to our customers that are driven by our understanding of the end markets we serve and that reflect the technology-driven products and services best suited for their practice needs. We are committed to continuing to enhance these offerings through organic investment in our products and our teams, as well as through the acquisition of new products and services that may help us better serve our customers.

Direct sales and marketing expertise. Our sales and marketing efforts are designed to establish and solidify customer relationships through personal or virtual visits by field sales representatives, frequent direct marketing and telesales contact, emphasizing our broad product lines, including exclusive distribution agreements, competitive prices and ease of order placement, particularly through our e-commerce platforms. The key elements of our direct sales and marketing efforts are:

- Field sales consultants. Our field sales consultants, including equipment sales specialists, covering major North American, European and other international markets. These consultants complement our direct marketing and telesales efforts and enable us to better market, service and support the sale of more sophisticated products and equipment.

- Marketing. We market to existing and prospective office-based health care providers through a combination of owned, earned and paid digital channels, tradeshows, as well as through catalogs, flyers, direct mail and other promotional materials. Our strategies include an emphasis on educational content through webinars and content marketing initiatives. We continue to enhance our marketing technology to improve our targeting capability and the relevance of messaging and offers.

- Telesales. We support our direct marketing effort with inbound and outbound telesales representatives, who facilitate order processing, generate new sales through direct and frequent contact with customers and stay abreast of market developments and the hundreds of new products, services and technologies introduced each year to educate practice personnel.

- Electronic commerce solutions. We provide our customers and sales teams with innovative and competitive e-commerce solutions. We continue to invest in our e-commerce platform to offer enhanced content management so customers can more easily find the products they need and to enable an engaging purchase experience, supported by excellent customer service.

- Social media. Our operating entities and employees engage our customers and supplier partners through various social media platforms, which are an important element of our communications and marketing efforts. We continue to expand our social media presence to raise awareness about issues, engage customers beyond a sale and deliver services and solutions to specialized audiences.

Cost-effective purchasing. We believe that cost-effective purchasing is a key element to maintaining and enhancing our position as a competitively priced provider of health care products. We continuously evaluate our purchase requirements and suppliers' offerings and prices in order to obtain products at the lowest possible cost. In 2024, our top 10 Global Distribution and Value-Added Services suppliers and our single largest supplier accounted for approximately 25% and 4%, respectively, of our aggregate purchases.

Efficient distribution. We distribute our products from our 36 strategically located distribution centers. We strive to maintain optimal inventory levels in order to satisfy customer demand for prompt delivery and complete order fulfillment. These inventory levels are managed on a daily basis with the aid of our management information systems. Once an order is entered, it is electronically transmitted to the distribution center nearest the customer's location for order fulfillment.

Broad product and service offerings at competitive prices. We offer a broad range of products and services to our customers, at competitive prices, in the following categories:

Global Distribution and Value-Added Services

- Consumable merchandise and equipment. We distribute consumable products, small equipment, laboratory products, large equipment, equipment repair services, branded and generic pharmaceuticals, vaccines, dental specialty products, diagnostic tests, infection-control products and vitamins. We also market and sell our own corporate brand portfolio of cost-effective, high-quality consumable merchandise products.

- Home health business. We distribute homecare medical products, including incontinence, urology, ostomy, enteral nutrition, advanced wound, and diabetes supplies, as well as continuous glucose monitoring devices. These products are delivered directly to patients in their homes, providing convenience and accessibility while supporting patient care and adherence to treatment plans.

- Value-added products and services. We offer a broad range of value-added solutions, including continuing education programs for practitioners, and consulting services. Our suite of technology-driven tools and expert advisory services helps health care professionals enhance practice efficiency and improve patient outcomes.

We also provide staffing services, dental practice valuation and brokerage services.

Global Specialty Products

- Dental implants and digital solutions. We develop, manufacture, market and distribute a broad portfolio of dental implants, prosthetic components, instruments and digital workflow solutions for implant-based tooth restorations. - Biomaterials. We market and distribute a broad portfolio of biomaterials for dental tissue regeneration. The product portfolio primarily consists of a broad range of privately branded allograft, xenograft, and synthetic biomaterials. Our dedicated biomaterial specialists support our direct implant sales force and Henry Schein oral surgery-focused distribution channels.

To Whom It May Concern:

LENZ Therapeutics is a pre-commercial biopharmaceutical company focused on the development and commercialization of the first and only aceclidine-based eye drop (LNZ100) in the treatment of Presbyopia. LENZ Therapeutics submitted a New Drug Application (NDA) to the U.S. FDA in August 2024. The U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) accepted this application and assigned a Prescription Drug User Fee Act (PDUFA) target action date of August 8, 2025 for LNZ100.

Once approved, the product will be shown within the FDA National Drug Code Directory. With that, LENZ Therapeutics is seeking official state licensure in preparation of FDA approval.

Part I

Item 1. Business

Overview

We are a pre-commercial biopharmaceutical company focused on the development and commercialization of innovative therapies to improve vision. Our initial focus is the treatment of presbyopia, the inevitable loss of near vision that impacts the daily lives of nearly all people over 45. In the United States, the estimated addressable population who suffer from this condition, known as presbyopes, is 128 million, almost four times the number of individuals suffering from dry eye disease and three times the number of individuals suffering from childhood myopia, macular degeneration, diabetic retinopathy and glaucoma combined. We believe that a once-daily pharmacological eye drop that can effectively and safely improve near vision throughout the full workday, without the need for reading glasses, could be a highly attractive commercial product with an estimated U.S. market opportunity in excess of $3 billion. It is our goal to develop and commercialize such a product, and we have assembled an executive team with extensive clinical and commercial experience to execute this goal and become the category leader.

Our lead product candidate LNZ100 is a preservative-free, single-use, once-daily eye drop containing aceclidine. We believe our product candidate is differentiated based on rapid onset, degree and duration of near vision improvement, its ability to be used across the full age range of presbyopes, from their mid-40s to well into their mid-70s, as well as a broad refractive range. Aceclidine's pupil-selective mechanism of action was demonstrated in our clinical trials where near vision improved while avoiding blurry distance vision. Our product candidate was well-tolerated in clinical trials, and its active ingredient aceclidine has a favorable tolerability profile that have been well-established empirically. LNZ100 has patent protection until 2039 in the United States, at a minimum, due to a robust intellectual property portfolio underpinned by issued patents.

In the safety and efficacy trials of our Phase 3 study ("CLARITY 1 and 2"), LNZ100 achieved the primary endpoints and key secondary endpoints, with statistically significant three-lines or greater improvement in Best Corrected Distance Visual Acuity ("BCDVA") at near, without losing one or more lines in distance visual acuity. In the vehicle-controlled CLARITY 2 trial, the day 1 results showed (all $p<0.0001$):

- Rapid onset: 71% achieved three-lines or greater improvement at 30 minutes.
- Primary endpoint: 71% achieved three-lines or greater improvement at 3 hours.
- Long duration: 40% achieved three-lines or greater improvement at 10 hours.

Near vision improvement was reproducible and consistent across both CLARITY 1 and 2 throughout the four-week study periods. LNZ100 was well-tolerated with no serious treatment-related adverse events observed in the over 30,000 treatment days, including the six-week safety study period in CLARITY 1 and 2, and the six-month period in the CLARITY 3 Phase 3 long-term safety trial (collectively, the "CLARITY study").

Our other product candidate LNZ101, a preservative-free eye drop containing aceclidine and brimonidine, showed similar results, including achieving primary and secondary endpoints in both CLARITY 1 and 2, but did not show superiority to LNZ100. Based on these results, we selected LNZ100 as our lead product candidate, for which we submitted a New Drug Application ("NDA") to Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") in August 2024. In October 2024, the FDA assigned a Prescription Drug User Fee Act ("PDUFA") target action date of August 8, 2025, which, if approved, will be immediately followed by a commercial launch in the United States, with the product anticipated to be available in the market in the fourth quarter of 2025. We believe that LNZ100 could be the first and only aceclidine-based product approved by the FDA and would then be eligible for five years of new chemical entity ("NCE") exclusivity in the United States.

It is estimated that there are 1.8 billion presbyopes globally and 128 million presbyopes in the United States. As people age, the crystalline lens in their eyes gradually hardens, resulting in a loss of lens elasticity that reduces the ability of the lens to increase its curvature and refractive power to focus incoming light for near vision onto the retina, known as accommodation. Although the progression of presbyopia is gradual, presbyopes often experience an abrupt change in their daily life as the symptoms become more pronounced starting in their mid-40s, when reading glasses or other corrective aids are suddenly necessary to read text or conduct close-up work. Presbyopia is typically self-diagnosed and self-managed with over-the-counter reading glasses, or managed, after evaluation by an eye care professional ("ECP"), with prescription reading or bifocal glasses or multifocal contact lenses. Currently, the only approved and marketed pharmaceutical treatment for presbyopia is marketed by AbbVie under the brand name Vuity.

Based on data collected in a third-party study commissioned by us in early 2023 that is further described in the section "Market Opportunity," we found that presbyopes have high willingness to use a daily prescription eye drop that improves their near vision throughout the full workday. We expect that there will be a wide range of presbyopes that will be interested in using the eye drops at least four times a week. The large initial demand seen for Vuity during its launch in late 2021 and early 2022 corroborates the market demand for a pharmaceutical option for the treatment of presbyopia. However, despite a promising initial launch, Vuity's user uptake has been limited by reportedly lower-than-expected efficacy and duration of effect across users. Additionally, Vuity use is associated with some side effects, including rare incidences of retinal tears and detachments, induced by the stimulation of the ciliary muscle. These limitations on efficacy and safety subsequently resulted in lower than anticipated prescription refill rates and a label amendment reflecting the risk of retinal tears and detachment specifically associated with Vuity. We believe that our once-daily eye drop, if approved, could become the leading brand for presbyopes, by improving near vision throughout the full workday.

LNZ100 is formulated with aceclidine, a miotic, and is designed to achieve optimal pupil diameter without impacting distance vision, a key limitation of other miotics. Miotics are compounds that cause pupil constriction, or miosis, creating a pinhole effect that enables better focus of incoming light from near objects onto the retina. Research has shown that a pupil diameter below two millimeters (2 mm) is optimal for presbyopia treatment and results in clinically meaningful improvement in near vision. Unlike other miotics such as pilocarpine and carbachol, aceclidine's mechanism of action is pupil-selective, meaning it can activate the iris sphincter muscle and cause miosis of the pupil to a diameter below 2 mm without overstimulating the ciliary muscles that can cause a myopic shift and impair distance vision. As a result, aceclidine does not require any remaining accommodation to improve near vision, broadening its benefits to older presbyopes whose lens has lost this capacity. Therefore, we expect that users may be able to benefit from treatment even as they age from mid-40s to well into their mid-70s and across a broad range of refractive errors, as demonstrated in clinical testing to date.

While aceclidine is new to the United States, it has a long-established history outside of the United States, having been approved in Europe since the 1970s for the treatment of glaucoma and marketed by Merck under the brand Glaucostat, at higher concentrations than in LNZ100 and up to four times a day. Given the known favorable tolerability profile of aceclidine, LNZ100's sole active ingredient, its decades-long use, and unique mechanism of action, we believe LNZ100 has the potential to treat the broadest population of presbyopes and become the category leader.

Given our goal to develop and commercialize the leading, once-daily eye drop for presbyopia that can effectively and safely improve near vision throughout the full workday, we continue to build a robust commercial strategy in the United States and plan to be launch-ready upon potential FDA approval. We retain the flexibility to not only seek commercialization of our product candidates, but to also remain opportunistic in developing, in-licensing or partnering other products or product candidates to further leverage our commercial infrastructure to drive growth and operating leverage.

To execute our vision, we have assembled a team with extensive experience in building successful life science and consumer product companies. Our team has helped launch and commercialize over a dozen ophthalmic products and therapies, including Acuvue, Alphagan P, Combigan, Dailies AquaComfort Plus, Durysta, Latisse, Lumigan, Pred Forte, Refresh, Restasis, Truetear, and Vuity, as well as major consumer-focused brands such as Red Bull, Dermalogica, Botox, Herbalife and Ray-Ban. Members of our management team have held senior positions at Alcon, Allergan, Alvotech, Avanir, Bausch + Lomb, Coca-Cola, Dermalogica, Herbalife, Hospira, Johnson & Johnson, Pfenex, Pfizer, Red Bull, STAAR, VISX, Prometheus Laboratories, Regulus Therapeutics and others. We have also engaged a strong team of medical advisors across the ophthalmology and optometry fields. Our team is further supported by a strong group of investors that share our commitment to helping the millions of people experiencing symptoms of presbyopia in the United States and globally.

LENZ Strategy

We are a pre-commercial biopharmaceutical company focused on the development and commercialization of innovative therapies to improve vision. Our goal is to develop and commercialize the leading, once-daily eye drop for presbyopia that can effectively and safely improve near vision throughout the full workday. We intend to achieve this goal by pursuing the following key strategic objectives:

- Capitalize on the unique characteristics of aceclidine through LNZ100. A key part of our strategy was the selection and development of aceclidine as a miotic agent for the treatment of presbyopia. As the only known pupil-selective miotic, aceclidine has a unique mechanism of action that we believe should allow for development as a category leading eye drop for presbyopia. We have since demonstrated our ability to enable rapid onset, degree and duration of near vision improvement with minimal risk of impact to distance vision in multiple clinical trials. Furthermore, we believe that aceclidine can address both a wider age range of presbyopes from mid-40s to well into their mid-70s, as well as broader refractive range, relative to currently available eye drops.

- Pursue approval and commercialization of LNZ100. Based on our positive Phase 3 results, we selected LNZ100 as our lead product candidate. We submitted an NDA for LNZ100 in August 2024 and in October 2024, the FDA assigned a Prescription Drug User Fee Act ("PDUFA") target action date of August 8, 2025. Commercial launch is planned to immediately follow the potential approval in the United States, with the product anticipated to be available in the market in the fourth quarter of 2025. We believe that LNZ100 could be the first and only aceclidine-based product approved by the FDA and would then be eligible for five years of NCE exclusivity in the United States. If approved by FDA, our objective is to best create loyalty and value based on an "all eyes, all day" brand mission.

- Pursue our focused commercial strategy across U.S. ECPs and presbyopes. We are focused on targeting and partnering with the estimated 15,000 ECPs who prescribed over 85% of the pharmaceutical presbyopia prescriptions in the United States in 2022 to enable efficient commercialization and rapid adoption of our product. We are currently educating ECPs on the importance of pupil-selective miotics that have a clinical profile that reduces pupil diameter below 2 mm without overstimulating the ciliary muscles with our EYEAMSELECTIVE campaign. If approved, we plan to communicate the efficacy profile of the approved product and highlight the value proposition of an alternative treatment option for presbyopia for ECPs. In parallel, our commercial team will deploy a cost-effective, highly targeted and digitally-focused consumer strategy to identify, target, and build loyalty among presbyopes in the United States. We expect to commercialize through the self-pay healthcare market (without third-party reimbursement), which is strategically advantageous in the United States and enables immediate patient access and volume-based pricing strategies.

- Continue to build an experienced commercial team with the capabilities of a leading consumer-focused company. We have built a leadership team with extensive experience across successful life science and consumer product companies who have launched and commercialized over a dozen ophthalmic products and therapies and well-known consumer-focused brands. Our leadership team is complemented by a team of leading medical advisors across the ophthalmology and optometry fields. To ensure immediate commercialization upon the potential approval of LNZ100, we are timing the expansion of our existing commercial capabilities and the establishment of a sales organization of 100 to 150 individuals to coincide with the expected timing of any such approval.

- Continue to strengthen our intellectual property portfolio. We have developed and continue to expand a strong portfolio of intellectual property for the treatment of presbyopia with aceclidine-based eye drops. We have patent protection until 2039, at a minimum, in the United States due to a robust intellectual property portfolio underpinned by issued patents. If LNZ100 is approved, we believe that it could be the first FDA-approved aceclidine-based product and would then be eligible for five years of NCE exclusivity in the United States. We plan to actively seek to obtain, where appropriate, the broadest intellectual property protection possible by filing for additional patents or other applicable intellectual property protection covering new or enhanced proprietary technology, including new methods of use, formulations, and dosing regimens. We also rely on regulatory frameworks, trademarks, trade secrets, know-how, and continuing technological innovation and may consider in-licensing opportunities to develop and maintain our proprietary position.

- Opportunistically evaluate strategic and commercial opportunities. We are focused on commercializing in the United States on our own. In addition, we have entered into a license and collaboration agreement (the "CORXEL License") with CORXEL Pharmaceuticals (formerly known as Ji Xing Pharmaceuticals Hong Kong Limited) ("CORXEL") to develop product candidates in Greater China and are developing regulatory strategies and intend to opportunistically seek partnerships for Europe, Canada, and other markets. For more details, see the subsection entitled "License and Collaboration Agreement with CORXEL." We believe our presbyopia program, if approved and successful, can serve as a cornerstone for building a suite of ophthalmology biopharmaceuticals. As a result, we may acquire other products or product candidates that we believe can make a substantial impact on vision and yield high user satisfaction. We may seek to maximize the commercial infrastructure and relationships with ECPs that we are currently building for our presbyopia program, to potentially offer a broad portfolio of ophthalmology biopharmaceuticals to our users to drive growth and operating leverage.

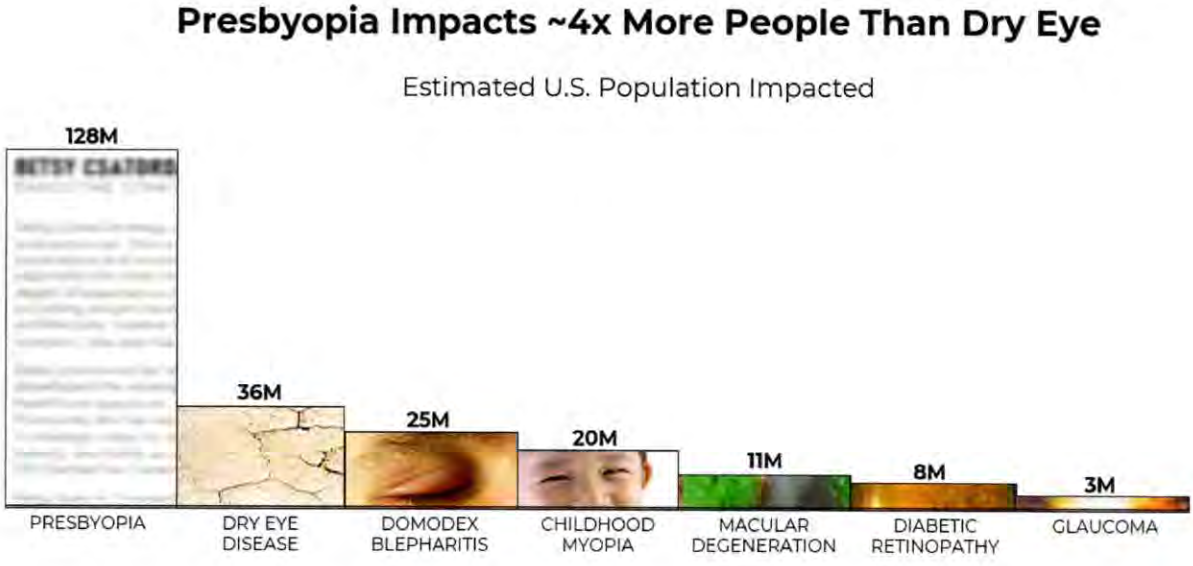
Presbyopia

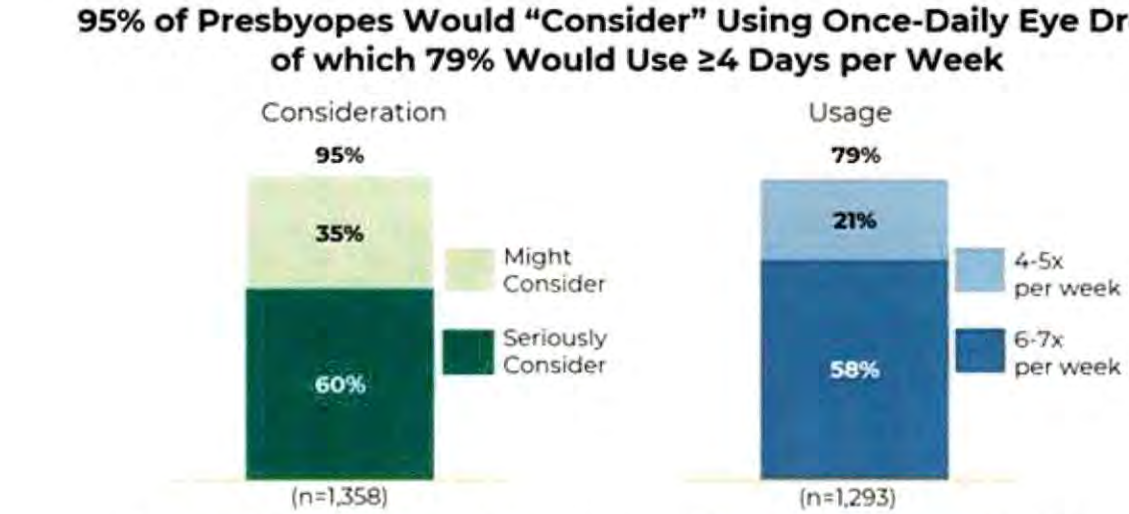
Background

Presbyopia is the inevitable loss of near vision associated with aging. It impacts the daily lives of nearly all people over 45. As people age, the crystalline lens in their eyes gradually hardens and becomes less able to change shape. This loss of elasticity of the lens reduces the ability of the lens to focus incoming light from near objects onto the retina. Adults over age 50 lose on average 1.5 lines of near vision every six years. Although the progression of presbyopia is gradual, presbyopes often experience an abrupt change in their daily life as the symptoms become more pronounced starting in their mid-40s, when reading glasses or other corrective aids are suddenly necessary to read text or conduct close-up work. Presbyopia is typically self-diagnosed and self-managed with over-the-counter reading glasses, or managed, after evaluation by an ECP, with prescription reading or bifocal glasses or multifocal contact lenses. Currently, the only approved and marketed pharmaceutical treatment for presbyopia is marketed by AbbVie under the brand name Vuity.



As illustrated in the figure below, contraction of the ciliary muscle allows the flexible lens in a healthy eye (center panel) to increase its curvature and refractive power and focus incoming light for near vision onto the retina in a process known as accommodation. As the lens hardens with age, the presbyopic lens (right panel) loses its flexibility and ability to accommodate and, despite contraction of the ciliary muscles, the incoming light for near vision no longer focuses on the surface of the retina, resulting in blurry near vision.

Market Opportunity



Presbyopia impacts an estimated 1.8 billion people globally and 128 million people in the United States, which makes it the most prevalent ophthalmology indication, outside latent refractive errors. On an addressable population basis, presbyopia is almost four times greater than dry eye disease and three times greater than childhood myopia, macular degeneration, diabetic retinopathy and glaucoma combined. Furthermore, the market opportunity for presbyopia is growing due to the aging of the general population. As people continue working and stay active longer, they will require effective treatment for presbyopia for near vision acuity in their daily lives.

Presbyopia is a consumer-driven and cash pay market that requires intense focus on the needs and desires of presbyopes. We believe that the likely demand for a pharmaceutical option is driven by multiple factors, most notably presbyopes seeking to have a functional visual benefit in their day-to-day life, as well as those that want the cosmetic benefit of not requiring reading glasses. From a functional and cosmetic perspective, we see many similarities to the market dynamics between contact lenses and glasses. The contact lens market has grown to approximately $17 billion globally and approximately $6 billion in the United States in 2022. Contact lens users tend to have strong brand loyalty and the market has shown they are willing to spend out of pocket as an alternative to glasses for a variety of factors, including convenience, a more natural field of vision, enabling an active lifestyle and the ability to look younger. Similarly, over 10 million individuals have elected to complete laser vision correction, such as LASIK, which demonstrates a willingness to undergo elective surgical procedures to improve vision. Additionally, global sales of Botox injections for non-therapeutic applications, such as for cosmetic purposes, were $2.6 billion in 2022, demonstrating a high willingness to pay out of pocket for differentiated pharmaceutical brands. Currently, as people begin to develop presbyopia, they often have to stop using contact lenses, which seldom allow for simultaneous effective distance and near vision correction. A prescription eye drop that can be used in combination with distance correcting lenses can allow patients to stay in their contact lenses longer.

We expect that there will be a wide range of presbyopes that will be interested in using the eye drops at least four times a week as well as a smaller group that will use them on a more episodic basis. In early 2023, we commissioned a third-party consultant to conduct a market research study of at least 1,000 presbyopes in the United States, ranging from ages 45 to 74, through an online survey. The third-party consultant contacted and screened individuals who self-identified to be open to online surveys to ensure the participants satisfied the pre-specified age and near vision acuity requirements and that the group of respondents were balanced in gender and household income. Of the individuals screened, 1,358 individuals were qualified and completed the survey, and approximately 95% indicated they would "consider" using a once-daily prescription eye drop for up to 10 hours of near vision improvement, including 60% who indicated they would "seriously consider" using such eye drop. Of the respondents who also indicated that they would either "seriously consider" or "might consider" such eye drops, 79% indicated they would use such eye drops at least four times a week, including 58% who indicated they would use such eye drop six to seven times a week.

Results based on a third-party market research study of U.S. presbyopes commissioned by LENZ

Furthermore, presbyopes indicated potential demand across multiple age cohorts across the following stages, including those adapting early (ages 45 to 54), busy midlife (ages 55 to 64) and active aging (ages 65+). 68% of respondents ages 45 to 54 (n=452) would "seriously consider" and another 31% "might consider" such eye drop, of which 80% (of those who would consider such eye drops) would use such eye drop at least four times a week. For respondents ages 55 to 64 (n=448), 62% would "seriously consider" and another 31% "might consider" such eye drop, of which 79% would use such eye drop at least four times a week, and for respondents ages 65 to 74 (n=458), 51% would "seriously consider" and another 42% "might consider" such eye drop, of which 79% would use such eye drop at least four times a week. This market survey aligns with our patient reported outcomes from our CLARITY Phase 3 study, where 75% of the 223 participants surveyed on the 28th day of receiving LNZ100 indicated interest in continuing to use the eye drops after the study, of which 81% would use the drops at least four times a week.

There is high demand for prescription eye drop-based treatments. In 2022 alone, more than 120,000 unique users paid out-of-pocket for a prescription for Vuity, the first miotic-based eye drop approved by the FDA in late 2021. Furthermore, the market opportunity for presbyopia is growing due to the aging of the general population and as people continue working and stay active longer they will require effective treatment for presbyopia for near vision acuity in their daily lives. Assuming a 6% adoption rate of the addressable presbyope patient population in the United States, we estimate there are eight million potential users in the United States for LNZ100, if approved and marketed, well below our estimate of the number of users of other out-of-pocket products such as LASIK. Using existing market price for Vuity of $79 per prescription and assuming a 42% refill rate (or five refills in a twelve-month period), we estimate a U.S. market opportunity in excess of $3 billion.

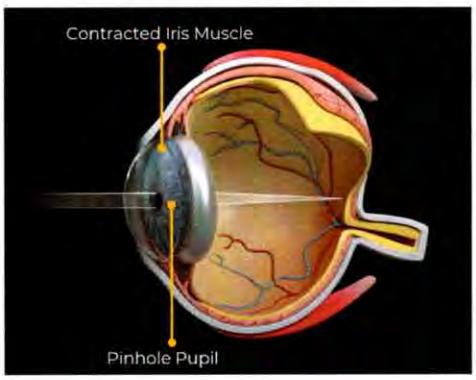
Approaches to Manage or Treat Presbyopia and Their Limitations

Currently, the primary options available for the management of presbyopia are limited to reading glasses or multi-focal glasses and contact lenses. The only currently FDA-approved and marketed pharmaceutical treatment for presbyopia is marketed by AbbVie under the brand name Vuity.

Glasses and Contact Lenses

Over-the-counter or prescription reading glasses ("readers"), prescription bifocal glasses and lenses ("bifocals"), graduated glasses ("transitions"), and multifocal contact lenses are commonly used to correct for presbyopia by focusing near objects on the retina. The additional refractive power that these types of corrective lenses offer can also be combined with other vision corrections in the same prescription lenses. However, users often report dissatisfaction with the inconvenience caused by having to wear and carry glasses or insert and remove contact lenses. There are also undesirable cultural connotations associated with the use of glasses, especially reading glasses, as they can be associated with aging. Additionally, these products require a trade-off between near vision and distance vision, either removing the readers, or looking at different areas of the bifocals.

Eye Drops



Eye drops can be an attractive method of treatment for presbyopia, especially when they only need to be administered once daily and effectively improve near vision throughout the full workday. Such an option can obviate the need to carry and wear reading glasses.

Miotics are pharmacological agents that are being developed and commercialized for the treatment of presbyopia. Miotic agents treat presbyopia by creating a pinhole effect to increase the depth of focus and thus improve the ability to see up-close. The pinhole effect is based on an optical effect whereby the depth of focus is inversely correlated with the size of the opening that light travels through. When light passes through a small pinhole or pupil, the rays that hit the outer areas of the eye and would need the most refraction to be focused on one point of the retina are blocked, leaving only the center rays which require minimal refraction to land on the retina to form a clear image. In presbyopes who have minimal accommodation or refraction ability left in their lens, this pinhole effect improves their ability to clearly see objects that are up-close. Because some miotics are historically known to negatively impact distance vision caused by a potential myopic shift associated with stimulation of the ciliary muscle, the FDA has indicated that the clinical endpoint for the approval of eye drops for the treatment of presbyopia is showing three-lines or greater (15 letters) of improvement in near visual acuity as a result of the reduction of the pupil diameter without losing one or more line (5 letters) in distance visual acuity.

Independent, peer-reviewed, academic studies conducted by third parties and summarized by W. Neil Charman in a published editorial[1] have shown that pupil diameter is highly correlated with the depth of focus and that reducing pupil diameters below 2 mm is correlated with a dramatic increase in depth of focus (left graphic below). Similarly, in another independent, peer-reviewed, academic study[2] of near vision improvement conducted by a third party across a variety of lighting conditions, pupil diameters below 2 mm were correlated with two- to five-lines or greater improvement in near visual acuity (right graphic below).

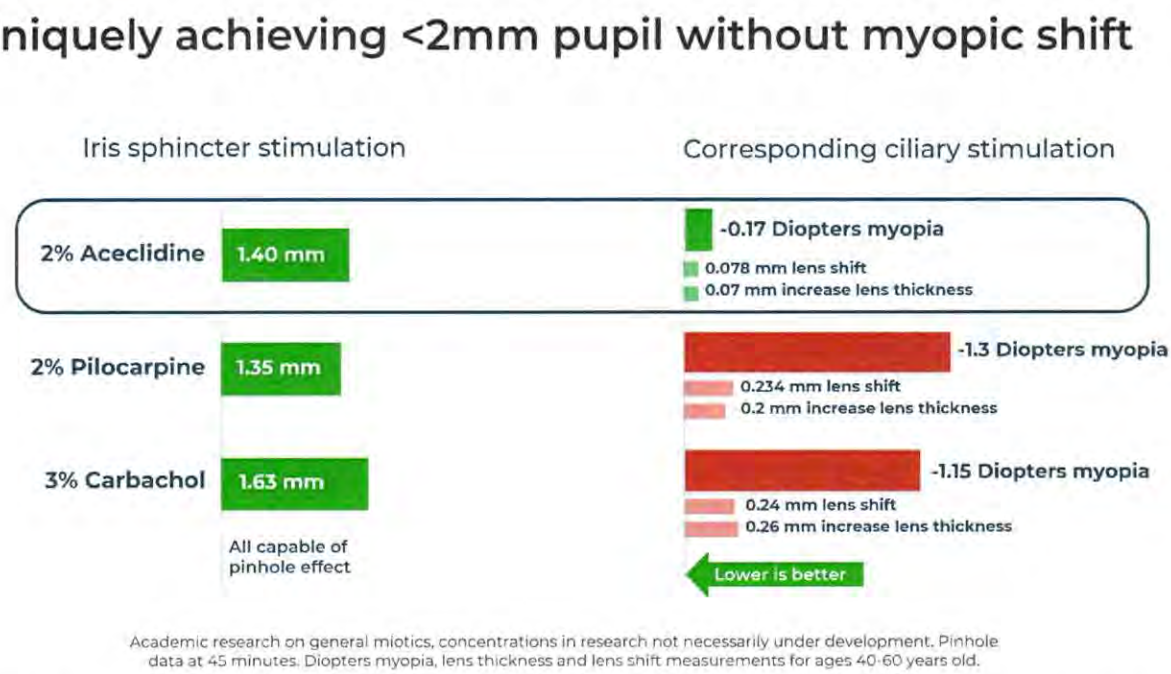
Comparison of Miotics

LNZ100 is designed and formulated with aceclidine, a unique miotic, to achieve the below 2 mm pupil diameter without impacting distance vision, a key limitation seen by other miotics. Unlike other miotics such as pilocarpine and carbachol, aceclidine's mechanism of action is pupil-selective, meaning it can activate the iris sphincter muscle and cause miosis without overstimulating the ciliary muscles that can cause a myopic shift and impair distance vision. Due to its pupil-selectivity and its ability to reduce the pupil diameter below 2 mm, aceclidine does not require any remaining accommodation to improve near vision, broadening its benefit to older presbyopes whose lens has lost this capacity.

The potency of a miotic towards the iris sphincter muscle or ciliary muscles can be expressed by EC50, the drug concentration required to produce 50% of its maximal effect, and its degree of pupil-selectivity can be expressed by the independence ratio, the ratio of the EC50 for the ciliary muscles to EC50 for the iris sphincter muscle. Based on a third-party, independent, peer-reviewed, academic study[3] of the selectivity of certain miotics on human intraocular muscles, the independence ratio of aceclidine between the longitudinal ciliary muscle and the iris sphincter muscle can be calculated to be 28, and between the circular ciliary muscle and iris sphincter muscle to be 22, compared to 1.9 and 1.6, respectively, for pilocarpine and 5.4 and 5.3, respectively, for carbachol. The 11 to 17 times higher independence ratio of aceclidine compared to pilocarpine reflects its pupil-selectivity.



In addition to the independence ratio, another independent, peer-reviewed, academic in vivo study[4] looked at the correlation of pupil diameter and visual distortion caused by the myopic shift of various miotics, including aceclidine at a concentration different from LNZ100, which contains 1.75% aceclidine. The distortion is expressed in diopters ("D"), a measurement of focusing strength and distance used widely by ECPs to measure vision. Less change in diopter strength equates to lower disruption to distance vision. The results show that, among 40- to 60-year-old patients, treatment with 2% aceclidine results in reducing the pupil diameter below 2 mm with a negligible myopic shift as compared to 2% pilocarpine and 3% carbachol which drive respectively a -1.3D and -1.15D of myopic shift, respectively. A 1.0D myopic shift changes 20/20 vision to 20/50 distance vision, which can be measured as a decrease of four lines of vision in an eye exam. 20/20 visual acuity means that a person can see at 20 feet what should normally be seen at that distance. 20/50 visual acuity means that a person needs to be at 20 feet to see what a normal person can see at 50 feet. A minimum of 20/40 vision is required to complete a driver's test, so the >1.0D myopic shift caused by pilocarpine and carbachol is enough to make an otherwise able driver now unfit to drive.

When using non-pupil selective miotics, a trade-off is required between improvement in near vision and reduction in distance vision. Because aceclidine is a pupil-selective miotic and can reduce pupil diameter below 2 mm without overstimulating the ciliary muscles, no such compromise is needed.

In addition, contraction of the ciliary muscle by drugs such as carbachol and pilocarpine pulls on a critical area of the eye where these muscle fibers connect to the retina. This constant tugging or pulling by the stimulated ciliary muscle can lead to retinal traction, vitreous detachments, secondary retinal pathology, and in severe cases, retinal detachments. Besides being described in peer-reviewed literature on chronic pilocarpine use for glaucoma, retinal detachments have also been reported by Vuity users. In August 2022, Vuity's label was amended by the FDA to include a warning related to cases of retinal tears and detachments being reported with Vuity specifically, as opposed to miotics in general. In addition, the revised label advises having ECPs examine the retina of all patients prior to initiation of therapy. Despite the potential severity, concerns related to the risk of retinal tears and detachments ranked third behind low efficacy and low duration of efficacy among reasons why survey participants discontinued treatment with Vuity. Given that aceclidine has minimal effect on the ciliary muscle, we believe that the risk of side effects caused by activating the ciliary muscle are also reduced.

To date, the only approved and marketed pharmaceutical treatment for presbyopia is an eye drop using pilocarpine as the active ingredient that is marketed by AbbVie under the brand Vuity. Despite an initial strong commercial launch with over 120,000 unique user prescriptions filled in 2022, the refill rate has lagged, primarily due to lower-than-expected efficacy and duration. Based on our commissioned survey of 40 ECPs, a majority reported that the barrier to Vuity adoption was that the product either did not work or did not work long enough. An additional survey of 18 optometrists indicated that 66% of their patients did not see duration past four hours despite one of the Vuity clinical trial results showing some effectiveness to the sixth hour. While this aligns with the primary endpoint of at three hours in both Phase 3 trials, the functional benefit was not sufficient enough to support patient needs. The ECPs and their patients identified the low effectiveness and short duration of effectiveness as the key factors for discontinuing use. To resolve the duration issue, AbbVie tested a twice-a-day dosing of the same formulation following initial approval of Vuity and achieved FDA approval for this updated dosing frequency in March 2023. The updated Vuity label now recommends that a second dose may be administered three to six hours after the first dose. Nonetheless, we believe users are looking for a once-daily solution that can last the full workday, which is further supported by the lack of increased Vuity uptake thus far following FDA approval of this label amendment.

Furthermore, Vuity was primarily tested in younger presbyopes ranging from ages 40 to 55 with the average age of 50 in each of its Phase 3 GEMINI trials. Therefore, we expect that older users may experience even less effect as they have little or no remaining accommodation to be activated to improve near vision, and Vuity has not been shown to reduce pupil diameter below 2 mm.

RE: Licensure Requirements- Manufacturers/Virtual Manufacturers

[redacted]

Tue 6/25/2024 7:05 PM

To [redacted]

[External]

Good Afternoon,

I was requested to respond to your question. Please refer to Business and Professions Code sec on 4160(h) which states a drug manufacturer premises licensed by the Food and Drug Administration or licensed pursuant to Sec on 11615 of the Health and Safety Code that only distributes dangerous drugs and dangerous devices of it own manufacture is exempt from this sec on and sec on 4161.

Therefore, if you are a virtual manufacturer/manufacturer, licensure as a wholesaler or nonresident wholesaler with the California State Board of Pharmacy is not required if you only distribute dangerous drugs and dangerous devices that XXXXXXX has the NDA or manufactures.

However, if XXXXX also distributes dangerous or dangerous devices, which they are not listed with the FDA or the California Dept of Public Health, State Food and Drug Branch (CDPH, SFDB), as the manufacturer or does not hold the NDA, then a wholesaler license (if located in CA) or nonresident wholesaler license (outside of CA and within the United States or a territory of the U.S.) is required.

I hope this answers your question. Otherwise, my contact information is below if you have any additional questions.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

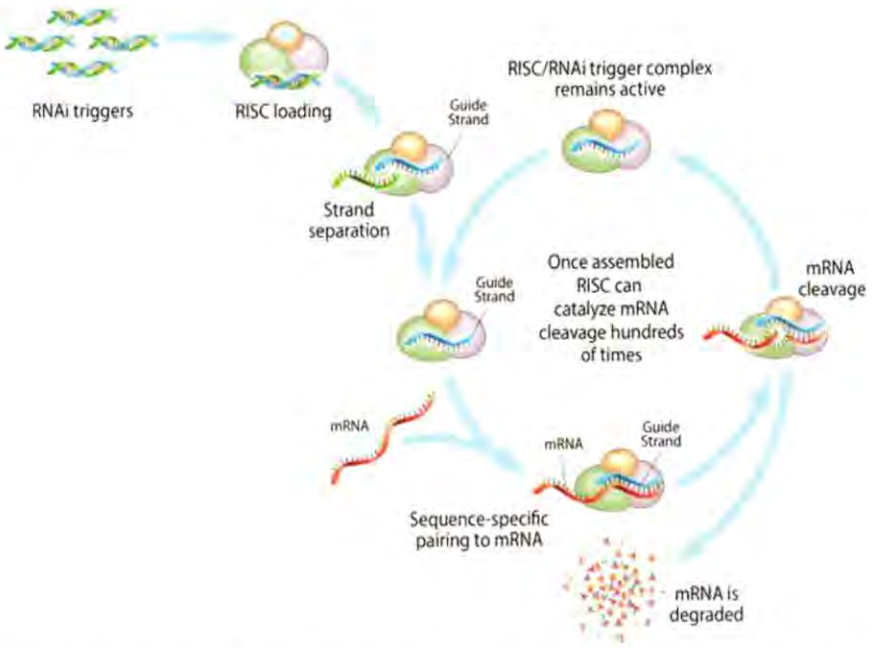
ITEM 1. BUSINESS

A. Overview

The Company develops medicines that treat intractable diseases by silencing the genes that cause them. Using a broad portfolio of RNA chemistries and efficient modes of delivery, the Company's therapies trigger the RNA interference mechanism to induce rapid, deep and durable knockdown of target genes.

The Company's most advanced candidate, plozasiran, has completed a Phase 3 study in patients with familial chylomicronemia syndrome (FCS) and expects to have its first commercial launch in 2025, provided the United States Food and Drug Administration (the "FDA") accepts the New Drug Application ("NDA") for filing and after a successful review and subsequent approval. The Company's pipeline of 16 clinical stage investigational medicines range in development stage from Phase 1 to Phase 3. In addition, the Company has a robust discovery stage pipeline which is capable of generating multiple new clinical candidates each year.

The Company endeavors to serve unmet medical needs and change lives leveraging the versatility of its proprietary RNAi-based technology. The Company is acutely aware of the urgent need to develop solutions for the many diseases that have genetic targets that are otherwise undruggable by small molecules or biologics. To that end, the Company embraced its bold goal and strives to have 20 individual drugs, either partnered or wholly owned, in clinical trials or on the market in 2025.



RNA Interference and the Benefits of RNAi Therapeutics

RNA interference ("RNAi") is a mechanism present in living cells that inhibits the expression of a specific gene, thereby affecting the production of a specific protein. RNAi-based therapeutics may leverage this natural pathway of gene silencing to target and shut down specific disease-causing genes.

Small molecule and antibody drugs have proven effective at inhibiting certain cell surface, intracellular, and extracellular targets. However, other drug targets have proven difficult to inhibit with traditional drug-based and biologic therapeutics. Developing effective drugs for these targets would have the potential to address large underserved markets for the treatment of many diseases. Using the ability to specifically silence any gene, RNAi therapeutics may be able to address previously "undruggable" targets, unlocking the market potential of such targets.

This figure depicts the mechanism by which gene silencing occurs. Double stranded RNAi triggers are introduced into a cell and are loaded into the RNA-induced silencing complex ("RISC"). The strands are then separated, leaving an active RISC/RNAi trigger complex. This complex can then pair with and degrade the complementary messenger RNAs ("mRNA") and stop the production of the target proteins. RNAi is a catalytic process, so each RNAi trigger can degrade mRNA hundreds of times, which results in a relatively long duration of effect for RNAi therapeutics.

Key Benefits of RNAi as a Therapeutic Modality:

- Silences the expression of disease associated genes;
- Potential to address any target in the transcriptome including previously "undruggable" targets;
- Rapid lead identification;
- High specificity;
- Opportunity to use multiple RNA sequences in one drug product for synergistic silencing of related targets; and
- RNAi therapeutics are uniquely suited for personalized medicine through target and cell specific delivery and gene knockdown.

Targeted RNAi Molecule (TRiM™) Platform

The Company's Targeted RNAi Molecule (TRiM™) platform utilizes ligand-mediated delivery and is designed to enable tissue-specific targeting while being structurally simple. Targeting has been core to the Company's development philosophy and the TRiM™ platform builds on more than a decade of work on actively targeted drug delivery vehicles. The Company's scientists have discovered ways to progressively "TRiM" away extraneous features and chemistries and retain optimal pharmacologic activity.

The TRiM™ platform is comprised of a highly potent RNA trigger identified using the Company's proprietary trigger selection rules and algorithms with the following components optimized, as needed, for each drug candidate: a high affinity targeting ligand; various linker chemistries; structures that enhance pharmacokinetics; and highly potent RNAi triggers with sequence specific stabilization chemistries.

Therapeutics developed with the TRiM™ platform offer several advantages: simplified manufacturing and reduced costs; multiple routes of administration; and potential for improved safety because there are less metabolites from smaller molecules, thereby reducing the risk of intracellular buildup. The Company also believes that for RNAi to reach its true potential, it must target organs outside the liver. The Company is leading this expansion with the TRiM™ platform, which has shown the potential to reach multiple tissues, including liver, lung, central nervous system (CNS), muscle, and adipose tissue.

TRiM™ – Targeting the gene, to Silence the disease

- Activity characterized by depth & duration of effect
  - Ability to unlock previously undruggable targets
- Specificity to maximize activity and innate stability with the potential for reduced off-target effects
- Versatility in formulation & ligand design offers multiple routes of administration, and access to multiple tissues
  - Facilitates rapid drug development and speed to patients
- Simplicity in design translates to relatively lower costs, and production at scale

RNA Chemistries

The structure and chemistries of the oligonucleotide molecules used to trigger the RNAi mechanism can be tailored for optimal activity. The Company's broad portfolio of RNA trigger structures and chemistries, including some proprietary structures, enable the Company to optimize each drug candidate on a target-by-target basis and utilize the combination of structure and chemical modifications that yield the most potent RNAi trigger.

As a component of the TRiM™ platform, the Company's design philosophy for RNA chemical modifications is to start with a structurally simple molecule and add only selective modification and stabilization chemistries as necessary to achieve the desired level of target knockdown and duration of effect. The conceptual framework for the stabilization strategy starts with a more sophisticated RNAi trigger screening and selection process that identifies potent sequences rapidly in locations that others may miss.

B. Pipeline

The Company is focused on developing innovative drugs for diseases with a genetic basis, typically characterized by the overproduction of one or more proteins that are involved with disease. The depth and versatility of the Company's RNAi technologies enables the Company to potentially address conditions in virtually any therapeutic area and pursue disease targets that are not otherwise addressable by small molecules and biologics. The Company is focused on bringing the promise of RNAi to address diseases outside of the liver, and its pipeline now includes disease targets in the liver, lung, central nervous system (CNS), muscle and adipose tissue.

Plozasiran (ARO-APOC3)

Plozasiran (formerly ARO-APOC3) is designed to reduce production of Apolipoprotein C-III (apoC-III), a component of triglyceride rich lipoproteins (TRLs) including Very Low Density Lipoprotein (VLDL) and chylomicrons, a key regulator of triglyceride metabolism. The Company believes that knocking down the hepatic production of apoC-III may result in reduced VLDL synthesis and assembly, enhanced breakdown of TRLs, and better clearance of VLDL and chylomicron remnants. The Company is currently investigating plozasiran in one Phase 2 clinical trial and four Phase 3 clinical trials. In the Phase 3 PALISADE trial in patients with familial chylomicronemia syndrome (FCS), plozasiran has met its primary endpoint of triglyceride reduction as well as all of its key (alpha controlled) secondary endpoints. The Company is currently in the process of seeking regulatory approval for plozasiran for the treatment of FCS.

Hypertriglyceridemia: Elevated triglyceride levels are an independent risk factor for cardiovascular disease. Severely elevated triglycerides in patients with severe hypertriglyceridemia (SHTG) or familial chylomicronemia syndrome (FCS), a rare genetic disorder, can result in potentially fatal acute pancreatitis.

ARO-PNPLA3

ARO-PNPLA3 (formerly JNJ-75220795) is an investigational RNAi therapeutic designed to reduce liver expression of patatin-like phospholipase domain containing 3 (PNPLA3) as a potential treatment for patients with metabolic-dysfunction associated steatohepatitis (MASH). PNPLA3 has strong genetic and preclinical validation as a driver of fat accumulation and damage in the livers of patients who carry the common 1148M mutation. Former licensee Janssen Pharmaceuticals, Inc. investigated ARO-PNPLA3 in two Phase 1 clinical trials.

MASH: MASH is a subgroup of steatotic liver disease (MASLD) in which hepatic cell injury and inflammation has developed over background steatosis. The I148M genetic variant in the PNPLA3 gene is involved with the underlying pathophysiology and is a known risk factor for hepatic steatosis, steatohepatitis, elevated plasma liver enzyme levels, hepatic fibrosis and cirrhosis. The rising prevalence of MASH presents a significant health burden in many developed countries.

ARO-INHBE

ARO-INHBE is designed to reduce the hepatic expression of the INHBE gene and its secreted gene product, Activin E. INHBE is a promising genetically validated target in which loss-of-function INHBE variants in humans are associated with lower risk of obesity and metabolic diseases, such as type 2 diabetes. The Company has filed for regulatory clearance to initiate a Phase 1/2a clinical trial of ARO-INHBE.

ARO-DUX4

ARO-DUX4 is designed to target the gene that encodes human double homeobox 4 (DUX4) protein as a potential treatment for patients with facioscapulohumeral muscular dystrophy.

Facioscapulohumeral Muscular Dystrophy: Facioscapulohumeral muscular dystrophy (FSHD) is an autosomal dominant disease associated with the failure to maintain complete epigenetic suppression of DUX4 expression in differentiated skeletal muscle, leading to overexpression of DUX4, which is myotoxic and can lead to muscle degeneration. As DUX4 expression is recognized as the cause of muscle pathology in FSHD patients, the Company believes that the selective targeting and knockdown of DUX4 using RNAi may prevent or reverse downstream myotoxicity and lead to muscle repair and improvement in muscle function in patients. There are currently no effective treatments specifically for FSHD.

ARO-DM1

ARO-DM1 is designed to reduce expression of the dystrophia myotonica protein kinase (DMPK) gene. There is currently no approved disease-modifying therapy for type 1 myotonic dystrophy (DM1). Treatments have focused on symptomatic management, including physical therapy, exercise, ankle-foot orthoses, wheelchairs, and other assistive devices. ClinicalTrials.gov Identifier: NCT06672445

ARO-C3

ARO-C3 is designed to reduce production of complement component 3 (C3) as a potential therapy for patients with various complement mediated or complement associated renal diseases. The Company is currently investigating ARO-C3 in a Phase 1/2a clinical trial.

Complement-Mediated Renal Disease: A number of rare renal diseases result from uncontrolled activation of the alternative pathway of complement, leading to progressive glomerular damage, proteinuria, hematuria, and impaired kidney function, and often resulting in end-stage renal disease (ESRD). In addition, dysregulation of the alternative complement pathway has been shown to play a role in the pathogenesis and progression of disease in some of the more common glomerulopathies. Silencing C3 may be a therapeutic approach for treatment of these conditions.

ClinicalTrials.gov Identifier: NCT05083364

ARO-CFB

ARO-CFB is designed to reduce hepatic expression of complement factor B (CFB), which plays an important regulatory role in amplifying complement alternative pathway activation and has been identified as a promising therapeutic target. ARO-CFB is being developed as a potential treatment for complement mediated kidney diseases such as immunoglobulin A nephropathy (IgAN), which is the most common glomerular disease worldwide and carries a high lifetime risk of progression to end-stage renal disease. Additionally, ARO-CFB may have clinical applications in non-renal diseases involving complement activation. The Company is currently investigating ARO-CFB in a Phase 1/2a clinical trial.

GSK-HSD License Agreement

On November 22, 2021, GSK and the Company entered into an Exclusive License Agreement (the "GSK-HSD License Agreement"). Under the GSK-HSD License Agreement, GSK has received an exclusive license for GSK-4532990 (formerly ARO-HSD). The exclusive license is worldwide with the exception of greater China. GSK is wholly responsible for all clinical development and commercialization of GSK-4532990 in its territory. GSK dosed the first patient in a Phase 2b trial in March 2023.

GSK-4532990

GSK-4532990 (formerly ARO-HSD) is designed to reduce production of HSD17B13, a hydroxysteroid dehydrogenase involved in the metabolism of hormones, fatty acids and bile acids. Published human genetic data indicate that a loss of function mutation in HSD17B13 provides strong protection against metabolic-dysfunction associated steatohepatitis (MASH) cirrhosis and alcoholic hepatitis and cirrhosis. GSK is conducting Phase 2b clinical trials in patients with MASH and alcohol-related liver disease (ALD).

Metabolic-Dysfunction Associated Steatohepatitis: MASH is liver inflammation and damage caused by a buildup of fat in the liver. This can cause scarring of the liver and in advanced cases can lead to cirrhosis. Alcoclıol-related liver disease (ALD) represents a spectrum of liver injury resulting from alcohol use, ranging from hepatic steatosis to more advances forms including alcoholic hepatitis (AH), alcohol-associated cirrhosis (AC), and acute AH presenting as acute-on-chronic liver failure.

Takeda Pharmaceutical Company Limited ("Takeda")

On October 7, 2020, Takeda and the Company entered into an Exclusive License and Co-Funding Agreement (the "Takeda License Agreement"). Under the Takeda License Agreement, Takeda and the Company co-develop the Company's Fazirsiran program (formerly TAK-999 and ARO-AAT), the Company's second-generation subcutaneously administered RNAi therapeutic candidate being developed as a treatment for liver disease associated with alpha-1 antitrypsin deficiency. Within the United States, fazirsiran, if approved, will be co-commercialized under a 50/50 profit sharing structure. Outside the United States, Takeda received an exclusive license to commercialize fazirsiran and will lead the global commercialization strategy, while the Company will be eligible to receive tiered royalties of 20% to 25% on net sales.

Fazirsiran

Fazirsiran is a subcutaneously administered RNAi therapeutic being developed as a treatment for liver disease associated with alpha-1 antitrypsin deficiency (AATD), which is a rare genetic disorder that severely damages the liver and lungs of affected individuals. Fazirsiran is designed to reduce production of the mutant Z-AAT protein by silencing the AAT gene in order to prevent accumulation of Z-AAT in the liver, allow clearance of the accumulated Z-AAT protein, prevent repeated cycles of cellular damage, and possibly prevent or even reverse the progression of liver fibrosis.

Goal of Fazirsiran Treatment: The goal of Fazirsiran treatment is prevention and potential reversal of Z-AAT accumulation-related liver injury and fibrosis. Reduction of inflammatory Z-AAT protein, which has been clearly defined as the cause of progressive liver disease in AATD patients, is important as it is expected to halt the progression of liver disease and allow fibrotic tissue repair.

Alpha-1 Antitrypsin Deficiency (AATD): AATD is a genetic disorder associated with liver disease in children and adults, and pulmonary disease in adults. AAT is a circulating glycoprotein protease inhibitor that is primarily synthesized and secreted by liver hepatocytes. Its physiologic function is the inhibition of neutrophil protease to protect healthy lung tissues during inflammation and prevent tissue damage. The most common disease variant, the Z mutant, has a single amino acid substitution that results in improper folding of the protein. The mutant protein cannot be effectively secreted and accumulates in globules in the hepatocytes. This triggers continuous hepatocyte injury, leading to fibrosis, cirrhosis, and increased risk of hepatocellular carcinoma.

Current Treatments: Individuals with the homozygous PiZZ genotype have severe deficiency of functional AAT leading to pulmonary disease and hepatocyte injury and liver disease. Lung disease in this patient population is frequently treated with AAT augmentation therapy. However, augmentation therapy does nothing to treat liver disease, and there is no specific therapy for hepatic manifestations. There is a significant unmet need as liver transplant, with its attendant morbidity and mortality, is currently the only available treatment.

*Assuming issuance of any pending patent applications, and excluding any patent term adjustments or patent term extensions.

The RNAi and drug delivery patent landscapes are complex and rapidly evolving. As such, the Company may need to obtain additional patent licenses prior to commercialization of its candidates. Please see "Risk Factors" in Part I, Item 1A of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Acquisition of Assets from Novartis

On March 3, 2015, Novartis and the Company entered into an Asset Purchase and Exclusive License Agreement (the "RNAi Purchase Agreement") pursuant to which the Company acquired Novartis's RNAi assets and rights thereunder. Pursuant to the RNAi Purchase Agreement, the Company acquired or was granted a license to certain patents and patent applications owned or controlled by Novartis related to RNAi therapeutics, was assigned Novartis's rights under a license from Alnylam Pharmaceuticals, Inc. ("Alnylam") (the "Alnylam-Novartis License") and acquired a license to certain additional Novartis assets (the "Licensed Novartis Assets"). The patents acquired from Novartis include multiple patent families covering delivery technologies and RNAi-trigger design rules and modifications. The Licensed Novartis Assets include an exclusive, worldwide right and license, solely in the RNAi field, with the right to grant sublicenses through multiple tiers under or with respect to certain patent rights and know how relating to delivery technologies and RNAi-trigger design rules and modifications. Under the assigned Alnylam-Novartis License, the Company acquired a worldwide, royalty-bearing, exclusive license with limited sublicensing rights to existing and future Alnylam intellectual property (including intellectual property that came under Alnylam's control on or before March 31, 2016), excluding intellectual property concerning delivery technology, to research, develop and commercialize 30 undisclosed gene targets.

Non-Exclusively Licensed Patent Rights from Roche

On October 21, 2011, the Company acquired the RNAi therapeutics business of Hoffmann-La Roche, Inc. and F. Hoffmann-La Roche Ltd. (collectively, "Roche"). The acquisition provided the Company with two primary sources of value:

existing information. Fill in a new root id and new version number with the original set id and the appropriate effective time.

For CDER Direct Users: Open the previously submitted and accepted Labeler Code Request, click Create New Version, enter the Labeler Code assigned in the field for "Labeler Code", and Submit SPL.

This Labeler Code should be used to create the NDC (National Drug Code) assigned to all drugs you manufacture or distribute for U.S. commercial distribution. The assignment of NDC is extensively discussed in Title 21 of Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) 207.35. The NDC for each drug must be submitted as part of drug listing information submitted to FDA. Per 21 CFR Part 207, owners or operators of an establishment entering into the manufacture or processing of a drug or drugs shall drug list, every drug in commercial distribution within 5 days after the beginning of operation. Labeler Codes are assigned by FDA and may be inactivated at any time upon violation of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act.

Note that receipt of this letter is not to be construed as Federal Government endorsement or approval of the establishment or its products.

EYLEA HD (aflibercept) 8 mg

In August 2023, the FDA approved the BLA for EYLEA HD for the treatment of patients with wAMD, DME, and DR.

Previously, in June 2023, the FDA issued a CRL for the EYLEA HD BLA. The CRL was issued solely due to unresolved observations resulting from a May 2023 FDA inspection at a third-party contract manufacturing organization, Catalent, that the Company engaged to complete vial-filling for EYLEA HD. With the approval of EYLEA HD, the pre-approval inspection issues related to the BLA had been addressed.

In June 2023 and August 2023, the Company announced top-line, two-year (96 weeks) data for EYLEA HD from the pivotal PHOTON trial in patients with DME and the pivotal PULSAR trial in patients with wAMD, respectively. In addition, in July 2023, the results from the PHOTON trial were presented at the American Society of Retina Specialists annual meeting. During both trials, EYLEA HD patients were initially randomized to either 12- or 16-week dosing intervals (after three initial monthly doses) and were able to shorten or extend dosing intervals if pre-specified criteria were met. The longer-term data among EYLEA HD patients who completed the trials demonstrated that the vast majority of patients were able to maintain or further extend these dosing intervals through two years with:

PHOTON:

- 89% maintaining ≥12-week dosing intervals through two years, compared to 93% through one year (48 weeks)
- 84% maintaining ≥16-week dosing intervals through two years, compared to 89% maintaining a 16-week dosing interval through one year
- 44% meeting the criteria for ≥20-week dosing intervals by week 96, including 17% and 27% who were eligible for 20- and 24-week dosing intervals, respectively

PULSAR:

- 88% on a ≥12-week dosing interval at the end of two years
- 78% maintaining ≥12-week dosing intervals through two years, compared to 83% throughout the first year of study (48 weeks)
- 71% meeting the extension criteria for even longer dosing intervals, including 47% for ≥20-week intervals and 28% for 24-week intervals
- those assigned to ≥16-week dosing regimen at baseline, 70% maintaining ≥16-week dosing intervals throughout the two-year study period; at the end of two years, 78% were eligible for ≥16-week dosing, with 53% eligible for ≥20-dosing week intervals.

The visual gains for EYLEA HD remained consistent with the first year of the trials. In both PHOTON and PULSAR, the safety of EYLEA HD also continued to be similar to EYLEA through two years and remained consistent with the known safety profile of EYLEA from previous clinical trials for DME and wAMD.

In May 2023, Bayer announced that it initiated a Phase 3 study to evaluate the efficacy and safety of EYLEA HD at extended dosing intervals compared to the standard of care, EYLEA, in RVO to support potential future regulatory submissions outside the United States.

Dupixent

COPD

In March 2023, the Company and Sanofi announced that the primary and all key secondary endpoints were met in the BOREAS trial (the first of two Phase 3 trials) in adults currently on maximal standard-of-care inhaled therapy (triple therapy) with uncontrolled COPD and evidence of type 2 inflammation. In this trial, patients receiving Dupixent experienced a 30% reduction in moderate or severe acute COPD exacerbations (rapid and acute worsening of respiratory symptoms) compared to placebo over 52 weeks, while also demonstrating significant improvements in lung function, quality of life, and COPD respiratory symptoms.

In November 2023, the Company and Sanofi announced that the replicate Phase 3 NOTUS trial met its primary endpoint, showing Dupixent significantly reduced exacerbations by 34% compared to placebo over 52 weeks in patients with moderate-to-severe COPD with evidence of type 2 inflammation, confirming results from the BOREAS pivotal trial. Given the overwhelming positive efficacy of the primary endpoint in the interim analysis from the NOTUS trial, the results will be considered the primary analysis of the trial. In December 2023, the Company and Sanofi submitted the data from this interim analysis of the NOTUS trial, along with the results from the Phase 3 BOREAS trial, to the FDA.

EYLEA HD (aflibercept) 8 mg

In August 2023, the FDA approved the BLA for EYLEA HD for the treatment of patients with wAMD, DME, and DR.

Previously, in June 2023, the FDA issued a CRL for the EYLEA HD BLA. The CRL was issued solely due to unresolved observations resulting from a May 2023 FDA inspection at a third-party contract manufacturing organization, Catalent, that the Company engaged to complete vial-filling for EYLEA HD. With the approval of EYLEA HD, the pre-approval inspection issues related to the BLA had been addressed.

In June 2023 and August 2023, the Company announced top-line, two-year (96 weeks) data for EYLEA HD from the pivotal PHOTON trial in patients with DME and the pivotal PULSAR trial in patients with wAMD, respectively. In addition, in July 2023, the results from the PHOTON trial were presented at the American Society of Retina Specialists annual meeting. During both trials, EYLEA HD patients were initially randomized to either 12- or 16-week dosing intervals (after three initial monthly doses) and were able to shorten or extend dosing intervals if pre-specified criteria were met. The longer-term data among EYLEA HD patients who completed the trials demonstrated that the vast majority of patients were able to maintain or further extend these dosing intervals through two years with:

PHOTON:

- 89% maintaining ≥12-week dosing intervals through two years, compared to 93% through one year (48 weeks)
- 84% maintaining ≥16-week dosing intervals through two years, compared to 89% maintaining a 16-week dosing interval through one year
- 44% meeting the criteria for ≥20-week dosing intervals by week 96, including 17% and 27% who were eligible for 20- and 24-week dosing intervals, respectively

PULSAR:

- 88% on a ≥12-week dosing interval at the end of two years
- 78% maintaining ≥12-week dosing intervals through two years, compared to 83% throughout the first year of study (48 weeks)
- 71% meeting the extension criteria for even longer dosing intervals, including 47% for ≥20-week intervals and 28% for 24-week intervals
- those assigned to ≥16-week dosing regimen at baseline, 70% maintaining ≥16-week dosing intervals throughout the two-year study period; at the end of two years, 78% were eligible for ≥16-week dosing, with 53% eligible for ≥20-dosing week intervals.

The visual gains for EYLEA HD remained consistent with the first year of the trials. In both PHOTON and PULSAR, the safety of EYLEA HD also continued to be similar to EYLEA through two years and remained consistent with the known safety profile of EYLEA from previous clinical trials for DME and wAMD.

In May 2023, Bayer announced that it initiated a Phase 3 study to evaluate the efficacy and safety of EYLEA HD at extended dosing intervals compared to the standard of care, EYLEA, in RVO to support potential future regulatory submissions outside the United States.

Dupixent

COPD

In March 2023, the Company and Sanofi announced that the primary and all key secondary endpoints were met in the BOREAS trial (the first of two Phase 3 trials) in adults currently on maximal standard-of-care inhaled therapy (triple therapy) with uncontrolled COPD and evidence of type 2 inflammation. In this trial, patients receiving Dupixent experienced a 30% reduction in moderate or severe acute COPD exacerbations (rapid and acute worsening of respiratory symptoms) compared to placebo over 52 weeks, while also demonstrating significant improvements in lung function, quality of life, and COPD respiratory symptoms.

In November 2023, the Company and Sanofi announced that the replicate Phase 3 NOTUS trial met its primary endpoint, showing Dupixent significantly reduced exacerbations by 34% compared to placebo over 52 weeks in patients with moderate-to-severe COPD with evidence of type 2 inflammation, confirming results from the BOREAS pivotal trial. Given the overwhelming positive efficacy of the primary endpoint in the interim analysis from the NOTUS trial, the results will be considered the primary analysis of the trial. In December 2023, the Company and Sanofi submitted the data from this interim analysis of the NOTUS trial, along with the results from the Phase 3 BOREAS trial, to the FDA.

DENVER – August 15, 2024 - TriSalus Life Sciences Inc., (Nasdaq: TLSI), an oncology company integrating novel delivery technology with immunotherapy to transform treatment for patients with liver and pancreatic tumors, today announced its financial results for the second quarter ended June 30, 2024, and provided a business update.

Mary Szela, President and Chief Executive Officer of TriSalus Life Sciences, stated, "We concluded the second quarter with robust revenue growth and effective execution across our operations. Our sustained revenue growth underscores the critical demand for our Pressure Enabled Drug Delivery™ technology (PEDD ™). We are excited to launch the DELIVER program, which will showcase the advantages of our TriNav system in treating a diverse array of complex patients."

"Additionally, we have successfully advanced development of nelitolimod, having treated 100 patients in four indications and three clinical trials using our PEDD technology. Our progress to date indicates that nelitolimod can be delivered to the liver and pancreas with minimal systemic exposure and shows early promise of benefit in heavily pretreated patients with advanced disease," added Ms. Szela. "We anticipate further growth of our PEDD technology and TriNav system and look forward to presenting our final Phase 1 data for uveal melanoma liver metastases and locally advanced pancreatic cancer in the fourth quarter."

Second Quarter Business Update

DELIVER Program

- TriSalus is excited to unveil the DELIVER program, a series of clinical trials designed to significantly expand the addressable market by evaluating the use of the TriNav system across a diverse range of complex patient populations, with the intent to further validate prior clinical studies that demonstrated the favorable clinical effects of the PEDD technology. This initiative aims to generate comprehensive data and solidify the evidence supporting TriNav's application in patients who might not be suitable candidates for traditional transarterial chemotherapy and radioembolization treatments. A key focus of the DELIVER program is to investigate the potential of combining use of the TriNav system with these therapies to enhance effectiveness and address resistance mechanisms in challenging cancers.
- The Company expects to launch the program with its first clinical study, named "PROTECT" (Pressure Enabled Retrograde Occlusive Therapy with Embolization for Control of Thyroid Disease). The goal of the trial is to highlight the advantages of this novel approach compared to conventional surgical methods.

Nelitolimod Clinical Studies in Uveal Melanoma Liver Metastases, Hepatocellular Carcinoma, Intrahepatic Cholangiocarcinoma, and Locally Advanced Pancreatic Cancer via the Pressure-Enabled Regional Immuno-Oncology (PERIO) Clinical Program

- In November 2023, TriSalus presented initial Phase 1 results for the PERIO-01 and PERIO-03 studies at the Society of Immunotherapy for Cancer annual meeting, and in June 2024, it presented top-line results for PERIO-02 at the American Society of Clinical Oncology (ASCO) annual meeting.
- PERIO-01 is a Phase 1 trial evaluating hepatic arterial delivery of nelitolimod via the PEDD technology in patients with uveal melanoma liver metastases. The trial includes dose-escalation cohorts with monotherapy and in combination with checkpoint inhibitors. The preliminary data show a tolerable safety profile, evidence of liver metastases myeloid-derived suppressor cells (MDSC) depletion with T cell infiltration, and promising indications of activity, including ctDNA responses, disease control, and survival beyond historical benchmarks in predominantly pre-treated patients. The final results for the PERIO-01 Phase 1 trial are expected in Q4 2024.
- PERIO-02 focuses on the hepatic arterial delivery of nelitolimod via the PEDD technology for patients with hepatocellular carcinoma or intrahepatic cholangiocarcinoma. The study has been completed, and recent findings presented by investigators from MD Anderson Cancer Center at ASCO demonstrated consistent safety and immunologic effects, along with encouraging survival times in a subset of patients treated with a systemic checkpoint inhibitor doublet. The Company expects further investigation into these indications to continue only through investigator-initiated studies.
- PERIO-03 is a Phase 1 dose-escalation study of nelitolimod in locally advanced pancreatic cancer. Nelitolimod is administered through outpatient interventional radiology procedures using the Pancreatic TriSalus Infusion System™ PEDD device. Phase 1 results for this study are anticipated in Q4 2024.

Closed up to $50 million of Debt Financing with OrbiMed to support TriNav Growth Initiatives

In April, TriSalus announced the closing of a debt financing facility with OrbiMed, a healthcare investment firm. Under the terms of the credit agreement with OrbiMed, the Company borrowed $25 million at closing. In addition, an aggregate of up to an additional $25 million is available in two tranches at the Company's option, subject to the Company's achievement of certain revenue thresholds.

Cash and cash equivalents on hand totaled $16.5 million at June 30, 2024. Including the Company's Standby Equity Purchase Agreement (SEPA) and other existing sources of liquidity and assuming it achieves the revenue targets and borrow the remaining $25 million of the debt financing, the Company expects to have sufficient cash runway to fund operations through the end of 2025.

Completion of Warrant Exchange Offer

- On May 24, 2024, TriSalus announced an exchange offer of 0.30 shares of Common Stock for each publicly traded and private warrant tendered.
- The offer's purpose was to simplify the Company's capital structure and reduce the potential dilutive impact of the warrants, thereby providing the Company with more flexibility for financing its operations in the future.
- On July 1st, the Company issued 2,110,366 shares of common stock in exchange for 6,529,954 (or 79%) of its publicly traded warrants and 504,685 (or 10%) of its private warrants.

Financial Results for Q2 2024

Revenue, all of which is from the sale of the TriNav system, was $7.4 million and $13.8 million, respectively, for the three and six months ended June 30, 2024, up 60% and 82%, respectively, compared to the same periods in 2023. Revenue growth was driven primarily by increased selling resources and continued market share increases.

Gross margins were 88% and 86% for the three and six months ended June 30, 2024, respectively, compared to 83% and 81%, respectively, for the same periods in 2023. The improvement in the quarter and year-to-date is due to increased factory volumes and improved operational efficiency.

Operating losses were $8.2 million and $19.9 million, respectively, for the three and six months ended June 30, 2024, respectively, compared to losses of $11.4 million and $21.6 million, respectively, for the same periods in 2023. Current year reductions in operating losses are due to increased sales, improved gross margins, and reduced research and development spending associated with the timing of clinical trial spending.

Net losses available to common stockholders were $4.3 million and $17.6 million, respectively, for the three and six months ended June 30, 2024, compared to losses of $14.0 million and $22.2 million, respectively, for the same periods in 2023. Net losses in 2024 include non-cash related losses on change in fair value of the Company's SEPA, warrant and revenue base redemption liabilities of $9.0 million and $6.5 million, respectively for the three and six months ended June 30, 2024, compared to gains of $1.1 million and $3.5 million, respectively, for the same periods in 2023. Net losses in 2023 also include the impact of non-cash related losses on equity issuance of $4.2 million in the three and six months ended June 30, 2023. These amounts are partially offset in 2024 by the impact of non-cash related gains on the change in fair value of contingent earnout liabilities of $13.7 million and $9.7 million, respectively, for the three and six months ended June 30, 2024.

The basic and diluted loss per share for the three and six months ended June 30, 2024, were $0.21 and $0.81, respectively, compared to $35.84 and $59.79 for the three and six months ended June 30, 2023, respectively.

About TriSalus Life Sciences

TriSalus Life Sciences® is an oncology company integrating novel delivery technology with immunotherapy to transform treatment for patients with liver and pancreatic tumors. The Company's platform includes devices that utilize a proprietary drug delivery technology and a clinical stage investigational immunotherapy. The Company's two FDA-cleared devices use its proprietary Pressure-Enabled Drug Delivery™ (PEDD) approach to deliver a range of therapeutics: the TriNav® Infusion System for hepatic arterial infusion of liver tumors and the Pancreatic Retrograde Venous Infusion System for pancreatic tumors. The PEDD technology is a novel delivery approach designed to address the anatomic limitations of arterial infusion for the pancreas. The PEDD approach modulates pressure and flow in a manner that delivers more therapeutic to the tumor and is designed to reduce undesired delivery to normal tissue, bringing the potential to improve patient outcomes. Nelitolimod, the Company's investigational immunotherapeutic candidate, is designed to improve patient outcomes by treating the immunosuppressive environment created by many tumors and which can make current immunotherapies ineffective in the liver and pancreas. Patient data generated during Pressure-Enabled Regional Immuno-Oncology™ (PERIO) clinical trials support the hypothesis that nelitolimod delivered via the PEDD technology may have favorable immune effects within the liver and systemically. The target for nelitolimod, TLR9, is expressed across cancer types and the mechanical barriers addressed by the PEDD technology are commonly present as well. Nelitolimod delivered by the PEDD technology will be studied across several indications in an effort to address immune dysfunction and overcome drug delivery barriers in the liver and pancreas.

In partnership with leading cancer centers across the country – and by leveraging deep immuno-oncology expertise and inventive technology development – TriSalus is committed to advancing innovation that improves outcomes for patients. STIPULATION AND FINAL AGENCY ORDER

IN THE MATTER OF DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS REGARDING THE LICENSE TO PRACTICE AS A OUT-OF-STATE WHOLESALER IN THE STATE OF COLORADO OF BAYER HEALTH CARE LLC, Wholesaler Applicant.

IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED AND AGREED by and between the Colorado State Board of Pharmacy ("Board") and Bayer Health Care, LLC ("Wholesaler Applicant") to resolve all matters pertaining to Board Case Number 2009-3367 as follows:

FINDINGS AND CONCLUSIONS

1. The Board has jurisdiction over Wholesaler Applicant, its application for registration as an out-of-state wholesaler and the subject matter of this Stipulation and Final Agency Order ("Final Agency Order") pursuant to the provisions of the Pharmaceuticals and Pharmacists Act at Title 12, Article 22, C.R.S.

2. Wholesaler Applicant admits these findings and hereby waives any further proof in this proceeding before the Board regarding the following facts.

3. On February 4, 2009, Wholesaler Applicant distributed prescription drugs into Colorado without having first registered as an out-of-state wholesaler in the State of Colorado.

4. On March 16, 2009, the Board issued Wholesaler Applicant a Cease and Desist Order for engaging in unregistered wholesale distribution of drugs into the State of Colorado.

5. Wholesaler Applicant's conduct, as set forth above, constitutes violations of the following sections of the Colorado Revised Statutes:

6. On March 11, 2009, Wholesaler Applicant submitted an out-of-state wholesaler application, which application was denied by the Board.

7. The Board finds and concludes, and Wholesaler Applicant agrees, that based upon Wholesaler Applicant's above-described violations of the Pharmaceuticals and Pharmacists Act and relevant rules and regulations, the following discipline is just and appropriate under the circumstances as a condition of its registration as an out-of-state wholesaler.

DISPOSITION
Conditional Registration;
$5,000.00 Fine Plus 15% Surcharge and Terms
Agreement to Comply with §§12-22-801, et seq. C.R.S.
Release from Cease and Desist Order

8. Conditional Registration. Wholesaler Applicant shall be granted a registration as an out-of-state wholesaler upon execution of this Final Agency Order and satisfaction of the terms and conditions set forth herein.

9. Fine with Surcharge. Wholesaler Applicant accepts the following discipline: Pursuant to §12-22-125.2(5), C.R.S., Wholesaler Applicant shall pay a fine of Five Thousand Dollars and No Cents ($5,000.00). Wholesaler Applicant understands and acknowledges, pursuant to §24-34-108, C.R.S., that the Executive Director of the Department of Regulatory Agencies shall impose an additional surcharge of 15% of this fine. Wholesaler Applicant shall therefore pay a total amount of Five Thousand, Seven Hundred Fifty Dollars and No Cents ($5,750.00). The total amount shall be payable to the State of Colorado and shall be remitted in one lump sum to be included when Wholesaler Applicant submits this signed Final Agency Order to the Board.

10. Compliance. Wholesaler Applicant shall at all times remain in compliance with §§12-22-801, et seq. C.R.S. and shall not at any time distribute prescription drugs into Colorado without being registered as an out-of-state wholesaler in the State of Colorado at the time of distribution.

11. Release from Cease & Desist Order. Upon execution of this Final Agency Order, payment of the required fine as required above in paragraph 9, and issuance of Wholesaler Applicant's registration as an out-of-state wholesaler in the state of Colorado as set forth above in paragraph 8, the terms of the Cease and Desist Order entered on March 16, 2009 no longer apply and Wholesaler Applicant is hereby RELEASED from the Cease and Desist Order. The Cease and Desist Order shall remain a public record published in accordance with the Colorado Open Records Act and Board policy along with this Final Agency Order, as set forth below in paragraph 16.

12. Advisements and Waivers. Wholesaler Applicant enters into this Final Agency Order freely and voluntarily, whether or not Wholesaler Applicant has consulted with legal counsel. Wholesaler Applicant acknowledges its understanding that it has the following rights:

    a. To have a formal notice of hearing and charges served upon it;
    b. To respond to said formal notice of charges;
    c. To have a formal disciplinary hearing pursuant to §12-22-125, C.R.S.; and
    d. To appeal this Board order.

    Wholesaler Applicant freely waives these rights, and acknowledges that such waiver is made voluntarily in consideration for Board's limiting the action taken against it to the sanctions imposed herein.

13. Acknowledgments. The undersigned authorized agent of Wholesaler Applicant has read this Final Agency Order in its entirety and acknowledges, whether or not Wholesaler Applicant has consulted with legal counsel, that Wholesaler Applicant understands the legal consequences and agrees that none of the terms or conditions herein are unconscionable.

14. Violations. Time is of the essence to this Final Agency Order. It is the responsibility of Wholesaler Applicant to take all appropriate steps to comply fully with this Final Agency Order. Wholesaler Applicant acknowledges and agrees that any violation of this Final Agency Order may be sanctioned as provided under §12-22-125.2(4), C.R.S., and may be sufficient grounds for additional discipline, including but not limited to revocation of its registration. The pendency of any suspension or disciplinary action arising out of an alleged violation of this Final Agency Order shall not affect the obligation of Wholesaler Applicant to comply with all terms and conditions of this Final Agency Order.

15. Integration and Severability. Upon execution by all parties, this Final Agency Order shall represent the entire and final agreement of and between the parties. In the event any provision of this Final Agency Order is deemed invalid or unenforceable by a court of law, it shall be severed and the remaining provisions of this Final Agency Order shall be given full force and effect.

16. Public Record. Upon execution by all parties, this Final Agency Order shall be a public record, maintained in the custody of the Board.

17. Effective Date. This Final Agency Order shall become effective upon signature of a Board member or representative.

SUMMARY ORDER

NOW, on this 19th day of September 2019, comes before the Kansas Board of Pharmacy (the "Board"), through its Executive Director, the matter of Bayer HealthCare LLC. ("Respondent").

Pursuant to the authority granted to the Board by the Kansas Pharmacy Act, K.S.A. 65-1625, et seq., and in accordance with the Kansas Administrative Procedure Act, K.S.A. 77-501, et seq., the Board's Executive Secretary enters this Summary Order in the above-captioned matter. After reviewing the investigation materials and being otherwise duly advised in the premises, makes the following findings, conclusions and order:

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. The Board has previously issued Respondent Registration No. 5-00739 which entitles Respondent to operate as a wholesale distributor in the State of Kansas ("Respondent's Registration").

2. On January 1, 2019, Respondent's facility experienced a change in ownership.

3. On May 29, 2019, the Board received Form BA-05 Distributor Registration Application from Respondent, notifying the Board of the change in ownership.

4. On July 11, 2019, the Board approved Respondent's Distributor Application.

5. Subsequently, Respondent's previous registration number 5-00739 was cancelled, effective January 1, 2019, and Respondent was issued new registration number 5-109760, effective May 29, 2019.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

1. Pursuant to K.S.A. 65-1658, the Board may assess a civil fine not to exceed $5,000, after notice and an opportunity to be heard, to any registrant for violation of the pharmacy act of the state of Kansas or any other rules or regulations of the state board of pharmacy.

2. Pursuant to K.S.A. 65-1643, it shall be unlawful for any person to distribute at wholesale any drugs without first obtaining a registration as a wholesale distributor from the Board.

3. Respondent's application documents indicated Respondent had functioned as a wholesale distributor in the state of Kansas between the January 1, 2019 ownership change and the May 29, 2019 effective new registration.

4. By operating as a wholesale distributor in the state of Kansas prior to its Wholesale Distributor Application approval by the Board, Respondent violated K.S.A. 65-1643(c).

ORDER

The Board finds and concludes that Respondent's conduct, as described above, violates the Act and such conduct warrants the imposition of a fine pursuant to K.S.A. 65-1658, in the amount of $500.00. Respondent has 30 days from the date of this order to pay the full $500.00.

NOTICES

The Respondent is hereby notified as follows:

1. The Respondent may request a hearing pursuant to the Kansas Administrative Procedure Act by filing a written request with the Kansas Board of Pharmacy, 800 SW Jackson, Suite 1414, Topeka, KS 66612-1231 within fifteen (15) days after service of this order.

2. If a hearing is not requested as described above, the Order shall become a final order of the Board, effective upon the expiration of the time to request a hearing.

3. Within fifteen (15) days after entry of a final agency order, either party may file a petition for reconsideration pursuant to K.S.A. 77-529.

Subject: RE: Nevada Wholesaler Application - Bright Uro Inc.
Attachments: Bright Uro - Cap Table - 06162025.xlsx; Bright Uro Inc._State of NV LC Draft V1.docx

WARNING - This email originated from outside the State of Nevada. Exercise caution when opening attachments or clicking links, especially from unknown senders.

Hello Kristy,
Thank you for confirming receipt of our application and providing the follow-up requests. Please see our responses to each item below:

- A list of officers: Derek Herrera is the only officer named in Bright Uro's corporate documents. We provided his name and additional required information in the application.
- A list of corporate shareholders and their percent ownership: Please see the attached table for the shareholder information as requested.
- A Certificate of Good Standing from the Secretary of State's Office in the State where the business was domiciled, in this case Delaware: The state in which Bright Uro, Inc. is domiciled is California (Bright Uro is incorporated, but not domiciled, in Delaware). We provided a copy of California's Certificate of Good Standing as part of the application supplement. Please confirm if that was not received. Thank you.
- A Personal History Record Application (see attached) for each shareholder/stockholder/partner/owner with 10% or more ownership of the company: There are no individual shareholder/stockholder/partner/owners with 10% or more ownership of the company.
- A $100,000 Surety Bond (see attached): Per Nevada law , when a bond is required for the protection of the state, typically a letter of credit can be provided instead (see NRS 100.065). We also noted that the application instructions indicate that a $100,000 bond is only required if not FDA registered. Bright Uro, Inc. is FDA registered, and therefore we understand the bond requirement of $25,000 applies instead (per page 5 of the Wholesaler Application which contains these instructions). We have attached a copy of a proposed letter of credit in that amount. Please let us know if this is satisfactory and we will issue the letter accordingly.

Thank you for your assistance and please advise if you have any additional questions.

Sincerely,
Kevin
